Alliance sets April as time to clean up

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Hereford Beautification Alliance is throwing a month-long party and wants the whole town to join in.

By the end of April, HBA hopes Hereford's appearance will be improved and residents will have a renewed sense of pride in their city. "Hereford - let's make it clean and green in April!" is the theme for the campaign which kicks off Saturday.

Throughout the month, special activities are planned to call attention to the campaign.

First on the agenda for Saturday will be the HBA cleanup of two lots.

And, special arrangements have been made for disposal of tires at three times this month, beginning Saturday, when a truck will be parked at St. Anthony's School from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

During the same hours, same day and same site, recyclables -- paper, metal and batteries -- will be collected.

A major thrust of the drive is the Hereford Re-Leaf Youth tree-planting project.

Parks, school grounds and church yards will benefit to the tune of new trees and shrubbery planted by young persons of the community. A total of 282 youth signed up to place more 500 plants in the ground.

Throughout the month of April, city trucks will pick up used appliances, excluding refrigerators, freezers and air conditioners, that are deposited in alleys.

The women's division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will sponsor an anti-litter campaign for businesses all month.

The CofC also is working on a "most improved business" contest for April.

Pitching in to make the city better, Hereford High School will undertake a campus cleanup.

Two sites have been selected for HBA cleanup efforts Saturday. Lots on Main Street, across from the Santa Fe Depot, and at the abandoned cement plant.

Wade Easley, president of Hereford Beautification Alliance, has invited city residents to join in the effort. Those who can't help with HBA projects are encouraged to work in their own neighborhoods.

The month-long project also coincides with statewide efforts. The annual Great Texas Trash-Off will be held on April 9.

Civic, school and business groups will take time that day to spruce up the two-mile stretch of highway right-of-way for which they are responsible.

Several Hereford and Deaf Smith County groups are involved in the Adopt-a-Highway state project, including HHS biology class, Keywanettes, Frio Baptist Church youth group, Knights of Columbus, Deaf Smith County Youth Home, Hereford Bi-Products, Hereford FFA, Nutri-Feeds and Walcott School.

Cooperating with the cleanup campaign, the City of Hereford offers a special service to homeowners who want to clean their own property.

Appointments will be taken for a city truck to be delivered to a location on Friday and picked up the next Monday. Trash that may go into the Type IV landfill may be deposited in the trucks.

April is Cleanup Month

The Hereford Beautification Alliance will launch its Cleanup Drive Saturday by cleaning up two city lots, and several activities and projects are scheduled for the month. Cleaning a flower bed near the old Santa Fe Depot are HBA members Katherine Musser, Bobbie Riddle (with granddaughter Kimberly Riddle), Bobbie Kitchens and Wade Easley. HBA will clean up two areas Saturday -- the west side of Main Street across from the Santa Fe Depot, and the old cement plant lot on East U.S. 60.

Bivins tabbed to head committee on school construction funding

AUSTIN (AP) - Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock has named three state senators to study school facilities funding in the wake of a court order giving lawmakers until Sept. 1, 1995 to address the issue.

Sen. Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo, will head the school facilities committee, Bullock announced Thursday. Bivins has studied the issue and sponsored legislation on it in the past. Other members are Senate Finance Committee Chairman John Montford, D-Lubbock, and Senate Education Committee Chairman Bill Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant.

State District Judge F. Scott McCown last year upheld the current school finance law in a challenge from school districts.

But McCown said lawmakers must come up with an equitable way to pay for school construction by next year's deadline, or he will order a halt to issuance of new school bonds.

In the past, McCown said, funding for facilities has come "almost solely from local tax dollars and almost solely by borrowing." The school funding system relies on state and local property taxes.

The state is appealing McCown's order on facilities.

Bullock asked the new committee to study and recommend a state system of facilities funding and to review tax rates and limits on bond debt.

The senators also will look at ways the state can determine the need for facilities funding. They will issue a report by December of this year.

Bullock said school facilities "are just as important as every other facet of education."

"We cannot tolerate gross disparities. We must do justice to Texas classrooms if we ever hope to give all young Texans the fair chance they deserve," he said.

In a news release from his office, Bivins echoed Bullock's remarks.

"The state has never paid its fair share of facilities costs," the Amarillo Republican said. "Local school districts have been forced to bear 100 percent of the cost of school buildings. The Legislature has been wrestling with this issue for over 40 years. A solution is long overdue."

The committee will issue its recommendations by December, Bivins office said.

Senators protested treatment of man

By PETE YOST

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Arkansas' Democratic senators complained last year to the Clinton administration that the government had hounded the father-in-law of Associate Attorney General Webster Hubbell for $340,000 - money that had come from the collapsed S&L now at the heart of the Whitewater affair.

Hubbell's father-in-law, Seth Ward, surrendered the funds last April to federal regulators, who waged a protracted court fight to get them, according to correspondence released Thursday by the Resolution Trust Corp.

The RTC issued the documents in response to Freedom of Information Act requests from news organizations.

Federal regulators said Ward wasn't entitled to the money because it consisted of real estate commissions from land deals that "led to the insolvency and failure of Madison Guaranty," according to an RTC letter to Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark.

Ward - who had gone to work for Madison - had been awarded the money after suing his employer in state court in Arkansas, but the regulators took up the matter in federal court.

The evidence in federal court "showed that he (Ward) participated in a series of transactions" enabling Madison "to circumvent federal laws and regulations," said the Nov. 9 letter to Pryor by Peter Knight, the RTC's acting director of governmental relations.

Ward's lawyer, Alston Jennings, denied the accusation.

"It is totally erroneous," Jennings said in an interview.

Ward settled his court case against the RTC last April, saying he couldn't afford to pay any more legal fees and protesting to Arkansas' Democratic senators that the government's pursuit of the matter was "Orwellian."

In his letter dated July 16, Pryor called Ward's story "an appalling tale about a waste of taxpayer funds and abuse of power" by federal regulators. The July 16 letter to Altman was attentioned to Treasury chief of staff Joshua Steiner.

Three file papers for runs at hospital board

Three people have filed documents to be placed on the ballot for the May 7 Deaf Smith County Hospital District board of trustees election.

Ron Rives, CEO of Hereford Regional Medical Center, said Steve Cortez, Larry Watts and Dean Crofford have filed for three of the four at-large positions in this year's election.

In addition, Rives said Friday morning, three of the four incumbents -- board chairman John Perrin, vice chairman Boyd Foster and Merle Clark -- have all indicated they will run for re-election, although none had filed their paperwork as of Friday.

The fourth incumbent, Paul Abalos, has said he will not seek another term on the board.

Of the new candidates, Cortez works for Energas, Watts for West Texas Rural Telephone and Crofford is owner of Crofford Automotive.

The filing deadline for the hospital district election is April 7.

The election will be held at the same time as the city commission and school board elections.

District Court trial planned for June in Gudgell slaying

Trial of the wife and a young man described as a foster son in connection with the death of a Deaf Smith County farmer, Bill Gudgell, has been set for June 16.

Gudgell, 50, was shot while sitting at a table in his home, located south of Adrian, the night of Sept. 11. He died a few hours later in an Amarillo hospital where he was taken by helicopter for treatment of a head wound.

Indicted for murder in the case are his wife, Donna Gudgell, 48, and Chris Don Barron, 24.

Barron was arrested and charged with murder on Sept. 14.

Donna Gudgell was not arrested until a Deaf Smith County grand jury handed down an indictment against her and Barron on Oct. 14. Bond was set initially at $200,000 for each defendant but later reduced to $50,000 each. Both have been free on bond since late October.

At the time of the shooting, the wife said she was in the shower at their home when she heard a gunshot. She told investigators that she found her husband at the kitchen table.

Judge David Wesley Gulley of 222nd District Court Thursday signed an order setting the trial date.

Donna Gudgell's attorney, Selden Hale of Amarillo, has filed a pre-trial motion to sever her case from Barron's. Judge Gulley will rule on that motion on June 10 when other pre-trial motions are heard.

Don't forget to set your clocks ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) - Afternoon and evening activities will brighten up this weekend with the switch of an hour of daylight from morning to eve.

That's right: it's time to set the clocks ahead.

Change that dial one hour ahead Saturday night, from 11 p.m. to midnight, for example. The official change comes at 2 a.m. Sunday, but why wait.

Under federal law, the change covers every part of the country except Arizona, Hawaii, the part of Indiana in the Eastern time zone, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and American Samoa. Standard time returns Oct. 30.

Local Roundup

Rain? Only maybe

A slight chance of showers or thunderstorms, only about a 20 percent chance, is forecast for late Friday. Winds, 15-25 mph from the southwest, and gusty, are on the menu Friday night and will increase to 20-30 mph, from the north and northwest Saturday. A cooler day -- a high in the low 60s -- should be on tap Saturday. March ended on a spring note with the high Thursday at 72 degrees and a low overnight of 43 degrees.

JERUSALEM - Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin rejected right-wing attempts to get the army to revolt against his peace policies, calling their actions "recklessness and irresponsibility" that could tear the nation asunder.

NEW YORK - Ordinary folks with money in the stock market may have their hands on the panic button, but most haven't pushed yet.

WASHINGTON - Slug PM-Unemployment. Developing from report to be released 8:30 a.m. EST.

PHILADELPHIA - The cholesterol ran through her blood as relentlessly as the disease ran through her family. She watched two siblings die. She saw her parents fall ill and knows her 9-year-old daughter may be next. But now, with a few genes implanted in her liver, the 30-year-old woman is skiing, dancing and living her life in a way she never thought she could. It's the first effort to treat permanently an inherited disease by introducing genes into a patient's body.

KANCHANABURI, Thailand - Even after half a century, Arthur Lane's eyes burn with rage when he speaks of the Japanese. "Give me a Japanese veteran now and I'll kill him," he said. "There's no way to apologize."

HANOI, Vietnam - A quarter-century ago, American veterans and mothers of veterans raised $100,000 to build a hospital that would save Vietnamese lives in honor of their own war dead. Now they are back, helping again.

TYLER - Following claims that at least one Texas inmate died and another performed surgery on himself, a federal judge has ordered an investigation into whether state prisoners are being denied proper medical treatment.

AUSTIN - Federal officials say Texas misinterpreted a law when the state decided to move certain patients out of nursing homes. State officials said they thought they were in compliance.

AUSTIN - The proposed builder of a Texas bullet train says it should be allowed to continue working on the project and that it was trying to get new backers.

HOUSTON - Campus safety is on the lips of several Rice University students following the abduction of four students, three of whom were left naked at a flower shop and a fourth who was driven away and raped.

COLLEGE STATION - A Texas A&M University election commission is investigating efforts by the Corps of Cadets to defeat a senior yell leader candidate who isn't a member of the corps.

PRAIRIE VIEW - Nine gravestones, some crudely etched and eroding from the ages, remain on these forbidding five acres along the bottomlands of Ponds Creek. Dense undergrowth has taken the others buried here to resting places of full obscurity, with only faint depressions serving as evidence of their remains beneath the vine-covered soil. But grand burial monuments aren't needed for those who know what and who lie here. The remote and humble cemetery site serves as a lasting memorial to a greater death - that of slavery in America.

Jerusalem crowd said small for Good Friday

By DONNA ABU-NASR
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) - Rain-drenched pilgrims chanting "Jesus loves you" marched through old Jerusalem's narrow, cobblestoned alleys today as they retraced the last steps of Jesus Christ.

The crowd for the Good Friday observances was far smaller than in previous years, due to rare thundershowers as well as the heightened tensions of recent weeks. About 5,000 pilgrims showed up instead of the usual tens of thousands.

The rituals come five weeks after a Jewish settler massacred 30 Muslim worshipers in a mosque in the West Bank town of Hebron, sparking widespread violence in the occupied lands.

Scores of Arab Christians in the West Bank and Gaza Strip were unable to get to Jerusalem because of army roadblocks and curfews.

Dozens of border police flanked the worshippers' route - the Via Dolorosa, or Way of Sorrow - as the pilgrims, some of them carrying wooden crosses, made their way to the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, the reputed site of Jesus' crucifixion, burial and resurrection.

The pilgrims moved past Arab merchants selling their daily wares, including slabs of meat hung on hooks, trays of nuts, silk scarves and ceramic tiles.

Eager salesmen stuck wooden crosses and icons in the faces of the visitors while moneychangers pestered them outside the Church.

Gary Shoemaker, 43, from Sacramento, California, said he was shocked that so many businesses were open in the Old City, which is home to 17,000 Muslims, 5,000 Christians and 3,000 Jews.

"One of the things that struck me more than anything else is that the shops are open and it's business as usual," he said, as church bells tolled and somber music blared from music shops.

A group of some 10 Americans prayed at the 14 stations marking Christ's route to Calvary. Singing and weeping "Jesus loves you," they reached out to Arab youths loitering in the streets. The youths rebuffed the unwitting pilgrims with Arabic-language curses.

"It's quite a privilege to walk where Jesus walked on this holy day," said Michael Lockard, 46, a mechanic from Anaheim, California, who lugged a wooden cross. He was dressed as a Roman soldier and had red paint on his hands and face.

Clouds, rain may cover part of state

But it will be partly cloudy in South Texas with only a slight chance of morning drizzle on Saturday.

In North Texas, it will be partly cloudy tonight and Saturday morning with a chance of afternoon showers and thunderstorms except in southeastern portions.

In West Texas, the best chance of thunderstorms tonight and Saturday morning will be in the area from eastern sections of the Panhandle to the low rolling plains.

It will be warm across the state for the holiday weekend.

Lows tonight will be in the 40s and 50s in West Texas, the 50s in North Texas and in the 50s and 60s across South Texas.

Highs Saturday will be in the 70s and 80s except in North Texas where readings will be in the 70s.

Early morning temperatures were in the 40s and 50s except in North Texas where readings were in the 50s. Extremes ranged from a chilly 36 at Marfa in the Davis Mountains to 64 at Brownsville.

Kuralt to wander new road, but without TV cameras

By FRAZIER MOORE
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Charles Kuralt became a part of Sundays.

And fittingly so. After all, he seems somewhat friar-like, doesn't he? Round and bald. Forgiving and hopeful when it comes to the human condition. By any measure of the TV world he inhabits, humble. And - make no mistake - shrewd.

CBS News' senior correspondent (he joined the network in 1957), Kuralt has reported death and devastation from around the globe. But in 1967 he began roaming his own nation's backroads for the "On the Road" features that told of brighter goings-on.

Then, on Sunday, Jan. 28, 1979, he gave TV a weekly humanistic smorgasbord: the news (but on a personal scale), as well as the arts, sports, Americana and the natural world.

"A thoughtful, leisurely, artfully produced and carefully written kind of anti-television," media critic Peter J. Boyer has called the program.

No wonder "Sunday Morning" proved to be a TV refuge held sacred by its audience. And a show which, even if you slept past it on occasion, or the VCR messed up taping it while you were at church, you could take solace in knowing he presided over. ("Kuralt's on 'Sunday Morning,' and all's right with the world.")

Candidates trade accusations

AUSTIN (AP) - Richard Fisher, who is running for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination, denies that he ever supported an increase in gasoline or Social Security taxes.

"I have never uttered those words in either this campaign or my previous campaign," Fisher said Thursday.

The campaign of his opponent, Jim Mattox, responded by providing a list of newspaper articles in which Fisher said he could support higher taxes.

"The public is fast learning that the real Richard Fisher refuses to take responsibility for his own actions," said Elna Christopher, a Mattox spokeswoman.

Fisher and Mattox square off in the April 12 Democratic Party runoff. The winner faces U.S. Sen. Kay

But now, at age 59, Kuralt has a new kind of wanderlust. After this week's broadcast (9 a.m. EDT in most markets), he's retiring from his CBS pulpit to travel some roads of his own.

What does he leave behind?

Powered by his sensibilities, along with his simpatico production team and his salon of on-camera colleagues, Kuralt's "Sunday Morning" has been 15 years of bird calls, thoughtful observations, sea breezes, arpeggios, and long, adoring moments of what traditional TV recoils from: contemplative silence.

Over and over, Kuralt has revealed himself to be a common man with uncommon interest in his fellow human travelers. Through the years, he always stopped to smell the flowers, and to remind you how sweet their aroma could be. He sussed out the small things, and, even more remarkably, had the wherewithal to get them on network TV.

The video counted plenty on "Sunday Morning," but there was something else in play here, an old-fashioned, abiding love for words. Kuralt cherished words, and so did his audience, hearing them intoned in a voice variously described as a beefsteak bass, as burnished and burled, as sonorous and crinkly.

One final mark of distinction. Kuralt had the good grace not to be slim, pretty and blow-dried.

"By some standards, Charlie doesn't fit the leading man role," ABC News' Sam Donaldson recently allowed. "But I think he's a fine figure of a man."

Amen.

Last week, viewers got a taste of what Kuralt's farewell show might be like. After a discussion of things political, Chief Washington Correspondent Bob Schieffer, explaining that he would be away this Sunday, bade Kuralt goodbye and thanks. Kuralt, eyes misting, thanked him back.

But mostly this week's will be business as usual, with Kuralt diverting a modest 60 seconds or so of airtime to close his extraordinary career.

And "Sunday Morning" after that?

"Charlie has left a lot of his character stamped on the program, and the last thing I want to do is change it," says CBS News President Eric Ober, whose task it is to find a new host. "I'm not looking to break new ground."

A decision could be made as soon as week's end. Or it could take as long as several weeks. The chosen man or woman, Ober says, must be smart, an able broadcaster and "sensitive to the things Charlie cared about."

"Sunday Morning" viewers would accept no less.

Richards is water under the bridge.

Asked if it was misleading to mention Mattox's indictment without adding that he was found innocent, Fisher said, "It is a fact he was indicted. That's part of his history."

Fisher accused Mattox of conducting an "ice-pick jamming" campaign, but Mattox's campaign said Fisher is the one running a negative campaign.

"This year, April starts with the celebration of Easter and the resurrection of our savior Jesus Christ. It also brings with it continual illustrations of the resurrection, these happen all around us.

"Take night for instance. Night might be considered the death of a day. If that is so, then what can morning be but the resurrection of the darkness?"

"Springtime brings with it many wonders and beauties, all of the growing and rebuilding of something

NEW YORK (AP) - Mort Sahl, who rose to fame during the Eisenhower administration, is not exactly nostalgic about those years.

"The '50s were rigid, uptight and sanitized for your protection," the comedian said in Tuesday's New York Times. "All I remember was that everything good you had to sneak in a plain brown wrapper."

Sahl rose to fame on the nation's Cold War jitters, first appearing at the Hungry I in San Francisco. His favorite targets were President Eisenhower, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, and anti-Communist hysteria.

"The first big laugh I ever got at the Hungry I... was in 1954, when the House Un-American Activities Committee was going after Hollywood," he said. "I said, 'Every time the Russians throw someone in jail, we throw someone in too, just to show them they can't get away with it.'" that appeared dead or lifeless just a short time ago.

Sahl's one-man show, "Mort Sahl's America," opens Monday.

"Christ's rising from the dead, and ascension to heaven, brings a new fresh hope for us. It brings a promise of a new and greater life, one without fear of death, and one with love and beauty all around."

Cowboys release Roberts

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys have made their first player move under new head coach Barry Switzer, and he learned about it on the radio.

The Cowboys on Thursday released tight end Alfredo Roberts, who missed all of last season and part of the 1992 season because of injuries.

"I'll be honest with you. I heard it on the radio a few minutes ago while I was out looking at some houses," Switzer said. "I guess the general manager made a decision to release him and didn't consult the coach. Hell, it's OK with me. I ain't going to go and get (upset)."

Switzer was hired on Wednesday, succeeding Jimmy Johnson, who accepted a multi-million dollar buyout on Tuesday to quit halfway through his 10-year contract as Cowboys coach.

Owner Jerry Jones also was general manager when Johnson was the coach, but there were those who suspected he was GM in title only. It was Johnson's expertise that brought players in or sent them packing.

Switzer, out of football the last five years with no NFL experience, is a little short on such expertise.

"We did talk about it the other night," said Switzer, "and it was just a physical thing. It's tragic, the guy was a good player, but he just can't play."

Switzer attended meetings, met players and returned telephone calls Thursday on his first full day as the third coach of the Cowboys, then headed back to Norman, Okla., to pack "30 years of memories."

The former University of Oklahoma coach said he will return to Valley Ranch on Monday and find a nearby apartment so "I can be at work every morning at 7:30 to devote everything I have to the job."

Switzer said he plans to hold his first players' meeting at 10 a.m. Monday.

Two players informed him they are going to be out of town Monday.

Final Four teams claim they don't get respect

By OWEN CANFIELD

AP Sports Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - Some Arkansas players contend that despite the nine weeks they spent ranked No. 1 in the land, the Razorbacks really haven't received much respect this season.

Arizona coach Lute Olson lashed out at the media after winning the West Regional last weekend, saying two straight years of first-round losses in the NCAA tournament don't mean diddly where this year's team is concerned.

Both teams are mere pretenders to the no-respect throne. The real Rodney Dangerfields of this year's Final Four are the Florida Gators.

The Gators are 29-7 heading into Saturday's semifinal game against Duke, perhaps the most-respected team in the country. Lon Kruger's team has won more games than any in the 75-year history of Florida basketball. It beat top-seeded Connecticut in the semifinals of the East Regional, then beat a Boston College team that had knocked off North Carolina and Indiana.

The Gators won road games this season against Texas, Georgia and Villanova, and beat Oklahoma State in a December tournament when the Cowboys were ranked No. 20. Among their 13 home victories was one against then-No. 7 Kentucky.

Florida has 30 Southeastern Conference victories in the past three years. Only Kentucky and Arkansas have more during that time. The Gators have shown they can win close games, going 9-2 this season in games decided by five points or less.

Florida held opponents to 41 percent shooting during the regular season. In four tournament games, that has dropped to 35.7 percent.

Even so, many consider the Gators to be just another stepping stone for Duke (27-5), which is seeking to reach the NCAA title game for the fourth time in the past five years.

"They hear it," Kruger said Thursday after arriving in town. "They really haven't been that distracted by it and it really hasn't been a rallying cry. We look forward to the opportunity."

"We've been put in that situation a lot this year," said forward Andrew DeClercq. "We don't pay much attention to it. We know how good of a team we are and what it takes to win."

So does Duke. The Blue Devils have been a fixture in the Final Four under coach Mike Krzyzewski, playing in seven of the past nine and winning the national championships in 1991 and '92.

Duke has three seniors - Grant Hill, Antonio Lang and Marty Clark - who have a chance to do something no Blue Devils player have done: win three championships. But if that's to happen, a good deal rests with Duke's young guards, Chris Collins and Jeff Capel.

"There were a lot of doubters as to how far the team could go with us in the backcourt," said Collins, a sophomore. Capel is a freshman.

"People didn't expect us to be in this position," Collins said. "So to come out and do something, especially after a disappointing ACC tournament, it's just a dream come true."

The Blue Devils got beat in the second round of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament, which was played in Charlotte. But as the No. 2 seed in the Southeast Regional, they had to beat top-seeded Purdue and Glen Robinson to make it this far.

"I think we get a lot of respect from a lot of people based on what we did in the past," Krzyzewski said. "This is this year. And we have to focus on this year and what these kids are doing."

Arkansas (29-3) is the only No. 1 seed to reach Charlotte. The Razorbacks displayed their versatility in rolling through the Midwest, scrapping their full-court pressure in favor of a halfcourt game featuring a big front line.

Arkansas is back in the Final Four for the first time since 1990. That year, the Razorbacks ran out of gas in the altitude of Denver and lost in the semifinals to Duke.

Coach Nolan Richardson said he plans no changes in strategy or procedure this time around.

Arizona (29-5) has perhaps the best backcourt in the country in Khalid Reeves and Damon Stoudamire, who have combined for 47.8 points, 11 rebounds and 8.5 assists per game in the NCAA tournament.

The difference against Arkansas could be the frontcourt, however. Ray Ows and Joseph Blair figure to have their hands full with Arkansas' two 6-foot-11 freshmen and 245-pound Corliss Williamson, whom Richardson calls "pound for pound, the strongest kid in the universe."

Sonics hand Magic 1st loss as coach

By The Associated Press

Magic Johnson brought the Los Angeles Lakers' Showtime to Seattle, and Shawn Kemp turned it into a showcase.

Kemp scored six of the SuperSonics' last seven points and finished with 28 points and 12 rebounds Thursday night in Seattle's 95-92 victory. It was Johnson's first loss in three games as the new Lakers coach.

"Shawn was fantastic," Sonics coach George Karl said. "He made some big plays."

Two of the biggest were his three-point play that gave the Sonics a 93-88 lead with 2:23 left and his rebound of Tony Smith's intentionally missed free throw with 2.3 seconds left, assuring Seattle's 10th straight home victory over the Lakers.

"When he's on his game, no one in the league can stop him," Sam Perkins said of Kemp.

The revitalized Lakers stayed with the Sonics, who have won 53 of 70 games, for most of the game.

"Magic's got them playing well," Seattle guard Gary Payton said. "They were doing things to us defensively that we like to do to teams."

Johnson was upbeat after his first loss, saying his team's effort on Seattle's homecourt will help in upcoming home games against the Houston Rockets and Atlanta Hawks.

"If we play against them as we did tonight, we'll have a good chance if we play a solid 48 minutes," Johnson said.

Elden Campbell led the Lakers with 19 points, including 12 in the fourth quarter.

Payton scored 14 of his 20 points in the third quarter, when he made seven of eight shots from the field. Then Kemp carried the Sonics down the stretch.

Suns 117, Clippers 102

Cedric Ceballos scored 32 points and Charles Barkley led a 55-31 rebounding advantage by Phoenix with 17 rebounds at Los Angeles.

Dominique Wilkins scored 28 points and Ron Harper 19 for the Clippers.

Bucks 111, Trail Blazers 109

Ken Norman scored a season-high 37 points and had 13 rebounds as Milwaukee defeated Portland, only its 10th victory in 36 home games this season.

The Trail Blazers lost their third straight game despite a season-high 36 points from Terry Porter and 33 by Clyde Drexler.

Portland led 59-47 at halftime, but Norman personally outscored the Blazers 16-13 in first nine minutes of the third quarter. Norman tied it 72-72 with a rebound basket, then gave the Bucks a 74-72 lead with another field goal.

Spurs 101, Cavaliers 85

San Antonio won its fifth consecutive game as David Robinson scored 11 of his 26 points in the fourth quarter against Cleveland.

The Spurs, who led by five points at halftime, scored the first seven points of the third quarter to lead 61-49.

The visiting Cavaliers, who were led by John Williams with 21 points, drew no closer than nine in the final period as Robinson kept them at bay.

Hawks 106, Kings 102

Atlanta handed Sacramento its sixth straight loss as Kevin Willis scored 16 of his 29 points in the fourth quarter and grabbed 21 rebounds.

Mitch Richmond, who scored 26 points for the Kings, missed a 3-point attempt with 14 seconds left and Sacramento trailing 103-100. Willis then hit two free throws and Mookie Blaylock one in the final seconds, sealing the victory that gave the Hawks their first 50-win season since 1988-89.

The Tiffany Trophy, which is presented to the winner of the Belmont Stakes, was created in 1869.

Purdue's Big Dog named Top Dog

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - Glenn Robinson, the only unanimous selection to the All-America team, was the overwhelming choice today as The Associated Press college basketball player of the year.

The junior forward from Purdue received the Adolph Rupp Trophy, which is presented by the Commonwealth Athletic Club in the memory of the late Kentucky coach.

Robinson, who led the nation in scoring at 30.3 points per game, became the 15th Division I player to score 1,000 points in a season as the Boilermakers won their first Big Ten championship since 1988 and advanced to the NCAA's Southeast Regional finals where they lost to Duke. The 6-foot-8 native of Gary, Ind., was the Big Ten's MVP and in the first year to lead the conference in scoring and rebounding since Minnesota's Mychal Thompson in 1978.

A second-team All-America selection as a sophomore, Robinson is Purdue's first national player of the year since John Wooden in 1932 and was the school's first first-team

All-America since Joe Barry Carroll in 1980.

Robinson received 218 votes in the player of the year balloting which ended before the NCAA tournament began and easily outdistanced Donyell Marshall of Connecticut who had 21 votes. Jason Kidd of California and Grant Hill of Duke tied for third with 16 votes each.

Known as "The Big Dog," Robinson was hounded all season by talk of Purdue being a one-man team, but the Boilermakers set a school record for victories as they went 29-5 and finished third in the final poll of the season. Their most impressive victory may have come in the regional semifinals against Kansas when Robinson scored 30 his 44 points in the first half.

Robinson was a true inside-outside threat as he averaged 10.1 rebounds while shooting 48 percent from the field, including 38 percent from 3-point range.

Mizzou's Stewart is coach of year

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - Norm Stewart, who directed Missouri to an undefeated season in the Big Eight and a spot in the final eight of the NCAA tournament, was selected college basketball coach of the year today by The Associated Press.

Stewart is in his 27th season at his alma mater, the third-longest tenure at one school among active coaches. This year was one of his most impressive as the Tigers went 14-0 in the Big Eight, just the third team to ever do that and the first since Kansas in 1970-71.

Stewart received 102 votes in national balloting by sportswriters and broadcasters conducted before the NCAA tournament to easily outdistance Charlie Spoonhour of Saint Louis who had 57 votes. Nolan Richardson of Arkansas was third with 40 followed by Jim Calhoun of Connecticut with 37 and Lon Kruger of Florida with 22.

Missouri, which was beaten by Arizona in the West Regional finals, finished the season 28-4 to give Stewart a career record of 640-310, good for 16th place on the all-time victory list on all collegiate levels. His 1620-win seasons put him in the top 15 all-time in that category and this was the 14th Missouri team he took to the NCAA tournament.

Rangers fans excited about new stadium, new uniforms

DALLAS (AP) - Texas Rangers fans may be blue about the Rangers' red-hot new look.

Ever since the team unveiled its new uniforms in February, sportswear manufacturers have been scrambling to keep up with the demand. In the first uniform change for the Rangers since 1986, crimson replaces blue as the dominant color in the team's home and road uniforms.

The Ballpark in Arlington, a $165 million stadium that seats 49,292, opens this week with exhibition games against the New York Mets. The Rangers' first regular-season game is the afternoon of April 11 against the Milwaukee Brewers.

"Anytime you get such excitement about a new uniform and a new stadium, it certainly generates a lot of excitement in the market," Wesley Haynes, vice president of marketing for Russell Corp. in Alexander City, Ala., said Thursday.

Russell makes major league baseball uniforms, along with the authentic and replica apparel for public sale. The company also makes sweatpants, sweatshirts and T-shirts with team logos.

The uniform change came late and "it certainly caused us to be in a catch-up position from the day it was announced," Haynes said, adding that production should be caught up in a few weeks.

"Certainly by the first part of the season, we'll be in good shape. We'll be back in stock," he said.

Haynes said it's a new marketing trend for teams to redesign their uniforms to renew interest in the franchise. He cited as examples the Houston Astros and the Cleveland Indians. Like the Rangers, the Indians also are moving to a new ballpark this season.

Astros spokesman Tyler Barnes said the response to his team's new look has been "very, very strong and very encouraging."

"From my personal experience, we, for the first time, opened a gift shop at spring training that included a line of Astros merchandise. The lines were constantly five to six people deep through the games," he said.

In the meantime, Superstars manager Ray Palmer at Valley View Mall in Dallas is frustrated that "every single piece of (Rangers) apparel is on back order" and it's costing his store money.

"Just in the last 30 to 45 days, my requests for new Rangers stuff has picked up drastically," he said. "(The shortage) does hurt right at the moment. We've lost a lot of sales."

Rangers spokesman John Blake said he was unaware of a scant supply, but said he could understand how it could happen.

"I'm sure because all the merchandise is new, maybe it does take a little longer to get it in," he said. "It's all red instead of blue. It's a pretty big change."

Fans can find the Rangers' goods of their choice at the new ballpark's four novelty shops, which are becoming fully stocked, Blake said.

Tim Kinder, divisional merchandise manager for SportsTown in Atlanta, said the Rangers' new look, plus the excitement about the new stadium, has been "fantastic for us."

SportsTown has six stores in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, but the Rangers items have been hot in stores in Oklahoma, Georgia and South Carolina as well, he said.

Reid Harmon, district sales manager for eight Merle Harmon's Fan Fair stores in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, said he's obtained ample shipments of the Texas team's road and home jerseys, jackets, golf shirts, hats and other apparel.

"The interest is absolutely there," he said. "When they had the preview of the uniform, that really keyed the interest."

Astrodome gets some changes

HOUSTON (AP) - Baseball fans looking for the homey, old-fashioned touch will be pleased with the Astrodome's additions for this Houston Astros season.

The season opener on Monday will feature old-time manual scoreboards, special areas for pre-game tailgate parties and early parking for just a buck.

National and American League scores will be kept current on two huge, people-powered scoreboards.

Other highlights unveiled by Houston Astros owner Drayton McLane Thursday included a senior citizen ballpark and ballboy troupe. Their name? The "Golden Retrievers." Then there's a hip, new outfit for Astros mascot Orbit.

Hot Dogs are $1 on Thursdays.

The tailgate party area, inside the Murworth Gate, is for prepared picnics only, no weenie roasting allowed.

The first 500 cars arriving one to two hours before the game can park for $1. If you arrive late and don't want to park at all, valet service is $20. Traditionalists still pay $4.

Opening day, the Astros will play the Montreal Expos.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS:

This is for all those people holding senseless grudges against other family members.

After my father died, I had a fight with my brother about Dad's estate. It escalated and resulted in no communication for several months. After hearing a sermon on letting go, I called my brother. He was shocked but pleased to hear from me. The next day, he sent roses. We rebuilt our relationship.

Five months ago, my brother died in a freak kayaking accident. I am so grateful we were back on track. Please tell your readers, Ann, to just DO it. Pick up the phone. You never know when it will be too late.—Missing Him in California

DEAR CALIFORNIA: You couldn't have picked a better time to write. Today happens to be Reconciliation Day. Thanks so much for the perfect timing. The following letter appeared last year on this very day:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've suddenly become aware that the years are flying by. Time somehow seems more precious. My parents suddenly seem old. My aunts and uncles are sick. I haven't seen some of my cousins for several years. I love my family, Ann, but we've grown apart.

Then my thoughts turn to the dark side. I remember the feelings I've hurt, and I recall my own hurt feelings—the misunderstandings and unended fences that separated us and set up barriers.

I have a close friend in New York I haven't spoken to in three years. Another 28-year relationship in Seattle is on the rocks. We're both 41 now, and time is marching on.

I think of my mother and her sister, who haven't spoken to each other in five years. As a result of that argument, my cousin and I haven't spoken either. I don't know if she has children, neither of us has met the other's husband. What a waste of precious time! I'm sure there are millions of people in your reading audience who could tell similar stories.

Wouldn't it be terrific if a special day could be set aside to reach out and make amends? We could call it "Reconciliation Day." Everyone would vow to write a letter or make a phone call and mend a strained or broken relationship. It could also be the day on which we would all agree to accept the olive branch extended by a former friend. This day could be the starting place. We could go on from here to heal the wounds in our hearts and rejoice in a brand new beginning.—Van Nuys

DEAR READERS: Perhaps many of you will remember that last year I suggested that this special day be set aside to heal old wounds and reach out to those with whom we may have lost touch.

Last year's column resulted in so many heartwarming letters from people eager to tell me how much it meant to them to have heard from someone they thought they had lost from their lives, so here I am again, suggesting that perhaps today is the day to pick up the phone or write a letter that will bring joy to someone who might be in pain.

Life is too short to hold grudges. To be able to forgive can be enormously healing and life-enhancing. It's the best example of casting your bread upon the waters and getting back caviar sandwiches.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 33-year-old guy with a good career and an attractive, loyal and caring. I decided early on that I didn't feel right going all the way until I got married. Many of my friends have lived with a lover, which is OK with me. I am non-judgmental about other people's relationships.

The problem is that I can't bring myself to marry a woman who doesn't share a similar sexual history. In the past 10 years, I've ended (with considerable heartache) three high-quality, long-term relationships because no matter how much I agonized, I simply couldn't get past this obstacle.

I don't broadcast details of my personal life, but I have talked about this problem with a counselor and two ministers. They all have said the same thing: "get over it. It's an irrational hang-up. There are so many other important aspects of a relationship. Nobody's perfect." Some friends have suggested that I resolve the problem by having sex with "a nice, respectable girl" and be done with it, but that is out of the question.

Maybe I am irrational, but I feel deeply disappointed (and sometimes jealous) when a woman I consider wife material tells me she is not a virgin.

Does this mean I should keep looking until I find a woman who believes as I do that sex outside of marriage is wrong? Or should I put aside my high expectations and trust that a lifetime commitment will be enough for me to overcome my reservations?—Feeling Like the Last Holdout in Illinois

DEAR LAST HOLDOUT: In my opinion, it would be a disaster if you married a woman who was not a virgin. No matter how hard you might try to overlook it, if your bride wasn't 100 percent pure, you would always feel that somehow you settled for "damaged goods."

Never mind that some technical virgins (hymen totally intact) have had a great deal of experience in fraternity houses, in parked cars on sandy beaches, on living room sofas, in hammocks and anywhere there is a flat surface. A medical exam would reveal, however, that such a woman is clinically a virgin and therefore would be a viable candidate for you.

I sent your letter to Father Theodore Hesburgh, who for 35 years was the president of the University of Notre Dame. His response was brief but clear:

"In a world of great moral irregularity, it is nice to know that some people still have high standards, first for themselves and, secondly, for those with whom they wish to spend the rest of their lives."

So you get high marks from Father Ted. From me, you get bets wishes and lots of luck. Happy hunting.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son had a disability five years ago and qualified for Social Security disability payments. After two years, he was well enough to return to work. He notified Social Security to stop the payments.

He continued to receive payments for another year, however, and cashed the checks. Then he was notified that he owed $8,500 and was told to pay up. This is only one example of the waste in government. Disgraceful!—Naugatuck, Conn.

DEAR CONN.: Of course, but there are better examples dating back to the $700 toilet seat. Between accounting errors, computer foul-ups and people who specialize in cooking the books, billions of taxpayer dollars go down the tubes.

Is alcohol ruining your life or the life of a loved one? "Alcoholism: How to Recognize It, How to Deal With It, How to Conquer It" can turn things around. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Alcohol, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Everyone is welcome to FUMC on Easter Sunday to help celebrate the risen Christ.

At 7 a.m. Sunday, a sunrise communion service is offered to worshippers on the east lawn of the church building in addition to the usual 10:45 a.m. worship service. The Methodist Men will host a continental breakfast in the fellowship hall immediately following the sunrise service. Sunday school will be at 9:30 a.m. and the evening worship and confirmation class are at 6 p.m.

Church members are asked to bring fresh cut flowers, cuttings from blooming plants or shrubs to be placed on the wood cross in the sanctuary as part of the 10:45 a.m. Easter celebration.

If you attend a Sunday school class, evening meeting or other group activity at the church and make coffee for that group, please be sure that you turn the coffee maker off before leaving the church building. A coffee maker left on overnight can pose a fire threat to the building. It is the responsibility of each individual group to see that this is done. If you are the last one out of a room, help us all out by "flipping the switch."

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Temple Baptist Church, along with other Baptist Churches of this area, invite everyone to come to the Sunrise Easter Service at 7 a.m. Sunday in Dameron Park. If the weather is bad, the service will be held in the fellowship hall of First Baptist Church.

Rev. Lonny Poe of Dawn Baptist Church will be the speaker and the sunrise service and musical selections will be provided by congregational singing and solos.

At Temple Baptist Church, we will have our usual services beginning at 9:45 a.m. for Sunday school and Bible study and during the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service, Sharyn Morrow of Clarendon will lead the music service with a mini concert included. Pastor H. Wyatt Bartlett will be preaching from the 16th Chapter of Mark.

The evening service will begin at 7.

The mid-week prayer service is held at 7 p.m. each Wednesday in the fellowship hall. The Sanctuary Choir will meet at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday in the choir room.

AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

Bring chairs, blankets etc. In case of bad weather, the services will be held in the fellowship hall of First Baptist Church.

Special Easter services are also planned for the 11 a.m. worship service at the church. The choir will present a drama about the cross. "Crucified for Me" will be shared by the pastor. It will be a very different service. Everyone is invited to come at 9:45 a.m. for Sunday school.

An Easter egg hunt is planned for children through the fifth grade. The hunt will be held at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at Northwest Elementary School. Parents need to bring two dozen eggs and one prize egg.

A reminder: Daylight Savings Time begins Sunday. Please set your clock forward one hour Saturday evening.

There will be no Sunday evening youth group meetings. The junior high breakfast at Malamen's has been canceled because of the death of Sue Malamen's father.

Prayer group meets at the church at 6 p.m. Monday.

Officers training will be held from 6-8 p.m. Wednesday.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

FIERCE SONS OF THE DESERT!

THE AMALEKITES WERE DESCENDANTS OF ESAU, JACOB'S TWIN BROTHER (GEN. 36:12) THEY INHABITED THE PENINSULA OF SINAI AND THE WILDERNESS BETWEEN THE SOUTHERN HILL-RANGES OF PALESTINE AND THE BORDER OF EGYPT (NUM. 13:29; I SAM. 15:7). THEY, LIKE THE ISRAELITES, WERE NOMADS, KEEPING VAST FLOCKS OF SHEEP, GOATS, CAMELS, ETC. WHEN MOSES LED THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL OUT OF EGYPT, RIGHT SMACK INTO THEIR LANDS, THE AMALEKITES BEGAN TO HARASS THE REAR OF THE ISRAELITE COLUMN--AFTER ALL, THERE WASN'T ENOUGH GRAZING FOR THEIR CATTLE LET ALONE THE FLOCKS OF A STRANGER! THE HARASSMENTS DIDN'T STOP THE ISRAELITES, SO...

...QUICKLY, THE AMALEKITES GATHER FOR A COUNCIL OF WAR--THESE DESERT DWELLERS ARE FIERCE, PROUD AND CRUEL, ALLOWING NO STRANGERS TO ENTER INTO THEIR LANDS, ESPECIALLY WHEN THE STRANGERS ARE DESCENDANTS OF JACOB, WHO CHEATED THEIR ANCESTOR, ESAU, OUT OF HIS OWN BIRTHRIGHT!

Dependent-care credit can ease tax load

By JIM LUTHER
AP Tax Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - A worker who has to hire a babysitter in order to hold a job may qualify for tax help from the federal government.

The dependent-care credit allows a family to reduce its tax burden by as much as $1,440 to help offset costs of caring for young children or handicapped relatives. A qualifying family in the 15 percent tax bracket could save as much as $750 by accepting employer-financed child-care services from an employer.

However, you may not claim a double benefit, so it may be necessary to figure both provisions to see which will save you more.

The benefits are claimed on Form 2441 if you file the long Form 1040, or on Schedule 2 if you file Form 1040A.

The basics:
- Up to $5,000 worth of employer services can be accepted tax-free, including benefits that you pay for in a "flexible spending arrangement" or "salary-reduction plan." Under such a plan, your employer withholds prearranged amounts from your paychecks and the money is set aside to reimburse you for dependent-care expenses. You pay no Social Security or income taxes on the money.

Be conservative in deciding how much of your pay goes into such an account. Anything that has not been paid out for dependent care by yearend is forfeited.

Most families are in the 15 percent tax bracket and, thus, could save up to $750 in taxes. Those in the top, 39.6 percent bracket could save up to $1,980.

- In figuring the credit, you may consider up to $2,400 of dependent-care expenses with one dependent, and up to $4,800 with two or more. Those figures must be reduced by any employer-provided service you received. The maximum credit is for 30 percent of expenses and, as adjusted gross income rises above $10,000, declines gradually to 20 percent for families above $28,000.

That results in a maximum credit of $720 for one dependent or $1,440 for two or more.

For example, if your 1993 income totaled $47,000 and you paid $7,500 for the care of two children, your benefit would be determined by multiplying the first $4,800 of expenses by 20 percent, yielding a tax credit of $960. That is subtracted directly from tax owed.

Do you qualify for the credit?
DEPENDENTS: You may be eligible if, in order to work or seek work, you hire someone to care for a dependent child who is disabled or was under age 13 when the care was provided; any other dependent, such as an elderly parent, or a spouse who is not capable of self-care. You must have furnished over half the cost of maintaining a home for the dependent.

YOUR WORK: You and your spouse (if capable of self-care) must have had earnings in 1993. This requirement is met if one spouse was a fulltime student during a part of each of five months during the year and the other spouse worked.

EXPENSES: You may include services of a housekeeper, maid or cook but not a gardener or driver. The dependent's food and clothing are not eligible; food for a live-in housekeeper is. You may include expenses of nursery school or day care outside the home for a child under 13, but only the portion that pays for care - not education.

Expenses may not exceed your earned income, such as wages and tips. If you are married, these allowable expenses must be no more than the income of the spouse who earned less.

Don't claim the credit for dependent-care payments to your child under the age of 19 or to any person who can be claimed as a dependent by you or your spouse.

You must report the name, address and Social Security number of your dependent-care provider.

When you hire a babysitter, you become an employer and must withhold Social Security and Medicare taxes from any household employee's wages that were $50 or more in any quarter. For 1993, you should have withheld 7.65 percent of the employer's share, and submitted the money along with Form 942 to the IRS.

Also, if you paid $1,000 or more in wages during a quarter in 1992 or 1993, you are liable for an unemployment-benefits tax of 6.2 percent of the worker's first $7,000 of cash wages. But you get a credit of up to 5.4 percent for payments to the state unemployment fund.

A free IRS publication, No. 503, explains the credit; Publication 926 outlines taxes you must pay as an employer.

Government gets part of gains earned through sale of a home

By JIM LUTHER
AP Tax Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sell your home after a few years and you're likely to see a sizable profit. There also could be a major tax bite unless you follow the rules.

The government has a claim to a share of the gain, even though much of the increase in value may have been caused solely by overall inflation. But two provisions of the law allow a seller to hold on to more of the profit:

- If you or your spouse were 55 or older at the time you sold your principal home, the first $125,000 of profit is tax-free forever. This must have been your principal home - the place where you live most of the time - during at least three of the last five years.

This deal is available only once in a lifetime, and any part of the $125,000 that can't be used now is lost forever. Also, if one spouse claimed the tax-free provision while single or during an earlier marriage, it is no longer available.

- In contrast, the other tax break may be used any number of times and has no age limit or minimum time you must have lived in a principal home before claiming it. But this is not a flat-out tax exclusion; rather, it defers tax liability into the future.

If you sold your principal home in 1993 and bought or will buy a new one costing at least as much, tax on the entire profit is deferred. But you must buy or build and occupy the new home within two years - before or after - of the date you sold the old one. Military personnel may get a longer period.

If your new home cost less than you got for the old one, you will have to pay tax on part of the profit when you file your 1993 return.

You will need to know these terms:

BASIS: This is what you had invested in the old home: the original purchase price plus improvements you added. A tax-deductible casualty loss, such as uninsured damage by fire, reduces the basis. When you sell, the higher the basis, the less gain there is to tax.

IMPROVEMENTS: Changes to your home that increase its value, extend its life or alter its uses. These can include a new roof, installing storm doors or adding a built-in dishwasher.

FIX-UP COSTS: Money spent for work that makes it easier to sell your home, such as painting or papering.

The work must be done no more than 90 days before you sign a contract to sell and paid for within 30 days after the sale. These costs don't affect the basis but are considered when you calculate how much profit from the sale is tax-deferred.

ADJUSTED SALES PRICE: The price for which you sell your old home, minus fix-up costs and such expenses as broker commissions, title insurance and attorney fees.

Publication 523, free from the IRS, explains how to calculate and report the gain on the sale of your home.

The sale is reported to the IRS on Form 2119. Even if you took a loss on the sale, it still must be reported, even though you can't get any tax advantage from the loss. But sure to keep that form and other real estate records permanently.

An example of how the deferral works:

You bought a home in 1986 for $81,000 and added a $3,500 fireplace, raising the adjusted basis to $84,500. You sold the home in September, 1993, for $119,000. Subtracting $7,500 of selling expenses (real estate commissions and lawyers' fees) results in a $111,500 realization on the sale. Taking out the $84,500 adjusted basis leaves a realized capital gain of $27,000.

From the $111,500 realization subtract $2,800 for painting and other fix-up costs, resulting in an adjusted sales price of $108,700.

On the other hand, if your new home had cost as much as the $108,700 deferred sales price of the old one, the entire $27,000 gain would be deferred.

Presidential contribution jumps to $3

WASHINGTON (AP) - You can do three times as much this year for the presidential election process.

The $1-per-taxpayer, $2-per-couple tax checkoff to finance the presidential race has been tripled starting this year in an effort to fatten the kitty for the 1996 campaign.

Checking the box at the top of your tax form neither reduces your refund nor raises your tax liability. It simply earmarks a part of your tax payment for the campaign fund.

Fewer than one of every five taxpayers checked the box last year.

Corn acreage could reach size of New England in '94

By ED WHITE
Associated Press Writer
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) - Imagine an expanse of farmland nearly twice the size of New England, plowed into countless neat furrows and ready to be planted.

The corn crop scattered around the United States could reach those proportions. With supplies low after last year's flood-ravaged harvest, the federal government has lifted limits on how much corn farmers can plant this spring.

Last year's Midwest flood and other weather-related woes cut the fall harvest by 33 percent, prompting the government to encourage farmers to plant more corn.

Weak land idled in previous years

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The muggers, the divorce, chest pain - it's one misfortune after another for Burt Reynolds.

Reynolds, 58, was taken to the hospital Wednesday after suffering chest pains, dizziness and nausea on the set of "Evening Shade." There was no sign of heart trouble, emergency room Dr. Patrick Bozeman said.

"The condition could be a 24-hour virus that Reynolds is prone to or stress that Reynolds has acknowledged in his life over the last year," said his spokesman, Joe Sutton.

He was expected to be released Thursday.

Last month, Reynolds said that two men tried to mug him but that he punched one out. Earlier this year, Reynolds and Loni Anderson agreed to divorce terms after a bitter separation. And his close friend Dinah Shore died last month.

The Oberlin Collegiate Institute of Ohio went coeducational in 1837 as it conferred equal academic status to a class of four women and 50 men.

will be seeded and sprayed with chemicals, increasing the risk for erosion and runoff into streams and rivers. Farm suppliers are competing to tap into the larger demand for seed, fertilizer and herbicides.

Taxpayers have a stake, too. If the weather is favorable and corn yields climb, prices will plunge, triggering billions of dollars in government payments to farmers.

"It could be a rollercoaster year," said University of Illinois farm economist Darrel Good.

This kind of corn won't end up salted and buttered on the cob. This crop, worth $16.5 billion in 1993, is turned into livestock feed, alcohol fuel, sweeteners, food ingredients - even packing material.

On Sept. 1, the surplus from last year's crop is expected to be only 802 million bushels, or 61 percent of what Illinois alone produced in 1993.

To replenish stocks, nearly 7 million additional acres could be planted in the United States, pushing total acreage to 80 million in dozens of states around the country, the highest since the mid-1980s. The Agriculture Department will make its first estimate of spring planting today.

"Even with average conditions we will produce a huge crop," said Champaign County farmer Mark Cender. "With average or less than average precipitation we will grow a tremendous crop."

Farmers would not be planting more corn without a nudge from Washington.

The government usually requires farmers not to plant a crop on a portion of their corn acreage, a measure intended to balance supply with expected demand. In exchange, they qualify for cash payments if prices fall below $2.75 per bushel.

The land that is set aside can go as high as 10 percent, as in 1993, or zero, which is the 1994 policy announced last fall. Seed dealers such as Trisler Seed Farms in Vermilion County have been busy.

"It could mean a potential increase of 7 to 10 percent in sales of seed," said Trisler general manager T.J. Hale. "We went out very aggressively and solicited business. Everyone wants that extra 10 percent so the competition is tough."

Soil scientist Dan Towery measures the impact differently. Farmers will be replanting some of their poorest land, out of production in previous years.

"From an erosion standpoint, it could have an impact. It's going to depend on what the weather patterns are," said Towery, from the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

And what about a farmer's wallet? "The farmer is bred to produce," said Harry Roe, a farmer in Grundy County. "It's in his genes, it's in his veins. When spring comes, you're always looking for that big crop."

Rain during the planting season or no rain in early July, a critical growth period, could trigger fears of another bad year and send corn prices above $3 a bushel. The 5(-year high was $3.11) at the Chicago Board of Trade on Jan. 13.

If the weather is good, prices could tumble to $2.20 and kernels would be piled in glittery mounds like 1992 when farmers posted a record harvest of 9.4 billion bushels.

Consumers probably won't feel the effect of volatile prices at the grocery store. The cost of corn as a food ingredient is outweighed by processing, transportation and promotion expenses, Good said.

The soil still is too cold to do much planting. But farmers in the Midwest are tilling fields, hauling seed and ordering fertilizer for the annual ritual. Roe said growers are anxious.

"If they can find a dry spot they're out there now making sure their machines are working," he said.
