

From 24 to 30 Per Cent

County Tax Assessment Ratio Raised

Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas August 7, 1975
74th Year, No. 63 30 Pages 15 Cents

Higher taxes for residents throughout the county seem imminent as the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court ruled Friday afternoon to raise the ratio of assessment from 24 per cent to 30 per cent of the appraised value of all real and personal property.

The commissioners had been meeting all week to formulate a budget, but it has yet to be completed as the county's financial consultant Bob Davis of Amarillo pores over bookkeeping records to arrive at recommended expenses for the coming year. County Judge Sam Morgan said the Commissioners Court was expected to meet Wednesday or today to set a tax rate based on what funds will be needed to fund the coming year's budget.

THE EXACT BUDGET will not be approved until the public has had a chance to voice opinions on it at a hearing set for 10 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 14, in Room 200 of the County Courthouse.

Notices on the assessment ratio increase were sent out by the county Tax assessor collector and county clerk to all those who rendered tax statements as well as most other residents. Tax statements from the county are expected to be in the hands of those who owe by Oct. 1.

The news media was not informed of the Friday meeting at which the ratio of assessment was raised and therefore the action was not reported in the Sunday issue of The Brand. Morgan said the commissioners met three days to discuss the budget items and that the tax office needed a ratio figure to begin work on compiling the county tax rolls.

"The tax office needed a figure as soon as possible, so we had to meet quickly," he said.

The commissioners court was hoping to set the assessment ratio and the tax rate at the same time so the public could be informed of a tax increase without a delay between the two actions.

AT PRESSTIME, the county was still preparing to meet on the tax rate, but Morgan predicted that an increase would be necessary. "Hopefully, we will be able to lower the 80 cents (per $100 assessed value) so taxes won't be higher," the Judge explained. "However, the tax rate could be raised and it would result in a larger tax increase."

"Everything is going up and so are costs. This is the first full year in which the cost of the new library will be experienced and the cost of the museum is up."

The total county tax rate for the preceding year has been $1.72, which includes taxes for the water district, hospital district and the state. If the total of these tax rates remains unchanged, the tax rate will be $1.67 per $100 assessed value since the state ad valorem tax is slowly being phased out. This year the tax goes to 12 cents, which is the minimum it can be according to Vance Crume of the county tax office.

THE STATE BEGAN its property tax in 1966 at 47 cents and has decreased it five cents each year since then. In the past two years, the county commissioners have deemed it appropriate to absorb this five cents in what is known as the County Special Fund and the same action is expected to occur this year, Judge Morgan said.

However, the court may not set the same rate or even a higher one as it hopes to reduce the rate so taxes won't skyrocket due to the already imposed higher ratio of assessment. If the total tax rate of the county does not change, the $1.67 will be broken down as follows: $1.25-County; 25 cents-hospital district; five cents-water district; and 12 cents-state. The state tax goes toward confederate veterans benefits and Texas university building funds. Crume said that it should be abolished in the future.

The $1.25 county rate is composed of a basis of 80 cents plus the 30 cents county special (earmarked for right-of-way and road work) and 15 cents for the road and bridge fund.

Crume said that the county also collects taxes for the Walcott School district, but that its taxes remain at the same level as last year. Their percentage of assessment went from 48 to 60 per cent of property appraisals and tax rate was changed from $1.60 to $1.28 per $100 of assessed value.

The Brand will carry a special article detailing the specifics of the county budget in the Sunday issue.

Games, Prizes Greet Fun Breakfast Crowd

More than 200 persons turned out for the Chamber's Fun Breakfast Tuesday morning at the high school cafeteria where two "Bull Chipper" awards were presented, two lucky women received cash prizes, and games and musical entertainment set the stage for an early-morning fun meeting of Deaf Smith County C of C members and guests.

Jim Conkwright, recently named one of the five Outstanding Young Texans, and Larry Wartes, recently inducted into the Texas Coaches Hall of Honor, were recipients of the special Bull Chip awards—which recognize outstanding civic workers and leaders but are presented in a "roasting" style. Brand publisher Speedy Nieman made the presentations.

Emcee Doug Manning and Lynton Allred introduced six people for announcements on community activities, led the audience in a sing-song, presented cash prizes of $25 and $75 to Barbara Manning and Lavon Nieman, and conducted some special games for "volunteers" from the audience.

The drawing for the $100 prize to a C of C member went unclaimed when James Braly was not present. The prize will be increased to $150 for the next breakfast, scheduled the first part of October.

Special announcements on community activities were made by Wanda Hoover, concerning the Teacher Appreciation Banquet; Roy Hartman, on the beginning dates for school; Larry Wartes, on the upcoming football season and ticket sales; Lavon Nieman, on Women's Division activities; Don Lane, on the Chamber Singers' trip to San Antonio and Austin; and C of C president Bud Eades, who invited membership and participation in the chamber.

The breakfast—the third such event to be held—was sponsored by Sugarland Mall Merchants Association and Glenn Burrola, president, extended a welcome to those attending. Merchants from the Mall helped in serving the breakfast and provided prizes for the games.

A "team" composed of Teenie Jayroe, Berta Ottesen and Dickie Geries emerged the winner in a pass-the-Lifesaver contest. Each member had a toothpick in his mouth and had to pass the Lifesaver without using his hands. The competing team was composed of LaJean Henry, Mack Tubb and Dean Herring.

The Clara Gillentine-Dewitt Seago partnership won the "banana contest" which followed. There were three teams and the idea was for the woman to feed the man a banana. The only problem was that all the contestants were blindfolded and the men couldn't use their hands. Becky Underwood and Pat Hughes and Bill Devers and Mary Paget formed the other two teams.

Trent McCuistian, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McCuistian, was a featured vocalist for the breakfast event. Others assisting with the musical program included Susie McGee, Lewis

Police Arrest California Man

Hereford police arrested an 18 year old California man Monday on charges of driving under the influence of drugs.

Marion Archer McKinley of Hawthorne, Calif. was arrested about 5:30 Monday afternoon following an accident at the intersection of Knight and Bradley.

After obtaining permission to search McKinley's vehicle, officers found a hypodermic needle and two pieces of foil containing substance thought to be Mexican heroin.

McKinley was taken to the Deaf Smith General Hospital for a blood test, which proved positive.

He was booked into Deaf Smith County jail where he remained at presstime.

'Bull Chippers' Named

The Hereford Bull Chip award was presented to Larry Wartes and Jim Conkwright Wednesday morning at the bi-monthly C of C Fun Breakfast. The pair, flanked emcees Lynton Allred and Doug Manning, hold the special plaques presented at the breakfast, which drew more than 200 persons to the high school cafeteria. Wartes was recently inducted into the Texas Coaches Hall of Honor, and Conkwright was named by Texas Jaycees as one of the five Outstanding Young Texans. Sugarland Mall merchants sponsored the breakfast.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says trouble is usually caused by someone who ain't got nothing else to do.

oOo

Another feller I know can always smile when something goes wrong, because he's already thought of somebody to blame it on.

oOo

These C of C breakfasts are really fun! I picked up the big cash prize two months ago, and my wife, Lavon, carted off 75 silver dollars Wednesday morning. The odds on that happening have to be astronomical!

Folks were already grumbling about the drawing being rigged when emcee Doug Manning asked his daughter to draw a name for the $25 prize, and she pulled out the number 7. Don't give up folks, 'the fickle finger of fate may point your way the next time!

We had fun needling the Bull Chip award winners—Jim Conkwright and Larry Wartes, but you don't catch a pair like those ever at a loss for words. They had some sharp comebacks when accepting their plaques.

The breakfast went off without a hitch Wednesday and there was plenty of food. Folding the event on alternate months seem to be about the right amount of time lapse.

[EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the first of a two part series on the budgets proposed by the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court and the Hereford Independent School District. This one concerns the schools and the second article will explain the county budget. The second half of the series will appear in the Sunday issue of The Brand.]

By BOBBY TEMPLETON

The revenue story for the Hereford Independent School District is fairly well known—a 23 per cent tax increase.

But what will be unfolding on the pages of the expense story for the 1975-76 academic year? Essentially, the plot will contain a repeat of the past few years—higher costs and cutbacks where necessitated.

In an interview with the The Brand this week, Bill Phillips, administrative assistant, said, "We're cutting purchases by about 10 per cent and keeping the dollar figures (in the budget) the same."

The school board is scheduled to meet at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 12, at the School administration building to hold a public hearing on the budget and to consider it for approval.

TOTAL EXPENDITURES anticipated by the Hereford Schools in the coming year amount to $5,018,000, which is $597,500 above last year. As has already been highly publicized, the district is experiencing a dramatic reversal in local funding due to the school finance bill passed earlier this year by the Texas legislature.

It doubled the districts local fund assignment to $1,164,918, which is the local participation in the state's Minimum Foundation Program for distribution of state aid. It will cause the local residents to raise about $200,000 more in funds so the district can operate at the same level it did last year.

This along with about $180,000 in taxes lost due to the $20 million cattle loss in the county, completed the picture of how to raise taxes by 23 per cent, Phillips explained.

THE RESULT is that about $2,768,000 is expected from state resources and $2,187,000 from local sources to provide the district's total estimated revenue of $4,966,000. It is based on a tax rate of $1.85 per $100 of assessed value. Total assessed property is valued at $147,500,000 on a 93.5 per cent collection rate.

While the exact figures won't be known until the day the budget is finally considered by the Hereford School Board of Trustees, Phillips indicated the budget could already be explained. The story

Lifetime Resident Dies

George V. Stambaugh, 74, a pioneer resident of Hereford, died Monday in Deaf Smith General Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Born in Hereford, Mr. Stambaugh played an important role in the early development of the business community and was credited with helping initiate the chamber of commerce. He was a member of the First Christian Church and Hereford Lions Club and was a longtime Shriner.

Services were conducted Wednesday afternoon in First Christian Church by the Rev. Eugene Brink, pastor. Interment was in West Park Cemetery through arrangement with Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Born here June 14, 1901, Mr. Stambaugh was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Stambaugh who came to Hereford a few months after the town was established to manage a feed and grain store (where Pitman Elevators are now located.) After graduation from Hereford High School, the young Stambaugh attended Wentworth Military Academy and graduated from the University of Southern California.

Following the death of his father in 1925, he returned to work with his mother in the grain store until they disposed of it in 1930. He operated a dry cleaning business for a period and was later associated with West Texas Rural Telephone Company serving Deaf Smith County and the surrounding region.

Two pioneer families were united on May 1, 1938 when Mr. Stambaugh married Miss Mabel Gass here. The D.R. Gass family had arrived in Hereford the same week as the Stambaughs. The couple had been born in neighboring homes, attended the same schools and grew up together. The widow, who resides at 207 Sunset Dr., survives him.

According to a history of Deaf Smith County, written by Beattie Patterson, the Stambaugh clan were active through the years in First Christian Church. As businessmen, father and son were involved in the development of Hereford through the chamber of commerce, known in the earlier years as the board of development.

Fun and Games

Would you believe a Lifesaver contest? That's what was taking place Wednesday morning at the C of C Fun Breakfast. Team members, holding a toothpick in their mouths, had to pass a Lifesaver down the line without using their hands. Emcee Doug Manning watches closely as Mack Tubb, LaJean Henry and Dean Herring race against a competing team. Although their form looks great, this team lost. The winners were Dickie Geries, Teenie Jayroe and Berta Ottesen!

Riding The Runningboard

This Dalmatian puppy, presented to the Hereford Fire Department by the Canyon Fire Department, will serve as the local VFD's mascot. The pup got in a little practice at riding the runningboard on one of the city firetrucks for this photo. Fire Marshal Jay Spain reports that the puppy is yet to be named. Local fireman plan for the dog to make fires with them when she's a little older, but a little growing up will be in order first.

Meeting With Briscoe Possible On Schools' Valuation Appeal

Hereford school district superintendent Roy Hartman reported Tuesday that contacts with Commissioner of Education Marlin Brockette and members of five-member state tax valuation review panel had been made concerning the local districts appeal on total property valuations here.

It was learned at recent meeting of the school board that the state panel of the Texas Education Agency had no intentions to lower its value of property within the district. The state values the property at $437 million, but local officials feel this is grossly unfair and desire at least a $60 million decrease. A $80 million decrease had been requested.

Telegrams were sent to each member of the review panel and as well as to Brockette. Also Hartman said he telephoned Brockette on the situation and desired that he overrule the panel's decision if not favorable for the district. He has that authority over the governor appointed panel.

"If this doesn't work, then a meeting with Governor Dolph Briscoe will be arranged by State Senator Max Sherman," Hartman explained. "We don't feel we have exhausted all channels of appeal in this case."

The effect of the valuation will not be directly felt until the 1976-77 school year when a high valuation could cause the district to lose further state aid since its participation in the Minimum Foundation Program would be higher. This year, the MFP local fund assignment (the amount of local participation) was doubled and therefore limited as to how much it could be raised.

However in 1976-77, state law allows the fund assignment to be tripled of what it was this year and could force the district to come up with more local funding.

Bill Phillips, administrative assistant, said, "It could benefit us next year if the panel thought the valuation should be lowered by as much as $100 million, but that it isn't likely."

Scattered Showers Leave Good Moisture Deposits

Thunderstorms deposited good accumulations of moisture on scattered portions of the county Sunday, giving local grain crops and pastures a boost, but halting the vegetable harvest in some areas.

Heaviest rains were reported from a point north of Hereford beginning approximately at Farmers Corner and extending to the south of the city. Rains were also reported to the west of the city, but tapered off rapidly to the east.

HEREFORD GRAIN corporation's Farmers Corner branch reported 1.25 inches of rain from Sunday's downpour. KPAN radio recorded a total of .60 inches of moisture for the city.

Gene King of Easter Grain reported that the community received 2.50 inches of moisture in a Friday night storm, with an additional .40 falling there Sunday. "The rain should be a big help to the local corn and milo crops," King commented.

A SPOKESMAN FOR Pitman Industries East Feedyard reported .75 inches of moisture fell there Sunday, while the Bruce Coleman farm 24 miles west and one mile south of Hereford reported a total of one inch of moisture from the Sunday thunderstorms.

The Bootleg Corner area received between .30-.40 inches of moisture.

A spokesman for Summerfield fertilizer reported that approximately .30 inches of rainfall was received in that community Sunday morning.

One of the highest rainfall reports came from the H.L. Hershey farm, 13 miles northeast of the city, where .10 inches was recorded.

Pioneer Gas Declares 30 Cents Per Share Dividend

AMARILLO-The board of directors of Pioneer Corporation (formerly Pioneer Natural Gas Company), at their recent quarterly meeting in Amarillo, declared a regular quarterly dividend of 30c per share to be paid Sept. 4 to stockholders of record on August 21, 1975, according to an announcement by K.B. "Tex" Watson, company president.

Consolidated net income for Pioneer Corporation and subsidiaries for the second quarter of 1975 amounted to $5,986,805 or 81c per share compared to $4,995,218 or 67c per share for the first quarter of 1974. For the first six months of 1975, the consolidated net income was $12,573,719 or $1.70 per share compared to $8,774,260 or $1.18 per share for the same period in 1974.

Gas sales for the second quarter showed a decrease over the previous year due to a decline in the use of gas for irrigation because of above-average rainfall in the last half of the quarter and extending through July.

The report for the second quarter operations of the company will be mailed to the stockholders about August 18.

County Court Finds 3 Guilty

County Court found three persons guilty of crimes during the week ending August 1, with one for driving while intoxicated and two for theft under $20, while Justice of the Peace Court found one person guilty on a bad check charge.

District Court handled no cases during the week.

Cases handled involving convictions in County Court during the week were:

—Julia Zepeda; theft under $20; fined $100 plus court costs; to be sentenced today (Thursday).

—Marie Zepeda; theft under $20; fined $100 plus court costs; to be sentenced today (Thursday).

—Harvey Scott, Jr.; driving while intoxicated; fined $150 plus court costs; sentenced three days.

Total County Court fines assessed during the week were $350. Total County Court fines assessed in 1975 are $18,778. Total bond forfeitures assessed during the week were $50. Total bond forfeitures assessed in 1975 are $3,300.

In Justice of the Peace Court, one person was found guilty on a bad check charge:

—Mary Hernandez; fined $15 plus court costs; restitution made.

Total fines assessed during the week on issuance of bad checks were $15. Total fines assessed in 1975 on issuance of bad checks are $996.50.

Orpha Click, schools tax assessor-collector, and Jim McMorries, tax consultant, appeared before the review panel on July 28 to argue for the decrease, but McMorries said a majority of the panel was not in favor of the appeal.

Hartman indicated he would go to Austin when it was possible to meet with Brockette and the Governor if necessary.

County Chamber of Commerce this week agreed to take on sponsorship of the Coffee Memorial Blood Bank drive in Hereford. They need and request your continued support of this vital project.

For a long time, anyone who mentioned the blood bank automatically thought of Barbara McCrary. The reason, of course, is because she has put so much time and work into the community program, she was dedicated to the task of seeing that Hereford's supply of blood was always up to date and available.

There were others, but we think Barbara deserves a special note of appreciation. It's another one of those thankless, non-paying community jobs that someone had to do. Those who needed blood will probably remember to thank Barbara, but the rest of us should stop and smell the roses, too.

August is a busy month for Miss Hereford, Monica Herring. She'll be appearing in the Top of Texas Pageant at Pampa Friday and, later this month, will be a contestant in the Miss Wheatheart contest in Perryton. The day after the Wheatheart Pageant, she'll enroll at Texas Tech University. Tickets for the two pageants are available at the C of C office. The Top of Texas Pageant will be broadcast live Friday at 8 p.m. on KPND, 1340, an Amarillo radio station.

It's been an unusual summer, weather-wise. We've had unusually cool days for summertime, with lots of cloudy skies and a total of 10.82 inches of rain this year, according to KPAN Radio's log. About this time last year, we had just recorded a half-inch of rain to boost the total to 2.32. It was the same way over most of the county, but this year some areas have had more than 10 inches of rainfall.

The changes in weather season to affect activities, too. It's usually quiet and routine around a newspaper in June and July, but things just kept on humming this summer. And, with the arrival of August the sense of urgency can be seen on the faces of merchants, school people, and farmers. Then, we're off and running the latter part of the month as the whole town bursts forth with activity as school starts.

City Approves New Speed Limits

By JOE LACKEY
Brand Staff Writer

City commissioners expressed displeasure in connection with state recommendations for new speed limits on West Park Avenue at the regular commission meeting Monday night, but agreed to accept the recommendations with the intent of attempting to secure lower limits later.

The commissioners really had no choice. Although they seemed to feel the recommended limits were too high, the final responsibility for setting speed limits on West Park rests with the state.

NEW SPEED LIMITS on West Park were necessitated by the location of the new school there. Several weeks ago the city requested that the state undertake speed studies on West Park. After these studies were conducted, the state recommended a limit of 30 m.p.h. from U.S. 385 to Texas Street; 40 m.p.h. from Texas Street to a point 475 feet east of Kingwood Street; 45 m.p.h. from that point to the East right-of-way line of Mimosa Street; and 50 m.p.h. from the Mimosa Street right-of-way line to the West City Limit.

In its report, the state recommended setting the speed limits where 85 per cent of the vehicles would be in compliance. City commissioner Frank Barrett disapproved the recommendation, stating "I don't think much of the Department's way of developing speed limits. They based their recommendation on current travel along the Avenue, and not on what the situation will be after school starts. In two weeks everything will change."

Barrett also said "We will have five different speed limits within a very short distance."

MAYOR JIM SEARS asked City Manager Dudley Bayne "Will the new speed limits go into effect if we don't do anything?"

Bayne replied by stating "No, the speed limits stay like they are until the state hears from us; the speed limits recommended are the lowest we can get at this time."

Mayor Sears then said that the commission might as well get the slight reduction now, and attempt to get more reductions later on. City Commissioners Emory Brownlow agreed.

The recommendation for the new limits came from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. City Commissioner Paul Abalos moved that the state report be accepted. The motion carried unanimously.

It was mentioned at the meeting that the city does have the right to establish a 20 m.p.h. speed limit during school hours along a stretch of Park Avenue 300 feet long in the area in which a crosswalk will be located. Bayne said this would be done by using signs with blinking lights, to be turned on during the appropriate times.

No other action resulted from the brief meeting. The contract for the tennis courts being built by the city, school, and county was on the agenda, but no action was taken because the school board recently tabled this matter. The city will wait for the school board to act before deciding whether to approve the contract. The contract has not yet been finalized because bids presented to the school board were higher than the anticipated figure of $46,000 (the total expected for the building of four new courts and the resurfacing of four old ones at a central location at the high school.).

All commissioners were present at the meeting except James Boyd.

Cases Filed In JP Court

Glen Nelson, Hereford Justice of the Peace, in his monthly report of the JP Court for July, has stated that a total of 647 cases were filed with his court for the month, and that total revenue received from fines, fees and state cost during the month was $10,884.50.

Of the cases filed, 543 were traffic misdemeanors, 19 were non-traffic misdemeanors, and 85 were civil suits and small claims cases.

A total of 507 settlements were made in connection with traffic misdemeanors; also, 16 settlements were made in the non-traffic misdemeanors cases; and 15 of the civil suits and small claims cases were settled.

Three trials or hearings resulted from traffic misdemeanors, and three trials or hearings resulted from civil suits and small claims.

Nine cases were dismissed of the traffic misdemeanors, and five of the non-traffic misdemeanors were dismissed.

A total of 10 felony complaints were accepted, and twelve statutory warnings were given.

Three peace bond hearings were held during the month. There were no examining trials or inquests during July.

One search warrant was issued during the month.

Breakfast--

McCuistian, Charlie Bell, and Woody McDermitt.

Several new chamber members were recognized at the breakfast. These included Lou Davis and Berta Ottesen of The Vogue, Blanche Latham of The Tree House, and Dwight Turner of Security Federal Savings & Loan.

Conkright and Wartes became the second and third recipients of the new Bull Chip award, initiated as a counterpart of the Hereford Bull award which goes only to out-of-towners. Those who dreamed up the award decided it should be presented in a light and humorous vein, rather than repeating accolades. Thus, Nieman lampooned Conkright and Wartes before presenting the framed cow chips, which include a gold plate engraved with "Bull Chipper Award".

begins primarily with personnel expenses which constitute about 85 per cent of the total budget expenditures.

"What a lot of people don't know is that the local revenues have to make up for some state authorized teacher salary increases," the administrator said. "We don't know a specific percentage, but we will have to pick it up." The state legislature granted school personnel an overall $1,400 annual increase, which amounts to about $450,000 for the state's share of the increases to Hereford teachers and administrators.

ANOTHER ANGLE to the salary cost is the minimum wage law which states that school employees will be paid no less than $2.20 an hour by Jan. 1, 1976. This combined with other increases during the last year must be taken into account when computing the budget, Phillips said. The present minimum wage is $2 an hour.

The budget amount for salaries during the year (not counting self-sustaining operations such as the cafeteria) totals to $4,382,550. This includes all budget items most of which goes for instruction and administration.

This is an increase of $612,800 for all salaries accounted for in the budget.

The single most expensive item in the proposed budget is naturally instruction. It amounts to $3,626,500, which is $486,500 above last year. Again Phillips cautioned observers that exact teacher contracts haven't all been finalized and that this could vary for both expenses and revenues depending on the education and experience level of hired teachers.

Cost of other items and the amount above last year are as follows: instructional administration, $62,500-

$7,000; instructional materials (media), $105,000-$1,000; school administration, $306,500-$35,000; guidance services, $196,000-$19,000; health services, $23,500-$3,000; student activities, $64,500-$14,000; plant maintenance and operation, $406,000-$36,000; community services, $7,000-$1,500; pupil transportation (regular), $227,000-$36,500; and pupil transportation (special education), $3,300-$300.

The only total budget category with a decline in cost was under general administration, which will run $220,500. It is a decline of $6,000 over the previous budget.

UTILITIES for the district are $28,000 more than last year due mainly to the operation of West Central Elementary School (the new school) and additions to existing schools.

"While we don't have the cost of Central School anymore, the new school alone will cost more to operate," Phillips explained.

He also noted that custodial supplies are really going to cut into the budget. These are one of the fastest rising areas of expense.

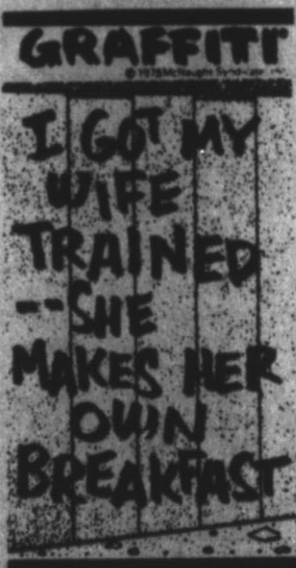

Fuel always comes up when cost increases are discussed. The school buses and other vehicles are not going to cost as much to run this year as one might expect, since most of the gas price rise occurred last year. Phillips said indications are that gas will rise a large amount again in the coming months.

ANOTHER EXPENSE UNDER TRANSPORTATION is the cost of five new buses on order for the district.

Instructional supplies such as paper have increased in cost during the past year, but have apparently leveled off to the point that no added funds have been budgeted.

Under the interest and bonded debt fund, total estimated revenue is $542,000. Of this, $482,700 is coming from taxes, $17,300 from delinquent taxes and $42,000 from interest on certificates of deposit. Total estimated expenditures are $544,700, which will be made up by a balance on Sept. 1 of $518,225, leaving a fund balance on Aug. 31, 1976 of $515,225.

Phillips noted that no existing program will be cut back this year and that none would be added unless they were self-financing. "If we were to cut back a position or two, we wouldn't have the same ability to seek out additional aid," he said.

County, City Receive Alcohol Tax Share

Comptroller Bob Bullock said recently that more than $2.5 million is being sent to 188 counties and 298 cities across Texas as their share of the mixed drinks tax for the April-June quarter of 1975.

This share to cities and counties is 30 per cent of the total tax collected in each locality. The remaining 70 per cent, $6.3 million for the quarter, goes to the state general revenue fund.

The tax is 10 per cent of all gross receipts.

This quarter's total local share was up slightly from the first quarter's $2.3 million, Bullock said. The $8.9 million total tax receipts for the second quarter were well above the $7.5 million per quarter average of 1974.

The collection of the tax is administered by the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Deaf Smith County received a remittance of $489.74 as its share of the mixed drinks tax, and Hereford received $373.14.

Anti-Trust Action Against Ma Bell Would Hurt Customers, Patrick Says

The anti-trust suit by the U.S. Justice Department against the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, mother company of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., will hurt not only the immediate companies but the consumer as well, said Mike Patrick, Hereford-Canyon Southwestern manager, to Hereford Rotarians Monday.

Patrick emphasized the good the telephone company has done for its customers, which he said should be told before the giant corporation is broken up. The Bell System includes Western Electric, the supplying arm; Long Lines; Bell Labs; and 23 operating companies. The federal government is trying to break up the firms, which the suit claims is monopolistic operation of the telephone industry.

Patrick showed a color film, in which every step to the final restoration of service was described. Some 200 men battled the blaze for more than 17 hours before the flames were put out.

Officer of the Month

Phil Hill, left, presents the Rotary Officer of the Month Award to Jim Cooper of the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department. The award is presented each month to a law enforcement officer.

On Wall Street

By BOB HILL

Two very serious threats to the packaged food and meat processing industries are looming on the horizon. In just a few months the Food and Drug Administration is expected to ban the use of polyvinyl chloride (PVC) as a wrapping for meats. It is also likely to restrict sharply the use of nitrates as chemical additives to meats to sharpen flavor and enhance color.

The plastics industries can't guarantee that the wrapping is completely free from vinyl chloride, so the industry will be forced to find a substitute wrapping. Vinyl chloride is suspected as a cancer threat to the public.

Bible Club Holding Meets

The Backyard Bible Club is meeting this week at the Bluewater Garden Apartments. Sessions are held daily from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and will continue through Friday. The sessions are non-denominational and are open to children from the first through the sixth grade. The club will end its week of sessions Saturday night with a "Joy Explosion" to be held at 8 p.m. Featured singer will be "Jemifer."

Another group of additives, nitrates, are about to be banned. Under certain circumstances, nitrates form compounds known to be cancer-causing. The reason the nitrates are still being used is that nitrates appeared on the scene as an additive long before Congress banned food additives suspected of being carcinogenic. An even more important reason is that nitrates prevent botulinum bacteria spores from growing and releasing their deadly toxin into meat. Thus far, no acceptable substitute does this job as well as nitrates.

Patrick said the Bell System has been blocked from any formal answers to the suit, but that it is permitted to discuss the advantages the company is providing its customers.

"We have a personal stake in defending an organization that has given this nation the best, most economical telecommunications service in the world," Patrick said. "And we have a duty to explain fully to the public the benefits derived from our organization. If our system is broken up our customers will suffer most—through poorer service at higher prices."

"We don't want the public to learn about the value of our organization after it has been destroyed."

He noted that AT&T was recognized in a Wall Street editorial for its management ability and that the "the Bell System does deliver good quality telephone service at reasonable prices."

"That's a statement few economists, other businessmen, academicians or customers would disagree with," he continued.

One recent news making event performed by the Bell system was the 23-day restoration of telephone service to 100,000 customers, whose service was terminated by a damaging fire of the central telephone building in New York City. It occurred in February of this year and it was termed the worst fire in the company's history.

Reaction to the film, titled, "Miracle on 2nd Avenue," was generally impressive.

Gene Shelburne, special representative of Texas Panhandle District Governor Ralph McLaughlin, made an official visit to the club in advance of the annual district governor's visit here Sept. 7 & 8. He told the committee chairman to get information for the president's yearly report on club activities.

The "Joy Explosion" is open to all city youth.

Toxicologists at MIT have found that amounts of nitrates equivalent to the quantities humans ingest in meat as low as 5 parts per million cause cancer in rats. The Scientific Director at the American-Meat Institute minimizes the nitrite-cancer problem and says a nitrite ban would be disastrous. He claims the problem was due to a water-supply impurity which caused the nitrite-cancer problem and that a limited amount of nitrates is acceptable in bacon. However, the MIT toxicologists believe nitrates should not be used in any meat whatsoever.

The 39th XIT Reunion and Rodeo begins today at Dalhart and runs through Saturday, with each day jam-packed with events, according to John McNey, publicity chairman.

Events are scheduled for Rita Blanca Lake Park.

One of the highlights of the activities will be the appearances of three well-known country-western stars at dances today, Friday, and Saturday.

Hereford Couples Attend Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kleuskens of Hereford attended the Regional P-A-G Dealer Council meeting, July 25-27 at the Sheraton-Santa Fe in Santa Fe, N.M. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Swanson.

Dr. Charles Berry, director of P-A-G Sorghum Research Lubbock, Texas was guest speaker at the Saturday morning business meeting, presenting a program on new sorghum varieties and research developments within the P-A-G Seed department.

The P-A-G Dealer Council meeting is held annually to inform key dealers about new P-A-G corn, sorghum and forage hybrids.

Other activities during the meeting included tours of Santa Fe, an afternoon at the horse races at Santa Fe Downs, and a Saturday evening dinner-dance.

Approximately 150 key dealers and wives from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado attended the three day meeting.

Bridal gift ideas don't have to stop with June.

One authority describes a fresh twist in giving as "thoughtfulness with 'think' to it."

Incorporating personal experience, household hints, easy-to-follow tips and handy skills into a gift is home economist Janice Carberry's idea of thoughtful giving.

"Many novel ideas in gift giving are meaningful because they're based on the experience and expertise of the women who initiate them.

Mrs. Carberry prefaced specific ideas with the contention that bridal gifts are a special avenue to creativity for many people.

"They come up with things like writing their own 'how-to' cooking or serving tips in the margins of 'tried and true' recipes—or adding instructions on folding fitted sheets to a gift of bed linen, followed by a sheet-folding race at the bridal shower.

Another idea is to "toss in" an extra flat sheet from which the bride can make matching throw pillows or a table cover—and include instructions for that.

Mrs. Carberry, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, detailed other gift ideas.

"If you give money, add budget plans. Or if feasible, give a passbook to a new savings account with the first entry made, according to the couple's preferences regarding specific arrangements.

"Another idea is a kitchen wall clock, or other time machine, and ways for managing time. Sharing these kinds of secrets can help the bride with organization that often takes years of know-how to achieve.

"Of course, the bride's interest and skill level will determine many gift choices.

"Shop for the person, not for yourself" is a good rule of thumb," the specialist stressed.

"This is especially important with gifts relating to hobbies, talents or other interests the giver shares with the bride."

"Along with the material part of such a gift, it's thoughtful to add a personal note offering assistance—with plant care, sewing, quilting, tatting, home canning and freezing or even menu planning and shopping."

"No matter what the gift, personal tips for using it always add thoughtfulness to a gift, because that means sharing part of yourself and your experiences with others," she said.

Egg Prices Improved

Egg prices are lower than usual at this season of the year, although they are on the rise, one forecaster said this week.

Other poultry "buys" are fryer chickens and turkey, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt said.

She predicted "attractive values" on whole birds and "very good values" on fryer parts.

"Turkeys are holding their own as a good protein value, and the smaller size bird is an excellent choice for outdoor cooking," the consumer marketing information specialist added.

"Pork production has dropped seasonally in recent weeks, with resultant higher prices. Perhaps the only pork cuts even 'in the running' for competition are ham and frankfurters," Mrs. Clyatt said.

She noted possible "good values" on bacon, although it is usually highest in price during the current season.

At beef counters, less-tender cuts—which require longer cooking time—are most often featured. These include chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, corned beef, ground beef and liver.

Mrs. Clyatt, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, put cabbage at the top of this week's vegetable values.

Other economical choices are carrots, corn, squash, okra, cucumbers, purplehull peas and cashaw.

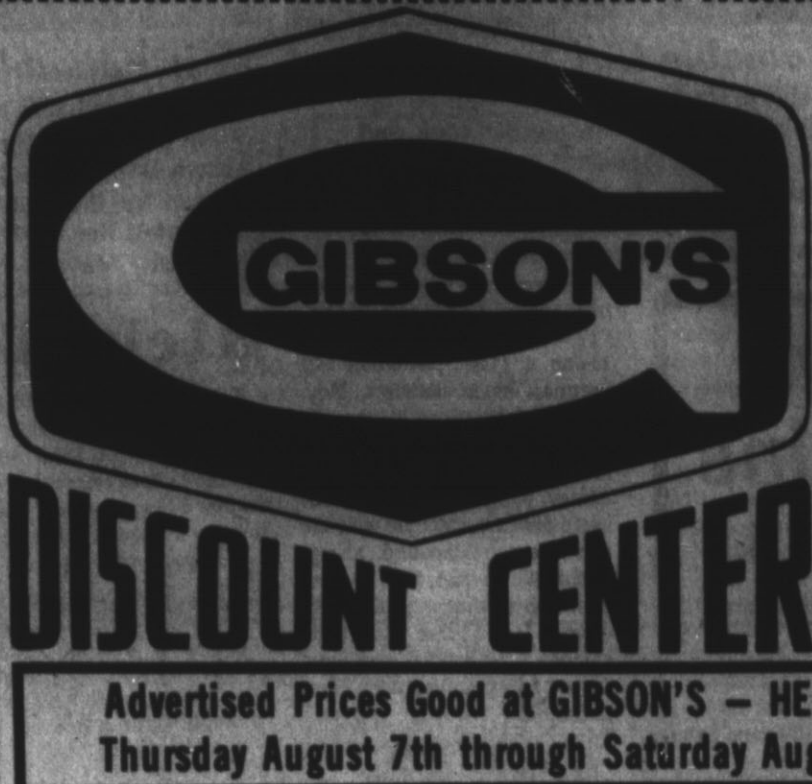

"At fruit counters, nectarines are in good supply and quality with moderate prices.

"Peaches, bananas, plums, cantaloupes, cherries, grapes and oranges also have moderate prices.

"New-crop apples—best for making applesauce and apple pie—are starting to appear.

"Watermelon is more reasonably priced."

Don't Surrender

By BOB WEAR

We must not give ourselves up to any of the perverse or detrimental influences or conditions which are so obviously present in our environment. Even though many of these may have some effect upon us, we "must not surrender" ourselves to any of them.

We may be powerless to prevent some of the unwanted happenings which affect us, but we are not powerless in the way or ways we respond. We can choose our manner of response.

The present-day economic ills affect our lives, but there is no reason why we should surrender to feelings of discouragement, or despair, or defeatism. It is much better that we "don't surrender". The wise and mature action is in acceptance of the realities, and in doing this in the very best way we can. This means that we will make whatever adjustments and modifications these realities require. This can be done, and is so much better than the alternative of letting our own personal world collapse.

YES, WE ARE CONCERNED; but we must decide the nature of our concern. Are we going to confine our concern to the minimum aspects of the difficulties, or shall we foolishly create the maximum burden by surrendering to all of the possible fears and apprehen-to see and admit the reality of a problem or a difficulty, without totally surrendering to it; and this is just exactly what we must do.

The prevailing difficulties, together with related perplexities, provide us with opportunities to grow stronger and otherwise improve our lives. We now have the challenges which will call forth our very best efforts, and open the avenues for greater use and development of our potentials; our latent mental and spiritual powers. Thus, we can profit from these opportunities and challenges; if we "don't surrender," if we do not give up.

We can control what happens within us, even when we are not able to control what happens to us; and this is what we must do.

sions. We can let ourselves feel hopeless and helpless, and compound our difficulties; or we can retain our integrity and our strength by "refusing to surrender" to the tyranny of panic and alarm.

There are other difficulties, in addition to the economic ills; but none of them are completely new. Some of the elements may seem to be new or, at least, different, but the point is this; we can cope. It may be necessary to make some concessions; we may suffer some losses; and there may be some hardships; but "don't surrender", don't give up.

THE BALANCE in our life posture is well expressed in this statement: "We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed." We have the ability

SS Chief Explains Deposit Plan

People who live in Texas and 22 other States west of the Mississippi River are getting a special opportunity to have their monthly social security and supplemental security income checks deposited directly in their checking or savings accounts, according to Maurine A. Travis, social security acting district manager in Amarillo, Texas.

"The direct deposit program is entirely voluntary," Mrs. Travis said. "People who want their social security and supplemental security income checks to continue coming to their homes shouldn't do anything. Their checks will keep coming as in the past."

"But people who want their checks mailed to a bank, savings, bank, savings and loan association or similar institution or a Federal or State chartered credit union can arrange for it with a direct deposit authorization form," she said.

Direct deposit information was mailed with checks that were delivered in August to people who get monthly social security or supplemental security income payments. The direct deposit authorization form—SF-1199—is available at financial organizations.

"Completion of the form does not permit withdrawals from your account by anyone other than people you authorize," Mrs. Travis said.

People whose checks are already being mailed to a financial organization should also make direct deposit arrangements with the SF-1199 form. The direct deposit program will help prevent loss and theft of social security and supplemental security income checks and will eliminate standing in line to cash or deposit them, according to Mrs. Travis.

Bonds Sales Steadily Advance

June sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Deaf Smith county reported today by County Bond Chairman Jim Sears. Sales for the six-month period totaled $107,982 for 60 per cent of the 1975 sales goal of $180,000.

Texas sales during the month amounted to $19,368,773, while sales for the first half of 1975 totaled $120,960,714 with 52 per cent of the yearly sales goal of $234.3 million.

A. It appears that your husband does meet the definition of disability in the social security law, and he should file application. He does not have to be permanently disabled. When he regains the ability to work his case will be reviewed and a decision made as to the date benefits will terminate.

State Needs Many Qualified Applicants

The Texas Department of Public Safety is in need of qualified applicants of both sexes and from all racial backgrounds.

"The next class for Department of Public Safety Recruits will begin on October 28, 1975, with what we hope will be a full complement of 110 persons," Major C.W. Bell, Regional Commander announced recently.

"The qualifications an applicant must meet are to be between 20 and 35 years of age, of good moral character, excellent physical condition, weight proportionable to height, visual acuity of 20/40 correctable to 20/20, a citizen of the United States have a minimum of sixty college hours."

Major Bell continued, "Among the benefits that a Department of Public Safety Trooper enjoys are: two weeks annual vacation, all holidays provided for by the Legislature, modern liberal retirement system, group hospitalization and life insurance plan, traveling expenses, longevity pay, and uniforms with all necessary equipment to perform their duties."

A Department of Public Safety Recruits training consists of eighteen weeks of comprehensive programs in all aspects of modern law enforcement at the Homer Garrison Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. During training the October School Recruit will receive "pay of $768 dollars a month." Upon graduation the new trooper will be assigned to one of the uniformed services of the Department.

The Texas Department of Public Safety has been increasingly successful in its search for recruits from minority racial groups of both sexes and encourages persons who think that they would qualify to contact the nearest Department of Public Safety Trooper or Department of Public Safety office to receive complete information regarding the application and employment procedures.

"Region 5 is most interested in being well represented by the best qualified persons available from the Northwest Texas area in the upcoming school," Major Bell stated, "but to do this, we must have the persons apply."

Electric Co-ops Meet

Fuels for generating electricity and the prospect of operating under utility commission jurisdiction are focal points of the 35th annual membership meeting of the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives in Amarillo, which began Wednesday and runs through Friday.

Rural electric leaders from throughout the state are gathering in record numbers for the sessions which will feature speeches from Congressman Jack Hightower of Vernon and two members of the Texas Legislature, State Senator Max Sherman of Amarillo and State Representative John Wilson of La Grange.

Other guest speakers include Berl M. Springer, vice-president of Southwestern Public Service Company, Amarillo; C.R. Rush, an executive of Farmland Industries, Inc., Kansas City, Missouri; and David A. Hamill, head of the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D.C.

James Hall of Hereford is acting as a delegate to the meeting.

Voting delegates will formulate resolutions to guide the statewide association's future activities. And they will elect two to serve three-year terms on the association's board of directors and another to serve as Texas director of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association. Incumbent NRECA director W.G. Newton of Lubbock has been nominated by a TEC committee to serve another year. Nominated to serve on the statewide board at earlier district meetings are Elton McGinnes of Eldorado and Alton Higginbotham of Floydada.

Six veteran electric cooperative managers will be honored at a banquet. The veterans, all of whom have retired during the last year, are B.C. Broad, McCulloch EC, Brady; M.D. Head, Wise EC, Decatur; B.H. Horne, Jackson EC, Edna; John F. Luecke, Fayette EC, La Grange; Jehu Murrain, Rio Grande EC, Brackettville; and Earl Waide, North Plains EC, Perryton.

An adjunct of the meeting is an exhibition of art and crafts handmade by members of the Rural Electric Women's Task Force throughout Texas. Items in the display, valued at more than $15,000, will not be for sale but duplicates may be ordered.

Texas Offers Garden Spots

Summer is vacation time, and Texas offers a wide variety of attractions, including many public gardens and landscaped areas.

"These gardens are not only refreshing and attractive to look at, but may also provide the homeowner with good ideas for use in his own home landscape development," points out Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"While in Houston many people find the landscaping at the city zoo of special interest as well as the city arboretum and extensive gardens at Bayou Bend.

"San Antonio also has a beautifully landscaped zoo that is attractive to people of all ages as is the exotic River Walk development along the San Antonio River.

"Plantings along the boulevard of Ocean Drive in Corpus Christi are beautiful and immaculately maintained.

"The Fort Worth Botanic Garden with its new Japanese Gardens is a popular site in that area.

"Six Flags has a great deal to interest those who appreciate good landscaping," notes Welch.

For gardeners interested in annual flowers, Texas A&M University maintains large plantings of many named annuals in their Floral Test Gardens on the main campus at College Station.

El Paso maintains an interesting city arboretum, and lovers of cactus and desert-type plants enjoy the collection maintained at Langtry near Judge Roy Bean's famous court.

At the other end of the state, Tyler has well maintained parks featuring their famous roses.

"Almost every area of the state has gardens and landscaped areas of interest," contends the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Take time to look them over and come home refreshed and full of new ideas on making your home landscape development more interesting and enjoyable for you and your family."

Monster Club

Youth Invited

To Party Friday

Youngsters who are members of the Monster Reading Club at Deaf Smith County Library are invited to a party at 4 p.m. Friday in the Little Bull Barn.

A film presentation, "The Mad Monster Party" will be shown and "treats" will be given to young guests. It is requested that smaller children be accompanied by adults and parents will need to provide transportation to the party.

Gwen London, main librarian, stated that there are more than 600 children enrolled in the Monster Club and she termed the program "an outstanding success."

Unlike certain other parts of the human body, the ear does not have a built-in defense mechanism that can protect it, according to officials of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation. This fact, the officials point out, is a prime reason why hearing ability can be harmed by exposure to excessive sound levels.

Nuptial Vows Unite Navy Couple On Guam

A Baptist sanctuary in Tamuning on the island of Guam, USA, was the site where Miss Celia Gwen Davis and Timothy exchanged wedding vows Monday. Performing the morning ceremony was the Rev. John C. Calhoun, pastor.

The bride, a former resident who is based at the Naval Communications Station in Guam, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Calvin Davis, Route 3. Also stationed at the NCS in Guam, the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Osler Filmore Long Jr. of Forestville, Md.

Emphasizing the marriage altar was a yellow, white and blue floral arrangement of daisies and chrysanthemums.

Attending the couple as matron of honor and best man were Mrs. Michael O'Donnell and CTO1 Robert Crowe, respectively. Ushering guests was CTO2 Phillip Barragon.

Given in marriage by CTOC Bill Murch the bride wore a princess style gown of white polyester crepe, which was floor-length. Her sweetheart neckline was accented by seed pearls, which also patterned her long, fitted sleeves.

A bridal coil of crepe and seed pearls attached to the waist-length veil of net. White carnations clasped by a blue ribbon formed the bridal bouquet. Her jewelry included a jade and gold pendant given to her by the bridegroom.

A floor-length gown of light blue fabric flocked with small yellow flowers was worn by the honor attendant. The dress was fashioned with an A-line skirt and sash which tied at back. She carried a single yellow carnation.

Wedding cake and punch were served after the marriage during a reception in the Chief Petty Officers Club at the Naval Air Station. Refreshments were served by Miss Ann Flowers, CTO3 and Miss Joanne Gallagher.

A graduate of Hereford High School, Mrs. Long graduated from Texas State Technical Institute in Amarillo. She joined the Navy in April of 1974 and completed basic training plus studies at a CTO "A" school.

Long finished CTO "A" school training in June 1972. He is a graduate of Mar Vista High School in Imperial Beach, Calif.

IMPENDING DOOM is lurking around the bend for those of us who happen to be mathematical morons: The metric system will soon be a reality and mass confusion will reign in this feeble mind. I have a vague smattering of the traditional units of measurement and on seven tries out of ten, I can correctly deduce the number of inches in a mile. I retain a dim understanding of liquid volume if in a tranquil frame of mind, however I've yet to penetrate the mysteries of the "short ton."

So now, some mental giant conceives of a plot to unify all systems of measurement to the metric scheme. And everyone has been told how much easier the metric system is in comparison to the strategy currently employed in this country. That, however, is the crux of the entire problem—the metric program is too logical. It may be fine for the British, the Yugoslavs and the Swedes to have their lives dictated by decimal points, but it's a fact known around the world that Americans like to do things the hard way. It fits into our peculiar mode of life to memorize one mile equals 1,760 yards or 5,280 feet.

You see, there's absolutely no organization to the current method of measurement and there lies the charisma. Why, it's nothing short of an American to confuse us with logic and simplicity. But, let us step aside graciously for this immoral progress and "conform" (this is another term you won't find in the American creed.)

The United Dairy Industry Association, suspecting that there are those of us who are going to need some special tutoring, have sent a key to the metric puzzle. A businessman has estimated that it will take the average person about two hours of diligent effort to grasp the idea of metrics. For the rest of us, it is printed below so you can embroider it on your brain:

LENGTH

To find millimeters, multiply inches by 25.4.

To find centimeters, multiply feet by 30.48.

To find meters, multiply yards by 0.91.

To find kilometers, multiply miles by 1.61.

MASS

To find grams, multiply ounces by 28.

To find kilograms, multiply pounds by 0.45.

To find megagrams (metric tons), multiply short tons by 0.9.

LIQUID VOLUME

To find milliliters, multiply ounces by 30.

To find liters, multiply pints by 0.47.

To find liters, multiply quarts by 0.95.

To find liters, multiply gallons by 3.8.

TEMPERATURE

To find degrees Celsius, multiply degrees Fahrenheit by 5/9 after subtracting 32.

Robberies Described In Taut Narratives

Daring robberies, the intriguing prologues and suspenseful aftermaths are vital components of two narrative books being featured this week at Deaf Smith County Library.

A compelling plot which is so detailed that it could be true is written by Michael Crichton in "The Great Train Robbery." Set in 19th century Europe, the crime involves and theft of a fortune in gold bullion taken enroute to Paris. The reader is swept into the meticulous strategy of the thief, Edward Pierce, who must obtain four separate keys in order to carry out his brazen scheme.

Roger Borniche has described the true story of a massive manhunt for the notorious French criminal, Emile Buisson, in his book, "Flic Story." The author was actually involved in the tenuous search which wound through the boondocks of France after World War II.

Deaf Smith County Library is open free to the public from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday and Thursday; from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays and until noon Saturday.

THE GREAT TRAIN ROBBERY

By Michael Crichton

In 1855, Victoria was firmly on the throne, war raged in the Crimea and, in London, a masterpiece of crime—the most daring train robbery ever to be executed—was being plotted.

Once a month, a train leaves London for Paris, loaded with gold bullion for the British army fighting in Russia. The carriage is guarded; the two safes are invulnerable, requiring four separate keys to open the locks. Every possible precaution has been taken by the authorities.

Then one day, the safes arrive in Paris, but the cargo is gone. We know why. We have witnessed a fantastic burglary improvised and carried out by a master criminal, the handsome, charming and ruthless Edward Pierce (a rogue aristocrat or self-educated thug?) No one has ever discerned the truth.

We have watched Pierce bring together his accomplices; the beautiful Miriam, the sinister Barlow and light-fingered Agar. We have seen him corrupt a susceptible train guard, contrive the escape (from an "escape-proof" prison) of a supreme cat burglar for the sole purpose of lifting two keys.

We have seen Pierce himself court the proper young woman whose father has the third key; the fourth key must be removed from the neck of a visitor to an elegant bordello. We will board the train with Pierce, see him forced into desperate action as the express roars toward the Channel. We see him pursued, captured and tried.

We know—immersed in thieves' strategies and argot—this is how it must have been. Michael Crichton, with his unique documentary approach to the suspense novel, has given us a superb narrative made even more compelling by the verisimilitude of its fascinating detail.

FLIC STORY

By Roger Borniche

This is the true story of a three-year manhunt for the most notorious criminal in postwar France. For Emile Buisson, a master criminal, robberies were like prison walls—not obstacles but challenges.

incredible chase, for chief among them was the famous Roger Borniche of Surete Nationale, a man in love with his profession, pitted against a remorseless killer, a man in love with crime and death.

"Flic Story," which was a best seller in France, tells not only of criminal cunning but of police tenacity and ingenuity as well. Inspector Borniche's underworld search for the elusive Monsieur Buisson winds through the cafes and brothels of postwar France in a mosaic of true adventure that mixes robbery, murder, jailbreaks, double-dealings, stool pigeons, prostitutes and, above all, dogged but always exciting police detective work.

Intelligent, resourceful and, above all, merciless, Monsieur Emile's passion for money regularly led to murder. He had to be stopped, and soon.

Arrayed against this shrewd little man was an army of gendarmes, detectives and agents—all racing for the glory of stopping "the terror of France." It would be an

Miss Yvonne Duggan, bride-elect of Randall Alexander, was the recipient of two pre-nuptial courtesies recently.

She and Alexander will be wed August 16 in First United Methodist Church.

Mothers of the couple, Mrs. Dempsey Alexander and Mrs. Willis Duggan, and the future bride wore yellow carnation corsages Saturday afternoon as they welcomed shower guests. The party was given in the Medallion Room of Rural Electric Cooperative.

Sylvia Betzen served refreshments from a table draped in white linen and centered with a bouquet of yellow carnations and baby's breath. The honoree's sister, Miss Brenda Duggan, presided at the guest registry.

Special guests were Miss Duggan's grandmothers, Mrs. J.A. Blevins of Vega and Mrs. W.Q. Duggan of Friona. Hostesses were Misses Elmo Hall, William Willis, Jimmy Robison, Edwin Morrison Jr., Jim West, Julian Perrin, Buel Monroe, Calvin Mitts, N.E. Tyler, A.E. Self, Jerry Roberts, Larry Harris and Tommy Wells.

The bridal candidate was also honored by close acquaintances last week at a kitchen shower in Canyon. Hostesses were Miss Vicki Poe of Amarillo, Miss Macky Williams of Canyon and Miss Ivana Rogers of Sunray.

Happy families do seem to have a certain spirit of love and concern for one another. The principles that the Bible teaches are the same ones that make for family happiness. "Honor thy father and mother." "I am my brother's keeper." "Do unto others, as you would have them do unto you".

Make God's teachings a part of your family. Set aside a time in your family for daily conversation and reading the Bible. Your family will profit from it.

Women's Division Agrees To Sponsor Blood Drive

Local sponsorship of Coffee Memorial Blood Center was assumed by Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division during an executive council meeting at noon Tuesday in Hereford Country Club. Those present were Bill Albright and Mmes. O.G. Nieman, Joe Henry, Joe Railey, Melvin Hoover, Bill Johnson and Percy Willson.

The regular blood drive is conducted here from 4-6 p.m. on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

Mrs. Bill Albright was appointed chairman of the coordinating program and will serve in that capacity for a term of 17 months. She will select a committee of women who will compile a list of prospective donors and call these probable contributors twice a year. Anyone who has particular interest in serving on this committee should contact Mrs. Albright.

The decision to become a coordinating figure for the Amarillo-based center was based on a presentation Monday from Coffee representative John Mitchell. Mitchell approached Mrs. O.G. Nieman, Women's Division president, Mrs. Albright and Bill Albright, C of C executive vice president, concerning local sponsorship.

In his plea, Mitchell stated, "The Women's Division will be our blood center's right arm if you agree to sponsor it." He explained that the average citizen can give blood approximately every two months. Hereford citizens need to donate about 550 pints each year to meet supply needs at Deaf Smith General Hospital, he said. Calling the local sponsorship "a great step forward for the Women's Division," Mrs. Nieman reviewed Mitchell's commentary for the board Tuesday. "It is our public responsibility to give blood because someone needs bloods every 4 1/2 minutes," he stated.

"Our goal will be to draw 40 to 50 pints of blood each month," she commented.

Telephone calls reminding local residents of the upcoming blood drives will not commence until September, so the public is urged to give blood August 27 at Community Center.

Continuing her presentation, Mrs. Nieman said, "Demand for blood rises in the summer and blood donations decrease."

Other business on the agenda included:

*Reading a thank you note from Hereford Chamber Singers, who expressed gratitude from a $200 donation which they received from the Women's Division to defray expenses on their trip to San Antonio.

*Announcement of two new members, Lois Jones and Irma Parten, by Mrs. Joe Railey, membership chairman.

*Commendation extended to Mrs. Jack McInster and her tours committee for arranging county tours. The western part of Deaf Smith County will be toured from 1:30-5:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 5. The tourists will leave Hereford State Bank. The upcoming travelogue, to be presented by Mrs. Milton Adams, will depart from the local library on Sept. 23.

*Praise dealt to Mrs. Bill Allen, chairman of the youth committee, for her successful administration of the Summer Youth Program. Mrs. Melvin Hoover, public affairs chairman, also expressed appreciation to those women who are not members of the Women's Division and helped with the SYP.

Mrs. Hoover will present statistics concerning this year's SYP before the City Commission.

*A report from the beautification committee announced that red, white and blue flowers, which will be planted in the circular area in front of the Chamber office, have been ordered.

*Discussion of plans for a self-improvement course to be keynoted by Micky McDonald of Amarillo. The charm session is slated from 7:30-10 p.m. Sept. 15 at Community Center and the public is invited. Pre-enrollment will cost $3 per person and interested individuals should contact the Chamber of Commerce.

*Tentative plans were made to present a film, "The Emerging Woman," for membership at noon Oct. 7 in Civic Club Center.

July Beauty Spots

Local beauty spots for the month of July have been announced on behalf of the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. The Martin Wagner home, pictured above, is located about five miles south of the city and was cited as an outstanding residential spot. Recognized in the non-residential category was Hereford Day Care Center, 215 Norton.

Club Holds Coffee

Members of La Madre Mia Study Club met for coffee and a brief business session Monday in Southwestern Public Service Reddy Room.

Gifts were exchanged from secret pals and it was decided that the club would again sponsor a Christmas tour of homes and bazaar as a ways and means project. Mrs. Dean Herring, president, moderated the informal discussion.

La Madre Mia will commence the new season on September 11.

Members present at the recent social were Mmes. Lynton Allred, Jimmy Anderson, Waldo Baxter, Herschel

Black, Charles Frye, James Gentry and Dickie Gerles.

Also, Mmes. Herring, Robert Priest, Don Lane, G.C. Merritt, Bobby Owen, Craig Smith, Bud Snyder, W.E. Sparks, Roger Williams, N.D. Bartlett and Dwight McGee.

INSUR-MATION

I've been told that after a period of time an insurance policy can pay its own premiums. How is this possible?

There are two ways: automatic policy loans and extended term insurance. The use of the first method will keep the policy in force and the death benefit would be the face of the policy minus the total amount of the loan. The loan can always be repaid and restore the policy to its original status. Under the second method you are insured for the entire face amount for a period, usually of several years. But to restore the policy to its original condition you must not only pay the sum required but prove you are still insurable. Therefore, the automatic premium loan is usually the better method.

Research Seeking Borer-Proof Corn

When old methods of tackling a problem are not getting the job done, it's time for a change. That's just what N.E. Daniels, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Entomologist, is doing. His research using chemicals to control Southwestern corn borer has not always been successful; so the scientist decided to tackle the pest in another way. His new approach is to learn enough about the habits and diet of the borer to rear them under artificial conditions. In doing so, he can insure an adequate egg supply to systematically infest corn lines and hybrids. Corn plants that were either resistant or tolerant to heavy borer populations can be used to produce resistant hybrids.

The Southwestern corn borer has been in the United States since 1913 and threatens a million acres of corn in Texas. Corn in Arizona, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas, and as far east as Tennessee is also severely damaged if conditions are right. The pests burrow into corn stalks making them weak and susceptible to lodging. After corn goes down, mechanical pickers have difficulty gathering ears. The problem is greatest if harvest is delayed and high winds topple weakened stalks. Clean tillage is presently the best method of control.

Daniels sought advice from Dr. James Smith, Jr., Director of the Peanut Insects Laboratory at Texas A&M University. Dr. Armon Keaster, University of Missouri and Dr. Frank Davis at the Boll Weevil Research Laboratory at Mississippi State, who furnished some corn borer eggs. The laboratory in Mississippi is the only other place where Southwestern corn borers were presently being reared.

Working with limited resources, the scientist and three helpers started to set up a laboratory and rearing room at the USDA Research Center.

"We cleaned up and converted an old three-room house into a laboratory", Daniels stated. The kitchen is used to prepare an artificial corn borer diet consisting of casein, wheat germ, vitamins and dextrose. The ingredients are used with agar and water, heated and mixed with a blender. After blending, about one-third ounce of the hot mixture is transferred to a 1-ounce plastic container. Three newly hatched larvae are placed in the containers and taken to the rearing room. Celeste Boden, Technical Assistant, who prepares the diet says, "It smells just like ground corn so it's no wonder small borers grow well".

The 12- by 12-foot rearing room was formerly used to raise greenbugs. "With a few changes and improvements, we were able to maintain a constant temperature of 80 degrees with 4 degrees variation", Daniels said. A wall furnace and a room air conditioner get the job done. The insects are reared under a 16-hour day with fluorescent lights. Relative humidity in the room ranges from 20 to 30 per cent.

It takes 14 to 16 days for larvae to reach full development and pupate. Only one or two larvae in a cup make it to maturity because they tend to be cannibalistic. Twenty-five male and 25 female pupae are placed in a petri dish and put in 3-gallon ice cream cartons covered with nylon net lids. An 8-ounce jar filled with cotton and water is also placed in the carton to increase humidity. The sides of the carton are lined with wax paper held in place by a cylinder of one-fourth inch hardware cloth. Adult moths, that live for 3 or 4 days, emerge from pupae after 8 days. Moths rest on the hardware cloth and deposit eggs on wax paper behind the wire mesh. The average egg mass has 10 eggs and females lay 20 to 30 egg masses before they die. Strips of wax paper covered with egg masses are placed in air-tight jars along with a piece of agar diet to increase humidity. Jars are kept in the rearing room until eggs hatch 3 days later. Hatching can be delayed by placing the jars in a refrigerator. An entire life cycle is completed in 30 days.

Daniels is working with Dr. A.J. Buckholt, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station corn breeder from Texas A&M, to screen corn lines for resistance to borer damage. To do this, small pieces of wax paper about 0.5 inch square, each plastered with an individual egg mass, are cut from the egg-splattered wax paper sheets and placed between a leaf sheath and the stalk of one corn plant. When the eggs hatch, larvae bore into stalks and complete their life cycle. Corn plants will be evaluated in the fall to determine their ability to withstand borer damage.

"We are evaluating 180 lines this year on a trial basis", Daniels said. "If things work well, we will expand in 1976. We hope that our work will lead to the first corn hybrids that are resistant to the Southwestern corn borer."

Texas Expects New Record In Corn Yield

AUSTIN—Texas farmers are expected to harvest the third largest corn crop on record this year, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reported.

A 111.1 million bushels yield is estimated by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service for Texas. This will be the largest since the 111.2 million bushels produced in 1919. Texas' record crop of 117 million was harvested in 1910.

"In 1910, it took five million acres to produce those 117 million bushels," White noted. "This year, our farmers are going to produce that near-record crop on only 1.1 million acres." White attributed this ability to produce more on fewer acres to an increase in irrigated acreage on the Texas High Plains.

Sorghum To Silage Aids Digestion

Adding sorghum grain to sorghum silage apparently improves digestibility for livestock, according to trials by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

More specifically, the additional grain enabled better utilization of silage dry matter and nitrogen.

The overall sorghum silage project was described by animal science research assistant R.E. Tolbert of Texas A&M University, who spoke during the 67th annual meeting of the American Society of Animal Science July 28-30 at Colorado State University.

Tolbert's research advisors are Dr. R.E. Lichtenwalner and Dr. L.M. Schake of the A&M Animal Science Department. Sorghum in silage, Tolbert said, has two problems: kernels are small, and they often pass through the animal undigested. As high as 80 per cent of the grain can pass through without being utilized. Also, those kernels that are broken down by the digestive process are only partly digested.

The overall objectives of the research are to find sorghum varieties with easier-to-digest kernels, and to determine what can be done to improve digestibility in existing varieties.

Commercial sorghums evaluated in this study were Oro-T, a grain type, and FS, a forage type. Plants were harvested when grain dry matter content was about 60 per cent.

Heads were removed from the stover and rolled through a 1-32-inch spacing. The stover was ground in a mill with screen removed. R.Fresh head and stover fractions of each variety were then combined into the following ratios: All Head, 2:1, 1:1, 1:2, 1:3, and all stover on an as-fed basis. Before ensiling in plastic bags, propionic acid was added to all combinations at a rate of 2 per cent. The resulting silages were fed to wether lambs.

Tolbert said significantly better dry matter and nitrogen digestibilities were recorded in the high grain ratios. Also noted was the fact ensiling grain seems to soften it a bit, thereby making it more digestible.

County No. 1 In 1974 Beets

Farmers in Deaf Smith County made an important contribution to Texas agriculture in 1974 by leading the state in the production of sugarbeets and by placing Deaf Smith in the top ten counties in the production of corn and silage.

According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, the county produced 173,000 tons of sugarbeets, 68,000 tons of corn silage and some 6.9 million bushels of corn. Compared with 1973, production of sugarbeets was up 20 per cent and corn up 11 per cent. Yields of corn silage decreased 200,000 tons.

Dry weather, lasting from late fall through winter, caused various planting problems in Texas last year. Farmers either dry planted or waited for additional rain, and yields of some crops were down drastically from previous years. Growth in most dryland areas was spotty and much replanting was necessary.

Despite the many problems associated with 1974, Texas farmers were able to produce over 73 million bushels of corn and 370,000 tons of sugarbeets.

Wheat Producers Meet

Sagging prices, export sales, labor relations, domestic use and international trade policy are among the subjects to be thrashed by wheat leaders from throughout the commercial wheat production area of Texas, meeting in Amarillo today (Thursday).

Leo Witkowski, President of the Texas Wheat Producers Association said the organization's regular mid-year meeting will be from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Holiday Inn I-40 with an expected 40 elected county producer officers in attendance.

Jerry Rees, Executive Vice President of the National Association of Wheat Growers, (of which Texas Wheat is a supporting member) will be principal speaker and discussion leader as current wheat problems and opportunities are delved into. On behalf of wheat producers, Rees has recently participated in International Wheat Council meetings in London on foreign trade policy and met with George Meany of the AFL-CIO and Thomas Gleason of the International Longshoremen's Association relative to the unions members loading grain ships destined for Russia.

Following the meeting, officers of the Texas Association will, on August 21 and 22, participate along with wheat leaders from other states, in the National Association of Wheat Growers meeting in Denver where programs designed to strengthen wheat producers income will be drafted based on direction gained at local state meetings such as the one in Texas.

Other officers of the Association in addition to Witkowski are Ken Kendrick, Vice President, Startford; Dwight Hamilton, Vice President, Olney; and C.L. Edwards, Secretary-Treasurer, Panhandle.

Sagging Wheat Prices Problem For Producers

"Current Wheat Prices that are sagging a full dollar below those just eight months ago are now the producers' biggest concern as preparations for planting a new crop are being made", according to Leo Witkowski, Hereford, President of Texas Wheat Producers Association. He went on to say that "I know that the public and prominent politicians are talking about the price rises since the Russian wheat sales, but these rises have just barely recouped the 55 cents per bushel drop experienced in June alone. When we were planting this crop of wheat last fall, — 73.5 million acres, the largest in recent history, the price of wheat was $4.87 per bushel — now even with the Russian sales we currently are being offered only $3.80 to $3.70 per bushel — and much of this year's crop, particularly in the Rolling Plains, was sold for less than $3.00 per bushel, even with farmers' orderly marketing activities which is credited with preventing even a further price collapse." The wheat leader went on to point out that the principal uses of wheat here in the United States is breadmaking and cattle feeding, and currently even with the wheat price slump that "the price of bread and the price of fed cattle are higher than a year ago — perhaps justifiably so from other cost and economic considerations — but obviously not from the price of wheat."

In an effort to put the current wheat supply and demand in perspective with the Russian sale of 4.3 million tons, The Texas Wheat Producers Association has compiled these facts: The U.S. had 8 million tons of wheat carried over from the past crop on July 1, the crop now being harvested is estimated at 50 million tons, making a total wheat stocks, with imports, available this marketing year at 68 million tons.

Historically, the United States consumers here at home uses for all purposes — feed, seed and food — 21 million tons of wheat. Setting this amount aside to assure full supplies available would leave 46 million tons left to pile up in warehouses at a huge cost to the food marketing system or conversely, available for export. Current USDA estimates for exports to all nations including Russia is 28 million tons. This leaves 18 million tons carryover at the end of the marketing year next July 1 — double that on hand July 1 this year and reaching the level formerly referred to as "burdensome surpluses".

Witkowski's, and that of other wheat growers in Texas, conclusions are that farmers planted adequate acres of wheat last fall to make expected sales of 60 per cent of the crop to foreign customers, when Russia hadn't bought any wheat by the end of May, prices dropped a full 55 cents per bushel in June. The current price rises have just about recouped those losses and are still below a year ago and may stay that way unless the United States maintains a policy of unrestricted access to foreign markets promised by President Ford when he vetoed the Emergency Farm Bill this Spring, and producers through their organizations continue strong export market development activities with established and new customers.

As to recent action of longshoremen threatening not to load grain ships bound for Russia, Witkowski said that wheat producers, through the National Association of Wheat Growers, have met with Mr. George Meany of the AFL-CIO and Mr. Thomas Gleason of the International Longshoremen Association and other labor union officials at their recent council meeting in Chicago and related the producers viewpoint of the economics of the Russian wheat sales.

He said NAWG officials reported that the labor union leaders were sympathetic towards the farmers cost-price squeeze and the need for exports to maintain prices above the cost of production, but made no assurances that the grain would be loaded. Closer to home, at Houston where most of the export wheat is handled, consensus among grain trade and labor spokesmen is that there will be no stoppage of ship loadings and that the attention of the labor leaders to the Russian sales are political, designed to make gains in negotiations on other maritime matters.

Wheat Producer leaders from throughout Texas will be meeting in Amarillo, Thursday, August 7 to discuss these and related problems and opportunities for wheat.

Plant Breeders Seek Ways To Avert Crop Epidemics

Crop epidemics — like the famous potato blight that hit Ireland in the 1840's — are as old as history. But growing concern is being expressed by a number of U.S. agricultural scientists that the risk of epidemics has increased greatly in modern times.

Results to date indicate that valuable genetic variability exists in the wild species which can be used to develop improved breeding lines and hybrids. Yield increases ranging up to 35 percent have been reported.

Today most varieties of major U.S. crops are similar in genetic makeup. While this narrow genetic base has made high crop yields possible, it has also created what scientists call "genetic vulnerability."

If a genetically uniform plant variety should prove susceptible to new pests or to new strains of old ones, vast acres of the crop could be wiped out by a single insect or disease.

Through this approach, scientists hope to make it possible for farmers to harvest much larger crops in the future on just about the same amount of land they're using now.

To minimize this problem, reports the National Cotton Council, crop scientists in various parts of the country are investigating new approaches to plant breeding.

One such study at North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station involves the use of primitive plants. Scientists there are attempting to "resynthesize" some of the genetic variations in primitive plants and assess their potential value in improving cultivated varieties.

Two field days depicting a variety of crop research programs and special attractions have been announced by officials of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock and Halfway.

The tours, by way of tractor-pulled trailers, will leave the center's headquarters every 15 minutes throughout the afternoon, says Minton.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock has set Tuesday, September 9 for its 68th Annual Field Day. Two days later, Sept. 11, the Experiment Station at Halfway kicks off its field day with an exposition of agricultural research on the upper South Plains.

"Visitors are encouraged to stay as long as they wish at any stop and continue along the tour route when ever they get ready," he adds. "Tours should last about 45 minutes with a five-minute talk presented at each of the five field stops."

SSays Resident Director McBee, "A popular bumper tag says, 'If you eat you're involved in agriculture.' We believe this is true. We encourage everyone to come out to these field days to see what Help Wanted Commercial acreage of strawberries in Michigan has declined 60% in the last 13 years because of a lack of hand labor for harvesting.

TAES at Lubbock, which is headquartered at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, has scheduled for its field day a five-stop field tour along with machinery displays, ginning research tours and a special Extension Service seminar on home food processing.

Stops along the tour will include irrigation, sunflower, cottons, weeds and greenbug resistant sorghum varieties. Another point of interest for the Lubbock field day is a seminar on home food processing presented by County extension agents (home economics) of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says Minton.

Answer to puzzle

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK State Comptroller

Austin-Retailers operating illegally without a sales tax permit give us as many problems as permit holders who are delinquent in sending in the tax money they collect from their customers.

The sales tax permit is a green certificate issued without charge by the Comptroller to anyone going into the business of selling anything subject to the sales and use tax.

There are some 225,000 retailers holding valid sales tax permits at any given time. It's amazing that about 40,000 new permits are issued each year and another 40,000 permits go out of effect every year as retailers go out of business or change their name, location or legal status.

We have no way of calculating how many people might be operating without the permit, but we discover new ones week in and week out.

In some cases we discover retailers operating without a permit, are charging sales tax to their customers and simply putting the money in their pockets. In other cases we find that non-permit holders are not charging the tax.

But in either case, when we discover them the retailer is responsible under the law for all the back tax money he either has collected or should have collected.

I know that in a good many cases the retailer operating without a permit is doing so in honest ignorance of the law. Perhaps he thinks what he is selling is not subject to the tax or that the customers to whom he is selling are tax-exempt.

THE SCIENTISTS TELL ME ...

Shark Fishing Is A Growing Sport in Texas

Shark fishing is a rapidly growing form of sport fishing on the Texas coast. Members of the Corpus Christi Shark Association say they view sharks as big game. In fact, they often call it "poor man's big-game fishing."

Members of the Corpus Christi Shark Association say they view sharks as big game. In fact, they often call it "poor man's big-game fishing." So, they fish for shark primarily for the challenge or sport involved.

In spite of this, though, they aren't obsessed with catching sharks and enjoy the fishing experience whether they catch a shark or not.

In fact, the shark fishermen are avid fishermen for other kinds of fish, too, according to Dr. Robert B. Ditton who took part in a study of these fishermen.

Ditton, a marine recreation researcher with the Department of Recreation and Parks of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) did the study as part of a coastal recreation development project.

Surf fishing for shark is the most popular method and the fastest growing one. About 75 percent of the C. C. Shark Association members fished most often from shore (beach, 45 percent; pier, 10 percent; and jetties, 20 percent).

The remaining quarter of the group fished most often from oil rigs and boats off shore.

"Keepers" (shark over 6 feet long) were rare with the surf fishermen but caught frequently by those fishing off shore. In fact, in the previous year, three of those fishing off shore had caught a total of 50 "keepers".

Few shark fishermen expressed a fear or hatred of sharks, but instead considered sharks as magnificent big-game animals worthy of the angler's best efforts.

An interesting sidelight here is that shark fishermen in this study group are quite knowledgeable about sharks. Besides knowing how to fish for them, many understand a great deal about shark taxonomy, physiology and behavior.

And in this case, at least, familiarity breeds respect.

Although the most often expressed reason for shark fishing was the challenge or the sport of fishing, Ditton says, other hammerhead sharks grow to larger sizes and are harvested less frequently. Those who mentioned a particular species usually indicated the species which they had not yet caught or which they caught least frequently.

It is interesting that four anglers indicated that their fishing aspiration was to catch a great white shark (or manateer). None realistically expected to ever catch a member of this relatively rare species (especially in the Gulf), but all expressed a great sense of fascination. Perhaps this reflects several recent popular works devoted to the great white.

Another interesting sidelight is that those who caught the most sharks were also the most interested in catching a trophy shark.

Following this exploratory research, Ditton says the next logical research step should be to study a larger sample of shark fishermen. For those involved in recreation planning, this is an important step towards a better understanding of the sport of shark fishing and its place in coastal fishing.

Elton John and Ann-Margret are among David Frost's superstar guests for "Super Party: 'Tommy' Movie Premiere," a "Wide World: Special" to be broadcast on the ABC Television Network, Friday, August 8 (10:30 p.m.-12:00 midnight).

The program, which originally aired March 26, 1975, focuses on the first night celebration of the rock-opera movie, a celebrity soiree held at Hollywood's popular Studio One Club.

Elton John and Ann-Margret are seen in interviews taped separately with Frost in New York, discussing their roles in the film as the "pinball wizard" and as Tommy's mother.

"Call of the Wild"

"Call of the Wild," a two-hour NBC World Premiere Movie based on the classic Jack London novel, will be produced by Charles Fries Productions, Inc. for presentation during the 1975-76 season. It was announced by Stanley Robertson, Vice President, Motion Pictures for Television, NBC Television Network.

The script is being written by Pulitzer Prize winner (for poetry) James Dickey, who wrote the script for the movie "Deliverance" from his book of the same name. "Call of the Wild" will be his first TV venture.

The story is about a California ranch dog stolen and shipped to the Yukon during the gold rush days of the late 1890s. The dog eventually joins a pack of wolves and begins to turn into a wild animal.

Location for the film and casting will be announced later.

Elton John, the flamboyant star of rock-and-roll who sports wild costumes and wilder acrobatics at the keyboard, will host "The Rock Music Awards" special, to be broadcast live from the Santa Monica (Calif.) Civic Auditorium Saturday, Aug. 9 (9:00-10:30 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network.
