State Comptroller Bob Bullock has announced that Phillip Land from his Lubbock field office will be at the Bailey County Courthouse in the Commissioner's Courtroom on December 8, 1981 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Collins and Justin were recent guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farmer.

Pete & Hazle Robinson just returned last Thursday from attending the funeral of his brother, Onan Robinson.

Onan is a former resident of Muleshoe. He and his family resided here for many years before moving to California. His wife, Ruth preceded him in death in 1972.

He was 76 years of age and is survived by three sons, one sister, and one brother.

He was also the brother of the late Ike Robinson.

The "Gospel Sing" scheduled for Sunday, November 22 at the Bailey County Civic Center will feature many local talents as well as some out of town groups.

The event starts at 3 p.m., but those wishing to actively participate should be at the center by 2:30 p.m.

Committee Election Ballots Due December 7

Bailey County committee election ballots will be mailed to area residents on the week of November 23. These ballots are for the election of community committee men. These ballots must be returned to the ASCS office no later than December 7. Voters should be sure to follow instructions in order to have a valid ballot. "Voting is important" says Rusty Williamson, County Executive Director, "because the men you elect will choose your county committee."

In other farm news, by this time, all producers should have received their cotton production cards. Upon completion of harvest for individual farms, the card for that particular farm should be turned in with complete information. Net warehouse receipts weights only should be used. Since production records will be spot checked, cards should include all production (bolls, remnants) on that farm. Errors in these records could result in a 6 cents per pound penalty.

Commodity loans are available for all commodities. Interest rates of 14.5 percent are in effect until January 31, 1982. Farmers who are interested should bring their warehouse receipts to the office for discussion.

Also of prime importance is the gin agreements on bagging and bale ties. The following gins have signed an agreement to use bagging and bale ties that meet specifications for cotton to be eligible for CCC loans: Bula Gin Company, Circleback Gin Company, Clauch Gin, Farmers Cooperative Assoc., Enochs, Maple Coop Gin, Muleshoe Coop Gin, Needmore coop gin, Nickels Gin, Goodland, Nickels and Nickels Gin, Inc., Progress Gin and West Camp Gin.

Charles W. Mayfield of Silverton has been named ASCS State Executive Director.

The ASCS office will be closed on November 26 and December 25 in observance of national holidays.

High School Halls, Ag Department Vandalized

In the Bailey County Journal November 15 issue, total value of recovered from bad checks was $867 - not 867 checks.

Muleshoe High School reported the entering of the building through a window of the Ag Department sometime Sunday night. A coke box was broken into with a crowbar, the machine was torn up and money taken. Damage was estimated at $1,500. Fire extinguishers were used to spray three halls. Two empty extinguishers were found in the office. One was not recovered. Fluorescent light shades were broken. The main portion of the school building was entered through an unlocked door by the cafeteria. The door was hidden from the outside perimeter of the school where the only access is by coming from the roof and dropping to the ground.

On Friday, November 13, a small utility trailer was stolen from the Frank Hernandez Service Station at 501 West American Blvd. The trailer was valued at $200.

Four suspects have been arrested in connection with the recent burglary and theft at the high school.

Following the parade, there will be a movie for the kids at the Bailey County Civic Center, sponsored by the Women's Division of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. The movie will be held in the Fire Station at the Civic Center.

Voters Will Decide On Renovation Plan

On Tuesday, November 24, eligible voters in the Muleshoe Independent School District will go to the polls for the second time in November. This time, they will decide the future of the proposed school renovation plan. Many items in that plan are of prime importance and will play a role in future school developments.

As has been pointed out previously, one of the first steps in effective school plant management and planning is the development of a comprehensive school plant inventory system which can locate, identify, classify and describe all of the elements of the school plant facilities of the district.

In an effort to keep the Muleshoe Schools up-to-date and efficient, the Muleshoe School Board unanimously authorized a comprehensive study of the Muleshoe facilities. While the Board recognizes the fact that not all of the proposals will be feasible, they have made every effort to recognize any need that might arise in the future. These changes and recommendations have been made with the future of the Muleshoe Schools in mind.

Of utmost importance is the energy factor or, conservation of energy. Current energy costs are rising daily and must be taken into consideration. The proposed plan would allow for this action.

Besides the general renovations proposed to all the schools, some additional areas would be made available such as protected play areas and additional space for now crowded classrooms.

The maximum tax increase has been pointed out to be 13 cents per $100 valuation. This program is designed to meet the needs of our schools over the next ten years.

There will be one election precinct for this election. The High School Cafeteria. It will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. for the voting hours.

1981 Cotton Crop Estimate Rises

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's November 1 estimate for the 1981 cotton crop is 15,559,000 bales, up 83,000 from October 1.

Harvested acreage was lowered to 13,750,000 from 13,766,000. Pre-acre yield averaged 543 pounds.

State leaders in production include Texas, 5.6 million bales; California, 3.5 million; Arizona, 1.55 million; and Mississippi, 1.52 million.

The National Cotton Council's 44th annual meeting will be held February 7-9 at the Hyatt Regency in Dallas. Presiding.

Thin People Less Resistant To Infections

Think you can never be too thin or too rich?

Not necessarily true—especially being too thin, says Dr. Cass Ryan-Crowe, a food and nutrition specialist.

Thin people are less resistant to infections and diseases, she says.

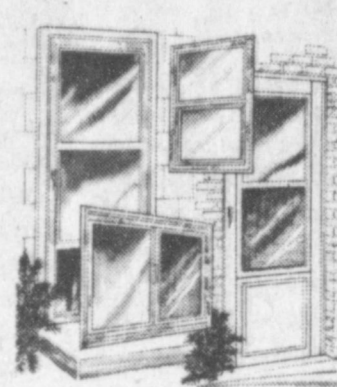

Also, the person who is constantly dieting to lose extra pounds may be getting all the necessary nutrients, such as vitamins and minerals. Iron deficiency anemia among chronic dieters is a special concern, the specialist adds.

Ryan-Crowe is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Christmas Show Scheduled

"Star of Wonder," the planetarium show at the Don Harrington Discovery Center, is both a miracle and a mystery. This traditional program, showing for the first time in Amarillo, uses the planetarium instrument to take visitors back in time to view the sky at that magical moment, discusses several possible explanations for the "Star of Wonder" and retells the traditional Bible story of the Baby's birth.

"Star" is designed for the entire family. Music of Christmas past and present, a magical Christmas tree, Santa and his famous reindeer all combine for a memorable experience.

How did the night sky appear to the three wise men nearly two thousand years ago? What was the fortuitous "star of the east?" Could a comet explain the wondrous heavenly sight? Could it have been a conjunction of several planets, or a supernova? Is it possible this phenomena can't be explained by astronomical accounts? Was it indeed a miracle?

Each visitor will draw his own conclusion based on personal beliefs. The important facts that can't be altered are that Jesus was born, that He dwelt on earth of a time and that His teachings have altered the history of the world.

"Star" starts the first weekend after Thanksgiving and runs until Christmas. Programs are scheduled on Saturdays at 2:00, 3:00 and 8:00 p.m. and on Sundays at 2:00, 3:00 and 4:00 p.m. Admission prices are $1.50 for adults, $1.00 for students and senior citizens.

The bride was presented a corsage of miniature peach roses with brown accents. Individual gifts were given from each hostess.

Special guests included the mother of the bride, Lona Brown, sister-in-law of the bride, Jill Brown and Mrs. Bob Phillips, aunt of the groom.

Bad Habits Mean High Medical Bills

Bad health habits mean high medical bills, a Harvard study says—and that means possibly higher health insurance premiums for such people, a Texas health education specialist predicts.

In fact, a very small percentage of Americans account for a very large chunk of our nation's medical costs, says Dr. Mary Ann Shirer referring to the study.

Shirer is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Smoking, obesity and drinking were habits more common among high-cost patients than among low-cost patients, Shirer said of the findings.

After studying the records of 2,238 patients admitted to six hospitals, the researchers found that 13 percent of the patients accumulated as many medical bills as all the rest of the patients combined.

Researchers from Harvard Medical School and Harvard's Kennedy School of Government who conducted the study have some thoughts about what can be done to correct the situation in which a small number of people monopolize medical facilities and medical costs, Shirer says.

They suggest charging people with hazardous health habits higher insurance premiums and higher taxes—in the event the government institutes a national health insurance program.

"These suggestions are certain to cause much controversy," Shirer says.

"However, the situation as it stands today places a penalty on Americans who safeguard their health by forcing them to help pay the way of people who endanger their own health by practicing bad health habits," the specialist says.

ENGAGEMENT REVEALED.....Dr. and Mrs. Burel Block announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their son, Steven Block to Melba Pena, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pena.

The groom is a graduate of Baylor University in Waco where he received his bachelor of science. He is presently a 4th year medical student at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Denton School of Nursing where she received her bachelor of arts.

The couple plan a November 28 wedding in Brownsville, Texas at the St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Tripsacum. You might keep that name tucked in the back of your mind. Tripsacum is a grass which when crossed with corn in some experimental studies has produced amazing results. Tripsacum has produced plants with ear branches up to 6.5 feet tall, and as many as 16... count 'em... 16 ears per branch. However, don't start looking for that tripsacum hybrid yet. According to crop geneticists studying the grass, there are some problems, and its effect on corn production. For one thing, many of the ears don't produce grain. The main value of the crossbreed may possibly lie in its potential contribution to modern hybrids. Some experimental breeders have extracted from the cross resistances to six diseases. Studies are continuing into the benefits of this native grass which is found all the way from Illinois to South America.

TIPS TO HELP YOU

Q. How can I choose the right interfacing for georgette and other soft fabrics?

A. The best way to tell if an interfacing will work well with a specific fabric is to sandwich the interfacing between your fabric and feel how it will handle between your fingers. Soft fabrics such as georgette require a very light weight interfacing.

Preparations Finalized For Winter Wheat Field

At mid-September farmers were active finalizing field preparations for sowing the 1982 winter wheat crop in Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. At the same time other wheat producers in the five major Santa Fe-served states were completing sowing of their 1982 crop as field conditions permitted. Generally those fields which were sown early for future live-stock grazing had emerged to good stand with adequate moisture for seed germination.

Greenbug damage has been reported in some areas and control measures have been taken to prevent further build-up of infestations. Worm damage to young wheat plants also has been reported and producers are urged to watch fields closely for signs of further build-up of numbers.

The 15 percent "Set-Aside Program" for the 1982 wheat crop announced

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm of Sandy Creek claims he has discovered a political paradise.

Dear editor:

Take a guess. Where do you think the world's smartest politicians live?

I got to thinking about this while watching the TV news the other evening. The network televised a politician making a statement, then ran a flashback of a statement he made a year ago saying just the opposite. TV does this all the time.

It'll show an official with an owl-like look announcing flatly that the economy will take an up-turn in the second quarter of the year. When the second quarter passes and no up-turn has shown up, he'll adjust his glasses and say he meant that was a goal, not a promise.

I don't know of a single public figure, from a state official to a Congressman to a cabinet member to any President in the last 25 years, who hasn't stood before a television camera and said one thing today that's just the opposite of what he said earlier.

Confronted with this, politicians try to claim they were mis-quoted but it's hard to make it stick when there it is in living color on TV tape.

This brings me to the smartest politicians on earth. They live in the Fiji Islands.

No Fiji politician has ever been embarrassed by having some TV camera showing him saying today what he wished he hadn't said the year before. Those Fiji leaders have out-smarted U.S. politicians all hollow.

They don't allow any television there. Not one station in the entire country.

They tell the 700,000 inhabitant they aren't culturally ready for it yet.

Unless a Fiji has a photographic memory, he thinks no politician ever jumps from one side of the fence to the other. It's a politician's paradise.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Almost anyone can tell ced by the Secretary of Agriculture and approved by Congress would indicate some future adjustments will be made by those wheat growers in earlier seeded areas who intend to enter the program. At mid-September preliminary information indicates a voluntary program with no paid diversion. Soil moisture conditions for planting are the best many farmers have seen in years. This poses the problem whether

Elevator Explosion Study Underway

The recent grain elevator explosion in Longview further illustrates the need for a better understanding of grain elevator safety, Sen. Bill Sarpalus said Saturday.

Sarpalius is chairman of the Senate Agriculture Subcommittee, which began studying grain elevator explosions at the close of the 67th Legislature. The panel will meet Thursday in Corpus Christi to study the explosions and three other topics.

"Obviously there is great need to discover why elevators blow up," Sarpalius said. "The explosion in Longview is not the first, nor will it be the last elevator to go, unless we find a way to make them safer. Our committee is trying to find out what the state needs to do to make the elevators safe."

"We heard expert testimony in the last hearing in Fort Worth, that indicated we really don't know what a safe level of dust in an elevator is. We want to find out what research we need to do to know when an elevator is safe and when one is not."

Sarpalius also said the committee will study bonding of grain elevators. "This is a very important topic. The failure of a grain elevator can bring severe hardships not only to individual farmers but to an entire community as well," Sarpalius said.

Sarpalius added that to reduce acreage at this time or to plant and graze-out or plow-up at this time out or plow-up in the spring after plants come out of the dormant period to comply with the "Set-Aside Program".

Although it is too early in the season for acreage estimates of the 1982 crop and what future markets will be next harvest season, it would appear considerable acreage will be planted due to improved soil moisture conditions.

such failures are rare, because of the integrity and good management policies of most grain elevator operators.

The committee also plans to take testimony on the farm loan guarantee program, a state loan plan still in its infancy, and on transportation of agricultural commodities.

The meeting will be at the Texas Agricultural Extension Building on Highway 44, three miles west of Corpus Christi International Airport, at 9 a.m. Thursday, November 19, 1981. The meeting is open to the public and Sarpalius invited all interested parties to attend.

cannot legally be refueled or pass state vehicle inspection without a valid tax decal.

Fuel tax decals range in cost from $24 a year for a vehicle driven less than 5,000 miles annually and weighing less than 4,000 pounds, to $300 for a vehicle weighing over 43,501 pounds and driven more than 10,000 miles a year.

Bullock said renewal notices to owners of LP-powered cars and trucks are being sent out by his office and decals are available from the Comptroller's field offices and at the agency's Austin office.

Bullock estimated that there are more than 40,000 liquefied gas powered cars and trucks in Texas.

The motor fuels tax on LP gas brings in about $4 million a year in tax revenue.

Experts Advise Choosing Hunting Equipment Carefully

Football may soon have serious competition.

In a few weeks, deer hunters all across the state will relinquish their roles as armchair quarterbacks to renew their annual quest for freshly stocked freezers and handsome wall mounts. Many, however, will be on their first big game hunt and may be somewhat confused over the inordinate amount of hunting paraphernalia to choose from.

So, before taking to the countryside, it's a good idea for all hunters to make sure they have acquired adequate equipment and found it to be in good working order, says Dr. Dwight Guynn, a wildlife specialist based in Uvalde with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

First and foremost is the selection of firearms, assuming, of course, that leases and licenses have been secured.

Guynn suggest choosing a rifle with sufficient caliber (firepower) for a quick, humane kill. He says it's very important to match caliber with one's physical size and shooting experience. Hence, large, heavier men can probably handle larger caliber rifles more accurately than small, petite women.

The most popular deer covered along with $20 in cash.

Other recoveries made this week included two transistor radios, and the remainder of the seven newstands that were taken.

rifles used today are .243, .270, .30/06 and .30/30 calibers. Selection, of course varies according to hunting preference, but inexperienced or beginning hunters can choose between these widely used models in good confidence.

Selecting the type rifle "action" depends on the kind of hunting one expects to do. In heavy brush for shots at close range (100 yards or less), a fast handling rifle with pump, lever action or semi-automatic may be appropriate. Guynn says a bolt action rifle is most often considered for open country requiring long accurate shots.

Scope selection, often a critical factor in the successful hunt, is influenced significantly by the terrain. For open country with long distance shooting, Guynn suggests a six-to eight-power scope. Under heavy cover with close shots, an open sight of two-power scope is usually all that's needed. A four-power scope such as the 2x-7x and 3x-9x are very versatile.

Binoculars are a highly underrated item that many hunters often neglect to include in their gear. It allows the hunter to identify parts of deer in heavy brush surroundings and distinguish bucks from does in dim light situations. Guynn says the 7x35 binoculars (7 power with 35mm objective lens) are the most common type used.

With so many knives on the market today, selecting the proper hunting knife can be confusing. Guynn says a five-inch blade is plenty large for dressing and skinning deer. Many hunters, in fact, use a small "pocket" knife for field dressing purposes. For skinning only, a curved blade is well suited. Top quality steel knives are usually more expensive than economy models, but hold their sharp edge and are more durable.

Boots, too, are integral parts of the hunter's regalia. Guynn recommends comfortable boots that are well broken in. Vibram or crepe soles, he says, are good choices for providing good footing. Slick leather soles are fine for dancing to the "Cotton Eyed Joe" or "Faded Love" after the hunt, but are inappropriate and dangerous while in the deer stand. Also, choose boots large enough to allow for heavy wool socks in cold weather, the specialist says.

Clothes may very well "make the man" in the business world, but not on a deer hunt. Guynn prefers the "layered approach" with sweater, vest and light jacket which can be easily removed or added as temperatures change during the day. Bright colors that can be easily detected by deer are to be avoided. Even though deer are color blind, they easily spot differences in color intensity such as white, bright yellow, etc. Instead, wear muted colors such as greens, browns, camouflage, dull reds or red and black check which blend with brush color. Guynn says blaze orange may be worn as a safety precaution where heavy hunting pressure exists.

Soft textured clothing permits quiet movement for stalking prey. Brush scraping stiff canvas pant legs can alarm deer as can the "swish-swish" sound of pant legs rubbing together as the hunter walks.

Texas Cattle Feeders Choose Officers

Gene Newman, a San Angelo rancher and cattle feeder, has been named president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association (TCFA). Newman is president of the Gene Newman Cattle Company and owns Kan Sun Beef, a feedyard at Leoti, Kansas. He replaces R.L. (Bob) Bliss, who has served as president of the association the last two years.

Charles E. Koontz, general manager of Olton Feedyard at Olton, was elected TCFA first vice president. Dick Waterfield, general manager of Canadian Feedyards at Canadian and Pampa, was elected vice president.

The new officers were elected at the conclusion of TCFA's Annual Convention, which drew nearly 900 cattle feeders and allied industry representatives to Fort Worth.

TCFA represents feedyard members in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The good wife is the one that makes the load a little lighter--not heavier.

LOOK UP AND LIVE!

Cotton harvest is here and the Coop urges extreme caution when operating farm equipment near electric lines.

In recent years, many incidents have involved cotton module builders. The extended portion of the cotton module builder can easily come into contact with overhead electric lines if the operator is not careful. The same problem exists with overhead baskets on cotton strippers.

We urge farmers and their employees to be alert to these potential hazards and take every possible precaution to avoid serious injury or death. When moving a module builder, be sure the packer arm is lowered as far as it will go. When using a stripper with an overhead basket, be sure to check for overhead lines before dumping.

We have had line torn down with cotton harvesting equipment this year. Also, some incidents have resulted in injury to the operators; but, fortunately, no fatalities so far.

If some piece of equipment does contact these 7200 volt overhead lines, it's important that you or the operator not try to simply back away. The line could break, or if it's already broken, it could tangle in the equipment and break again, compounding the problem and increasing the danger.

Jump clear of the machine, being sure not to touch the ground and the machine at the same time. Move quickly away at a right angle to the power line. Then call Bailey County Electric Cooperative at (Area Code 806) 272-4504 whether the line is broken or not.

Lower packer arm as far as it will go before moving module builder.

School Facilities Must Be Maintained!

You have an opportunity to vote on school improvements next Tuesday, November 24th. You will have the opportunity to approve or reject school improvements. Muleshoe School buildings (especially the high school) need renovation. It has been proven by 2 sets of specialists that energy conservation/renovation measures will save tax dollars in terms of energy savings. It has been pointed out that the last improvement program was in 1965 and that buildings cannot go on indefinitely without major repairs. It has also been pointed out that these improvements cost money and that a maximum increase in the bonded debt tax would be 13 cents.

The school board has spent a year planning, consulting with engineers and architects, visiting with other schools. This program is not designed for the good of the school board and administration, it is designed for the benefit of our students and community. This program will meet the major needs of our schools for the next ten years with only minor improvements needed during this time. At the end of this ten year period, the proposed bonds will be paid off.

The story has been told. The needs are real. The school district wishes that you would look at these needs yourself. Visit the schools, especially the high school. You are always welcome. Vote on November 24, 1981, it's your duty to express your approval or disapproval.

TO RETURN FUNDS

Two federal agencies have demanded the immediate return of more than $600,000 in federal funds that government auditors have accused Cesar Chavez and the United Farm Workers (UFW) of misappropriating.

PRESIDENT & TAXES

President Reagan is taking another look at the stalled budget and tax proposals he sent to Congress in September and may seek a compromise with congressional leaders in hopes of restraining the burgeoning deficit.

About Coke

The latest federal study shows that cocaine--known as coke but not to be confused with the popular soft drink--is now a bigger item in the drug world than marijuana.

Drug enforcement officials report an explosive increase in the use of this drug in the last four years.

The increase, federal officials say, has resulted partly because of the widespread impression that the use of cocaine is relatively harmless. But Dr. Everett Ellingwood, a Duke University School of Medicine psychiatrist, warns this is an illusion.

He was recently quoted as saying frequent use of cocaine, or high dosage, can be just as harmful as benzedrine and almost as harmful as heroin. It can cause paranoia, hallucinations, delusions of grandeur and manic depression.

In addition to all this, it is extremely expensive. Those hooked on cocaine often spend thousands weekly to supply their habit. Addicts sniff it or inject it in their veins or smoke it--sometimes mixed with other drugs. Dr. John Graboski of the National Institute of Drug Abuse says smoking it is the most dangerous form of use.

The drug works on the brain for only about an hour. Thus users often need a steady supply--at enormous cost. A recent survey showed that 12 percent of high school students questioned had tried it. Obviously our churches, newspapers and social workers need to stress the dangers and disadvantages of this drug more. It's not harmless but a very real threat to any victim's future happiness and health.

WASHINGTON NOTES

ON GOLD STANDARD

Members of the U.S. Gold Commission indicated recently they will steer clear of any recommendation that the nation return to a direct gold standard, one in which paper money will be only a substitute for the precious metal.

ON B-1 RESEARCH

The Defense Department admitted that it has been promoting the B-1 manned bomber program to Congress without disclosing that it expects to incur up to $1 billion in additional costs.

DIFFERS ON PLAN

President Reagan and King Hussein of Jordan ended two days of talks recently with the two leaders agreeing on the need for continued close security cooperation but divided about the best way to pursue resolution of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

ON STATE TAX

State taxes have increased 186 percent since 1970, with the average annual collection in 1980 amounting to more than $600 for every man, woman and child in the United States, the Tax Foundation reports.

U.S. & BOLIVIA

The Reagan administration is preparing to announce the resumption of full diplomatic relations with the military government of Bolivia, ending a 15-month absence of a U.S. ambassador in the country and continuing the administration's pattern of improving relations with Latin America's authoritarian rulers.

BLOCK & LEGISLATION

Agriculture Secretary John R. Block said recently that the administration's position on new farm legislation is unchanged despite official reports that farmers are going to see another poor financial year in 1982.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--Texas producers and consumers of natural gas have been discriminated against in the past, are being discriminated against now, and will continue to suffer if Congress does not act quickly to amend the Natural Gas Policy Act (NGPA) of 1978. Natural gas is the last remaining resource still under price controls imposed by the Carter Administration's National Energy Plan.

By 1985, Texas consumers will pay over three times the price that their northern neighbors pay for the same natural gas gathered in Texas. Texas citizens are being forced by law to subsidize northern and north-eastern consumers at the expense of our State's tax base and the residential and industrial ratepayers of our State. Measures are needed to place interstate and intrastate consumers of natural gas on equal footing.

Another aspect of this complex act is the poorly planned price controls which are based on 1978 oil prices. Drastic oil price hikes in 1979 and 1980 increased the price discrepancy between oil and gas thereby reducing incentives to explore for new gas. To compound the problem, Saudi Arabia recently announced plans to cut oil production, further increasing the likelihood of more price hikes in foreign oil.

Results of several studies, one of which was done by the Department of Energy, estimate that the existing schedule for decontrol will leave natural gas prices from one-third to forty percent below free market oil prices. To help alleviate some of the economic impacts of decontrol a cabinet-level committee has recommended to the President that newly discovered gas be decontrolled immediately and many other kinds of gas be decontrolled at a faster rate than under NGPA.

Laws on natural gas contract provisions and Federal Energy Regulatory Commission pipeline transportation rules are also discriminatory to Texas and warrant the immediate attention of Congress.

Action on this issue is essential to stabilizing the price of oil-based petroleum products such as gasoline, diesel, heating oil, aviation fuel and others. Action is also essential to stabilize the natural gas market and to stabilize the future economic picture in Texas.

I urge you as a Texas consumer to convey your views on this matter to President Reagan and your representatives in Congress.

Generations

Isn't it grand when the whole family reunites on holidays or on anniversaries! How good to see grandparents and great grandparents and the new crop of babies. Seeing them all together gives you a feeling of continuity, and a sense of oneness with all creation.

It gives you, also, a glimpse of God's plan in the life cycle. When you see the off-spring of the patriarch grandfather, you marvel at the great legacy he is bequeathing the world. All the children that have issued from him are in themselves a great contribution to the world of mankind.

There is marvelous potential in all these spirits. The great things they will do thrill your heart when you contemplate them.

This legacy of lives and spirit can be strengthened, sweetened and nourished by the church. We invite you to take your family to church this week.
