Founders Dinner

Bush sees state not tied to partisan government

By LAURA TOLLEY

Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) - Republican Gov.-elect George W. Bush said Thursday he knows he will have to include Democrats as he works to fulfill his campaign promises, but he says he's comfortable with such bipartisan endeavors.

"I made it really clear to people in Texas that in order to be an effective government, you don't think it terms of being a Republican or a Democrat. You forge philosophical alliances," he said.

"My dream is to rise above partisan politics," Bush said, adding he wants to govern in terms of what's best for Texas.

And so Bush said he plans to work well with Democratic Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, who presides over the Senate, and House Speaker Pete Laney, D-Hale Center. He has spoken with both men since his election.

"We (he and Bullock) had a very good discussion about a general willingness to work together for what's best for the state," he said.

"I will make it clear to them that I want to be helpful, that I'm not going to be an obstructionist. On the other hand, if the drift of the agenda is something I'm not going to like, then I'll be a part of the process to make sure it heads hopefully in the way I want it to head."

The newly elected governor was in Houston Thursday to thank volunteers and other supporters at his local campaign headquarters.

After spending the weekend at his lake house in Athens, Bush said he will return to Austin to resume the transition from managing partner of the Texas Rangers baseball club to Texas governor.

In about a week, Bush plans to announce some appointments, though he would not provide details. He also said he has not yet decided what he will do about appointments made by Gov. Ann Richards.

Bush, describing Tuesday's election as a mandate for change, repeated his plans to reform welfare and education system, to get tougher on juveniles who break the law and to end lawsuit abuse.

And although Bush ran campaign ads linking Richards' ties to President Clinton, he said he doesn't want to give much of the credit for his victory to the president's unpopularity in Texas.

Bush said he won because he defined himself as the conservative candidate who talked about the issues.

"This is a conservative state," he said. "I really do chalk it up to a philosophical victory...the (political) wind at my back somewhat."

Bush, only the second GOP governor elected since Reconstruction, said Texas is finally a two-party state.

Eye drop test may identify patients with Alzheimer's

By PAUL RECER

AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - A simple test using eye drops may identify patients with Alzheimer's disease, a brain-destroying disorder now diagnosed with certainty only after death.

Although medical science now has little to offer Alzheimer's patients, Huntington Potter of the Harvard Medical School said the test could be important when new drugs for the disease are developed. He said the test would make an early diagnosis possible, enabling patients to plan, while they are still able, for the inevitable loss of mental ability.

Researchers at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston and at Harvard report that an eye drop drug called tropicamide causes the pupils in the eyes of Alzheimer's patients to dilate about four times more readily than those of patients without the brain disease.

Potter said that Alzheimer's disease patients are so sensitive to tropicamide that their pupils will change by about 23.4 percent, while patients without Alzheimer's have only a 5 percent change.

Tropicamide is the drug that ophthalmologists routinely use to dilate pupils during eye exams. Its effects last only briefly. When used for the Alzheimer's test, the drug is diluted to about one percent of the concentration used in eye tests.

Alzheimer's disease progressively destroys the brain, wiping out memory, thought and the control of body functions. The disease strikes about 10 percent of the population over the age of 65 and currently affects about 20 million people worldwide.

The eye drop Alzheimer's test cannot be conducted in most doctors' offices because it requires a special instrument to precisely measure the size of pupil dilation, Potter said.

Potter, senior author of a study to be published Friday in the journal Science, originated the idea of using tropicamide to test for Alzheimer's after noting that patients with Down's syndrome were highly sensitive to the drug.

Down's syndrome is an inherited disorder that causes mental retardation. Down's patients after the age of 30 often develop the same brain lesions and dementia symptoms that

AP Business Writer
DALLAS (AP) - From trucking deregulation to tort reform to workers' compensation, business leaders and analysts across the state say the results of this week's elections will help improve the Texas business climate.

"If we just focus on the local situation, I believe the election outcome bodes quite well for the business climate," said Bernard Weinstein, director of the University of North Texas Center for Economic Development and Research.

"It can only be a big, big positive impact," said Robert Howden, lobbyist for the Texas chapter of the National Federation of Independent Business.

Republicans will control the governorship, both U.S. Senate seats and the Texas Supreme Court as a result of Tuesday's vote. They also gained ground in the state Senate, where the Democrats' edge has been trimmed to 17-14.

Democrats retain control of the Legislature, losing only one of their 90 seats in the Texas House. They also kept the posts of lieutenant governor, comptroller, attorney general, treasurer and land commissioner.

In one of the key changes, not only will the GOP have a majority on the state's Railroad Commission for the first time since its creation, but all three members will be Republicans. The commission has been responsible for regulating oil, gas and trucking, but a recent federal law greatly reduced the control over trucking.

"Trucking deregulation is long overdue in the state of Texas. And even though there has been some federal pre-emption in that area, having a Railroad Commission that is sympathetic to competition and will lower barriers to entry will lower rates and grow employment," Weinstein said.

"It's a win-win situation, given our strategic position in the NAFTA corridor."

Ray Perryman, a Waco consultant and economist at Southern Methodist University, agreed that the change will be significant.

"I think you're going to find a very different environment at the Railroad Commission, and that can save a lot of people a lot of transportation costs," he said. "I think you're probably going to see regulated trucking in Texas come to an end."

The elections also will have an impact on tort reform, expected in the 1995 legislative session.

"Having a Republican governor who isn't beholden to the trial lawyers and a Supreme Court that I hope will be rational when it comes to liability issues has got to be good for the state, because we're still trying to overcome our reputation of being a tort mill," Weinstein said. "We have to keep sending the message, 'You can do business in Texas without going bankrupt.'"

Outgoing Gov. Ann Richards got high marks for working hard to bring new business to the state. But she was criticized on other fronts.

Dane Harris, president of the Texas Association of Business, said governor-elect George W. Bush is expected to create a more stable, predictable business environment.

"I think governor-elect Bush's commitment to preserving the workers' compensation reforms that we're currently experiencing, his commitment to comprehensive tort reform and his commitment to strengthening the education system and keeping his appointments in the mainstream - I think all of those are encouraging signs to employers and people who have to invest capital to create jobs," Harris said.

On another issue, Texas Restaurant Association spokesman Glenn Garey said he would not expect any action on gambling in next year's legislative session.

But Jack Pratt, chairman and chief executive officer of Dallas-based Hollywood Casino Corp., said he is optimistic.

"We don't see anything in the election results for Texas that gives us any negative feeling as a result of the election. George Bush himself has said to me personally, and to other people that's involved in the gaming issue, that he would be neutral on this issue, and that's all that we would expect from any governor," Pratt said.

University of Texas economics professor Stephen McDonald said there likely will be less of a government push for environmental regulation.

And Weinstein questioned whether the state, now Republican-dominated, might lose favor with the Clinton administration, which could be important in issues such as military base closings.

But in general, analysts looked for few radical changes.

"I think the Texas economy will do quite well in 1995, and would've done so even if Ann Richards had been re-elected," Weinstein said.

Nine indicted by grand jury

Indictments were returned against nine persons during a session Thursday of the Deaf Smith County Grand Jury.

The name of one defendant was withheld pending arrest.

Two indictments list Gerardo Martinez, 31, of 315 Avenue E. He is charged on a two-count indictment with sexual assault of a child and indecency with a child. A second indictment against Martinez is for indecency with a child. He is confined to jail, in lieu of bond.

Sergio Gonzales, 21, and Valerie Ann Leal, 20, both of 606 Union, are named in a single indictment for forgery by passing. Bond of $2,000 was posted by each defendant.

Indicted for felony driving while intoxicated, Marvin Lee Gavina, 22, of 504 S. Main, is free on $1,000 bond.

Ruben Marry Jr., 32, of Hereford, was indicted for forgery by passing. He is being held in jail, in lieu of bond.

The Grand Jury indicted Don Earl Ward, 28, no address available, for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

He is in jail, pending bond.

A felony DWI indictment was returned against Rodolfo Castillo, 45, of 921 Raymond. He posted bond of $2,000.

Glenn Toews, 18, of Hereford, was indicted for burglary of a building. He is free on $3,000 bond.

Offutt sentenced to time in prison

Three 30-year terms in prison were assessed a defendant in 22nd District Court Thursday after he entered guilty pleas to charges.

Steven Ray Offutt, 24, was ordered to serve concurrent terms for burglary of a building and two charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Another defendant, Ruben Vigil, 43, before Judge David Wesley Guiley was given a four-year term in prison after pleading guilty to felony driving while intoxicated.

Judge Guiley also approved an amended probated sentence for Michael Hubbard, previously convicted of burglary of a motor vehicle.

AmWest to become First American Bank

AmWest Savings Association is changing its name to First American Bank, SSB. It was announced by company officials Thursday at a news conference in Amarillo.

The name change, which becomes official on Nov. 14, reflects the institution's conversion from a state savings and loan association to a state savings bank, said Donald A. Adams, chairman and chief executive officer.

Adams explained that the name of the bank has been changed but there has been no transfer in ownership. The bank will still be owned and operated by The Adams Corporation, Group of Bryan, Tx.

The same local staff will continue to serve the community, reported Adams. Bernadette Wright is the branch manager in Hereford and has been with AmWest since it opened here. She started work with Security Federal Savings & Loan 11 years ago, then continued when AmWest took over.

"All account relationships will remain the same, with an interruption in service to our customers," Adams pointed out.

The difference between a savings bank and a bank is "transparent," said Adams.

Over the last several months, the bank has been expanding and upgrading its facilities, and signs reflecting the new name will be installed statewide over the next several weeks. Hereford and all branches will celebrate the new name by holding open houses the week of Nov. 14. The community is invited for refreshments and to register for prizes.

William C. Atkinson, president and CEO, says "all accounts will continue to be insured up to $100,000 by the FDIC; all AmWest checks, loan coupons and other account documents are valid and will continue to be honored." He said customers can continue to use these items until their supply is depleted.

First American Bank is a $3 billion financial institution, currently serving 38 Texas communities with 43 branch offices throughout West and North Central Texas. These include four branches in Amarillo, two in Pampa and one in Hereford.

World/Nation

WASHINGTON - Sen. Phil Gramm of Texas is setting the standard for conservatism in the 1996 Republican presidential field. But some of his potential rivals are following a different path. A crowd of GOP governors won landslide re-election victories this week, and several are considering presidential bids. They are chief executives who must deliver, even if that requires compromise. In Congress, you can just say no.

AUSTIN - Ann Richards made the governor's mansion a haven for grandchildren and motorcycles, and turned the Statehouse into a stage for her double-edged one-liners.

As the silver-haired Democrat prepares to exit public office, even Republicans admit they'll miss her dynamic personality.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti - A gunman shot and killed two Haitian employees of the U.S. Embassy, critically wounded a third and escaped with the embassy payroll. "It was strictly a criminal act for the money," said embassy spokesman Stanley Schrager.

WASHINGTON - Chemical drops that dilate the pupils in routine eye exams may be used to diagnose Alzheimer's disease, a lethal disorder that destroys the mind but is difficult to identify in a living patient.

PORTLAND, Ore. - AIDS patient Tim Schuck already has started talking with his doctor about taking advantage of Oregon's new doctor-assisted suicide law.

"It relieves my family, and certainly the medical people who were going to help me, of the stress of doing something illegal," he said. "It takes the burden off them and puts it on me, where it belongs, and on my physician."

WASHINGTON - The Clinton administration is dropping its attempt to overturn a child pornography conviction in what a conservative group hailed as a prudent response to Republican election victories this week.

BEIJING - They peddle tangerines on busy street corners, hawk down jackets to tourists, shovel subway tunnels and perch on bamboo scaffolding at high-rise construction sites. Rural migrant workers - one of every 10 people in Beijing - do the dirtiest, most dangerous jobs for the cheapest pay. City officials, however, say they are straining scarce resources and causing crime rates to soar. The city is now trying to restore some control over a population it feels has gotten out of hand.

State

AUSTIN - Ann Richards made the Governor's Mansion a haven for grandchildren and motorcycles. She made the Capitol a stage for her double-edged one-liners, and she wasn't immune to taking her show on the road, matching wits with comic kings David Letterman and Jay Leno on late-night talk shows. As the 61-year-old, silver-haired Democrat prepares to exit public office - at least for now - friends and foes agreed that her dynamic personality won't be forgotten.

HOUSTON - Republican Gov.-elect George W. Bush says he knows he will have to include Democrats as he works to fulfill his campaign promises, but he says he's comfortable with such bipartisan endeavors. "My dream is to rise above partisan politics," Bush said in Houston Thursday, saying he wants to govern in terms of what's best for Texas.

AUSTIN - Triumphant Texas Republicans say their time has come. But Democrats say it's too early to count them out. "It is apparent that not only is Texas a two-party state but well on its way to becoming a Republican state," Gary Bruner, GOP executive director, said Thursday.

FORT WORTH - On the day after Republicans seized control of Congress, former House Speaker Jim Wright found some consolation in the election. "The silver lining for me," he said, "is that I am no longer involved in this. I bear no responsibility for these things." Partisanship has made for an ugly workplace, he said.

HARLINGEN - Only two counties south of the Nueces River supported GOP winner George W. Bush over Ann Richards, who was viewed as the first governor to take a serious interest in South Texas. Now, politicians in the Democratic stronghold of the Lower Rio Grande Valley worry that Bush's victory could once again turn this growing area into a forgotten corner of Texas.

DALLAS - From trucking deregulation to tort reform to workers' compensation, business leaders and analysts across the state say the results of this week's elections will help improve the Texas business climate.

BRYAN - Former Texas A&M University administrator Robert Smith has been convicted of soliciting gifts from a vendor who was negotiating a multimillion-dollar contract with the university. The jury was told to return today for the punishment phase.

FORT WORTH - A jury convicts a teen-ager of capital murder in the killings of two men in a Fort Worth neighborhood. The panel rejected the defense's kill or be killed defense.

SAN ANTONIO - The first woman-owned, full-service law firm in the Alamo City is following a growing regional trend that some worry could lure women from traditional firms. Clients say it's the service that counts.

Law Enforcement, Fire, Emergency Calls

Friday's emergency services reports contained the following information:

HEREFORD POLICE

- A 46-year-old male was arrested for criminal trespass.
- Theft in the amount of $12.96 was reported in the 1100 block of West Park Avenue.
- Assault was reported in the 700 block of La Plata.
- Theft by check in the amount of $700 was reported in the 200 block of North 25 Mile Avenue.
- Officers issued 19 citations.

DEAF SMITH SHERIFF

- A 20-year-old male was arrested on a warrant for violation of probation.
- A 43-year-old male was arrested on a warrant for theft by check and on a Potter County warrant for theft by check.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

- Firefighters were dispatched at 8:30 p.m. Thursday to a car fire at Grand and U.S. 385.
- EMS
- Ambulances on Thursday ran on two medical calls.

Meno expects to keep options open

Appointed education commissioner by Richards

AUSTIN (AP) - State Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno says he'd like to keep his job. But he's keeping his options open now that Democratic Gov. Ann Richards, who appointed him, has been beaten by Republican Gov.-elect George W. Bush.

"I think this is an exciting position, and it's one where you have a tremendous opportunity to contribute, and I've really enjoyed it. If it ends at that, it ends at that," Meno said Thursday. He came to Texas from New York and says he'd like to stay here even if he changes jobs.

Bush, who made education reform a leading campaign issue, said in Houston that he hadn't made a decision about Meno but added, "I'm going to be fair."

State Board of Education members from both the Republican and Democratic parties praised Meno and said they'd like to see him continue in the post when his term expires in March.

The 15-member board, which will have a Republican majority in January, recommends the commissioner to the governor. The appointment requires Senate confirmation.

"If this board has anything to do with it, I don't think he will be replaced," Republican board member Jack Christie of Houston said. "I have full confidence when George W. Bush sits down with the commissioner, he'll be impressed with his knowledge and leadership."

Like Christie, GOP board member Robert Offutt of San Antonio has been mentioned as a possible board chairman after Bush takes office.

"I have basically a favorable impression of Commissioner Meno and would favor giving him the opportunity to see if he could work with a conservative board and a conservative governor," Offutt said.

Democratic board member Will Davis of Austin called Meno "the best commissioner of education Texas has ever had. ... He may be Texas' very best appointed public official."

Since being named commissioner in 1991, Meno has emphasized giving schools more leeway in how they educate students as long as they do the job.

"I've said continuously that I came here looking at at least six years. I don't think you can bring about any change in less than that period of time, and so if the conditions were right, I'd be interested in continuing," Meno said.

The board, meeting with several lame-duck members Thursday, gave preliminary approval to new state-paid textbooks in several subjects to go into classrooms this fall.

But the board put off action on a new environmental science book that's been criticized by several lawmakers, agriculture groups and Republican Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry over allegedly false and misleading references to agriculture. Among other complaints, Perry said in a letter to Meno that the book falsely states that when cattle feed, they remove the vegetation from the soil. He also said the authors imply falsely that people in certain parts of the world "remain malnourished so that Americans can eat beef."

"The authors from Brooklyn may be environmentally aware, but their knowledge and perceptions of the livestock industry and modern agriculture are woefully inaccurate," Perry said.

Board members said they would give the book's publisher until January to make changes. Robert Kelley, regional vice president for publisher Addison-Wesley, said the book is an "excellent" one but company hoped to be able to satisfy the board.

"Anything impacting the environment is controversial, and there were some statements about particularly the beef industry that we think we can rewrite and do it in a more positive and less controversial way," Kelley said.

Whitewater probe still possibility

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. Alfonse D'Amato says he's not planning a witch hunt, but renewed hearings on Whitewater are near the top of the agenda for the Senate Banking Committee early next year.

The New York Republican said Thursday the hearings will be "responsible and thorough."

D'Amato, in an interview, said he hoped for cooperation from witnesses but would not hesitate to use subpoena power "if we find people not being cooperative."

"This will not be a witch hunt," he said.

Committee hearings earlier this year focused on the actions of White House and Treasury Department officials, once they learned that regulators recommended a Justice Department criminal investigation of Whitewater.

Whitewater refers to President Clinton's former investment in an Arkansas land development of that name, a possibly improper Small Business Administration-backed loan to a Whitewater investor and the failure of an Arkansas savings and loan that was owned by a business partner of Clinton and his wife, Hillary.

D'Amato said the hearings, to begin "either at the end of January or early February," might be held in stages, because Whitewater independent counsel Kenneth Starr has asked lawmakers not to impede his criminal investigation.

With the Republican takeover of the Senate in Tuesday's elections, D'Amato is in line to assume the chairmanship of the Banking Committee in the new Congress. The panel's current chairman, Sen. Donald Riegle, D-Mich., did not seek re-election.

Tax structure being studied by GOP committee chairman

By ALAN FRAM

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The man likely to take over the House's tax-writing committee is outlining plans for a quick tax cut - and talking about ending the income tax altogether. A Virginia Republican says he'll halt a probe of the tobacco industry. Jesse Helms says he'll use his panel to slice foreign aid.

Republicans who will take over Congress' committees next year are beginning to spell out their aims.

President Clinton and now-outnumbered Democrats will resist them on many fronts. But for the first time in 40 years, January will see Republicans at the controls in Congress, better able to advance ideas that Democrats had long consigned to committee corners.

"In a way it is like a dream, but it's a reality today, and we've got to roll up our sleeves," Rep. Bill Archer, who will probably take over the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, said Thursday.

Archer, R-Texas, told reporters he will immediately push to reduce the capital gains tax on profits from property sales, and to trim other taxes on many families, the elderly, people who save money for medical reasons and others. His panel will also try to revamp the welfare system to discourage people from relying too heavily on it, he said.

Archer also spoke of a longer-range goal: "a complete replacement of the income tax," perhaps with a national sales tax. Many Democrats have argued that such an idea could put a proportionately heavier burden on the poor, who must spend more of their income than well-off people do.

A substitute for the income tax should be "the engine that will drive job creation, economic activity, increase the effective income for the people of this country," Archer said.

Other incoming committee chiefs are laying out their agendas, too. Helms, R-N.C., the conservative who will take over the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said that he wants to cut foreign aid, that the program "has spent an estimated $2 trillion of the America taxpayers' money, much of it going down foreign rat holes."

Rep. Thomas Bliley, R-Va., who will probably head the Health and Environment Subcommittee. Bliley said he will end Congress' investigation of the tobacco industry because "I don't think we need any more legislation regulating tobacco."

Philip Morris USA is the largest private employer in his district, and he received $93,790 from tobacco-related interests from 1987 to 1992.

Rep. Pat Roberts, R-Kan., likely chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. He said he wants to hold hearings on "the fraud, waste and abuse, and the organized crime entrance in the food stamp program."

Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., who will regain the chairmanship of the Senate Budget Committee. His panel will try to quickly approve legislation strengthening the president's ability to kill individual projects in spending bills, and will endorse a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced budget, he said.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who will become chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee. Thurmond, who will be 92 next month, will try to halt the slide the Pentagon's budget has experienced since the Bush administration, said spokeswoman Chris Cimko.

Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, who will displace Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., as head of the Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee. She said she favors giving the states all responsibility for welfare programs, and in exchange having the federal government pay all Medicaid bills.

Gingrich to be target of art by cartoonists

By ROBERT DVORCHAK

AP National Writer

Get ready for more caricatures of a politician with grayish, big hair and a pudgy face. Except now Newt Gingrich, not Bill Clinton, may be dominating the editorial cartoons.

"It'll be great drawing a speaker of the House named after a lizard," laughed Steve Benson of The Arizona Republic.

Well, actually a newt is an amphibian. But this isn't rocket science.

"Newt's cut out of the mold cartoonists like. There's that shock of hair, and he speaks his mind without much forethought," Benson added Thursday. "We have a whole new cast of characters. This is going to make great and invigorating upheaval on the editorial pages."

Even conservatives like Benson are enjoying the upheaval that put the Republicans in control of the House and Senate.

Not only do they have Clinton and the liberals for fodder, but Gingrich and Sens. Bob Dole, Alfonse D'Amato and Jesse Helms are now at center stage.

"It's morning in America for me. I've been born again professionally," said Signe Wilkinson, a Pulitzer Prize-winning cartoonist for the Philadelphia Daily News and a self-professed liberal. "The electorate never lets us down."

In her cartoons, Wilkinson draws Pennsylvania's Sen.-elect Rick Santorum with a chainsaw because he wants to cut government. Santorum unseated Clintonite and health care champion Sen. Harris Wofford this week.

The satirists who spoof politicians are gleeful because the crowd taking control of Congress is straightforward about what it stands for.

And for those looking to underscore the folly and foibles of political policy, clarity is a plus when your medium is usually a single-panel cartoon.

"Polarization makes for easy targets," said Rob Rogers, an editorial cartoonist for the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette who is syndicated by United Features.

"One of the hardest things about drawing Clinton was you never quite knew where he stood. With these guys, it's pretty black and white. They tend to be caricatures of themselves."

For an idea of what the new leaders will look like in print, Rogers sees Gingrich as "the Pillsbury Doughboy meets Donahue," while the eye-brow heavy Dole "looks like Boris Karloff or Dr. Jekyll."

Celebration

Hereford volleyball players Deanna McCracken (24), Heather Hodges (11) and Erin Dunn (23) whoop it up immediately after the Lady Whitefaces defeated Granbury in the region semifinals Tuesday in Snyder. The Lady Whitefaces hope to do more celebrating Saturday, when Hereford meets Dumas in the regional finals at 6 p.m. at Caprock High School in Amarillo. The winner goes to the state tournament Nov. 18-19 in Austin.

Herd spikers take on Dumas for berth in state tournament

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Lady Whitefaces volleyball team hopes the fifth time will be the charm against the Dumas Demonettes.

The two rivals meet for the fifth time this season at 6 p.m. Saturday in the Tascosa Activity Center in Amarillo. The winner goes on to the state tournament Nov. 18-19 in Austin, while the loser goes home.

Hereford's record of 28-6 includes three losses to Amarillo High—ranked No. 1 in Texas in Class 4A—and three losses to Dumas (25-6) in the finals of the Lubbock tournament in August; in the second district meeting in Hereford; and in a district playoff Nov. 1 after the two tied for the District 1-4A championship. Hereford owns one win over the Demonettes, coming in Dumas in the first district round.

"I think that in the losses we've not been able to overcome our errors," Herd coach Brenda Reeh said. "We've been overwhelmed to the point of not wanting the ball, to the point of wanting someone else make the plays, and not shaking off mistakes and moving on. We've shown in the last two matches that we've improved in that area a great deal."

Seminoles remember last year

By The Associated Press

This year things are different: there's no national championship on the line when Notre Dame and Florida State clash this Saturday.

Last year, the Irish handed Florida State its lone loss, although it still went on to win the national title. The Seminole, however, remember.

"When you're playing somebody that beat you, and beat you pretty physically, I won't have to do a lot of motivating for this game," Florida State coach Bobby Bowden said of last year's 31-24 defeat at Notre Dame. "You can't help but remember that game."

If they want to repeat as national champions, the eighth-ranked Seminole (7-1, 7-0 ACC) can't afford to stumble against the Irish (5-3).

"I'm not sure we're good enough to come in there and have a 50-50 chance against Florida State," Irish coach Lou Holtz said.

In other games Saturday, top-ranked Nebraska will be at Iowa State, No. 2 Penn State at Illinois, Georgia at No. 3 Auburn, South Carolina at No. 4 Florida, Pittsburgh at No. 5 Miami, No. 6 Alabama at No. 20 Mississippi State, No. 7 Colorado at Kansas, No. 9 Texas A&M at Louisville and Arkansas State at No.

Hereford JV hurts 'Horns

The Hereford junior varsity football team closed the season in fine fashion Thursday, shutting out Caprock 41-0 at Whiteface Stadium.

"It's always good when you shut someone out defensively, and as far as I could tell, they never crossed the 50-yard line," coach Ron Young said. "We executed well, did things right. We got them down and didn't let them up. Of course, when you keep the ball defense is pretty easy. The offense did a good job of keeping the ball, moving it and keeping (the defense) off the field."

Hereford's Anthony Cervantez opened the scoring with a nine-yard touchdown run, the first of his three TDs. Tripp Robison gave Hereford a 14-0 lead on a 14-yard TD catch from Joseph Artho.

Robison caught a one-yard scoring pass in the third quarter, set up by a 30-yard pass from Artho to C.J. Kubacak. Cervantez then scored on runs of one yard in the third quarter and 22 yards in the fourth quarter.

On the last play of the game, reserve quarterback Michael Garcia ran 27 yards for a touchdown. John Marty Galan kicked all five of the extra points he attempted; no extra point was attempted after the final touchdown.

HJH cagers split four with Dimmitt

The Hereford Junior High boys' basketball teams played Dimmitt Thursday in what were billed as scrimmages but treated as real games.

The seventh grade teams both won in Hereford. The A team won 30-24, with James Miller scoring eight and L.J. Vallejo adding seven, while the B team won 36-26 with nine points from Ian Isaacson and seven from Gus Guseman.

The eighth grade team lost their games in Dimmitt. The A team fell 44-24, as Chris Torres and Cory Marsh had six points each. The B team lost 42-35, despite Cory Ortiz' seven points.

Good In Front

NEW YORK (AP) — "On The Bill Daly" is a time-honored phrase of horse racing. It means to be in front from start to finish.

A turn-of-the-century trainer named Bill Daly, who was known as "Father Bill Daly," used to give his jockeys instructions to go to the front at the start of a race and stay there.

"I was proud of all our kids tonight," coach Craig Yenzer said. "They have continued to improve throughout the season, and all the work has paid off. We have high expectations for this crew."

The Herd freshman team lost a wild game Thursday in Amarillo. Caprock won 52-30 in a game that saw 50 points scored in the second quarter alone—this was football, not basketball.

Caprock outscored Hereford 28-22 in the second quarter to take a 36-30 halftime lead. Caprock added two more touchdowns in the second half while shutting Hereford out.

The combination of receiver Rodney Gomez and quarterback Jeremy Urbanczyk provided more than half of Hereford's points as Gomez caught touchdown passes of 11 and 71 yards and caught two passes for extra points.

Urbanczyk also hit Anthony Lopez with an eight-yard TD pass, and Jacob Gonzalez ran 62 yards for another touchdown. Lopez also ran for a two-point conversion.

On the way to paydirt

Running back Anthony Cervantez of the Hereford junior varsity runs for one of his three touchdowns in a 41-0 whipping of the Caprock JV Thursday at Whiteface Stadium.

State's best bi-district games are in Class 4A

By JAIME ARON
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP)—Going by records, the best matchup in the opening round of the 1994 high school football playoffs is the Class 4A game between 10-0 La Marque and 9-0-1 Bay City.

Going by reputation, no game pits the recent postseason success as another 4A game, this one between Waxahachie and Southlake Carroll.

Those two matchups highlight the first-round of the playoffs, which began with a few games Thursday and doesn't end until the seven state champions are crowned by Dec. 17. Carroll won the last two Class 3A titles before redistricting sent them into 4A this year.

The Dragons had a tough early season, ending their state-record streak for consecutive regular-season victories at 72 and getting shut out the next week, yet they made the bi-district round with a 5-4 record.

The Indians, who won the 4A title in 1992 and reached the semifinals last year, enter the playoffs at 9-0 and are rolling under first-year coach Thomas Brooks.

Waxahachie was second in the season's final Associated Press poll, one spot ahead of La Marque. Bay City was ranked seventh.

Their first-round pairing of unbeaten is unique because the bi-district round pairs a district champion against another district's runner-up, which usually has a loss.

In Bay City's case, the Black Cats finished second in the district because of a tie with El Campo.

This marks the teams' third playoff meeting since 1990. Bay City won the first two, 20-14 in 1990 and 20-15 in 1991.

The top team in 4A, defending champion Stephenville, plays Lubbock Estacado (8-2) on Saturday. Here's a quick look at big games in the other brackets:

- Two-time defending Class 5A Division II winner Converse Judson, stumbling into the postseason at 7-2-1, opened Thursday night in a Region IV game against Austin Bowie (7-3).

Another key game in their half of the bracket is the Region III battle between Deer Park (9-1) and Houston Clear Lake (10-0). By record, that's the best first-round game of the "big school" title chase.

The worst record matchup in any class is the Region II game between Duncanville (4-5-1) and Dallas Skyline (4-6).

- Defending Class 5A Division I champ Lewisville is in Division II this year, meaning there will be a new winner.

The front-runner has to be Austin Westlake, the former 4A power that moved to No. 1 in the final poll. The Chaparrals (10-0) play San Antonio MacArthur (6-3-1).

Another 4A-ex making its mark in 5A is A&M Consolidated. The No. 5 Tigers (9-1) play host to Klein Forest (7-2-1).

- With Carroll out of 3A, last year's runner-up Cuero is the favorite. The Gobblers were ranked No. 1 all season and they have a first-round game against Hondo (6-3-1).

The best matchups in the class are in Region II where Emory Rains (10-0) faces Longview Spring Hill (9-1), and Lake Dallas (9-1) meets Commerce (10-0).

- Top-ranked Schulenburg (10-0) begins its quest for a third 2A title in four years against Boling (6-4).

Defending champion Goldthwaite, ranked third, takes its 10-0 record into the first round against McGregor (8-2).

- Thorndale, which blew through the 1A regular-season to maintain its No. 1 ranking, opens against Calvert (7-2-1).

Sudan, the defending champ, has a bye.

- Defending six-man champion Panther Creek, which had a rocky year to enter the postseason at 4-5, faces Mullin, which has the best record at 10-0.

Joe Louis and Max Schmeling fought twice and each scored a knockout victory.

Mickey Mantle was only 19 when he first played for the Yankees in 1951.

Rice: San Francisco can play rough, too

By The Associated Press
Jerry Rice thinks the world has a view of the San Francisco 49ers that is slightly askew.

"Everybody looks at us like we're the pope of something like that," Rice said Thursday as the Niners prepared for their showdown with the Dallas Cowboys on Sunday, the feature matchup of this NFL season. "They think of us as a finesse team. But if you treat us like that, we're going to fight back. It's time for the opponent to know that now."

Dallas is 8-1, the best record in the league, and has beaten the 49ers in the last two NFC championship games en route to winning the Super Bowl. San Francisco (7-2) has won the last four regular-season meetings at Candlestick Park.

Rice and Dallas cornerback Kevin Smith got into a scrape during pregame warmups at the 1993 title game, and the trash-talking and shoving continued into the first quarter until Rice was flagged for a personal foul. The Cowboys recently have become renown for their trash-talking.

"You really don't let a team disrespect you," Rice said. "So you've got to go out and stand your ground. If you go out and if a team is trying to challenge you and you back down, hey, you've lost the battle already."

The winner of this battle has the inside track to the NFC title. However, two other strong contenders - Minnesota and Philadelphia - also have 7-2 records.

The Vikings are at New England this Sunday, while Philadelphia is at home against another 7-2 team, the Cleveland Browns.

Also, it's San Diego at Kansas City in an AFC West showdown; the Los Angeles Raiders play their local rivals, the Rams; the New York Jets are at Green Bay; Atlanta visits New Orleans; Arizona is at the New York Giants; Chicago goes to Miami; Houston is at Cincinnati; Seattle travels to Denver; and Tampa Bay visits Detroit.

Monday night, Buffalo is at Pittsburgh. Idle this weekend are Indianapolis and Washington.

But the big game, of course, is at San Francisco, where the footing could get slippery. Nearly three inches of rain fell over the past week. There's a chance of scattered showers today and Saturday, giving way to fair weather by game time, according to the National Weather Service. Niners coach George Seifert said a wet turf could benefit both offenses.

"They have a big strong running game, big offensive linemen. They can kind of shove you around in a bad-footing game," Seifert said. "At the same time, it could slow down the pass rush. Our receivers know where they're going and you can have a heck of a throwing game."

Meanwhile, Jimmy Johnson's brash guarantee of a Dallas victory before last season's title game will not be repeated by his successor, Barry Switzer.

"I'm not in that business," Switzer said. "I haven't had five or six Heinekens yet. It's too early in the morning to do that."

The Vikings are riding high on offense and defense as they head to Foxboro Stadium. The Patriots have lost four straight.

"This team looks like to me, right at this stage... the best team we have played so far this year," New England coach Bill Parcells said.

The Vikings have the NFL's stingiest run defense and one of the most fearsome pass rushes. They're tied for third in the league in sacks and interceptions.

The Eagles defense also is intimidating, ranking third in the league. The offense is just behind at No. 4.

That impresses Browns coach Bill Belichick.

"Offensively, the Eagles have been pretty consistent," Belichick said. "Philadelphia's got a big-play type of defense. They really work for the turnovers."

The Eagles are plus-7 in turnover differential.

See The Birdie

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) - It was see the birdie nine straight times for Omar Uresti earlier this year in the Nike Shreveport Open.

Uresti posted nine consecutive birdies, from the fourth hole through the 12th. The momentum carried him through to an eventual victory in the event as he won in a playoff with Pat Bates.

Uresti's string not only was a record for the Nike Tour but bettered the best runs in both the PGA Regular Tour and the Senior Tour.

Ewing, Knicks win epic battle with O'Neal, Orlando, 101-99

By WENDY E. LANE AP Basketball Writer
Shaq had the big numbers. Patrick had the final word.

Shaquille O'Neal and Patrick Ewing turned an early season matchup between the division rivals Orlando and New York into a playoff-caliber battle Thursday night.

One night after getting 46 points and 20 rebounds against Charlotte, O'Neal had 41 points and 17 rebounds against New York, scoring 10 straight points to tie the game at 99-all with 11 seconds left. But Ewing, who had 24 points, won it for the Knicks, hitting a 17-foot fadeaway jumper with two seconds remaining for a 101-99 victory at Madison Square Garden.

"Something about Shaq fires Patrick up," Knicks point guard Derek Harper said. "He is a great talent, but you have to give Patrick credit, because he comes ready to play."

In other NBA games Thursday night, it was Atlanta 108, the Los Angeles Clippers 91; Portland 104, Sacramento 84; Detroit 112, Indiana 110; and Cleveland 108, Milwaukee 88.

Both Ewing, who made his first seven shots, and O'Neal, who hit his first four, missed sizable stretches of the game due to foul trouble.

Ewing played only two minutes of the third period after getting his fourth foul. O'Neal helped bring Orlando, which trailed by 14 in the second quarter, to 68-67 on a basket with 2:53 left in the third, but he immediately committed his fourth foul and left the game.

"I think we came out a little flat, but I still think we played a good game and made a nice comeback in the second half," O'Neal said. "I have to stay in the game if we are going to win, though."

Anfernee Hardaway had 27 points for the Magic, and Nick Anderson added 19.

Charles Oakley had 16 points and 12 rebounds for New York, which also got 13 rebounds from Charles Smith.

Trail Blazers 104, Kings 84

After opening the season with wins against Phoenix and Seattle, it was back to reality for Sacramento, which shot only 34 percent against visiting Portland.

Cliff Robinson scored 12 of his 25 points in the third quarter, and Rod Strickland scored all of his 16 points. The Kings were led by Mitch Richmond's 23 points.

Chris Dudley had 17 rebounds for the Trail Blazers, who have won 16 of the last 17 from Sacramento.

Hawks 108, Clippers 91

Atlanta coach Lenny Wilkens finally got a win after the Hawks' 0-4 start, their worst in 23 years.

Wilkens is 12 victories away from surpassing Red Auerbach's record 938 career coaching wins.

Stacy Augmon had 25 points for the Hawks, who led 80-65 after three quarters.

Loy Vaughn had 20 points in the winless Clippers' home opener.

Pistons 112, Pacers 110

Rookie Grant Hill led Detroit with 23 points, and Joe Dumars scored four points in the final minute at Auburn Hills, Mich.

Trailing by 17 points in the third quarter, Detroit got 13 points in the period from Hill as the Pistons rallied to win their third straight game.

Indiana's Rik Smits had 25 points, and Reggie Miller had 16.

Cavaliers 108, Bucks 88

After coach Mike Fratello kicked a trash can during an angry halftime lecture, Cleveland outscored Milwaukee 37-18 in the third quarter and went on to win.

Seven Cavaliers scored in double figures, led by Price with 18, Bobby Phillips with 17, Tyrone Hill with 16 and Michael Cage with 15.

Bucks rookie Glenn Robinson wasn't impressive in his second appearance since signing a $68 million contract. He finished with nine points on 3-for-13 shooting, missing all seven of his field goals in the second half.

Milwaukee's Johnny Newman led all scorers with 30.

COLLEGES

10 Colorado State.

Also, No. 11 Kansas State is at Missouri, No. 12 Utah at Air Force. No. 13 Arizona at No. 17 Southern Cal, No. 14 Syracuse at No. 25 Boston College, Rutgers at No. 16 Virginia Tech, No. 18 Duke at North Carolina State, Minnesota at No. 19 Michigan, Maryland at No. 21 Virginia, California at No. 22 Washington and No. 24 Washington State at Oregon State.

On Thursday night, No. 23 Brigham Young defeated San Diego State 35-28.

Florida State coaches believe that in last year's Notre Dame game they counted too heavily on Heisman Trophy winner Charlie Ward and failed to use some of their other weapons, especially tailback Warrick Dunn, who is averaging close to eight yards a carry this season.

"Dunn presents an awful lot of problems," Holtz said. "They get an awful lot of big plays from their running game and, of course, Kez McCorvey is an outstanding receiver."

Church News

CENTRAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

Things are going well at Central. The teen lock-in was a big hit last Friday. We will begin preparing the 4th-9th grade students for a Bible Bowl in February. It will cover the last half of Genesis.

Stewart Jones of Lubbock spoke Sunday night about a new mission opportunity for senior citizens after retirement. This is an exciting new work with great potential.

Don't forget the "Friends Day" Nov. 20. We will be inviting our friends from the community to worship with us and to share a meal afterwards.

Our visitation program is underway. We met Tuesday for a kick-off meeting. We have great hopes for this program. We will meet again at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

Come worship with us at the corner of Sunset and Plains. Sunday Bible Class is at 9:30 a.m. and worship begins at 10:25 a.m. and 5 p.m. Our Wednesday Bible classes are at 7 p.m.

FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

We invite anyone looking for a church home to come and visit with us.

Sunday school classes for all age groups and Bible study for adults meet from 9:30-11:15 a.m. The adult class and Sunday worship service are held from 10:30-11:15 a.m. and are led by Doug Manning, worship leader.

We have nursery facilities for all ages. The free taxi service is available upon request by calling 364-0359.

CHRISTIAN ASSEMBLY CHURCH

Pastor Don Cherry and the church congregation invite the public to attend all services at the church located on S. Main St.

We have dismissed Sunday school for the time being and changed our Sunday morning worship service time to 10:30. The Sunday evening service will remain the same (6 p.m.) as will the Wednesday night service at 7.

COMMUNITY CHURCH

Pastor Dorman Duggan and the church congregation would like to extend a warm welcome to everyone to come and worship with them Sunday morning.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. and the morning worship service starts at 10:30. A nursery is provided.

The Wednesday schedule includes children's church, youth groups, and prayer time, all beginning at 7 p.m.

For more information or if you need prayer, call 364-8866 or 364-2423.

SAN JOSE CATHOLIC CHURCH

Saturday is the K-6th Christian Formation class day. Our students will learn a special lesson Thanksgiving and the Holy Eucharist. Any children who have not been registered can still come and be signed up that day. All parents of children or teenagers who wish to receive any of the sacraments this year are reminded that they are required to attend the Adult Formation session at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the salon.

Saturday is also a "clean-up day" at San Jose Church from 9 a.m. until noon. We need help to really clean the salon, kitchen, the church and pick up trash around the property. We need the help of many parishioners, even if you can only come to help one hour. Let's be responsible stewards of what God has given us.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:45 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. The public is invited.

The youth visitation is held at 7 p.m. each Monday and "hang time" is held at 7 p.m. each Wednesday.

The Christmas Banquet for deacons and their wives is scheduled Dec. 4 in the fellowship hall following the morning worship service. If you plan to attend, please call the church office no later than Nov. 30. Cost will be $5.50 per person.

The Thanksgiving and Stewardship Banquet is planned at 7 p.m. Nov. 21. Cost will be $4 for youth and adults and $3 for children through the sixth grade. Cost per family will be $15. Please call the church office no later than Nov. 16 to make reservations.

Women on Mission are collecting Homeland Turkey Bucks. You can put your Turkey Bucks in the envelope located in the foyer or you may give them to Missy Wilcox or Donna Canada.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 29-year-old male, recently, something happened that made me feel ashamed, perplexed and utterly confounded.

While visiting my parents at their summer home, I awoke in the middle of the night to the awful realization that I had wet the bed. I was a bed wetter when I was a child (until I was 6 or 7), but the problem gradually went away.

This most recent incident, I confess, is not totally isolated. Once, when I was about 16, I wet the bed while traveling abroad. I had caught the flu and was recuperating in a hotel when it happened.

On another occasion when I was in my mid-20s, I urinated in my girlfriend's bed while she was in it. This occurred after a night of drinking and partying. I cannot describe the humiliation. I tried to rationalize the incident by making a point of the fact that I was drunk. Now I'm not so sure there wasn't more to it.

I do not want to be a bed wetter in my 30s. How can I make sure this won't happen again? Dreaming of the Swanee River in N.Y.

DEAR SWANEE RIVER: I checked with a distinguished neurologist, Dr. Richard Rovner of Chicago, and he recommended that you see a neurologist to determine if you have a sleep disorder. If so, it can be treated with medication. If not, you should then see a urologist to determine whether or not there is a medical problem involved.

P.S. It might be a good idea to cut down on the boozing. And after a night of "celebrating" you would be wise to sleep alone.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago, my husband was killed by a drunk driver. We had been married for 13 beautiful years. We were blessed with four wonderful children. I know I will never get over this awful tragedy, but with the emotional support of my family and friends, I have learned to live with it.

I had planned to devote the rest of my life to my children, but six months ago, the unexpected happened. I met a man and fell in love. My children adore "Jack," and so does the rest of my family. We've talked about marriage, and I'm thrilled that my family will be complete again.

There is one small problem, Ann. I am 40, and Jack is 59. Because of the age difference, I am afraid that Jack will die before I do, and I don't think I could live through the trauma of burying another husband. I love Jack so much, but I am haunted by this fear. Please help me.—Apprehensive in Florida

DEAR FLORIDA: Marry Jack. You would be a fool to pass up this second chance for happiness. Life is uncertain. Jack could outlive YOU.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is there a tactful way I can tell my boss that his stinking cigars are smelling up my clothes and getting into my skin and hair? I have this awful fear that I am beginning to smell like him.

I enjoy my work immensely. The pay is excellent, and the people are great. The boss is a pussycat. Everything is wonderful except this one thing. Help, please.—LaSalle Street, Chicago

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If no one in your office has heard of air fresheners, air purifiers or special ashtrays that absorb smoke, I suggest you look into them. Meanwhile, if the boss' stinking cigars are so obnoxious, I see nothing wrong in telling the pussycat.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After reading the letters of complaint about thoughtless customers who slow down the checkout line, I needed to write.

When I was initially diagnosed with multiple sclerosis, the area most affected was my hands. They were extremely stiff and clumsy, but I could, with effort manage to write.

Although my disability was not apparent to others, performing simple, everyday tasks was difficult and exhausting. I particularly remember the checkout line at the supermarket. Trying to manipulate the checkbook and write out a check took a great deal of effort.

I could sense the impatience of the customers behind me and felt anxious and embarrassed, even though I was holding up the line for only an additional minute or two. But it taught me a lesson. I realized how often I had been impatient and judgmental of others.

Compassion is often learned the hard way. I hope the next time an exasperated shopper is stuck in line behind someone who may not proceed at the normal rate of speed, he or she will give a thought to these questions: What do I really know about the person who is holding up the line?

How important is that extra minute, anyway?—Still Learning in Ashland, Ore.

DEAR ASHLAND: You have raised questions that we all need to keep in mind when patience runs thin. Thank you for reminding us.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for all those parents who are upset because their kids don't call them enough. They complain that if they want to talk to their kids, they are always the ones to pick up the phone.

These parents should be delighted the kids are even willing to talk to them on the phone. I know people whose children don't care enough about their elderly parents to TAKE the calls, let alone make them.

Have the parents ever discussed this with their children? If the folks have always done the calling, it is quite possible that it never occurred to the kids to call THEM. The children may be so accustomed to having the parents call that they have come to believe that's the way it ought to be.

While the parents are rightly concerned about who can best afford the calls, the important thing is not who pays, but keeping in touch.

Our son is in the Navy. Since we can't call him because we often don't know where he is, we have an arrangement whereby he calls us from anywhere in the world collect. The telephone is a marvelous way to keep families together, and actually, it's the greatest bargain in the world.—The Open Ear in California

DEAR EAR: The phone companies are going to love you. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print just one more letter about the damage that can be done by a light bulb left burning. It could be a lifesaver.

My next-door neighbors went on a trip and left their living room lamp on for security reasons. When they returned, they found ashes instead of a home. The firemen said the bulb was too big for the lamp and the shade caught fire.

I had never paid much attention to light fixtures or lampshades before, but you can bet I do now.—N.Y. Resident

DEAR N.Y.: You and millions of others—I hope. Thanks for the reminder.

When planning a wedding, who pays for what? Who stands where? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" has all the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Guido d'Arezzo, an Italian monk, revolutionized music in the 11th century by developing a notation system and a method of sight-singing.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

HOW DAVID IS FINALLY MADE KING

THE NEWS OF KING SAUL'S DEFEAT AND DEATH AT THE HANDS OF THE PHILISTINES, ON MOUNT GILBOA, WAS RECEIVED SORROWFULLY BY DAVID AND HIS MEN...

THEIR MOURNING IS SINCERE AND DEEP FOR, THOUGH SAUL HAD ATTEMPTED TO DESTROY DAVID, STILL HE WAS THEIR KING!

AND NOW, IN DEEP PRIVACY, DAVID ASKS OF THE LORD....

SHALL I GO UP INTO ANY OF THE CITIES OF JUDAH?

GO UP!

WHITHER SHALL I GO UP?

UNTO HEBRON!

SO DAVID, ACTING UPON THE LORD'S COMMAND, LEADS HIS ARMY FORTH FROM THE WILDERNESS! AND WITH THEM COME THE WIVES AND FAMILIES OF ALL THE MEN—FOR THERE WILL BE NO TURNING BACK—HEBRON IS DAVID'S GOAL....

JOHN LEHTI

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

Times	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.16	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are 4.35 per column inch, 3.65 inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are separate for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one misprint insertion. In case of errors by the publishers an additional insertion will be published.

Good conditions for agriculture reported in many areas of state

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Those Texas producers harvesting or planting have the weather on their side with adequate moisture and sunshine, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

Gregory Gerngross, Extension agent in Callahan County, said his county is reporting that the wheat crop is the best in years.

"Over the last six weeks we have received just the right amount of rain and sunshine," Gerngross said. "Things seem almost too good to be true - we are just waiting for some disaster to hit."

Jose Pena, Extension economist in Uvalde, said recent rains, together with cool nights and abnormally mild days, have created an excellent fall growing environment for Southwest Texas.

"Small grains, pastures and ranges are greening up and everything seems to be moving on schedule," Pena said.

Pena also said this year will go down as the year of record harvests in corn, cotton and several vegetable crops.

"However, we have found that good weather can't solve everything if the market is not on our side," he said. "Even though the yields are up this year, the markets aren't, and producers may be facing some economic hard times as a result."

"Producers are hoping for improvement to these very weak markets, but time is running out," Pena added that the southwestern parts of the state are still harvesting cabbage, peanuts and pecans.

"Peanuts and cabbage look good so far, but I can't say the same for the pecans," he said. "Both yield and quality is significantly below average this year."

Dr. Clay Salisbury, Extension agronomist in Amarillo, said the sorghum harvest is beginning to wind down, and the yields are just about what producers expected.

"The irrigated sorghum looks great and should be around 8,500 to 10,000 pounds per acre," Salisbury said. "However, the dryland crop suffered a loss of moisture from last summer's drought and will only bring in 3,500 to 5,300 pounds per acre."

Salisbury said the cotton harvest is nearly half completed, but yield figures are not complete.

Emory Boring III, Extension entomologist in Vernon, said many producers in the Rolling Plains are waiting to harvest cotton until after the first killing frost.

"Otherwise producers must use a harvest chemical on the crop to help kill the excess leaves," Boring said. "A killing frost works in the same way by destroying these leaves, only without the cost of buying chemicals."

Boring said producers who decided to use the chemicals are harvesting now. Around 20 percent of the cotton for the area has been harvested so far.

Jon Zeitler, meteorologist at the National Weather Service Agricultural Service Center in College Station, said moist Gulf air will cause cloudy skies across Texas from Wednesday through the weekend.

"A cold front will move through most of the state on Wednesday, bringing scattered showers and thunderstorms," Zeitler said. "The best chances for rain will be in the High Plains, Low Rolling Plains, and North Central Texas."

He said that rainfall amounts will average from one-quarter to one-half inch, although some locations may receive up to two inches in North Central Texas.

High temperatures over the next five days will range from the 60s in the Panhandle to near 90 in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Lows will vary from the 40s and 50s in the Panhandle to the low 70s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

The following specific livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by district Extension directors:

PANHANDLE: Soil moisture short. Pastures, ranges need rain. Harvesting cotton, sorghum. Peanut harvest complete. Cattle in good condition; supplemental feeding continues.

SOUTH PLAINS: Soil moisture short. Pastures, ranges in good condition. Harvesting cotton, soybeans, sorghum, peanuts. Corn harvest complete. Small grains need moisture.

ROLLING PLAINS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Pastures, ranges improving with moisture. Harvesting cotton, peanuts. Wheat progressing; planting continues. Livestock in good condition; supplemental feeding continues.

NORTH TEXAS: Soil moisture surplus to short. Pastures, ranges in good condition. Harvesting cotton, soybeans, peanuts, sweet potatoes, pecans. Planting oats, wheat. Livestock in good condition.

EAST TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate to surplus. Pastures, ranges in good condition. Harvesting fall vegetables. Oats progressing; good to average yields expected. Cattle in good condition. Spraying peaches for pests.

FAR WEST TEXAS: Soil moisture very short to adequate. Pastures, ranges need rain. Harvesting bell peppers. Preparing to harvest pecans. Onion planting completed. Cutting, baling hay.

WEST CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Pastures, ranges improving with rain. Harvesting cotton, peanuts, pecans. Wheat crop excellent. Livestock in good to fair condition; market low.

CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Rain, sunshine benefiting pastures, ranges. Rain slowing peanut harvest. Pecan in poor to fair condition; yields low. Livestock in good condition.

SOUTHEAST TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Pastures, ranges benefiting from moisture. Harvesting vegetables, pecans, peanuts; some flood loss. Cattle in good to fair condition.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS: Soil moisture surplus to adequate. Pastures, ranges making excellent progress. Harvesting peanuts, cabbage, pecans. Record yields for corn, cotton, vegetables. Livestock in good condition.

COASTAL BEND: Soil moisture adequate. Pastures, ranges improving with rain. Harvesting onions, tomatoes, peppers, soybeans, rice. Replanting wheat, ryegrass. Preparing land for spring crops. Livestock excellent.

SOUTH TEXAS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Pastures, ranges in good condition. Harvesting sugarcane, citrus. Preparing land for planting. Livestock in fair to good condition.

Glider pilots to take talents to world class competition

By PEGGY VLEREBOME
Austin American-Statesman
AUSTIN - If you want to fly like a bird, you have to go where the birds go and learn what makes them soar and glide.

If you're good at it, you can get a bird's-eye view of majestic mountains, shimmering deserts and bucolic cow pastures all over the world from the quiet cockpit of a graceful glider.

About 20,000 Americans pilot the gliders. A small percentage of them do it competitively. Three Texans are good enough to compete with about 100 other pilots from 45 countries in the 24th World Gliding Championships in New Zealand in January.

Ron Tabery of western Travis County, Sherman Griffith of Dallas and Peter Masak of Houston are members of the U.S. Soaring Team. In August, Tabery piloted his 80-foot-wingspan Nimbus 3 to his third national Open Class championship in South Texas.

"I'd like to believe we're the best pilots in the nation, because if you can fly with no motor and can stay up all day and go where you want, that's something," said Tabery, 40, an engineer at Texas Research Institute.

Competition gliding tests skill, endurance, knowledge and instinct - simultaneously and repeatedly. During each day of competition from Jan. 8-21 at Omarama, New Zealand, Tabery and the other pilots will fly 310 to 465 miles.

Tabery will tow the glider in its trailer to California. The glider was to leave Thursday for a 28-day, cargo ship trip to New Zealand. Tabery leaves Austin on Dec. 11.

In addition to their flight skills, American glider pilots also have to be skilled fund-raisers for the biennial world contest, which is considered the Olympics of gliding.

Tabery is seeking corporate sponsorships and individual donations because he still needs at least $4,000 for expenses, which he estimates will be $8,000.

Competition days begin the same way but they have as many endings as there are pilots. Each morning, Tabery and the other pilots will be given maps and coordinates - the longitude and latitude - of several landmarks within the contest area.

The pilots have to fly to each landmark, called a turnpoint, in the order specified and try to finish in less time than anyone else while not losing points for penalties. At home, Tabery practices the skills in flights from an airfield in Briggs, northwest of Austin, where the Fault Line Flyers club is located.

The Open Class is for modified gliders. Tabery said he has spent about 2,000 hours modifying the wings, tail and other features of his glider since he bought it in 1987 for $30,000 from a bank that had repossessed it.

Tabery's glider, identified by the letters SS, is 26 feet long and, like all gliders, is white. "White is cooler, and cooler is stronger," Tabery said. The glider is made of graphite, epoxy and glass.

"You want to be as heavy as you can be," said Tabery, a 1977 University of Texas graduate who soloed when he was 14 and learned gliding from his father. "It makes you go through the air better. It's kind of like a Ping-Pong ball vs. a golf ball or a Frisbee and a paper plate."

The long, narrow wings are so flexible they bow in flight. They are hollow. Before flight, they are filled with 600 pounds of water for ballast. Tabery said that in 1947 his father was the first glider pilot to carry water ballast.

Between launch by a tow plane and landing, Tabery will have plenty to do in the cockpit over New Zealand's South Island.

He'll look for thermals, rising columns of warm air that propel buzzards, hawks and glider pilots upward. A gliding truism from Tabery: "You have to climb to go down." From a good climb, a glider can travel 40 or more miles.

He'll also be on the lookout for cumulus clouds, which are clues to finding thermals, and for hills because air rises up their sides. He'll note the terrain because the air over a cultivated pasture heats - and rises - differently from the air above a forest or a river valley.

He'll sightsee, too, especially after launch before he decides the best moment to fly over the start line and begin the timing of his daily event. In 1989, Tabery's previous world championship competition, the view was memorable.

"In Austria, we were flying down a mountain range," Tabery said. "For a moment I forgot we were racing. There were meadows. I saw a guy and a woman, him in classic German dress. There was laundry on the line. It was like out of The Sound of Music."

ATLANTA (AP) - Major-league baseball star David Justice and his wife, actress Halle Berry, have gone Hollywood - in search of a normal life.

They bought a house in the Hollywood Hills section of Los Angeles, where their neighbors include comedian Jerry Seinfeld and actress Sharon Stone. They go skating at the beach almost every day.

"Believe it or not, you feel like more of a normal person," Justice, the Atlanta Braves outfielder who had made his off-season home in the Atlanta suburb of Sandy Springs, told The Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

Astronauts install seat platform

SPACE CENTER, Texas (AP) - Astronauts installed a platform today for new reclining seats to be used aboard Atlantis next year when the shuttle picks up three passengers from the Russian space station Mir.

Atlantis' next flight after its current 11-day mission is a planned June docking with Russia's orbiting outpost.

The shuttle will carry two cosmonauts to Mir and return with two cosmonauts and U.S. astronaut Norman Thagard. The three are to ride a Russian rocket to the space station in March.

After three months in orbit, Thagard and the cosmonauts will be too weak to return in conventional upright shuttle seats because of space-induced muscle and bone loss. Cosmonauts always return from Mir in a reclining position.

The reclining seats will be installed after Atlantis has docked with the space station.

Today, astronaut Jean-Francois Clervoy fitted a support platform and mounting bracket into the floor of Atlantis' crew compartment. NASA wanted to be sure the hardware fits when shuttle surfaces undergo the structural stress caused by space flight.

"There was no problem at all," Clervoy said. "It was easy."

The next shuttle mission, set for February, is a dress rehearsal for the Mir docking. Discovery and a crew of six, including Russian cosmonaut Vladimir Titov, are to fly within 100 yards of the 130-ton station.

Meanwhile, Atlantis' atmospheric and solar-energy monitors continued their work from the shuttle cargo bay today, along with a tag-along satellite conducting similar research.

By Thursday, infrared telescopes aboard the German satellite had gathered more than 10 million spectra, or atmospheric wavelength images.

Scientists hope information collected during the mission yields clues about the atmosphere's composition, especially the delicate ozone layer, and how the sun's energy affects it.

Astronauts released the $35 million satellite last Friday and were to pluck it from orbit Saturday with the shuttle's robot arm.

Atlantis and its six-member crew are due back in Florida on Monday.

The most wasted day of all is that on which we have not laughed.
