Lumbermen of City Explain To Chamber of Commerce Relief For Laborers Here

Fifty members and guests enjoyed the monthly luncheon of the Hereford chamber of commerce at the Methodist church Monday noon, with a most entertaining program. Being conducted by the building industry and its associated labor interests, the talks had much to do with the necessity of keeping buildings and property in repair, and the advantages such activities would be to the community at large.

D. H. Alexander, vice-president of the chamber of commerce and manager of the Panhandle Lumber Company here, made an alert and efficient chairman who kept the speakers on the job and held the attention of the diners with his witty remarks.

On opening the program proper, George Muse, president of the First National Bank, was called upon and told of attending, with others from Hereford, a meeting in Amarillo by delegates from 30 Panhandle counties, to discuss and learn details of the plan of Congressman Marvin Jones to use money left from the Farm Loan Fund this spring to help wheat farmers prepare and sow their crops this fall.

Alex Thompson called the attention of the gathering to the revival in progress at the Baptist church this week and next, in his witty way, stating that as the chamber of commerce was obligated to take part in all things looking to the good of the community, it would be a good thing for its members to attend the meeting.

Getting down to the business of the day, Mr. Alexander in announcing the theme of his program said that building activities of today and the idea his associates were advocating at present was not a promotional scheme to construct more buildings, but to get people to make the needed repairs and remodeling to keep their property in a usable condition, that business today was being done on the merits of its necessity and not on promotional theories.

Managers of the other lumber yards here spoke briefly but to the point on the subject. M. C. Alston of the Alston Lumber Company; Sam Munson, of the Roberts-Oliver yard; John Olson, of Rockwell Bros. & Company, and Grant Fuller, of the R. H. Kemp Company.

They told that the plan being advocated here was not new, but was being encouraged by the largest civic organizations, such as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was being practiced over the whole country, and had been well received here.

The building program they proposed was not an appeal for charity, but that property owners might be brought to realize the advantages of repairing and remodeling now and what it would mean to the many associated labor interests of the city to be provided with work at the present time.

Work given such laborers now would help keep them from being charity cases next winter when the same money that could be used now to pay for needed repairs will perhaps then need to be given gratis. Repairs on property will be well received here. CLOVIS TEAM WILL PLAY MIDGETS HERE TUESDAY

A team of junior baseball players will be over from Clovis Tuesday of next week to play a game with the Midgets, the junior team of the Hereford Twilight League, managed by Homer Fox. These two teams have been playing games for the past several years, and a good fast battle is expected. The Midgets defeated the Westway boys team here Tuesday afternoon of this week, 5-2.

Will Recover Money Lost Two Years Ago

T. G. Culbertson, farmer living in Northwestern Deaf Smith county, was in Hereford Tuesday with some fragments of currency making arrangements to have the pieces sent to the Treasury Department at Washington in an effort to have new money issued, in its stead.

In October, 1930, Mr. Culbertson lost his wallet containing some bills, while plowing. This year his plow turned up what proved to be his missing purse, but the bills were so rotted it was impossible to accurately distinguish them or their amounts. Bringing them to the First National Bank here this week, the bills were sent to Washington with an affidavit certifying to their known value, and it is expected the treasury experts will be able to determine the value of the separate pieces and return new ones in their stead to Mr. Culbertson.

SON OF SHERIFF MILLER AWARDED HARLEY SARTER SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Guilford Miller, son of Sheriff and Mrs. Jno. B. Miller, of Hereford, who is just completing his sophomore work at West Texas State Teachers College, has been awarded the Harley Sarter Scholarship of $100. President J. A. Hill made the announcement in connection with the commencement exercises, and the money will be available for Miller's use during the 1932-3 session.

This year he has been business manager of Le Mirage, the college yearbook, and has been prominent in dramatic circles.

FARM CENSUS RETURNS TO BE COMPLETED, EARLY REPORTS SHOW

A return of better than 98 per cent of county tax assessors' reports in the first annual Texas farm census being conducted by the Texas and U. S. departments of agriculture is indicated by reports filed during the first two weeks of June, according to Carl H. Robinson, senior agricultural statistician for the federal department, who will have charge of tabulating and compiling statistics on the data obtained.

Robinson said that tax assessors of only three counties have indicated that they will not file reports, while negotiations between the two departments and the assessors have not been exhausted. In enacting the statute authorizing the farm census, the legislature prescribed heavy fines for failure of assessors to make reports.

With all the reports expected during this month, federal and state officials expect to issue a bulletin on the census this fall.

BAPTIST MEETING HAS SPLENDID ATTENDANCE

The revival begun last Sunday by Rev. V. M. Cloyd in the First Baptist church is getting under way with splendid attendance this week. The services will continue through next week, according to present plans.

Tommye Godfrey, singer from Seminary Hill, Fort Worth, is helping out with the song service, being a fine leader and soloist.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Tynes were in Plainview Wednesday to get their daughter, Nina, who has been visiting relatives there the past two weeks.

Attend Parley to Pledge Help for Wheat Men

George Muse, G. A. F. Parker, C. F. Kerr, Tom Carter, J. E. Hill and R. O. Dunkle were in Amarillo Saturday to attend a meeting of representative citizens from 30 counties to encourage and promote the proposal of Congressman Marvin Jones to lend money this fall to wheat farmers to aid them in preparing their land and sowing it for next year's crop.

John E. Hill of Amarillo, vice-president and general manager of the Panhandle Lumber Company, was made chairman of a committee to work out details to assist in carrying the proposal to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Jones' idea is to use the $137,000,000 left over from the Farm and Seed Loan of the federal government, using the same officials as are already active in the work, to lend a maximum of $2000 each to wheat farmers for the purpose above outlined. It would mean much to Deaf Smith county and the whole Panhandle should such a plan be carried through, and indications are most favorable, according to those who have been dealing with its particulars.

S. B. WALKER OF PORTALES JOINS WORKING FORCE OF FARMERS CREAMERY

S. B. Walker, formerly of Portales, this week began working as field man for the Farmers' Creamery, Inc., of Hereford. He will visit farmers and dairymen over the territory served by the local cooperative creamery to present at first hand the advantages the local organization has for cream producers here.

Through his efforts there will be established some 30 community receiving stations adjacent to the Hereford creamery, where cream producers may conveniently leave their cream for the creamery truck to gather up and bring in for manufacturing butter.

In this way cream producers are assured fresh cream prices and higher butterfat tests at a greater convenience and less expenditure of time on their part. Local cream prices are kept at the point they are because the Farmers' Creamery Association is functioning here, its officials say. The new plan will further enhance the possibility of better returns for cream, as deliveries can be made more often, thus assuring higher quality of cream, higher butterfat content, and a resulting better price for it.

TEXACO STARS COMING DOWN FROM AMARILLO FOR GAME SUNDAY

The Texaco Stars baseball team will be down from Amarillo Sunday afternoon to play a picked town team on the diamond across the track southeast of the city. It promises to be one of the fastest games so far this year.

High School Band Comes Home Tired But Happy

The high school band got home from its vacation outing trip through New Mexico one day earlier than was expected, coming in late Friday afternoon by reason of Tucumcari not sending word of having made for preparation the band's playing there. Instead of stopping in the Quay county metropolis, the band trippers came straight on through to reach home just before a heavy rainstorm.

An account of the trip, as written by one of the band mothers who went along, will be found elsewhere in the Brand this week, and conveys some idea of what the members thought of the ten-day outing.

Word from most of the towns along the route the band traveled has been sent the Brand and makes some interesting reading, telling the impression the youngsters and their music make and what people were led to think of the town that would sponsor and send out over the country such an organization.

Possibly one of the most sincere of them all comes from A. D. Taylor, the secretary of the chamber of commerce at Ruidoso, that beautiful summer resort valley of the White Mountains west of Ros-

GARDNERS ASKED TO SET A FEW EXTRA PLANTS FOR CHARITY

The committee that worked so valiantly last fall canning and preserving vegetables and fruits to be distributed during the past winter to deserving charity cases, has come forward with one of the most timely suggestions.

Many people at this time are planning and setting out gardens and truck patches to raise vegetables for fall canning for their own needs. The probability is that more food will be canned next fall than was ever known over the Plains country, and preparations are being made right now to grow the materials with which to do it.

The Hereford charities committee suggests that as each one makes provision for planting for themselves, they put out a few extra of each vegetable or plant, that a surplus may be raised from which the committee may again have some left over to put up for the needy, from the abundance there will be.

Officials Spend Day Inspecting Hog Production

Seth B. Holman, former owner of the Hereford Brand and now editor of the Farm Page of the Amarillo News-Globe, was a Deaf Smith county visitor Tuesday afternoon with A. & M. College extension service representatives, who came to inspect the stock and conditions of farmers here who are participating in the Pork Production contest being conducted by the college and the Amarillo paper.

E. M. Regenbrecht, swine specialist, and Mr. Smith, beef specialist, were the A. & M. men present, and J. F. Ford, assistant county agent of Potter county, accompanied the group here. With R. O. Dunkle, Deaf Smith county agent, and several cars of interested farmers and business men, they visited the farms of Mrs. Bess Turrentine, Horace Hershey, Lester Galley and Minord Koelzer, the ones of this county who are taking part in the pork production contest.

Attend Barbecue. County Agent R. O. Dunkle and family, H. D. Blythe, Minord Koelzer and Lester Galley were Deaf Smith county representatives Wednesday at the Tierra Blanca farms east of Canyon, where a big barbecue was given in honor of the party from A. & M. College that has been visiting the Panhandle in the interest of the pork production contest. Those who have made entries in the competition were invited guests of the occasion.

Newt Gilliland, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gilliland, who has been a student at A. & M. College the past year, did not return with other Hereford boys this week, but will stay for six weeks further study at College Station.

Plan Pageant for July Fourth Presentation

Under the directorship of Miss Gladys Selgier, with the assistance of the American Legion and other cooperating civic organizations, there is being planned for Hereford one of the most spectacular presentations the city has ever witnessed, to be given on the night of July Fourth. This feature will take the form of a pageant, and will be in with and a part of the national celebration of the Bicentennial of Washington's birth.

Between 50 and 75 characters will be used, these to be in costumes of the Colonial period of American history. Among them will be Indians, French, English, Dutch, Spanish, Colonists, etc. The pageant will be presented in Lake Park at night. There will be no speaking parts, the spectacle being conducted in pantomime form with a musical background played by Ralph Smith and his municipal band and orchestra.

The period in history covered by the pageant extends from the coming of Columbus through the establishment of the colonies and up to the Declaration of Independence, presentation of the first American flag by Betsy Ross and the early years of the Revolutionary War.

MRS. BAER SAYS RED SPIDERS RESPONSIBLE FOR INJURY TO EVERGREENS

Mrs. Gaston Baer, who keeps one of the loveliest lawns with its attendant shrubbery and flower garden in Hereford, informs the Brand she believes she has found what has been causing the death of evergreen shrubbery here. For the past several months arbor vitae and small spruce trees have been apparently drying up despite the best efforts made to save them. It was thought late freezes, a too-high altitude, or the electricity-laden high winds of the spring had wrought irreparable damage.

Mrs. Baer says if the owners of evergreens will spread papers or white cloths beneath the shrubbery a slight shake will cause great numbers of tiny red spiders to fall off where they can easily be seen. In experimenting to rid her plants of these pests, she tried a paste named Nursery Volk distributed by the Vaughn Seed Company, which she diluted for spraying. This has been applied to her plants each week for the past month, and at present the evergreens are returning to their former vigor, strength and color.

HAPPY GOLFERS PLAY LEAGUE GAME HERE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

LAMA BEAVERS TAKES SEASON'S LARGEST BASS

Credit is given Lama Beavers for bringing in the biggest black bass taken from Tierra Blanca creek this year. The first of this week he caught a 6½ pounder at Tom Ivey's ranch, and fishing enthusiasm has risen to a high pitch since then.

The fish was a beauty, measuring 21 inches long, and a better idea of its size can be further arrived at when it is told a fruit jar slipped easily into its mouth.

Popular Couple Marry Tuesday at Bride's Home

Two of Hereford's most popular young people, Miss Jeanette Rogers and L. Dave McCurdy, were quietly married in the presence of relatives and friends at the home of the bride's parents in St. Jo, Texas, Tuesday, June 7. Following the ceremony they left for a short honeymoon trip, and will return to Hereford the last of the week to make their home.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers of St. Jo and has for the past five years been an instructor of art and penmanship in Hereford schools. Mr. McCurdy is manager of the West Texas Gas Company office in Hereford, coming here in that capacity in June two years ago. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McCurdy of Crosbyton, and has been for a number of years a trusted and efficient employe of the company he serves.

The marriage of these estimable young people will be greeted with enthusiasm by a host of warm friends here who unite in extending heartiest congratulations. They will be at home in the Mrs. W. F. Gabbert home for the summer.

THREE WIMBERLEYS WILL GRADUATE AT W. T. S. T. C.

Three members of the Wimberley family of Dawn are listed in the graduating class of the West Texas State Teachers College this year, namely, William and Carl who received their degrees June 1, and Aubrey, who will complete his work during the summer session which opened June 6. All are particularly interested in educational lines, William and Aubrey having majored in Agriculture and Carl in manual training.

Others from Deaf Smith county who are being graduated this year are Orlena Savage, Mrs. Bessie Hill and Miss Maetha Griffin.

There are 134 members in the class. The class gave $50 to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Building Fund to show its gratitude to the State for the advantages accorded it.

LUMBERMANS' ASSOCIATION COMPLIMENTS LOCAL BUILDING INDUSTRY

A letter to John Olson, manager of the Rockwell Bros. & Company lumber yard in Hereford, speaks very highly of the efforts of the five lumber yards here to interest more local people in doing needed building, repair and remodeling work about their property, and thus provide labor for the greatest number of workmen associated in any one line of work in the city.

In comparing the advertising used by the yards here in the Brand with that of other cities using similar plans, R. G. Wyeth, secretary of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas, says that used in Hereford ranks among the highest for advertising of true and real value. Instead of trying to sell lumber, he points out, the Hereford lumber yards have been trying to provide work for people who are in some way dependent upon the building industry for their living, a point that has been overlooked in most other places carrying on like campaigns.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hill were in Amarillo visiting friends Tuesday.

That the commissioners court would not make an effort to secure the right of way for Highway 33 across Deaf Smith county in order that the state highway department may carry out its wishes in furnishing free the grading and construction work looking toward ultimate paving of the 21 miles from Randall county to Castro county, was evidenced this week by County Judge Earl W. Wilson, who expressed it as his opinion that there was no advantage to this county in the proposition.

Judge Wilson based his opinion upon the reading of the minutes of the state highway department ordering the highway engineer to proceed with the work should the county secure the desired right of way. Mr. Wilson expressed it as his belief that the highway would have to be relocated should the state department so desire and the county would still be obligated to pay for one-third of the construction as has been customary heretofore, according to the wording of the highway department's minutes, which follow:

Minute No. 5070: "In Deaf Smith county the state highway engineer is authorized and directed to prepare plans and specifications for construction of grading and drainage structures on highway No. 33 from Castro county line to Randall county line, a distance of approximately 21.2 miles, contingent upon the county furnishing, fully fenced, such right of way as may be required to be not less than 100 feet in width on location approved by the state highway engineer, with the further understanding that when funds are available the county will furnish its pro rata share of the total construction cost, which is 33 1-3 per cent."

The offer to construct the grading and drainage structures, provided the county would furnish the 100-foot right of way, was made as the result of an announcement by the state highway department last week that all "connecting gaps" in state highways, like the one across Deaf Smith county, the northwest corner of Castro, and across Parmer county to the New Mexico state line, would be prepared for ultimate paving if the counties affected would provide the right of ways. The same thing is being done for the highway leading northwest from Lubbock to join Littlefield and Muleshoe to join highway 33 at Farwell on the state line; is proposed for highway 66 going east and west through Vega across Oldham county, just north of here, and at various other needed "connecting gaps" in the Panhandle.

The construction proposed by the state department would bring to Deaf Smith County the expenditure of something like $3,000 to $40,000 for labor and supplies, and at the same time put the highway in condition whereby it could readily be paved.

W. R. Ely, chairman of the state highway department, speaking before the Panhandle Press Association several weeks ago, said

Famous Coach Spends Summer Fishing Here

Mr. and Mrs. J. "Mule" Davis moved to Hereford this week to spend the summer. Mr. Davis is a teacher of mathematics in Lubbock high school and one of the best athletic coaches in West Texas. He has officiated in several football games in Hereford and at other places the Whites have played, and is well liked by Hereford fans. Incidentally, he is a brother of W. L. Davis, manager of the Hereford Poultry and Egg Company.

"Mule," as he is best known, usually spends each summer with Roy Gough at Sulphur Part, east of town, ostensibly to help harvest and be out of doors during the summer months, but it is rather well known that he spends a great deal of his time angling for the big bass in the Tierra Blanca down there, and who can blame him?

"THE GOOD EARTH"
In these days
When some thoughtless people
Have but little regard for
Their land,
Let them not forget
That we live by the land;
That it sustains our life;
That it is the source of
All wealth;
And that it will again

It seems the offer of the state highway department to construct the road bed and drainage structures of the highway across Deaf Smith county from Randall county to Castro county will receive little consideration from officials here.

The only expense the county will be asked to stand for would be the securing of enough land to make the right of way 100 feet wide, and to fence it. Much of the land has already been donated, and a great deal more would be if it were known the highway would be built. It seems that not even an effort will be made by the officials to get the right of way.

Because the minutes of the highway department meeting say the county must pay its one-third of the cost of the highway when the funds are available, the commissioners' court feels that the situation is the same as it has always been, and does not expect to do anything toward meeting the state's proposal.

The paving work going ahead in Randall county right now is being done by practically the same plan. In other words, the funds to be furnished by the county have not been made available, yet the paving is going ahead just the same, and hundreds of truckmen and day laborers are earning wages that in turn go to pay business men for debts and food and clothing for their families.

Hereford as a community would not derive a great deal of benefit from highway 33 being paved, except that the work would provide labor for people and would bring in 30 or 40 thousand dollars to be put in circulation here.

The real need for paved highways around Hereford, as far as the community is concerned, is for the roads to lead out north, south, east and west so that people can come here to trade. Highways leading from Hereford to larger places simply invite folks

Nineteen Years Ago In Hereford

(From the Files of The Brand, of June 6, 1913)

Ladies eligible to membership in the United Daughters of the Confederacy had met and planned the organization of a chapter in Hereford.

The first bale of alfalfa from irrigated land had been harvested on the farm of Baskin & Heister, and made a half ton per acre, selling for $15 a ton. The farm of D. L. McDonald, with an older stand of the crop, was yielding two tons to the acre, with prospects of two or three more cuttings later in the summer.

New state laws affecting sanitary conditions among live stock had recently been passed and were to go into effect the following July 1. It was aimed primarily at eradication of cattle scab, but took into consideration all communicable diseases of stock.

A public mass meeting had been called at the court house for the purpose of discussing pertinent questions involving the school system of Hereford, among them being the teaching of Spanish, the establishment of a domestic science department, and acceptable ways of dealing with corporal punishment.

George V. Stambaugh, then a mere lad, received credit for being one of the youngest chicken fanciers in the state and a very complete record was printed of his Rhode Island Red flock.

An epidemic of migrating grasshoppers had broken out near Portales, New Mexico, and a lengthy article from state authorities gave details of poison mash to be distributed in their path should they come this way.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wilson had been to Waco to witness the graduation of their son, Earl, from Baylor.

Mrs. T. M. Palmer was visiting in Wichita Falls.

Early frying size chickens were bringing a good price for that time on Hereford markets, around 40 cents apiece being paid for them.

Mrs. Sam G. Bratton was over from Farwell visiting friends and relatives.

The First National Bank was advertising screen doors and all kinds of lumber.

Walter Dunlap, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ell Dunlap, had accepted a position with the Western National Bank.

The local lodge of the Tribe of Ben Hur was meeting in regular session that week.

Miss Millicent Griffith, then principal of Dimmitt schools, had closed her fourth term there. There were four high school graduates at Dimmitt that spring, Misses Mary Galley, Meta Wagner, and Messrs. Clarence Shepard and Bryan McDonald.

The city merchants were advertising a big trades day for the end of that week, six of them having special ads for the occasion.

to go away from here to spend more money than they would at home. They might think they don't, but they do.

I can't help but think that if the state highway department wants to build a hard-surfaced road on 33 with us just furnishing the right of way, we should at least investigate the matter enough to see if we can get the right of way.

Some claim the move of the highway department is just politics and doesn't mean anything; one thing is sure, the way the proposition stands we can't lose nearly as much as we will if all the other counties accept the department's proposal and we are left sitting in the mud.

On the other hand, if the move is a political one to assist in the re-election of Governor Sterling; from the list of candidates we have, I don't see that there is anything better than he is, to be put in the governor's chair.

The altercation on South Main street over the enforcing of the double parking ordinance deserves the attention of every right-minded citizen. People have so long disobeyed the parking and driving laws of the city that it could not fall to happen that eventually some one would resent being reminded of their infraction.

Those who have intentionally violated traffic rules are just as guilty as those apprehended, and in my opinion are more deserving of censure in the public mind, because what they did was deliberate and at the same time falsely leading others into the idea they could get away with it.

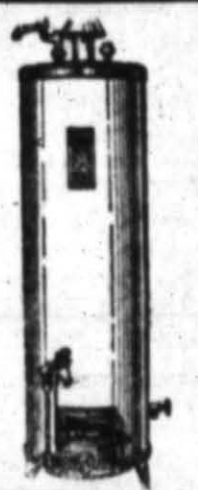

This thing of being innocent until proven guilty is a fine excuse for many violations of the law, and American people have grown into the habit of thinking they can commit any wrong deed and be held blameless unless they are caught at it. Therefore, the modern conception of justice is that nothing is unlawful or wrong as long as it cannot be proved. That lacks a lot of being the intention of the law.

Those who resent the enforcement of the parking and driving laws of Hereford or any other community, need their own actions to be examined along the same lines. It is no excuse for an illegal act to say that no one was injured, the purpose of the parking and driving laws is to remove possibilities of accidents, and those who openly violate them are but leading others to do the same thing that will eventually kill or cruelly maim an innocent person.

The busy season of the year is just ahead of Hereford and double parking is made illegal because it is dangerous. Every one of us is responsible for the proper observance of the law, but because any one is careless or indifferent is no reason for the others to feel excused from being liable.

to look. If you do look, you will be rewarded if you appreciate beautiful growing things.

Several at the J. A. Buckner home, 400 East Fourth, have been simply wonderful, the big clusters of white blossoms nearly covering the large pale green leaves to make of each tree an enormous bouquet about 50 feet tall and 30 feet wide. Those of you who haven't noticed the catalpas this spring, take a drive over town and enjoy something that is truly marvelous and almost unbelievable.

And I didn't mean to slight the roses when I mentioned the catalpas, either. Some of the most exquisite effects have been obtained with trellises and climbing roses by numerous citizens over town, and monthly roses of almost every lovely shade are getting settled down to their summer's business of spreading a glorious profusion of color and sweetness about the homes.

That idea of the charity committee in asking folks who plant gardens to raise vegetables for fall canning to each one put out a little more of each variety than they will need for their own use, so there will be sufficient to again can supplies for the needy, is an excellent thought and deserves the assistance of everybody.

Coming at this time, it has a deep significance that will accomplish great good, with the proper observance. It means that the committee will be on the job again in a few months, meeting regularly to give of their time and efforts looking after the future requirements of their work, far enough ahead to assure definite results. It means that folks are still concerned with their fellow beings and will take measures to assist in providing for them. It calls the attention of those who may be somewhat indifferent to the fact that winter is coming, and food can be easily and cheaply raised and canned for future supplies. And it calls to the minds of those who are the salt of the earth that now is the time to take a little extra effort in preparation for the administration of the thoughtful considerations they bestow upon those less fortunate, should occasion demand it of them, and it probably will.

While OKLAHOMA shook with monsters' tread

DOWN where the heat of earth's internal fires stands at 100 degrees—a mile and a quarter below the surface of Oklahoma—lies a treasure trove, the Cambro-Ordovician oil pool. Millions of years have passed since Nature formed that pool—ages which saw the rise and fall of the dinosaurs—ages which played a priceless part in the mellowing and filtering of this remarkable crude.

Cambro-Ordovician crude oil is the oldest of the Mid-continent crudes. It has mellowed longer, filtered longer, contains less carbon than younger Mid-continent crudes. When refined and blended in the great Sinclair refineries—de-waxed and freed from petroleum jelly, this oldest of Mid-continent crudes becomes Sinclair Opaline, a product of 80 million years of Nature's priceless treatment.

Have the nearest Sinclair dealer change your oil to Sinclair Opaline according to the Sinclair Law of Lubrication Index. Drive as fast as you like. Notice how quietly your engine runs. Then, at the next draining period examine the used Opaline. Observe how it still holds its rich lubricating body. Observe, especially, how little oil your engine has used up. These are proofs of lubricating quality you can actually see and feel!

REMEMBER: Sinclair offers you your choice—Sinclair Opaline, made from the oldest Mid-continent crudes, or Sinclair Pennsylvania, made from the costliest Pennsylvania grade crude.

COUNTY FEDERATION ELECTIONS OFFICERS AND PLANS FOR 1932-3

At the last meeting of the County Federation of Clubs the work of the past year was finished and new officers elected looking forward to the next 21 months. President Mrs. George Garrison presided and the following officials for 1932-33 were chosen: Mrs. Rex Tynes, president; Mrs. Jim Lipscomb, vice president; Mrs. Claude Ricketts, secretary; Mrs. Arthur Thompson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. G. Bell, treasurer, and Mrs. Bess Turentine, parliamentary. Mrs. Bob Wilson was elected general chairman of this county to be in charge of the Annual Seventh District meeting of federated clubs to be held here in Hereford next spring.

Mrs. Wilson called her first executive meeting Monday of this week and plans were begun on convention arrangements for next year. Various committee chairmen are being selected, and the complete list will soon be announced. Members of the county federation are urged to "talk convention of 1932," every one being a committee to himself to promote the best attendance and interest possible, as delegates from the entire Panhandle, numbering several hundred, will be guests of Hereford for two or three days, and it is essential that the city make the visit pleasant and fruitful for them.

Much concern has been expressed among the membership that the convention be made an outstanding one in all the history of the district, and present contemplated plans and the interest manifested in them indicates a successful occasion.

Mrs. W. L. Davis and little son, Billie, left Wednesday for Sherman and Paris where they will spend several weeks visiting home folks.

Methodist Missionary Society.

This week we gave reports of missionary centers all over the world. At the last meeting of the general conference in Japan the members were forced to provide for heavy cuts in their work because of the decreased financial aid from America, bills were overdue then. That night many hearts offered prayer the entire night. The next morning a single gift of $2,000 was placed on the bishop's desk. He announced the gift, someone started a praise offering and in a short while it amounted to $6000. We are sure that this meant much sacrifice in such a poverty-stricken country—more perhaps that we are willing to make here for carrying on of God's kingdom.

Miss Laura Edwards, formerly of this city, writes from Choon Chun, Korea, of their industrial work. They are planting orchards and gardens, canning vegetables, fruits and meats, and curing sausage and hams. Soy bean milk has been perfected and is saving the lives of the babies in Seoul and all over Korea. In 1931, 16,000 bottles of milk were given away. In Africa they face the same lack of nourishment and economic milk, but two splendid substitutes have been found. News from there tells of a joyous Christmas. Miss Flora Foreman, known to many here, reports that two of the native preachers married there the past Christmas. There was much banqueting and joy. There were 70 received into the church, more than ever at one time. The Tunda station has 16 schools with an enrollment of 800.

The woman's work now conducts 69 institutions in the home field among the foreign settlements, cottonmill districts, mines and centers where God is needed. On Wednesday, June 15, the local society will be hostess to the women of the church in a special guest day program. The entertainment will be at the home of Mrs. J. B. Jones and every lady member of the church is invited and urged to be present. There will be a fine entertainment, spiritual feast and refreshments. It is given in your honor and you are urged to be present. REPORTER.

Seen On the Screen at the Star

Jack Holt and Ralph Graves are the leading characters in the feature play showing for the last time tonight, "A Dangerous Affair", but it is very probable Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy will steal most of their applause with their two-reel comedy, "The Chimp". It is one of Manager Parker's regular one-cent special pictures, whereby two persons gain admission for one cent more than the price of one.

Friday evening only will be the presentation of a prohibition picture that is said to leave most of its audience guessing as to which side of the question is favored, as both are given impartially. It is named "The Wet Parade." This is the evening, also, when the Star theatre gives away free a five-piece bedroom suite, the fourth of its kind in as many weeks. A number of interested persons are participating in the feature as an advertising venture, which will include two more bedroom suites in the following weeks.

Saturday's show will bring Walter Huston as he is said to be a new type of western picture, "Law and Order," whose scenes are laid in Tombstone, Arizona, at the time of the early days of the West.

Sunday's picture will be a one-day-only feature to be played at the two afternoon matinees at 2:00 and 4:00 o'clock. It is a comedy-drama, "Steady Company," and Manager Parker of the Star is using an entirely new admission price in connection with it. This is a flat charge to everybody, big, little, young and old, of ten cents a head.

George Arliss comes in the biggest feature of next week, "The Man Who Played God," which plays Monday and Tuesday evenings. Tuesday and Wednesday will bring Olan Crawford and Robert Montgomery playing in "Letty Lynton," a regular one-cent special picture for next week.

Biblical Plays
Halleck, in his "English Literature," says that "a miracle play is the dramatic representation of the life of a saint and of the miracles connected with him. A mystery play deals with Gospel events which are concerned with any phase of the life of Christ, or with any Biblical event that remotely foreshadows Christ or indicates the necessity of a redeemer."

Intelligence Test
The intelligence quotient, or I. Q., of a person is determined by multiplying the mental age by 100 and dividing by the actual age. Thus the intelligence quotient of a normal person is 100. A person with an I. Q. below 80 is rated as subnormal, while one with I. Q. above 120 is rated as gifted.

Wall Paper Inventor
Jean Papillon, the second wood engraver to bear the name, was the first to plan and execute continuous repeating designs in wall papers, matching on the sides the sheet that was placed next to it. These were first used in 1688 and were soon an established fashion.

Respect Carried Too Far
"Respect for our ancestors," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "should not go so far as to convince us that they have provided all the wisdom and morals of which the world has need."—Washington Star.

Little Gained by Change
In cases of tuberculosis, not more than 1 per cent need a great change of climate, nor will they benefit especially by going far away from home or friends to make the change, says a New York state health officer.

Not Likeness of Harvard
The statue of John Harvard, on the Harvard campus, is not a likeness of the original John Harvard, the founder of Harvard college. It was posed for by a Harvard undergraduate.

Owner's Name Lost
History makes no mention of an owner of the Mayflower. The expedition was financed and equipped by a group of interested merchants, and the ship's captain was one Thomas Jones.

Only Real Wild Horses
The only true wild horse at the present time is the Mongolian wild horse, which exists in large numbers on the plains of Central Asia. This is the ancestor of the domestic horse.

Sacred Writings
The Old Testament originally, in great part at least, was written in the ancient Aramic, the New Testament in the more modern Aramic and possibly some parts in Greek.

Old American Fad
From 1830 to 1837, people of the United States were struck by a silk-producing craze, and the fad of the day was raising mulberry trees and breeding silkworms.

POLITE CONVERSATION
IN OLD-FASHIONED rules for polite conversation, children, servants and personal intimacies were subjects strictly taboo. It was also considered bad form to talk about money matters or love affairs. Anything that might be considered as denigrating even remotely with sex was considered indelicate and as a usual thing discussion of religion or politics was considered bad form.

Conversation nowadays is less restrained than it used to be, but many of these taboos are wisely retained. But even avoiding any of these subjects one may still make mistakes. Motor enthusiasts who talk about what roads they took to get from here to there on so many gallons of gasoline, bookish people who try to discuss books that no one else has read, movie fans who like to give resumes of picture plays they have recently seen, people who rehash bridge hands, golfers who would as soon talk about the game as play it—are frequently as tiresome as mothers who talk about their babies or invalids who talk about their ailments. After you have made a mental list of all the subjects that may be tiresome or offensive in "polite conversation" you feel inclined to ban conversation entirely.

A far better rule for agreeable conversation nowadays is this: Be as amusing and diverting as possible without making a fool of yourself and without giving offense. If the most amusing anecdote you know has something to do with your cook, go ahead with it if you get a chance.

PARIS CATERS TO LOVE OF UNIFORM

Women like uniforms, proverbially, and now they have military touches in their own clothes, as evidenced by Worth's spring styles. Chevrons, braids and frogs have been added to the already popular epaulet mode. Metal buttons and chain trims carry the effect still further.

Lines of the spring clothes match the new trimmings, for broader shoulders are correctly military, and the slimmer skirts give the proper fitted-in appearance to the lower part of the figure. Evening skirts are narrow, a with the daytime frocks, and some are designed with slashed sides. Worth uses some trains, and continues to show the ruffled skirts. Short evening coats—have very wide sleeves, embroidered in angora wool. For day wear, there are many bolero short jacket suits, some with contrasting jackets.

Light-Weight Wool Is Favored for Blouses

Light-weight wool, such as wool shantung, is much in favor for blouses with the Paris house of Worth. White is usually the color with buttons that harmonize or contrast with the suit color. For example, one of Worth's white wool blouses has green buttons to go with a green suit; another has black or dark blue buttons to accompany dark suits; a third has red buttons designed to be worn with a black or brown suit.

Russian Pajamas

Russian lounging pajamas are very chic. If you have a Russian blouse, why not make trousers to match? Of course you can make the whole costume yourself if you aren't fussy about having it embroidered.

Modesty
Modesty is to merit what shades are to the figures in a picture. It gives strength and heightening.—De La Bruyere.

Yes, Many!
The Toledo Blade says that a man must be either a hammer or an anvil. Shucks, we know some who are bellows.

More Pleasant
I had rather have a fool to make me merry, than experience to make me sad.—Shakespeare.

Some Lungs!
The hippopotamus is able to remain under water for as much as ten minutes at a time.

Member of Band Party Tells of Experiences on Their Interesting Trip

Wednesday morning, May 25, the Hereford high school band, with the chaperones, started on a ten days outing and tour of Eastern, Central and Northern New Mexico.

The band mothers having raised some money through the winter, and each one going on trip paying in a certain manner, thereby financing the trip.

The first stop was made at Kenna at noon where lunch was enjoyed which had been prepared by the band mothers, arrived at Roswell and played a concert on the court house lawn at 4:30 o'clock. Comfortable camp quarters were furnished by the Roswell chamber of commerce. Band members were given a swim in Green Haven swimming pool. Mr. Seward who formerly lived in Hereford, was very nice to the band. All were entertained at a picture show at night, a special feature being the Jacobsen school of the dance, presenting "Milady's Boudoir."

We reached Ruidoso at noon May 26. Here Mr. and Mrs. Smith, uncle and aunt of Band Director Ralph Smith, gave the party a hearty welcome, having a big kettle of beans ready, also a plentiful supply of preserves and jellies. The band gave a concert at 5 o'clock to an appreciative audience, dedicating a number to Rev. Jas. T. Ross, former Presbyterian pastor in Hereford, and to Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Next morning, May 27, started to Alamogordo, passing through the Apache Indian reservation, stopping at Mascadero at 10:00 o'clock, and playing several numbers on the lawn of the Indian school. All were shown through the school and dormitories by Miss Sue Calloway, one of the instructors.

The party arrived in Alamogordo in time to play a six o'clock concert. Here camping accommodations were furnished by the Alamogordo chamber of commerce. Those not making the trip last year went to the white sands, a remarkable feat of Nature, consisting of dunes of almost pure granular gypsum and covering an area of 300 square miles. Souvenirs of the white sands were given each member of the party. The Junior women's club of Alamogordo gave a dance for the band members. The next morning, May 28, we started for Socorro (ask any one in the party how to pronounce it) on the way passing over extensive lava beds, an interesting sight, and arriving in Socorro about 4 o'clock, being met by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Johnson. We were glad to see someone who had lived in Hereford. The band played on the plaza at 6 o'clock, dedicating a number to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson. Director Smith was presented a souvenir made by the Indians. The party was given a swim in the pool fed by warm springs. All were taken to a picture show and commodious cabins and camping quarters were furnished by the Socorro chamber of commerce. Hereford may get a citizen of Socorro or lose one from present indications (see Ruth or any one going on the trip for information).

Sunday, May 29, we arrived in Albuquerque at 11 o'clock and were assigned lovely cabins in the King's Rest camp. At four o'clock we played a concert, which was broadcast over station KGGM, at which time we were taken to a beach to see a large crowd, and the members were afterwards served cold drinks and given a swim and motor boat rides. At night we were entertained at a ball broken and we started in to Las Vegas, playing a concert in Old Las Vegas on the plaza at four o'clock. We were given camping quarters by the chamber of commerce, played a concert in the auditorium at 7:30 to a large audience, the band receiving much applause. The German band gave three numbers and was encored, also.

Started for home Friday, June 3, arriving about 5 o'clock without mishap, only minor car troubles and a few scratches and bruises. The colors of the uniforms were changed from maroon and white to maroon and dark gray on the trip, but perhaps it will all come out in the wash.

This was not only a pleasant outing and a good advertisement for Hereford, but a training school in sportsmanship. If there was any one who started on the trip who did not know how to be a good sport, he or she learned to be before they got back, because jokes and pranks were played from the beginning to the end of the trip.

Mr. Kuper was responsible in a large measure for the success of the trip, as he was guardian of the bedding and chuck box. Someone failed to get their eating equipment when the truck was unloaded, and they may have same upon proper identification.

Hereford is to be congratulated that they have such a band made up of such fine young folks, and is fortunate in having such a director as Ralph Smith, who has the ability and patience to teach these young people and take them on such a trip as this. Souvenirs and pictures of the trip may be seen in the window at the Corner Drug Store.

Mother's Cook Book FISH DISHES

ANY kind of fish in the market may be used with little variation for these recipes. When one can purchase a thick slice or fillet of rich fish there is little waste. A pound goes a long way. Any that is left may be used in salad, soups, or creamed and served on toast.

Baked Fillet.
Wash the fish and wipe dry. Melt a tablespoonful of butter and brush over the fish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and rub gently with a tablespoonful of flour. Put on the rack of a roaster, cover and bake for forty minutes in a rather hot oven. The flour and butter will make a nice crust over the fish. Serve with wedges of lemon and garnish with parsley.

Broiled Fillet of Haddock.
The household will be healthier if the broiler is used more and the frying pan less. When one has a stove with a good broiler there is no reason to use a frying pan. It is the simplest thing in the world to broil your breakfast bacon, chops and steak on a broiler. It must be carefully watched, of course, but the results are worth while. Have the broiler hot, grease the rack lightly and lay on the fillet of fish—not too close to sear it, turn and cook on both sides until well done. As soon as it is placed on a hot platter pour over the fish two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and two of lemon juice. Dust with pepper and serve with a tartar sauce.

Molded Ramekin of White Fish.
Combine five tablespoonfuls of tapoca with one cupful of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt, dash of cayenne, one-half teaspoonful of minced parsley and two and one-fourth cupfuls of finely flaked fish. Let stand five minutes then turn into greased custard cups or ramekins and bake in a moderate oven until well cooked. Unmold and garnish the top of each with a sprig of parsley. Serve with capers sauce.

LULA MAE MARTIN, AGENT.

Tuesday, June 4, a shopping tour was conducted for the 4-H club girls of Westway and Dawn communities. Materials suitable for pajamas were studied and ready-made pajamas were also studied for style and color combinations.

Wednesday the agent went to Ward for the food budget meeting. The club met at the school house.

Thursday was spent in Fairview community with one of the newest clubs in the county. With the officers they have it is expected to be one of the widest awake clubs we have. It has a large membership and expects a larger one.

Friday the Summerfield club has a called meeting at the home of Mrs. Ray Johnson. The foundation pattern demonstration will be given.

Saturday, office day.

Monday, June 13, office day.

Tuesday the Wyche club meets with Mrs. Parkins. The food budget demonstration will be given and everyone be sure to bring a pencil to the meeting.

Wednesday will be spent at Sims, with Mrs. Ellwart. All the club members need to bring pencils to the meetings this month.

Food Storage In Cellars.
A great majority of the thousands of 4-H pantries now in process of filling by farm women are located in storage or storm cellars in back yards, reports from home demonstration agents indicate. Spare rooms and unused portions of the houses have been pressed into service in many cases, but because canned stuff, vegetables and cured meat keep better in cooler places the outdoor cellars are more popular. The inconvenience of having to run from kitchen to cellar and back again for food is avoided by many housewives who have built shelves in the kitchen where small supplies are kept for immediate use.

There is a growing tendency to build cellars of concrete, the reports reveal, and some of the newer ones are models for convenience, arrangement and cleanliness. Many are painted or whitewashed and some have steps on a gentle incline instead of the steep, sharp ones of older days when cellars were rarely used. A few are reportedly built in hill sides, doing away entirely with steps. In one case the concrete roof of the cellar serves as the floor of a wash house where the family laundry is located.

County Health Activities

MISS GRACE BUZZELL
County Health Nurse

Correction of list of Five Point pupils omitted last week:
Central school: Edward Line, Mildred Rutherford.
Sims school: Virginia Chapman.
Ford school: Thomas Larson.

A special orthopedic clinic will be held some time in June. Dr. John T. Gray, formerly of the Carol Clinic, Dallas, will be here to consult with patients. These examinations will be without charge. Please report any infantile paralysis cases needing corrective work, poor posture cases, or any bone deformities, to Miss Buzzell, county health nurse, and make arrangements for the examination.

Do not forget to consult your family physician, and make arrangements for the removal of your child's tonsils and adenoids during June and July, at 50 per cent reduced fees. Seven children have been operated upon during the past week for tonsil and adenoid operations. These clinics are for both school children and those under school age.

The Summer Round Up is a project of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and is a campaign to send the entering grade of school or kindergarten, a class of children as free as possible from remediable physical defects. This is a thoroughly practical campaign for better health and needs the help of every intelligent parent. A campaign for the examination of all pre-school children in the county who will enter school in September, will be sponsored by the Hereford P. T. A. and county health council. Announcement of the time of the clinics will be made next week. We all realize the importance of laying the foundation for good health early in a child's life. We too appreciate that the future of the race marches forward on the feet of little children.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Crump of Canyon were in Hereford last week end. They left for Balls Tuesday where they will spend a time with his parents before returning to Hereford to make their home this summer.

Andrew Pat Jones came home from A. & M. College Tuesday to be with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Jones, and other home folks over the summer.

JUDAH THE TRUE BROTHER

Genesis 44:18-34

Gen. 44:18. Then Judah came unto him, and said, Oh, my Lord, let thy servant, I pray thee, speak a word in my lord's ears, and let not thine anger burn against thy servant; for thou art even as Pharaoh.

19. My lord asked his servants, saying, Have ye a father, or a brother?

20. And we said unto my lord, We have a father, an old man, and a child of his old age, a little one; and his brother is dead and he alone is left of his mother; and his father loveth him.

21. And thou saidst unto thy servants, Bring him down unto me; that I may set mine eyes upon him.

22. And we said unto my lord, The lad cannot leave his father: or if he should leave his father, his father would die.

23. And thou saidst unto thy servants, Except your youngest brother come down with you, ye shall see my face no more.

24. And it came to pass when we came unto thy servant my father, we told him the words of thy lord.

25. And our father said, Go again, buy us a little food.

26. And we said, We cannot go down: if our youngest brother be with us, then will we go down; for we may not see the man's face, except our youngest brother be with us.

27. And thy servant my father said unto us, Ye know that my wife bare me two sons:

28. And the one went out from me, and I said, Surely he is torn in pieces; and I have not seen him since:

29. And if ye take this one also from me, and harm befall him, ye shall bring down my gray hairs with sorrow to Sheol.

30. Now therefore when I come to thy servant my father, and the lad is not with us, seeing that his life is bound up in the lad's life:

31. It will come to pass, when he seeth that the lad is not with us, that he will die: and thy servants will bring down the gray hairs of thy servant our father with sorrow to Sheol.

32. For thy servant became surety for the lad unto my father, saying, If I bring him not unto thee, then shall I bear the blame of my father for ever.

33. Now therefore, let thy servant, I pray thee, abide instead of the lad a bondman to my lord: and let the lad go up with his brethren.

34. For whom shall I go up to my father, if the lad be not with me? lest I see the evil that shall come on my father.

Golden Text: Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity.—Ps. 133:1.

Time: B. C. 1715.
Place: Joseph's palace at Zoan, in the Nile Delta.

Introduction.
In our lesson is a story of beautiful reconciliation between Joseph and his brothers. It is a revelation on the one hand of transformation in the spirits of those who were once so selfish and cruel, and on the other of the persistence of the sweetness and faith of Joseph through a long period of severest strain, in which he knew the lowest depths of adversity and the highest peak of honor. It voices also an interpretation of life, as under the providence of God, which our Lord himself emphasized, and which sanctifies all the experiences of those who look to him for guidance.

Joseph's Cruel Treatment by His Brothers.

We recall the attitude of Joseph's brethren toward him in his boyhood. Because of Jacob's love for him they began to be jealous of him, and their jealousy was increased by every expression of Jacob's favor, by Joseph's dreams, and by his guileless truthfulness in reporting their evil conduct. Their envy only waited for an occasion to express itself in violence.

The occasion presented itself one day when Joseph came to them in Dothan, where they were feeding their flocks. "When they saw him afar off, even before he came near unto them, they conspired against him to slay him." At Reuben's suggestion they cast him into a pit instead of slaying him at once. And a little later, at Judah's suggestion, they sold him to a passing caravan of merchants who were going down into Egypt, thinking to save themselves from actual bloodshed, and at the same time accomplish their purpose and make money out of the transaction. This done they returned to their father, presenting to him Joseph's coat which they had spattered with goat's blood, and leaving him to infer that his favorite son had been slain by wild beasts.

The Brothers' Visit to Egypt.

After twenty years, a mighty famine descended upon the land, and soon the household of Jacob, now indeed a small village, began to be in want. They heard that there was corn in Egypt, and accordingly Jacob sent ten of his sons thither to buy. Benjamin, the youngest son of his beloved Rachel, and full brother of the lost Joseph, he kept at home. In Egypt they presented themselves before the governor and bowed down before him (in literal fulfillment of Joseph's dream) little dreaming that he was Joseph. When in their protest against his accusation that they were spies, they told of the family, of lost Joseph and of Benjamin; he demanded that Benjamin be brought as a proof of their truthfulness and to give them time to think it over, and himself time to decide definitely upon a course of action, he cast them into prison.

Judah—a Changed Man.

The new part played by Judah in this critical time is a fine example of true repentance, which is inward revolution. It will be remembered that in the conspiracy against Joseph it was his selfish and grasping spirit that suggested the sale of Joseph into slavery. No sooner did he see the approaching caravan than he said, "What profit is it if we slay our brother and conceal his blood? Come, and let us sell him by the Ishmaelites." He also said, "for he is our brother and our flesh," but what a travesty it was upon brotherhood to reject murder and yet to consent to slavery!

That was the old Judah. The new Judah manifests the same leadership, but now it is expressive of genuine brotherliness.

Judah's Plea for Benjamin.

Martin Luther said he would give anything if he could pray to God as Judah prayed to Joseph. He begins in great humility and confession: "What shall we say unto my lord? what shall we speak? or how shall we clear ourselves? God hath found out the iniquity of thy servants: behold, we are my lord's servants, both we, and he also with whom the cup is found."—Gen. 44:16. To that Joseph answered that all were free except Benjamin. Then Judah poured out his soul for Benjamin. He pictures Jacob in his grief and anxiety waiting for his youngest son; he tells of their pleading with the aged man to heed the demand of the Egyptian, and Jacob's reluctance and refusal of his loss of Joseph, and his final yielding; he pictures the unbearable sorrow of Jacob if they should return without Benjamin; he finally tells how he himself had become surety for his younger brother, and in beautiful self-sacrifice pleads with Joseph to accept him as a servant in Benjamin's stead. We feel with Strachan as we read it that "Judah's offer to renounce the things which are dearest to the human heart—home and county and liberty—raises him to a place among the heroes of the Bible."

Joseph Forgives His Brothers.

Judah's touching plea was too much for Joseph; he could no longer restrain his emotions. Hastily bidding every Egyptian leave the hall, that his brothers might be by themselves and that their evil deeds might not become known to the courtiers, with great sobs that could be heard in the neighboring rooms Joseph cried aloud: "I am Joseph."

"He spoke in deep emotion; yet the words must have fallen on them like a thunderbolt." Joseph! Had they been dealing "all the while with their long-lost brother? Joseph! That they had fallen into a lion's den indeed. Joseph! Could it be? Yes, it must be so; and it would explain a good many things which had sorely puzzled them. Well might they be troubled and terrified. How much this reminds us of another scene, not far from the gates of Damascus, when Jesus arrested Paul with the words, "I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest." Penitent sinner! It is thus thy Saviour speaks to thee.

With words that remind us of Christ's matchless plea on the cross, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do," so this Old Testament exemplar of pardon found an excuse for his would-be murderers: "Be not grieved, nor angry with yourselves, that ye sold me hither; for God did send me before you to preserve life." With such words he fell on Benjamin's neck, with many tears, and kissed all his brothers, and then sat down for a long and loving talk with them.

The Christian Grace of Forgiveness.

"Joseph take the true point of view, which we are all bound to occupy if we would practice the Christian grace of forgiveness. He looks beyond the mere human hate and envy to the divine purpose. He thinks of the good that has come out of their malice, and anger dies within him. He must have been living near the Fountain of all mercy to have had so full a cup of it to offer."—Rev. Alexander MacLaren, D. D. "It is so with the true Joseph, our blessed Lord, in heaven. His appeal to those who have sinned against him is, 'Come near to me, I pray you.'"
"My pardon I freely bestow.
"Thy wants I will fully supply:
"I'll guard thee and guide thee below.
"And soon will remove thee on high."—John Newton (Olney Hymn).

PARMER COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION SUNDAY

Announcement has been made that the Parmer County Singing Convention will be held at Black Sunday, June 12, and is urged that the public take notice and attend.

The good people of Black have gone to considerable labor and expense to prepare for this occasion by erecting a large canopy outside the church building so as to afford protection to those who may not be able to get into the house. This is done in anticipation of a large attendance and to show the appreciation of the people of Black of having their good friends from distant communities meet with them.

RIGHT OF WAY

that there was sufficient state highway money available to do this connecting work paving entirely without cost to the respective counties, and announcement would be made soon as to the particulars. At the same time Mr. Ely said there were politicians trying to divert highway funds secured from a tax on gasoline for the express purpose of highway work, to other channels of expenditure in the administration of the state government, and would try to keep the money from being used for highway construction in the manner proposed.
It will be noted that the wording of the minutes of the state department meeting authorizing the work to begin, states that WHEN THE FUNDS ARE AVAILABLE the county must pay one-third of the construction, but says nothing about making the funds available. Heretofore, no state cooperation in the way of funds was extended a county wishing highways until county bonds had been voted, the bonds sold and the county's one-third paid-in. The present plan says nothing about the county paying in anything beforehand, except providing right of way.
A considerable bit of the right of way for a 100-foot road bed for highway 33 has already been donated and quite a bit more of it could be secured for the asking. Much work has been done locally by the chamber of commerce and private citizens seeking to secure the assistance of the state highway department in promoting the hard surfacing of highways here, but the present indication of the county commissioners court in regard to the state department's proposal will effectively stop the procedure in Deaf Smith county for the present at least.
Indications from Oldham county today point toward an acceptance by the commissioners court there of the state highway department's proposition, that the right of way on highway 66 will be provided and work will begin on the drainage structures and grading preparatory for the surfacing with caliche.

BUILDING INDUSTRY

erty and replacement of essential parts that have become faulty are necessary to preserve the best interests of all industries.
Investigation has revealed there are 300 people of Hereford associated in some way with the building industry, and dependent either wholly or in part upon it for a living, and construction work at the present time will assist the greatest collective group of any in the city. Costs of building operations are the lowest they have been in 18 years, probably lower than they will be again for many years to come. Property values are retained when kept in repair, but deteriorate rapidly when let run down, so money spent for reconstruction will bring greater returns than will be possible for a long time.
About one-third of the cost of building goes for materials, the remainder for labor, such as carpenters, painters, plasterers, concrete workers, day laborers, draymen, plumbers, electricians, etc. This money for their wages would be spent almost entirely locally from six to ten times over, thus providing working capital for all lines of industry. If $75,000 is spent in Hereford for building and repair work within the next two or three months, it will mean from $450,000 to $750,000 being circulated among all the people here.
The associated lumber interests pledged their support to buy-at-home campaigns. As one dealer expressed it, "If folks can't find what they want at our yards, I hope and want them to get it from the yard of one of my competitors."

EASTERN DEMAND FOR TEXAS WILD FLOWERS SHOWS STEADY GAIN

A constantly increasing demand in the northern and eastern states for native flowers, shrubs and plants of Texas to be used for ornamental and landscaping purposes is noted in the number of reports of inspections for exportation filed with J. M. Del Curto, chief of the division of horticultural inspection and quarantines of the department of agriculture.
The most popular of Texas native plants that are becoming more in demand in other states as ornamental flowers is the castus, according to Del Curto. Inspection reports indicate that exports of this plant last year netted Texans more than $100,000 and that this year's exports will be as large. Many nurserymen have specialized in the cross-breeding of various species of casti to create types suitable to various localities.
The various plants can not move out of Texas into other states without first having been inspected and declared free of root rot or other soil diseases. That service is given by the horticultural inspection and quarantine division of the department of agriculture.
Other native Texas flowers gaining in demand in northern and eastern states, and in some instances, California, include the wild clematis, china, heische, yucca, Spanish dagger and bluebonnet seed. With careful supervision, bluebonnets can be made to bloom for one season, however, in northern and eastern climates not adaptable to the bluebonnet, it will not reproduce as it does in the bluebonnet zones in Texas, Del Curto pointed out.

In some portions of the state, especially southward, native plants are being cultivated along highways for beautification purposes, which is a further utilization of Texas' natural resources, according to Del Curto.
BRUMLEY SAYS HE IS STILL BUYING HOGS
George W. Brumley, conceded to be responsible for the creation of the best market in the Panhandle for hogs, has been hearing the past week someone told he had quit buying. "There's nothing to it," said Mr. Brumley, "when I get in the notion to quit buying, I have too many friends and loyal customers all over this country for me to let them down without telling them. Just as long as hogs sell on the market, I will be buying every Friday."
"Prices are away down, but folks will get as much or more for their hogs in Hereford as they will anywhere else, and those who have sold to us here know it."
Years ago, when there was no sale for hogs in commercial quantities anywhere in the Panhandle, Mr. Brumley began buying for shipment, and through his encouragement hog raising has grown into one of the best sidelines of the farming industry, with other buyers forming markets at other shipping points, although Mr. Brumley covers by far more territory than anyone else.
He has built up an enviable reputation for honest and just dealings with his customers that sets a hard example for competitors to follow. Many farmers have been surprised, after selling their hogs to Mr. Brumley, to receive extra checks from him when shipment had been completed, because he got a better price for the hogs on the market than he expected to at the time he bought them.
Ham From Average Hog
An average hog will yield approximately 15 per cent of its live weight in ham.
