Clinton gains concession from Russia on nuke sale

By BARRY SCHWEID

AP Diplomatic Writer

MOSCOW (AP) - President Clinton won partial concessions today from Russian President Boris Yeltsin on Moscow's proposed sale of nuclear technology to Iran. Russia also agreed to formalize ties with NATO.

Yeltsin agreed to abandon the proposed sale to Tehran of a gas centrifuge that can be used for making nuclear weapons and to delay, at least temporarily, the sale of two nuclear reactors.

The two presidents agreed that details of the $1 billion reactor sale would be reviewed by a commission led by Vice President Al Gore and Russian Prime Minister Viktor Chernomyrdin.

"We advanced the security interests of the people of the United States and of Russia," Clinton said at a joint news conference after the two leaders talked for more than four hours in the Kremlin.

Ax ready to fall as budget work starts

By DAVID ESPO

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - In an ambitious, politically risky assault on deficits, Republicans are beginning to push balanced-budget plans through Congress, looking for huge savings from Medicare and Medicaid and elimination of scores of federal programs as well as a possible tax cut.

From the huge Commerce Department to the Commission on Fine Arts, with its staff of seven, Republicans propose killing agencies, programs and commissions by the dozens to redeem their campaign pledge to shrink government and eliminate the federal deficit.

"This may be our last chance to balance the budget. Let's not let it slip away," Senate Budget Committee Chairman Pete Domenici, R-N.M., said Tuesday as he laid out a spending plan that estimated a $2 billion surplus in 2002. "Let's do what the American people are screaming at us to do and pass a balanced budget."

Across the Capitol, House Republicans previewed a tax and spending plan that differed in detail from Domenici's, but not in direction.

It, too, envisioned savings of more than $400 billion over seven years from Medicare and Medicaid - a sizeable percentage of the reductions needed to balance the budget. It also would wipe out Cabinet departments and smaller agencies and force cuts in numerous other domestic programs.

"This is for real. It's going to happen," said Rep. John Kasich, R-Ohio, chairman of the House Budget Committee.

Both budget panels arranged to meet today, with Republicans expected to use their majority to push through the plans in daylong sessions.

"That's not what Americans voted for last November, tax cuts for the wealthy and Medicare cuts for senior citizens," Rep. Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., House Democratic leader, said in a statement.

Verdict issued on lesser charge in court trial here

A jury in 22nd District Court Tuesday returned a guilty verdict on a lesser charge than the defendant originally faced.

Darnell Scott, 39, was convicted of indecent exposure, a misdemeanor. The original charge was a felony, indecency with a child.

The defendant earlier exercised the option to have punishment determined by Judge David Wesley Gulley. After receiving a pre-sentencing report from community corrections, Judge Gulley will assess punishment.

Scott may be sentenced to a jail term up to 180 days or fined up to $2,000, or both.

Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul presented testimony by four witnesses, including the victim, now nine years old. The incident occurred on Aug. 10, 1993.

Two witnesses, including the defendant, testified for the defense.

Ceremony to honor local firm

McCaslin Lumber Co. will be presented with the "1995 Small Business Achievement Award" in a ceremony conducted here Thursday at 11:30 a.m. by Sen. Phil Gramm's office.

As part of National Small Business Appreciation Week, the ceremony will recognize McCaslin's 56 years in operation and the store's commitment to the economic well-being of the community and state.

Ed Hodges, a representative from Sen. Gramm's office, will present the award and read a congratulatory letter from Sen. Gramm.

"The small business owner makes a tremendous contribution to our economy, our competitiveness, and our entire way of life," said Gramm. "It is very fitting for our nation to dedicate a week in recognition of the small business owner."

Home-rule districts could escape many state regulations if local voters approve a charter outlining their education plans. But they would have to abide by some state rules.

In the House bill, home-rule school districts would have to limit class sizes to 22 students per teacher in kindergarten through grade four, a key part of sweeping education reforms approved in 1984.

The issue is one of several thorny items facing a conference committee that's racing to hammer out differences between House and Senate bills to overhaul education before the end of the regular session May 29.

HISD appreciation banquet recognizes retirees, workers

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

The Hereford Independent School District on Tuesday honored its own, with the district hosting the annual Employee Appreciation Dinner in the administration building banquet hall.

Among the highlights of the evening was presentation of the first-ever Teacher of the Year award, which went to Caroline Gilley and Carolyn Waters.

Also, Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt announced that Hereford Junior High principal Marylin Leasure has been selected as Secondary Principal of the Year for Educational Services Center Region 16, which encompasses the Panhandle area.

Mrs. Gilley, who teaches fourth grade at West Central Intermediate School, was honored as Elementary Teacher of the Year. Mrs. Waters, a History teacher at Hereford Junior High, was tabbed as Secondary Teacher of the Year.

Each of the two was selected as Teacher of the Year at her respective campus. They were both presented engraved plaques for the honor.

After each campus selected its teacher of the year, a committee took on the task of narrowing the list to the two district honorees.

Other campus Teacher of the Year honorees were: Neil Medlock, HHS; Holly Bixler, Aikman; Deloris Dowell, Bluebonnet; Jana Davis, Northwest; Kim Potts, Shirley; Betty Sue Worthan, Tierra Blanca; and Linda McLain, Stanton SOAR High; and Dorothy Brownlow, Stanton Pre-K.

Each of the campus teacher of the year honorees received a plaque and six long-stem roses except Medlock, who was awarded a gift certificate instead of the roses.

As Region 16 Principal of the Year, Mrs. Leasure will advance to a regional competition among other ESC region Principals of the Year. The winner at that regional contest will advance to the state Principal of the Year contest.

Mrs. Leasure was presented a dozen pink long-stemmed roses to commemorate the honor.

Also at the banquet, Employees of the Year were announced in several different support services areas by assistant superintendent Don Cumpston, service pins were given out to long-time employees and four retirees were given recognition.

House, Senate negotiators debate issues surrounding education bill

By PEGGY FIKAC

AUSTIN (AP) - House and Senate education negotiators have disagreed on whether school districts that become "home rule" with voter approval must abide by state limits on class sizes in the lower grades.

The issue is one of several thorny items facing a conference committee that's racing to hammer out differences between House and Senate bills to overhaul education before the end of the regular session May 29.

The creation of home-rule school districts has been backed by both chambers in bills designed to reduce state control over education. Gov. George W. Bush made home-rule schools a cornerstone of his 1994 campaign.

Backers of leaving the issue up to home-rule districts also said it would allow districts, for example, to have larger classes for some students in order to free up funds allowing even smaller classes for those needing more individual attention.

Others disagreed.

"I think one of the best things we've ever done is 22-to-1 (student-teacher ratio)," said Sen. Gregory Luna, D-San Antonio. "I really don't want there to be no restriction. I've seen it in the lifetime of my children - they were 35-to-1."

Rep. Christine Hernandez, D-San Antonio, said, "The only people I hear from who don't want 22-to-1 are school board members who have to figure out how to finance it."

That's the heart of the potential problem with lifting the requirement, said Rep. Scott Hochberg, D-Houston.

"I think there are tremendous pressures to increase class size, not for any educational reasons, but because of money," he said.

Industrial arts competitors

World/Nation

OKLAHOMA CITY - As Terry Nichols comes closer to being charged in the federal building bombing, the FBI is investigating whether his husky 12-year-old son could be the person depicted in the John Doe 2 sketches.

Nichols, who is being held in Kansas as a material witness in the bombing investigation, is scheduled to appear before a federal magistrate in Wichita late this morning, a federal official told The Associated Press.

MOSCOW - Face to face, Presidents Bill Clinton and Boris Yeltsin discuss a growing array of disagreements, from NATO to a nuclear reactor sale to Iran. "It is entirely up to the two of them" whether differences can be bridged, a U.S. official says.

WASHINGTON - The "Contract With America" tax cuts moved through the House so fast that lawmakers had little opportunity to tuck on the kind of tax goodies that please constituents and campaign contributors. Now the time has come. They're getting a shot, albeit a long shot, to depart from the script and cut some deals.

WASHINGTON - The number of people receiving food stamps is dropping after four years of unprecedented growth that pushed more than one in 10 Americans into the federal government's largest welfare program.

LONDON - Longing to return to their nomadic roots, the Innu of northeastern Canada face the usual obstacles - chemical dependencies, societal breakdown, domestic violence - plus one headache all their own: NATO combat aircraft.

WASHINGTON - Before there was Sally Ride, there was Barbie.

Some feminists may sneer, but little girls were clamoring for "Miss Astronaut" Barbie - clad in a pearl gray space suit adorned with tiny black zippers - years before the U.S. space program took the idea of women astronauts seriously. The first space Barbie will make a return engagement in Washington this summer.

State

WASHINGTON - An independent base-closings commission today answers the question whether the Air Force's five depots, including San Antonio's Kelly Air Force Base, will be reviewed for closure.

HARLINGEN - Nearly a year after the bodies of four Mexican nationals were dumped in remote waterways, their names have resurfaced in a federal drug indictment against a businessman and an ex-police chief. The indictment names the four victims as former conspirators in a drug gang that San Benito businessman Marco Enrique Torres is accused of heading.

AUSTIN - More than half of the women inmates who enter state prisons are dependent on alcohol or other drugs, according to a new study. In addition, 40 percent claim to have been drunk or high at the time of the offense that led to their imprisonment, the study released Tuesday says.

RICHARDSON - Adam Zelazny needed to call home for lunch money. Chris Rios had to let his parents know he was staying late. And they both are very excited about what they can do on the Internet. The two 13-year-old seventh-graders are among students taking advantage of the first school wireless telephone system in the country.

WASHINGTON - The Senate Judiciary Committee's chairman and a subcommittee chairman are feuding over a proposed hearing on federal law enforcement's actions against the Branch Davidian cult in 1993. The spat between Republicans Orrin Hatch of Utah and Arlen Specter of Pennsylvania resulted Tuesday in the highly unusual spectacle of two senators lobbing the phrase "political opportunist" at each other.

HOUSTON - U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm is relying heavily on Texan cash in his bid for the presidential nomination.

FORT WORTH - More than 100 years after they split over racial issues, leaders of three black Methodist denominations and one of their white counterparts are looking into a possible merger, but few people seem to think it will happen soon.

BEEVILLE - A lawsuit has been filed against the Beeville Independent School District by a senior honor student who was expelled after school officials found a marijuanna cigarette in her car.

SAN ANTONIO - The president of the Somerset school board has been convicted on two misdemeanor counts of violating the Open Meetings Act.

FORT WORTH - Amon Carter Museum officials say that the layoffs of 15 percent of the museum's staff were part of a "wave of change" that began last month with the resignation of director Jan Keene Muhlfeld.

FORT WORTH - A seventh woman has been added as a plaintiff in a lawsuit alleging "sexually predatory" conduct over a long period by Barry Bailey, former senior minister of the First United Methodist Church of Fort Worth.

Prosecution to tie DNA evidence together with testimony by expert

By MICHAEL FLEEMAN

Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - They could be called the marks of murder or the dashes of death. What they look like, though, are a bunch of black smudges on a piece of X-ray film.

As innocuous as these "autorads" appear to be, they could mean the difference between life in Brentwood or life in prison for O.J. Simpson.

On Tuesday, jurors held copies of an autorad that depicted, in lines of dark bars, the genetic makeup of blood from Simpson and the two people he is accused of murdering.

The unspoken promise was that prosecutor George "Woody" Clarke and scientific witness Robin Cotton would link the results of that autorad with the results of genetic tests on blood collected at the murder scene, in Simpson's Ford Bronco and at his mansion.

That promise, however, was left for when testimony resumes today.

Cotton, director of Cellmark Diagnostics, a top DNA testing lab, testified for two days without revealing any of the results. Legal analysts, at least, were getting antsy.

"It's not exciting. It's not interesting. It's the reason we all tried to get out of high school biology."

said Loyola University law professor Stan Goldman.

The jury, however, looked like it always does, which is impossible to read. There were the occasional yawns, and one alternate appeared to drift into sleep for a moment before awaking with a jerk of her head. But for the most part, jurors appeared attentive and interested.

Many took notes during even the densest of testimony, such as when Cotton explained the various forms of scientific controls used in testing.

Still, the most exciting moment of the court day had nothing to do with autorads and genetic markers. It involved Superior Court Judge Lance Ito, who showed a flash of anger over a minor technical glitch.

When Cotton's wireless microphone cut off the judge's microphone, Ito called a recess, threw his microphone in a trash can and bolted from the courtroom while technicians fixed the problem.

Another minor surprise came when Cotton revealed to the jury that 10 percent of some blood swatches, or samples, were cut away by the defense and kept for future testing.

Defense attorneys didn't want jurors to know that Simpson's experts had taken samples for testing. Jurors might speculate on whether the defense tests implicated Simpson - if such tests were even conducted.

Otherwise, it was Day 2 of cramming about 40 years of developments in microbiology into just a few hours. Although tedious, the testimony by DNA scientists is critical for the prosecution, which hopes to link Simpson to murder through the analysis of blood, hair and fiber evidence.

In openings statements, and in drips and drabs throughout the trial - mostly out of the jury's presence - prosecutors have said that genetic tests match Simpson's DNA to blood drops near the bodies of his ex-wife and her friend.

Also, a glove found behind Simpson's mansion the day after the murders contained blood genetically consistent with that of Ms. Simpson and Goldman, prosecutors said.

On Tuesday, Cotton told jurors about two items of evidence that were found to contain a mixture of DNA from more than one person. One was the bottom of Goldman's shoe; the other was the steering wheel on Simpson's Bronco.

"The samples extracted clearly contain the DNA of more than one person," Cotton said.

Reforms may lower insurance

By CHIP BROWN

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Lawmakers say lower insurance premiums may be among the first effects of sweeping civil justice reforms passed by the 1995 Legislature.

Because of several bills limiting civil lawsuits, the Texas House is so convinced that liability insurance costs for insurance companies will come down that it gave preliminary approval Tuesday to a measure mandating lower premiums for consumers.

The bill faces a final House vote before going to the Senate for consideration.

Rep. Mark Stiles, D-Beaumont, placed an amendment on a bill by Rep. Robert Duncan, R-Lubbock, to give Texas Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer authority to determine rollbacks in consumer premiums beginning Jan. 1, 1996.

If the commissioner fails to take action, legislatively-mandated reductions would go into effect.

"If their (insurance companies') costs are lower, there are mandated reductions in here," Stiles said. "If we do not do this, it is undisputed that carriers would get a windfall."

Insurance industry spokesman Jerry Johns of the Southwestern Insurance Information Service said, "It is ludicrous to predict in advance without any economic foundation just what impact tort reform will have on any line of insurance."

Rick Gentry of the Insurance Information Institute said, "A rate rollback is not the way to go. It's a classic example of government interference in what is otherwise a sound economic system."

Rob Schneider, spokesman for Consumers Union, said, "We were pleasantly surprised by this. We opposed most of the tort reforms that the Legislature passed, but since they passed we believe that the consumers should receive the savings."

Stiles said insurance consumers stand to save $864 million due to civil justice measures reducing the liability of individuals and businesses. He said the anticipated savings are based, in part, on the savings incurred after the Legislature passed sweeping worker's compensation insurance reform in 1989.

He said waiting until Jan. 1, 1996, to impose rollbacks would give Bomer enough time to work with the insurance industry to determine what cost cuts should be required.

Stiles said if insurance companies attempt to contest the measure in court, mandated rollbacks would automatically go into effect.

Duncan said he questioned the constitutionality of that provision.

"It might infringe on a person's right to due process in court," Duncan said.

But Stiles contends the measure is constitutional because the mandated rollbacks would be based on Texas Department of Insurance data and wouldn't be arbitrary.

Shower for bride

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In 1981, my car was hit by an 82-year-old driver who ran a stop sign on a country highway at 60 mph. Despite my shoulder harness, my back was broken, my jaw was splintered, my collarbone was driven into my lungs, and I had more than 140 cuts on my face and hands.

The driver who hit me had caused six accidents the previous year. After spending three months in the hospital, he was driving again. A year later, he killed an entire family, including four children. He died in that accident.

I am partially crippled, bedridden and in constant pain from a crushed spine. Incompetent licensing laws and a stubborn old man who kept driving have ruined my life.

"Oh, we tried to tell him he shouldn't drive," said the man's daughter in court. Her failure to get him off the roads deprived her of an inheritance, as I was awarded $400,000 by the court. His family had to sell his farm and family business to pay my doctor bills.

If your readers knew that their family could lose everything they own if Grandpa hits someone, maybe they would do something about getting these killers out of the driver's seat. Will you please print this letter? It could make a big difference. -- Milford, Ohio

DEAR MILFORD: Here's your letter. You have my thanks for writing it.

Yes, I know that old folks get angry when you take away the car keys, but it's better to face their wrath than allow them to continue driving until they kill themselves or cripple several innocent victims. I'm not even mentioning the financial repercussions, which could be ruinous. Tough love isn't only for kids. It can be beneficial to old folks as well. I recommend it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are expecting our first child next month. We waited for this blessing for six years. There's one huge problem.

My mother-in-law assumes I want her help. I don't. She has called to say she is coming to "take over" for a month as soon as the baby is born. What can I do without destroying our good relationship? -- Montreal, Real

DEAR READER: Tell her she is wonderful to offer, but you want to see how well you can manage on your own, and if you need help, you will call her. Add, "We hope you will come for a little visit later on." That should do it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have solved a problem that many of your readers have written about. Maybe I can help them. My son, "Johnny," sleeps so soundly that even two alarm clocks in a tin pan, as you suggested a few years ago, are useless. This is what I did:

I bought a timer used for watering the lawn. It has 24 hours marked on it in 15-minute increments. I also purchased a very loud alarm bell. (They come in loud, louder and raise-the-dead loud.)

I mounted the bell on the wall by Johnny's pillow and had an electrician wire the timer to it. Every night, my son sets the timer so the alarm will go off every 15 minutes starting at 6 a.m. He now gets up every morning by himself.

This was a little more money than one would normally spend for an alarm clock, but believe me, it was well worth it. It has worked now for four years, and everybody is a lot happier. -- Mom in Choctaw, Okla.

DEAR CHOC: Some problems demand extreme measures, and yours was certainly one of them. Thanks for sharing the solution. That Rube Goldberg contraption must be quite a conversation piece when his friends come over.

Drugs are everywhere. They're easy to get, easy to use and even easier to get hooked on. If you have questions about drugs, you need Ann Landers' booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.75 (this includes postage and handling) to: Lowdown, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. ## Bride-elect is honored

A bridal shower honoring Sharon Mendenhall, bride-elect of Tim Martin, was held recently in the home of Marline Watson.

The couple plan to marry June 3. Greeting guests with the honoree were her mother, Diane Mendenhall; Betty Martin, mother of the groom; and grandmothers of the groom, Dorothy Martin and Louise Ferguson.

Kamille Urbanczyk, sister of the groom, registered the guests.

Refreshments of cinnamon rolls, sausage pinwheels, olive-cheese balls, cookie, fruit, punch and coffee were served by Kim Van Alstine, sister of the groom. The table was decorated with spring flowers in an antique vase.

The honoree was presented with a vacuum cleaner by hostesses Kylene Anthony, Joyce Allred, Carolyn Baxter, Jean Beene, Merle Clark, Carolyn Christie, Beth Gearn, Mary Herring, Sheri Kerr, Gladys Merritt, Karen Payne, Lucy Rogers, Nancy Russell, Loretta Urbanczyk, Ella Marie Veigel, Marline Watson, Mary Beth White and Judy Williams.

The couple plans to be married May 27.

Greeting guests with the honoree were her mother, Opal Walterscheid, and her grandmother, Elizabeth Walterscheid.

Refreshments of cinnamon rolls, coffee cake, strawberry bread, fruit, punch and coffee were served from a table decorated with a fresh green arrangement.

A gift of cookware was given by the hostesses Patsy Simmacher, Charlene Sanders, Marion Yosten, Jeri Beznar, Reni Mason, Lola Smalts, Annette Albracht, Madeline Rossen, Bernadette Kalka, Lorine Schweriner, Loretta Urbanczyk and Detten.

HHS Orchestra rated in festival

The Hereford High School Orchestra participated in the Greater Southwest Music Festival in Amarillo on Friday.

The group received a First Division rating in performance.

Five students from the orchestra also received a Second Division rating for various solos.

Josh Liscano played a cello solo and Scott Trammell played a solo on string bass.

Carlos Ochoa and Jennifer Dunaway were also members of the Region I Honor Orchestra this year.

Shower is held for bride-to-be

Lori Walterscheid, bride-elect of Kent Massie, was honored with a shower on May 6 in the home of Judy Detten.

The couple plans to be married May 27.

Greeting guests with the honoree were her mother, Opal Walterscheid, and her grandmother, Elizabeth Walterscheid.

Refreshments of cinnamon rolls, coffee cake, strawberry bread, fruit, punch and coffee were served from a table decorated with a fresh green arrangement.

A gift of cookware was given by the hostesses Patsy Simmacher, Charlene Sanders, Marion Yosten, Jeri Beznar, Reni Mason, Lola Smalts, Annette Albracht, Madeline Rossen, Bernadette Kalka, Lorine Schweriner, Loretta Urbanczyk and Detten.

Youth musical ministry designed for everyone

The youth musical ministry team, Captive Free, will be performing at Immanuel Lutheran Church on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The members of the ministry team have dedicated a year of their lives to performing in hundreds of churches, prisons, schools, and nursing homes using music, puppets and personal testimonials.

The program includes something for everyone. The puppet shows are for young children. The contemporary Christian music appeals to middle and high school students. The mellow music catches adults' ears.

Entering its 30th year of ministry, Minneapolis-based Lutheran Youth Encounter sponsors Captive Free and nine other national and world-wide ministry teams.

Immanuel Lutheran Church welcomes the public to join Captive Free, Dave Anderson, Eric Benson, Chris Bernard, Liz Granzow, Tresma Schwarz, Debby Urie and Noel Zieziula. Admission is free.

Immanuel Lutheran Church is located at 100 Ave. B.

Gossip not just for girls anymore according to new study findings

DETROIT (AP) - Pssst. Want to hear a secret?

Boys and girls gossip the same amount—but they do it for different reasons and talk about slightly different things, a University of Michigan study found.

It found that preteens gossip an average of 18 times an hour, devoting as much as 50 percent of their time to it.

"Gossip is the mortar in the brick of conversation," said psychologist Jeffrey Parker. "It's the way they (preteens) talk."

The study did find some differences between boy talk and girl talk.

Girls aged 9 to 12 were more likely to talk about boys they had crushes on or boys other girls liked, Parker said. Boys rarely talked about the specific girls they liked, although they still talked about girls in general terms.

And pairs of boys who were good friends gossiped less than pairs of boys who were not as close, Parker said.

In comparison, the closer two girls were, the more time they were likely to spend in gossip, it found.

"Boys used it to get acquainted. Girls used it when they were already close," Parker said.

The preteens were three times more likely to gossip about their own sex than the opposite sex, and equally likely to gossip about other people's relationships as about their own, Parker and psychologist Stephanie Teasley found.

Some fourth graders at Winans Elementary School in Delta Township agreed that talk about the opposite sex is pretty popular.

"Boys, the next school day, other girls and stuff that's going around school, the rumors" are all common topics, said Lindsey Fortino, age 10.

"I talk about what I'm going to do, who I like and school stuff," Peterson said Monday. "And I talk about sports that I play for fun—soccer, football and basketball."

The amount of time the youngsters spent gossiping is not surprising, said

Peter Scales, director of national initiatives for the Center for Early Adolescence at the University of North Carolina.

"Kids that age, socializing is the prime thing they do," he said. "Kids are starting to define themselves."

The Ann Arbor study videotaped the conversations of 106 children, all between 9 and 12 and divided up into roughly equal male and female pairs. The children were at an overnight summer camp and were randomly paired with a camper of the same sex as a cabin mate.

The study defined gossip as any "evaluative talk" about a person who was not in the room. For example, comments about another child's looks, skills or character—nice or nasty—were counted as gossip. So were such observations as "Becky is her cousin" or "He's my boyfriend."

The findings were presented last month in Indianapolis at a meeting of the Society for Research in Child Development.

Bride-elect honored

A bridal shower in honor of D'Ann Hill, bride-elect of Chris Blair, was held May 6 at the home of Shirley Wilson.

The couple will be married June 10.

Greeting guests with the honoree were her mother, JoAnn Hill, and the prospective groom's mother, Treva Blair.

Serving refreshments of fresh fruit, cinnamon rolls, sausage balls, coffee and punch were Holly Coleman, Terri DeBord and Cathy Corbett.

The table was covered with a hand embroidered tablecloth on a white background and featured floral print napkins, silver and crystal appointments.

The centerpiece consisted of a hurricane candle set in a fresh flower arrangement of the bride's chosen colors of grape and fuchsia with teal accents.

Karen Solomon, Pam Stephens, Teresa Munoz, Susan Robbins, Denise Teel, Nancy Hollingsworth and Brenda Reinauer.

Hostesses for the meeting were Judy Schumacher, Elaine McNutt and Cindy Simons.

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) - Tex Beneke still remembers the salary he demanded over the telephone from band leader Glenn Miller: $52.50 per week - $2.50 more than the rest of the band.

"I guess I just wanted to be the highest paid," the 81-year-old jazz great said. "The line was dead on his end. Then he said, 'All right, I'll give it to you. But you're going to have to prove that you're worth the extra two and a half dollars."

The saxophonist apparently lived up to his end of the bargain. He, Miller and the vocal group the Modernaires produced a string of hits between 1938 and 1942, including "Chattanooga Choo-Choo."

Beneke performed Sunday at the Gogh Van Orange Art & Music Festival.

Management of Diabetes topic of HRMC seminar

Hereford Regional Medical Center, in cooperation with Lubbock Methodist Hospital Regional Services, will present a free seminar for anyone interested in learning more about diabetes.

The seminar, "Management of Diabetes," will be presented Friday at Hereford Senior Citizens Center. The program will take place from 9:11 a.m.

Donna Kemp, RN, BSN, Director of Nursing at Hereford Regional Medical Center said, "Our goal is to get the message to the public that diabetes is easy to diagnose, and is a manageable disease that does not have to inhibit a person's life if managed responsibly."

"We are excited about the seminar because it will highlight the manageability of the disease. If you have diabetes, there is a lot you can do to stay healthy and enjoy your life. This seminar is not only for diabetic persons but also for their families, and friends," said Kemp.

The seminar, which takes place during National Hospital Week, is part of Hereford Regional Medical Center's goal to provide health education to the community.

Speaking at the seminar will be Elaine Emery, RN, Diabetes Educator with Lubbock Methodist Hospital. Emery, began her nursing career in 1985 as a graduate of the Methodist Hospital School of Nursing. She has been a certified Diabetes Educator since 1992.

Reservations are not required. For more information, call Peggie Fox at Hereford Regional Medical Center, 364-2141.

Herd seniors close year by clouting Caprock

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford seniors' last game was a success Tuesday at Whiteface Field, as senior Jacob Lopez smacked a two-run double to lead the Herd to a 6-3 win over Caprock.

The game was meaningless in the standings, while the other two games in District 1-4A produced a three-way tie for the title among Randall, Pampa and Borger. Hereford finished the season at 4-8 in district and 7-17 overall. Caprock finished at 1-11 and 8-19; the Longhorns' only district win came against Hereford April 11.

"We got everybody in there," Hereford coach Pete Rodriguez said. "All underclassmen started and played three and a half innings. The seniors came in and finished it out, and they got the job done."

Caprock scored two in the third to take a 2-1 lead, but a five-run fourth inning put the Herd back on top. With one out, seniors Gregg Kalka and Gabriel Guerrero drew walks. After another out, Ronald Torres walked to load the bases.

Lopez, up for his first at-bat of the game, lined a shot under the third baseman's glove and onto the foul line--which means it was fair. Two runs scored easily, and the Caprock left fielder bobbed the ball, allowing Torres to score.

"I was feeling good," Lopez said. "I wanted to make sure I'd make contact. There was no doubt I'd make contact because of my mindset going in there."

He got a fastball from Caprock pitcher Micah Bonilla.

"He's got a fastball that tails out," Lopez said. "You've really got to keep your eye on it to hit it. I couldn't hit it the last time we played them."

Tanner Murphey, a junior, drove in Lopez with a towering double to the left field power alley. Murphey scored on the Caprock shortstop's throwing error after a Michael Marquez grounder.

Hereford led 6-2, and held on to win.

Hereford's underclassmen scored one in the second inning. Sonny Perez led off with a walk, then Armando Zambrano was robbed of a bloop hit on a diving catch by Caprock second baseman Michael Soria. Wade McPherson followed with a walk, setting up Joseph Artho's RBI single.

Sophomore pitcher Eric Ambold got the win despite a little thrill in the top of the seventh. Ambold pitched well, going 6 2/3 innings, striking out six, giving up three hits and walking none. He gave up two runs in the third--one unearned--on two bloop singles, a throwing error by catcher Murphey and an RBI groundout to short.

"He had everything working for him--his fastball, his breaking ball," Rodriguez said. "They didn't hit him hard."

Ambold retired the last eight batters he faced and 14 of 16 where the two who reached did so on fielding errors.

Rodriguez wanted to let Kalka, a senior, finish the game on the mound, so he brought him in from right field.

with two outs in the seventh. Kalka gave up hits to the next three batters, letting in a run. That brought the tying run to the plate, but Kalka struck out No. 3 hitter Gabriel Ramirez looking.

"I talked to Gregg the inning before and asked him if he was ready," Rodriguez said. "He was ready, and I have confidence in him. He's the type that's going to get up and battle."

Rodriguez loses some seniors, but he'll return several underclassmen.

"We get back three sophomore pitchers, the middle infield, catcher, a third baseman, we've got one coming back in the outfield," said Rodriguez, who completed his first season as a head coach. "Hopefully we can bounce back and get on the winning side."

"The record doesn't show we had a winning year, but the kids hung in there and battled. That's a good group of kids."

Hereford's Ronald Torres sends up a cloud of dust as he slides headfirst into home plate Tuesday at Whiteface Field. Torres scored the fourth of six runs in the Herd's season-ending 6-3 win over Caprock.

Dumas' McInturff 4th at state; Borger's boys team takes 5th

Dumas' Jamie McInturff took fourth and the Borger boys' golf team finished fifth at the state Class 4A golf tournament, held Monday and Tuesday at the Jimmy Clay Golf Course in Austin.

McInturff, a junior, shot a 76 both days for a total of 152. Kelli Kuehne of Dallas Highland Park won the medalist title with 69-72-141.

Amanda Workman of team champion Bastrop totaled 144 for second and Snyder's Brook Lowrance was third at 149.

Bastrop won its third straight girls state championship with a two-day performance of 321-324--645. The two representatives from Hereford's Region 1-4A finished second and third: Andrews at 655 and Snyder at 673.

Borger's boys took fifth by shooting 325 both days for a total of 650. Austin Anderson won the boys' state title by going 309-298-607.

Bohemia Stable's Kelso was named Horse of the Year five straight times, 1960-64.

Pete Reiser, an aggressive base runner, stole home seven times for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1946.

Injury-depleted Suns rout referee-depleted Rockets

PHOENIX (AP) - Charles Barkley had the flu and Kevin Johnson was coming off a hamstring pull.

That was nothing compared with what happened to Houston's Clyde Drexler. He got tossed in the first game of the Rockets-Phoenix Suns Western Conference semifinal series, and it demoralized his team.

"We let the incident get us out of our game," Rockets guard Kenny Smith said after the Suns set a franchise record with 43 points in the second quarter - when Drexler was ejected - and raced to a 130-108 win on Tuesday night. "Everyone was out of it mentally."

"It was a perfect game as far as the way it went. As far as I didn't have to play a lot of minutes," said Barkley, who threw up in the morning

Knicks strangle Pacers as Millier limited to 10 points

NEW YORK (AP) - Reggie Miller wasn't much of a factor this time, except for the holdover effect of his comments two days before.

Miller scored 10 points in Game 2 on Tuesday night, the same number he had in the last 56 seconds of the memorable opener, leading him to label the New York Knicks "choke artists" and suggesting Indiana would sweep the series.

Miller and Rik Smits, who combined for 65 points in the Pacers' first-game victory, had a total of 20 Tuesday night. And the Knicks most responsible for Sunday's embarrassing defeat - John Starks, Derek and took intravenous fluids during the afternoon.

The Suns shot 60 percent while momentarily turning the tables on the defending champions, who knocked them out in last year's semifinal round. They outrebounded the Rockets 48-29.

Game 2 of the best-of-7 series is Thursday night in Phoenix.

Barkley had 26 points and 11 rebounds, and Johnson had 21 points and 13 assists for the Suns. A.C. Green hit 8 of 12 shots for a career playoff high 25 points and had 15 rebounds.

"I think we are very hungry right now," Green said. "We're desperately trying to do what it takes to win."

Harper and Patrick Ewing - came through in the 96-77 victory that tied the Eastern Conference semifinal 1-1.

"I told a lot of people I didn't expect them to die," Pacers coach Larry Brown said. "Since I've been here, every big game we've had with them, they've responded very well. And this was made a monster game based on the events of Sunday."

Brown has no thoughts he could ever prevent Miller from saying the wrong thing at the wrong time. Like the little Dutch boy, he knows that putting his finger in one leak doesn't

Rockies pummel Giants with bats, not fists

By BEN WALKER

AP Baseball Writer

All the signs pointed to trouble. San Francisco and Colorado began Tuesday night's game with a history of brushback battles, so when Larry Walker of the Rockies was hit in the head by a pitch in the first inning, there could have been big problems.

Instead, Walker trotted to first base without making a move toward Trevor Wilson on the mound. Dante Bichette followed with a grand slam, and the Rockies went on to beat the Giants 10-6.

Matt Williams homered twice and drove in five runs for San Francisco. For once, though, the bats made the loudest noise in a Giants-Rockies game, not fists.

"It was a quiet night," Rockies manager Don Baylor said, "which is the way it should be decided, not by throwing at each other."

In other games, Philadelphia beat Montreal 8-3, Atlanta defeated New York 3-2, San Diego stopped Los Angeles 9-2, Chicago beat St. Louis 3-0, Cincinnati downed Florida 9-1 and Houston defeated Pittsburgh 13-6.

Walker was hit by an off-speed pitch that glanced off his helmet. Later, Kirk Manwaring of the Giants was plunked.

In 24 games between the teams, 12 Giants and 11 Rockies have been hit.

Last month in spring training, Andres Galarraga was hit by Giants pitcher Jose Bautista, causing another war words.

Galarraga, whose 1994 season ended after he was hit by a pitch from the Giants, vowed Monday he'd get even if he was hit again.

Kevin Ritz (1-0) pitched 6 2-3 innings and struck out eight. Wilson left in the third as the Rockies took a 9-0 lead.

Williams, who led the majors with 43 homers last year, has five this season.

Astros 13, Pirates 6

Shane Reynolds extended his shutout streak against Pittsburgh to 22 innings before slowing down during Houston's win at Three Rivers Stadium.

The Astros tied an NL record with four sacrifice flies, one short of the major league mark. Luis Gonzalez homered, doubled and drove in three runs.

Reynolds (1-1) blanked the Pirates on two singles for six innings, and left in a five-run seventh. Jon Lieber (0-3), also Pittsburgh's opening day starter, has a 9.77 ERA.

Phillies 8, Expos 3

Tony Tarasco led off the first inning with a home run for the second straight day, but Montreal mustered little else as Philadelphia won its sixth game in a row.

Mickey Morandini had four hits and drove in three runs. Charlie Hayes and Dave Hollins homered for the host Phillies.

Paul Quantrill (2-0) won despite allowing nine hits in 5 1-3 innings. Butch Henry (0-2) did not last three innings.

Braves 3, Mets 2

Chipper Jones, who missed the entire 1994 season because of a knee injury, led off the ninth inning with his first major league home run. Atlanta ended its four-game losing streak and sent New York to its third straight loss.

Jones homered off Josias Manzanillo (0-1). Greg McMichael (2-0) won despite giving up Jeff Kent's tying home run in the eighth. Brad Clontz pitched a hitless ninth for his fourth save.

Charlie O'Brien hit a two-run homer off Mets starter Bret Saberhagen.

Padres 9, Dodgers 2

Shortstop Jose Offerman tied a Los Angeles record by making three errors in an inning, and San Diego took advantage to win at home.

Offerman's misplays set up three runs. He made two wild throws in the fourth inning and let a grounder go through his legs.

Tony Gwynn had three hits and drove in three runs, and Eddie Williams homered for San Diego. Scott Sanders (2-0) allowed one run on three hits in six innings.

Mike Piazza homered for the Dodgers. Tom Candiotti (1-2) lasted just four innings.

Reds 9, Marlins 1

John Smiley pitched six strong innings and doubled to start a six-run inning.

Tony Gwynn had three hits and drove in three runs, and Eddie

Williams homered for San Diego.

Scott Sanders (2-0) allowed one run on three hits in six innings.

Mike Piazza homered for the Dodgers. Tom Candiotti (1-2) lasted just four innings.

Because Fielder's 450-foot homer came in the top of the inning and the

Brewers didn't finish their half,

the game will be played from the point

it was suspended rather than in its entirety.

Pat Hentgen (2-0) allowed six runs

and 10 hits over 5 2-3 innings.

White Sox 6, Twins 1

Jim Abbott (1-1) allowed two hits over seven innings in a game delayed twice by rain, the second time for 1 hour, 11 minutes in the middle of the eighth inning.

Chicago had a five-run third as

Frank Thomas had a two-run double,

Ron Karkovice walked with the bases loaded and Ozzie Guillen slapped a two-run single to center, all off

22-year-old rookie LaTroy Hawkins

(0-3).

Pat Hentgen (2-0) allowed six runs

and 10 hits over 5 2-3 innings.

Brewers 2, Tigers 2, suspended

Cecil Fielder led off the top of the ninth with a mammoth home run to make it 2-2 and the game was suspended in the bottom of the ninth after a 55-minute delay. The game will be resumed tonight with two outs, the bases empty and Jose

Valentin at the plate.

Because Fielder's 450-foot homer came in the top of the ninth and the

Brewers didn't finish their half,

the game will be played from the point

it was suspended rather than in its

entirety.

Edgar Martinez had a home run and three RBIs for Seattle.

Angels 3, Rangers 2

Gary DiSarcina and Eduardo Perez

had run-scoring doubles and Greg

Myers hit his second homer in three games since coming off the disabled list to back Mark Langston (1-0), who allowed leadoff homers to Will Clark in the fourth and Dean Palmer in the seventh.

Lee Smith, the fourth California reliever, worked the ninth for his fifth save in as many opportunities.

Rick Helling (0-1) allowed two runs

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — A bill allowing Texans to carry handguns passed on a voice vote in the Texas House last week but was rejected by the Texas Senate on a 23-8 vote.

Rejection was based on a provision in the House bill requiring a statewide nonbinding referendum on the issue in November — two months after the bill would take effect.

Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas, offered a motion to add the referendum provision, appealing to senators to hear the voters of Texas on the issue. "To not let the people express their opinion on this is ridiculous. If you trust the people, let them express themselves," Leedom said.

But the bill's author, Sen. Jerry Patterson, R-Pasadena, called Leedom's motion "silly." He said it would be a "cruel hoax" on voters if they rejected the right-to-carry law and then found that their vote did not count. "You do not have arbitrary popular votes on fundamental elements of the U.S. and Texas constitutions," Patterson added.

Senators voted down two other motions to modify the bill: Sen. Mike Moncrief, D-Fort Worth, moved to prohibit the carrying of handguns in hospitals; and Sen. Mario Gallegos, D-Houston, moved to increase handgun safety training from 15 hours to 30 hours.

But Patterson said the cost of extra instruction "makes this a rich man's privilege."

Differences in the House and Senate versions of the measure will have to be hammered out by a joint conference committee.

Sen. Royce West, D-Dallas, who is on the conference committee, wants to delay the effective date of the right-to-carry bill until after a referendum is held.

The bill would allow Texans to carry concealed handguns if they obtain a permit which requires that they be a legal resident for six months, at least 21 years old, have no felony conviction, no chemical dependency or mental illness.

A four-year permit would cost $140.

Bush Signs Emissions Bill

Gov. George W. Bush signed into law a measure that would resume last year's vehicle emissions testing procedures in regions of the state with poor air quality.

The bill, approved by the Senate 28-3, eliminates a centralized program that took effect in January. It also gives Bush the power to negotiate further testing changes with federal regulators.

Meanwhile, the company commissioned to inspect Texas vehicles until a centralized emissions testing program was scrapped, has sued the state for more than $150 million.

In a lawsuit filed in Travis County state court, Tejas Testing Technology alleges the state breached a seven-year contract to test vehicles in Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth and Beaumont-Port Arthur.

Tejas officials claim that program changes have brought them close to defaulting on loans they took out to buy $137 million worth of testing equipment and land required for the testing centers.

Child-care Reform Delayed

Under a bill passed by the Senate last week, stricter standards for child-care centers would be further delayed to allow for a new cost-benefit study.

Sen. Royce West, D-Dallas, sought the delay after complaints that the new rules would drive up the cost of child care.

The Texas Board of Protective and Regulatory Services last year voted to increase minimum standards for licensed child-care facilities. New regulations on staff-child ratios, group sizes and square footage were to take effect June 1, 1997.

West's bill would push the date back to Sept. 1, 1997, and require the agency to hire an outside firm to conduct a study of the rules' impact.

Bush Signs HIV Test Bill

Gov. Bush last week signed a bill to allow marketing of home-testing kits for the virus that causes AIDS.

If the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approves of the sale of the home-test collection kit, Texans could send a small blood sample to a laboratory and receive confidential results and counseling via a toll-free telephone number.

Other Highlights

The Texas Senate has approved a bill allowing cities to create special enterprise zones to pay for new sports complexes. The measure was backed by the Dallas Cowboys, Mavericks and Stars, the Houston Oilers and Rockets and the San Antonio Spurs.

A Senate-passed bill that would allow imprisoned child molesters to undergo voluntary castration was approved 5-2 by the House Corrections Committee. The controversial bill now goes to the full House for debate.

Approximately 92 percent of the 183,737 high school seniors have passed all sections of the tests (TAAS) required for graduation, Texas Education Commissioner Mike Moses announced. Moses said that's about the same as last year's results.

Jury finds board president violated Open Meetings Act

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The president of the Somerset school board has been convicted on two misdemeanor counts of violating the Open Meetings Act.

A jury in state district court declared Tuesday that Joe Tovar violated the act last Nov. 3 when he called the Somerset School Board into executive session for a private discussion about whether to fire the school district architect and whether to establish a moment of silence.

The jury in the court of 187th District Court Judge Raymond Angelini also found that Tovar violated the act when he initiated a discussion about whether and where a new high school should be built - an item not on the agenda.

The jury deliberated three hours before reaching its verdict. Angelini scheduled sentencing for June 7. Tovar could be jailed for one to six months and fined between $100 and $500.

"Just because you don't want to talk about something in public, doesn't mean you can go behind closed doors," assistant district attorney Rita Spiegel said. "We need to know what elected officials are up to."

The verdict came three days after Tovar was re-elected to another term on the school board in Somerset, a community of about 1,200 people, located about 20 miles southwest of San Antonio. Tovar received about 55 percent of the votes in Saturday's election.

Conviction of a misdemeanor does not affect a school trustee's status, according to the Texas Education Agency.

Tovar said he will appeal the verdict and added, "I believe I will be vindicated."

His attorney, Luis Vera Jr., called the trial a political game, one that he outlined in a lawsuit filed April 21 by Tovar and two board trustees against District Attorney Steve Hilbig, suspended superintendent Ann Dixon and 11 other people.

The lawsuit alleges, among other things, that the defendants conspired against them for exposing alleged wrongful acts by Ms. Dixon and pushing for single-member districts.

Vera also said Tovar is a victim of selective prosecution, noting that other trustees who participated in the November trustees' meeting were not indicted.

Assistant District Attorney Chris DeMartino said Tovar was held accountable for the violation since it was he who led the board into the closed session.

Tovar also had been charged with violating the Open Meetings Act because of a discussion in private about appointment of a board vice president, but Angelini issued a partial verdict on Friday, finding Tovar innocent of that count.

CBS drops Tonya Harding

RADNOR, Pa. (AP) - CBS dropped Tonya Harding from a "Where Are They Now?" entertainment special after the disgraced Olympic skater accused the network of paying her mother to tape their conversations with a hidden microphone.

CBS producers later deemed Harding's comments "inappropriate" and pulled her segment. "It wouldn't be right to air such accusations without equal time for an answer," said executive producer Dan Funk.

Harding pleaded guilty to covering up the attack on rival Nancy Kerrigan and got a fine and probation. Her ex-husband was sentenced in the attack.

"Eye to Eye With Connie Chung" paid Golden to wear a microphone around Harding. Chung said she didn't know Golden had been wired and said the network would never pay for information.

CBS producers later deemed

Harding's comments "inappropriate" and pulled her segment. "It wouldn't be right to air such accusations without equal time for an answer," said executive producer Dan Funk.

Harding pleaded guilty to covering up the attack on rival Nancy Kerrigan and got a fine and probation. Her ex-husband was sentenced in the attack.

Heavy hail losses reported in storms

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) A deadly hailstorm has wreaked havoc for some agricultural producers near Dallas and Fort Worth, according to the state Agricultural Extension Service.

Softball-size hail destroyed whatever crops and livestock it came into contact with, said James Blalock, extension agronomist in Dallas.

"You can just about imagine what hail of that size could do to a plant or cow," said Blalock. "Corn and grain sorghum were beaten to the ground along with a number of cattle unable to find shelter."

The damage has not been fully assessed. But Blalock said the rural areas of North Texas weren't hit as hard as urban areas.

"We aren't sure the total amount of damage that was done, but it looks like things aren't as bad as they could have been," he said. "However, a number of Dallas producers may not agree with my rough assessment because those who were hit may be left with nothing."

Thomas Rosenbaum, county agent in Gainesville, said the hail didn't bother them as much as the tornado that accompanied the storm.

It carved a path of destruction one-fourth of a mile wide and ten miles long in Cooke County. "It primarily hit pastures and woodlands, but killed some cattle and wiped out about 150 acres of wheat and 50 acres of corn," he said.

While thunderstorms and a small amount of hail also blew across the Panhandle region last weekend, the storm was more of an asset than liability for producers.

Paul Gross, district Extension director in Amarillo, said thunderstorms provided much needed rain to the Panhandle, with more than an inch of rain falling in upper and eastern counties of the district.

"The moisture we received was needed to aid some of our drying crops," Gross said. "Everything has been so dry and this will help get our pasture and ranges back to where they ought to be."

Although moisture may be abundant in some parts of the state, producers in Southwest Texas say they are seeing early signs of drought stress.

Jose Pena, Extension economist in Uvalde, said since the latter part of April, rainfall amounts in his region have slowed from excellent to just a trickle.

"Rainfall during the fall of 1994 and early spring of 1995 was wonderful, with more than adequate moisture for everyone," Pena said. "But moisture has been gradually decreasing since around the middle of last month."

High winds and hot afternoons are desiccating plants and soil surfaces, thereby compounding the need for rain. Pena said farmers are starting to irrigate corn, cotton, and some spring vegetables, especially onions, watermelons and cantaloupes.

He added that harvesting activities across the region are starting to gain momentum, with cabbage, spinach and southern greens bringing in high yields for producers.

Jon Zeitler, meteorologist at the National Weather Service Agricultural Service Center in College Station, said high pressure will provide fair skies and mild conditions until Thursday.

A low pressure system will move out of the Rockies Friday, producing scattered showers and thunderstorms, Zeitler said. "Severe storms are possible with this system, so producers should listen to NOAA Weather Radio or local media later in the week for forecasts and updates."

High temperatures will range from the mid-70s in the Panhandle to the upper 90s along the Rio Grande, yet most locations will experience highs in the 80s. Lows will vary from the upper 40s in the Panhandle to the lower 70s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and along the Upper Coast, with the bulk of the state recording lows from the mid-50s to mid-60s.

The following specific livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by district Extension directors:

PANHANDLE: Soil moisture short. Pastures, ranges improving with moisture. Cool temperatures delaying corn growth. Irrigated wheat progressing; freeze damage in some areas. Sugar beets in good condition.

FAR WEST TEXAS: Soil moisture very short. Pastures, ranges fair to very poor condition; need moisture. Supplemental feeding of livestock continues. Windy days, cool nights drying soil. Planting onions. Most fruit trees setting fruit.

Enter for a chance to win $50 Neighborhood Picnic
From Scott Paper and IGA

Complete this entry form and drop into the designated entry box at the Scott Paper display area, and you will become eligible to win a Neighborhood Picnic. One entry per person or address. Please Print.

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____

TELEPHONE ( ) _____

STATE _____

ZIP _____

To enter, print your name, address, and telephone number on entry form and deposit in the entry box in this store. No purchase necessary. Not responsible for lost, stolen or illegible entries. Entries must be received by 5/27/95 to be eligible to win. All entries become property of Scott Paper Company. PRIZES: Fifty-four (54) Grand Prizes, consisting of a $50.00 sweepstakes check which may be used to create a Neighborhood Picnic, will be awarded (one per participating store). No cash substitutions for the prize will be permitted, and the prize is non-refundable and non-transferable. Odds of winning depend on number of entries received. Federal, state and local taxes are the sole responsibility of the winner. Winner will be selected in a random drawing from among all eligible entries. Drawing will be held on or about 6/3/95. Winner will be notified by 6/16/95.

By entering sweepstakes, entrants accept and agree to these rules and the decision of the judges, which shall be final. Winner will be required to sign an affidavit of eligibility and release. By submitting an entry, a potential winner agrees to allow use of his or her name and/or photograph for advertising this or similar promotions without compensation.

Sweepstakes open to residents of the U.S., 18 years or older, except employees and their families of IGA and Scott Paper Company, its affiliates, subsidiaries and advertising agencies. Subject to all federal, state and local laws. Void where prohibited, restricted or taxed. To obtain the name of the winner, see store manager.
