ENTHUSIASM MOUNTS THROUGH COUNTY AS TAX ELECTION NEARS

CITY BEAUTY HELPED AFTER CAMPAIGN WORK

GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED BY MANY COMMITTEEMEN IN CITY GOOD WILL DRIVE

Scores of School Children, Divided Into Squads, Spend Several Afternoons Assisting In Clean-Up Work In Connection With Hereford-Canyon Beautification Contest. Good Will Work Is Feature.

Although falling somewhat short of results leaders had expected to obtain, Good Will Week, held last week in connection with the Canyon-Hereford clean town contest, accomplished a great deal towards helping clean up the city and educating the people to the ease with which this measure may be accomplished. This was the opinion expressed this morning by Mrs. Claude Benton, chairman of the movement.

High, hot winds made out-of-doors work unpleasant during a part of the time last week and many another interest occupied attention of Hereford householders, responsive to the movement, however, was gratifying, Mrs. Benton said.

Scores of school children helped, taking turns each afternoon. They were divided into squads, each squad having a certain clean-up project to accomplish.

Committeemen working under Mrs. Benton in the Good Will movement included Mrs. C. B. Williams, Mrs. E. W. Harrison, Judge Earl W. Wilson, Mrs. Hall Beavers, Mrs. J. C. Hull and Rev. Jas. T. Ross.

New Secretary Assumes Duties Here This Week

Every business interest in the city is to be represented at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday, June 25, according to President Seigler, and the board of directors of the organization.

Of especial interest will be the introduction of the newly selected secretary-manager of the club, W. R. Arnold, formerly of Panhandle, where he has served the organization for more than two years. Prior to that time Mr. Arnold, who has been in the work a number of years, was located in Wichita county for more than 15 years. He was for several years mayor of Iowa Park and served the commercial organization at that place for more than 6 years.

Mr. Arnold was a leading factor in the great road building program of both Wichita and Carsol counties, the latter county now building over eighty-six miles of hard-surfaced highways at a cost of over $2,500,000.

Mr. Arnold comes to Hereford with strong recommendations as an organizer and an executive, and he will briefly outline some of the local chamber's activities and undertakings at the Monday luncheon.

In an interview with a Brand reporter, Mr. Arnold said "That the great Panhandle-Plains section of Texas is the next territory that will come in for even national recognition, is agreed by all who are conversant with conditions. To just what extent each particular city and community benefits from this development, depends entirely upon the effort put forth by that particular city or community. The chamber of commerce is an organization that should, and must, work to aid for the interests of all the people, and not for a few. There is a great work ahead for Hereford and her entire citizenship, and the possibilities are bounded only by the effort put forth."

Mr. Arnold will move his family to Hereford soon.

Special Services Held As Baptists Start Work

Elaborate, impressive ceremony marked the ground-breaking celebration held by more than one hundred Hereford Baptists at 8:00 o'clock Monday morning at the corner of Fifth and Main streets, scene of the new $70,000 church edifice.

Songs, prayers, a Scripture lesson and a few remarks by the pastor, Rev. F. M. Boyd, made up the short dedication program. First spadeful of earth was turned by D. L. Miller, "youngest" in length of membership of local Baptists.

Excavation work will go forward all this week. It is being done free of charge by members working in spare time.

J. E. Moore, of Harlingen, contractor, will arrive next Monday to begin actual construction on the structure.

Wreck Causes Postponement of Baseball Match

Because automotive difficulties prevented their presence here Sunday afternoon, members of the Nobles Brothers baseball team were forced to postpone indefinitely the game scheduled with the Hereford Whitefaces that afternoon. The two teams will probably meet soon. Left with nothing to do, Whiteface players loaded themselves and equipment into cars and drove out to the Wesley community north of town on 25-Mile Avenue and played a "scrub" game. No score was kept.

Next Sunday, June 24, Whiteface players meet the fast, strong Tulla team. According to Manager H. E. Fox, Tulla's aggregation has been doing well so far this season and fans are promised a real exhibition. This game will be called at 3:30, as usual, at West Park, Hereford.

POSTAL OFFICIAL IN

E. L. Donner Takes Over Official Duties As Hereford Postmaster Wednesday Morning. Tenders Resignation As Head of G. O. P.

E. L. Donner was officially checked in as postmaster at the Hereford office Wednesday morning. He was appointed during the last session of Congress to succeed J. A. Wear.

Mr. Donner said this morning that he was pleased with the co-operation extended him by the post office force. No change in personnel is planned, he announced.

Immediately upon going into office, Mr. Donner tendered his resignation as chairman of the Republican party here. His place will be filled by appointment from the state Republican headquarters.

TAX TALKED

Chamber of Commerce Votes to Help Farmers Put Over Project for County Road Funds.

Helping Deaf Smith county residents, particularly farmers, to put over the proposed fifteen cent county road tax up for voting Saturday, July 7, was the main topic discussed Monday at the regular luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Details of an educational program to support farmers in this election were outlined.

Speeches by E. R. Black, E. W. Harrison, L. Baskin, G. A. F. Parker and others pointed out various important factors which should cause voters to support the measure. G. A. F. Parker was authorized to prepare a personal letter to be mailed to qualified voters and taxpayers in this county.

Possibilities of a modern hotel were again brought to the fore when it was reported that Mrs. Chapman, of Clearendon, formerly proprietor of the Cordova Hotel here, was considering purchase of the hotel and making additions and improvements. She will be urged by the organization to make a trip of inspection here soon.

HEREFORD COUPLE SAFE.

Press dispatches Sunday morning carried stories of heavy tornado damage at Blair, Oklahoma, where Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Miller of this city are spending their vacation with relatives. Friends, alarmed, were not reassured until a telegram arrived from Mr. Miller Monday afternoon: "Town badly torn up. We are safe."

Fair Officials Plan Reunion and Barbecue

Amarello. Plans have been completed by officials of the Amarello Tri-State exposition for an all-state reunion and free barbecue at Harding's ranch near Amarello on July 4. The affair, after the first all-states reunion ever attempted in the Panhandle, is expected to attract 10,000 people.

In addition to a free barbecue, entertainment of all kinds, including airplane stunts, dancing, fishing, swimming, horse races, old fiddlers contests and athletic events, will be provided for the visitors. The only charge will be the usual 50 cents admission fee at the gate of the ranch, which has been a resort for many years.

A scenic drive, covering nine miles of shade and water will be available for the crowds along with hundreds of acres of shady picnic spots. Special meetings are being arranged for persons born in every state in the Union.

FIRST GRAIN OF SEASON TESTS HIGH

Harrison Buys First Load of Wheat from Dimmitt Man Tuesday. Harvest Under Way Next Week.

Opening officially the 1928 wheat harvest in the Hereford territory, L. E. Tucker of Dimmitt, brought in the first load of wheat Tuesday. It was sold to Harrison.

Mr. Tucker's one load tested fifty-six pounds to the bushel. He received $1.35 per bushel.

Most of the wheat in this region is hardly ready for cutting. The harvest season is expected to be in full swing after the first part of next week.

Miss Eloyse Pitman left last week for Boulder, Colorado, where she will attend the summer session at the University of Colorado.

Rev. Mr. Beavers of Plainview was here visiting friends last Thursday. He was formerly pastor of the Hereford Methodist church.

Miss Frances Oberthier arrived last Thursday from Ward Belmont.

Societies Send Many Members to Convention

Nearly thirty members of Hereford's Christian Endeavor societies went last week to Amarillo to attend the thirty-ninth annual convention of Texas Christian Endeavor organizations. This was the first time the convention has ever been held in the Panhandle.

Two thousand strong, Endeavorers came to Amarillo from many states, besides Texas. Three important points about which convention activities were based included Evangelism, Christian citizenship and World Peace. Chief among noted national and international society speakers were E. A. Gates, Boston; Paul C. Brown, Los Angeles; Alva Williams, Fort Worth; and Congressman Marvin Jones. Several foreign missionaries were present to report on work in their countries.

Numbered among the delegation from the Presbyterian church here were Mrs. A. A. Rogers, Ina Mae Hastings, Edgar and Woodrow Ireland, Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Ross and daughter, Viola Nunn, Mrs. C. F. Kerr, Reavis Kerr and Betty Rose Kerr.

From the Christian church went Harry Kibbe, Alletth Elliston, Orlena Savage, Nell Kester, Rowena Ewing, Lola Sowell, Mildred Fullwood, Carlos Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ricketts, Rev. Thurman Morgan, Mrs. A. H. Stren, Marie Marie Foster, J. T. Gilbreath and Clifford Kester.

Clovis Golfers Seek Vengeance in Match

Clovis golfers will be given a chance to avenge the close defeat they received here Sunday, June 10, when the team from Hereford Golf Club meets them at Clovis next Sunday afternoon, June 24.

When they played at Hereford, the Clovis group took four out of ten games and say that they expect to do much better than that on their own course. Hereford men, hardened by much tournament play already this summer, will endeavor to make it hard for them.

CARRIERS EXAMINED

Applicants for Post Office Position Here Given Civil Service Tests At High School Auditorium Saturday Afternoon. Thirty Compete.

Thirty applicants reported Saturday afternoon at the Hereford high school auditorium to take the civil service examination for the position of city mail carrier here. In charge of the examination was Elmer Patterson of the Hereford post office.

This examination is competitive and will be graded on the basis of 100 per cent. Winner of most points will be given the position. According to Mr. Patterson, results will probably be made known from Washington early next month. Service is expected to start some time in July.

SCHOOL OPEN

Vacation Bible School Begins This Week for All Hereford Children and Continues Two Weeks.

Hailed as an important development in Hereford religious circles was the inauguration this week of the daily vacation Bible school, begun Monday morning at the Baptist church. Opening day enrollment was seventy students.

General superintendent of the two weeks school session is Rev. C. E. Saxon. Under him are four main departments, headed as follows: Beginners, Miss Ruth Saxon; primary, Miss Mary Valentine; Junior, Mrs. D. B. Roberson, and Intermediate, Rev. V. M. Cloyd.

Daily sessions of the Bible school are held from nine o'clock to eleven-thirty each morning. Students' time is taken up with Bible study and recreational periods. According to Rev. Cloyd, no charges are made for this instruction and students between the ages of four and seventeen are free to join at any time during the two week period.

In connection with the children's Bible work, Rev. Cloyd and Rev. Saxon are conducting a series of nightly Bible study courses for adults. These classes are divided into two sections, both of which meet from 8:30 to 9:30 each evening.

ROADBED REPAIRS MADE.

A traveling Santa Fe road camp arrived here this week to put the finishing touches to the recent grading and re-ballasting of the main line. Raising the tracks at that time left many crossings too low. Camp workers will make the necessary adjustments.

String Quartet Concert Draws Large Crowd

Playing before a capacity house, the Prokhanoff brothers string quartet of Phillips University, of Enid, Oklahoma, presented a concert at the Christian church last Friday night. They appeared in native costume during the program of Russian folk songs and classic American numbers.

The four Prokhanoff brothers are Slava, Eugene, Walter and Paul. Accompanying them on the piano is H. H. McSkimming, of Pampa. Mr. McSkimming's parents drove from Pampa to Hereford for the concert Friday night.

On their way to the international religious conference at Los Angeles next month, Prokhanoff brothers are paying travelling expenses by a series of concerts.

Miss Vera Pearl Bassett of Amarillo is visiting her aunt, Mrs. John Whitsett this week.

Two Machines Batter In Wreck On Third Street

Two famed makes of automobiles contested for road supremacy here Sunday morning when the Buick coupe driven by Orlan Carroll of Hereford, collided with a Chevrolet touring car belonging to an unknown Clovis woman. Casualty honors were about even.

According to report, Carroll was going south on Lawton Avenue and was just turning the corner to go west on Third Street when the accident occurred. He is said to have failed to get the car slowed down enough to make the turn and so careened across the street, hitting the Chevrolet which was being driven east on Third Street.

A bent fender, a blown-out casing and unalignment of the rear wheels were main damages on the new Buick. The Chevrolet received a broken front wheel and a bent fender.

Dimmitt Makes Plans for New Road Event

Dimmitt residents are already making plans for the gigantic celebration which will be staged when the Fort Worth & Denver railroad extension to that city is completed. Workmen have nearly reached the city with the new tracks.

Original plans to have a celebration at Dimmitt upon completion of the line have been abandoned in favor of a larger event to be participated in by all towns along the line and which will probably be held near the Cap Rock. Definite arrangements have not yet been completed, however, and it is understood that Dimmitt may still have an event of its own.

Amarillo Cyclists Stop On Annual Gypsy Tour

Picturesque as any recent sight was the appearance Sunday morning of nearly fifty Amarillo motorcyclists who stopped here for fuel and road information. The group was on its annual June 17 "Gypsy tour" of this section of the Panhandle.

Besides the fun they derive, tour members make this trip every year to help impress the benefits and pleasures of motoring, they said. Towns on their one-day itinerary include Wildorado, Hereford, Dimmitt, Tulla, Happy, Kress, Canyon and Intermediate points.

George McWhirter of Dallas and Lee Gutherie of Wills Point were here this week visiting their cousin, Mrs. P. A. Turnbow. They were on their way to Tucuman, New Mexico. Mr. Gutherie and Mrs. Turnbow had not seen each other for thirty-five years.

G. O. Chandler, of Marysville, Texas, a former resident of this section, was here for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Chandler this week-end. He was accompanied by Ersehel Young, also of Marysville, who was here to take the mail carrier's examination.

An additional tax of fifteen cents on the hundred dollars valuation for the purpose of constructing and maintaining better roads in Deaf Smith county. That is the prospect which is causing enthusiasm among farmers of this section today as a discussion of the move is spreading.

Beginning a movement to help educate the people to the advantages of the tax, those favoring the tax have arranged a program of discussion whereby they expect to convince the small opposition faction.

Letters Sent.

Acting upon the authority of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce, G. A. F. Parker, president of the Western National Bank here, this week mailed personal letters to 1,500 voters of the county outlining the purpose and principles of the new tax. This was done in conjunction with the program of visits to rural communities which Chamber of Commerce workers will make.

When interviewed, those opposing the move told a Brand representative that one of the chief objections to the tax was that much of this money, as they understood it, would be used to maintain state highways or city roads in Hereford. County commissioners stated this morning that every cent of the funds obtained through this measure will be used on county roads alone.

No Bonds Issued.

Voting this tax will not incur a bond issue, commissioners point out. Nor, they say, does it mean that all of the fifteen cents called for by the tax will be used every year or be assessed to that amount. The fifteen cents represents the maximum taxation, which can be levied although a smaller amount may be charged when the commission, so desired.

Saturday, July 7, was the date set last week for the election on the tax measure. County Judge Earl W. Wilson said that a voting box will be placed at every voting precinct in this county on that date.

Workmen Begin Repavement of Several Blocks

Jordan Construction Company workers today began actual operations on the gigantic paving and street-widening program recently ordered by the city commission. Scene of first operation is the block on the east side of Main street between Fourth and Fifth.

Fourteen blocks, most of them in the business district, will be widened and resurfaced, according to the commissioners' order. A brick topping will be put on, using the present paving as a foundation.

Earlier in the spring the company paved five blocks in the residential section of town; Lee Avenue, from Fifth street, to its intersection with Miles Avenue. Several fill-ins in present paving have also been made.

Texas & Texans

By WILL H. MAYES

Valuable Publicity.

In an address at Waco, Jesse H. Jones of Houston, the man most to be credited with bringing the Democratic national Convention to Texas, stated that in his opinion Texas has been on the front page of 1,000 newspapers by reason of the convention being held in the state. His estimate is entirely too low. Almost every paper of any importance in the country has had a first page story of the convention and thousands of columns have been given to what is regarded as the impossible in securing it in a Southwestern state.

But all publicity is not valuable. Texas has had thousands of front page stories in the past that have had a bad rather than a good effect upon the state. Texas has too often appeared unfavorably in the public eye. The only valuable publicity is the kind that creates a favorable impression—any other kind is harmful.

The impression that Texas and Texans make upon the delegates and visitors to the National convention when they come to the state will determine the value of the publicity to come from newspaper stories. The Houston date line to a report will mean nothing to readers, but the impression that Texas makes upon visitors and newspaper reporters will mean much.

Every Texan who comes in contact with a visitor to the state should feel a weighty sense of duty in doing what he can to reflect credit on Texas. He can do that only by proving himself to be a credit to the state.

Measure of Greatness.

Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor University, is a big man with big ideas and a vision almost beyond restriction. In a Chamber of Commerce talk at Waco recent-obtained from a five-cent gasoline tax, and a small motor-oil tax and the automobile registration fees. The users of the highways are thus made to pay for the roads, and Mr. Ousley finds that the people generally, with perhaps the exception of some tourists, are pleased with the operation of the law. Here is how a banker, quoted by him, speaks of it:

"We are pleased with the new system for two reasons. The first is that our lands and property, which have been taxed to a point of near confiscation, are relieved of all road taxation. The second is that the five-cent toll that we pay on gasoline is not a tax at all, in the true sense, but an investment in the upkeep of our automobiles and trucks and in the increased mileage from the gasoline we use."

Newspaper Consolidation.

It is now the Beeville Bee-Picayune, with George Atkins at the helm. A stock company with Atkins of the Picayune as major stockholder, has bought the Bee from A. M. Shannon. Hereafter, Beeville will have to support but one newspaper but it will be a bigger and better paper than the town has ever had and will be in better position to serve its people creditably. Both have been good newspapers, but have been handicapped by being in competition in a town where either of them could have rendered better service alone.

Spearman Paper Sold.

The Spearman Reporter has been purchased by the Nunn-Warren interests that own a number of Panhandle newspapers and that is constantly reaching out for more. The new owners announce that they have engaged Oran Kelly, former owner, as editor and that except for ownership the paper will be the same excellent product it has been with the added advantage of increased capital.

Tomato Movement.

It is hard for a close student of Texas papers to keep up with data as to what is going on in progressive Texas. One day I saw that the Tyler section had shipped 30 cars of tomatoes during the first week of the tomato season. I thought that was a fine item for this column—30 carloads the first week! The next day the daily papers carried a statement that the Jacksonville section had shipped 100 carloads in two days. You can guess what ever you please as to shipments since then. Nothing seems too big for Texas.

Millions in Road Fund.

Texas has been making some big road contracts during the first five months of the year, but has by no means exhausted its road resources. There is some $6,000,000 still unused in the Federal road fund allotted Texas to be matched during the year by state road funds. This will be the greatest road building year Texas has had. Texas is building good roads, too, and the gaps are being filled in as never before.

Santa Fe Buys Orient.

The Santa Fe Railway has acquired 40 per cent of the stock in the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railway, and is negotiating for the remaining stock. The Orient has long been crippled for lack of funds with which to carry forward needed expansion, and the Santa Fe ownership should insure necessary development.

Texas Wool Clip.

Texas wool is finding a ready market. Buyers are eager to get the spring clip and prices are satisfactory. At some points the shearing is delayed for lack of labor, but the labor shortage is now being overcome.

Things You Should Know About Your HEALTH

AN EXAMPLE.

One of my patrons from another state is now 86 years old and is here for a short vacation. He is not a freak; he is a normal man, and has been for four-score years and more. He has no need of my medicines or advice; he knows how to live, perhaps better than I do, but he lets me take an inventory—his blood pressure, conditions of his heart and circulation in particular just wants to see if anything is wrong that he has not noticed.

Now if this man can live so long and happily, why cannot you and I do it as well?

The one big, outstanding reason is, we violate too many laws of right living.

We lie in bed too late mornings. He is up at five a. m. every day. We go to bed too late nights; he is in bed before 9:30 every night. We stuff our bodies with food at the end of the day; his best meal is—breakfast; his lightest meal, "supper." We have high blood pressure, tubby bodies, indolent nerves, poisoned arteries, and all that go with them—he doesn't. Yet, he is just the sort of human being that we are.

He has done everything in the shape of hard work that came along—it has not hurt him at all. We accuse our troubles—when it is excess of highly seasoned food and indolent habits. My old patron has lived in the open; we are in all day and out most nights. If our mode of living is absolutely unavoidable, then we should not complain if we die before our Creator intended us to.

"Back to first principles" is homely, but powerfully conducive to four-score years of life, or more.

GOLDEN TEXT.

"Choose you this day whom ye will serve."—Joshua 24:15.

Four ideas stand out prominently in the lessons of the past quarter: First, the pre-vision of Christ's sufferings; second, a clarification of the meaning of discipleship; third, the developments toward and experiences of the Saviour's Passion and Sufferings; fourth, the Saviour's Victory and Kingdom Projection.

The Pre-Vision of his sufferings may be said to have come to our Master in two special ways. First of all, he could sense in the situations about him, the inevitableness of his sufferings. In his person and ministry there was an unmistakable accentuation of the age-old struggle between the good and the evil. That accentuation was helped by, first, his own noble defense and propagation of the good tidings of the Gospel; second, by the very nature of the opposition.

God is unyielding in his purposes of redemption; sin must yield eventually, but the struggle is long and stubborn, and sin will go to its utmost lengths in order to defeat the divine purposes. We have thus a vision both of the struggle and the outcome, which could be no less than the suffering of our Lord.

But there was a definite vision of suffering which came to our Master. That was the experience of the transfiguration. The vision lifts that experience above the merely earthly aspects of human struggle into the purer atmosphere of the eternal purposes of God. The sufferings of Christ are there pictured as: First, more than a stroke of sin intended to destroy the Son of God, and a purpose which could and would make the wraith of opposition to work towards the accomplishment of the redemption of man, when Calvary,

STRONGHEART
 Yakima Chief—Premier.

A fascinating story, told of the early life of the Indians, their customs, traditions and beliefs, will be set before the people of this community on the third night of the Premier program, when Chief Nipo Strongheart, grandson of a Yakima chief that fought against the white man's advance into the West, and himself born and reared on the Yakima reservation, will tell the tale of the "vanishing race" as only one who is vitally concerned in his subject can tell it.

Scarcely middle aged, handsome in the native costume of the Indian, well educated and experienced as a platform lecturer, the Chief will make an imposing appearance as he pictures for his audience the life of the Indian before the arrival of the white man on these shores. He will describe the changes that took place as the red man was driven westward, and the decline of this once great race.

Strongheart was educated at Carlyle after going to school in Yakima. He has delved into the traditions of Indians and knows from association and tales handed down of their early years.

the place of man's destructive effort, should be transformed into the sacrificial altar of redemptive purpose; second, as the path thru sufferings and service to ultimate conquest and glory for our Lord.

Discipleship would be greatly clarified through this vision. As Jesus passed through the experiences of his ministry and sufferings the disciples would gather the meaning of discipleship by the exemplary nature of that sufferings. They would also learn that discipleship would involve the following of their teacher through sufferings. They would learn that discipleship with Jesus was more than a romance visaged by dreamers; they would see that discipleship was a costly experience, but with their transfigured master they would be able to understand that in the end they should receive an ample reward.

We have already hinted at the idea of the inevitableness of the sufferings of Jesus. The only way to evade those sufferings was thru compromise of our Lord's divine mission. From the hour of his temptation in the wilderness to Gethsemane with its bitter cup our Lord offered no compromise, and spurned the offers of others.

Allied against him were all the powers of darkness. Satan, his first assailant, wretchedly failed in the wilderness; but Satan, who had not the power to overcome our Lord in his own person, chose to gather to himself a group of allies from among men. Entrenched ecclesiasticism, politics and big business furnished a most hopeful alliance with Satan at the same time the most formidable front for the redemptive work of Jesus.

We have seen at what points the conflict joined between Jesus and his enemies in the studies of the past quarter. Ecclesiasticism struck and balked at two points. The first of these was the attitude of Jesus toward the Mosiac law and the traditions of the elders. Agreement was easily had between the opposite parties of Sadducees and Pharisees, on the point of Jesus' attitude toward Mosiac law, while, as a matter of fact, the Sadducees cared but little for the tradition of the elders.

The second point at which ecclesiasticism balked was the attitude of Jesus toward the unorthodox. He freely ate with Publicans and sinners, while the ecclesiastical parties poured out their scorn upon him. The law, restated for the day and generation in which he walked among men, the redemptive nature of his attitude toward Publicans and sinners brought an ever deepening conflict between Jesus and his ecclesiastical enemies.

One master stroke defined his attitude toward politics and big business; that was the cleansing of the temple, when with writhing conscience and divine indignation he drove the mercenaries out of the temple court. His authority was immediately challenged and the conflict joined which soon led to his crucifixion.

Step by step the tragedy unfolds until after many wily attempts to entangle Jesus by questioning, his enemies finally bought his betrayal of Judas, one of the twelve. Little did they realize, that it was the mandate of the Father which sent Jesus to Calvary rather than their clever machinations.

Calvary came and sin did its worst. Then came the First day of the week. Early that morning the victory of Jesus over the grave was wrought. Forty days later after giving his disciples a commission for the evangelization of the world, the clouds parted and received him up from their sight, to a throne at God's right hand. This concludes our studies of the quarter.

DEAR FRIENDS:

Yesterday I applied for a job here at Orr's Tailor Shop. Mr. Orr asked me if I knew anything about the dry cleaning business. I told him I had often heard of it.

Then he asked me if I could write ads! I said I didn't know—I'd never tried.

He didn't ask me if I could run a locomotive or play the piano. If he had, I'd have told him the same thing.

I never wrote an ad in my life, but I got the job! And now I suppose it's up to me to deliver or starve.

This is my opener. I won't try to talk shop this time because I can't. Next time maybe I can tell you something a little more interesting.

Full for me! I'm going to need your help.

Long Letter Answered.

NEW YORK. Bridget Daly, 14, who came to this country only a week ago and obtained employment as a maid, wrote a long letter to her mother and then inquired how to mail it.

She was told to walk to the corner and place it in a mail box attached to a telephone pole. Instead of placing the letter in the mail box, she pulled a lever in another box and then stood to one side to wait for the postman.

Instead of a postman, a half dozen pieces of fire apparatus drove noisily to the corner. As it was decided she had not rung the alarm with "malicious intent," Bridget was not arrested.

A cow was found on the roof of a metropolitan apartment house, and everybody wondered how it got there. We know. It had to go on the roof, as there was no room left for it in any of the apartments.

A man caught stealing $120 said he needed the money to get "tools to crack a safe." Another poor victim of circumstances.

Young People Enjoy Picnic Last Thursday

In honor of Lyle Woodford, Winchester, Ky., young man here visiting relatives, Misses Doll Meger and Ruth Elliston entertained a group of young people with a picnic on Tierra Blanco creek last Thursday evening. Barbecued chickens and other delicacies were served to seven couples.

Mrs. Ida Florence Rayzor and daughter, Margaret, of Perryton, arrived here Monday for a visit with Mrs. Rayzor's son, Delna, and wife.

ILLINOIS RELATIVES VISIT.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wells and daughter, Frances, of Illinois, are here visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson of 25-Mile Avenue. Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Wilson are sisters. Last Wednesday night Mrs. Wilson entertained her guests and a few friends with a six o'clock dinner on Tierra Blanco creek. A niece from Oklahoma is also visiting in the Wilson home.

Lawn Party Entertains Former Hereford Folks

A number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seth B. Holman last Thursday evening and enjoyed a picnic supper on the beautiful lawn of this home. Following the supper, bridge was enjoyed until a late hour. Honor guests on this occasion were Mr. and Mrs. James Rutherford, former residents of Hereford, but who have been living in Borger for the past year. They were guests in the home of Mr. Rutherford's mother, Mrs. Hattie Rutherford.

Mrs. Ralph Barnett and children, Mrs. Matt Gilliland and daughter, Estelle, returned last week from a visit with friends and relatives in Fort Worth and Glen Rose.

Casualty List Heavy at J. H. Pitman Home

W. C. (Dubs) Pitman, assistant fire chief, and one of Hereford's best known young business men, is in bed at home with a broken bone in his leg, while his mother, Mrs. J. H. Pitman, is also confined to her bed with a bruised limb.

Dubs was hurt last Sunday afternoon while picnicking with friends on the Tierra Blanco. He twisted his leg and snapped a bone. The fracture was set at the county hospital and he was then taken to his home. Thursday he was reported doing nicely and smiling. He will probably be laid up for several weeks.

Mrs. Pitman slipped and fell while cleaning house Monday and suffered a painful strain which has confined her to her room since that time.

Mrs. R. Barber Hostess to Tuesday Bridge Club

Mrs. Ray Barber entertained members of the Bridge Club and other friends last Tuesday at her home on East Fourth Street.

The rooms were decorated with garden flowers and in the round of games Mrs. Bobo McLean won the club prize and Mrs. Alice Lea, of Denver, Colo., won the guest prize.

At the conclusion of the games, the hostess served a tempting refreshment plate.

STAR THEATRE
Monday-Tuesday
June 25-26

Lovely Summer Party Held at Donald Home

One of the loveliest of summertime parties was that given by Mrs. Charles Donald on last Friday afternoon when she entertained with six tables of bridge. Garden flowers added their attractiveness to the receiving rooms and in the round of games Mrs. Elias Ferguson won high and Mrs. Frank Lucas low prize.

At the conclusion of the games a delicious salad course was served. Mrs. Donald was assisted in entertaining by her charming daughter, Miss Emma Jean, who has just returned from Austin where she attended the University.

THE WHEEL OF CHANCE RULES HUMAN LIFE

The derivation of the title of the Fannie Hurst story, "Roulette," upon which Richard Barthelmess' picture, "The Wheel of Chance," coming to the Star Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, was based, is a matter of interest.

In this story of Russia and New York the star plays a dual role—two brothers, one of whom is red-headed, the other dark. Symbolically, the title indicates the part Luck and Fate play in human affairs and as in the famous game of chance, the red or black must either win or lose.

Fannie Hurst wrote the original story from which this Alfred Santell Production for First National Pictures is adapted. It is said to be one of the most dramatic vehicles in which Barthelmess has ever appeared.

First Haircut At 21.

ALBIA, Ia.—A youth here, aged 21, has just been to the barber for the first time. As a child he had beautiful hair and his brother so admired it that he promised the lad $1,000 if he let it remain uncut until he reached 21. The lad got the thousand.

Comanche.—Local merchants are co-operating in the support of the Comanche jelly plant by selling home products on a special day.

Hints for the Home

Colored Melon Pickles.

When making melon pickles, divide fruit into three parts of white, red and green pickles. Prepare syrup of one cup water and one pound sugar to each pound of fruit. With syrup for white pickles boil one sliced lemon for flavoring. For red, spice with cloves and color with "red hots." For green use cinnamon and green vegetable color. Seal separately.

Keeps Pens Clean.

One dip of the pen in a small quantity of ammonia makes the pen as bright as new. This is helpful when using various colors of ink.

Have a Bright Oven.

If you will paint the inside of the oven with aluminum paint it will be much easier to see what is going on inside.

When Husking Corn.

To remove corn silk with the least effort, first husk the ear, then brush toward the stem end with a clean whisk broom.

Salt Cleans Sinks.

Sinks and drains can be kept free of grease and odors by pouring hot salt brine through them once or twice a week.

Into Friendly Arms.

LINCOLN, Neb.—Two cars collided here. A year-old baby in one of them bounced out of the car, but escaped injury as he was caught safely in the arms of a passer-by.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

THE MAN WHO KEEPS HIS WORD.

It is like the shadow of a great rock in a weary land to run across, as we do occasionally, a man who keeps his word.

You may be able to sue on written promises and contracts put in writing, which are usually binding, but somehow the man who does not keep his word strictly is a slippery customer and it is hard to get hold of him, even with a piece of writing.

The fundamental security for a man doing what he promises is, after all, character.

If a man has character and is upright you are safer in lending him money than if he gives you a mortgage on his farm. Doing business with a liar is never satisfactory. Somehow he will attempt to wriggle out of his promises.

It is easy to detect the strictly honest person. When he owes you money he does not avoid you but openly and frankly pays you something on account right along if he cannot pay the whole amount.

The test of the fundamentally honest man is his punctuality in meeting his engagements or in frankly explaining to you why those engagements cannot be met.

The courts are full of people trying to evade their plain engagements.

A man who is in debt sincerely tries to meet that debt whether it hurts him or not. It is very trying and very disturbing to our faith in human nature to find a person who is always looking for alibis, always seeking explanations for not doing as he said he would do.

The good loser, the man who loses and yet is cheerful, is the man who is after all one of the chief pillars of the social fabric.

Exceeding Speed Limit.

NEW YORK.—Jack Gelman was fined $20.00 for speeding. It was a rather unusual case, as he was not speeding in a motor car, but was driving a horse, hauling a laundry wagon "at an unreasonable rate of speed."

Dog Keeps Another Alive.

ELKHART, Ind.—"Doc," a "common cur," owned by Homer Mercer, has proven himself a brave and thoughtful dog.

Queen, a German police dog owned by George Herril, has been missing for ten days and searchers had failed to find her.

Doc was observed to have acquired a new trick. Instead of eating all his food, he carried some of it away, presumably to bury it. When Mercer heard Queen had disappeared, he recalled having heard a dog howl and investigated.

The alert Doc led his master to a vine-covered wire fence under a tree and there was Queen with one hind foot caught in the wire.

Doc had kept Queen from starving by carrying food to her. Queen is hobbling about on three legs, recovering from her ten days' imprisonment.

Gastine—Power lines are being built into Gastine by the Texas Louisiana Power Company which has purchased the local plant.

Benjamin—Considerable interest has been shown in terracing done in this territory for the season.

McCamey—Local civic leaders plan a big celebration for the 4th of July here.

THE TIGER TRAIL

by Edison Marshall

Something was radically wrong with the nerves of these occupants of Southley Downs. Evidently the swamp air had got into them and left its poison. The elderly Southley had evidently not heard the sound. At least he gave no sign. His son, the nerves of whose handsome body should have been of steel, gave a scarcely perceptible start. Both the Haywards turned with a nervous jerk; and the elder said something that sounded like an oath under his breath. Josephine had been the most affected of all; and when I looked at her again I saw that lingering, haunting sorrow in her dark eyes.

She uttered a little nervous laugh—a sound that was joyously musical in spite of her embarrassment. "Did you ever encounter just this atmosphere before?" she asked me. "It's these marshes, I think—the traditions of this old house."

"All it needs is a ghost," I told her. "If you can present a ghost it's going to be the biggest week of my life."

"It's here already." "You don't mean it?" "The newest, most novel ghost in the world."

She said it lightly, and I kept my eyes upon her. Then we heard the elder Hayward grunting from his chair.

"Oh, don't tell that silly story about Josephine," he muttered. "I've heard it till I'm tired."

"Then take him into the library, Joe," her father suggested. "I do want him to hear it—and since it bores Mr. Hayward you'd better not tell it here. I want him to see the house, anyway."

Josephine and I went through the long hall and into the library. There were other candles here, and the shadows were long and unwavering. I held a chair for her and took one myself.

"Of course I know you," she said at once. "I'm glad of that. I was sure you had forgotten."

I was watching with immeasurable delight every change of expression in her face, every shadow in her eyes, the delicious rising and falling of the color in her cheeks. She was in the middle of a sentence and all things else were forgotten. Then, slowly as water freezes, the life utterly died in her face.

There is no other word. In a moment the witchery and mystery that men call life was sparkling in her eyes and dancing in her smile. Her color was at its height, and it was like drinking wine for me. In the next it was wholly gone. Probably my first impression was that her color was fading.

She was watching something just over my shoulder. The light went out of her eyes and they widened too. And a no less perceptible change came into the set of her lips.

Very slowly I turned. I don't know what I expected to see. But I certainly expected nothing as commonplace as I saw. Her eyes were fixed on the form of Ahmad Das, the servant who was doing some household task at the end of the long room.

For an instant I also followed his motions with a senseless fascination. He was on his hands and feet on the rug evidently cleaning a soiled place on the carpet. And even in that awkward position he seemed to move with a strange, feline grace, a lithe sinuosity beyond all words.

I did not forget that this was natural in the man. But by some Santalocentangling of fate and circumstance, his candle light had found a reflection in his eyes. I saw a look of self-disciplined wariness and was not just imagination, not just delusion or moon-madness that revealed to me a strange, greenish glare, not unlike the light to be seen in the eyes of certain great beasts of prey in the black depths.

Ahmad Das left the room and I spoke in the deathly quiet that followed his departure.

"What is it, Miss Southley?" I asked her as gently as I could. "What has frightened you?"

"I must be ill," she said. "It was just Ahmad Das."

"I know—and that wild light in his eyes was natural. It was just the glare from his candle."

She smiled at me, took me through some of the great, downstairs rooms of the manor house. The place was almost Georgian—the best of hiding places—and long corridors and indefinite flights of stairs. I was amazed at the size of it.

"And what traditions it must have!" I exclaimed. "You forgot, Miss Southley. You were going to tell me about the ghost."

She paused and looked at me. "I've decided I hadn't better."

"I'm so sorry. It would give me an added zest for this visit."

"But you wouldn't believe it."

"And you wouldn't want me to! Ghost stories aren't meant to be believed."

"But this story is a little different, Dr. Long. It has one or two rather troublesome points—and it isn't to be laughed at, even if it isn't to be believed. I hope you'll be able to laugh—but I'm afraid you won't. It's been a tradition in this house since my father came forty years ago. And it isn't nice—at all. It's just that Southley Downs needs a doctor—even more than I do."

"And maybe I'm the one it needs."

"Our ghost isn't the ghost of a man," she said. "It isn't the ghost of a lovely girl who died for a sweetheart—or even a little child."

"I'm glad it isn't a little child. I can't bear to think of their sleep being so uneasy that they would walk."

"Our ghost—isn't a human being at all."

I couldn't laugh into her earnest face. I didn't feel like laughing.

"It isn't very cheerful, is it, doctor?" she went on, "and it is rather embarrassing to sit here and tell you things I know you can't possibly believe. My father came from India forty years ago, and he brought a tiger-cub with him. It was a pet—a tawny little creature that played and romped and pulled at the curtains. He brought two servants, too—a Hindu man and my mother's ayah. Both these two servants are dead. Although you would hardly guess it, Ahmad Das was born after they came to this plantation.

"The cub grew into a beautiful tawny, full-grown tiger, seemingly as gentle as a collier. But one night when the wind blew it seemed to go mad. It attacked the Hindu woman and she was badly torn before my father drove the creature off. In the condition that she was, her wounds were even more dangerous than they otherwise would have been. It was unquestionably the brute's intention to carry her off—and maybe you know something about tigers."

"They say that they will play for literally hours with their human prey, just as a cat plays with a mouse, with the most terrible cruelty than can be imagined. The beast attacked my father then and leaped through the window and escaped into the marshes."

"When morning came all the negroes and my father and the Hindu tracked the tiger down—and finally killed him in the thickets. And when they got back Ahmad Das was born. On the very day, and the same hour, that the tiger died."

"Of course that's just a detail.

The legend that has grown deals with the stories that the colored people told, about something they saw thereafter."

She paused and in the little silence we heard some night bird give its sleepy call from the dark marsh.

"At first the stories were rather vague. Now and again they would get a glimpse of something tawny and alive in the thickets. Everybody laughed at first. But as time went on it got increasingly hard to laugh. Too many people told the same story. And one night a traveler stopped at the house, simply speechless with his fright. He said that a tiger, clear and tawny in the moonlight, had followed his horse."

"The stories all agreed on one point. The beast was always seen

THE REVISED SCHEDULE

There has just been a revision in the schedule of Pickwick Stages operating through Hereford. The newly announced schedule is as follows:

East Bound	West Bound

either on or about this hill on which the house is built. And then one midnight a negro came with a candle on some errand into the library, the room we are now in. He told rather a straight story afterward. He couldn't see at first. He just heard something bounding about in the shadows—playing with the curtains. His candle light showed him something big, as an enormous hound—and yellow and black in color.

"That's substantially the legend, Dr. Long. Of course I don't want you to think about it twice—if you do you will take your bag and go. For years and years the story was just told at intervals and not even the negroes were afraid. But two years ago— But you've heard enough. Let's talk of something else."

"If I'm to cure this house of its troubles you had better tell me all," I told her.

She braced herself and continued. She was a sensible, cool-headed American girl, and I had no doubt that the story was hard for her to tell. Already I was groping for some natural explanation for the legends.

"Two years ago Sam, one of our colored men, came wild-eyed into the house and said that he had seen the thing just below our veranda—and all of us laughed at him. Perhaps a month later one of the housemaids came with an almost identical story—she and one of the young colored men had been walking about the hillside and it had suddenly emerged from the shrubbery. It makes such a story particularly disquieting, doctor, to have two people verify it. (To Be Continued.)

Let every one be on time next Sunday morning for Sunday school and see who wins out in the contest. Don't forget to memorize your verses.

Wrap each box in a different fancy paper of futuristic design in high colors and use gold seals or gold paper tape for tying. Then tuck the boxes into a gay raffia bag, with a clever greeting card to speed the traveler on his way.

Use only half quantities for the recipes, and you will find this an economical gift—with plenty of delicious cake left over for the family.

Cottage Cheese Salad.
Drain juice from pint can shredded pineapple, add water to make a pint; bring to boil and dissolve in it a package lemon-flavored gelatin. When slightly thickened, fold in pineapple, a cup of cottage cheese, and season with salt and cayenne. Lay strips of pimiento in mold, fill with gelatin mixture and chill. Serve with cream mayonnaise.

Makes Them Like Prunes.
Prune Toast is a delicious breakfast dish made by browning thick slices of Vienna bread in butter or margarine. Then turn into the pan a half pound of seeded prunes cooked very soft. Heat, pour over toast, dust with powdered sugar and serve with cream.

To Remove Chewing Gum.
Place a piece of ice over chewing gum that adheres to cloth; scrape off as much as possible with a dull blade; then wash spot with gasoline or alcohol.

Changing Pictures.
An occasional change in pictures in a room has a freshening effect that is quite comparable to bringing in a bright bouquet of flowers. It is a mistake to have the same pictures in the same position year after year.

If You Have No Egg Beater—
A fruit jar can be used to beating eggs quickly. Rinse jar with cold water to prevent eggs sticking; break the eggs into the jar, seal and shake.

It's Vacation Time

When you feel the call of the road, the desire to take that long-planned trip, think of the CITY DRUG STORE for useful articles for the trip. Take an Automobile Accident Case, containing everything necessary for cuts, bruises, insect bites, etc.

Take gauze bandages, adhesive bandages, cotton, iodine or mercurochrome solution. Take Aspirin tablets, pills, a host of other things. Let us fix them up in handy, convenient packages. Or you may need a Thermos bottle, a flashlight or toilet articles. Save time and trouble by getting these things before you start.
