Houston speculates on Bush home

HOUSTON (AP) - Texans for years have questioned how deep President Bush's ties run in his adopted home state, but they have not doubted the economic boon and prestige brought home by the leading non-native son.

Now that Bush will not be returning to the White House, locals wonder what Texas might lose with the shift in power.

"I think Gov. Clinton's going to be hard-pressed to do for Houston and for Texas what George Bush did, and I think that could be said of almost any president who is not from Houston and not from Texas," said Rob Mosbacher Jr., chairman of the Texas Victory Committee and son of former commerce secretary and longtime Bush ally Bob Mosbacher.

"The president continuously set up things that were important to the city and the state, whether you're talking about the super collider or the space program, or in Houston the (1990) Economic Summit and the (1992) GOP convention - things that meant dollars for the city and the state," Mosbacher said.

"It's a sense of sadness. It's almost as if we'll drop a couple of notches in terms of political importance as a city," he said. "But hopefully Texas won't suffer too much."

Distinction and dollars brought by high-level visitors will take the biggest hits, agreed George Strake of Houston, former chairman of the Texas Republican Party.

"You won't have helicopters flying overhead and presidential caravans coming in and out of town, which in itself is a plus for any city, as far as prestige is concerned. Beyond that, I don't think Mr. Clinton will be bringing world economic summits or national conventions to Houston, so those are obvious big losses to the hotel sector, the restaurant sector, the taxicab drivers, and the community as a whole. There will be just a lot fewer Texans involved in this government," Strake said.

"However, I will also say that we survived before we had a hometown president, and we will probably survive without one," he added.

Bush has not yet announced what his plans are after next January. But many expect him to spend at least some of his time in Houston, where he is registered to vote.

Although he has not owned a home in Texas since becoming vice president in 1981 - instead buying a house in Kennebunkport, Maine - Bush's legal residence has remained a suite at The Houstonian hotel.

He does own a small vacant lot in Houston, and there has been speculation whether he will build a house on it.

Mosbacher said he was told Bush

Clinton's victory shakes coalition built by Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) - Bill Clinton's victory has shaken the foundations of the Republican coalition that Ronald Reagan built. He drew the middle class back to the Democratic Party and also welcomed new voters.

With a victory that cut across most demographic and geographical boundaries, Clinton scored important gains among suburban and middle-income voters that had abandoned Democrats for Reagan a dozen years ago and had stuck with George Bush in 1988, according to surveys of voters as they left their polling places.

Running as a more moderate Democrat than his recent predecessors, Clinton paid a price by faring worse among liberals than Michael Dukakis did four years before him.

But clearly it was a trade worth making. Clinton benefited by leading Bush among both the well-educated and the uneducated, the young and the old, and among all but the wealthiest of Americans.

"What you read out of the exit polls is that Bill Clinton learned the lesson of the 1980s - that in order to win you have to be able to speak to the mainstream of Americans," said Democratic pollster Geoffrey Garin. "He did much better with middle class voters."

Against Bush in 1988, Michael Dukakis won heavily among the poorest Americans but won just half the vote among those earning between $12,500 and $25,000 a year. He lost substantially among Americans earning more than that. This time, the income fault line was much more favorable for the Democrat.

Not only did Clinton win among Americans earning up to $50,000, he held his own among those earning between $50,000 and $75,000.

It was only at the highest income levels, those earning above $75,000, that Clinton fell far behind. He won just better than one-third of those voters.

But again, it was a trade worth making for Clinton. Only 13 percent of voters said they made more than $75,000. Two-thirds of all voters said they earned $50,000 or less.

And looking at education levels, Clinton's improvements were equally impressive. Even with a three-man race, Clinton won a larger share of the vote among college graduates and those with post-graduate degrees than Dukakis did four years ago in a two-man race.

While talk of an enduring realignment is premature, a Republican pollster, Vincent Breglio, acknowledged that Clinton may have asserted a fundamental shift among one category of voters - the young.

Throughout the 1980s, the youth vote belonged to Republicans - a trend built on admiration for Reagan and the economic prosperity of his tenure. But to those who entered the workforce during Bush's term, the economy offered a much bleaker future - a fact Breglio said propelled the newest group of young voters toward Clinton.

"They're saying, 'It hasn't worked for me, and we have to do something about it,'" Breglio said.

may be asked to return to his alma mater as president.

But no matter what else Bush does, the welcome sign will stay out for him at some of his favorite local haunts long after he steps down as chief executive.

Will Farish, owner of the 10,000-acre ranch in Bee and Goliad counties where Bush has hunted quail and other birds for more than 20 years, said he did not know Bush's future plans, but "would be very surprised if he didn't end up" in Texas.

"It's really his adopted home, and yes, I think he really, truly loves Texas," Farish said.

As far as hunting goes, "I don't think that he would necessarily be coming a lot more, but I think he'll certainly be coming as much as he always has. I don't think any of that will change," Farish said.

And June Sofka, owner and manager of Bush's favorite barbecue restaurant, said Bush is always welcome at Otto's Bar-B-Q.

"If he comes back here to live, I don't think it'll have any enormous effect on (Houston). He's such a nice person, I think that he'll just blend in," she said.

"A customer came in yesterday and said, 'I thought you'd have a black armband on,' and I said, 'I do - over my heart,'" Mrs. Sofka said. "I'm sad for America. I really am."

Saddam hiding weapons from UN

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) - Saddam Hussein is hiding as many as 200 Scud missiles from U.N. weapons inspectors, Western officials and other sources say.

U.N. weapons inspection teams over the past 18 months have tracked down and dismantled much of Iraq's nuclear, chemical and biological weapons programs as well as its surface-to-surface missiles with a range of 90 miles or more under terms of the 1991 Gulf War cease-fire agreement.

But American and U.N. officials suspect that Saddam has stashed away some of the 819 Scud-B missiles he acquired from the former Soviet Union during the 1980-88 war with Iran, or longer-range al-Hussein and al-Abbas variants Iraq developed.

Tim Trevan, spokesman for the U.N. Special Commission charged with dismantling Iraq's weapons of mass destruction, said 151 ballistic missiles have been destroyed by the inspectors or the Iraqis, or are awaiting destruction.

But U.N. officials believe Saddam still has around 100 missiles hidden away. The CIA believes the figure is closer to 200.

Saddam is believed to be moving missiles around on camouflaged trucks to keep them out of the hands of inspectors.

In March 1991, Iraq admitted it had 52 ballistic missiles. But under intense diplomatic pressure, Baghdad later confessed it had another 92.

U.N. inspectors believe at least 487 of the Soviet Scuds were fired during the Iran-Iraq war or in tests.

It's not known how many Scuds were provided by Syria, Libya or North Korea, or how many were cannibalized to produce the al-Hussein and al-Abbas variants.

Ninety-three missiles were fired at Israel and Saudi Arabia during last year's Gulf War. The Pentagon concedes that no missiles were destroyed in allied air strikes.

Travelers from Iraq, including an aerodynamics specialist who said he worked on Saddam's weapons program before the Gulf War, said the Iraqis have buried large numbers of rocket boosters.

An unknown number are under the Habaniyah airbase in the desert west of Baghdad, as well as in the basements of mosques - at least one in central Baghdad - hospitals and other buildings the Iraqis don't believe the U.N. inspectors will investigate, the specialist said.

The Western-educated engineer provided The Associated Press with details of his activities and the locations of installations where he worked, but asked that these not be published to protect him and his family.

Trevan, spokesman for the U.N. commission, said he could not comment on the claim.

Pregnant women should be screened for strep bacteria

CHICAGO (AP) - More than 2,000 newborns could be saved each year from death or brain damage if doctors tested every pregnant woman for a type of strep infection that can cause meningitis, pediatricians say.

The American Academy of Pediatrics on Monday called for universal screening of expectant mothers for group B streptococcus bacteria, the biggest single cause of life-threatening infections in U.S. newborns.

Twelve thousand newborns are infected every year, most during childbirth, and more than 1,600 die. Another 1,600 suffer permanent brain damage from meningitis, said Dr. Donald S. Gromisch, a member of the academy's Committee on Infectious Diseases.

The 44,000-member academy, representing 77 percent of board-certified U.S. pediatricians, is the first national medical society to call for across-the-board screening and antibiotic treatment when appropriate.

The recommendations were developed in collaboration with the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, said Gromisch, chairman of the pediatrics department at Nassau County Medical Center in East Meadow, N.Y.

Group B strep is a common germ found in 15 percent to 40 percent of healthy women and on the bodies of 40 percent to 70 percent of all newborns, Gromisch said. Only 1 percent of newborns who carry the bacteria are invaded by it and get sick, he said. Group B strep also can cause pneumonia.

Most of the sicknesses can be averted easily by treating high-risk infected mothers with antibiotics. Infected mothers can be identified with a rectal and vaginal swab test.

Gromisch said high-risk mothers are those who have:

- Premature labor, before 37 weeks of pregnancy.
- Early water breakage, 12 to 18 hours before delivery.
- Fever before or during pregnancy.

- Previously borne a group B strep-infected infant.
- Age less than 20 years.
- A high bacterial count of group B strep early in pregnancy.

- Low socioeconomic status or diabetes.

The new guidelines, published in the November issue of the journal Pediatrics, call for testing women at 26 to 28 weeks into pregnancy and treating them with antibiotics if appropriate until their babies are born.

The cost of the test is modest - $30 to $35, said Dr. Morven Edwards, a pediatrics professor at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"If screening were adopted uniformly, and every high-risk mother received the recommended treatment, it would prevent about 75 percent of the illnesses in newborns," she said Monday.

The diseases that women now are screened for during pregnancy are syphilis, hepatitis B antigens and rubella, she said.

About 50,000 pregnant women each year develop infections with group B strep, a small portion of those who carry the organism on their bodies. But infection usually doesn't cause the mother serious illness and can be treated easily.

Group B strep are different from the bacteria that cause strep throat and rheumatic fever, which are caused by group A strep.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The Postal Inspection Service has been investigating a postal money-order scam involving prison inmate pen pals. Although most of the inmates in question are incarcerated at the Mississippi State Prison at Parchman, Miss., the scam is spreading to other prisons across the country. I am asking you to print a warning to your readers.

The scam involves altering U.S. postal money orders. It works like this: The inmate writes to the female victim, saying he is not a criminal, but he did "use poor judgment" and is serving a short jail sentence. He adds that he is financially secure. Soon, the inmate's letters become more personal and intimate. The inmate then asks for the woman's phone number and calls her collect. The inmate then butters up the woman and talks of relocating near her after his release so he can establish a "closer relationship" with marriage in mind.

Shortly after the correspondence begins, the trusting victim receives altered U.S. postal money orders, usually in the amount of $700. At the request of the inmate, the victim deposits the altered money orders into her own bank account.

After this is done, the inmate calls requesting that the woman send money to help pay a fine for an early release. Once the inmate feels that he has gotten all he can from his hapless correspondent, the relationship is over. When the Postal Service notifies the bank that the money orders have been altered, the bank charges the victim for the amount of the altered money orders.

Victims have been stuck for a total of approximately $875,000 so far this year. Individuals have not only lost what they believe to be a chance at true love, but their live savings are wiped out.

Today I spoke with an elderly woman who had lost $14,000 and didn't want her family to find out. She feared they would think she was incapable of making decisions and take legal action. Instead of admitting her foolishness and asking for help, this woman who is living on a fixed income is attempting to repay her bank.

Exposing this scam would be a tremendous public service. Please tell your readers that if they have been victims of such a scam, or are currently involved in one, they should contact the U.S. Postal Inspection Service on their local postmaster immediately. --Robin Dalglish, postal inspector, Memphis, Tenn.

Hereford junior varsity safety Brandon Gearn (13) is about to catch this mid-air fumble and return it for a touchdown. The Herd JV finished a 9-1 season with a 25-6 win over the Dumas JV Thursday at Whiteface Stadium. Other Hereford players pictured are Ray Hastings (80) and Cameron Betzen (20).

Sub-varsity gridders end good year

Hereford's sub-varsity football teams closed out a successful season by winning three of four games Thursday night. The combined records of Hereford's four sub-varsity teams is 28-8, including a 9-1 by the junior varsity and a 8-1 by the ninth grade White team.

Herd JV 25, Dumas 6
Cameron Betzen ran for a pair of five-yard touchdowns in the first to get Hereford off to a good start in Whiteface Stadium. The second TD was set up by Brandon Gearn's 30-yard punt return.

When Dumas got the ball back, Gearn, the safety, snatched a fumble out of the air and jogged 15 yards into the end zone. Hereford's extra point attempts failed after each of these touchdowns, so Hereford led 18-0 at the half.

Dumas picked off a pass on the first play of the second half, and that led to their score.

In the fourth quarter, Hereford quarterback Stacey Spanders kept on the option for a 20-yard touchdown run. Carlos Cintra kicked the extra point.

"The defense played really well," coach Ron Young said. "We had one little breakdown on the touchdown, but other than that they played well. They were hitting them and driving them back and playing Hereford defense."

"I think we executed as well as we had in the last couple of games," coach Craig Yenser said of the offense. "We had players come in and take over for injured players, especially Cameron Betzen at tailback."

"I'm really proud of these young men for the things they've done this season," Yenser said. "We have high expectations for this bunch, obviously, for the way they've played. Coach Young and I were talking, and I think this is the best JV record we've had--I know in the last 10 years. They had a great season."

Clovis, N.M. 23, Sophomores 6

In Hereford, Michael Brown scored on a 10-yard run early in the fourth quarter to cut Clovis' lead to 10-6. Clovis scored on two long runs later in the fourth quarter to ruin Hereford's comeback hopes.

The sophomores finished the season with a 5-3 record.

Ninth White 34, Caprock 7

In Amarillo, Marquise Brown ran for four short touchdowns--two in the first quarter--and added two two-point conversions as the White team finished up an 8-1 district championship season.

Hereford led 14-0 after one quarter and 20-7 at the half as Caprock scored just before halftime.

Josh Urbanczyk also had a three-yard touchdown run.

Ninth Maroon 17, Tascosa 7

Armando Zambrano scored all the points for Hereford in Amarillo. He ran for touchdowns of 30 and three yards, kicked the extra points after each and kicked a 38-yard field goal.

On the other side of the ball, Hector Cavazos had a "heck of a defensive game," coach Chris Christopher said.

The Maroon team finished with a 6-3 record.

Tie-breakers cleared up

The Herd had better win tonight's football game in Dumas (7:30 kickoff) if it wants to advance to the playoffs next week.

The tie-breaking process in District 1-4A was officially clarified Thursday, and if Hereford loses, and Pampa wins, Hereford sits at home while Pampa and Dumas advance. If that happens, Hereford loses out on the tie-breakers no matter what Dumas' winning margin is.

Following is first an explanation of the possibilities, then the tie-breaking rules.

Going into tonight's regular-season finale, Hereford leads the district with a 4-0 record, including a 21-14 win over Pampa and a 31-26 win over Randall. Pampa is at 3-1, and owns a 38-14 win over Dumas. Dumas is 3-1 and owns a 28-26 win over Randall. Randall is 2-2 and hanging on by a thread.

If Hereford wins, the Herd is 5-0 and is the district champion no matter what happens in the other game. In that case, Pampa is the runner-up if it wins or loses by less than 15. The only way Randall can make the playoffs as the runner-up is if Hereford wins and Randall beats Pampa by 15 or more.

If Hereford loses and Pampa loses, Dumas gets the top playoff spot and Hereford gets the second spot.

A tie in either game would automatically send Hereford into the playoffs.

Spikers to face Pecos

The Lady Whitefaces volleyball team tries for another playoff win when they meet the Pecos Lady Eagles at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Denver City High School Gym.

Pecos is the champion of District 3-4A at 17-7. The Eagles got a first-round bye. Hereford, 19-9, beat Lamesa 15-7, 15-7 in a bi-district match Tuesday.

Hereford and Pecos have met in the playoffs three out of the last four years. The Herd beat Pecos 15-10, 15-3, in Seminole, and Pecos ended Hereford's seasons with wins in 1989 and 1990.

Houston Davis sets loss mark

HOUSTON (AP) - Football coach Chuck Arnold prefers to look upon his players as heroes, not losers.

Arnold's Houston Davis High School wrote itself into the national record books with its 73rd consecutive defeat, a 41-0 loss to Houston Worthing Thursday night, a streak extending over seven years.

The losing streak extends over seven seasons, but to Arnold, his Panthers are anything but losers.

"I really feel strongly about that, especially those seniors," Arnold said. "They have really demonstrated the courage that it takes to be successful in anything they pursue."

If they never win a football game, they'll at least be able to handle adversity, Arnold said.

"Whatever they encounter, it can't be tougher than this," he said. "They'll know that they can survive."

Worthing was the heavy favorite going into the game and they quickly established control with three first-quarter touchdowns. From that point on, it was just playing out the final game of another 0-10 season.

But there is hope for those players returning.

"We just keep on trying every year and we'll get one," fullback Neiman Jenkins said. "It doesn't frustrate me. I come out and continue to try no matter what. I'll be back."

Davis broke the record of 72 straight losses set by Iberia, Mo., between 1965 and 1974.

Davis trailed 20-0 at the half and after falling behind 26-0 early in the third quarter, tempers flared on the next kickoff and both teams flooded the field for a fight that delayed the game 10 minutes.

The Panthers have been outscored 2,916 to 354 during the streak that started after they beat Houston Austin 7-0 on Oct. 11, 1985. After that victory, the Panthers didn't score a point in losing their last five games of the season.

SWC to actively seek merger with Big Eight

DALLAS (AP) - The Southwest Conference, fearing defections to other expanding conferences, have voted for the first time to actively seek a merger with the Big Eight conference.

A. Kenneth Pye, president of Southern Methodist University and head of the SWC Council of Presidents, said the group believes the Big Ten and Pac-10 may soon follow the Southeastern Conference's lead by growing to 12 members and splitting into divisions.

"If that is the case, then several conferences may be dismembered, and it is time for this conference to begin to think in what direction it should proceed," Pye told The Dallas Morning News after the annual Council of Presidents meeting Thursday at SWC headquarters in Dallas.

Pye said Big Eight presidents will be contacted individually to set up a meeting during the 1993 NCAA Convention in Dallas, Jan. 13-16.

The presidents council, which has opposed expansion, decided the Big Eight move would be the first explored. But Pye said other additions of individual schools and agreements with other conferences also will be considered.

In 1990, the SWC was stung by the announcement that Arkansas had accepted an invitation to join the SEC.

The addition of Arkansas and South Carolina allowed the SEC to form divisions and get NCAA permission for an additional football game as a playoff. The Big Ten then added Penn State.

Earlier this week, the Morning News reported Pac-10 presidents had taken a straw vote approving the potential addition of Big Eight member Colorado and also discussed inviting the University of Texas.

It is believed that should Texas ever dart to another league, Texas A&M would follow suit, probably to the SEC, effectively unraveling the SWC.

Pye said there are indications the Big Ten may seek to lure Missouri out of the Big Eight.

"The decision of the NCAA to permit 12 games ... has whetted the appetites," Pye said.

The Big Eight and SWC presidents began meeting two years ago to explore a scheduling alliance for football and basketball.

An accord was reached in football that will involve each of the SWC teams playing a Big Eight representative at least once by 1994. But a basketball agreement has not been secured, largely because of hurdles involving the NCAA's use of power ratings and schedule strengths to determine post-season berths.

Pye compared the Big Eight and the SWC, saying both have schools that are likely targets for expanding "super conferences." Both may need to seek expansion of the number of TV sets in their domain in order to vie for rights dollars in the future.

"I would think if I were in the Big Eight, I would have many of the same interests and concerns institutions in the Southwest Conference have," Pye said.

Louisville worries Ags' coach Slocum

HOUSTON (AP) - Texas A&M is ranked fifth nationally with an 8-0 record and has won 17 straight regular-season games and 42 of its last 46 games at Kyle Field.

So why is Aggies coach R.C. Slocum worried about a non-conference game Saturday against Louisville, whose Cardinals take only a 4-5 record into the contest?

"This is going to be more than what some people think it will be," Slocum said. "I am concerned because we are taking a break from SWC games to play Louisville. This is one of those frightening teams that is better than its record indicates."

The oddsmakers have less concern than Slocum. They've made the Aggies 16-point favorites for the 2:30 p.m. kickoff.

In other Southwest Conference games, Texas tries to keep its league title hopes alive against Texas Christian, Baylor plays Georgia Tech, Rice plays Texas Tech and Houston plays Southern Methodist.

The No. 20 Texas Longhorns (5-2, 3-0 in SWC games) have a 24-game winning streak going against Texas Christian (1-6-1, 0-4), and they're 15 12-point favorites to continue the streak.

Baylor (4-4, 3-2) is a five-point favorite over Georgia Tech (5-3); Rice (3-4, 2-2) gets a one-point margin over Texas Tech (3-5, 2-2) and Houston (3-4, 1-2) has a 17 12 point advantage over Southern Methodist (3-5, 1-4).

Slocum wishes his team was playing a league game Saturday.

"This is something new for us and that concerns me," Slocum said.

"We usually play our non-conference games at the start of the season. Maybe it won't be a problem, but it's definitely something to be concerned about."

Both Jeff Granger, who suffered a concussion last week, and true freshman Corey Pullig will play at quarterback, Slocum said.

Texas coach John Mackovic won't be lulled by the Longhorns' lengthy winning streak against the Horned Frogs.

"We have to be prepared to not give up the ball because they've made a lot of big plays," Mackovic said.

Despite one victory this season, TCU coach Pat Sullivan is pleased that his team is playing hard.

"We think we're in the position at least they are starting to play hard every week," Sullivan said. "I'm excited about playing Texas and I think our team is. They've got a chance to make history."

Baylor coach Grant Teaff isn't as concerned as Slocum about taking on a non-conference foe during the SWC race although the Bears have had tough times with late non-league games. San Jose spotted an unbeaten record in 1980.

"It would probably be more difficult if we were still hot and heavy in the race," Teaff said.

Texas Tech and Rice both are struggling for winning seasons.

Tech coach Spike Dykes is trying to convince his team they still have a chance.

"After you lose five games you can't go in the tank," Dykes said. "It's a selling job and we'd sure better be ready to play our best because that's what it'll take against Rice."

Tech quarterback Robert Hall still was sidelined because of a shoulder injury, forcing Jason Clemmons into the lineup for the second straight week.

The Raiders must stop Trevor Cobb, who moved past Texas' Earl Campbell last week into third place on the all-time rushing list. Cobb's 5,948 all-purpose yards rank 11th in NCAA history.

The Raiders beat Rice 40-20 in last year's game, starting a fast finish.

"We lit a fire last year that no one could put out," Rice coach Fred Goldsmith said.

Huskies' Hobert suspended

SEATTLE (AP) - The top-ranked Washington Huskies lost quarterback Billy Joe Hobert for their important game Saturday at No. 12 Arizona when Hobert was suspended over loans from an Idaho businessman.

Hobert was suspended Thursday for one game after a report that he borrowed $50,000 from the father-in-law of one of his friends.

Hobert said he went through the $50,000 in a three-month spending spree on cars, guns, stereo equipment, golf clubs and wild weekends.

"Life goes on," Washington coach Don James said after practice Thursday. "We're going to get ready to play this game. We're not going to let this be an excuse or a distraction."

University athletic department officials suspended Hobert because they were afraid allowing him to play could eventually cause them to forfeit the game.

Last season, Hobert led the Huskies to a 12-0 record, including a Rose Bowl victory, and the top ranking in the USA Today-CNN coaches poll.

Air Force aims for Liberty Bowl berth

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

What better way to virtually assure itself of a trip to the Liberty Bowl than for Air Force to beat Army?

Not that the Falcons ever need incentive to beat the Cadets. Or vice-versa.

"I'm looking for a hard-fought game, as always," said Army coach Bob Sutton. "No matter what happens, any time you put an academy against an academy, it's going to be a good game."

Air Force (6-3) will be the host team in the Liberty Bowl if it wins the Commander-in-Chief's Trophy and has at least six wins against Division I teams. The Falcons already have the six wins and have beaten Navy.

That doesn't mean they're playing well, coming off a 20-13 loss to Utah at home, a loss that knocked the Falcons out of the race for the Western Athletic Conference championship and out of the Holiday Bowl.

"It's not one area," coach Fisher DeBerry said. "It's like popcorn. One pops over here, another one pops up over there, another one pops up here ... and if we could get all of 'em popping at one time and get all of that out of the way, that'd be fine. It really disappoints me after nine ballgames, but that's where we are. And I don't have the answers."

Army may have found the answer to a struggling wishbone attack. Army's ground-oriented offense, ranked second in the nation in rushing with a 290-yard average, had two touchdown passes against Eastern Michigan in a 57-17 romp.

"We needed a game where we won by a pretty wide margin," said quarterback Rick Roper, who threw the two TD passes. "There's still a lot out there for us."

Air Force has won the service academy round-robin series four straight years.

Among the ranked teams, three key matchups have top-ranked Washington at No. 12 Arizona, No. 9 Boston College at No. 8 Notre Dame, and No. 13 Kansas at No. 7 Nebraska.

In other Top 25 games, it's No. 3 Alabama at LSU, No. 4 Michigan at Northwestern, Louisville at No. 5 Texas A&M, Maryland at No. 6 Florida State, Virginia Tech at No. 10 Syracuse, No. 11 Southern Cal at No. 21 Stanford, Southern Mississippi at No. 14 Florida, Oklahoma State at No. 16 Colorado, No. 17 North Carolina State at Virginia, No. 18 North Carolina at Clemson, Arkansas at No. 19 Mississippi State, No. 20 Texas at Texas Christian, Minnesota at No. 22 Ohio State, and Arizona State at No. 25 Washington State.

Dye won't quit over allegations

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) - Auburn coach Pat Dye, implicated by the NCAA in a series of major rules violations involving improper payments to a football player, says he will not quit.

The NCAA, in a string of nine allegations paralleling claims made last year by former defensive back Eric Ramsey, charged Thursday that Dye knew of illegal payments to a player and did not forward the information to school officials.

An assistant coach and a member of the athletic department staff provided improper benefits to a player, a player wrongly got a loan and the school lacked "institutional control" over the football program, the NCAA claimed in a "letter of inquiry," akin to an indictment in court.

Southwest Outdoors

The best hunting tip that I ever received came not from an outdoorsman in the traditional term but from a man that depended upon outdoor skills just to stay alive. His name was Gunnery Sergeant Hines, my Marine drill instructor for basic training during my Navy pilot training days. His lectures concerning how to stay alive had real meaning during the Viet Nam War years. He served several tours in "Nam," and all his college boys who were going to be aviators listened when he talked. His stories never described the heroic drama of fire fights but usually concerned our gear and how little things could save our lives or cause problems.

One evening as I was treating some severe blisters from my new combat boots, he casually suggested that unless I wanted an extra three weeks of basic training, I should learn to wear two pair of socks with my boots. The first pair should be thin, nylon dress socks. Over these dress socks then came thick cotton socks. When the rubbing caused by exercise occurred, it was between the nylon and cotton, not on my feet. Gunnery Hines taught us many things, but every fall when I look at my hunting boots I hear his voice and to this day I still follow his sage advice.

The opening weekend of quail season reveals lots of birds and numerous reports of huge coveys containing evidence of staggered hatches of young quail. Although our fall weather remains very dry, the critical time for hatching young quail was during our wet spring and early summer. Barring a repeat of the terrible winter freeze of 1989, the outlook for quail is simply outstanding.

One of the keys to improved fishing is more catch-and-release by more fishermen. Allen Forshage, head of the Angler Recognition Program for Texas Parks and Wildlife, hopes that a reduction in the minimum length requirements for this program will encourage more anglers to practice catch-and-release. Participating anglers will receive a neat recognition pin from TPW and the satisfaction of releasing a prime breeding-sized fish. New minimum length requirements include the following: for largemouth bass, the new minimum is 21 inches; for smallmouth, 18 inches; and for blue catfish, 36 inches. For more information or for application forms, write Inland Fisheries, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Rt. 10, Box 1043, Tyler, Texas 75707; or call (903) 566-2161.

If you qualify, we will be glad to share that honor with our readers. Drop us a note at 3214 Parker, Amarillo, Texas 79109. We are also looking for some good outdoor pictures. Please, no pictures of deer tongues. Include the date and location, and please print the name of everyone in the photo. Thanks.

TIES

If Hereford and Dumas tie, Hereford is the district champion, and either Pampa or Dumas takes the second playoff spot.

If Randall and Pampa tie, and Hereford loses, Dumas gets the top playoff seed and Hereford gets the second.

If both games end up in a tie, Hereford is the champion and Pampa gets the second spot.

Here is the tie-breaking process used in District 1-4A, according to the district minutes:

For a two-way tie in the standings (when two teams have the same number of district wins, losses and ties), the tie-breaker is head-to-head competition. If the game between the two teams ended in a tied score, then penetrations are used; if penetrations are tied, first downs are used; if first downs are tied, then total yards; if there is no official scorekeeper, then a coin flip may be necessary.

In case of a three-way tie, the tie-breaker is positive points. Positive points are the winning margins in games involving one team in the tie against another team in the tie. The maximum amount of positive points a team can get is 15, so a team cannot benefit too much from a blowout. In addition, points cannot be taken away for a loss.

For example, a three-way tie which could exist is if Hereford loses and Pampa wins, then Hereford, Dumas and Pampa would be tied at 4-1 in district play. Hereford beat Pampa 21-14, so Hereford has seven positive points. Pampa beat Dumas 38-14, so Pampa gets the maximum 15 points and wins the tie-breaker. Dumas cannot get more than 15 positive points, and if Dumas does get 15 points, Pampa owns a win over Dumas.

Second place in a three-way tie is determined by head-to-head competition, not by positive points. In the example, Dumas would be the second playoff entry because it would have a win over Hereford.

Treating Alzheimer's
NEW YORK (AP) - Researchers are testing the effectiveness of a new drug in the hope it can treat symptoms of Alzheimer's disease, an illness that kills about 100,000 Americans each year.

Experts believe the drug - cognex - works by inhibiting an enzyme that breaks down acetylcholine, a chemical that helps communication between brain cells.

Since the amount of acetylcholine is decreased in the brains of Alzheimer's patients, researchers hope that preventing or reducing the loss of this neurotransmitter chemical may relieve some memory impairment.

The research has begun to make the drug available to desperately ill patients where no other treatment is available.

The drug, tested on some 15,000 patients, is being evaluated by 1,500 physicians and Warner-Lambert Company under a program in which the Food and Drug Administration allows greater access to certain unapproved drugs that have shown some evidence of effectiveness.

BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER

WHAT AMOUNTED TO CIVIL WAR, AND PITTED BROTHER AGAINST BROTHER, ALMOST CAUSED A COMPLETE DIVISION AMONG THE TRIBES OF ISRAEL! THE GIBBEATHITES (NATIVES OF A TOWN IN THE PROVINCE OF BENJAMIN) WERE THE CAUSE OF THE CONFLAGRATION. (JUDGES CHAPTER 20) ALL THE REST OF THE TRIBES WERE LINED UP AGAINST THEM, BUT THE TRIBE OF BENJAMIN HAD PROBABLY THE BEST SOLDIERS OF ISRAEL AND IN TWO SUCCESSIVE DAYS, THEY ROUTED THEIR BROTHER TRIBESMEN AND SWEEPED THEM OFF THE FIELD OF BATTLE WITH TUMULTUOUS EASE! ON THE THIRD DAY PHINEHAS, THE SON OF ELEAZAR, ASKED THE LORD IF THEY SHOULD CONTINUE THE BATTLE AGAINST BENJAMIN AND THE LORD CONSENTED. THIS TIME THE ISRAELITES USED AN AMBUSHING TECHNIQUE AND PUT DOWN THE BENJAMINITES SO SEVERELY THAT THERE WERE ONLY SIX HUNDRED MEN LEFT OUT OF TWENTY SIX THOUSAND!
