

County facing space problems in courthouse

By SHAWN COCKRUM
Staff Writer

Members of the Deaf Smith County Commission, along with District Judge David Wesley Gulley and District Attorney Roland Saul toured the courthouse Monday trying to derive a way to accommodate for lack of space in the district attorney's office and the district clerk's office.

A suggestion was made by Saul that his offices should be moved to east side of the fourth floor which was previously occupied by the Department of Human Resources. The proposed chain of events would then see the county Extension service move to the district attorney's office, and the district clerk's office would move to the present county Extension offices.

Renovations would have to be made to the old DHR offices before the district attorney's office could be moved there. The offices would have to be re-carpeted and painted and some of the offices would have to be enlarged. The estimated cost would be around $25,000.

Commissioners decided to call for specifications to be drawn up and bids be asked.

In other business the commission again tried to solve the problem of re-districting the county's voting lines. Under standards that went into effect Jan. 1, the county will not be allowed to have more than 2,000 registered voters vote at one polling place. Currently, there are more than the limit who vote at the county courthouse. (Precinct 2). In order for the county to conform to state regulations, some of the smaller districts will have to be combined, while the larger districts will need to be divided.

Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland will be trying to arrange the districts to both conform to the laws and still be convenient to the voters.

A decision will be made when Ruland can come up with a feasible plan for the commissioners to vote on.

Commissioners also discussed the idea of buying an automatic voting tabulator to decrease the costs of elections. Currently election officials count all ballots by hand. In order to manually count all the ballots, it takes three people per voting box. An automatic tabulator would be able to count all of the county's ballots in about three hours.

"If the automatic counter were to ever malfunction, we could easily count the ballots by hand," Ruland told the commission.

Commissioners decided to allow Ruland research the expenses of having automatic voting tabulators so a decision can be made during a future commission meeting.

Commissioners heard from County

Sheriff Joe Brown and Jailer David Castillo on the subject of new mattresses for the county jail. "We have had the same mattresses since I have worked here," Castillo stated. "And that has been over four years."

Castillo said that the county can

Farmers must accept big cuts to get support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower crop prices and large cuts in producing acreage would be imposed on farmers by the 1986 commodity program outlined by Agriculture Secretary John R. Block.

Farmers will have to accept lower price support "loan" levels in a move aimed at making U.S. crops more marketable overseas, Block said Monday.

The acreage cutbacks will be the maximums allowed by the new Food Security Act of 1985, the farm bill passed by Congress last month and signed into law by President Reagan.

The programs will affect wheat, feed grains, cotton and rice in 1986.

Agriculture Department officials said they could not estimate how much U.S. exports might improve because of the cuts in loan rates. The loan rate is the amount the government pays farmers for each crop. If market prices fall below the loan rate, farmers can post their crop as collateral and receive government loans at the guaranteed rates.

Thus, the loan rates effectively set the foreign prices of U.S. commodities. The administration contends foreign suppliers have been able to undercut relatively high U.S. commodity supports.

The loan rate for 1986 wheat crop, for example, will be $2.40 per bushel, compared with $3.30 for last year's harvest. Corn supports will be $1.92 per bushel, compared with $2.55 in 1985; barley, $1.56 and $2.08 last year; 99 cents for oats and $1.31 last year; and $1.82 for sorghum and $2.42 last year.

Loan rates for 1986 crops of cotton and rice will be announced later, Block said.

Under the acreage reductions announced for 1986, wheat farmers will have to idle 25 percent of their base acreage; feed grains, including corn, 20 percent; rice, 35 percent; and upland cotton, 25 percent.

Included in the reductions for wheat and feed grains is a 2½ percent paid diversion. Under the paid diversion program, farmers are paid for diverting land from production.

The new law froze target prices for two years at the 1985 rates, so no changes were made for those. Target prices are used to determine federal "deficiency" payments to farmers when market prices drop below the target levels.

Targets for 1986 are: wheat, $4.38 per bushel; corn, $3.03; sorghum, $2.88; barley, $2.60; and oats, $1.60.

Signup in the 1986 programs is expected to begin in March.

Block also announced some provisions of the dairy program, which includes an 18-month "whole-herd buy-out" operation intended to reduce the number of milk cows. The program is to begin April 1.

Under the plan, dairy farmers will submit sale bids for their herds based on base period milk marketings. If the government accepts the bid, the producer will be required to stay out of dairying for five years and not use or allow the use of his facilities for milk production during the entire period.

Block said producers will be required to submit evidence of the size and composition of their herds as of Jan. 1, 1985, and Jan. 1, 1986, and on the date the bid is submitted.

Taylor to tell today if he's leaving Herd

Jerry Taylor, athletic director and head football coach at Hereford High School, has been offered the head football coaching post at Odessa High School and will announce his decision this afternoon, it was confirmed by Supt. Harrell Holder this morning.

"Coach Taylor visited with me this morning," said Holder, "and he will announce his decision at 2:45 p.m. today." There had been news reports Monday on area television stations that Taylor was being interviewed in Odessa and was one of the top two candidates.

Should Taylor submit his resignation, said Holder, "we will include it as an emergency item

Renovations Needed

Renovations will have to be done in order to use the Fullwood Building for a juvenile probation facility. One of the second floor bathrooms tells the story of costs that may be expected in order to get the building to meet the standards set by

Hunger list perplexes counties

By The Associated Press

Texas topped the list of a Harvard study on the hungry counties of America, but some of those named don't consider themselves so poor, much less hungry.

"I think their statistics are as screwed up as they can be," said County Judge Dick Holmgreen of Brazos County, which was No. 46 on the Harvard list of the 150 hungriest counties and topped the list in Texas.

The "hunger counties," identified in a report by the Physicians Task Force on Hunger at the Harvard School of Public Health, were ranked based on the highest rates of poverty and lowest rates of participation in the food stamp program.

Texas was listed as having 29 "hunger counties," where more than 20 percent of the residents live below the federal poverty level — now $10,609 for a family of four — and fewer than one-third of eligible residents actually receive food stamps.

But Brazos has repeatedly posted among the lowest unemployment rates in the nation. Not only that, the county is the home of Texas A&M University, whose more than 30,000 students comprise a third of the population.

"I don't deny the fact we've got some low-income areas, but if there are people aware of actually hungry, I'm not aware of it," Holmgreen told The Dallas Morning News.

Voters need descriptive addresses

Deaf Smith County voters who use a post office box number or route number will be having to start using a descriptive address for voter registration, according to Deaf Smith County Clerk David Ruland.

Ruland said that the state has recently implemented regulations stating that voter officials will have to be able to find voter on a map if necessary. Voters who use box numbers or route numbers will be receiving a letter from the county clerk's office asking them to provide a physical description to their house. "Voters can either use block and section numbers, or landmarks and mileage," Ruland said.

If voters are using landmarks and mileage from Hereford, it is recommended that all mileage readings be taken from the intersection of Park and Highway 385.

Voters who do not receive any notice by March 1 are asked to contact the county clerk's office.

Reagan expected to name former official

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Dr. Richard Lyng, a former U.S. assistant of agriculture, is President Reagan's top choice for the secretary of agriculture cabinet post, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal reported today.

Lyng, the No. 2 U.S. Department of Agriculture official from 1981 until stepping down last year to start a consulting firm, will replace Agriculture Secretary John Block, the newspaper quoted an a Washington-based USDA official as saying.

Block resigned earlier this month, and the official, who requested anonymity, said Lyng would get the post during an interview with the Avalanche-Journal on pending farm programs.

"More will come after the new agriculture secretary is announced Wednesday," the official said, "after they announce Lyng."

When the official was asked to confirm that Lyng will take the top post, the source replied, "I would say that is right."

Lyng had been named as one of three top contenders for the position after Block said he would resign Jan. 7. Also named as possible candidates were current Deputy Secretary John Norton III and U.S. Trade representative Clayton Yeutter.

Trial to determine inmates' rights

HOUSTON (AP) — Mail among inmates often is a conduit for drug deals, prison violence and gang activities, an attorney representing the state of Texas told two federal judges.

Assistant Attorney General F. Scott McCown on Monday defended prison officials' decision last September to crack down on inmate-to-inmate mail at 13 Texas Department of Corrections units.

Attorneys for TDC and for plaintiff inmates appeared in court before U.S. District Judges William Wayne Justice and John Singleton in a battle over inmates' rights to correspond with one another.

TDC officials say inmate-to-inmate correspondence promotes deadly gang activity. But inmates' attorneys say letter-writing is a right that should not be denied the prisoners.

"Inmate-to-inmate mail is used to set up assaults and murders; it's used to set up gangs and facilitate gang activities," McCown said. "Inmate-to-inmate mail is the single most effective form of communications from one unit to another."

Singleton said limiting inmate correspondence would not necessarily thwart violence caused by the more than 1,230 gang members that officials say are housed in Texas prisons.

"How in the world are you going to justify a rule like this to accommodate 1,230 inmates out of 38,000?" Singleton asked. "I don't think you can make the TDC a safer place or a safer world just by changing a rule."

Saratoga moving toward Mediterranean

WASHINGTON (AP) — The aircraft carrier Saratoga and an accompanying battle group is reportedly steaming toward the Mediterranean to beef up U.S. naval forces which already include the carrier Coral Sea and affiliated ships.

The Saratoga and five accompanying combat ships had been deployed since November to the Indian Ocean, but are now moving northward through the Red Sea and will likely go through the Suez Canal this evening, Pentagon sources said Monday.

While confirming the new deployment orders, the sources continued to stress the Navy had been given no orders involving a retaliatory attack on Libya. The United States has accused Libya of supporting a Palestinian terrorist group that attacked the airports in Rome and Vienna on Dec. 27, killing 19 people.

Loss of Earth's ozone could be dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP) — New research suggests that depletion of the earth's protective ozone layer by man-made gases could be greater than previously thought and greater in far northern regions than toward the equator.

Ozone, a form of oxygen that is a pollutant near the ground helping to form smog, might even increase at low altitudes near the equator, according to a draft report prepared by 150 scientists from 11 countries.

The report, made available Monday, raised the question of whether the predicted stripping away of protective ozone might already be occurring, based on an unexplained but now confirmed "hole" that occurs in the springtime in the ozone layer above Antarctica.

Relatively high concentrations of ozone about 12 miles to 30 miles above the surface of the earth make life possible by screening out ultraviolet rays of the sun. Less ozone at high altitudes means more skin cancer, more crop damage, possible eye damage in some species of cows and a shorter life for plastics, scientists say.

NATO facilities step up terror alert

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — NATO officials in Denmark said today that security at the Western defense alliance's installations in Denmark and Norway had been increased due to warnings of possible Palestinian terror attacks.

Erik Alstrup, spokesman for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's local Baltap headquarters told The Associated Press that extra guards had been placed around its facilities and that surveillance had been increased.

"We are on a low level of increased alert," he said. Alstrup said the measures were taken following the international police organization Interpol's warning to the Dutch, Danish, Norwegian and Swedish governments last Thursday that terrorists might strike in the region.

Delegation to brief Vietnam on hearings

HONOLULU (AP) — The leader of a congressional delegation en route to Vietnam said he will brief that country's leaders about a planned U.S. Senate hearing on the possibility that Americans are still alive in Indochina.

Sen. Frank Murkowski, chairman of the Senate Veterans Affairs committee, heads a 26-member entourage that includes another senator and two congressmen traveling to Vietnam and Laos seeking further details on the fate of Americans — living or dead — in Southeast Asia.

Murkowski, who said his committee will hold hearings Jan. 29-30, said he does not rule out the possibility that Americans may still be alive in Vietnam or Laos nearly 13 years after the end of the war.

"I am not without a reasonable doubt," he said.

On Monday, a top Pentagon official said the Vietnamese government has pledged to investigate nearly 100 "live sighting reports" of missing Americans, which remain under scrutiny by the United States.

More than 500,000 aliens apprehended

DALLAS (AP) — Illegal aliens were caught at the Texas-Mexico border at the rate of more than 10,000 a week last year, and those currently entering the country are more apt than ever to displace American workers, immigration officials said.

Although many believe illegal aliens take only jobs U.S. citizens don't want, there is increasing evidence that more skilled laborers are entering the United States illegally, said Mario Ortiz, Immigration and Naturalization Service spokesman.

During the past few years, many of those entering the United States have been seeking jobs in construction and service-related industries, rather than traditional agricultural jobs, Ortiz said Monday.

"They pose more of a threat to American workers," he said.

Many illegal aliens also are making better wages than they have in the past, earning at or well above minimum wage, he said.

During 1985, at least 90 percent of the 561,054 illegal aliens apprehended along the Texas border last year were from Mexico, representing a 17.8 percent increase from 1984, Ortiz said.

"That's pretty significant," said Ortiz, adding that "98 to 99 percent" of those caught at the border returned voluntarily.

buy the mattresses and pillows from the Texas Department of Corrections at a reduced rate.

The commissioners decided to allow for the purchase of 70 mattresses for the jail.

The commission then heard from James Voyles and Colleen Duffey of the county juvenile probation office on the subject of using the Fullwood Building at Third and Lee as juvenile detention center. Voyles told the commissioners that the City of Hereford had already provided their backing in the use of the building. Voyles and Duffey asked the commission for their permission to research the costs of renovating the building to meet standards. The commission decided to give Voyles and Duffey the go ahead on compiling data and specifications needed to renovate the building.

The commission also decided Monday to allow Juanita Phillips of the Deaf Smith County Museum to attend a two-week seminar on museum management in Winedale, Texas. The money needed to attend the seminar will come out of the museum's budget.

In other business the commission: -Appointed Bobby Griego, Herman Benavides and Carl Kleuskens to the county salary grievance committee.

-Approved an order for all funds designated for the officers salary fund to be paid into and drawn from the general fund of the county.

-Approved an order that county precinct officers be compensated on salary rather than a fee basis for 1986.

-Appointed Austin Rose as Judge Pro Tem of the commissioners' court.

Heard from Donna West of the firm of Brown, Graham and Co. on the recent county audit. Ms. West presented the audit to the commissioners, and the commissioners will study the audit and vote to approve it at a later date.

WHITE

White's mother, Sarah Elizabeth Wells White, was a teacher in the Houston Independent School District for 36 years. When White signed House Bill 72, the sweeping school reform measure adopted in 1984, he had his mother's old desk brought to the Capitol for the ceremony.

White, first elected in 1982, has held fund-raising events across Texas and in cities outside the state, including New York, Los Angeles and Chicago.

The Democrat's re-election announcement is designed to draw attention to his efforts to improve public education.

"Education, I think, is probably going to be the major theme of the campaign," Ms. Monger said. "It's the thing he's most proud of."

White called the 1984 special legislative session to consider a wide-ranging school reform bill. He pushed that legislation, plus a companion $4.8 billion, three-year tax increase for schools and roads, and has repeatedly emphasized how much school reform was needed.

The legislation has brought numerous changes in Texas schools, including the controversial no-pass, no-play rule barring students from extracurricular activities if failing any course.

HUNGER

Max Townsend said, "We just don't have that many poor here. Of course, with this farming situation, that may change, too."

Harvard researchers admitted the study was based on statistics in government reports and said nobody had actually been there.

"We begin extensive field work in February. We may well start in Nevada," Judy dePontbriand, a spokeswoman for the task force, said in Boston. She said the report was "a blueprint for ongoing research."

Meanwhile, Collingsworth County Judge Zook Thomas acknowledged that his county did have a low per-capita income: "We've got a railroad spike plant, a bolt plant and a wrecking yard. Other than that, we're strictly agriculture."

But the judge said he knew most of the county's 4,600 residents and knew none who were hungry.

"We did have some elderly people who didn't want to go ask for them (food stamps,) but I think that's over with," Thomas said.

Most of the 29 counties identified in Texas are in West Texas and the High Plains area of the state.

Other "hunger counties" in Texas identified by the study were Motley, Wilbarger, Mason, Glasscock, Parmer, Hays, San Saba, McCulloch, Briscoe, Haskell, Brewster, Dickens, Jeff Davis, Caldwell, Concho, Menard, Limestone, Mitchell, real, Leon, Knox, Swisher, Red river, Walker, Milam and Sabine.

The Whitefaces tied for second in 1984 and finished third in 1985. In 10 seasons as a head coach, Taylor has a career record of 76-32-3.

Women should feel better

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I cannot ignore the letter published in your column recently by the woman who made the statement that being a mother is "at best a low-status occupation."

Does the lady really believe that the most important job a woman will ever do—namely, bringing up a child to be well-adjusted, healthy and a contributing member of society—is an insignificant accomplishment?

How dare she equate the role of a mother with something worthless and poorly paid? Who can begin to estimate the value and importance of a mother and the variety of tasks she performs during her life?

The world out there should be told that motherhood is the most noble and satisfying of all careers. It is time the media refrained from printing worthless opinions held by misguided females. Last year I became involved with the husband of a very good friend. I realize now it was a rotten thing to do to "Marie." I did it to hurt my husband because I thought he was cheating on me.

When she confronted me with the question, was I or was I not having an affair with her husband, I was sick of the deceit and didn't want to play games any longer, so I replied, "Ye, but it's all over." She looked stricken, said nothing and walked away.

I've made no attempt to contact "Marie" but she is on my mind constantly. Should I go to her and ask for forgiveness?

I've been married for 12 years and never thought I would ever do anything so cheap. I felt nothing for Marie's husband. (It wasn't even fun.) He just happened to be the one who propositioned me and I said yes because I was feeling unloved and unsure of myself.

JOB-CREATING COAL
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The State of Illinois has developed a program of offering low-interest loans to industrial users who build or adapt plants to burn Illinois coal, reports Energy User News.

Boosting local use of Illinois coal could generate an additional $2 billion in commerce within the state and create about 100,000 additional jobs, according to state officials.

Currently, more than 80 percent of the state's industrial users burn gas and oil produced elsewhere. Only about 15 percent of industrial boilers within the state burn Illinois coal now, and the state would like to raise this to 25 percent.

In mid-1985, the state Legislature committed $55 million in loans for the program over the next five years.

Local residents visit Tournament of Roses

Robert and Alice Thompson, escorts for Trailways Tours, returned this week from their annual Tournament of Roses Tour.

Annis Corbett from Hereford was one of the 83 people from the Panhandle area traveling on two buses.

Leaving Amarillo on Dec. 28, the group journeyed by way of El Paso and Phoenix, Ariz. to the Los Angeles, Calif. area. They spent a day at Disneyland and on New Year's Day viewed the Rose Parade from their reserved seats in the morning. From reserved seats they viewed the Rose Bowl Game in the afternoon.

After an overnight stay in Anaheim, Calif., the groups traveled to San Diego, Calif. for a morning visit to Sea World an afternoon cruise on San Diego Bay. Later they journeyed to Lawrence Welk Village for two nights. They attended a dinner and a musical program on Lawrence Welk Village Theatre. The next day, the travelers visited the San Diego Wild Animal Kingdom at Escondido, then returned to Lawrence Welk Village for a Starlight Dinner and overnight.

From Lawrence Welk Village the groups traveled to Las Vegas, Nev. for a dinner show at the Las Vegas Hilton starring Vic Dimone. Later, several attended shows at other hotels on the Las Vegas Strip, including the Stardust, Frontier, and Circus-Circus. Both groups were housed at the Union Plaza Hotel in downtown Las Vegas.

The tour returned to Amarillo Monday, visiting Hoover Dam and Lake Meade on the way home.

TICKETING BY SATELLITE
NEW YORK (AP) — With global tourism rapidly becoming computerized, an intriguing possibility is the future programming of satellite ticketing machines, reports Travel Agent magazine.

The publication says such travel agency ticketing devices could announce tariffs and departure times, giving information on travel tours, cruises and hotel room availabilities. Another possibility would be a television display terminal which could at the touch of a finger call up films of destinations, resort hotels and passenger services.

The piano was invented by an Italian harpsichord maker called Bartolomeo Cristofori, to remedy the harpsichord's inability to play soft, "piano" in Italian, and loud "forte."

Stomach ulcers lifestyle ailment

A burning, gnawing pain in the upper part of your stomach; a loss of appetite and weight; occasional vomiting—all of these can be symptoms of stomach ulcers.

Probably one in five men and one in ten women in Western nations get either a stomach ulcer or a peptic ulcer at some time. You are especially likely to develop a stomach ulcer if you smoke or drink heavily, if you consume large amounts of aspirin, if you are elderly, or if you are a manual worker, says the Texas Medical Association. Anyone whose job makes it impossible to have regular, unhurried meals is also more likely to develop an ulcer.

A stomach ulcer is a raw spot, often slightly more than an inch wide, that develops in the lining of the stomach. The exact cause of such ulcers is not known.

If your symptoms suggest that you have a stomach ulcer, try following the self-help procedures below. If pain persists for more than two or three weeks, consult your physician. A stomach ulcer will often heal completely if you stay in bed for about two weeks, eat small, frequent meals, take antacid pills to relieve pain, and avoid smoking and drinking alcohol. If your symptoms are not severe enough to justify two weeks in bed, try at least to eat little but often, to avoid alcohol, caffeine, and tobacco, and to sleep or rest as much as possible. If pain persists, even though antacids temporarily ease it, see your physician.

Your doctor may supplement the self-help measures by prescribing stronger antacids and a drug to try to speed up the normal healing process. Since about half of all peptic ulcers go away without treatment, no further treatment may be required. Your doctor will, however, probably want to examine you again.

If the ulcer does not heal after six to eight weeks of drug treatment, or if your recovery is only temporary, surgery may be advisable. Removal of a small portion of the stomach that contains the ulcer will generally eliminate the problem.

Hereford Garden Club members meet here

Members of Hereford Garden Club met recently in the home of Corene Smith of 710 Baltimore with Liz Wilson serving as co-hostess.

Lucy Fay Cocanougher talked about "Preserving Our Texas Heritage By Observing Arbor Day in Texas." She said that one way is to always look forward and never backward.

Ursalee Jacobsen showed slides from National Garden Club entitled "Our American Heritage—Preserve It For Texas." The slides exhibited various older plants that have proved hearty through the years.

Also, Lois Ethridge showed slides about "Environmental Protection."

Arrangements for the day included one entitled "How Dry I Am" by Bessie Hill in which she used grasses and dried daisies, and "Texas Treasurers" by Ethridge using grains in wind blown design.

Members present included Carmen Angel, Mable Mitchell, Cocanougher, Hill, Jacobsen, Ethridge and hostess.

Girl Scout Troop 282 participating in sale

Members of Girl Scout Troop 282 are now in the process of selling Girl Scout cookies. They are taking orders for the cookies and deliveries will be made in February.

Girl Scout cookie favorites, such as thin mints, do-si-dos, tagalongs, and trefails, will be offered. New cookies include pecan shorties, chocolate chunks and samoas.

By being a Girl Scout cookie salesman, each girl can help support her share of the cost to attend summer camp and other projects the group participates in.

Members of Troop 282 reported on various activities scheduled over the Christmas holidays. In December, a Christmas party was held at Playhouse Skating Rink where girls exchanged gifts. Also, members of the troop spent several evenings Christmas caroling.

Troop 282 meets every Monday from 3:30-5 p.m. at the Shirley Elementary School gym. These girls are first, second and third graders from Tierra-Blanca, Aikman and Shirley Schools.

Troop leaders are Debbie Stevens and Carolina Gonzales.

Members of the troop include Debra Stevens, Jeanne Gonzales, Tawanna Dragger, Rachel Denton, Meredith Denton, Cami Bainum, Olivia Carmono, Tara Hume, Erica Lopez, Michelle Williams, Misty Wilson.

Also, Jennifer Rampley, Anne Owens, Gina Brisendine, Dana Brisendine, Ernestine Garcia, Adelita Banda, Delfine Ramos, Misty Busby, Retha Treadway, Michelle Chand, Kelli Hester, Stephanie Zamora, Anna Coker and April Grayson.

RAST test can be useful

DEAR DR. GOTT — What is the RAST test for allergies?

DEAR READER — This complicated blood test, now available in kit form to doctors, is used to measure small amounts of protein antibodies. Once a person has developed an allergy, the body manufactures antibodies to neutralize the allergy-causing substance. These antibodies can be isolated and identified. The RAST test is useful in diagnosing small children and adults with troublesome rashes. Ordinarily, the older scratch-test technique is easier to perform, cheaper and is said to provide an allergist with equally important information.

DEAR DR. GOTT — After a woman stops the birth-control pill, how long does it take for menstruation to begin? When can she get pregnant? At what age is it best to stop taking the pill?

DEAR READER — Ordinarily, a woman will ovulate and menstruate within three to four weeks after stopping contraceptive pills. However, there is a broad range of normal responses, and some women may not menstruate for a few months after discontinuing the drug.

Pregnancy can occur almost immediately, depending on when the woman re-establishes her normal ovulatory pattern. Most women who stop the pill in order to become pregnant will become fertile within a cycle or two.

Many specialists recommend that women in midlife, by age 40, stop the pill and consider non-drug methods of contraception, including barrier devices, tubal ligations, or vasectomy for their partner. The risks of the pill — including the tendency to form blood clots in the leg veins — appear to be more common in older women, especially those who smoke.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Would you please comment on the role of pharmacists with respect to prescribed medicine?

DEAR READER — Pharmacists are highly trained, dedicated professionals who are licensed to dispense drugs from prescriptions supplied by physicians. But their true role does not end here; pharmacists are much more than dispensing robots. In my experience, pharmacists are invaluable sources for both doctors and patients. They are generally more knowledgeable than doctors about the drugs they prescribe. I often call on pharmacists for advice, and I know many other doctors do, too. Pharmacists are usually up-to-date about new medicine; they know about side effects; they can advise how to take medicine so that its efficiency is not compromised. They are aware of which drugs should be avoided in certain circumstances, and the ways in which drugs can react with others.

I value the pharmacists in my community and I use them for my continuing education. Their views are important. I wish more patients would treat their pharmacists as trained professionals who are a vital part of the health-care team.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Please tell me something about doctors who inject drugs into the spinal canal to cure shingles.

DEAR READER — To my knowledge, this is not an accepted method. I am sure that there are experimental techniques of this type, but they are not generally available or proved to be effective. In addition, the risks of such treatment are unknown. Shingles runs a variable course and rarely becomes chronic, so I would stay away from seemingly easy cures until they have been proved safe. New breakthroughs in treatment are usually promptly reported in reputable medical journals.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Will you tell me what I can and cannot eat or drink to do something about my cholesterol?

DEAR READER — As a general rule, cholesterol comes from food rich in animal fat. Therefore, you would want to avoid milk, cheese, cream, eggs, red meat and saturated fat. Don't eat fried foods. Substitute corn oil or safflower oil in salad dressings. You can obtain more specific individualized low-cholesterol diets by consulting the dietitian at your local hospital or asking your doctor.

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my newsletter, UNDERSTANDING CHOLESTEROL. Other readers who would like a copy should send 75 cents plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Cholesterol.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My problem is that for some time now, when I take a deep breath, I frequently have a pronounced feeling of pins and needles, mostly in my hands. I am a 52-year-old woman in generally good health, although I am a bit overweight and have a touch of arthritis. What could cause this?

DEAR READER — As you expand your lungs, you may be causing tissue to press against the arteries leading to your hands. This can result in a "falling-asleep" sensation in your upper extremities. Try losing some weight and see if that helps the situation by shrinking the tissues and allowing more freedom of circulation.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Just how healthy are vegetarians? I eat nothing but salads and drink lots of water, so I figure I'm in pretty good shape.

DEAR READER — Vegetarians are usually very healthy, providing they obtain enough nutrition in the form of protein, calories, vitamins and minerals. Your diet seems overly strict; in fact, I'd say it is inadequate. Try adding more whole grain foods and vitamin-mineral supplements. Cheese, milk and (if they are permissible to you) eggs may help round out your nutritional needs. Salads and water are not sufficient for animals other than the grazing kind. Vegetarians can overdo it, and, from the sound of things, you need a more realistic assessment of your fodder.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott in care of this newspaper at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

SODIUM IN TOBACCO

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Snuff and chewing tobacco may have a very high sodium content and may pose a threat to patients who must restrict their sodium intake, reports Family Practice News.

According to the medical journal, the sodium content of smokeless tobacco is comparable to that of such foods as cured, fried bacon and dill pickles, both of which are extremely high in sodium.

Significant amounts of sodium may be ingested by smokeless tobacco users, it notes, adding that the proportion of sodium absorbed from snuff and chewing tobacco has not yet been determined but may depend on whether the tobacco juice is swallowed or spit out.

Retirement!

RETIREMENT noun the act or condition of retiring; withdraw or remove.

George Washington once said, "Retirement is as necessary to me as it will be welcome."

When you think of retirement; images of sleeping late, going fishing, or unlimited travel probably come to mind.

At First National Bank, we want you to be able to enjoy your retirement. That's why we suggest an I.R.A., or Individual Retirement Account. With an I.R.A., the money you deposit is free of federal income taxes, along with the interest, until you retire. It's an excellent way to supplement your social security.

PRO FOOTBALL
MIAMI (AP) — Young but unflappable, the New England Patriots march on to another date with adversity that they so often turn into prosperity.
 Soon after their third upset victory of the National Football League playoffs Sunday, they were made substantial underdogs to the Chicago Bears in the Super Bowl Jan. 18 in New Orleans.
 "We lost to the Bears," said Patriots' offensive tackle Brian Holloway. "I think that's a factor in our favor."

The drive to make up for that 20-7 setback in the second game of the regular season is the same drive that motivated them to average a 30-27 loss to the Miami Dolphins here Dec. 16.

"We've known all along we could win down here," guard Ron Wooten said after New England snapped an 18-game Orange Bowl losing streak by rolling over the Dolphins 21-14 in Sunday's AFC title game. "When we lost the Miami game, that gave us more conviction."

By beating the New York Jets, Los Angeles Raiders and Dolphins, an unprecedented three-game road playoff sweep, the Patriots paid back three of the five teams that beat them during the regular season.

That isn't all the adversity that strengthened rather than shattered a club whose starters' average age is just 27.6 years, experienced enough to have jelled yet young enough not to be frustrated by the team's failure to win a playoff game during the past 21 seasons.

At the end of last season, the Patriots had a porous offensive line. It has tightened into a solid unit.
 In Sunday's game, substitute punt returner Roland James lost two fumbles. He remained unshaken.

On the first play after the second fumble, Dan Marino threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Tony Nathan to cut New England's lead to 24-14, but the Patriots still were optimistic.

"There was a lot of noise," said linebacker Don Blackmon. "Everybody didn't play the same coverage. It left a void in the defense, which he (Nathan) found."

"We never lost confidence because we knew it was a mistake in coverage," James, who filled in after Irving Fryar suffered a deep cut in his right little finger, said, "I didn't execute. That doesn't mean I'm going to crawl in a hole."

"I told Roland, 'don't worry about it,'" Blackmon said. "He said, 'I'm not worried, I'm going to get it back.'"

The Patriots also had something to make up for on offense. Their line allowed Tony Eason to be sacked 26 times in the last five games of 1984.

The protection was so good Sunday that the Dolphins didn't get to him once on the muddy field. After the game, his uniform was unsoiled. The offensive linemen also spearheaded the Miami defenders to spearhead a 58-carry, 255-yard ground attack.

Judging by the Patriots' status as underdogs, there will be a lot of surprised people if they pull a fourth consecutive upset by beating Chicago. After shutting out their two playoff opponents, the Bears have won 17 of their 18 games this season.

"It's just another game that we won't be expected to win," said Patriots' running back Craig James.

PRO FOOTBALL
LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — Coach Mike Ditka had a long-range plan for acquiring players that shortened the Chicago Bears' route to their first Super Bowl.

After compiling a 15-1 record in Ditka's fourth season, the NFC champion Bears marched to a showdown with the New England Patriots via stout victories over the New York Giants and Los Angeles Rams. Never had a team posted back-to-back shutouts in the National Football League playoffs.

The Bears, who beat the Giants 21-0 and the Rams 24-0, play a team that, with visitor status in the AFC, whipped the New York Jets, Los Angeles Raiders and Miami Dolphins. The Bears and Patriots meet Jan. 26 at the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans.

"Our long-range plan was to get players with good attitude, good character and enthusiasm," Ditka said Monday.

"The big changes came between the first and third year when we had about 20 player changes," said Ditka, chosen in 1982 by his mentor, the late George Halas, to succeed Neff Armstrong.

John Ritter among hosts of cerebral palsy telethon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Ritter has more than a casual interest in his duties as a host of the national cerebral palsy telethon.

His brother, Tom, is a victim of the disease, which causes brain damage. They are the sons of the late Tex Ritter, a singer and cowboy movie star. Despite his disability, Tom Ritter is a music publisher, host of a country music show on radio station KCSN and the Southern California chairman of the telethon. He also has a law degree.

"Our Dad wanted both of us to go to law school," said John, "but Tom's the only one who listened."

Tom Ritter will appear on the 21-hour "Weekend With the Stars Telethon" this Saturday and Sunday. "I'll be interviewing and talking to people with disabilities," Tom said. "You can't cure cerebral palsy because it causes brain damage. But you can alleviate some of the effects and detect and prevent the problems that lead to it. Most cerebral palsy occurs prenatally or at birth. But you can acquire it later in life through a head injury. Some children acquire it through child abuse."

Tom was born with cerebral palsy, although it was not diagnosed until he was 14 months old.

Tom obtained his law degree from Vanderbilt University in Tennessee and now is studying for the California Bar examination. His disease, which causes lack of muscle coordination and speech disturbances, is hardly noticeable. He speaks clearly and walks with only a slight limp.

John Ritter and Henry Winkler will be hosts of the Los Angeles segments of the telethon. Wayne Newton, Florence Henderson and Dennis James will be the hosts in New York.

Gavin MacLeod will preside over segments broadcast live from "The Love Boat" set, with Scott Baio from Disneyland, Hal Linden from the Imperial Palace in Las Vegas, and Robert Guillaume from the Improv in Los Angeles.

The national portion of the telethon will take up 20 minutes of each half hour and 10 minutes will be used by the local stations. Approximately 90 stations will participate in this year's telethon.

The United Cerebral Palsy telethon is the oldest in the nation. It began in 1950 as regional "pledge-a-thons."

John said more than $17 million was raised by the telethon last year. He added that 85 percent of the money stays in the region where it was pledged.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Treat herbs as floral bouquet

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — I can buy fresh basil all year in my produce market, but I need to know how to store the fresh herbs when I get them home. How long will fresh basil keep in the refrigerator? — CINDY

DEAR CINDY — The best method is to put the stems of the herbs in a jar filled with fresh water (don't let the water level get as high as the leaves; stems only should be immersed). This is like putting a bouquet of flowers in a vase of water.

Cover the top loosely with a plastic bag and store the jar with the herbs in it in the refrigerator. You can keep them this way for about a week.

To store the leaves a bit longer, remove the leaves from the stems and put them in a jar, then cover these with vegetable oil. Again, refrigerate. They'll keep for several weeks.

You may use the leaves as though they were fresh and you can also use the flavorful oil in salads and for cooking.

I'm sending you a copy of my newsletter "Grow Your Own Herb Garden" which has methods for freezing and drying herbs as well as instructions for growing herbs indoors and out.

Others who would like a copy of this newsletter should send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1216, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to include the title. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — If you make your own mayonnaise, experiment with zipping up the flavor by adding various spices and herbs. I've made flavorful mayonnaises with cayenne pepper, tarragon, basil, minced garlic, lemon-pepper seasoning, oregano and dill.

Thin the mayonnaise with a little cream for instant salad dressing. I've even made mayonnaise flavored with cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves to use over fruit salads. Delicious and different! — MRS. B.K.

DEAR POLLY — Minced cooked shrimp makes an elegant and flavorful garnish for tossed salads. — GERRI

DEAR POLLY — How does one clean a straw hat? This is a traditional boater that was my father's. — MRS. H.C.D.

DEAR MRS. H.C.D. — For regular maintenance all that's usually needed is frequent brushing with a soft brush and occasional wiping with a cloth dampened in mild sudsy water, then rinsing with a cloth dipped in clear water. Let the hat dry quickly and thoroughly before wearing or putting it away. If the straw has darkened with age and infrequent cleaning, you can try cleaning it with a cloth dipped in a solution of three parts rubbing alcohol to one part water. Be very careful not to get the straw hat too wet, or it may shrink. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Here's a tip for anyone who makes a lot of jam and has spare pumpkin (either freshly cooked, frozen or canned).

Use one part pumpkin puree to every two parts fruit in your favorite jam recipe. The pumpkin is bland and takes on the flavor of the fruit. It stretches your favorite recipe considerably. Do not add extra sugar for the pumpkin. — MRS. R.C.F.

DEAR POLLY — To remove tomato stains from plastic containers, I place the container in the sun for a few hours. The stain usually disappears quickly.

I never have any confusion over whether dishwasher contents are clean or dirty. If the washer is latched, the contents are clean. If unlatched, they are dirty.

If I remove a few clean items prior to total unloading, I'm always sure to re-latch the dishwasher so I know the dishes are clean. — DIANE

INSTANT MEMORIES
LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new instant audio-visual slide show in which an audience sees itself minutes after being photographed by a camera crew has been developed by a Los Angeles company for business presentations. The color slide production can be shown within 10 minutes of photographing the last picture, according to Marc Rosenthal, owner and producer of the multimedia film and video company, Personal Creations. The system uses Polaroid's new Polachrome 35mm instant slide film and a highly coordinated team of photographers, processors and editors, along with a sophisticated computer which controls the projectors and stereo soundtrack, Rosenthal explained.

Search of crash site could take many months

GANDER, Newfoundland (AP) — U.S. Army experts are likely to take two months or more to complete a painstaking search of the rocky hillside where a chartered troop carrier crashed last month, killing 248 soldiers and eight crew members, officials said.

In 1974, the U.N. General Assembly granted observer status to the Palestine Liberation Organization.

China took its seat as a permanent member of the U.N. Security Council in 1971.

The Italian tenor Enrico Caruso made his American debut in 1903 at New York City's Metropolitan Opera House.

knees in temporary plastic shelters, personnel from the Army's graves registration service picked with trowels, rakes and gloved hands Monday at the damp stony earth, looking for clues to identify more than half of the bodies from the Dec. 12 crash.

So far, only 120 bodies have been identified and returned to their families for burial. The rest are at the Dover Air Force Base in Delaware.

Heavy rains Monday night on top of a four-inch snow blanket promised to make the work even tougher, especially since much colder weather is predicted later this week.

"The primary job here is to recover remains and parts of the plane," said David Owen, the Canadian Aviation Safety Board's deputy investigator-in-charge for the crash probe.

A U.S. Army contingent of 43 people led by Maj. Gen. John S. Crosby arrived in Gander last week to prepare for the search. About 30 Canadian police officials are assisting.

Workmen have erected about a dozen 33-foot-square wooden frames covered with plastic sheeting, which are warmed with propane heaters to melt the snow before the search of each section begins.

When one square has been scoured, the workmen pull down the shelter and set it up again in a new spot. They are hoping to find watches, wallets, rings, clothes, body parts or anything else that might help fit names to the still-unidentified bodies.

Coast Guard, Mrs. Cook watch out for seamen

HARVEY CEDARS, N.J. (AP) — Fishermen who sail out of Barnegat Light depend on God, the Coast Guard and Mary Louise Cook, who keeps an ear on nautical communications from her dining room, except for Thursday mornings when she shops for groceries.

Mrs. Cook, 66, connects sick deck hands with hospital emergency rooms, alerts crew members whose wives have gone into labor, and reassures anxious mothers that their sons are safe.

Sometimes a captain will call her to have police waiting at the dock to pick up rowdy seagoing drunks.

Mrs. Cook, who uses the radio name "Sand Dollar," keeps her VHF and sideband radios on daily from about 8 a.m. until 11 p.m. except for Thursdays, when she has that previous engagement.

She has been the sailors' friend for about 16 years, since she took over the duty from a friend, Bill Wengel, a blind, double amputee nicknamed "Teddy Bear." When he died "it was just wished on me," Mrs. Cook said.

She and her husband, Howard, built a summer home in Harvey Cedars in 1952 and moved here permanently in 1968.

Crews on extended fishing trips from Barnegat Light, a nearby island borough in south-central New Jersey, touch base with "Sand Dollar" every few days to let her know they're OK and when they expect to be back in port.

An infrequent sailor, Mrs.

Cook also calls the National Weather Service daily with reports on visibility, winds and sea conditions she gets from boaters.

Like a mother who detects a child's slightest sound, she always is poised to hear, "Come in Sand Dollar."

"You don't listen. Your ear is tuned," Mrs. Cook explained in a recent interview. "We can have music on, TV on, a crowd of people, I just hear when somebody calls me."

"Although it's not official as a title of any sort, she really is a lifesaver to a lot of people," said Nancy Gallimore, wife of a fisherman. "Crewmen that are injured — they don't call the Coast Guard, they call Sand Dollar."

When Mrs. Cook first took up her radio chores, fishermen were using citizen's band radios for land-to-sea communication. By the early 1970s, most were using VHF, and Mrs. Cook got her first Federal Communications Commission license to operate such equipment in 1976.

Her sideband, which broadens her listening capabilities by picking up transmissions either side of the normal frequency, was a gift from fishermen in 1982. A telephone patch that lets her connect boats to doctors, emergency personnel and mechanics on land was a Christmas gift from her husband.

Lights blink constantly across her scanner and voices in conversation from faraway places come into her home a block from the dunes on the narrowest part of Long Beach Island, a summer resort.

"It's better to me than TV," said Mrs. Cook.

Mrs. Cook said the satisfaction of helping the fishermen and other boaters makes her hobby worthwhile. "And they don't forget you," she added, sitting in her home surrounded by gifts from the fishermen — a music box, poinsettias, and a stock of her favorite Irish cream liquor.

Winter Driving Tips:

With less daylight hours and more adverse weather conditions ahead, safe driving habits are a must.

Leave enough room between you and the car in front of you to make an emergency lane change. Watch for tail lights of the vehicle two cars in front of you. Be prepared to slow down or stop if necessary.

When waiting at a red light, wait a few seconds before proceeding on a green light. The driver coming through the intersection may be speeding up to beat the red light.

Leave your headlights on low beam when approaching other vehicles at night. If the approaching car has its headlights on bright, glance to the right side of the road and avoid looking directly at the oncoming lights. This will prevent you from becoming momentarily blinded.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled unanimously in 1971 that arbitrary discrimination against women is unconstitutional.

The Newspaper BIBLE

NOT EVEN A BILLION COULD BUY IT!

When the apostles back in Jerusalem heard that the people of Samaria had accepted God's message, they sent down Peter and John.

As soon as they arrived, they began praying for these new Christians to receive the Holy Spirit. For as yet He had not come upon any of them. For they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. Then Peter and John laid their hands upon these believers, and they received the Holy Spirit.

When Simon saw this—that the Holy Spirit was given when the apostles placed their hands upon peoples' heads—he offered money to buy this power. "Let me have this power too," he exclaimed, "so that when I lay my hands on people, they will receive the Holy Spirit!"

But Peter replied, "Your money perish with you for thinking God's gift can be bought! You can have no part in this, for your heart is not right before God. Turn from this great wickedness and pray. Perhaps God will yet forgive your evil thoughts—for I can see that there is jealousy and sin in your heart."

"Pray for me," Simon exclaimed, "that these terrible things won't happen to me." After testifying and preaching in Samaria, Peter and John returned to Jerusalem, stopping at several Samaritan villages along the way to preach the Good News to them too. Acts 8:14-25
