HISD Board Keeps Tax on Automobiles

Managing Editor Hereford Independent School District board members Tuesday night got their first look at the 1979-80 proposed budget, then decided the only way to maintain a surplus for 1979-80 capital improvements was to maintain the property tax on private automobiles.

The Tax Relief Amendment approved

WE'RE JUST a little more than a month away from the beginning of the fifth annual Hereford All-Girl Rodeo, scheduled Aug. 16-18. Since Hereford is the home of the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame, the professional All-Girl Rodeo has become a big event on the circuit.

A big parade is scheduled on Saturday, Aug. 18, and entry blanks can be obtained at the chamber of commerce office. The rodeo parade will be open to anyone in a number of categories. Dances during the rodeo and will feature Kenny Dale and Red Steagall. And, a barbecue supper will be held on Saturday at 5 p.m.

by the state Legislature this year provided school districts with the option of keeping or discontinuing the tax on personal vehicles.

Superintendent Harrell Holder said that dropping the tax would cost the school district around $100,000 and might necessitate a property tax increase.

"The property tax is one of the most unfair taxes that there is," trustee James Gentry said. "The automobile tax isn't much more fair. But at least more people own automobiles than own real estate.

Trustees voted unanimously to maintain the tax on cars, although Mack Tubb said he was doing so "reluctantly." He said it was the intent of the state Legislature to provide tax relief to all Texans.

"I don't like to continue to tax automobiles when that is a form of tax relief for taxpayers who cannot take advantage of ag-use relief," Tubb said.

The budget studied by trustees included one figure -- a $267,760 reimbursement from the state--which assistant superintendent Bill Phillips said probably would be lower.

The reimbursement will cover losses sustained by the school district for additional homestead exemptions and the conversion of market values on land to agricultural usage--two provisions of the Tax Relief Amendment.

Phillips said the school district would not know until January how large the reimbursement will be since the state cannot compute exact figures until it receives its land valuations from throughout the state. The proposed budget will be officially considered by trustees in a special hearing in August.

It calls for $1.956 million in taxes, $3.9 million in state funding for both average daily attendance and the local foundation program, total revenue (and expenses) of $5,963,050. A fund balance on Sept. 1--the start of the fiscal year--of $185,170 will provide $6,148,220 in available funds.

If the district receives the full amount of the estimated state reimbursement, it will have a surplus of $430,480.

Holder submitted a list of "primary capital projects" which he said the district needs to accomplish in the next (See SCHOOL, Page 2)

At a morning meeting today, the president was to discuss the jobs outlook with experts from government and the private sector.

A half dozen governors and a delegation of mayors were invited to spend this evening at Camp David, Md., the presidential retreat where Carter has been cloistered for more than a week.

The administration, acknowledging a worsening economy, is revising its official jobless forecast from 6.2 percent to 6.9 percent for the end of 1980, said administration sources who asked not to be identified. If that prediction holds, 1.3 million more Americans could be est of work by the end of next year than now presidential press secretary Jody Powell said Tuesday, Carter has decided against removing federal price controls on gasoline, a proposal that White House staff members had been considering submitting to their boss.

"The president has no intention to deregulate gasoline at this time," Powell said. He estimated such action would boost retail gasoline prices to between $1.10 and $1.50 a gallon, draining "several tens of billions of dollars from the economy."

Complex federal rules limit the amount of increases in gasoline costs that can be passed on to consumers. The issue of deregulating gas prices is separate from the gradual lifting of prices on domestic

Farm Groups Pass State Bond Amendment

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Farmers and other groups organized Tuesday to pass a constitutional amendment that would authorize the state to guarantee loans to buy farm and ranch land. The amendment, one of three on the Nov. 6 ballot, would authorize the state to issue $10 million in bonds. Fiscal experts estimate this amount will be enough to guarantee up to $100 million in loans.

The tentative name of the political committee formed to push the proposed amendment is "Texans to Save the Family Farm."

Rep. Luther Jones. D-El Paso, said he and Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown arranged the meeting. Jones said the average age of Texas farmers and ranchers is in the mid-50s

"The sad fact is that younger Texans just can't enter farming and ranching today because few, if any, can afford the excessively high down payments now required for farm and ranch loans, which now average 29 percent - a sum far beyond the means of most Texans whether they be farmers or city residents," Jones said in a statement.

He said the proposed Texas Family Farm & Ranch Security Program is based on a successful program in Minnesota.

Groups represented at the meeting included the Texas Farmers Union, Texas Farm Bureau, Texas branch of the American Agriculture Movement, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, Texas Federation of Co-Ops, Texas Independent Cattlemen's Association, Texas Catholic Conference, Rural Affairs Committee of the Texas Bankers Association, Independent Bankers Association, Independent Bankers Association of Texas, Texas AFL-CIO, Texas Democratic Party and Attorney General Mark Whit's office.

Skylab Ocean Bound?

WASHINGTON (AP) - Just hours before Skylab's expected death-dive, the space agency today started the huge station tumbling through space to try to increase the likelihood it would drop its tons of debris in the Indian Ocean rather than on North America.

"We think this is the safest and most prudent action we can take at this time to give us the absolute minimum probability of casualty of any sort from Skylab." said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Richard G. Smith.

A radio signal was sent at 3:47 a.m. EDT today to fire nitrogen gas thrusters which started the 77.5-ton craft "wobbling and rolling" as it passed through an altitude of 92 miles.

Confirmation that the maneuver worked came 30 minutes later when Skylab passed within range of a tracing station in Madrid, Spain.

NASA spokesman Bob Gordon reported, "The rate is not as high as anticipated at this time, but indications are that Skylab is beginning its final entry to earth."

The action was intended to delay Skylab's fiery re-entry about 30 minutes. until about noon EDT. On that timetable, the tons of Skylab debris that did not burn up would fall harmlessly into the Indian

The decision to start the craft turn was made after the North American Air Defense Command, which has been tracking the spacecraft, issued a revised re-entry prediction at 12:35 a.m. EDT today. It forecast Skylab was likely to re-enter over the North Pacific, posing a potential threat to North America. primarily Canada.

The earlier predictions had placed the most likely re-entry area in the south Atlantic or Indian oceans, far from

The latest NORAD prediction said Skylab would re-enter between 8:46 a.m. and 1:48 p.m. EDT, with the midpoint, or most probable re-entry time, at 11:18

At that midpoint, Skylab would start dumping its debris in the central Pacific near the Equator and spread it over a trail 4,000 miles long and 100 miles wide in a northeasterly direction. If the re-entry occurred 10 minutes after that time, the debris could be dropped on the portions of the state of Washington and Canada.

That orbital track passes across the northwest tip of the United States north of Everett, Wash., arcing across south central Canada, north of Montreal and Ottawa, and across the state of Maine. north of Augusta.

"We decided to change our plans and initiate the tumble early to allow us an extra 30 minutes to get back over the Indian Ocean," Smith said. "If we didn't do it, we would increase the likelihood of coming down over North America and picking up the possibility of North Africa.

He added, "We have looked at this, and in the worst case situation we find no condition where we fail and create a hazardous situation that was worse than what we started with."

NASA continued to emphasize that even if parts of the giant station hit land. the chances of injury or damage are slim.

King's Manor Raises More Than $10,000

Saturday's barbecue at King's Manor Methodist Home drew approximately 600 people and raised $10,163 in operating expenses for the home, administrator Joyce Lyons announced Tuesday.

"We're pleased; in fact, we're thrilled to death. That's twice as good as we thought it would be," Mrs. Lyons said while releasing the figures. "We had hoped for $5,000." Approximately half of the money was raised in advance ticket sales, and more than $5,000 was raised during the barbecue. Many of those attending toured the three care levels at King's Manor-the cottages, the Manor and Westgate. Money raised Saturday will be used to alleviate the operating deficit caused by rent subsidies paid by King's Manor. Mrs. Lyons had projected a $90,000 deficit for next fiscal year.

The next King's Manor fund-raising affair will be the 14th annual Founders Dinner, scheduled for late October or early October at the Manor. The public will be invited.

Food vs. Oil-Arms of U.S.-OPEC War?

WASHINGTON (AP) - The potential 'weapons" for the battle are unusual: wheat, rice, air conditioners, radios and even furniture.

They're different because a fight between the United States and the world's oil-exporting countries would be an economic battle - at least at the beginning. And it's a battle that the United States, with all its resources, might not be able to win against the OPEC nations' "oil weapons," interviews with experts suggest. Recently, President Carter and his spokesmen have stepped up verbal attacks on the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries for raising the price of crude oil at a time millions of Americans are stuck in gasoline lines. And the administration' has hinted at moves beyond just strong words.

"With strong steps, we can mobilize the nation around a real crisis and with a clear enemy - OPEC," said a memo to Carter from his chief domestic policy adviser, Stu Eizenstat. Carter has not yet said what those steps would be, but Americans - tired of gasoline lines and soaring prices - are angry and frustrated, ready to strike back at OPEC. An Associated Press-NBC News poll taken as gas lines were spreading across the country showed overwhelming support for moves against the OPEC nations like those suggested in song and bumper sticker - "No Crude, No Food" and "A Bushel of Wheat for a Barrel of

In this face-off, the OPEC nations -

Iran, Saudi Arabia, Indonesia, Ecuador, Nigeria, Gabon, Libya, Nigeria, Venezuela, the United Arab Emirates, Kuwait, Iraq and Algeria - have one major weapon - oil. And their weapon is aimed squarely at the glass jaw of Western industrialized nations, which need the oil desperately. In 1978, the United States paid the OPEC nations $30.7 billion for oil. OPEC countries also have an investment portfolio estimated at about $200 billion in bank deposits, stocks, bonds and government securities. Such funds could be used as a "money weapon" but only at the risk of wrecking the world economy and the market for oil.

On the other side, the United States' weapons against OPEC fall into six

Chuck Berry Jailed For Tax Evasion

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The aging rock n'roll idol heard his sentence pronounced, choked back sobs and said: "I'm sorry. It shalf never happen again." Chuck Berry was gong to jail again.

Berry, a founding father of rock 'n' roll, was sentenced Tuesday to 120 days in prison and 1,000 hours of community service - primarily concerts for the underprivileged - on his guilty plea to charges of tax evasion.

U.S. District Judge Harry Pregerson suspended a potential three year sentence. He gave the singer-guitarist 30 days to get his affairs in order before reporting to the federal prison farm at Lompoc Aug. 10.

Berry, 52, author of such 1950s hits as, "Back In The U.S.A.," "Sweet Little Sixteen," and "Maybellene," pleaded guilty last month to a charge of evading taxes on a portion of his income in 1973. The musician's attorney, Bruce Hockman, said he expected Berry to pay more than $150,000 in penalties.

Meanwhile, major oil company officials said between one-third and one-half of the stations may close, said Robert Shinn, executive director of the Governor's Energy Council.

The dealer's group represents 3,756 stations, or about 30 percent, of the 13,000 gas stations in the two states.

However, members of the Keystone Service Station Dealers Association in northeastern portions of the state voted unanimously Tuesday night not to join the shutdown.

"Local residents have been hurt enough by the oil companies and their greedy raises," said James Summa of Dunmore, president of the Keystone association with 200 member dealers in 17 counties.

Soviets Purchase

Grain from U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department says the Soviet Union has started buying U.S. grain for delivery in 1979-80, the fourth year of an agreement committing it to make regular purchases of American corn and wheat on an annual basis.

Officials said on Tuesday the sales involved 105,000 metric tons of corn previously listed by private exporters as scheduled for "unknown" destinations overseas.

The grain was sold for delivery in the year that will begin Oct. 1, the beginning of the fourth year of the trade pact. It calls on the Soviets to buy a minimum of six million metric tons of U.S. wheat and corn combined each year.

So far in the current year - the third under the agreement - the Soviet Union has bought about 13.9 million metric tons of the two grains, including 3.1 million of wheat and 10.8 million of corn.

The department said the Soviets also have bought 450,000 metric tons of U.S. soybeans for delivery in the 1970-80 marketing year that will begin Sept. 1. Soybeans are not covered in the five-year purchase agreement.

In another development, officials said China has decided to buy 20,000 metric tons of soybean oil from sources other than the United States. The sources were not disclosed.

Jury Deliberations

Stall Over Estes

DALLAS (AP) - Jurors deliberating the fat of Billie Sol Estes and co-defendant Raymond K. Horton gave the first sign Tuesday they may not be able to reach a verdict on all charges contained in three indictments.

U.S. District Judge Robert Hill held a 10-minute session with attorneys for both sides Tuesday morning after the jury asked if they would be allowed to return a partial verdict, Hill told the eight-man, four-woman jury that such a verdict could be returned.

Because the case was turned over to the jury four days ago, defense attorneys have said the lengthy deliberations could result in a hung jury.

Estes, who was convicted 15 years ago on a similar scheme to defraud hundreds of West Texas farmers, faces up to 80 years in prison and fines totaling $82,000 if found guilty on 10 charges of conspiracy to commpt fraud, violating interstate commerce laws and conspiring to conceal assets from the Internal Revenue Service.

Horton, a West Texas oil and real estate entrepreneur, could be sentenced to 50 years in prison and fined $60,000 if convicted on six charges.

The board heard a request from Bonnie Wuerflein, who teaches French. Spanish, English, speech and University Interscholastic League speech on the school district, to grant her a leave of absence so she can live in Soria. Spain for a year.

Holder had denied her request for a leave of absence. Mrs. Wuerflein said.

"Does the board encourage professional advancement?" she asked trustees. "My second question is does the board have a policy of any sort that encourages professional advancement?"

She said she is trying to not "grow stale" as a-teacher and would use the opportunity to improve her teaching in the Hereford Independent School District.

"Anything it does for me can't help but benefit Hereford -- the community and the students. It's a statis situation right now and it's getting worse," Mrs. Wuerflein said.

Department estimates OPEC investments in this country at about $38 billion - $12 billion of that in U.S. government notes and about $10 billion in bank deposits. The rest is in real estates, stocks and bonds and direct loans to U.S. corporations.

In most cases, foreign countries could buy the same items or services from other countries if the United States withheld its products.

-Military attacks: An extreme move would be for the U.S. troops to seize one or two of the large Middle Eastern oilfields and produce oil solely for this country. But there are many questions: world reaction to such a move, could the fields be captured intact and could such a large force be resupplied thousands of miles from the nearest major U.S. base.

Texas Tech is in the precarious spot of being in one of the toughest conferences in the nation this year with Texas and Houston picked by the magazine to finish in the top 10 in the nation.

The Raiders will be relying on the services of All-SWC James Hadnot, a converted tight end who led the team in rushing last year from the fullback spot. Also helping the team will be second year man Ror. Reeves who filled the quarterback spot last year as a freshman.

Texas Football says that the only thing stopping the Raiders contenders is the breakaway runner, the man who can get to the open and score.

The backfield mate of Hadnot's will be sophomore Mark Olbert from Edmond. Oklahoma. According to the magazine he's not real fast and not very big, but an excellent blocker and smart runner.

Even though Olbert is not supposed to be very fast, as a high schooler in the tough AAAA area of Central Oklahoma, he gained over 2,000 vards his senior season.

Tech is returning 16 starters from the '78 team that surprised everyone by being a title contender until the last game of the season.

Pirates Survive Ninth Inning Astro Scare

HOUSTON (AP) - Jim Bibby and the Pittsburgh Pirates got a taste Tuesday night of what the Houston Astros have been dishing out all season without having to swallow a bitter pill.

The Astros. famed for milking the most out of a few good hits. rallied with two runs in the ninth inning but still lost to the Pirates 4-3 and extended their losing streak to four straight. Houston's longest of the season.

Bibby, 4-2, getting only his third start of the season, retired 14 batters in a row at one stretch before needing relief help in the unheeded. ninth inning.

"Tonight was not only good for me but good for the club," said Bibby, who has been used to fill both relief and starting assignments this season by Manager Chuck Tanner. "This road trip hasn't been as good as we expected so this was a good victory tonight."

The Pirates got one run in the run. third off loser Joaquin Andujar. Moreno's triple off the rightfield escape Bill Madlock's tag.

Terry Puhl singled in the sixth to end Bibby's string of 14 straight outs and Cesar Cedeno scored Puhl with a double to the leftfield corner.

The Astros mounted their fruitless rally in the ninth when Puhl singled and Cedeno doubled again. Puhl scored Houston's second run on a balk by reliever Enrique Romo and Denny Walling's single netted the final run.

Tanner charged onto the field following the balk call against Romo but his protests went

"They said he quick pitched but he didn't do anything different from any other pitcher." Tanner said. "Luckily it didn't make any difference." Tanner was on the field again moments later when Art Howe singled to shallow centerfield and Walling came charging around third base headed for what would have been the tying

Small firms get a hand

You've started your own business and things seem to be going pretty well. But you're having trouble keeping track of inventory, and you think your accounting system is weak. You are, in fact, not sure of your net profit.

It's time to turn to the Small Business Institute.

That's what Gasbarre Products of Fall Creek, Pa., did.
So did All-American Auto Parts and Tyronne Foodland at

So did All-American Auto Parts and Tyronne Foodland at State College, Pa.

These are a few of the small businesses (including nonprofits) that have sought Small Business Institute help through their local universities or colleges. In these cases, the school was Penn State, whose college of business administration is aiding nearby small businessmen.

Penn State is only one of 470 U.S. universities and colleges taking part in the program, a spinoff of the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Despite all you hear about the nation's giant corporations, small business remains a vital sector of the economy, accounting for 43 percent of the gross national product. There are 10 million small businesses in the U.S., 13 million if you count three million farms.

Some need financial assistance, and that's what SBA was set up to provide 26 years ago. Today SBA loans are was set up to provide 26 years ago. Today SBA loans are available for service industries grossing up to $8 million a year, retail businesses grossing up to $7.5 million, general construction businesses grossing up to $9.5 million.

But the SBA folks also have learned that small business often needs something more than capital — management. So SBA started the Small Business Institute in late 1972.

Thirty-six colleges participated at the start.

Last year 8,000 small firms got help; 20,000 students, all seniors or grad students, did the work, supervised by 2,000 faculty members. When SBA evaluated the program of the small business clients read the found 87.4 percent of the small-business clients rated the services good to excellent, 60 percent of the clients changed the way they did business, and each firm counseled showed, on average, 12 percent increase in

'We assign them two to four students," says Charles F. Maguire, who coordinates the Penn State program, 'depending on the nature of the company and its products. Each case is assigned one faculty member. All-American Auto Parts, for example, opened in April and asked help on sales promotion, advertising, credit collections and

Penn State handles up to 10 cases a year. Usually each case takes about 15 weeks. There's no charge to the company. SBA pays the school $250 for each completed case, after SBA experts check to see if the counseling is satisfactory. A private consultant might charge thousands of dollars for the same services.

Businesses getting the management aid don't have to be SBA borrowers; half the firms helped have no other SBA involvement.

Some cases come from the SBA portfolio - that is, SBA advises a college of a firm's need. In other cases, the small business owner gets in touch with the college and asks it to SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) - It could take up to 90 days to resolve Bobby Knight's complex legal predicament which stems from his run-in with a policeman last Sunday.

By then, though, it's likely Knight's escapades, the overwhelming performances of his talented basketball players and the entire VIII Pan American Games will be little more than a small footnote in history.

CHICAGO (AP) - Apparently, there is a way to beat Jim Kern, the Texas Rangers' fireballer relief ace. Make him throw a bunted ball to a corner base.

Kern's wild heave past first base on a bunt by Mike Squires in the seventh inning Tuesday night opened the door for three runs as the Chicago White Sox rolled to a 6.3 run over the Rangers.

Home runs by Bump Wills, his second, and Richie Zisk, his sixth, had held the Rangers to a 3-1 lead and they were sailing smoothly behind the three-hit pitching of John Henry Johnson.

Johnson opened the seventh by walking Greg Pryor and had a 3-1 count in Mike Colbern hitter with a .325 average, when Kern, named to the American League All-Star team because of a sparkling 10-1 record and 15 saves, took over.

Kern completed the walk to Colbern, which was charged to Johnson, and when Squires was obvious. Still, he's tough to

The Americans moved within two victories of a gold medal in the sport with a 101-83 shellacking of Cuba, which was unquestionably the sports highlight of Tuesay's light slate.

Only one gold medal was awarded Tuesday, apparently intended as a rain date if needed. That went to Cuba in was third at 20-104. In Tuesday's action involving Americans, the U.S. baseball team beat the Bahamas 12-2; a pair of 9-0 victories over Bermuda and El Salvador; the U.S. and Cuba tied 3-3 in field hockey: Chile downed the U.S. 4-1 in roller hockey, and Peru beat the U.S. 3-1 in women's volleyball.

The only U.S. medal of the day was a bronze in the fencing fo Nikki Franke, Philadelphia.

Outstanding Irrigated Crop Seen

Local Wheat Harvest Being Closed Out

Final Rounds

Combines are cutting their final swaths through Deaf Smith County's 1979 wheat crop this week. Irrigated wheat has been harvested at a rapid rate over the past week, and local observers indicated irrigated acreage has yielded some of its best wheat in many years here. Although overall, the dryland wheat crop here is rated at only average, to slightly above average, there have been some outstanding yields from dryland acreege here too, and 1978-79 must truly be considered a "wheat year." [Brand photo by Jim Stelert]

Brand Farm Editor

Farmers are wrapping up the 1979 wheat harvest in Deaf Smith County this week. bringing in a crop which might not have been nearly so good were it not for timely rains this spring.

Overall, the dryland wheat crop here will probably be categorized as no better than "average," but there were some outstanding yields in areas where the greatest quantities of favorable rainfall occurred, and even areas where wheat was virtually written off managed to bring in some grain.

On the other hand, the irrigated wheat crop here will go down as one of the best in many years, and a fact that makes this particularly satisfying to local farmers is that it was accomplished with less irrigation water.

Farmers trimmed their wheat irrigation to the bare minimum during the winter and spring months, and with favorable precipitation, pulled off the trick of obtaining maximum production with minimum irrigation-no small feat in a time of towering production costs.

Average irrigated wheat yields reported by local elevators all hit the high 50's or better this week as the harvest

At Easter Grain, south of Hereford, a trickle of grain was still being received late Tuesday. A spokesman at that facility reported that irrigated yields will average between 60 and 70 bushels per acre, with some going over the 80 bushel mark. "The quality of the grain is as good as we've ever seen, I guess," stated the spokesman. To the east of Hereford at Dawn Co-Op, harvest is also drawing to a close. Dale Wofford, manager of that facility, reported that irrigated wheat yields will average "around 55 bushels per acre," and added that the best total average yields in that area have hit 75-76 bushels per acre. Dryland wheat in that area, although limited in acreage. yielded dramatically at from 30 to 40 bushels per acre.

Northwest Grain, west of the Farmer's Corner community also reported average yields of near 55 bushels per acre, with yields ranging from 45 to 65 bushels per acre. Hereford Grain Corporation's main office here reported wheat harvest better than 90 percent complete locally, with average yields ranging from 65-75 bushels per acre for irrigated wheat.

Test weights were heavy throughout the county for the golden grain, at 62 pounds per bushel or above.

John Fuston, executive director of the Deaf Smith County ASCS indicated that the average irrigated wheat yield here could crowd 60 bushels per acre fairly

"This is one of the county's best irrigated wheat crops in a long time, and a lot of farmers did it with no more than two irrigations, and less fertilizer too. It was just a wheat year for the irrigation farmers, really, and the fact they did this well while spending less on irrigation is really worth something." stated Fuston.

"We may be just a little bit above average on dryland wheat, but really, I'd have to say we've had an average year for it. I'd say the average yield will be somewhere around 17 bushels per acre," Fuston continued.

We had a lot of wheat in the Simms area and near Adrian. where quantities of favorable rain fell that made 25-30 bushels per acre, but a lot of the wheat in the Bootleg Corner vicinity only made 10-15 bushels. Some of the best dryland wheat made 42 bushels per acre, and there was one report of a 53 bushel per acre yield," he continued. Markets for wheat have continued strong, despite a large wheat crop being brought in by farmers, and indications of a considerable shortfall in the Soviet Union's 1979 wheat crop could serve to keep the market in a stable position, despite the possibility of a recall of three year grain reserve loans.

If the national average price of wheat hits $4.11 per bushel. current regulations call for grain reserve loans to be paid back within 30 days of the recall order, with no provisions for going back under loan if prices

then drop. There is some concern that a recall of the loan, being brought closer by rising wheat prices. could cause a strong market to falter and plunge, but the prospects of greater foreign sales and orderly marketing by farmers may serve to cushion

JULY 16 - DEADLINE

FINAL ACREAGE REPORT The final date to report your set-aside and summer seeded crops is July 16, 1979. The acreage must be reported on a field by field basis and by irrigated and dryland. Acreage reports are required for all farms in which a producer has an interest. Those of you who have an interest in more than one farm need to be sure an acreage report is filed on all farms that have any cropland even though no crops are planted. This applies to both participating and nonparticipating farms and farms in other counties and other states if you want to be eligible for program benefits.

GRAIN RESERVE

All wheat in the grain reserve is still eligible to be redeemed without penalty. Storage payments have stopped as of June 30, 1979, due to the market price being above the release level for the second consecutive

Corn and Milo in the reserve are also eligible for redemption thru July 31, 1979, and storage will be paid thru July 31, 1979.

Here are some markets for the past few days comparing the Local Markets with the National Average Market Price. Call levels are: Wheat -- $4.11 bu. Corn -- $2.80 bu, Milo -- $4.75

Holly Announces Mailing of Checks

Holly Sugar Corporation has announced it is mailing checks totalling nearly $950,000 to area sugarbeet growers for sugar produced from the 1978 crop. This amount brings the total Holly Sugar Corporation has paid area sugarbeet growers to nearly $10 million. This averages $475.77 for the grower who grew 20 tons per acre and had a 15 percent sugar content.

Marketing of sugar from the 1978 crop will continue until October 1979 when the market year ends. At this time, final settlement is agreed upon by growers' representatives and Holly Sugar Corporation. The growers furnish the raw product (sugarbeets) which Holly Sugar processes and markets as sugar. then pays growers according to a schedule which is in the sugarbeet purchase contract. Calvin Jones, agricultural manager at Hereford, said at this point, this year's crop is ahead of previous years'.

"Growers need to make every effort to control diseases and insects and push this crop to attain maximum yields. With irrigation costs increasing. every effort needs to be made to control weeds which use large amounts of water," commented

Irrigation efficiency for sugarbeets averages nearly .75 tons per acre inch of water. This efficiency can reach .92 tons of sugarbeets per acre inch under good, timely management practices.

Forthcoming Announcement Expected To Revea Substantial Shortfall in Soviet Winter Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) - A new Agriculture Department estimate on the size of the 1979 grain harvest in the Soviet - report today that will show for Union is due this week but the experts are having problems getting it in shape.

According to sources close to the action, most of the actual figures have been settled, but the main hangup has been over when and how to make the new forecast available to the public.

Last year's harvest soared to a record of 237.2 million metric tons, but the Soviet Union - as it did last year - has been buying huge amounts of U.S. wheat and corn to help meet rising.

A month ago, the department forecast Soviet grain production in a range of 170 million to 210 million metric tons, well below

The middle of that range would be about 100 million metric tons, a figure reportedly favored by some of the analysts.

But some experts - said to be in the minority - believe that crop conditions have deteriorated further and that the range of possible grain output should be reduced by at least 10 million metric tons.

Another source, however, told a reporter that one persuasive argument was in favor of keeping the Soviet harvest forecast at about what was announced on July 8 because there is still time for spring-planted grains to benefit from good weather.

All of the sources were close-mouthed about specific figures being discussed.

With harvest prospects reduced in the Soviet Union. Eastern Europe and some other important grain regions, prices have risen appreciably in recent

Study Shows Open Ditch Irrigation Costs High

Water Conservation District has released a study on water losses from open ditch irrigation systems that indicates that losses on farms utilizing this method may range from $2,700

Sorghum Target Price Increase is Announced

LUBBOCK - Grain Sorghum Producers Association was informed last week that the 1979 sorghum target price has been increased 4 cents, thus raising it to $2.34 per bushel. This announcement came in a USDA press release dated June 29. following GSPA's request for an investigation into USDA's failure to comply with the intent of the law, as stated in the Agricultural Act of

was quoted as stating, "The! target price for 1979 crop grain sorghum has been increased from $2.30 to $2.34 per bushel. The action was taken to comply with the legislative intent that the same cost of production formula be used to adjust sorghum target price as is used to adjust the corn target price. Many people don't realize that the amount of fat in your diet influences how much cholesterol is absorbed into your blood-stream. The fat in the mixed food bolus in your small intestine facilitates absorption of cholesterol. Even if you don't have any cholesterol in your food, it's formed by your liver and is passed with the bile into your small intestine. That cholesterol which your own body makes is then absorbed much more readily if you happen to be eating a lot of fat in your food.

Now in some cases the cholesterol is just not going to budge with dietary measures. After a truly satisfactory effort has been made by both the physician and the patient and it still stays up, then there are some medicines which can help.

PRI Sweepes Votes In Mexican Election

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party has won the overwhelming victory it was expected to get elections for 300 of the 400 seats in the Chamber of Deputies, the lower house of the Mexican Congress, the Federal Election Commission said Tuesday.

The socialist PRI. Mexico's ruling party for 50 years, won 285 of the 289 seats for which returns on the July 1 vote were in. The other four went to the centrist National Action Party.

An election reform act passed last year expanded the Chamber of Deputies from 237 to 400 seats and reserved 100 of them for small opposition parties. Returns for the 100 other seats were not yet in because of a complicated procedure for

By 3 p.m., the circus ground was a smouldering bier.

From her haunted memories, Mrs. Dunn recollects:

Don Anderson, a high school boy, had cut loose a section of the canvas tent, providing an exit for several hundred. Then he returned twice to the blazing interior, first to save an injured child, and again to rescue a 64-year-old relative.

Some survivors reported the heroic actions of Jacobs an Kelly. Others recalled having seen Wallenda and Evans in rescue efforts, and Miller, painfully burned, helping clear barricaded sections.

Jacobs remains active with the circus today. Kelly died recently in Sarasota, Fla., where Evans makes his home. Wallenda was killed in a fall from a high wire in Puerto Rico in April 1978.

Throughout the years, one question has remained: Who was the beautiful child who died somehow virtually unmarred by the fire? How could she not be missed by her parents, relatives, playmates?

"Little Miss 1565," she was called, referring to the number of her casualty tag and later on her tombstone. The most prevalent theory is that whoever took the child to the circus also perished.
