

Al Daniels given Bull Chip at Fun Breakfast

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

The contestants knew trouble was ahead when masters of ceremonies Charlie Bell and John Stagner reassured them with statements like "Don't Worry" and "No big deal."

It was just another one of the games at Thursday morning's Fun Breakfast, sponsored by Hereford Regional Medical Center and the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Medicine was the overall theme of the breakfast, which featured games, announcements, door prizes and presentation of the Bull Chip Award to Al Daniels.

While most of the events were humorous, the tone sobered as past chamber president Speedy Nieman took the stage to present the Bull Chip.

Daniels, 69, was described as "a man who chose to minister to his neighbors," when the Bull Chip award was presented.

The Daniels moved to Hereford in 1978, and Al retired from Moorman Manufacturing Co. after 20 years service in 1981. He owned and operated Rainbow Car Wash until three or four years ago.

Active in Golden K Kiwanis Club, Daniels is a past president and former "Kiwanian of the Year." He is a leader in many club fundraising projects. He has worked on the city triangle park and helped install a sprinkler system at Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

Daniels is a volunteer worker at the Senior Center, and he has put in gardens at Golden Plains Care Center and Hereford Care Center for several years. He recently completed a tree-planting project and installed a drip irrigation system at Hereford Care Center.

A participant this year in the HOSTS program at a local school, Daniels also helps senior neighbors in the winter by cleaning ice and snow off their sidewalks and drives. Daniels received a standing ovation from the full-house crowd at the 6:30 a.m. breakfast.

The breakfast started off with a game in which participants paired off into three teams. One member donned a hospital smock, hair covering and held a bedpan, while the other team member tried to squirt water from a specimen bottle through a syringe into the bedpan.

Later, four other participants were called on stage to play "Dress For Success" in which one person had to dress another in full surgical garb -- with all four wearing blindfolds.

Cheers and laughter filled the room as Al Daniels and Steve Wright struggled to put the scrub shirt, scrub pants, mask, hair covering, gloves, shoe covers and apron on with the help of their partners.

Finally, newly-elected hospital board members Steve Cortez, Dean Crofford and Larry Watts were the pigeons for the last game as they were asked to play a rock drum, drive an imaginary sports car and cluck like a chicken, while the audience heard the rest of the story -- that they were to act like they would if they were alone in a hospital room, sitting on a

Kings Manor considering sale of Hereford facility

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

Two major announcements were made Wednesday by Kings Manor Methodist Home president Joyce Lyons, one involving its future and one relating to a $350,000 donation made recently to the facility.

On June 1, Mrs. Lyons said, Kings Manor's board of trustees will hear a proposal from Sears Methodist Retirement Systems Inc. of Abilene to purchase the entire assets of Kings Manor.

"At the present time no formal offer has been made," she said, but an executive team from Sears Methodist was in Hereford on Monday to examine the property and look over the books and financial records preparatory to making such an offer.

She said the board of directors was urged on by the Methodist hierarchy and the local Methodist church "to explore the possibility of a deal with Sears Methodist."

"It's my understanding this was put in motion by the bishop of the Northwest Conference" and supported by the superintendents and pastors within the conference.

Kings Manor, she said, is a "self-perpetuating corporation" that is "related in mission to the Northwest Conference" of the United Methodist Church.

"We are not owned or operated by the church."

Like Kings Manor, she went on, Sears Methodist "has a mission related to the conference."

The company operates retirement homes in Abilene and in Amarillo, where Canyons Retirement Home is located in the old Northwest Texas Hospital location.

If the sale goes through, Mrs. Lyons said, there will be some changes made, most notably a decrease in local control over Kings Manor.

However, she said, no details of any management structure, financial arrangements or any other facets of the sale have been completed at this time.

Also Wednesday, Mrs. Lyons explained the recent donation to the facility.

"Kings Manor has received a substantial gift from a West Texas family," Mrs. Lyons said.

The Mr. and Mrs. Dean Headstream Estate has made a bequest to the home "in excess of $350,000," she said.

The family had given previous donations to Kings Manor, she went on, but both have since died and the last bequest had been made in their will.

No decision has been made about uses of the money, Mrs. Lyons said.

"The board of trustees will decide the best way to spend the money."

HISD board elects '94-'95 leadership

The look of the Hereford Independent School District board of trustees changed on Wednesday as a new trustee took office and a new slate of officers was elected.

The board met in special session to certify the May 7 election and swear in Randy Tooley and Ron Weishaar, who were elected to the board.

Six of the seven trustees were on hand at the start of the session, with outgoing District 3 trustee Raymond Schlabs -- who was upset by Tooley by a 98-71 county -- absent.

The election was certified by the board on a 6-0 vote, then Weishaar, who represents District 1 and Tooley were sworn into office by Executive Secretary Carolyn Hiltbrunner.

Following the move, Tooley took his place on the board and election of officers was held.

Weishaar, who has served as board president the past year, was nominated by Trustee Mike Veazey to serve a second year at the helm of the Board vice president Steve Wright was nominated by Trustee Jim Marsh as president.

Wright was elected on a 4-3 count and took over the center seat to preside over the remainder of the meeting.

Wright then nominated Marsh to be vice president and Joe Flood nominated Veazey for the office.

Marsh won the seat on a 3-2 count after both he and Veazey abstained from voting.

Veazey finally was elected secretary of the board on a 6-0 vote from which he abstained after he was the only one nominated for the office.

In the only other action facing the board Wednesday, trustees voted unanimously to approve out-of-district transfers for the 1994-95 school year.

Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt explained that the transfers must be approved and submitted to the state. The district quit granting those transfers several years ago, but have allowed previous transferees to continue attending Hereford schools until they and their family members graduate.

This year, 18 children -- 15 from Dimmitt and three from Walcott -- applied for transfers.

Greenawalt said the number of applicants will decrease as the affected students graduate.

The special interview for the breakfast was "Dr. Red Puke," who discussed medical services available at HRMC and gave medical counsel to a woman asking about a "Mammy Gram."

The breakfast ended with an attempt to give away $100 to a chamber member present at the breakfast.

Stagner and Bell drew three names -- Billy Joe Wall, Shirley Wilson and Sid Shaw -- but none were present, so the pot rises to $150 for the next breakfast.

In between the games and interviews, numerous announcements were made, including the following:

-- Rita Bell announced that the 1994 Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant will be held here on June 11 with 12 contestants. Eight of those girls -- Gabriela Gamez, Jennifer Holmes, Fidelia Hernandez, Sarah Wagner, Aimee Ally, Beth Weatherly, Lexi Sciumbato and Lori Wilburn -- were at the breakfast.

Mrs. Bell invited everyone to attend the pageant, which will have a theme of "An Evening in Paradise." -- James Wright announced that the "California Cuties" baseball team will be here on June 5 at the Kids Inc. field. The group was founded in the 1940s by a group of men who dress as women. The troupe will play five regular innings of baseball, then two innings of show ball against a team of local celebrities.

-- Wade Easley of the Hereford Beautification Alliance thanked everyone for making the group's April clean-up project a success. He said they are now working on developing local parks and said future announcements will be made on this project.

T-Shirts and HBA memberships also were sold.

-- Jim Holston of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program told the audience that 10,798 hours of volunteer service have been given here.

-- Margie Daniels of the Hereford Senior Citizens Center said the annual Pancake Supper will be held on May 27. Cost is $3.50 and everyone is invited to attend.

-- Bettie Dickson announced that Hereford Day Care will sponsor a summer recreation program at Bluebonnet School this summer for children who will be 6 by Sept. 1 through those age 12.

City hires gang leaders as counselors; citizens irate

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - City leaders say it was policy borne of frustration. Others think it's just plain crazy.

Phones have been ringing steadily at Fort Worth police headquarters and call-in radio shows for two days since the city decided to hire gang leaders to counsel youths against their lifestyle.

Councilman Chuck Silcox, the lone opponent, said he too has been inundated with calls against the policy, which he views as "paying the bad guys."

"A good number of rank-and-file police officers seem to feel the same way, as do a lot of citizens, because my phone has been ringing off the wall," said Silcox, who spoke on several talk shows Wednesday, including Larry King's nationally syndicated program.

"I haven't gotten one call that says I'm wrong," said Silcox. But council member McKinley Jackson the measure has received support in his East Side district, which is primarily black.

"The outcry from the white community has been far louder than the outcry from the black community," Jackson told The Dallas Morning News.

"I've got a 10-year-old kid in my church with a bullet in his head. I've got a young man who was shot in the throat," Jackson said.

The council voted 8-1 Tuesday to pay six gang leaders $204 a week to visit schools and civic organizations and to mediate disputes.

"It's one of those ideas, if it works, they'll think it's a great idea, if not, they may run me out of town," said Police Chief Thomas Windham, who initially didn't embrace the plan then recommended it to the council.

Since a beefed up gang task force and other enforcement measures seem to haven't curbed gang violence, Windham said the new strategy is "worth a try."

So far this year, police say there have been 56 drive-by shootings and 10 gang-related homicides in this city of 450,000.

"If we can save a few lives, this effort will be well worth the small investment in dollars and the tremendous amount of criticism we're dealing with," he said.

Cameron Fairchild, managing editor of KRLD radio in Dallas, said the calls have been negative. On radio station WBAP in Fort Worth, phone lines buzzed for hours with callers.

Obituaries

JAMES M. GOEBEL May 10, 1994

Former Hereford resident, James M. Goebel, 58, of Amarillo, died Tuesday, May 10, 1994, in Amarillo. Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at Bell Avenue Chapel of Schooler-Gordon-Blackburn-Shaw Funeral Directors of Amarillo. Officiating will be the Rev. Pat Hoffman of St. Laurence Cathedral. Burial will be in Llano Cemetery.

Mr. Goebel was born in New Hampton, Iowa. He married Patricia Ann Pirkel June 9, 1962, in Mason City, Iowa. He worked as a salesman for Armour Meat Company in Mason City for 35 years before moving to Hereford in 1975 and then to Amarillo in 1985. He was employed by Wal-Mart as a stocker. He was a Catholic.

Survivors include his wife Pat Goebel of the home; two daughters, Celia O'Rand of Carrollton and Cindy Hinkel of Alvin; a son, Greg Goebel of Arlington; a sister, Joanne Johnson of Altonquin, Ill.; eight grandchildren; and numerous stepbrothers and sisters.

The family, who will be at 3103 S. Jackson St. in Amarillo, requests memorials to the American Heart Association.

Fancher is new CEO for Atmos

DALLAS (AP) - Atmos Energy Corp. says chief executive officer Charles Vaughan will retire Oct. 1 but stay on as board chairman.

Atmos president and chief operating officer Ronald Fancher will become president and chief executive officer June 1.

Vaughan, 56, has been with Atmos since 1957. He became chairman, president and chief executive officer when the company became independent from Pioneer Corp. in 1983. Fancher was named president in March 1993.

Dallas-based Atmos Energy provides natural gas service to some 650,000 customers in six states through its operating companies: Energas Co., Greeley Gas Co., Trans Louisiana Gas Co. and Western Kentucky Gas Co.

"I'd like to say that I'm a licensed drug counselor, and I can't find a job, and I wondered if it'd make it easier for me to get a job if I went out and got high or something," said a caller named Katrina.

A caller named Sally said the program will show that "crime does not pay, but being good and doing something for society and improving your subculture does pay."

Windham says the program, which will be funded with $68,448 from the police department's seized assets account, isn't a reward. Similar programs have been tried in at least two other cities.

In a similar program in Los Angeles, Detective Michael Vaughan said gang members committed crimes while using county vehicles.

But a Denver group says their program so far has been a success.

Since last summer, the non-profit Piton Foundation has hired four gang members to communicate with rival factions and to visit schools and business groups.

Bridal shower is held for Heather Johnson

Heather Johnson, who was scheduled to marry Jeff Hicks late Thursday afternoon, was honored with a bridal shower Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Herb Vogel.

Guests were greeted by the honoree; her mother, Nanette Johnson; the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Mark Hicks; and his grandmothers, Mrs. Dean Bradley and Mrs. Donald Hicks. Registering guests were Stacy Crowell of Fort Stockton and Ashley Bridge.

Melinda Bridge and Ann McClarty served refreshments of mock amaretto punch, fruit tray, vegetable bars and assorted tea cookies.

The refreshment table was centered by a fresh floral arrangement in shades of pink and pink candles in crystal holders. Appointments of silver coffee service and crystal further enhanced the table setting.

Table lamps were presented to the honoree by the hostesses: Gayle Binder, Joy Bunch, Mary Carter, Margaret Ann Durham, Paula Edwards, Diana Griffin, Beverly Harder, Helen Higgins, Martha Layman, Micah Noland, Deloris Phipps, Judy Phipps, Dorothy Prowell, Charlene Sanders, Sandra Saul, Sue Sims, Mysedia Smith, Kathy Urbanczyk, Loretta Urbanczyk, Elizabeth Vogel and Shirley Wilson.

Commencement set Saturday

May commencement exercises at West Texas A&M University will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Cal Farley Coliseum at the Amarillo Civic Center. There will be 429 baccalaureate and 103 master's candidates who have applied for May graduation.

The commencement address, titled "The Risk of Not Taking Risk," will be delivered by Donald W. Hodges, president and majority shareholder of First Dallas Securities, Inc.

A member of Canadian High School's class of 1952, Hodges graduated from West Texas A&M University in 1956 and began his investment career with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith in Oklahoma City in 1960. He moved to Dallas in 1968 and joined Rauscher, Pierce, Refsnes in 1974. He was named one of the top 20 brokers in the nation in 1981 by Registered Rep magazine and was appointed president of the firm in 1983.

Hodges founded First Dallas Securities, Inc. in 1989, serves as its president and majority shareholder and inaugurated a new fully registered mutual fund, The Hodges Fund, in 1992.

Hodges is married to the former Freddie Donaldson, also of Canadian and a 1955 graduate of WTAMU.

During commencement, WTAMU President Barry B. Thompson will announce recipients of the university's teaching, research and graduate faculty excellence awards and will present a gold pin Leon Trell, associate professor of accounting, commemorating his selection as a Piper Professor of 1994. Recognition as a Piper Professor is bestowed upon 10 of the state's most outstanding higher-learning educators each year by the Minnie Stevens Piper Foundation.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Michael English gave back his Gospel Music Association awards in shame, but the group will return the trophies if he changes his mind.

English shocked the gospel music world last week when he said he was giving up his career because of "mistakes that I have recently made."

Though he didn't specify his sins, association president Bruce Koblish confirmed what industry sources told The Associated Press - he had an affair with fellow gospel singer Marabeth Jordan.

Both are married. The association said Monday that English won the Dove Awards fairly so he can reclaim them if he wants. The Doves are gospel's equivalent of the Grammys.

"The Gospel Music Association is not a policing organization," the association's board said in a statement. "The recent events that have taken place in no way invalidate the voting process nor the April 28th results of the Dove Awards winners."

English won or shared six Dove Awards, including top entertainer.

Herd gets refocused for playoffs with Frenship

Hastings gets the call

The Herd baseball team will send Ray Hastings to the mound for Friday's first game of the bi-district playoff series with Frenship, which starts at 4:30 p.m. in Wolforth.

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford baseball team used the week and a half since a disappointing end to the regular season to refocus on what it was doing right in the middle of the season.

The Herd (12-11-1) will try to turn it around in the bi-district round of the state playoffs, meeting Frenship (17-10) in a best-of-three series starting at 4:30 p.m. Friday in Wolforth. The second game will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at Whiteface Field. If necessary, the third game will follow 20 minutes after the second game.

The Herd needed a new approach. After the team won eight out of ten games to clinch a playoff spot, it finished with an 8-2 loss to Randall and a 16-5 loss to District 1-4A champion Borger.

"The two weeks we've had to prepare for Frenship allowed us to realize what got us where we are, and that's playing fundamental baseball," first-year coach J.J. Villarreal said. "Our guys are taking the approach that it's a privilege to be in the playoffs. With that approach and fundamental baseball, we're going to go and compete well."

Frenship, the champion of District 2-4A this year, advanced all the way to the state 4A finals last year before losing.

"They're a solid ballclub," said Villarreal, who was able to watch them play one game recently. "The only pitcher I've seen is Chad Reynolds. He's a right-hander, he throws pretty firm, and he's thrown in the state tournament.

"The thing about Frenship is they have a tradition," he said. "They've been in the playoffs, and most of their kids know how to play in the playoffs. That experience will help them."

Complete statistics were not available for the Tigers, but with two games left in the regular season they had six players batting above .300: centerfielder Donnie Hart, .386 (with 28 RBI); designated hitter Michael Hardy, .344; Reynolds, .329; third baseman Chad Fox, .319; catcher Buddy Drake, .310; and second baseman Shane Stewart, .304. Those positions were the ones played in a recent game against Estacado.

Stewart, who played quarterback for the football team, pitched and was 3-6 with a 1.94 ERA. James Gomez was 6-2 with a 2.05 ERA. No numbers were available for Reynolds.

Villarreal will start Ray Hastings on Friday, Andrew Tijerina on Saturday, then Louis Hernandez (probably) in the possible third game.

Hastings and Tijerina pitched all but a few innings in district play and compiled good numbers. Hastings was 2-1 in district with a 3.10 ERA, with 23 strikeouts, 17 walks and 34 hits in 29 1/3 innings. Tijerina was 4-2 with a 2.67 ERA, with 35 strikeouts, 23 walks and 41 hits in 36 2/3 innings. Hernandez gave up no earned runs in two short relief appearances.

Coaches have the option of playing a one-game playoff or playing a best-of-three series. Villarreal wanted the three game series.

"One game always seems like a roll-the-dice type deal," he said. "I didn't feel like rolling the dice."

Hereford's probable lineup for Friday, according to Villarreal, will look like this (with season statistics):

1. Chris Vallejo, second base: .303 batting average; .448 on base percentage; 434 slugging percentage; 28 stolen bases; 21 RBI; 22 runs; 8 doubles.
2. Tanner Murphey, left field: .167; 11 stolen bases; 14 RBI; 13 runs; 4 sacrifice bunts.
3. Jacob Lopez, DH: .301; 12 RBI; 13 runs; 15 stolen bases; 6 doubles.
4. Andrew Tijerina, first base: .288; 21 RBI; 13 runs; 1 home run.
5. Scott Ahola, catcher: .313; 15

RBI; 8 doubles; 1 home run; .478 slugging percentage.

6. Armando Zambrano, right field: .308 in limited at-bats; 11 runs.

7. Ray Hastings, pitcher: .292 in limited at-bats.

8. Russ Watts, center field: .242; 15 RBI; 16 runs; 6 doubles; 2 home runs; .468 slugging percentage.

9. Stacey Sanders, shortstop: .245; 17 runs; 11 RBI; 14 stolen bases.

Third base: Michael Marquez.

In the other bi-district playoff involving 1-4A and 2-4A, Borger (17-8) and Estacado (18-11) will play one game at 6:30 tonight at Plainview's Jaycee Park.

Braves complete sweep of Phillies

By The Associated Press

At this rate, Greg Maddux and the Atlanta Braves will not be seeing Curt Schilling and the Philadelphia Phillies in October.

Maddux pitched 6 2-3 solid innings as the Braves beat the Phillies 4-2 Wednesday for a three-game sweep in Atlanta.

Maddux (6-2) leads the league with a 1.13 ERA, and the Braves lead the NL East with a 21-11 record. Atlanta has won six of seven.

Schilling (0-6), MVP of the Phillies' win over the Braves in the playoffs last year, has a 5.40 ERA. Philadelphia has lost seven of eight and fallen to 12-21, and is looking like a longshot even for a wild-card berth.

"What am I supposed to do?" Schilling said. "I'm 0-6. I can't get any more down than I am."

In other games, Los Angeles beat

Houston 1-0, Cincinnati defeated San Diego 9-5, St. Louis downed Chicago 3-2, Montreal beat New York 4-3, Pittsburgh topped Florida 5-1 and San Francisco defeated Colorado 6-1.

Maddux won in his first start since being hit on the left cheek by a foul liner last Sunday. He still had a large welt on the side of his face, but held the Phillies to three hits before tiring in the seventh inning.

"I don't think I have a reason. Who knows?" he said. "It might be getting hit in the face. It was a little tender, but it didn't hurt when I pitched."

Nor when he hit, apparently. Maddux singled twice, and scored on Deion Sanders' homer in the fifth for a 3-1 lead. Fred McGriff also homered for the Braves. Greg McMichael pitched two scoreless innings for his seventh save.

Dodgers 1, Astros 0

Raul Mondesi homered in the sixth inning, deciding a pitching duel between Pedro Astacio and Shane Reynolds at Dodger Stadium.

Reynolds (1-1) retired the first 15 Los Angeles batters, striking out eight, before Mondesi led off with his fifth home run. Jose Offerman singled on the next pitch, the only two hits Reynolds allowed in seven innings.

Astacio (2-3) pitched a four-hitter. He struck out five and walked one.

Reds 9, Padres 5

Barry Larkin had three hits and drove in two runs and Cincinnati came back to win in San Diego.

Roberto Kelly's two-run homer off Andy Benes (2-6) tied it at 5 in the fifth inning.

Pete Schourek (2-0) pitched three hitless innings and Hector Carrasco went two innings for his fourth save.

Cardinals 3, Cubs 2

Bob Tewksbury joined Ben McDonald as the only seven-game winners in the majors, pitching St. Louis past visiting Chicago.

Tewksbury (7-0) gave up seven hits in eight innings, struck out six and walked two. John Habyan pitched the ninth for his first save.

Ozzie Smith had two hits for the Cardinals, raising his average to a season-high .210. Anthony Young (1-3) allowed nine hits in six innings.

Expos 4, Mets 3

Pedro Martinez struck out eight in seven innings and Montreal ended New York's four-game winning streak.

Martinez (2-3) retired his final nine batters, fanning five. Mel Rojas pitched two scoreless innings, striking out three.

Larry Walker hit an RBI double and scored on a single by Darrin Fletcher in the first inning, putting the Expos ahead for good against Pete Smith (2-4).

Pirates 5, Marlins 1

Denny Neagle and Rick White combined on a five-hitter as Pittsburgh won in Florida.

Neagle (3-4) held the Marlins to four hits in 7-2-3 innings. Pittsburgh ended a five-game winning streak by Dave Weathers (5-2).

Giants 6, Rockies 1

Bill Swift improved to 4-0 lifetime against Colorado, helping himself with an RBI double as San Francisco won at home.

Swift (5-3) gave up 10 hits in six-plus innings, allowing at least one in each inning.

Mike Harkey (0-4) singled home the Rockies' run.

Salmon's big performance leads Angels past Rangers

By The Associated Press

Tim Salmon went 4-for-5. Then he went out and did it again.

"I've had some spells, but not like the last few games," Salmon said after going 8-for-10 Wednesday night as the California Angels swept the Texas Rangers 8-6 and 13-1.

The opener was the completion of Tuesday night's game, suspended at 1:10 a.m. CDT after eight innings because of the AL curfew. Dwight Smith's single off Kevin Brown (2-6) broke a 5-5 tie in the 10th and Jorge Fabregas added a two-run double.

Then, Chili Davis hit a pair of two-run homers and tripled in the regularly scheduled game. Salmon hit a two-run homer, as did Jim Edmonds. Smith also homered for the visiting Angels, who had a season-high 17 hits.

"It was one of the better butt-kickings I've seen in a while," Angels manager Buck Rodgers said. Mark Langston (2-0), activated from the 15-day disabled list earlier in the day, allowed one run and five hits in five innings. Rick Helling (3-1) allowed nine earned runs and 10 hits in one-plus inning as his ERA rose from 3.29 to 5.15. It was his first major league defeat.

"That was the first time I've ever had an outing like that," Helling said. "I can't ever remember pitching only an inning or giving up nine runs. But you're going to get beat when you can't make your pitches."

Mike Butcher (2-0) pitched 3 1-3 innings to win the suspended game.

In other games, Chicago beat Seattle 14-6, Baltimore beat Toronto 4-1, New York beat Cleveland 6-3, Kansas City routed Minnesota 9-0, Detroit beat Oakland 6-2 and Boston beat Milwaukee 7-1.

Suns' comeback shocks Rockets

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) - The Phoenix Suns have developed a killer instinct while the Houston Rockets are honing their skills at blowing leads of record proportions.

The Suns, down 20 points with 10 minutes to play, scored the biggest comeback in NBA playoff history on Wednesday night, with a 124-117 overtime victory that gave them a 2-0 lead in their Western Conference semifinal series.

"Miracles are the result of hard work," Suns guard Kevin Johnson said. "We were always playing at our flow, even at 20 points down. We were very determined to win."

The loss puts the Rockets in a particularly dark hole since only one team - the 1969 Los Angeles Lakers - has rallied to win a seven-game series after losing the first two games at home.

"We've developed a better killer instinct than we had last year," said Charles Barkley, who led the Suns with 34 points. "It's our series to lose now and if we go home and don't play well, we don't deserve to win."

Games 3 and 4 are Friday and Sunday at Phoenix, where the Suns have won their last 13 games.

"We can't get into those relaxed moods," Houston coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "We've got to keep digging for more, that killer instinct. The one characteristic of this team is we didn't used to blow leads. Here's twice it's happened and it's tough."

The Rockets blew an 18-point second quarter lead in the first game of the best-of-seven game series against the Suns and eventually lost 91-87 on Sunday. But losing a 20-point lead in the final 10 minutes was more devastating.

"I've never been in a game this big in the playoffs," Johnson said. "This was the sweetest because it came on the road. We never had any doubt in our minds we could do it. To be honest, we're so focused right now, we want to win every game."

Playing on the road is no big deal to us."

The Rockets were comfortably ahead 104-84 with 10 minutes to play when the Suns went on a 24-4 run over the remaining regulation time to force an overtime with the score at 108-108.

Danny Ainge hit a 3-point basket with 32.9 seconds left in regulation to tie it at 108, and Olajuwon missed one of his trademark fadeaway jumpers with 15 seconds left.

Barkley had a chance to win the game at the end of regulation, but his 15-foot high-arching turnaround bounced out at the buzzer.

But it was over quickly in the overtime. The Suns continued to pour points on the stunned Rockets with a 12-3 overtime start that decided the issue.

Hakeem Olajuwon led Houston with 31 points and 17 rebounds. Johnson added 27 and Dan Majerle had 22 for Phoenix.

"I can't remember anything this dramatic in this big a game," Suns coach Paul Westphal said. "They're starting to put the dirt on your grave and you come back and win. That's pretty amazing."

The Rockets helped the Suns pull off the big comeback by scoring only eight fourth quarter points, equaling the playoff record-low set by the New Jersey Nets against Cleveland last year.

Phoenix trailed by 18 entering the final period, and the Suns' ensuing comeback broke the record set by the New York Knicks in 1973 when they rebounded from a 16-point deficit after three quarters to beat the Boston Celtics in double overtime.

The Suns weren't perfect in the stretch run but they didn't have to be.

"We didn't make every play down the stretch," Westphal said. "It's just amazing we made enough plays to win."

The two teams combined for 42 3-point attempts in Game 1, setting an NBA playoff record. This time, they easily broke that mark by shooting a combined 22-of-55.

Knicks take 2-0 lead in Bulls series

By BILL BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - If any team has the right to feel confident despite a 2-0 deficit in a best-of-7 series, it's the Chicago Bulls. If any team has the right to feel confident when it's behind in the fourth quarter, it's the New York Knicks.

The Knicks lead their Eastern Conference semifinal against the Bulls 2-0 after a 96-91 victory Wednesday night in which New York manhandled Chicago once again in the fourth quarter.

The Bulls were scoreless in the first five minutes of the final period and finished with 19 on 4-for-16 field-goal shooting. In Game 1, Chicago scored 15 points in the fourth quarter as the Knicks finished a rally from a 15-point deficit.

"We haven't been able to handle their pressure down the stretch, and that has cost us two ballgames," said Scottie Pippen, who scored 22 points but missed 10 of 15 shots.

But the Bulls have reason to believe they have a chance.

After all, they beat New York four straight last year after falling behind 2-0, and went on to their third consecutive NBA title. Even without Michael Jordan, they have residual confidence going into the third and fourth games at Chicago on Friday night and Sunday.

"It seems like the same old thing again," said Horace Grant, who joined B.J. Armstrong with 23 points for the Bulls. "It's going to be difficult, but we feel confident."

John Starks scored eight consecutive points during an 11-0 run that gave the Knicks the lead for good.

With the Bulls ahead 72-69 at the start of the fourth quarter, Patrick Ewing started the spurt with two free throws. Starks then hit two 3-pointers and a layup after a steal, and Greg Anthony finished the burst with a free throw with 8:12 left, giving New York an 80-72 lead.

"John threw a couple of biggies right in the hoop," Knicks coach Pat Riley said. "He wants to play, wants to do well and win. He just has to maintain his composure."

Ewing scored 26 points and reserve Anthony Mason had 15 points and 14 rebounds for the Knicks. Starks finished with 13 points and joined Ewing with 10 in the fourth quarter.

Chicago led 61-53 in the third quarter, but the Knicks tied it 65-65 with 2:01 left in the period after a 12-4 run led by Mason's six points. The Knicks tied the score two more times, but trailed 72-69 after three quarters.

After the 11-0 burst put the Knicks ahead by eight, the Bulls came back with a long jumper and 3-pointer by Armstrong, making the score 80-77, but they got no closer. Two free throws by Pippen made it 88-83 with 3:02 left, but he fouled out on the Knicks' next possession.

In the opening quarter, the Bulls made just one-third of their 24 shots, but forced seven New York turnovers and got 12 points from Pippen to lead by as many as eight.

After New York tied the score 29-29 in the second period, Armstrong and Toni Kukoc scored five points each in a 12-3 spurt that gave Chicago its largest lead, 41-32, midway through the quarter. A 3-point goal by Ewing and a three-point play by Mason helped the Knicks close to 51-47 at halftime.

SWC baseball tournament includes no clear favorite

AUSTIN (AP) - The Southwest Conference Baseball tournament opens this year with a difference - no overriding favorite.

Texas Christian, Rice, Texas Tech and Texas spread the wealth this season, helped along by reductions in scholarships and the elimination of paid assistant coaching positions.

"This tournament features four good teams, and there is even more pressure involved when the winner here gets the automatic NCAA tournament bid," Texas Christian head coach Lance Brown said Wednesday. "We have all worked hard to get here, but now we are all even and starting over again."

Second-seeded Rice (33-19, 12-6 in the SWC) opens the tournament at 2 p.m. today against third-seeded Texas Tech (38-15, 12-6) in a game that will feature two of the conference's top pitchers: Rice's Tim Byrdak and Tech's Ryan Nye.

Nye, who racked up an 11-3 record and a 1.90 earned-run average in 108 23 innings, said a victory in the first game could set a tone for his squad.

"There's no doubt that we want to get off to the right foot here, and we will face a tough pitcher in the first game," Nye said. "It puts a bit of pressure on me to be at my best, but I am going to go out and throw my regular game and let my teammates get involved."

Regular-season champion Texas Christian (37-18 and 14-4) plays at 7 p.m. against fourth-seeded Texas (37-19 and 9-9), which became host for the tournament when Texas A&M failed to qualify.

"We don't have an easy haul of it because we have to play Texas in the first game," Brown said.

"Despite the troubles they've had this season, they still could be the best team in the tournament, and they will have their fans out in force."

The 19 losses recorded by the Longhorns this season were the most ever in the 27-year tenure of Texas coach Cliff Gustafson. The normally powerful Longhorns were only 2-7 against the other three teams in the tournament and were swept by the Horned Frogs in a three-game series at Fort Worth.

"The keys to us winning this thing is to get some good pitching and some timely hitting," Gustafson said. "That may sound like it is simple, but it hasn't been for us this season. We have made a few changes in the past couple of weeks and hopefully those will make a difference."

Luyendyk looks for win at Indy

By STEVE HERMAN

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Arie Luyendyk still sees himself as an outsider challenging Indy's chosen few.

Pistons' Thomas calls it a career

The Indianapolis 500 winner in 1990 and runner-up last year after starting from the pole, Luyendyk lost his spot with Ganassi Racing to Michael Andretti. He signed with a newly formed team but has yet to finish among the top 10 this season and is still looking for speed.

The first of four days of qualifications for the May 29 race is Saturday.

"I'd be lying if I'd be saying it doesn't disturb me that I'm not among the quickest, because I want to be among the quickest," he said Wednesday. "We just have to work real hard and try to go faster."

Through Wednesday's practice, Luyendyk's best speed was 222.063 mph, nearly 2 mph slower than his pole-position average last year and some 8 mph slower than the top speed of the month (230.403) posted AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) - Isiah Thomas, one of the best point guards in NBA history, announced his retirement at a news conference packed with old teammates, friends and family.

Thomas, 33, led the Detroit Pistons to NBA championships in 1989 and 1990 and scored over 18,000 points in his 13-year career that ended April 19 when he tore his Achilles tendon. He was selected second overall in the 1981 draft after leading Indiana to the NCAA championship as a sophomore.

Stars find success during first year in Texas

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Stars set a team record for points, swept St. Louis in the first round of the NHL playoffs and were a box-office hit their first year in Texas.
But all that was just consolation to the Stars, who lost four of five games to the Vancouver Canucks in the second round and were eliminated from the playoffs.
"I thought the story was written early in the game—actually in all the games," Stars coach Bob Gainey said after Tuesday night's 4-2 loss.

"They were steady and solid with those leads," he said. "It just took more than we had to get back in four out of the five."
Regardless of their second-round elimination, the Stars were a hit in Dallas.
Their attendance for 41 games at the Reunion Arena was a total of 660,909, 95.3 percent capacity. The Stars had 21 sellouts, including their last 13 regular-season games. Last year, before owner Norm Green moved the Stars to Dallas, the team drew 571,842 fans.

The Stars also set a franchise record with 97 points on a 42-29-13 record. They tied with the Calgary Flames and the Boston Bruins for the sixth best record in the NHL.
But after sweeping through the St. Louis Blues in four games in the quarterfinals, the Canucks were a riddle coach Bob Gainey and his star, Mike Modano, couldn't solve.

The Stars had the lead only once over the Canucks when they won 4-3 in Game 3. The Canucks closed the Stars out 4-1 in their best-of-7 series Tuesday night with a 4-2 victory in Pacific Coliseum.
"We're a much better team ahead," said center Neal Broten. "That's just the way our team likes to play. That was our downfall."
Modano and Dave Gagner scored power-play goals in the last Dallas game of the season but Russ Courtnall was stopped six times by goalie Kirk McLean in Game 5 and 30 times in the series as he went scoreless.

Gainey tried desperate measures. He requested McLean's stick be measured. Referee Terry Gregson found it to be legal and the Stars were assessed a bench minor for delay of game.
"Kirk McLean played the kind of goal you need to advance," Gainey said. "The experience of the Vancouver defensive group also was a factor."
Dallas went the entire playoffs without injured captain Mark Tinordi, a veteran defender who was missed by the young Dallas defense.

"I don't think there is any doubt our team would have been different if Mark Tinordi were available to us," Gainey said.
"We thought Vancouver would be low on gas coming into Dallas, but they came in there and had lots of fuel left in their tank," Broten said. "They played a good series."
The Canucks won 6-4 and 3-0 in Dallas before returning home. The Stars won 4-3 in Vancouver before the Canucks took Game 4 on an overtime goal by Sergio Momesso.

he said. "Engineering-wise, the program wasn't there to back me up to get the results we wanted. All the fingers were being pointed - 'He's to blame, no, he's to blame, no, he's to blame' - so finally when we made some changes to the car at the end of the year, the car was really good to drive and we had some good results. But by that time it was too late."

Luyendyk, whose 1990 race record of 185.981 mph for the full 500 miles still stands, won the pole last year at a four-lap average of 224.316 and led 14 early laps. Then, following Emerson Fittipaldi's lead, he got past Nigel Mansell on a late restart and finished second to Fittipaldi.

Pointers for parents

With all the different types of computer printers on the market, it's difficult to choose which one to buy.

According to Robert Gervasoni, president of Agson Inc., a national computer printer parts supplier, the first thing most people consider is price.

However, you want to purchase a printer that best suits your business needs, as well as your budget.

Three popular types of printers are dot matrix, laser and ink jet.

The dot matrix is easily adaptable to a variety of applications, making it the most versatile of the three. It is best suited for businesses that print mostly transaction forms that often have multiple copies underneath, such as invoices and purchase orders. And, operationally, it costs less than one cent per page. However, businesses that choose a dot matrix printer should also keep in mind that the amount of typefaces is limited, the noise-level is high, and the letter quality is lower than other printers.

Thus, this printer is best suited to home offices, small businesses, and companies that require only general business printouts.

Laser printers provide sharp letter quality printing and graphics, as well as a large variety of typefaces. However, with higher quality comes higher cost. Laser printers cost an average of three cents per page to operate. Therefore, the laser printer is best suited to businesses which rely on high-quality printing and/or desktop publishing with graphic applications.

Ink jet printers offer high-quality printing for a little less money than laser printers. Ink jets are a good choice for small offices and home businesses that require better quality and less noise than the dot matrix, and design companies which do not want to pay the higher costs of a laser printer. In addition, color ink jet printers are more economical than color lasers, making them a good choice for any business that needs high-quality color printing.

The recent Pillsbury Bake-Off Contest produced many new and exciting recipes, including Mediterranean Sandwich Pockets.

New officers elected by hospital auxiliary

Members of the Hereford Regional Medical Center Auxiliary elected new officers during their May 2 luncheon meeting held in the hospital board room.

Margaret Daniels will serve as president; Irene Reinart, vice president; Nell Culpepper, secretary; Lupe Cerda, treasurer; and Mary Jane Burrus, reporter.

The meeting was called to order by Quintna Waits, and Theda Seiver led the auxiliary prayer.

Roll was called by Mary Williamson with 14 members responding.

A total of 158 volunteer hours were recorded in the gift shop and Lupe Cerda showed some favors that were made for Mother's Day trays which were distributed at the hospital May 8.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mary Williamson and accepted as read. Lupe Cerda gave the treasurer's report. Old business was brought up for HEWITT, Texas (AP) - Police found Willie Nelson sleeping in his Mercedes-Benz along a road early Tuesday and arrested him on a misdemeanor drug charge.

"I can't give you the details of the case," Sgt. Mike Cooper said. "We found less than 2 ounces of marijuana in the car, it was both bag and rolled cigarettes."

The country singer was arrested about 9 a.m. and was taken to jail. He was gone by late morning.

Officers checking a car parked on an Interstate 35 service road found Nelson, 61, lying down in the back seat, police said.

When asked if Nelson had said what he was doing there, Cooper replied, "He was traveling and stopped to rest."

Hewitt is five miles south of Waco.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I had to write regarding your comment that it is never OK for a man to hit a woman. I hope you will reconsider your stand.

I agreed with that statement for 30 years, until my brother married a woman who thinks it's OK to attack him and his property whenever she doesn't get what she wants.

My mother and I have often placed ourselves between them when "Renee" has gone on a rampage, grabbing my brother to prevent him from hitting her back. Mom and I have both been socked by her.

Renee trashed my brother's car, shredded his clothes, threw bleach in his face and once tried to run him over with her car. On that attempt, she went onto the sidewalk and over two lawns, knocked over garbage cans and hit two cars parked in driveways.

Although my brother has been separated from Renee for a year, she still hunts him down and attacks him. She swears that one day she is going to kill him even if she has to hang for it. There is no other woman involved. He was a faithful husband. Her abusive behavior is what ruined their marriage.

No one has the right to physically abuse another person. Today's society needs to recognize that women can be just as abusive as men, and it is only fair that they be judged and punished the same way an abusive man would be.--Seen Too Much In Detroit

DEAR DETROIT: Guilty as charged. I should not have made such a sweeping statement. The readers nailed me, but good. Here's another letter hauling me up short:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Have you been on the moon for the last 35 years? I find it hard to believe that you aren't aware of the reports on domestic violence. They are well-documented.

In one out of three reported battles between a man and his wife or girlfriend, police state that the female not only started it but sent the guy to the emergency room for stitches or fractures.

Usually you're pretty sharp, but you sure missed this one.--Doc in Little Rock

DEAR DOC: You are right. I blew it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read with amusement the letter from the woman who wanted her 300-pound friend to pay for her car repairs since his excess weight (she claimed) caused some costly damage.

Would she ask two 150-pound friends to pay for something that went wrong after going for a ride?

My husband is 6 foot 6 inches tall, weighs 365 pounds and has yet to break any furniture or cause damage to any car. I wonder how old that "almost new car" is and what kind of shape it was in before the 300-pound gentleman rode in it. Also, he was stuffed into a small car for a long ride--should she pay for his chiropractor's bill? It's too silly for words.--Orlando

DEAR ORLANDO: Thousand of readers echoed your sentiments--and I agree with them.

Feeling pressured to have sex? How well-informed are you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet "Sex and the Teenager." Send a self-addressed, long, business size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

When a slice of quartz crystal is mechanically compressed, it develops a positive charge on one side and a negative charge on the other. This is known as the piezoelectric effect.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Actor Ken Kercheval of "Dallas" fame didn't quit his three-pack-a-day cigarette habit until after he was diagnosed with lung cancer.

"So I don't know that I'm too proud of quitting this way, but I'm grateful," he said. "There's too many things that aren't quite as important as I thought."

Kercheval, 58, who played Cliff Barnes on "Dallas," said years of cigarette smoking caused his lung cancer. He had successful surgery March 28.

"I have to view it as being kind of stupid and sort of a gutless way to quit," he said in an interview for Wednesday's "Entertainment Tonight."

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Actor Jay Thomas considers himself the Everyman romantic lead.

"I believe that women are generally better-looking than their husbands, and I'm America's answer to the man that most women have married," said the star of the CBS sitcom "Love & War."

"I look much more normal than the handsome guys you normally see on TV," Thomas said Monday.

Before "Love & War," he did a stint as a Murphy Brown love interest.

New prison dedicated at Colorado City

COLORADO CITY, Texas (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards dedicated the new D.W. Wallace Prison Wednesday after a raging thunderstorm forced the ceremonies inside.

Richards said the new prison is evidence that her administration is committed to keeping dangerous criminals behind bars.

"If we are going to give meaning to the phrase, 'If you do the crime, you'll do the time,' we have to have space to make it stick," she said.

The Wallace Prison was one of the first elements of a massive prison construction plan to start this year.

The Colorado City prison is named after pioneer black rancher D.W. "80 John" Wallace, the son of slave parents who began working on cattle drives before the turn of the century.

Eventually, the state will have one of the largest prison systems in the world with 140,000 spaces, she said.

Richards said she faced no dilemma when she had to choose between prison and county jail overcrowding or releasing violent criminals into neighborhoods.

"That was an easy choice," she said. "I threw my lot in with the neighborhoods."

Mitchell County Judge Ray Mayo and Colorado City Mayor Jim Baum pointed to the $7 million-dollar annual payroll as a much needed economic boost.
