

Department Raided by Prank-Playing Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) - For a dozen or so protesting farmers, the Agriculture Department has turned into a home away from home each night. They sprawl on office couches and carpets to catch a few winks of sleep.

Hundreds of others have found the department's open-door policy during the American Agriculture protests this week a welcome opportunity to visit toilets, fill buckets with water, eat in the cafeteria and take steaming cups of coffee to others waiting on cold tractors.

Although security forces are scattered profusely throughout the department's sprawling complex that includes more than 8,000 employees in a normal working day, some farmers also are grabbing a few souvenirs of their visit.

One of the first incidents when the protest began this week was removal of the official USDA flag from one of two poles in front of the administration building and replacing it with American Agriculture's own banner.

On Wednesday, the U.S. flag on the other pole was removed, presumably by one of the protesters, officials said.

Normally, everyone entering or leaving the department after 6 p.m. has to sign a register at a security desk. This rule was suspended so farmers could move freely in and out of the premises.

Joseph T. McDavid, the department's press chief, said it was decided to have an "open building" during the time American Agriculture had its tractors and drivers here and that "if they want to sleep inside, they can."

On the first night, security forces counted 12 farmers who slept inside in various offices. Eighteen were reported as overnight guests the following night.

No attempt was made to count scores of others who wandered around during the evenings.

But some people have rifled desks and file cabinets in a number of offices, including those of senior officials.

Some papers were taken on one occasion from the office of Howard Hjort, the department's chief economist and farm program strategist.

Several visiting farmers were observed looking through a secretary's desk early Wednesday in the office of Stephen B. Dewhurst, the department's budget officer.

McDavid said a number of notes, some of them obscene, have been left in office typewriters to greet secretaries of department officials when they came to work in the morning.

Other petty thefts have occurred this week, including one observed by a reporter when a farmer ripped off a sign pointing the way to an information office and carried it away. Pencils, pens, desk sets and other items also have been reported missing.

Color portraits of President Carter and Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland were early casualties.

But the farmers have left things behind, too: hundreds of bumper stickers plastered to walls, file cabinets, cafeteria facilities and even ceilings to proclaim support of American Agriculture and, frequently, criticism of Bergland and Carter.

For the most part, farmers have been courteous around department employees. A few whistles and catcalls have been heard in the cafeteria as young women walk by, and there have been occasional jibes at other workers.

Some farmers have entered offices during working hours and used telephones or picked up material from desks without asking permission, according to one personnel official.

Tensions Ease on Capital Battlegrounds

WASHINGTON (AP) - Protesting farmers are claiming a few small victories - fresh water and propane for their campers, a promise of new House and Senate hearings and an apology from the secretary of agriculture for suggesting some of them were motivated by simple greed.

"I think things are beginning to work out," said Gerald McCathern of Hereford, Texas, "national wagonmaster" of the American Agriculture Movement. "They're beginning to understand that we're not a bunch of hoodlums."

At a strategy meeting in a Lutheran church Wednesday night, the farmers stood and sang the hymn "Amazing Grace" and cheered lustily when told that a sympathetic city baker who had given them 200 dozen doughnuts would be back today with 300 dozen.

City officials allowed farmers to bring in water and propane to cook their meals and heat their campers encircled on the Mall. But, concerned about liability in the event of accidents, the authorities turned down the farmers' offer to use their tractors to clear the streets of a five-inch snowfall.

Today the demonstrators, whose ranks were originally estimated at 3,500, planned to lobby their hometown members of Congress for loans and price guarantees intended to cushion them from the risks of too-abundant crops.

They've won welcome support from Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., acting chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, who signed up as a cosponsor of a resolution to give the farmers what they say they need to survive.

McGovern also called a hearing Friday to allow the farmers to make their case face-to-face with the committee.

Farmer Bud Bittner of Walsh, Colo., a founder of the grass-roots protest, told a group of fellow farmers, "Members of the Senate have told us, 'You pass your legislation through the House and we'll ram it through the Senate.' Last year the farmers' bill was killed on the House floor."

Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, also reshuffled his committee schedule to take direct testimony from the farmers.

But Bob Bergland, the Red River

Valley farmer from Minnesota who is secretary of agriculture, said three times Wednesday that his refusal to sanction higher grain price supports was irrevocable.

He argued such a move would ruin the export market for American grain, leaving farmers worse off than ever.

At a House hearing, farmers wrested a symbolic victory when Bergland apologized for the ill-will engendered by his remark on television Tuesday that some of the protesters were "driven by old-fashioned greed."

"I want to take this opportunity to apologize to anyone who has felt insulted by anything I've said. It was not intended."

The 300 farmers in the audience seemed not to notice. They booed Bergland four or five times, laughed derisively at him twice and cheered when he talked of clamping down on imports of poorly inspected Mexican meat.

Outside, the air was dense with the fumes of diesel smoke after the police allowed 130 tractors to parade around the Capitol. Schoolchildren at the Supreme Court waved as the tractors rolled by.

Farm Group Reps Rebuff Bergland

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Representatives of three of the region's most prominent commodity organizations levelled withering fire at Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland in a special press conference in Lubbock Wednesday, rebuffing comments the controversial ag secretary made on national television Tuesday morning that left much of the American farm populace smoldering with anger.

Carl King of Dimmitt, president of the Texas Corn Growers Association, Elbert Harp of Lubbock, representing the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board and Plains Cotton Growers Inc. spokesman Lloyd Cine, also of Lubbock, lashed out at Bergland with commentary and supporting production cost figures, in the wake of criticism heaped on farmers by Bergland on Tuesday.

Bergland, already maligned by many of the nation's farmers, stirred the fires of animosity to a virtual inferno with statements he made on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" Tuesday.

In comments during the program, Bergland admitted that many of the farmers in the region which depends on the Ogallala aquifer for irrigation are facing severe problems, but added, "There are others who have made bad business judgments, paid too much money for land... others are seeking publicity and others are driven by old-fashioned greed."

Bergland also claimed farmers currently in Washington to protest agricultural conditions represent what he termed, "local problems," and in another comment late Tuesday, he termed the farmer protest in Washington, "An unmitigated disaster."

Commodity group spokesmen were inclined to think Bergland's comments fell into the disaster category themselves, according to statements made at the Wednesday press conference.

"It's time for the ag secretary to start looking at the rowcrop farmers and stop saying all is well because he has some net figures to fall back on," charged Elbert Harp of the TGSPB.

"Bergland's statement was irritating, and certainly farmers have a right to be concerned over his misleading statement that they are in such better shape than a year ago," Harp emphasized.

The TGSPB spokesmen used the USDA's own figures to refute Bergland's comments.

"By the USDA's accounting, the price received by farmers for sorghum in 1977 was $3.15 per cwt., compared to the national average price of $3.53 per cwt. for 1978. This is an increase of 38 cents per cwt. in price. However, using the USDA's own figures on cost of production, the average cost for the 1977 crop was $4.88 per cwt. and the cost jumped to $5.37 per cwt. for the 1978 crop. That was an increased cost of 49 cents per cwt., which means the farmers are suffering an additional 11 cents per

Getting the Wrinkles Out

Wind gusts in excess of 30 miles per hour this morning made temperatures in the 30's feel much colder as a cold front swept through the Panhandle. However, clothes dried faster than usual. The forecast called for strong winds to continue through this evening, with temperatures expected to be in the low to mid 40's. A warming trend was expected through the weekend. (Brand photo by Paul Sims)

Congress Studies Tax Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration will have to consider loosening its wage guideline if inflation worsens and Congress rejects a proposed tax credit for workers who comply with the guideline, Labor Secretary Ray Marshall says.

But Marshall said Wednesday he is confident inflation will ebb and hopeful Congress will approve the "real wage insurance" tax credit, making it unnecessary to relax the voluntary 7 percent ceiling on annual wage and fringe benefit increases.

"If inflation gets to be 10, 11 percent and you're trying to get workers to settle for 7, you're going to have trouble" getting union compliance, Marshall said in an interview with The Associated Press.

"And, if you're unable to get real wage insurance, you'll have to consider adjusting the standard guideline or doing some other things to try to bring the inflation rate down," Marshall said.

He added that the administration never intended its wage and price guidelines to be "fixed forever."

"One possibility would be to gradually grind it down as you grind inflation down," he said. "Now, if you're wrong and you don't reduce inflation, then you've got to have a more realistic standard."

sked if that meant raising the wage ceiling about 7 percent, he said, "Yes, but I don't think that's going to happen because I think we are going to get real wage insurance and I think we're going to be able to hold inflation down more than people now think."

Last week, Charles L. Schultze, President Carter's chief economic adviser, said the administration may have to tighten its wage and price guidelines by 1980 if Carter's anti-inflation program is successful.

But Schultze did not say whether the

Ag Secretary Lied, McCathern Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland was "probably just a damn liar" when he said that many protesting farmers got into financial trouble because of bad business decisions or were "driven by just old-fashioned greed," a protest leader contended Wednesday.

"I kind of take the attitude that the secretary is probably just a damn liar as far as I'm concerned..." Gerald McCathern of Hereford said on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" program.

Bergland, himself a farm owner, is "not out there paying my bills and he doesn't know the hardships I'm going through and maybe if I could supplement my income with a salary the way that he is I could possibly keep my farm going," McCathern said.

McCathern, a corn grower and national "wagonmaster" of the American Agriculture movement's tractorcade to the capital, said his farm is for sale "because I'm losing so much money on it."

"It's a bad business judgment to keep the farm and continue to lose my equity that I built up over the last 25 years," McCathern said his problems "are due to one thing and one thing only - lack of fair price for my product. Inflation continues to make our cost go up; my prices continue to come down. I'm getting less for my product today than I was getting in 19 and 48 and I can assure you that if the secretary thinks that if this is a bad business judgment, well perhaps I'm guilty."

McCathern described the majority of the protesting farmers as "card-carrying Farm Bureau members. They are the grass roots people."

U.S. Feeling Effects of Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) - The continuing political strife in Iran raises the possibility that the United States could be hit with an oil crisis "more serious" than the 1973-74 Arab embargo, a top official says.

Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger said Wednesday the cutoff of Iranian oil is forcing the United States to draw on reserves to make up for part of the 900,000 barrels a day once supplied by that country.

"Unless we are able to restock for next winter, our inventories could be dangerously low," he testified before the Senate Energy Committee. He said he had seen no indication "that the slide of Iran toward chaos has been arrested."

Although the Carter administration hopes voluntary fuel conservation will solve the problem, Schlesinger said officials were studying a package of mandatory controls, including Sunday closings of gasoline stations. He ruled out gas rationing.

Schlesinger's testimony was considered the most pessimistic assessment of the oil situation so far. Analysts blamed his remarks for a decline in stock market prices Wednesday and for a sharp drop in the value of the dollar on foreign exchanges.

The energy secretary also said the United States was better prepared today to manage in an oil crisis than it was during the embargo. The nation now has a 70-day supply of oil in reserve, he said. At the time of the embargo, the normal reserve was 54 days.

Meanwhile, states were warned Wednesday they will lose federal

House Cuts Spending For RR Commission

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Challenged to keep campaign promises of government economy, the House has chopped an emergency spending bill for the Texas Railroad Commission by more than half.

Speaker Bill Clayton said that was OK with him, even though "a band of dissidents, newly labeled 'The Gang of Four,'" led the charge and roughed up the work of his House Appropriations Committee.

"I didn't care whether it went through intact. If they can't prove their case, they don't deserve it. I don't like to dish out any extra dollars if they don't need it," Clayton said.

The House voted 75-66 to cut the bill from $581,682 to $245,509, then advanced it on voice vote. A final vote is expected Monday. Senators then would decide whether to accept the cut or call for negotiations with the House.

With "The Gang of Four" threatening a floor fight, sponsors postponed until March 9 another emergency bill, appropriating $115,794 to the Texas Animal Health Commission.

The railroad commission appropriation was sold as necessary to cover the cost of analyzing each Texas gas well for federal pricing decisions under the 1978 natural gas policy act.

But Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso, said the commission had requested only $245,509 for that purpose and failed to justify the rest.

"They are asking for 40 positions when their own report says they need only 17 positions to implement the federal act," Coleman said.

"I assume they are running a taut ship over there... If you want to question their integrity, so be it," replied Rep. Joe Hanna, D-Breckenridge, sponsor of the bill.

Coleman reminded the representatives of campaign promises to work for government economy.

"Political rhetoric sounds real good back home. Let's see if you've got the nerve to do it today," he said.

Coleman also had help from Reps. John Whitmire, D-Houston; John Bryant, D-Dallas; and Luther Jones, D-El Paso. The four have been the most vocal critics of Clayton and his administration.

Before lawmakers dispersed for the day, the label, "The Gang of Four," was making the rounds.

The four had distributed memoranda criticizing the animal health commission appropriation for a brucellosis program as a boondoggle for former Rep. Joe

Naming Priorities Helps Heart Patient

By KERRIE STEIERT
Women's Editor

By determining her priorities, Dorothy Renfro is leading an active and productive life at the age of 67, despite a long bout with heart disease during the past year.

Mrs. Renfro, a longtime civic-minded resident of Hereford, appears to be the least-likely candidate for heart disease. She has always been petite, physically active and a health-conscious eater. But she fell victim to "the silent killer"—hypertension (more commonly known as high blood pressure).

Hypertension, which is an elevation of arterial blood pressure, produces no noticeable symptoms before severe damage occurs in the heart, cardiovascular system and other organs. Mrs. Renfro's blood pressure caused her to have a heart attack on Feb. 7, 1978, placing her in intensive care in the local hospital for one week.

Mrs. Renfro's case was complicated when she developed pericarditis, an inflammation of the pericardium, which covers the heart. Pericarditis is usually accompanied by severe illness, involving fever, chills and severe pain across the shoulders.

This infection and fever resulted in a three-month delay of catheterization of Mrs. Renfro's heart to determine the damage caused by her heart attack. Heart surgery was performed as soon as possible after the catheterization revealed an aneurysm on the heart. This dilated area can cause the weakened part of the heart wall to give way to the pounding pulse pressure, enlarging it until lethal complications occur.

Seven days following surgery, Mrs. Renfro returned to Hereford to recuperate. Her doctors and two local home visiting nurses, Kathryn Acton and Lucille Lindeman, "gave me the assurance and encouragement which all heart patients need," stated Mrs. Renfro.

"We are fortunate in the Panhandle to have excellent trained doctors, nurses and equipment to help heart patients," she said, adding that many Hereford residents are living normal lives today because of these advantages.

Mrs. Renfro revealed that famed heart specialist Dr.

Michael DeBaakey from Houston "is very impressed with the work and advancement of the Panhandle Heart Association." Dr. DeBaakey accepted an invitation to lecture to the area Heart Association last May in Amarillo.

According to Mrs. Renfro, "The American Heart Association has enabled research to move faster in the field of medicine in the last ten years than other medical areas." Prior to the evolution of open heart surgery, no effective treatment was available for many forms of congenital heart defects.

Mrs. Renfro is understandably adamant about the importance of having one's blood pressure checked regularly. The Heart Association has promoted mass blood pressure screening free to the public, made possible through donations to the organization.

Although her recovery was hampered by four months of bedrest prior to heart surgery, Mrs. Renfro believes "A heart attack does not mean you have to go into retirement." She said, "It is just necessary to make priorities. Do not continue anything which will cause stress or tension. I resigned from some of my activities, especially those which necessitated a great deal of traveling," she explained.

On Mrs. Renfro's list of "priorities" is her continued work on the board of directors of the Panhandle Heritage Foundation. She has served in this capacity for 12 years and worked on the finance committee for three years. The Heritage Foundation presents the play, "Texas," a well-established production in Palo Duro Amphitheatre.

In November of this past year, Mrs. Renfro was able to begin work on the Heritage Foundation's new venture, the organization of the Lone Star Ballet Guild. Mrs. Renfro acted as hostess for the Guild membership tea. "Hereford people proudly supported us with the most memberships of any area town," Mrs. Renfro exuberantly stated. She added that the Guild presented its first production "The Nutcracker Ballet," in December.

Other involvements planned by Mrs. Renfro include continued service as a trustee for First United Methodist Church and King's Manor Methodist Home.

Mrs. Renfro operates her own business in investments, focusing on stocks and bonds. She is a graduate of Oklahoma State University at Stillwater, Okla.

Popular shawl collars are flattering to persons with broad shoulders and full bustlines, says Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Two big events for Stanton this school year will be the All-School Play and the Musical production. The casts for each of these have been selected and practice has begun. The play, "Virtue Victorious," under the direction of Miss Paula Parks, is a melodrama set in the gay 90's. Members of the cast are: Shannon Wilburn, Tonya Savage, Jeff Morris, Carol Smalts, Cindy Smith, Kevin Huckabee, Jennifer Eggen, Edward Crandall, Cookie Reyes, Bruce Wright, and Carie Jones. Assistant to the director is Margie Morales.

The stage crew, which includes hospitality, art, publicity, costumes, props and lighting, has these students as workers: Robin Umsted, Debbie McCarley, Cindy Booth, Brenda Duckworth, Shelly Schmitt, Tiffi Dirks, Allyson Jones, Margaret Rodriguez, JoAnn Brown, Becky Griego, Debbie Garza, Becky Ruland, Tonya Gauthreaux, Henry Pena, Sheila Bryan, Frankie SanMiguel, Dan Trevino, David Fortenberry, Lane Warren, Henry Dominguez, Greg Palmer, Joey Betzen and Steve Duckworth.

The musical, "Mississippi Melody," under the direction of Doug Morris, has these students in the cast: Edward Crandall, Bruce Wright, Tonya Savage, Shawn Stubbs, Jay Hodge, Brendon Wyly, Jeff Morris, Robert Loveless, Charles White, Kerry Hagemeier, Shiria Greenway, Brenda Duckworth, Gloria DeLaPaz, Annette Dawson, Marcia Crowley, Yerna Meeks, Gracie Chavez, and D'Nan Brannon. Stage crew has not been named.

U.I.L. and 7th and 8th grade Solo and Ensemble Contest was held last Saturday. The judges for the contest were Noble Candida from Andrews and Lloyd Hanson from Canyon.

Students who received First Division rating on solos were: Kerry Hagemeier, Bruce Wright, Annette Dawson and Jeff Morris. Second Division soloists were Brenda Duckworth, Shiria Greenway and Yvette Riley. Third Division soloists were Lisa Garivay, Janet Riley and Tonya Savage. Ensemble members who had a Second Division rating were Shiria Greenway, Lisa Garivay, Bruce Wright, Dwight Jobe, Kerry Hagemeier, Jay Hodge, Charles White and Jeff Morris.

Third Division rating ensemble members were Cindy Smith, Marcia Crowley and Suzanne Hulsey.

Mrs. Montgomery's English classes are reading Jack London's novel "Call of the Wild."

Tony Valle has had 100 percent on five different reading activities which qualifies him for the Super Star group.

Stanton basketball teams conference rating is: Boys-Freshmen 6-4, eighth 9-1 and seventh 4-4; the Freshmen girls have a 4-4, eighth girls 2-6 and seventh girls 2-5.

Boys will be in Plainview this weekend in a District Tournament. As for the girls' teams, the 7th will be in a tournament in Canyon this weekend, the eighth will be at home in tournament play and the Freshmen girls will be in Pampa.

Mrs. Askew Host To Study Club

Tips on interior design were presented to 18 members of La Plata Study Club Tuesday evening during a meeting and program in the recently-built home of Mary Helen Askew, 711 Baltimore.

Interior decorator Ruth McBride explained how she helped Mrs. Askew in appointing the custom-designed home. Mrs. McBride was introduced by the program chairman, Mozelle Neill.

After Mrs. McBride's presentation, the club women toured the Askew residence.

Sherry Hoover, president, called the business meeting to order and read a letter from the Office of Programs for Women at West Texas State University.

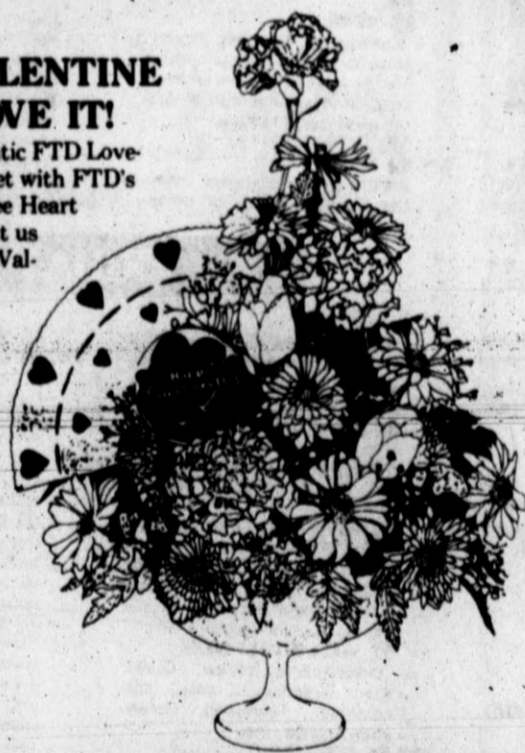

The letter stated that nominations are being sought for the awards to be presented to Panhandle women who have given distinguished service. The club voted to nominate one of its members, Audine Dettman, for the honor.

In other business, treasurer Lucy Rogers, reported that donations had been made to the Heart Association and for the speech tournament to be held at Hereford High School.

Students who received First Division rating on solos were: Kerry Hagemeyer, Bruce Wright, Annette Dawson and Jeff Morris. Second Division soloists were Brenda Duckworth, Shiria Greenway and Yvette Riley. Third Division soloists were Lisa Garivay, Janet Riley and Tonya Savage. Ensemble members who had a Second Division rating were Shiria Greenway,

Alcoholism Film to Be Shown Here

The Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism will meet at noon Monday at Dickies Restaurant. All interested persons are encouraged to attend.

Claudia Stuart, regional alcohol and drug abuse coordinator, will present a film on teenage alcoholism. "It Can't Happen to Me."

Lisa Garivay, Bruce Wright, Dwight Jobe, Kerry Hagemeyer, Jay Hodge, Charles White and Jeff Morris.

Third Division rating ensemble members were Cindy Smith, Marcia Crowley and Suzanne Hulsey.

Mrs. Montgomery's English classes are reading Jack London's novel "Call of the Wild." Tony Valle has had 100 percent on five different reading activities which qualifies him for the Super Star group.

Stanton basketball teams conference rating is: Boys-Freshmen 6-4, eighth 9-1 and seventh 4-4; the Freshmen girls have a 4-4, eighth girls 2-6 and seventh girls 2-5.

Boys will be in Plainview this weekend in a District Tournament. As for the girls' teams, the 7th will be in a tournament in Canyon this weekend, the eighth will be at home in tournament play and the Freshmen girls will be in Pampa.

Mrs. Askew Host To Study Club

Tips on interior design were presented to 18 members of La Plata Study Club Tuesday evening during a meeting and program in the recently-built home of Mary Helen Askew, 711 Baltimore.

Interior decorator Ruth McBride explained how she helped Mrs. Askew in appointing the custom-designed home. Mrs. McBride was introduced by the program chairman, Mozelle Neill.

After Mrs. McBride's presentation, the club women toured the Askew residence. Sherry Hoover, president, called the business meeting to order and read a letter from the Office of Programs for Women at West Texas State University.

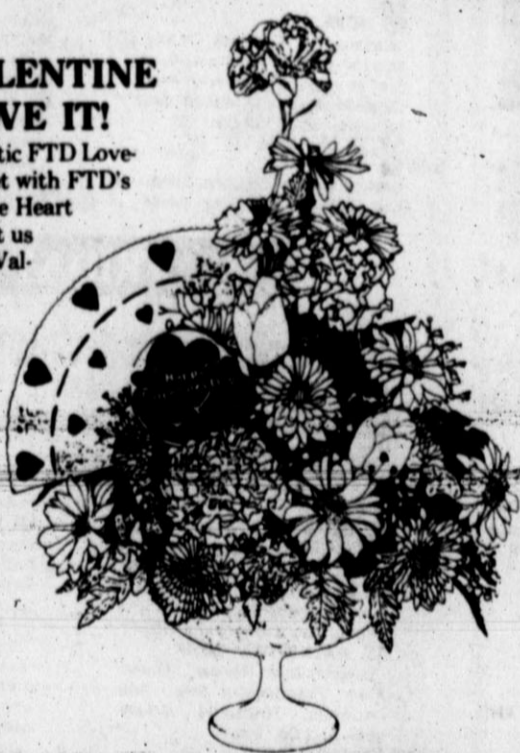

The letter stated that nominations are being sought for the awards to be presented to Panhandle women who have given distinguished service. The club voted to nominate one of its members, Audise Dettman, for the honor.

In other business, treasurer Lucy Rogers, reported that donations had been made to the Heart Association and for the speech tournament to be held at Hereford High School.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

My son came home from college on semester break this week and asked me for a road map of the state.

I went to our safety deposit box, took out a worn copy, and cautioned, "Be careful with this. It's the only map we have."

He handed it with reverence as he placed it on the table.

"Tell me how you got it again?" he asked.

"Well," I said settling down to recite a familiar story that I had told and he had heard many times before.

"Once upon a time, businessmen in the country used to court consumers. They wanted their business, and to remind them of this they would give them presents. Not big ones, but little reminders you could use.

"For example, this road map was on a rack in a service station and you could take as many as you liked.

"Dry cleaners used to give out hangers and sewing kits, banks gave out rain bonnets and candy, and there wasn't a year we didn't get hundreds of calendars free from insurance companies, stores and garages. I used to have a whole drawerful of keyrings and address books and fans...the funeral homes always passed out fans."

"Tell me again about the phone books," he chided.

"Well, there was a time when you got a phone book for each of the phones in your house. You didn't have to call or anything. I know you're too young to remember, but you used to go into a restaurant and not have to ask for water or a toothpick."

"You're kidding," he said. "I asked for a toothpick the other night and the cashier asked, 'How many do you need?'"

"What did you tell her?" I asked.

"I told her I had 28 teeth, but I could double up."

"All that is new," I sighed. "Do you know that your father once bought a pair of boots and they came with a penknife in the side?"

"Aw c'mon," he said.

"Yes, it's goodbye loafers with pennies in them, goodbye free catalogues from mail-order houses, and so long cardboards in shirts. We're living in a time of inflation."

"Speaking of inflation, Mom, I used your car and you owe me $2 for gas. Cheer up! You can have the free balloon."

Newcomers to Meet Tuesday at Dickies

New residents of Hereford are urged to attend a luncheon meeting of Hereford Newcomers at noon Tuesday at Dickies Restaurant.

Featured speaker during the meeting will be a representative of the Red Cross speaking about local volunteer agencies. Representatives from other local organizations will also address the newcomers concerning various opportunities for community involvement.

TV Personalities Named To Head MDA Fun-For-All

Ken Kelley, president of the Panhandle Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, has announced the appointment of Milwaukee television personalities Rosemary and Howard Gernette as National Co-chairman of MDA's Fun*For*All campaign, which includes the Association's Carnivals Against Muscular Dystrophy program. The husband and wife team is seen weekdays on the popular "Dialing for Dollars" show on WISN-TV. Gernette is a national Vice President of MDA.

The Gernettes have been active in the fight against muscle disease for over 11 years and have headed up MDA's Carnivals Against Muscular Dystrophy program in the Milwaukee area since 1976, Kelley said. In 1978, carnivals and other events held by their viewers raised more than $93,000 for MDA, the third highest MDA carnival total among those realized in the audience areas of stations that promoted the program last year.

Kelley said that more than 150,000 youngsters and adults throughout the country, inspired by hundreds of television and

Patterns Can Be Fixed For Sway Back Figures

COLLEGE STATION - Pattern alternations for sway back are simple and quick, says Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist.

They simply shorten garments in back below the waistline, she says.

Sway back's more-than-normal curve in the spine at the waistline and lower back shortens the body back length, the specialist explains.

That causes garments to wrinkle across the back just below the waistline, or it causes one-piece garments or long blouses and jackets to stand away from the back near the waist, she adds.

Miss Rhoades is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

To prevent these fitting problems, homesewers can alter patterns easily for perfect fit before cutting out garments.

HOW TO MEASURE
Find out how much the pattern will need shortening below the waistline by pinning horizontal tucks on an existing garment until wrinkles disappear.

Measure the tuck at the center back.

Remember a tuck has two "sides," so figure twice the width when you measure one side of a pinned tuck.

This is the amount to shorten the pattern.

HOW TO ALTER

To alter the pattern, draw a horizontal line across the pattern back about three inches below the waistline. Draw the line all the way across the pattern to the side seam line.

Next, starting at the center back, cut along the horizontal line all the way to the side seam line--BUT NOT THROUGH IT.

Then clip the side seam allowance just opposite the newly cut line--leaving a small pivot point.

Lap the pattern the amount needed at the center back.

Since the pivot point is still intact, the lapped area will taper automatically all the way across to the side seam line. Also, the clipped seam allowance will spread slightly.

Last, tape the pattern in place. If it has darts, redraw them by connecting the dart point with the dart base stitching lines. Darts will be slightly shorter.

Redraw any seam, cutting or fold lines at the center back to straighten, adding tissue paper as needed.

Rebekah Business Considered Tuesday

Noble Grand Karrol Rettman presided as Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met in regular session Tuesday in IOOF Temple with 17 members present.

Sickness still plagues families of members, it was announced. Forty-five visits to the sick were made during the past week.

Members voted to give a cash donation to the Kidney Foundation of Texas.

Lodge Deputy Lydia Hopson gave an informative school of instruction, emphasizing the aim of Odd Fellowship which is "friendship, love and truth." She stressed the importance of caring for those who are sick or in distress.

Mary Flowers was hostess to Faye Brownlow, Glessie Shelton, Edna Mathes, Nellie Beauford, Guy Lawrence, Martha Bridges, Frances Parker, Peggy Lemons, Addie Phillips, Susie Curtisinger, Lydia Hopson, Karrol Rettman, Bessie

Lawrence, Anna Conklin, Ada Hollabaugh and Ursalee Jacobson.

On Sunday, a planning meeting was held to begin preparations for the Panhandle Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, which will convene in Hereford April 27-29.

Attending from out-of-town were Nell Kelley, PHA Rebekah president; George Campbell, PHA Odd Fellow president and his wife, Caroline; past PHA presidents Charlie and Wilma Wise and PHA chaplain Geneva Williams from Friona.

The next planning meeting will be held following the regular lodge meeting Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Raw Eggs: Food Poisoning Threat

COLLEGE STATION - Eating raw eggs may cause food poisoning.

Ungraded eggs, especially cracked or dirty ones, were the culprit in salmonella food poisonings recently—from "no cook" homemade ice cream.

"Salmonella food poisoning is a severe form of foodborne illness which causes symptoms similar to a '24-hour' virus," according to Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist.

AVOID NO-COOK ICE CREAM
Homemakers should avoid any recipe which uses the no-cooking method for homemade ice cream," she adds.

Mrs. Sweeten is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Explaining the "no-cook" method, she says raw eggs and other ingredients are simply mixed, cooled and placed in a freezer.

COOKING KILLS BACTERIA

A safer method is any recipe which calls for cooking eggs, milk and cream in a double boiler. Mrs. Sweeten says that makes a custard base for the ice cream, and it aids in pasteurizing the ingredients. Salmonella bacteria can penetrate an eggshell—through cracks or pores, but cooking will kill it, the specialist explains.

Reports from the Center for Disease Control associate outbreaks of salmonella foodborne illness with the ingestion of homemade ice cream prepared from contaminated, farm-produced, ungraded eggs, the specialist adds.

Sorority Programs Discussed Tuesday by Exemplar Chapter

A number of Beta Sigma Phi sorority projects were discussed Tuesday evening by members of Xi Epsilon Alpha Exemplar chapter during a meeting in First National Bank Community Room.

Barbara Kendall, chapter president, called the meeting to order and read a communique from the international office concerning programs. Local members proceeded to vote on original programs for next year. Mrs. Kendall also announced that International is now accepting recipes which will be compiled in a BSP cookbook.

A letter was received from West Texas State University, soliciting nominations for the Distinguished Panhandle Woman's Award, which is bestowed annually on outstanding area residents.

Members were reminded of the area convention to be held this autumn at Wichita Falls.

In chapter business, Lillie Shipman, social chairman, discussed details of the progressive party to be held with the Ritual chapter. Service chairman Pam Stephens announced that Westgate Nursing Home will be having a bingo party Feb. 22 and is selling tickets for a drawing on a queen-sized quilt. XEA members were urged to support the two Westgate activities.

Also, Toni Jones announced that March 1 is the deadline for donations to XEA's collection of items for Girlstown. Among the items needed are bath mats, trash cans, drinking glasses, irons and ironing boards.

vacuum cleaners, first aid items, bath and bed linens, personal toiletries and school supplies. The public is asked to support this effort.

Mrs. Jones also presented a program entitled "Technology and You."

The chapter's next meeting is scheduled Feb. 20 at Hereford State Bank.

Members in attendance included Mrs. Kendall, Alene Tindal, Opal Glenn, Barbara Burkhalter, Jo Ann Richburg, Iljaean Brinkman, Cheryl Bullard, Debra Cook, Bonnie Decker, Jean Holbert, Toni Jones, Phyllis Neill, Sandy Owsley, Karren Ruland, Lillie Shipman, Mary Sledge, Pam Stephens, Linda Thorell, Jan Waiser, Janey Whitaker, Dixie Williamson and Jeanie Tucker.

Ann Landers

Mechanical Lovers

DEAR ANN: I was surprised at your naive answer to "Unfulfilled in Darien." She said her husband's attempts at intimate encounters were hurried, mechanical and meaningless. He got his and rolled over for a good night's sleep.

You advised the wife to guide him lovingly and let him know what pleases her. I can tell you from experience it won't help. Many times I have lovingly guided my husband only to be accused of wanting everything "my way." He gets mad and that's the end of our love-making.

For 25 years I've tried to bring a little tenderness and affection into our sex life. All I ever got was a hurried, mechanical, meaningless performance. Finally, I gave up. "Unfulfilled in Darien" has had it for 18 years. I can tell her it will get worse as the years go by. I, too, am positive that my husband does not step out on me. All he wants is animal sex -- not love. Furthermore, a man who acts like that is a selfish pig. -- Feeling Used

DEAR USED: I'm sorry for you -- and sorrier for your husband. He has cheated himself out of one of the most rewarding and joyous aspects of marriage. The poor slob settled for hampocks when he could have had filet mignon!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's sister Ellen has four children. They are always coughing. Their noses run constantly. They have more earaches and sore throats than any kids I've ever seen.

A few days ago, Ellen brought her children to my house. (I have three under six years of age.) Her youngest looked feverish. When he complained of a headache, I took his temperature. It was 103 degrees.

I said, "Ellen, I think Benny is coming down with something." She replied, "I think so, too." I then said, "You have your nerve bringing him over and exposing my children." Her answer was, "It's much better for kids to get all the childhood diseases when they are young."

Two of my kids came down with chicken pox yesterday and I am furious. Is Ellen right about kids getting "everything" when they are young? -- Slow Burn in Baton Rouge

DEAR BURN: Ellen is mistaken. Any pediatrician will tell you that every normal precaution should be taken to protect children against all diseases. Moreover, a youngster with a fever should be at home.

Since you mentioned childhood diseases, I want to remind all mothers to make sure their children receive inoculations against polio, DPT (diphtheria, pertussis -- whopping cough -- tetanus), MMR (measles, mumps, rubella), a booster shot and a tubercular skin test. Most city health departments give them free. Check with YOURS.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was appalled by your suggestion that the woman whose cat tore her guest's nylons should reimburse the visitor.

I'd like to have $5.00 for every time I've been a guest and the hostess' children crawled on me, spilled Coke on my shoes, and soiled my dress with jellied fingers. No one ever suggested I be reimbursed and I'd never expect it. Where were you raised, anyway? -- From Missouri

DEAR MISS: I'm from Iowa and if I had a cat who tore a guest's nylons, I'd buy that person a new pair. Pets with claws should not be roaming loose when visitors come to call unless they are well-behaved.

News From The Lodge

The Camp Fire Leader's Association met Thursday night and Friday morning at the Camp Fire Lodge. Co-Chairman Suzy Wall and Patsy Sparkman called the meeting to order. Suzy Wall installed the new officers. Co-Chairman are Ellen Collins and Mary Fisher; vice chairman, Deedee Drake and secretary, Carolyn Evers.

Members were reminded that the deadline for the "No Greater Love" project for the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo is Friday. A bus will be going Tuesday Feb. 13.

The annual Board Meeting was discussed. All registered members of Camp Fire are encouraged to attend. The price is $3.75 per person.

The Father-Daughter-Father-Son Banquet will be held on Friday, Feb. 16 at the Bull Barn. A general practice will be held at the Bull Barn Wednesday, Feb. 14 from 3:30-5 p.m.

An ice skating party is planned for March for Discovery Club Girls, also a Pizza-Show is being planned for Horizon Club Girls on March 9. Birthday week has been set March 18-24. The 18th is Birthday Sunday.

Leaders attending the Sunset meeting were: Deedee Drake, Suzy Wall, Kathi Bell, Liz Kendrick, Marcy Hughes, Grace Skelton, Viola Johnson, Anna Dupnik, Barbara Weatherford.

Guest were Lois Turpen, Cieta Weemes, Karrol Rettmah, Carolyn Evers, Ellen Collins, Mary Fisher, and Nita Lea.

Leaders attending the Sunrise meeting Friday morning were Ernestina Tijerina, Lupe Soliz, Eva Casarez, Brenda Dublinske, Milly Bagley, Betty Jones, Carolyn Gallagher, Rosie Griffin, Helen Cherry, Suzy Wall, Patsy Sparkman, Deedee Drake, Carolyn Evers, Ellen Collins, Mary Fisher, and Cindy Norwell.

Broccoli leaves have much higher vitamin A value than the stalks of flower buds, a foods and nutrition specialist says.

Keep the leaves cool and moist and they will be palatable, recommends Frances Reasonover, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Chicken Livers, Eggs Budget-Priced Now

COLLEGE STATION - Eggs, especially large sizes, are among this week's budget buys, reports Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist.

Also, chicken livers on special, some fresh fruits and vegetables, and canned tomatoes and corn.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This week's price-and-quality trends are the following:

POULTRY - Egg prices remain stable, although severe winter weather could slow production, cut supplies and raise prices.

Fryer chicken prices are slightly higher, although some have thrifty price tags in some markets.

FRESH FRUITS - Reasonable prices appear on three-pound-size bags of apples.

Grapefruit crops suffered some winter losses, but fruits now on the market has excellent quality. Prices on Temple oranges and tangelos are lower-with good quality.

FRESH VEGETABLES - Cabbage is still a budget item in spite of slightly higher prices.

Other economical vegetables are potatoes, carrots, broccoli, eggplant, sweet potatoes and rutabagas.

DAIRY - Look for budget prices on yogurt, cheeses and milk.

GROCERY MARKET AISLES - Some canned vegetables make economical "stand-in's" for higher-priced fresh ones. These include tomatoes, tomato products and corn.

FROZEN FOOD CHESTS - Features are bread dough, dinners, ice cream and orange juice.

RED MEATS - Prices are up this week in general. Beef features include chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, round steaks and liver-with occasional specials on sirloin steaks and sirloin-tip roasts.

CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS: For economy meat buys, figure "cost per serving," not cost per pound. Also, shop meat specials and plan menus, around them.

HHS Netters Start Season

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor

Under first year coach Lawrence Skimbo the Hereford High School Tennis team will be looking for the strength of the top four players in the boys group and the number one girl to give the Whitefaces the needed edge to make them a factor in the district race this season.

The boys team, made up of Kevin Downing, Pudgy Vargas, Jimmy Ramirez, Roy Rodriguez, Scott Formby and Robert Herrera are able to play with any team in the district, especially Downing and Vargas according to Coach Skimbo.

For the girls, the top player is Joni Webb, who will be one of the top girls in the district. The rest of the girls team is mostly inexperienced but with more playing time, could definitely help the team, Skimbo said.

Vargas and Ramirez make up the number one boys doubles and are definite contenders. The other two doubles teams are Downing and Rodriguez playing number two and Tim Hamlett and Adolpho Garcia playing number three. The Downing - Rodriguez team played in the number one spot last week winning in straight sets against Lubbock High.

In its first match, the team won all of the top seed matches with the exception of the girls doubles and as the season progresses, the rest of the players should start winning according to Coach Skimbo.

Asked about the top players and the way the district competition looked, Coach Skimbo felt the "Faces had a strong chance at the title.

"Our boys have a lot of strength overall. Kevin is probably our best player when he is playing his best, but Pudgy is about his equal, so the top two places are especially strong," Skimbo said. "Our doubles strength was proved last week when we had to use our number two team in the top spot because of Jimmy being sick."

Joni (Webb) is an excellent player and has got to be a factor in the district race," Skimbo said. "If some of the other girls can come through for us we will have a strong chance there also."

The teams to beat in district this year will be Coronado and Monterey. They are always strong and both return a lot of seeded players from last year," Skimbo said.

The netters next competition will be duals against Plainview played on a home on home basis. Hereford is also entered in four tournaments including its own March 9-10. They will also have duals against area teams during the week between the tournaments.

Asked about the tennis program in Hereford, Skimbo hopes to be able to get a junior high program started to supplement the high school team in the future.

"I had a tryout for the junior high kids after practice one day and had about 75 kids show up, which proves the interest is here," Skimbo said. "I hope to have a junior high tournament this spring and start at least some form of competition so as to help the varsity team in later years."

"This appears to be one of the factors that slows our tennis program down because the kids don't have the chance to play much in tournaments until they reach high school, whereas our opponents have junior high teams to build its future and keep experienced players on the team," Skimbo said.

The district tournament will be played in Plainview this year April 6-7, with the regionals and state competition following the next weekends.

Notre Dame Cagers Edges N.C. State

By DICK JOYCE
AP Sports Writer

Digger Phelps' top-ranked Notre Dame basketball team has dug North Carolina State a little deeper. But it wasn't easy.

Sophomore Kelly Tripucka's two free throws sealed the Fighting Irish's 53-52 victory over the Wolfpack Wednesday night, handing N.C. State's its first non-conference loss at home since 1968.

Employing a slowdown game in the second half, the Notre Dame coach patted himself on the back after ending the Wolfpack's 13-game streak against non-conference foes.

"We played a smart game plan," Phelps said. "We didn't want to get in a running game with them."

Tripucka went to the free throw line with the Irish leading 51-50 in six seconds remaining. He calmly sank the foul tosses, which put his point total at 16, tops for Notre Dame.

"Hitting the first free throw kind of took the pressure off," said Tripucka. "Once you hit the first one, you kind of feel like the second will go."

In other games involving Top Ten college teams, No. 6 North Carolina downed Maryland 76-67 and seventh-rated Syracuse topped South Carolina 71-64.

While Notre Dame boosted its record to 17-2, N.C. State dropped to 15-8 overall. The Wolfpack, last beaten by Georgia at home in a non-conference game, stand last in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 1-6 mark.

After Tripucka hit his free throws, N.C. State's Hawkeye Whitney scored a field goal, but the Irish ran out the clock.

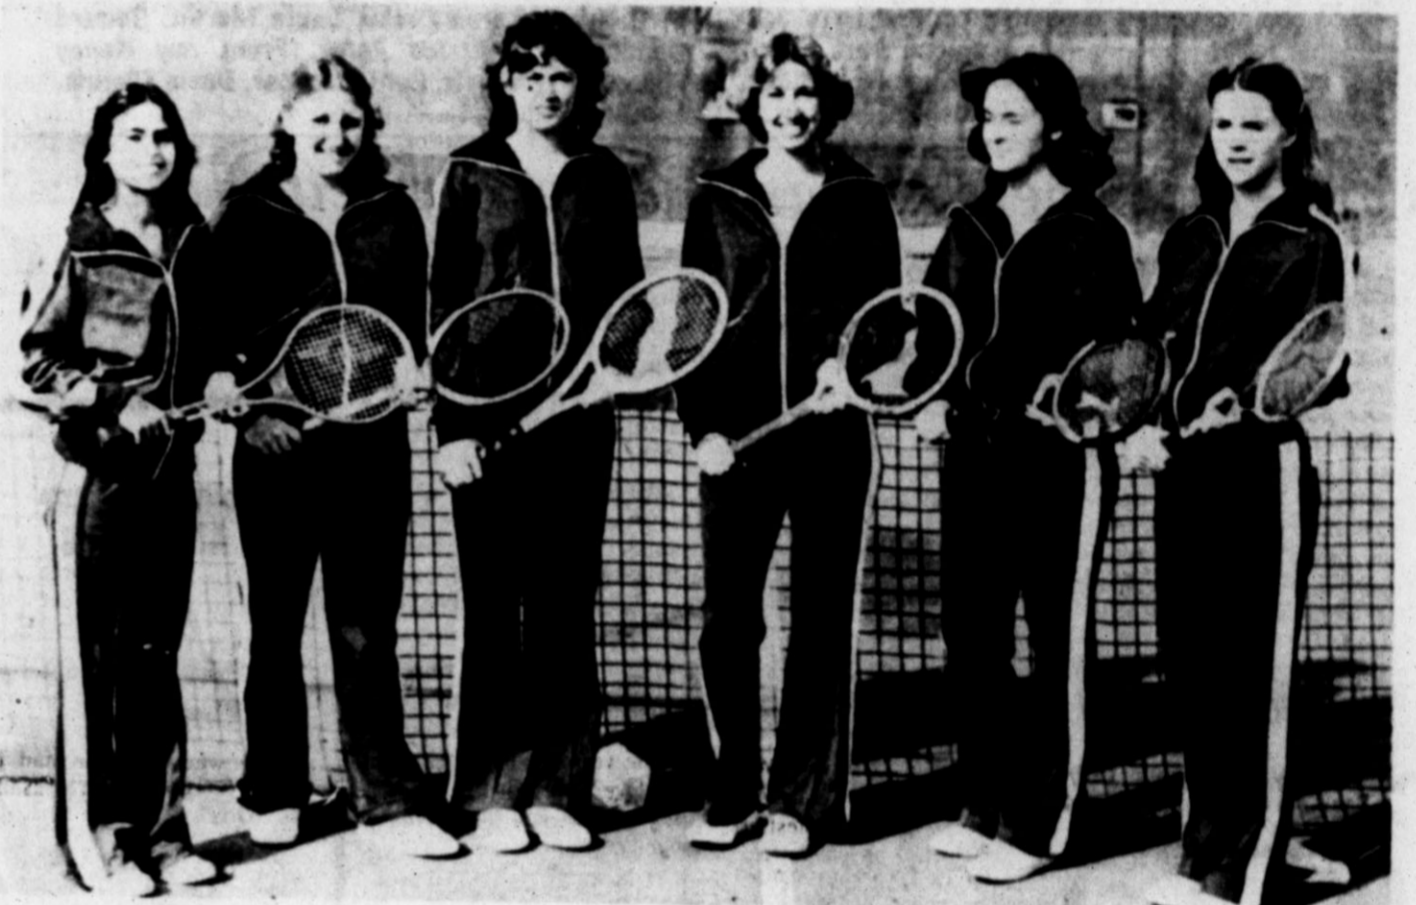

"We're having a hard time getting the right bounces," said N.C. State Coach Norm Sloan. "At the end, we had exactly the right shot with the right guy (Whitney). We just can't seem to get over the hump. I think we still will."

Clyde Austin paced N.C. State with 16 points, 14 in the first half when the Irish led 31-29.

Meantime, host North Carolina, getting 23 points from Al Wood and 19 from Mike O'Koren, increased its ACC record to 7-2 and 17-4 overall and dropped Maryland to 3-5 in league play, 14-8 overall. It marked the Terrapins' eighth straight loss to the Tar Heels.

North Carolina, leading 61-57 with 6:50 left, shifted into their four corners offense to withstand the Terps. Greg Manning's 19 points led Maryland.

In the nightcap of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader, Syracuse, which led South Carolina by 19 points late in the first half, hung on for its 19th triumph against two losses.

Dickerson To Sign With Aggies

HOUSTON (AP) - Sealy running back Eric Dickerson, the state's No. 1 blue chip football player, says he will sign a Southwest Conference letter of intent with the Texas Aggies.

The SWC signing date is not until Wednesday but Dickerson told the Houston Post he wanted to make his decision public "to get people off my back."

Dickerson, a 6-3, 210, told the Post he had been "sitting around thinking about it all day. Sometimes I wish I never played football. This thing has gotten too hectic."

"I could have gone to OU (Oklahoma) for more publicity maybe, but if I stay in Texas everybody knows me. I just came to a decision and I want to get it out in the open. My mind's still open, I guess, but I'd say this commitment is pretty solid."

Wednesday is the first day Southwest Conference schools can sign athletes to conference letters of intent. The national signing date is Feb. 21.

Dickerson rushed for 5,862 yards and 76 touchdowns during his high school career, second only to Sugar Land's Kenneth Hall among the state's all time rushing leaders.

Dickerson said he was impressed with A&M Coach Tom Wilson, who took over in mid-season last year when Emory Bellard resigned. Dickerson said he wasn't promised a starting assignment but said "if I don't start, he'll (Wilson) have a hell of a time keeping his job."

Dickerson visited Oklahoma, Southern California, Texas Tech and canceled a trip to Texas prior to making his verbal commitment to the Aggies.

"As far as offering me stuff, I didn't get much of that. But like one school said, if I let the state, I couldn't come back and work in the state of Texas again. I really got bleeped off at that."

NBC Contracts To Televisе NCAA Playoffs Through 1981

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer
NBC and the NCAA, after several weeks of spirited fencing, are nearing agreement on an extension of the network's contract for coverage of the NCAA Basketball Tournament.

So, barring a last-minute snag, NBC will be televising the tournament through 1981, which will make 13 straight years the network has covered the event.

Cyclists Qualify For Nationals

Third round qualifying for berths in the Grand National Motocross Championships to be held at the Astrodome in Houston took place Feb. 4 in Fabens, Texas, with two Hereford riders, Roger Hamilton and Kenneth Hicks, finishing with enough points to be eligible for the championships.

All parties more or less concede, however, that negotiations have been more difficult than usual this time around. The main reason appears to be ABC which let it be known that it would be interested in the tournament if NBC, which has first option, failed to make a deal.

"We had reason to believe that another party had some interest," concedes Tom Jernstedt, assistant executive director of the NCAA. And whenever there is more than one network interested in something, the prices goes up.

A prime example of that came when ABC was talking with the NCAA about college football a couple of years ago. CBS showed strong interest in getting at least a piece of the pie and ABC was forced to up the ante to retain exclusive rights.

The NCAA got a 4-year, $118-million contract out of it and that was considerably more than it would have gotten had CBS not been involved. Basketball is a slightly different proposition. The NCAA controls rights to the tournament but the independent TV network has most of the regular season rights through a series of contracts with the major conferences. NBC deals with TVS in marketing the regular season games.

SPORTS. "Superstars", assorted boxing and bowling-regularly mops up the other networks, including NBC's regular season college basketball. No way ABC will pick up a property it doesn't have room for and regularly beats anyway.

NBC, for its part, is not about to televise regular-season basketball all winter and then watch ABC pick up the lucrative tournament. NBC's contract with TVS, coincidentally, also runs out this year.

The NCAA has a choice; CHOICE A - It can award ABC the rights to the tournament, in which case NBC probably would decide not to pick up the regular season from TVS. That means the major conferences stand to lose money and exposure. And the cries of anguish would rattle the walls of NCAA headquarters in Shawnee Mission, Kan.

CHOICE B - It can award the tournament to NBC in which case the network will doubtless come to terms with TVS for the regular season and everyone will live happily ever after, even ABC which already has more than its share

Grandma Snowshoes After Title

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
"Come on, Gram-maw - go get 'em."
"Stick in there, Granny, you'll make it."
With these words of encouragement ringing in her ears, Rose Mary Gabriel, the racing grandma, sloshes along on her snowshoes mile after mile - seemingly indefatigable, one of the most remarkable women of our times.

masonry firm superintendent now headquartered in Gillette, Wyo. She has nine children and eight grandchildren. She also has mention in the Guinness Book of Records as 1977 women's winner of the 83-mile Yukon Jack World Snowshoe Championship. She won the event in record time a year after she had donned her first pair of snowshoes. Now she is preparing to try to regain her title - a la Muhammad Ali - that she lost after a nasty spill on the final day of the 1978 race. The world championship, a mixed test for both men and women, is scheduled over the frozen terrain of northwestern Wisconsin Feb. 23-25. Mrs. Gabriel, a small, wiry woman 5 feet, 2 inches tall and only 104 pounds, was in New York this week doing some advance promotion for what could be one of the least recognized sports in the entire universe.

Mrs. Gabriel, who practiced on the banks of Lake Erie, entered the 1977 race and surprisingly won the women's title over a field that included scores of younger and seemingly sturdier competitors. She raced 38 miles the first day, 21 the second and 24 the third, clocking 25 hours and 19 minutes. "You move at a pace of about 3 1/2 miles an hour," she explained. "It's a rigorous grind starting at daybreak and ending after dark. There are a lot of dropouts after the first day."

The snowshoeing grandma trains year-around. "I rise every morning at 7, cook breakfast for my husband and the kids and then I snowshoe to the recreation center where I swim and do some exercises before rushing off to work," she said. "I work a full day in a store that sells fireplaces and stoves. I come home about six, prepare supper and then I go out and do about six miles."

Crenshaw Ready For Hawaiian Golf

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) - Ben Crenshaw declined to make any predictions. But the young man who resurrected his golfer career did offer an observation: "I'm probably playing better right now than I ever did in my life. I'm driving the ball better, striking the ball better than I ever have. I played real well in the last round at the Bing Crosby last week and shot 78. I just got it in the wrong places on the greens and when you do that there you can be in big trouble."

The rescue took place in rainy Phoenix, where Crenshaw scored the sixth victory of his career and first in 1 1/2 years. "It had been too long. I was beginning to wonder. I think I've learned some things over the years. I think I'm a better player now than I've ever been. Now I want to go on and win. That's all I want to do - win, win, win." And Crenshaw is ranked among the prime title contenders in the 144-man field that may be the strongest this tournament has had.

Tom Watson, Player of the Year and leading money-winner for the past two seasons, tops the list that includes all the 1979 title-winners - Crenshaw, Fuzzy Zoeller, John Mahaffey and Lon Hinkle, who is admittedly tired and drained in the wake of his playoff victory in the Crosby.

Sports Shorts

OAKLAND (AP) - The Oakland Raiders and Dallas Cowboys will meet in the 1979 Pro Football Hall of Fame game, the traditional opening game of the National Football League exhibition season. The game on July 28 in Canton, Ohio, home of the Hall of Fame, will match the pro football teams with the two best records since 1960. Both teams were born in that year. Dallas as an NFL expansion team and the Raiders as a member of the American Football League. Oakland has a 168-89-11 record and Dallas is 161-99-6 over the past 19 seasons. The Hall of Fame game matchup was announced Wednesday.

BOCA WEST, Fla. (AP) - Four of the top pro tennis players in the world - Jimmy Connors, Bjorn Borg, Guillermo Vilas and John McEnroe - will meet in two semifinal matches before the title is decided Sunday in the $300,000 Grand Slam of Tennis. Connors, top-ranked, will face the McEnroe Friday afternoon in the first semifinal. Borg, the defending champion and 1978 Wimbledon and French winner, will meet Vilas on Saturday in the second semifinal match.

Arnold Palmer, still trying to recapture some of the magic that made him the most popular player golf has known, has spent hours and hours working on his game. "Oh, I think I can get some of it back," he said. "I've been working pretty hard on it. Either it's going to improve or my appearances are going to become more infrequent." Palmer will combine his activities as a player with those of a television commentator for NBC, which will provide national coverage via satellite of portions of the final two rounds.

ACC Player Dies

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) - Funeral services were scheduled today for Kelly Kent, the 21-year-old star running back of Abilene Christian University's 1977 NAIA championship football team. Kent, who went through spring football drills Tuesday and played in an intramural basketball game that night, died early Wednesday of an apparent heart attack, football Coach Ted Sitton said.

Kent was stricken about 3 a.m. and died before arriving at Kendrick Medical Center here despite the efforts of his wife Kerri, the coach said. "His wife tried to save him with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, but he never did come around. Doctors think he died before he ever got to the hospital," Sitton said. Services are to be held at 2 p.m. at The Highland Church of Christ in Abilene, with burial in Rising Star, Texas. The 6-foot-1, 190-pound Kent, gained 1,184 yards in 13 games in leading Abilene Christian in 1977 and was named the team's most valuable player.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - Five races with purses totaling $1.3 million will top the Hollywood Park thoroughbred racing season this year, the track announced Wednesday. The 1979 Hollywood meet opens April 11 and runs through July 23, with the $250,000 Hollywood Derby scheduled for April 14. The richest feature on the slate is the Hollywood Gold Cup, a $350,000 event scheduled for June 24. The $250,000 Californian will be run on May 20, and the $250,000 Hollywood Invitational Turf Handicap is set for Memorial Day, May 28. The final race in the track's "big five," the $200,000 Swaps Stakes, will be held July 22. Eight stakes events worth $100,000 or more also are

Board Hears Report On Well Drilling Permits

The board of directors of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 met in regular session Monday in the district's offices at 2930 Avenue Q in Lubbock, Texas.

Business first considered by the board included the consideration and approval of the minutes of the December 11, 1978, board meeting; reviewing the financial status of the district; review and approval of the bills incurred during the months of December and January; and review of board and employee travel vouchers.

The board then received staff reports on water well-drilling permit applications, extensions and amended permits applied for since the last board of directors meeting. The board approved 124 permit applications, 22 extensions and two amended permits.

Local 4-H'ers Place During Ft. Worth Show

The stock show circuit continues for local 4-H exhibitors this week with the San Antonio Stock Show scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Local 4-H'ers competed in the Fort Worth Stock show during the past week, posting respectable placings in a large field of entries.

Gary Vogel exhibited the first place middleweight crossbreed steer, while brother Randy had the 25th place middle cross steer.

Monty Hutto exhibited the 10th place lightweight cross barrow and the 14th place mediumweight cross barrow.

The board considered the district's membership to the Food and Fiber National Institute of Achievement, Inc. and approved payment for membership in the Institute for 1979.

The board canvassed the results of the January 20, election and declared Webb Gober winner of the district director's Precinct Three position and James C. Conkright winner of the district director's Precinct Four position. Winners declared for county committee positions were: James Bible and James Stockett in Armstrong County; D.J. Cox and Marshall Head in Bailey County; George Elder and Floyd Schulte in Castro County; Bill Cleavinger and W.L. Davis Jr. in Deaf Smith County; Floyd S. Reeve and Ralph Roming in Farmer County; Sam Line and Mark Menke in Potter County; and Bill Dugan and Roger B. Gist, III in Randall County.

James C. (Jim) Conkright was selected to serve as secretary-treasurer for the board of directors. His selection followed the official swearing-in ceremony presided over by Judge John R. McFall of Texas' 237th District Court.

Conkright, who was recently elected for a two-year term as the director from Precinct Four, which covers the Water District areas of Armstrong, Deaf Smith, Potter and Randall counties, will hold the position of secretary-treasurer until the board selects new officers after next year's election. Other officers selected for the year were James P. Mitchell of Wolforth as president and Malvin A. Jarboe of Floydada as vice-president. Webb Gober of Farwell and Selmer Schoenrock of Levelland are the other members of the board.

The board heard staff reports on the status of the Ogallala Aquifer from which the area's water supplies are being obtained. Staff quoted a recent report published by the Texas Department of Water Resources which states that the Ogallala Aquifer supplies irrigation water to 4.6 million acres in the Southern High Plains and predicts that if present annual use trends continue that by the year 2000 that the Ogallala in the Southern High Plains will be able to supply irrigation water to only 1.9 million acres. Staff reported further that municipal and industrial water supplies are becoming more difficult to obtain and more expensive as the water table declines and that some cities of the region will need additional supplies by 1990. In addition to municipal and industrial dependence on groundwater for survival, a large portion of the economy of the area is dependent on the use of groundwater in the business of irrigation farming.

With this background information, the board then discussed the need to accelerate the water conservation research effort and the need to continue working closely with irrigators to assist them in utilizing their water reserves efficiently to maximum potential with the least amount of waste.

The board also discussed ways and means by which these high-priority items could be achieved, concluding that the district could best achieve these objectives by increasing its support of water conservation research through the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and by working closer with the USDA Soil Conservation Service (SCS) to encourage maximum on-farm conservation of water.

Construction of a "field water conservation laboratory" which will consist of a trailer equipped with the necessary equipment to conduct on-farm water efficiency studies was approved. The field laboratory will be principally utilized by SCS personnel with assistance provided by water district staff. The portable unit will be moved from county to county in the water conservation service area as interest and needs dictate.

Board members then approved an agreement between the district and the USDA Soil Conservation Service for utilization of the equipment.

Also considered was a list of equipment needed by the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station to increase water conservation research efforts.

The board agreed to purchase and loan to the Experiment Station for water conservation research the following items: water level recorders and trapezoidal flumes which will be used to measure runoff from irrigation treatments and systems to obtain an accurate budget of water applied and lost; flow meters to accurately measure water applied to experimental irrigation plots and through irrigation systems; recording rain gauges to accurately measure precipitation; a depth moisture probe to determine soil density; small flow meters for use in determining the rate in which different soil types take water; a soil coring unit for collecting soil samples; tensiometers to measure soil moisture for use in scheduling irrigations; glass tubes for use in studying root depth and distribution to learn more about water extraction patterns by the crops grown in the area; thermocouple psychrometers to measure soil and plant water pressure for use in characterizing drought tolerant plants; pressure plates to determine the amount of water that a soil will hold at a particular pressure which will help determine how much of the water in the soil is actually available to crops; pressure bombs to determine water pressure in plant leaves under field conditions for use in screening plants for drought tolerance; and resistance blocks and meters to determine their value for use by irrigators in scheduling irrigations.

The board then reviewed and approved for publication two reports. One of the reports titled, "A Summary of Techniques and Management Practices for Profitable Water Conservation on the Texas High Plains" was co-authored by district staff member Kenneth Carver, agriculturist and Comer Tuck, agricultural engineer with the Texas Department of Water Resources. The other report, "Cost Analysis of Irrigation Ditch Losses" was written by Jack Richards, agricultural economist formerly with the district.

Directors also discussed and voted to conduct a district-wide county committee meeting. The principle purposes for the meeting are to discuss with the county committeemen the current status of the district's activities and to receive input from the county committeemen on the most critical needs of their areas for use in planning future work programs of the district.

Staff reports on three of the major work programs of the District were also heard.

Kathy Redeker, in her report on the cost-in-water income tax depletion program, told the Board that the District staff had completed requests for 3,062 claims. Butch Bates reported that the staff was approximately 95 percent complete in its measuring of water levels in its 800-well network and Don McReynolds reported progress made by the staff on the portion of the High Plains Ogallala Aquifer study being conducted by the District under contract with the Texas Department of Water Resources.

The board adjourned after setting the date for its next meeting on March 13.

Aggies Take Third

Texas A&M University's Livestock Judging Team garnered a third place victory at the National Western Intercollegiate Livestock Judging Contest in Denver. The Aggies won team and individual high point awards in Quarter Horse judging, sixth in swine judging and twelfth in both sheep and cattle judging. Team members, left to right, are

Friona Industries Reports Record-Setting Net Income

FRIONA -- Friona Industries, Inc. has reported record net income for both the second quarter and first half of its current fiscal year.

"Higher feedyard occupancy and continued favorable profit margins on the sale of company-owned cattle were the major reasons for the increase," explained Ron Davenport, president. "Also, the Commercial Feed, Animal Health, Grain and other segments of business made sizable profit contributions."

For the six months ended Dec. 31, 1978, the company had net income of $2.3 million, or $1.80 per share, on revenues of $51.4 million. This compared with net income of $892,000, or 71 cents per share, on revenues of $32.6 million in the same period of last year.

Second quarter net income was in excess of $1.1 million, or 88 cents per share, on revenues of $27.9 million. In the second quarter of the prior fiscal year, net income amounted to $559,000, or 45 cents per share, on revenues of $17.6 million.

All segments of the company's agribusiness operations achieved higher revenues and gross profits for the second quarter and first half of fiscal 1979.

The sale of company-owned cattle accounted for the largest share of gross profits. During the first six months about 33,700 head were sold on behalf of the Company, which was 16 per cent more than in the first half of the previous year. Gross profit from company-owned cattle totaled almost $2.5 million, nearly twice the amount reported in the same six months of last year. Revenues of $18.4 million were 43 per cent higher.

Occupancy at the company's three feedyards averaged approximately 88 percent, compared with 62 percent average occupancy in the first half of the prior year. Revenues ($16.5 million) and gross profit ($1.7 million) from custom feeding about doubled those of fiscal 1978's first half.

Commercial feed achieved a substantial gain in gross profit, while revenues of $9.6 million were 60 percent ahead of the first half of the prior year. Increased numbers of cattle on feed in the company's operating area brought about higher demand for manufactured feeds. Also, extremely cold weather accelerated sales of the company's Hi-Pro Cattle Cubes which are utilized by livestock raisers in feeding range cattle during the winter months.

Sales and gross profit from animal health supplies also benefited from improved economic conditions in the cattle industry. Animal health sales climbed 32 percent to $5.2 million and gross profit showed a gain of 29 percent over the first six months of 1978.

Grain and other operations produced some of the best revenues and gross profits ever during the first half of fiscal 1978.

"The number of cattle in feedyards is at the highest level in the past five years," said Davenport. "However, the non-fed, range cattle herd is still somewhat depleted after going through severe inventory reductions from 1974 through 1977, and this more than offsets the supply available in feedyards. This situation normally brings about relatively good cattle prices and benefits our company's operations."

On December 14, 1978, trading in the common shares of Friona Industries began on the American Stock Exchange under the symbol FI. Prior to that, the company's stock had been traded in the over-the-counter market since its initial public offering in October, 1973.

"Management believes that this action will provide greater public exposure and diversify our shareholder base," added Davenport. "Also, since the listing became effective, trading activity has accelerated and the price had appreciated as of January 31, 1979."

Andorra

Tucked into the Pyrenees mountains between France and Spain, Andorra has enjoyed effective sovereignty since 1278. Officially a principality, it has two nominal co-princes to whom it pays annual tribute — the president of France, 960 francs, and the Spanish bishop of Urgel, 460 pesetas. Actual government, however, is conducted by a 24 member Council-General.

Texas Duroc Breeders Set State Show, Sale

LUBBOCK — The Texas Duroc Breeders State Sale will be held here February 10 according to Waylon R. Carroll, secretary-treasurer and show and sale manager of Lubbock.

This show is sponsored by the West Texas Duroc Breeders Association. Waymon Lewis of Littlefield is president of the West Texas Duroc Breeders Association.

The event, scheduled at the Panhandle South Plains Fairgrounds, is expected to draw 30 consignors from four states and numerous breeders and commercial pork producers. Over 70 head of bred gilts, open gilts, and boars are entered for the show and sale.

Col. Luther Hill of Littlefield will handle the auctioneering. Dr. Terry Stockton, of Texas Tech University Agriculture Education Department, Lubbock, will serve as the breeding animal judge.

The West Texas Duroc Breeders have sponsored shows and sales for over 30 years. This show has always stressed quality animals at reasonable prices.

Entries will be accepted on February 9. Judging of entries will begin at 9 a.m., February 10. The breeding sale will begin at 1 p.m., February 11.

Officials stress all breeders consistently bring outstanding breeding animals for this show and sale.

Top Students

Ruben "Pudgy" Vargas and Sandy Harkins were recognized as the Students of the Six Weeks at Hereford High School Wednesday by the local Noon Lions Club. Lions president Gayle Cotten presented the students with a token gift from the club in recognition of their honor. [Brand photo].

Farm Quotes Depict Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Forget us, eat used food," says one. "Buy import meat, eat worms," says another. The crudely lettered signs that are standard equipment on tractors of militant farm demonstrators focus on the idea that the government and consumers are showing too little gratitude to hard-pressed producers of food.

LEGAL NOTICES

CUSTOMER NOTIFICATION HIGH FLUORIDE

Dear Customer: The Hereford Housing Project has been notified by the Texas Department of Health that the water being supplied by our system exceeds the maximum constituent level for Fluoride established by the Department's "Drinking Water Standards" which were promulgated as required by the "Safe Drinking Water Act," Public Law 93-523 (U.S.).

DEAR DR. LAMB — Five years ago my husband had an operation on his prostate gland. He recovered well, but after the surgery, there was no outward ejaculation. At first, this didn't seem to bother him. He was 64 at the time and I was 63. We are not interested in more children, anyway.

Invent Jobs, Not Projects

NEW YORK (AP) — The most effective way to produce jobs is to invent them, said the gentleman. He wasn't being superficial. Jobs can be invented, he said. Productive jobs, not federal make-work projects.

Washington Blurbs, Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chicago can take comfort in the knowledge that only a tiny fraction of bills proposed in Congress are ever enacted. One of the latest legislative efforts is a proposal by Rep. Dan Quayle, R-Ind., to rename Chicago after former Indiana Sen. Vance Hartke.

Lion: Club Symphony

Noon Lions Club immediately past president Buddie Evans ceremoniously 'breaks in' the club's piano, which has just been returned after being re-finished. The piano serves the club at its regular noon meetings on Wednesdays, and remains in the new community center banquet room. [Brand Photo]

Georgia's Jaws

Last season more than 185,000 animals had their legs chewed up or chewed off in steel-jaw traps in the state of Georgia alone. One hundred eighty-five thousand foxes, raccoons — and some dogs and cats.

Pratt Named To Council

Pratt Chevrolet owner George W. Pratt has been elected to the 1979 Chevrolet Dealer Council for the Oklahoma City Zone.

HEALTH

Prostate Problems

ejaculation still occurs but it goes into the bladder instead of outward. The overall sensation of orgasmic climax is still there. I gather from your letter that your husband is 69 or 70, so such a change in level of activity isn't all that surprising.
