Mildred Mingus, 72, of Friona escaped serious injury on Thursday when her car left the roadway and rolled down this embankment after striking a cement culvert seven miles east of Hereford on U.S. 60. Texas Highway Patrol officers said the woman was taken by ambulance to Hereford Regional Medical Center where she was listed in stable condition Friday morning. The accident occurred at 4:35 p.m.

TIDC director visits about economic development tax

Joe Newman, director of the Texas Industrial Development Council (TIDC) of Texas, was guest speaker here Thursday when the People Promoting Progress committee held an informational meeting in the commission chambers at Hereford City Hall.

Newman discussed the use of the sales tax for economic development, outlining the specific issues involved in approving such a city tax, and providing information on experiences of other cities who use the tax. He held a question-and-answer session following his overview of the tax.

The PPP, an ad hoc committee, was appointed by Mayor Bob Josserand to study alternatives and recommend to the city commission the best way to fund economic development in Hereford.

Jeff Carlile is chairman of PPP, and Shirley Garrison has been named task force chairman of an expanded group of citizens. Garrison said the group had the TIDC official here "to help educate people about the half-cent economic development tax." The group is expected to make its recommendation later this month.

Newman said the city commission is the "ultimate decision-making body" on the structuring of an economic development corporation and has the final say on funds spent from the tax. The five-member board serves at the pleasure of the city commission, and the board follows state guidelines in how the money can be used.

Newman reported there are now 132 cities in Texas that have the special sales tax dedicated to economic development. Another group of cities will be voting on the issue Saturday. Cities who have approved the tax ranged in size from a population of 250 to 261,721.

The dollar amounts collected by these cities varied from a low of $4,000 a year to a high of $11.8 million. The average was $487,268. Should Hereford approved the special tax, it is estimated it would bring in revenues of slightly over $300,000.

FLBA dividend noted at session

Stockholders of the Westex Federal Land Bank Association of Dimmitt heard some good news Thursday.

John Morris, president and chief operating officer, told the annual stockholders meeting at the Bull Barn that the association was in such financial good shape, the shareholders will be paid a 5 per cent dividend.

According to Morris, the 76-year-old association is servicing 758 loans totalling $57.2 million in Deaf Smith, Castro, and Swisher counties. Only two are delinquent, making it the lowest delinquency rate in years.

Incumbent directors Roy Carlson and George Turrentine, both of Hereford, were re-elected as directors of the association.

Westex belongs to the Tenth Farm Credit District, which includes Texas, Alabama, Louisiana, and Mississippi. About 97 per cent of its members are farmers or ranchers.

Said Morris, "Other associations have attorneys and doctors who farm part-time, but not our association."

"If it isn't made on the land, it's not made."

He praised the members for their hard work and for keeping the association financially sound, adding, "A cooperative is nothing more than its stockholders."

Other directors of the association are Dale Swinburn, Charles Wales, Tim Wilhelm, and James Horton.

Turrentine, who made the opening remarks, said the association's low delinquency rate contributed to the 5 per cent dividend, the first paid by Westex in 25 years.

Dr. Kenneth Wyatt, a retired minister, artist, and poet from Tulia, was guest speaker at the dinner meeting.

Bank directors elected

President John E. Morris congratulates Roy H. Carlson and George Turrentine of Hereford after they were re-elected as directors of Westex Federal Land Bank Association of Dimmitt. The association held its annual stockholders meeting at the Bull Barn Thursday night. Highlight of the meeting was Morris' announcement that stockholders would receive a 5 per cent dividend.

Voting set Saturday in three local races

School, hospital, city races to be decided

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Contests for two seats on the Hereford Independent School District board and four places on the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board will be settled by voters Saturday.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. for the two district elections and the City of Hereford commission election.

All voting will be at the Hereford

Community Center. Each entity is assigned to a location in the building.

Walcott School District residents will vote for trustees at the school, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. An incumbent, Jim McGowan, is a candidate for re-election, but another incumbent, Susan Perrin, is not seeking another term, reported Bill McLaughlin, superintendent.

Since only one of the two places may be filled in the election, the board will have the option of appointing a trustee to fill the vacancy, said McLaughlin.

Interest in the hospital district election apparently has grown in the last week. By the close of early voting Tuesday, a total of 441 ballots had been marked, 290 in the last two days.

Voters will name four members to the hospital district board. Seeking re-election are three incumbents, John Perrin, Boyd Foster and Merle Clark. Running for spots on the board, also, are Dean Crofford, Steve Cortez and Larry Watts. Retiring from the board, and not seeking re-election, is Paul Abalos.

Hereford school trustees will be elected from District 1 and District 3.

Ron Weishaar, incumbent, is challenged by Angie Villarreal for the District 1 seat. Randy Tooley is running against the District 3 incumbent, Raymond Schlabs.

The Hereford City Commission election has no contests.

Wayne Winget, Place 4, and at-large commissioners, Roger Eades and Carey Black, are candidates for re-election to new terms.

Nancy Griego is running for her first full two-year term in Place 2.

Candidates disavow unauthorized flier

Three candidates in the Deaf Smith County Hospital District Board election today issued a statement concerning a "political sheet" that was apparently distributed around town Thursday.

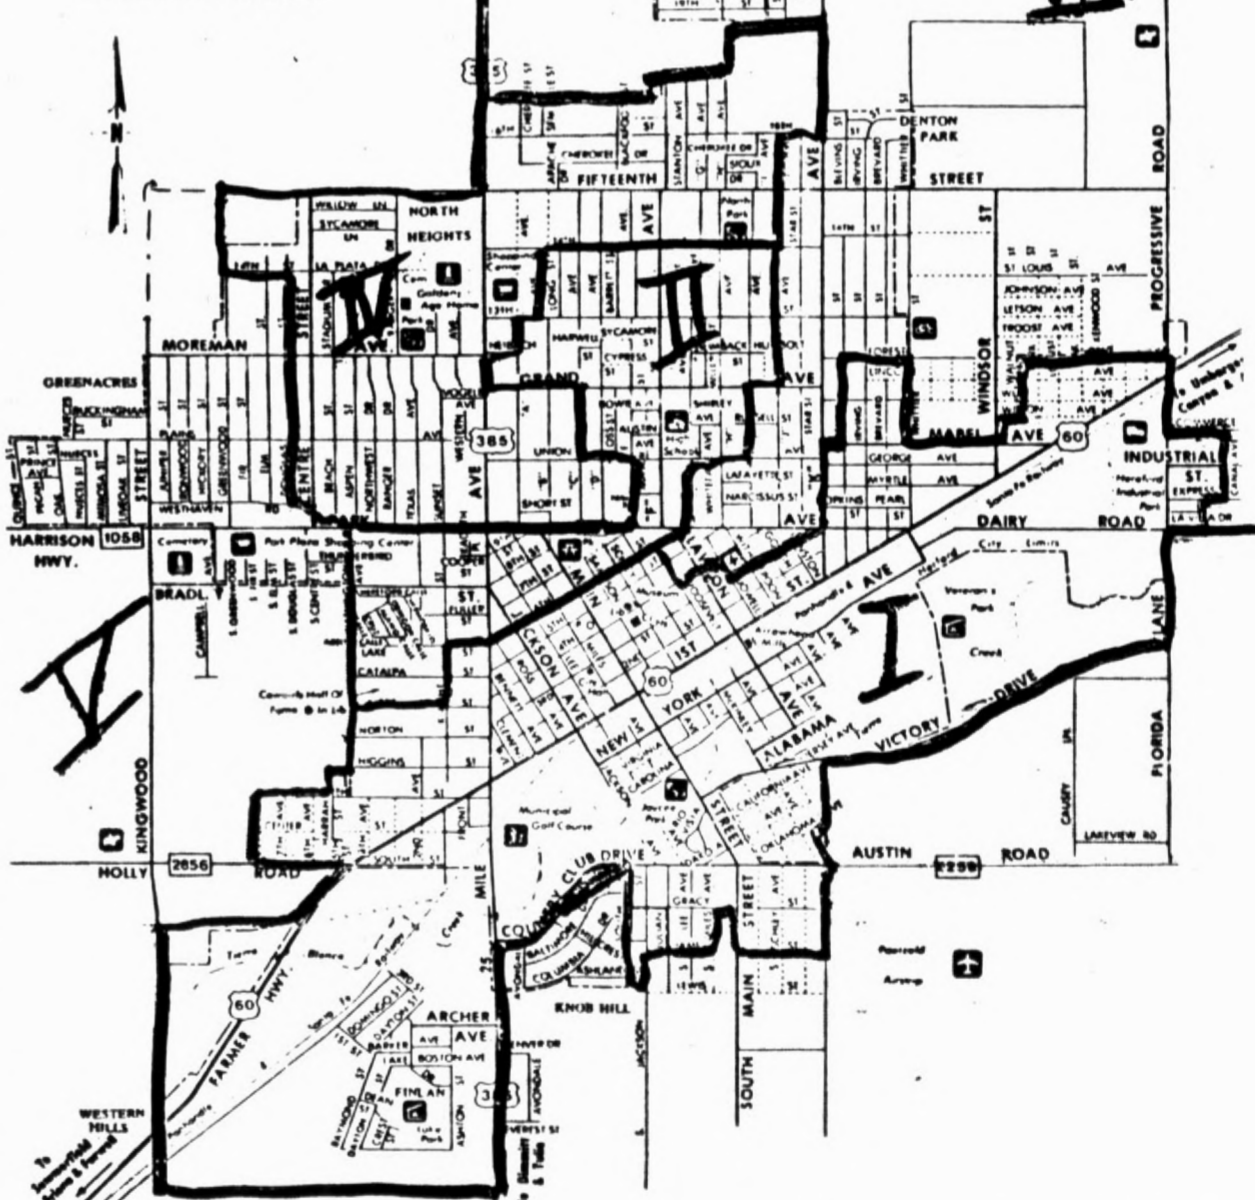

The letter-size sheet, produced on a copier, included a political ad copied from The Hereford Brand which supported Larry Watts, Dean Crofford and Steven Cortez as candidates for the hospital board.

The three men issued this statement to The Brand this morning:

"To the voters of Deaf Smith County: For those of you who happened to see the Xerox copy of Dr. Johnson's letter to the editor, along with our campaign ad and a few innuendos attached, we are not responsible for this action and did not authorize it to be distributed around town. We regret any concerns or problems this might have caused to the public."

Texas unemployment rate drops

DALLAS (AP) - The state's unemployment rate fell to 6.3 percent in April, more than a full percent drop from the March level and the first decline this year, according to figures released today.

"The April improvement in the Texas unemployment rate substantially reflected employment gains as the total number of Texans available for work changed little from March," said Bureau of Labor Statistics Regional Commissioner Bob Gaddie.

Employment in April stood at 8.8 million, 138,000 higher than last month. The number of those out of work fell 101,000 to 593,000 - the lowest level since January's 555,000, the Department of Labor said.

There were 694,000 Texans unemployed in March.

The April decrease in the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate followed a pattern of escalating rates in the first quarter and moved the Texas rate to its lowest point since January's 6.0 percent mark.

Texas' unemployment rate hit 6.9 percent in February and rose to 7.4 percent in March.

Texas' unemployment rate was slightly lower than the national figure of 6.4 percent.

The Labor Department continued to point out that some caution is necessary in interpreting the figures since the bureau redesigned the way it conducts its survey a few months ago.

Cinco de Mayo festivities scheduled this weekend

Cinco de Mayo is coming to town. The fifth annual Cinco de Mayo celebration -- in Spanish, it means 5th of May -- will be held at Veterans Park this weekend.

"We're going to start the celebration Saturday at 8 a.m. by holding a softball tournament," said Joe Soliz Jr., who has been chairman of the celebration since it started. "Sunday will be our big day."

"There will be six bands, two of them national and international recording artists. We will also furnish great food, songs for Mother's Day, and there will be softball games and soccer."

Highlight of the celebration will be the naming of the Hispanic of the Year. Hereford Mayor Bob Josserand will present the award.

Past Hispanics of the Year have been Edward Maldonado (1989), a Hereford disk jockey; Steve Cortez (1990), who works for Energas; Margaret Del Toro (1991), tax assessor collector for the county; and Joe Soliz Jr. (1992), a student teacher.

Soliz Jr. is former owner of Joe's Country Club. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Soliz, took over as managers of the club two weeks ago. Soliz Jr. and his wife plan to pursue a career in education.

He said, "Hereford is 100 years old and the celebration is changing with the demographics."

"We believe Cinco de Mayo will help prepare for positive change." Hereford Police will provide security at the two-day event.

Report shows more jobs than expected added in April

By ROBERT NAYLOR JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's unemployment rate inched downward to 6.4 percent and a stronger-than-expected 267,000 jobs were added in April, the government said today in a report that could prompt federal regulators to push up interest rates again.

The Labor Department cited healthy job gains in services, retail trade and construction as the unemployment rate declined to its lowest level this year.

Katharine G. Abraham, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said job growth would have been even stronger if not for a nationwide trucking strike that idled 70,000 drivers and dock workers most of the month.

The rate compares with 6.5 percent for February and March. The year began with a 6.7 percent jobless figure. The Labor Department said the nation's non-farm payrolls swelled by 464,000 jobs in March, revised upward from the unusually robust 456,000 earlier reported. That figure was a six-year high.

Most economists had expected an increase of about 170,000 jobs, a healthy figure considering the strike, and believed even that number would worry investors concerned about inflation and influence the Federal Reserve to tighten credit later this month.

The report said the average work week remained at the post World War II record of 42.2 hours set in March, but average hourly earnings crept up 0.3 percent to a seasonally adjusted $11.06.

The pace of job growth has picked up the weather has warmed. A frigid winter in the Northeast and Midwest depressed new hiring early in the year, but the rebound has meant an average of more than 200,000 jobs have been created each month.

Investors worry that surges in the number of new jobs increase inflationary pressures. Inflation lowers the value of many investments and higher interest rates tend to slow economic growth.

Many economists expect further credit tightening when the Federal Open Market Committee meets May 17, although they based their views on the expectation of more modest job gains in April.

The report said construction-related businesses hired an additional 67,000 workers, much higher than the 25,000 or so most economists were predicting. A healthy 80,000 jobs were added in retail trade, the third consecutive monthly increase after a decline in January. The Labor Department said 54,000 of those jobs were in restaurants, which traditionally add workers in the spring.

Service-related industries, which have outpaced all other sectors in job growth in recent years, added 146,000 jobs, but more than half of those were part-time and temporary positions, the report said. It said one of every six service jobs added in the last year was either parttime or temporary.

Manufacturing showed a small 3,000 increase, but it was the seventh consecutive month without a decline and came despite the idling of some workers affected by the trucking strike.

The stronger-than-expected report is a clear sign that the economy is rebounding, but rapid rate of growth is likely to cause concern on Wall Street and will likely be the basis for another round of interest rate hikes.

"I think this will be another reason for the Fed to tighten," said Sung Won Sohn, chief economist with Norwest Corp. in Minneapolis.

The Fed has raised the interest rate charged among banks for overnight loans to 3.75 percent from 3 percent, in three quarter-point steps on Feb. 4, March 22 and April 18. Banks have responded by raising their prime rate - the rate charged to their best business borrowers - to 6.75 percent from 6 percent. That has meant rate increases for consumer credit ranging from home equity lines to credit cards.

Fire department donation

The Farmers Insurance Group on Thursday presented a $250 check to the Hereford Fire Department in gratitude for the volunteer department's work in fighting a fire at the Leroy Bodkin farm recently. The money will be used for accessories on the department's new fire truck. On hand for the presentation were, from left, Mike Carr, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce; Gaylon Zissa, FIG; Jay Spain, Fire Marshal; David Spain, Fire Chief, accepting the check from local agent Daleine Springer; Mayor Bob Josseland; Buddy Covin of FIG; Mike Carr of FIG; and Charlie Springer.

Long-delayed 'Chunnel' opening to usher new English-French era

By PATRICK McDOWELL

CALAIS, France (AP) - Queen Elizabeth II crossed the English Channel by train today to join President Francois Mitterrand in inaugurating the $15 billion Channel Tunnel, the first land link between France and Britain.

The two heads of state, side-by-side in a light rain, cut a red, white and blue ribbon at the French end of the "Chunnel," the high point of daylong celebrations in both countries.

The pageantry surrounding the dedication of one of mankind's greatest engineering feats was seen as ushering in a new era in the two countries' fractious history. Speaker after speaker hailed it as a triumph for European unity.

The "Chunnel" will connect Britain and the mainland with high-speed passenger trains, and with shuttle trains piggybacking automobiles and trucks between the French and British coasts. There will also be freight trains.

Eurotunnel, the Anglo-French operator, hopes shuttles can start ferrying trucks in a few days. Passenger trains and car shuttles may start this summer for special guests. But regular, scheduled service is unlikely until next fall, at an expected cost of about $300 per car.

The services should have been running in March 1993, but technical delays and safety tests caused postponements. But the queen and Mitterrand scheduled today's inauguration months ago and went ahead anyway.

The monarch, in a fuchsia coat and matching hat, left this morning from London's Waterloo station aboard a special Eurostar high-speed train modeled on France's state-of-the-art TGV. Among the 700 VIPs and journalists joining her were Prince Philip, Prime Minister John Major and his predecessor, Margaret Thatcher, who signed the deal to build the tunnel.

with Msgr. Orville Blum of St. Anthony's Catholic Church officiating. Arrangements were by Rix Funeral Directors.

The infant was a Catholic and affiliated with St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Survivors also include a sister, Victoria Ramirez of Hereford; paternal grandparents, Rene and Diane Ramirez; maternal grandparents, Enrique and Amelia Garcia, and great-grandparent, Tito Cordova, all of Hereford.

Mr. Wall was born at Hedley and came to Hereford in 1939. He married Rosie Grimes in 1946 in Hereford. Mr. Wall was a veteran of World War II, serving in the U.S. Marine Corps. He owned Wall and Sons Drilling and belonged to Avenue Baptist Church, where he served as a deacon and trustee. He was a member of the American Legion.

Survivors are his wife; three sons, Billy Joe Wall and Johnny Wall, both of Hereford, and David Sellers of Pampa; two brothers, Arnold Wall of Logan, N.M., and Joe Wall of Dimmitt; three sisters, Glennie Peters, Freda Moody and Melba Hinson, all of Wellington, and six grandchildren.

The family has requested that memorials be directed to the Avenue Baptist Church building fund or the American Heart Association.

Anti-crime legislation questioned

AUSTIN (AP) - Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock is raising questions about the possible long-range cost to Texas of federal anti-crime legislation.

"It appears that Texas stands to gain some enticing immediate federal help, but it also appears that the state and Texas cities would be picking up the tab when the federal funding is phased out," Bullock said Thursday.

He said Texas' congressional delegation should "proceed with caution, and above all they should come home and ask their city and state officials what this will cost them in the long run."

The House and Senate have passed separate versions of the anti-crime legislation. It has not yet gone to a conference committee to work out differences.

Preliminary estimates by the Office of State-Federal Relations indicate Texas might gain from $370 million to $525 million over the next five years under proposals in the legislation, according to Bullock's office.

A proposal in the Senate bill to put 100,000 new police officers on U.S. streets only would be partly federally funded through 1998, Bullock said. After that, he said, cities would pay all costs for the officers.

Proposals for substance abuse treatment are funded at less than the levels Texas now spends, Bullock said. He said that funds Texas cities now get for drug and violent criminal investigations would not be continued under the pending proposals.

Crime of the week

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department is investigating a burglary that occurred at Brownlow Brothers, located on Holly Sugar Road.

The incident occurred between April 26 and April 27. A number of items were taken including hammer drills, two-way radios with chargers, a fax machine, a welder, pneumatic tools and other equipment. Total value of the items taken was estimated at $10,000.

Anyone having information that leads to an arrest and indictment in the Crime of the Week can receive a reward of up to $500.

Anyone having information about the Crime of the Week or any other criminal activity is urged to call the Clue Line at 364-CLUE.

Callers may remain anonymous by using a code name or number.

Construction continuing

Crews building the city's new one million gallon water storage tank just north of the Hereford Community Center on Wednesday continued to lay metal reinforcing bars on top of wooden concrete forms that will ultimately serve as the supports for a concrete roof to be poured over the tank. The tank is part of a comprehensive water improvement plan for the city that includes the tank and several new water wells.

First round fails to clear NBA picture

By The Associated Press
The more the NBA playoffs clear up, the muddier they become.

This much is clear: Both of the No. 3 seeds swept, both of the No. 2 seeds are ahead 2-1 going into tonight's games, both of the No. 5 seeds are in the second round and both of the No. 1 seeds are tied 2-2 with the No. 8s.

This much is muddy: Although four teams have advanced to the second round, none of them know who their opponent will be.

The surprisingly close matchups between the No. 1s and No. 8s moved to fifth games after Thursday night. Atlanta, first in the Eastern Conference, defeated Miami 103-89, while Denver, eighth in the West, outlasted Seattle 94-85 in overtime.

Meanwhile, Utah joined Indiana in upsetting a fourth seed as the Jazz beat San Antonio 95-90 behind Karl Malone's 34 points.

Seattle, 0-4 at Denver this season and winners of 14 consecutive games at home, will play host to the Nuggets on Saturday, while Atlanta plays at home Sunday against the Heat.

No No. 8 seed has ever beaten a No. 1 seed in a playoff series.

Along with Utah and Indiana, Chicago and Phoenix also are assured of second-round berths. New York and Houston will take 2-1 leads into road games tonight at New Jersey and Portland.

Nuggets 94, SuperSonics 85, OT
Bryant Stith and LaPhonso Ellis each scored six points in overtime, accounting for all of Denver's scoring in the extra period.

Ellis had 27 points and 17 rebounds, Stith finished with 15 points and Dikembe Mutombo added 10 points, 16 rebounds and eight blocked shots for the Nuggets, who outscored the SuperSonics 12-3 in overtime.

"I've told our guys since the first game that if we can get to a fifth game, anything can happen," Nuggets coach Dan Issel said. "I'm sure Seattle will be glad to get back to their home court, but we're not conceding anything to them."

The Sonics were led by Detlef Schrempf and Gary Payton with 20 points each, while Shawn Kemp had 16 points and 13 rebounds.

Jazz 95, Spurs 90

Karl Malone scored 34 points, including a 20-footer with 42 seconds to play, and Utah held off a late San Antonio rally.

The Spurs trailed 91-84 before Dale Ellis scored and missed a free throw that Dennis Rodman tipped in, making the score 91-88. Malone then hit his key jumper to rebuild the Jazz lead back to five.

David Robinson came back with a spinning jumper, pulling the Spurs to 93-90, and they got the ball back with 12 seconds remaining. But David Benoit grabbed a loose ball and dunked just before time ran out.

Robinson had 27 points and 12 rebounds for San Antonio, and Ellis scored 24. Rodman pulled down 20 rebounds.

John Stockton had 18 assists to go with 13 points. All seven of his teammates who played had one assist each.

Benoit finished with 15 points, hitting seven of nine shots.

Hawks 103, Heat 89

Miami, bidding for its first playoff series victory as well as the first win by an eighth seed, couldn't win at home against Atlanta, which got a season-high 29 points from Mookie Blaylock.

Blaylock, 9-for-41 from the field in the first three games of the series, made six of 103-pointers and all nine of his free throws for Atlanta, which held the Heat to 37 percent shooting.

"In my mind, it shouldn't have

West Texas Heat

The West Texas Heat 14-under girls basketball team won their division in the Cuby Kitchens Classic tournament, held last weekend in Hereford. Team members are: (front row, left to right) Misti Davis, Melissa Proffitt, Cami Rea, Kari Barrett, Kendra Wright, Karen Tallant, (back row) coach Jackie Mercer, Catie Betzen, Jamie Marquez, coach Eddie Chavarria, Julie Rampley, Briar Baker and coach Leo Brown.

Derby boasts strong field

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - Iron Liege, Gallant Man, Round Table, Bold Ruler. That was the order of finish in the 1957 Kentucky Derby, memorable for the storied racing names it left as its legacy.

"I could see any of 8 or 10 of these colts this year going on to be superstars," trainer Gary Jones said. "I just don't know which ones yet."

Most of the trainers here agree this is the strongest Kentucky Derby field in years, perhaps since 1957. It's arguable.

Jones kept his undefeated filly, Lakeway, out of the Derby because of the strong field. "If you're going to try to win the Derby with a filly, you'd like to have a little weaker group," he said.

On Thursday, 15 3-year-old colts were entered for the 1 1/4-mile Derby, including 8-5 early favorite Holy Bull, winner of the Florida Derby and Blue Grass, and 3-1 second choice Brocco, the Santa Anita Derby and Breeders Cup Juvenile winner.

Of the field, 13 are stakes winners and the only two non-stakes winners, Blumin Affair and Strodes Creek, have placed in Grade I stakes. Among them, they have 26 stakes victories.

"I kind of wish I had my 3-year-old in a different year," said Dick Mandella, who trains San Felipe winner Soul Of The Matter for owner-songwriter Burt Bacharach.

Martin, Gale hit memorable shots

There were two remarkable golf shots made Wednesday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford.

Don T. Martin hit a hole-in-one on the 160-yard No. 14. It was his second career ace, and it was witnessed by Shorty Roarke, Bill Acton and Mel Charest.

Anthony Gale shot a double-eagle on No. 7, holing a 7-iron from 175 yards out. Witnesses were Dave Kaesheimer, Scott Burkhalter, Keith Riley and Justin Griffith.

HJH golfers host triangular match

Hereford Junior High golfers hosted teams from Friona and Canyon Thursday for a triangular match at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

It's against their rules to announce team scores, coach James Salinas said, but Daniel Edwards of Hereford was the individual winner with a nine-hole score of 42, and Amy Killingsworth was third among girls with a 55.

Other Hereford boys who played were: Kirk Padgett, 47; Cody Sargent, 49; Dustin Whitaker, 50; Jeremy Urbanczyk, 53; Brandon Tidmore, 53; James Blakely, 54; Michael DeLaCorda, 55; John McWhorter, 62; and Kent Reinart, 71.

Other Hereford girls who played were: Amy Kriegshauser, 66; Jennifer Phipps, 70; and Kristin Cole, 78.

Astros bounce back, burn Reds in 10th inning

By TOM WITHERS
Associated Press Writer
The Houston Astros couldn't blame the "Wild Thing" for this one. Mitch Williams, who has treated his new team to some late-inning anxiety this season, was warming up in the bullpen Thursday night when Cincinnati's Brian Dorsett hit a game-tying grand slam in the bottom of the ninth.

However, the Astros were able to rally for two runs in the 10th for a face-saving 8-6 victory.

Greg Swindell was pitching a six-hitter and holding a 6-2 lead with two outs in the ninth, but he then gave up singles to Roberto Kelly and Tony Fernandez.

Houston manager Terry Collins went to his bullpen, choosing Tom Edens, the Astros' most effective reliever recently, instead of Williams.

Bad move.

Edens walked Bret Boone and grooved a 2-0 fastball to Dorsett, who homered off the facing of the third deck in left.

"A ninth-inning, bases-loaded homer is a dream come true," Dorsett said. "It was a real thrill. It would be a lot sweeter if we'd won."

Collins justified his selection of Edens by saying: "Tom has pitched well. He just fell behind and got a ball up in the strike zone. If Tom gets ahead, I think he can put him away with his breaking stuff."

Fortunately for Edens, the Astros were able to squeeze out a pair of runs with a modest but effective 10th-inning rally off Jeff Brantley (1-1).

"This was a test of our team," Jeff Bagwell said. "It would have been pretty devastating if we'd have lost that one."

Williams (1-2) did make an appearance in the ninth, getting the final out for the win.

Elsewhere in the NL it was: Florida 5, Philadelphia 0; New York 8, St. Louis 1 and Los Angeles 9, San Francisco 6.

Mets 8, Cardinals 1
At St. Louis, Bret Saberhagen

pitched a five-hitter and the New York Mets continued a long-ball barrage with three home runs.

The Mets have hit 15 home runs in their last six games and have 41 this season, one behind league-leading Colorado.

David Segui hit a two-run homer off Allen Watson (2-2), Kelly Stinetz hit the first of his career, and Bobby Bonilla hit his fifth - and third in two games - for the Mets.

Saberhagen (4-1) struck out a season-high seven and didn't walk a batter in recording his second complete game. Saberhagen, who has 71 career complete games, won in St. Louis for the first time since the 1985

World Series, when he was 2-0 and was named the series MVP for Kansas City.

Marlins 5, Phillies 0
At Miami, Chris Hammond pitched a seven-hitter and Jerry Browne tripled home three runs in the first inning.

Hammond (2-3) walked one and struck out five in pitching his first nine-inning complete game. Hammond pitched a complete game last Sept. 14, a six-inning, rain-shortened loss to Pittsburgh.

Mariano Duncan had three hits for the Phillies, who have lost six straight road games.

Browne's triple came off Ben

Rivera (2-2) in the first, and the Marlins added two runs in the second on Dave Magadan's first homer.

Dodgers 9, Giants 6
At San Francisco, Ramon Martinez (1-2) gave up seven hits in eight-plus innings for his first victory of the season, and Los Angeles hung on after taking an 8-1 lead.

Dave Martinez ended the game by striking out with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Mike Piazza hit a two-run homer and Eric Karros went 3-for-4 as the Dodgers got 16 hits.

Matt Williams hit his major-league leading 13th homer for the Giants. John Burkett (3-2) allowed six runs and eight hits in 4 1-3 innings.

Rookie catcher picks up Angels

By BETH HARRIS
AP Sports Writer
ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - Catcher Jorge Fabregas, a newcomer to the major leagues, is unfamiliar with most opposing hitters, but he knows how to throw them out after they reach base.

Fabregas made two key inning-ending pickoffs as the California Angels defeated the Oakland Athletics 4-3 Thursday night.

In the only other AL game played Monday, Kansas City defeated Toronto 11-9.

The 24-year-old Fabregas, who debuted in the majors on April 24 in Boston as a defensive replacement, helped struggling starter Phil Leftwich (1-4) earn his first victory after four consecutive losses.

Fabregas picked Troy Neel off first base to end the fourth inning and Scott Brosius off second base to end the fifth.

"That was huge," Leftwich said. "I like catchers that like to throw the ball a little bit. Usually you might get one guy, but you can't get picked off by the catcher two times."

Fabregas, recalled from Triple-A Vancouver to replace the injured Greg Myers, is in just his third year as a catcher.

"I take a lot of pride in defense, especially when pitchers do well," he said. "Everyday is a learning experience. I barely know any of the hitters. Hopefully, I can stay because I know I can help this team."

Fabregas' accuracy and the wildness of Oakland starter Bob Welch combined to doom the Athletics.

They are off to their worst start since the club moved to Oakland in 1968, with 15 losses in 16 games and nine straight road defeats.

Like Fabregas, Leftwich is battling to stay in the majors. He yielded three runs and seven hits.

The right-hander gave up solo home runs to Geronimo Berroa and Rickey Henderson and an RBI single to Ruben Sierra.

Left-hander Mark Langston is expected back next week from elbow surgery, which could make Leftwich expendable.

The Angels' bullpen got a boost with Craig Lefferts' first AL save in one-hit relief, snapping an 18-game streak without a save.

Royals 11, Blue Jays 9
At Toronto, Brent Mayne hit his first career grand slam as Kansas City rallied from a five-run deficit and beat Toronto.

Kansas City, which fell behind 5-0 in the first, trailed 7-3 in the third before Felix Jose's RBI single and Mayne's first homer. Joe Carter had five RBIs for Toronto. He leads the AL with 39 RBIs.

Tom Gordon (2-1) won despite allowing eight runs and seven hits in 6 2-3 innings. Jeff Montgomery got five outs for his third save.

Juan Guzman (3-3) was tagged for eight runs and eight hits in two-plus innings, the shortest outing of his career.

Henning seeks solid putter for Legends

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Last year, Harold Henning found the $250,000 winner's check at the Legends of Golf tournament. This year, he'd probably settle for finding a good putter.

"I've got 25 of them," Henning said, hoping just one would do him right beginning with today's opening round of the $1.1 million tournament that helped start the Senior PGA Tour.

Henning has used both long-shafted and regular putters, each with varying degrees of failure. After earning nearly $600,000 last year, he's picked up only $61,406 so far this season - 56th on the money list.

"I have problems with the short putter - the pace is bad. I've been using the long one on and off for 10 years. I was one of the first," he said.

Fortunately for Henning, he'll get some help in defending his Legends title.

After a one-year experiment with individual play, the invitation-only event returns to its original two-man, better-ball team format. Henning is paired with Australian newcomer Graham Marsh, who finished second at Doug Sanders' seniors tournament in Houston earlier this season.

Also eyeing the $200,000 first prize are Lee Trevino and Mike Hill, the winning team in 1991 and 1992.

"This is what the players chose," tournament executive director Gary Goodsell said after 52 of 58 players surveyed last year voiced a preference for the two-man, better-ball game.

"They want the Legends to be different from all the other tournaments they play every week on the circuit," Goodsell said.

Henning, who defeated Tom Weiskopf and Don January in last year's playoff, also won the 1989 tournament with Al Geiberger. In 1991, their team shot a tournament record 58 over the 6,689-yard, par-72 Barton Creek Country Club course.

Geiberger is out with a rotator cuff injury. Marsh, a Senior Tour rookie with more than 50 titles worldwide, shot 66 in a pro-am round during which he says he was "just trying to get to know the course."

Trevino and Hill already know the layout. They shot a 36-under-par 252 in 1991 and 37-under in 1992. Trevino ranks second on this year's money list at $403,517, with Hill 11th.

Other strong teams include: Jim Colbert and Bob Murphy, two former television announcers now ranked fourth and seventh in earnings; Simon Hobday and George Archer, who's ranked fifth on the money list; and Dale Douglas and Charles Coody, who won the 1990 title with a record 39-under-par 249.

Question of Seles' return has become 'if,' not 'when'

By STEVE WILSTEIN
AP Tennis Writer

Is the brilliant tennis career of Monica Seles over, destroyed by one moment of insanity and 12 months of mental anguish in a search for the meaning to it all?

A year after she was stabbed in the back by an obsessed fan of Steffi Graf, the question of when Seles will return is less discussed among players and officials in women's tennis than the question of whether she ever will.

"Nobody really knows," Graf said at the start of this week's tournament in Hamburg, Germany where Seles was attacked on court last April 30. "I think it is getting more and more unlikely."

Women's Tennis Association executive director Gerard Smith, at the WTA office in Florida, phrased it a little differently.

"I would say the longer she's out, the more difficult it will be for her to return," Smith said.

"I can only imagine that the traumatic impact that the attack must have had on her put everything else into a different perspective," he said.

The WTA, which is seeking new sponsorship for its tour to replace Kraft and Virginia Slims, desperately needs Seles and other marquee players. Jennifer Capriati left the tour to go back to high school, and there are doubts about her motivation to return this summer. Martina Navratilova plans to retire at the end of the year. Gabriela Sabatini hasn't won anything in a couple of years.

Without Seles, women's tennis has virtually turned into the Steffi Graf Tour. She's won every match she's played this year, dropping only one set along the way, and has captured four straight Grand Slam titles. The last Grand Slam event she lost was the Australian in 1993, when Seles beat her in the final for her eighth Grand Slam title in a career in which she has won $7.4 million.

Yet, despite the WTA's desire to have Seles back, relations with her have been strained since it declined to protect her No. 1 ranking during her absence.

"I would hope it would not be a factor in her staying away, but at this stage no one rules out anything," said Smith, who hasn't spoken to Seles since the days after the attack. "We did what we thought was best for women's tennis and for the tour. We tried to evaluate our decision with regard to her request for a co-ranking at No. 1 in the context of how it would affect everyone. We came to the conclusion that providing her with a co-ranking for an unlimited amount of time would be inappropriate. And, if anything, the length of time she's been out suggests that decision was correct."

"I don't relish having made the decision, and I clearly did not like the fallout from it, where it created this ongoing controversy between the association and Monica."

Seles, who has avoided reporters and did not respond to requests through her agent for an interview for this article, practices tennis at her home in Sarasota, Fla., working on aspects of her game that she had never developed, like volleying. She talks about coming back, acts as if she will. Yet, like the rest of the tennis world, even she wonders whether she still has the drive and tenacity that distinguished her game, separating her from all her rivals in her sheer refusal to yield on court.

At 20, she's catching up on things in life that once eluded her, tackling James Joyce's abstruse novel "Ulysses," painting, going to the movies, traveling to visit friends. And, as much as anything, looking inside herself for direction.

"I've watched myself on tape," Seles told Tennis, "and I always looked very emotional, very focused, and totally into what is happening on the court. But even though I see myself, I do not recognize myself, because that isn't really me - it's just a part of me, a part that I call my 'second personality.' And I don't know if that second personality will ever come out again in that way, because at the time that I was stabbed, I was living a very different life. In some ways, it was a very closed-off life."

"I decided that I want to live the rest of my life happy with what I'm doing. So when I play tennis again, I have to play it for the right reason.... I only want to play because I love the game, which is the reason I began to play at age 7 in the first place."

DERBY

EDT Saturday, the total purse will be $888,800, with $638,800 going to the winner.

Mike Smith is set to ride Holy Bull, who has only one loss in eight career races. That came in the Fountain of Youth, won by 2-year-old champion Dehere, after Holy Bull developed a breathing problem and never got into the hunt.

Holy Bull is expected to take the early lead along with the Panamanian-campaigned Ulises, who will be in the post position just to Holy Bull's outside.

"It's a real good post position. The other speed is right next to me, so I can tell what they're doing," Smith said. "Probably the hardest thing to do on this horse will be sit still."

After Holy Bull, the next three favorites were the 1-2-3 horses in the Santa Anita Derby.

Gary Stevens will ride Brocco, who lost a pair of California stakes to Valiant Nature and Soul Of The Matter before coming back to win the Santa Anita Derby on April 9. Brocco will try to stay close to the pace, and trainer Randy Winick said if the others let Holy Bull alone on the lead, he'd go after him.

"If Holy Bull starts to get away, we'll move early," Winick said.

The 6-1 third favorite in the field is the D. Wayne Lukas-trained Tabasco Cat, who won two graded stakes in California this spring before finishing second to Brocco in the Santa Anita Derby. Ridden by Pat Day, Tabasco Cat will be near the lead, as well.

The come-from-behind Strodes Creek, trained by Charlie Whittingham and ridden by Eddie Delahoussaye, was third in the Santa Anita Derby, his first stakes start, and was made the early 8-1 fourth choice.

Valiant Nature passed up the Santa Anita Derby to challenge Holy Bull in the Blue Grass and finished second. Trained by Ron McAnally and ridden by Laffit Pincay, he's the 12-1 fifth choice, followed by three horses at 15-1: Blumin Affair, second to Brocco in the Breeders' Cup Juvenile; Southern Rhythm, winner of the Lexington, and Go For Gin, the Preview Stakes winner who was second in both the Florida Derby and Wood Memorial.

CCF is located at 401 W. Park Ave. Sunday school classes for all ages begin at 9:30 a.m. and morning worship starts at 10:45. The Lord's Supper is served to all believers.

CCF is a fellowship of churches, now established all across the United States and in many foreign countries since its beginnings in the late 1980s. It was originally founded to help hurting pastors and hurting churches and as Christ has been exalted, the church has seen a rapid growth. CCF believes that all gifts operating in the first century church are still available to all believers today.

This Mother's Day Sunday, Pastor Otto Schaufele will continue his sermon on "Spiritual Warfare."

This Sunday night, three men involved in the "Promise Keepers" will be at CCF to share with all men at 6 p.m. "Promise Keepers" is a nation-wide, inter-denominational organization that has caught on like wild-fire the past couple of years. All men in the community interested in this ministry are invited to attend.

The Women's Bible Studies are beginning a new six-week study on the Holiness of God. It is a video teaching by R.C. Sproul. Two meeting times are available: Mondays at 7 p.m. and Wednesdays at 10 a.m. Both classes meet in the parlor and childcare is provided.

The junior high group reminds everyone to please continue bringing one can of food or other non-perishable item each week to church. These go to needy families in our community.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

"Abide in His Love" is the title of the sermon by the Rev. Charles A. Wilson on the Sixth Sunday of Easter. The Holy Eucharist is celebrated at 11 a.m. and will include the Spring Ingathering of the United Thankoffering. There is a coffee hour in the parish hall after the service.

Christian education for all ages is at 9:30 a.m. each Sunday with children and youth meeting in the education wing and the Adult Class meeting in the church parlor. The Adult Class continues with "Spring Potpourri: A Miscellany of Things Anglican, Episcopalian and, God Willing, Christian." The video and discussion this coming Sunday will focus on "The (In) Dignity of Aging," a look at the church's ministry to, with, and for older adults.

The regular Wednesday Public Service of Healing is at 7 p.m. and includes the Litany of Healing, the Laying-on-of-Hands with Holy Unction and Holy Communion. We will observe the principal feast of Ascension Day. St. Thomas' Vestry will meet at 8 p.m. following the service.

Intercessory prayer requests from the community are most welcome. To have them included in the Prayers of the People at all services, please call 364-0146 and leave a message. In case of emergency or to make appointments for personal conferences, please call Father Wilson in Amarillo at 1-353-1734.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Everyone is welcome to join FUMC members in the following Sunday schedule of events. Sunday school begins at 9:30 a.m.; the morning worship service, 10:45; confirmation class, 6 p.m.; and evening worship, 6.

FUMC will be honoring all offerings on May 8 and a special offering will be given to the elderly of King's Manor and Sears Methodist Centers of our conference. This is a wonderful way to share God's love through the ministry to the elderly. The offering will be divided evenly between both facilities unless otherwise instructed.

Two tours are being offered through St. Stephen United Methodist Church, Amarillo, in October. One tour, a balloon festival, is set for Oct. 7-8 in Albuquerque, N.M. Cost is $269 based on a double occupancy. The second tour, a Smokey Mountain music and magic tour, is offered Oct. 17-22. Double occupancy is $1,092. Flyers are available at St. Stephen. These are sponsored by S.T.A.R.S. (Senior times and Really Special).

The Amarillo district is co-sponsoring a golf tournament for the purpose of raising funds for the Ceta Canyon dining/multi-purpose center. The tournament will be held May 16 at Tascosa C.C. in Amarillo. The format is a four-person scramble. Methodist Hospital will be the major corporate sponsor for the tournament and will underwrite the cost for green fees and carts for all players.

All players will need sponsors who will pledge an amount of money for each hole played in the tournament. If you would like to play in this tournament or would like to give your support through sponsoring a hole or holes, please let us know by calling Joe Wood or the church office.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm in love with a wonderful man who loves me with all his heart and treats me like gold.

The problem is his attitude toward others. "Rod" can be extremely judgmental and opinionated. His political views are radical, and he never misses an opportunity to voice them, no matter who he offends. He often appears to be uninformed and stupid, which embarrasses me.

Rod also takes violent dislikes to people for vague reasons and doesn't hesitate to chew them out publicly. I've tried to explain that his attitude destroys friendships and makes enemies, but I don't seem to be able to get through to him.

If I tell Rod I can't see him for a few days, he pleads with me to make time. This makes me feel guilty because I know he will be sitting home alone. He has no social life except me.

Most of my friends dislike him. When I meet people who have known him for a long while, I go out of my way to let them know we are not two of a kind. Should I marry him?—B.A. in Mid-America

Gem of the Day: If the only tool you have is a hammer, you will tend to see every problem as a nail.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Rockets' 3-pointer prowess poses problems for Blazers

By BOB BAUM
AP Sports Writer
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The scene is painfully familiar to the Portland Trail Blazers. They collapse their defense against Houston center Hakeem Olajuwon only to watch another, wide-open Rocket swish a 3-pointer. Houston has shot 25-for-54 from behind the 3-point line in their three playoff games against Portland. Seven different Houston players have made at least one, but the main shooters are Vernon Maxwell, Kenny Smith and Robert Horry. Most of the long shots are by design in Houston's "inside-out" offense and are a chief concern of Portland coach Rick Adelman heading into tonight's fourth game of the best-of-5 series. Houston leads 2-1 and a victory would send the Rockets into the second round against Phoenix. The Rockets are streak shooters and they're on a big streak now. "They can have five or six games where they are just monsters at that," Adelman said. "You just hope they're going to have some type of break in their shooting sooner or later. They shoot so many and they have no conscience about it." Coach Rudy Tomjanovich encourages the 3's.

"When we have it, he wants us to take it. If we don't take it, he'll get on us about it," Maxwell said, "so we have to take the shot. Luckily we're making them right now." Probably only a slam dunk rivals a 3-pointer for how it feels to the shooter. "It's a deep shot, it silences the crowd and it's worth three points, so it's definitely a good feeling," Maxwell said. Maxwell made one from about 40 feet late in Tuesday night's 118-115 loss to the Blazers. He isn't sure where his range stops. "When I get in the midst of a game, I don't know," he said. "Rod (Strickland) and Harvey (Grant) and I were talking about it yesterday. They said a couple of those were way out and I didn't even know it." The Rockets decided the best way to build a team around Olajuwon was to load the roster with good shooters. "That's the payoff. That's the chemistry of the in-and-out game," Tomjanovich said. "When we look at players, that's one of the things we're looking for. Can the guy keep a defense honest from the outside?" Tomjanovich said that trait in Horry, who has hit 5 of 10 3-pointers and averaged 15.3 points per game in the series.

"We saw that in the Olympic Trials several years ago. And when we brought him in for our interview before the draft, he went around the horn without missing a shot," Tomjanovich said. There has been a lot of talk about how the Blazers probably can't play much better than they did Tuesday night. Portland's Clyde Drexler thinks the same could be said of Houston. "We played very well and the funny thing about it is I don't think Houston can play much better," Drexler said.

gone this long." Atlanta's Kevin Willis said. "Give Miami credit. They came out and took it to us. But we're a good team. Our backs were to the wall and we came out and got it done." Sunday's winner advances to the Eastern Conference semifinals against Indiana. If Miami wins, it will pair two teams that never before advanced to the second round of the playoffs. "I know our team will come out like fire," the Heat's John Salley said. "We play hard at home, but even harder on the road." Danny Manning finished with 26 points for the Hawks, while reserve guard Bimbo Coles led the Heat with 18 points.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

A FAMOUS POOL!

THE POOL AT JERUSALEM, TO WHICH JESUS SENT THE BLIND MAN, TO GO AND WASH THE CLAY FROM HIS EYES AND ONCE AGAIN RECEIVE HIS SIGHT---CAN BE SEEN TODAY, ALMOST AS IT WAS IN JESUS' TIME! THE POOL OF SILOAM!

IT RECEIVED ITS WATER FROM A TUNNEL WHICH IS 1,749 FEET LONG, COMMENCING AT THE SPRING OF GIHON. THE TUNNEL IS SUPPOSED TO DATE FROM THE TIME OF KING HEZEKIAH'S REIGN (c.700 B.C.). THE WOMEN OF NEAR-BY HOUSES STILL DRAW WATER FROM IT--JUST AS THEIR FOREBEARS HAVE DONE FOR CENTURIES!

THIS DEVOTIONAL & DIRECTORY IS MADE POSSIBLE BY THESE BUSINESSES WHO ENCOURAGE ALL OF US TO ATTEND WORSHIP SERVICES.

Trucking firm grows, but still family-owned

BY RICK LANNING
Staff Writer

More than a dozen tractor-trailer rigs sit in the yard at Newton Trucking Inc., 200 W. Walnut Road, ready to transport feed for livestock, corn used to make tortillas, and other products to distant points.

The Peterbilt and Mack trucks that represent Newton Trucking were acquired over the years by Floyd Newton, founder of the company, and his son Roy, who took over as president around the first of the year after his father retired.

The company was incorporated in 1975, a year before Roy graduated from Hereford High School. He enrolled at West Texas University and received a degree in agriculture business in 1980.

Roy Newton said he has owned trucks since his high school days.

"I've always been around trucks," he declared. "During high school, I drove LT Ford 900s to haul grain. Those were gas rigs in those days. Now our trucks run on diesel fuel."

Roy said he drove the trucks because he wanted to do something to earn money. His father encouraged him because "he wanted to get me interested in the trucking business," said Newton.

Roy traveled throughout the Southwest, operating his father's combines and trucks. For years he drove to Casa Grande, Ariz. to cut wheat.

"We were hauling grain, cotton seed, and sorghum," he said. "In 1977, my Dad decided to concentrate on the trucking industry and quit the combines completely and stopped going to Arizona."

Today Newton Trucking has 18 trucks and 25 employees. The company hauls products to New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, and parts of Arkansas and Arizona as well as throughout Texas.

"Our biggest products are manufactured blended feeds for livestock and food corn -- the corn that's ground up to make tortillas," said Newton. "There are many good markets for food corn in, say, Albuquerque and Pueblo, Colorado."

The trucks, worth around $75,000 each, are fitted with special equipment to help them transport the food products.

According to Roy, the company was operating with 12 trucks two years ago and has enjoyed a period of sustained growth.

"We have steady customers who depend on us," he said, "and we're always on the lookout for new business opportunities." Many times, for example, his drivers will deliver a load of livestock feed and bring back a load of hay pellets that can be used locally.

His company, like the rest of the Texas trucking industry, is regulated by the Railroad Commission.

Newton said shippers fall into two basic categories: the ones who want to ship as cheaply as possible, and those who want good service and are willing to pay extra.

His biggest complaint is the way regulators of the trucking industry deregulated parts of the business, putting pressure on trucking firms to lower their rates.

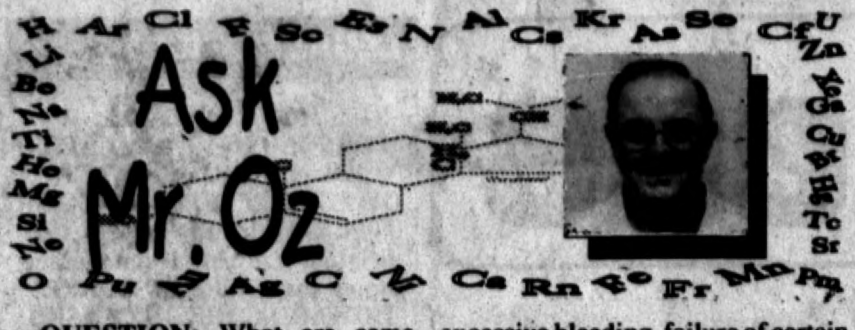

"It really hurt us at first," he said. "It was all price. It's hard to be good and cheap at the same time."

If Newton could change the way the industry operates, he would seek a better system of taxation that would reduce the tire and battery disposal fees.

"The government likes to raise fuel taxes and user fees for highways," said Newton. "Right now, we're paying 44 cents in taxes for each gallon of diesel fuel we use."

"I think the government should be able to come up with a more equitable way of taxation."

Newton Trucking moved to a new location at the end of February. The terminal building occupies 9,600 square feet of space and will cost over $300,000 when it is completed.

QUESTION: What are some diseases of the liver?

ANSWER: Last week I wrote about some of the functions of the liver, known as the hepatic organ. Since the liver performs so many vital jobs, liver diseases can result in very serious consequences.

If the liver stops functioning, death will result. However, there is a bright side. The liver has the ability to produce new cells to replace diseased or damaged cells.

One of the diseases of the liver is jaundice. This disease occurs when the blood contains an excessive amount of bilirubin, causing a yellowish discoloration of the skin and the whites of the eyes.

Jaundice usually occurs because the liver cells fail to remove the excess bilirubin from the blood. The disease may also occur if gallstones block the bile duct, preventing bilirubin from being excreted in the bile. Though jaundice is usually a liver disease, it can also be caused by an excess breakdown of red blood cells.

Hepatitis is another disease of the liver, caused by inflammation, usually by viruses or toxins.

There are two main types of hepatitis, A and B.

Hepatitis A is usually spread through food or water contaminated by human and animal wastes. It is not a serious disease.

Hepatitis B, however, can cause excessive bleeding, failure of certain functions of the liver and even coma. This disease is spread by contaminated blood, unsterile medical instruments and close contact with an infected person.

Cirrhosis is the result of scar tissue replacing healthy liver cells. As a result, the liver is unable to carry out its many functions. The main cause of cirrhosis is alcoholism; however, hepatitis may also contribute to this disease.

Because the liver filters blood, it often becomes infected with diseases that begin in other parts of the body.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Hip hop may be the rage, but the Godfather of Soul had no trouble getting 3,000 people to help him turn 61.

James Brown threw himself a party Tuesday, with actress Sharon Stone, rapper Tone Loc, the O'Jays and actor T.K. Carter paying tribute to the self-proclaimed "hardest working man in show business."

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Of the three nominees for the 1994 Governor's Award for Excellence in the Sciences, Gov. Robert P. Casey made the obvious choice.

He picked the surgeon who helped save his life.

The governor said Tuesday he would not be here today if not for Dr. Thomas E. Starzl, a pioneer in the field of organ transplants. Starzl didn't actually operate on Casey but sent him a copy of his book "The Puzzle People: Memoirs of a Transplant Surgeon," and the two discussed transplant options over the phone.

Casey said that conversation helped him decide to have a lifesaving heart-liver transplant at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center last June to correct a rare genetic disease, amyloidosis.

Starzl heads the Transplantation Institute at the medical center.
