Getting ready for Homecoming

The Hereford High School student council spent Thursday afternoon putting their float together that will be in today's Homecoming Parade along with entries from all over the city. Homecoming activities were scheduled to start at 2 p.m. with the pep rally at which the Homecoming Queen and Homecoming King would be announced. The parade was set for 3 p.m., with pre-game activities at 7 p.m. The game against Pampa will be at 7:30 p.m., with a dance at the high school gymnasium after the game. At top, styrofoam cups spell out the sentiment of the week, while below, students council members, from left, Mari Gamez, Michelle Ochoa, Amanda Padilla and Priscilla Moreno try to form chicken wire in the shape of a football. Helping them were, not pictured, Tina Alcozer, Sonia Gallegos, Deidra Zepeda and Brandy Turnbow.

Analysts say Simpson jury should favor defense team

By MICHAEL FLEEMAN
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) - They look more like his fans than his peers. One juror in the O.J. Simpson trial drives a Pepsi truck. Two others work for the post office. There is an insurance claim adjuster, a flight attendant, a courier, a job counselor, a teacher and an Amtrak manager. About the closest any of the 12 jurors come to being a peer of the millionaire football star and actor is a man who works in quality control for Hertz Corp., the company for which Simpson was a spokesman. Legal analysts said Simpson should be pleased with the panel selected Thursday after a tense, grueling day in which attorneys exercised their peremptory challenges. Fifteen alternates still must be chosen. "I think he's got a great jury," said Southwestern University law professor Robert Pugsley, who, like many experts, defines a great jury as a future hung jury. Eight jurors are women, four are men. Eight are black, one white, one Hispanic and two of mixed race. Their ages range from 22 to 52. Two have college degrees, nine have high school diplomas and one made it through 11th grade with some vocational classes. The racial makeup favors Simpson. Public opinion polls show blacks are more likely than whites to believe Simpson is innocent. The wild card, analysts said, is gender. Prosecutors are expected to introduce evidence that Simpson stalked and beat his ex-wife. "Given the domestic abuse scenario in this case, it remains to be seen how this will play with (the women)," said UCLA law professor Peter Arenella. Only one juror witnessed domestic violence first-hand - a half-white, half American Indian railroad employee who said he saw his father beat his mother and it had a "profound" effect on him. Simpson is accused of murdering his ex-wife Nicole Brown Simpson and her friend Ronald Goldman. Opening arguments probably won't begin until January.

The task of finding 15 alternate jurors begins Tuesday with in-depth questioning of another group of prospects. These selections are considered critical; the expected six-month duration of the trial and the chance of jurors being exposed to media coverage virtually ensures that some jurors will be lost. After the jurors were chosen, Superior Court Judge Lance Ito welcomed them to what he called the "league of judges" and said, "I believe you can rise to the occasion despite the unusual circumstances." But after weeks of media deprivation and questioning by high-powered lawyers - and faced with the prospect of spending several months holed up in a hotel - the jurors looked as if they could barely raise their hands to take the oath. One woman who had repeatedly expressed reservations about sequestration buried her head in her hands. Simpson didn't look much better. After being very involved in the selection process, he appeared dazed and glum when the panel was finally seated. Later, he hugged his attorneys.

Unemployment rate declines to lowest level in four years

WASHINGTON (AP) - America's unemployment rate dropped to a four-year low of 5.8 percent in October. Today's report also showed the average hourly wage posting the biggest gain in 11 years, an increase likely to trigger a new round of interest rate hikes. The Labor Department said nonfarm payrolls posted a moderate 194,000 gain last month, smaller than the 230,000 to 250,000 most economists were expecting. The numbers are adjusted to account for seasonal hiring fluctuations. A figure so far below expectations would normally be calming news on Wall Street. But the report noted also that the average hourly wage was up eight cents, the biggest increase since September 1983.

Bond traders, who worry at the slightest sign of inflation, were likely to react negatively to the increase and the news likely will provide further impetus for the Federal Reserve to raise interest rates. Economists no longer doubt whether the Fed will raise interest rates a sixth time this year. Speculation now centers on when and by how much. The report is the last major piece of economic news before Tuesday's elections. Democrats, expected to suffer sizable losses in Congress, need rosy economic news, like the lower unemployment rate and the higher average hourly wage. But other reports this week have provided indications that inflation could be looming, leaving the Fed with little option but to push up interest rates to calm already jittery investors and to keep the faltering dollar from sliding further. "There have been just too many numbers crying out for the Fed to move," said Robert O. Doderick, chief economist with Northern Trust Co. in Chicago. "The markets would be very disappointed if they didn't." In its monthly appraisal of the nation's industrial health, the National Association of Purchasing Management said Tuesday that U.S. manufacturing posted its 14th straight expansion in October to the best level in nearly seven years. The bad news was that prices rose, bottlenecks grew and shortages surfaced for supplies ranging from wood chips to truck axles.

Mother admits killing children Carjacking tale ends with murders, arrest

By JIM CLARKE
Associated Press Writer
UNION, S.C. (AP) - She spun a heartbreaking tale of being dumped on a lonely road by a carjacker who abducted her two young sons. Her tearful pleas on national television for their return inspired a search from Georgia to Seattle. Now Susan Smith has confessed to killing her sons, according to an arrest warrant. And the nine-day search by authorities and hundreds of volunteers for 3-year-old Michael and 14-month-old Alex ended where their mother's story began: at a local lake. Mrs. Smith's burgundy 1990 Mazda was pulled out of the John D. Long Lake on Thursday night, the bodies of two children in the back seat. She was to be arraigned today on two charges of murder. Union County Sheriff Howard Wells would not take questions at a news conference and did not discuss a possible motive. He said the identity of the bodies would have to be confirmed through an autopsy. The arrest warrant did not say how they died. Police did not say if Mrs. Smith's estranged husband, David, was a suspect. Residents of this mill town who searched and prayed for the children reacted with anger and bitterness. Dozens of people outside the county courthouse gasped and sobbed when the charges were announced. "If you could see the way she acted that night, that's the main thing that gets me," said Rick McCloud Jr., who was at home with his parents on Oct. 25 when Mrs. Smith pounded on their door, crying for help. "Just to think, for a solid week I was defending her. It gets me sick to my stomach." "Is there ever an explanation for murder?" David Smith's grandmother, Sara Singleton of Los Angeles, told KNBC-TV. "Two little innocent children? There is no explanation for murder." Solicitor Thomas Pope said Mrs. Smith's confession led investigators to her car Thursday afternoon. It had been driven off a boat ramp. Divers had searched the lake several times, but the water was too murky to see the car, authorities said. Mrs. Smith, 23, told authorities an armed man jumped into her car at a stoplight in a sparsely populated area at the edge of town near the lake. She said he ordered her to drive several miles, then forced her out and took off with her two sons still strapped in their safety seats. "Our lives have been torn apart by this tragic event," Mrs. Smith said earlier this week, her husband by her side. "I can't express how much they are wanted back home." Police circulated a composite sketch based on Mrs. Smith's description of the alleged kidnapper, and people called in tips from around the country. People in Union staged prayer vigils, hung yellow ribbons and posted pictures of the children. As late as Tuesday, Union County Sheriff Howard Wells said he was treating the case "as a carjacking that happened as it was reported," although investigators were perplexed about how the car and the boys could have disappeared so completely.

Conservative Democrats think about new Speaker

By ALAN FRAM
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Some conservative Democrats are beginning to talk openly about trying to elect one of their own as House speaker in the latest sign of restiveness among the party's rank-and-file lawmakers about their leaders. Conservatives concede their chances of capturing the top House job are slim because most party members are moderate or liberal. But Democrats of all stripes agree that the worse they fare in Tuesday's elections, the stronger the possibility that Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., will be deposed from the top job - assuming he wins his tough re-election fight to Congress. "It's time for us to have more of a voice in the leadership," Rep. Ralph Hall of Texas, one of the House's most conservative Democrats, said Thursday in an interview. Foley, a 15-term veteran, has become a symbol of public discontent with a Congress sometimes perceived as unresponsive. Republicans have tried to make him a campaign issue, telling voters that each House Democrat's first vote in the new Congress will be to re-elect Foley speaker. In recent months, Foley was criticized by reform-minded Democrats for not adequately pushing legislation to change congressional procedures with steps like reducing the number of committees. Privately, some Democratic conservatives say he has opposed their initiatives too often, while some liberals complain that he has let the party drift too far to the right. Many Democrats expect to lose 20 or more House seats next Tuesday. A Republican gain of 40 seats would give the GOP a House majority. Two top House aides, speaking on condition of anonymity, said that if Democratic losses exceed 30 seats, the sentiment to replace Foley would grow. One said that if Democratic losses near or exceed 40, Foley might even decide to not seek his party's top job. "I don't think Mr. Foley has even thought about that prospect," said Foley spokeswoman Robin Webb. "He believes we won't lose the majority in the House, and he definitely plans to run for speaker." Democrats choose their leaders in a private meeting and by secret ballot, and the results can be unpredictable. Hall said that when House Democrats choose their leaders for the 104th Congress, he will nominate fellow Texas conservative Charles Stenholm to be speaker. He conceded, however, that Stenholm "is not the overwhelming favorite." And Stenholm, reached in Texas, said, "I'm honored to have the support of Ralph. Assuming I have my vote, I'm 216 short" of 218 votes, the number needed to elect a speaker in the 435-member House. Stenholm has long said that he wants to be more involved in pushing Congress in a conservative direction, but he is always vague when discussing his role. He and Hall both said that Hall's desire to nominate Stenholm represented a lone effort by Hall, not a coordinated campaign. "We have no organized effort as yet," Stenholm said Thursday. But other potential challengers await Foley. Eleven-term veteran Rep. Charlie Rose, D-N.C., says he will seek the speaker's job if Foley loses his House re-election bid and perhaps if he wins. But Rose is seen as a long shot because he has been fined for failing to report personal loans on financial disclosure forms. Liberal Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., is also considering seeking a top leadership job. Other contenders could also emerge. If Stenholm is not a serious candidate, another conservative might be. Some freshmen from the current Congress who backed reform efforts might also rally behind an alternative to Foley. Should Foley be defeated in his eastern Washington district, Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., would seek the top Democratic job and be the favorite to win it. The moderate Gephardt is popular with all wings of the party. And since the job of majority leader was created in 1899, no sitting leader has lost a bid for the speakership. But, as would be true for Foley, a worse than expected Democratic showing on Election Day could leave party members angry and eager to make a change at the top. Democrats elected to the new Congress will probably choose their leaders Nov. 30, after the House votes on a world trade treaty. The 104th Congress convenes on Jan. 4.

Candidates debate juvenile crime issue

Poll gives Bush lead for first time in campaign

By JEAN PAGEL
Associated Press Writer

ABILENE, Texas (AP) - George W. Bush, trumpeting a theme of "failed leadership" by Democrats, on Thursday accused Gov. Ann Richards of trying to limit the number of violent juveniles the state locks up.

The Republican gubernatorial hopeful said Richards did little to increase the capacity of the Texas Youth Commission during a time when crime was escalating and counties were inundated with offenders.

"She has not led on the juvenile justice issue, and as a result, juvenile crime is more violent, more random and more dangerous than ever before," Bush said to reporters in Dallas before heading for West Texas.

"That's political rhetoric that George Bush has come up with some political consultant, I guess. He was not anywhere around and hasn't been around when juvenile facilities were voted on, the expansion of the TYC was voted on," responded Richards spokesman Bill Cryer.

"While he was talking about (juvenile crime), Ann Richards was doing something about it."

Meanwhile, the results of a new statewide poll showed Bush with a lead over Richards for the first time this campaign.

The Mason-Dixon Poll, paid for and aired Thursday by Houston television station KPRC, showed Bush favored by 48 percent of the 824 registered Texas voters polled. Richards was favored by 44 percent, while 8 percent were undecided.

The telephone survey was conducted by the Mason-Dixon Poll, an independent political research consultant, between Oct. 31 and Nov. 2 has a margin of error of plus or minus 3.5 percentage points.

"It reflects what I see around the state of Texas," Bush said. "I believe that it indicates that I am going to win. ... Polls bounce around, but I believe this reflects the mood of the final week."

But Richards laughed, saying, "I'd be generous about that poll if I could, but it's been discredited by everyone. There's not even a newspaper in Texas that'll pick it up any more."

Mason-Dixon officials did not immediately return telephone calls Thursday night.

Earlier, with his wife, Laura, at his side, Bush appeared after the daily chapel service at Abilene Christian University.

Students applauded the message Bush repeats at every campaign stop: Reform welfare, improve schools and keep government small.

He contends that Texas needs change and that Richards - who polls show is locked in a virtual dead heat - stands for the status quo.

Bush supporters on Thursday released an Oct. 26 letter the campaign says illustrates 'problems with Richards' proposal to cap commitments to TYC.

The letter from the Harris County Juvenile Board was addressed to Jane Wetzel, chairwoman of the Texas Juvenile Probation Commission Board. It describes reduced commitments as unrealistic and borderline irresponsible.

"Further, requiring our juvenile court judges to agree, even tacitly, to take this target into account in their judicial responsibility is unethical," the letter said.

In turn, Cryer released an Oct. 11 memorandum written by TJPC Executive Director Bernard Licarione and TYC Executive Director Steve Robinson.

The letter, sent to local probation departments, emphasized that a commitment target is merely a guideline, not a bed cap. "The targets in no way infringe upon the right of a judge to commit a juvenile to TYC," it states.

The memo also said that because of the local probation departments' successes, "the Texas Youth Commission has been able to increase the minimum length of stay within its facilities. This increase has thus far resulted in a measurable decline in the rate of recidivism of juvenile offenders, thereby increasing public safety," according to the memo.

Bush says he intends to curb juvenile crime through a package that would lower to 14 the age at which juveniles can be tried as adults, and lengthen the minimum TYC sentence to one year for violent offenses. He has said he would add 3,500 new beds for TYC by diverting 1,500 beds now proposed for adult substance abuse and building less expensive jails and detention camps.

Later, Bush greeted in-laws and old friends in Midland, the city where lived he for 23 years.

Perot labels Richards all star, Bush manager of losing team

By PEGGY FIKAC
Associated Press Writer

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) - Dallas billionaire H. Ross Perot dismissed GOP gubernatorial candidate George W. Bush on Thursday as "the manager of a losing baseball team" while praising Democratic Gov. Ann Richards as an "all star."

Richards basked in Perot's praise in his hometown, fresh from a stop in Sherman where she warned that Bush's "ignorance" about welfare could hurt older people who rely on Medicaid for health care.

"The thing I love about Ann Richards, she's an absolute independent," Perot told a crowd of about 100 who gathered in front of a cafeteria.

"She is a Democrat, but when the interests of Texas are involved, believe me, the White House knows she won't bend, she won't buckle."

Meanwhile, the results of a new statewide poll showed Bush with a lead over Richards for the first time this campaign.

The Mason-Dixon Poll, paid for and aired Thursday by Houston television station KPRC, showed Bush favored by 48 percent of the 824 registered Texas voters polled. Richards was favored by 44 percent, while 8 percent were undecided.

The telephone survey was conducted by the Mason-Dixon Poll, an independent political research consultant, between Oct. 31 and Nov. 2 has a margin of error of plus or minus 3.5 percentage points.

"I believe that it indicates that I am going to win. ... Polls bounce around, but I believe this reflects the mood of the final week," Bush said.

Perot, who ran as an independent presidential candidate against Bush's father in 1992, praised Richards' record on the economy, job creation and education.

"We are limited to two choices for governor of Texas. The person I just described and another fine young man. Let's look at his total business experience. He has been the manager of a losing baseball team. Believe me, folks, running a $35 billion a year business is not a sport but if you're looking for a Texas all star, you've got her right here," Perot said.

Richards began the day at a rally in Sherman, in Grayson County, which Perot carried two years ago.

Her mother, Ona Willis, 84, has been hospitalized in Austin in recent days for tests, Richards aides said.

But Richards laughed, saying, "I'd be generous about that poll if I could, but it's been discredited by everyone. There's not even a newspaper in Texas that'll pick it up any more."

Besides Perot's help on the campaign trail, Richards also got the endorsement of former Houston Oilers coach Bum Phillips at a rally in his hometown of Orange.

"If you've got a good quarterback ... you damn sure don't take him out and put in a little rookie free agent that ain't never played in a game," Phillips said.

Richards said of Perot and Phillips, "I'm real proud to have the endorsement of two people like that who are the real thing."

Perot is paying for radio and newspaper advertisements featuring his endorsement of Richards, said campaign spokesman Chuck McDonald, who estimated the cost at about $100,000. The campaign also will begin airing a Perot television commercial, he said.

High court turns down rehearing

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Supreme Court has rejected a motion for rehearing in a case in which a government whistleblower is trying to make the state pay him a multimillion-dollar court judgment.

The routine Supreme Court action on Thursday followed its September decision that the state comptroller would not have to pay George Green.

Green, 46, said he was unhappy with the court's decision.

"I'm at the point as a citizen that I want to get on the highest mountain in Texas and scream there is no justice for the simple, little people of Texas," he said.

"It's a sad day for all Texans who try and do the right thing," he said.

Green was awarded $13.6 million in a lawsuit against the Texas Department of Human Services, but so far has been unable to collect.

Green was a DHS architect when he told his supervisors about alleged kickbacks and other violations and then threatened to go to law enforcement authorities.

But DHS investigated him and alleged he made a questionable 13-cent telephone call and missed a physical therapy session when on sick leave, according to court documents.

He was fired by the agency in 1989 and later indicted, but the charges were dismissed.

Green alleged the firing and charges were in retaliation for his threat to tell authorities about his allegations.

He sued the state under the Texas Whistleblowers Act, which gives safeguards to government employees who report wrongdoing.

A Travis County jury awarded him $13.6 million, which with interest has since grown to more than $18 million.

State Attorney General Dan Morales' offices says the Legislature, which doesn't meet until January, must approve the expenditure before Green gets his money.

Spikers set for playoff vs. Loboes

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

For the first time in this decade, the Hereford volleyball team won't start the playoffs with Lamesa. Instead, because of realignment, Hereford (26-6) got a first round bye and gets Monahans at 6 p.m. Saturday at Monterey High School in Lubbock.

Monahans (19-12) is the champion of District 4-4A. The Lady Loboes defeated El Paso High, 15-5, 15-7, in a bi-district match Tuesday.

Hereford has seen Monahans a few times before. The Lady Whitefaces took a 15-8, 15-5 win over the Loboes in the second round of last year's playoffs. More recently, Hereford beat them 15-2, 15-2 in the first round of the San Angelo Invitational Tournament Sept. 2. Hereford went on to win that tournament.

Monahans has improved in the last two months, Herd coach Brenda Reeh said, particularly recently. Monahans lost three district matches, but all the losses came in the first round of double round robin, she said. Through the coaching grapevine, Reeh has heard that they're "playing much better than they did in the early round."

Recently, Monahans beat Seminole, a Class 3A playoff team, in a non-district match.

"Seminole's a real good team," Reeh said. "I know Monahans must be playing well to be able to beat a team like Seminole."

Reeh was able to acquire a video tape of a Monahans-Levelland match.

"Their main hitter is a girl named Jamie Franks," Reeh said, adding she hits a variety of angles well. "She plays the middle, and she their main go-to girl when she's on the front row. They've also got a couple of kids who are pretty good passers. We'll have to serve away from them."

"They put up a single block in the middle so hopefully our middles will be able to take advantage of that," Reeh continued, saying that the Lady Whitefaces are taller than the Loboes. "Our outside hitters will try to hit over and around their smaller outside blockers."

The Lady Whitefaces are feeling no ill effects from their loss to rival Dumas in a district seeding match Tuesday, Reeh said.

"We had one of the best practices of the year (Wednesday)," she said. "We spent a lot of time on fundamentals. When you get on shaky ground with morale or with your confidence, it helps to go back to fundamentals. We were really very competitive and very intense in workouts. I think the kids are hungry to play well and hungry to go out and beat up on some teams."

Monterey High School, at 3211 47th St. in Lubbock, will host two District 1-4A teams Saturday, as Dumas (23-6) takes on Andrews (21-13) at 3 p.m.

The winner between Hereford and Monahans will next play the winner between Granbury (21-6) and Sherman (19-8), while the winner between Dumas and Andrews will take on either Cleburne (15-6) or Burkburnett (15-8).

A.J. Foyt quit school in the 10th grade to become a full-time auto racing driver.

1994 Hereford volleyball team

Bucks ink Big Dog for big bucks

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Glenn Robinson agreed to terms with the Milwaukee Bucks Thursday after relinquishing his goal of becoming the first $100 million athlete in professional sports.

Robinson, the top pick in the NBA draft, agreed to a 10-year, fully guaranteed deal worth approximately $68 million. The pact contains no incentive or "out" clauses or performance goals.

It is the biggest guaranteed deal ever signed by an NBA rookie. Jason Kidd, the second pick in the draft, signed a nine-year, $54 million contract with the Dallas Mavericks with all but a portion of the final year guaranteed.

"Both sides won," said team owner Herb Kohl, a U.S. senator up for re-election Tuesday. "Glenn Robinson has now got a pro career underway in a city that he wanted to play in with a very nice 10-year contract fully guaranteed. And for the Milwaukee Bucks, it's wonderful to sign the No. 1 pick."

Asked how the deal was reached after months of gridlock, Kohl said, "The season starts tomorrow. Glenn Robinson's a basketball player. He wants to play basketball."

Kohl said he entered the negotiations for the first time Wednesday and the deal was closed at 2 a.m. Thursday.

Robinson, 21, who led the nation in scoring with a 30.3 average as a junior at Purdue last year, underwent a physical in Milwaukee Thursday afternoon before going to sign the contract.

Neither he nor his agent, Charles Tucker, were available for comment. The team planned no news conference.

Robinson was expected to be in uniform for the Bucks' season opener at Philadelphia Friday night, but Milwaukee coach Mike Dunleavy said it was doubtful he would play against the 76ers or against the Los Angeles Lakers at home the following night.

"We have four days off after we play those first two games," Dunleavy said. "I think he'll be ready to play some ball by then for sure. This weekend, I would say possibly limited time or no time."

The Bucks travel to Cleveland Thursday.

The agreement ended a bitter dispute that involved caustic comments by both sides. They appeared no closer to an agreement Wednesday when Tucker said the Bucks were portraying his client as a "greedy little black athlete," when the club went public with its contract offer last month.

JV football squad falls to Harvesters

The Hereford junior varsity football team dropped a 24-6 decision to Pampa's JV Thursday in Pampa.

"We probably didn't play as well as we'd like to, on offense and defense," Herd coach Craig Yenzen said, "and Pampa, to their credit, had a good ballclub. Consequently, it was one of those nights."

Dwayne Thomas scored Hereford's only points on a three-yard run early in the fourth quarter to make Pampa's lead 18-6. A pass for two points fell incomplete.

The key point of the game came earlier, Yenzen said, when Hereford drove the ball down to the Pampa seven-yard line but couldn't score. Pampa led only 12-0 at the time.

Hereford's freshman and sophomore teams also played Thursday. In Hereford, the Herd freshman team fell to Pampa's freshmen 32-30. In Amarillo, the Herd sophomores lost to the undefeated Amarillo High sophomores 64-0.

In the freshman game, Rodney Gomez caught four touchdown passes from Jeremy Urbanczyk, but it wasn't enough.

Gomez caught TD pass of 35 and 40 yards in the first quarter. He also caught a pass from Urbanczyk for a two-point conversion, and Anthony Lopez ran for another two points.

Hereford led 16-12 at halftime, but Pampa came back with two third-quarter scores to take a 26-16 lead.

The game's final two minutes were exciting, as 20 points were scored. Gomez caught a 20-yard TD pass from Urbanczyk with 1:48 left, but a pass for two failed and Pampa led 26-22. Hereford tried an onside kick, but it didn't work, then the Pampa fullback ran 35 yards untouched for the score. The kick failed; Pampa led 32-22.

Hereford went back down and Gomez caught a 25-yard TD pass.

Basketball scrimmages set to begin next week

High school basketball season is nearly here, and the Hereford boys' and girls' teams will get ready with scrimmages next week.

The first is Monday, when the girls host Floydada. A mixture of freshmen and junior varsity players will start at 5 p.m., then the varsity will scrimmage at about 6:30.

The Lady Whitefaces' second scrimmage will be Saturday, Nov. 12, but it may be called off if the volleyball team is still in the playoffs.

The boys' first scrimmage will be at 5 p.m. Tuesday at Amarillo High School. Next, on Saturday, Nov. 12, the Herd boys will host Dalhart and Muleshoe at 10 a.m. at Whiteface Gym.

Both teams return several experienced players. The girls' team will welcome back four starters—Mindi Davis, Brittney Binder, Heather Hodges and Tarabeth Holmes—and two other letterwinners, Danielle Cornelius and Kari Barrett.

The boys return full-time starter Benton Buckley and part-time starter Ashley Noland, as well as four other lettermen: Cody Marion, Michael Brown, Terance High and Isaac Walker.

NBA season to start without Barkley

By WENDY E. LANE
AP Sports Writer

Other players just get tendinitis or muscle strains. Charles Barkley gets body lotion in his eyes at an Eric Clapton concert.

Of the myriad injuries sidelining a number of the NBA's notables when the season opens tonight, Barkley's is without doubt the most unusual.

But however improbable, Barkley will be on the sidelines when the Phoenix Suns play at Sacramento. He burned his corneas after inadvertently rubbing his eyes with lotion-covered hands.

"I never really had any vision loss," said Barkley, who would have missed the game with an abdominal strain anyway. "It's just that my eyes were on fire."

The NBA opens its season with 12 games, including Portland and the Los Angeles Clippers in Japan. The Houston Rockets get their championship rings in a ceremony before their game with New Jersey, Golden State is at San Antonio, Minnesota plays at Denver and Miami visits Utah.

New York visits Boston, Milwaukee is at Philadelphia, Orlando is at Washington, Indiana plays at Atlanta, the Los Angeles Lakers are at Detroit and Charlotte visits Atlanta.

In addition to Barkley, Chris Mullin, Chris Webber, Dennis Rodman, Alonzo Mourning, Roy Tarpley and Brad Daugherty will all be missing tonight, but Glenn Robinson won't be after agreeing to a 10-year contract with the Milwaukee Bucks.

After weeks of often-bitter negotiations, Robinson agreed to a contract believed to be worth between $68 million and $70.5 million, all guaranteed.

Mullin, a five-time all-star for Golden State who has missed large parts of the last two seasons with injuries, is sidelined once again, this time with a fractured left kneecap. He is to miss six to eight weeks.

Webber, last season's rookie of the year, hasn't re-signed with Golden State after becoming a restricted free agent one year after signing a 15-year, $74.4 million deal.

Rodman, who led the league in rebounding last year, has been suspended for three games by San Antonio for refusing to play by team rules. Mourning, Daugherty and Tarpley are all hurt.

The Charlotte Hornets now say Larry Johnson, who has a foot injury, is expected to play in their opener at Chicago. But Mourning, hampered by a sore big toe, won't play tonight or in Saturday's home opener against the Cavaliers, Charlotte coach Allan Bristow said.

Rodman was ejected from an exhibition game last week after throwing ice in the direction of coach Bob Hill and an official. That plus other transgressions prompted new general manager Gregg Popovich to get tough.

The Spurs want to start their season distraction free, even if it means doing without Rodman, who last year averaged 17.3 rebounds.

"It's a big loss for us, but it's a team decision, and we're just going to play through it," center David Robinson said. "Everybody's pretty much tired of hearing questions about Dennis."

Tarpley, attempting a comeback after three seasons in exile because of drug violations, isn't ready to come back just yet. The 7-foot center will start the season on the injured list with bursitis in his left knee.

Daugherty, an eight-year pro and five-time all-star, is out of Cleveland's lineup indefinitely with two herniated disks in his lower back. After missing the last 29 regular-season games and all of the playoffs with back problems, Daugherty aggravated the injury in September when he bent over to pick up a sneaker.

The Los Angeles Clippers, opening their season in Japan against Portland, will be without guard Gary Grant, out with a strained left knee, and center Stanley Roberts, who underwent surgery to repair a torn left Achilles tendon.

Cowboys' Smith watches 4th rushing title run away

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Emmitt Smith sees his fourth consecutive rushing title starting to run away from him on the fleet feet of Barry Sanders.

"I never say never but the first half of the season was very difficult and it's probably going to get harder," Smith said. "All the defenses we play are keyed to stop the run. They are trying to shut it down and sometimes they do. But we're still winning ball games."

The defending Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys have rolled to a 7-1 start, best in the NFL along with San Diego, but Smith has drifted 287 yards behind Detroit's Sanders in the battle for the coveted rushing title.

Sanders has 1,035 yards to 748 yards for Smith, who is seeking to become the only runner besides Jim Brown to win the title four consecutive seasons.

"I think even more than in the past teams are looking to stop the run,"

Smith. "They are selling out to get that done."

"Am I the only guy in the league teams are out to stop? Everybody else seems to have an easier go. Maybe it's a compliment. I don't know whether to pat myself on the back or be mad about it."

Smith quickly pointed out he didn't want to be construed as whining.

"I'm happy we're winning," Smith said. "I'm having a pretty good season but it's not what people are used to seeing. I'm not giving up on the title. Anything's possible."

Smith meets the New York Giants on Monday Night Football and he had two big days against them in 1993. After gaining 117 yards in the first game, Smith, playing with a separated shoulder, gained 168 yards on 32 carries in an overtime win that gave Dallas the NFC East championship.

"This might be one of those years I'll be happy to get a grand (1,000 yards)," Smith said. "It's been a little frustrating. I'm struggling a little."

Francis fined for hit on Aikman

NEW YORK (AP) - James Francis of the Cincinnati Bengals has been fined $12,500 for his late hit on quarterback Troy Aikman of Dallas last Sunday.

League officials also confirmed that Donald Evans of the New York Jets had been fined $10,000 for an altercation with referee Bernie Kukar.

Francis drew a 15-yard penalty that eventually led to a Dallas touchdown in the Cowboys' 23-20 victory over the Bengals for hitting Aikman between the shoulder pads and the jaw after the quarterback released the ball. A week earlier, Aikman had been forced from Dallas' game with Arizona with a concussion, the sixth of his career.

Evans was fined for putting his hands on Kukar after protesting an offside call against him. Kukar said he was trying to separate Evans and a member of the Indianapolis Colts with whom he was arguing.

Because it involved an official, the fine against Evans was levied by commissioner Paul Tagliabue.

Parcells leads Patriots vs. Belichick's Browns

By The Associated Press

In 1990, they designed a defense to stop the overpowering San Francisco 49ers and unstoppable Buffalo Bills. It worked, and the coaching Bills - head man Parcells and defensive coordinator Belichick - led the New York Giants to the Super Bowl title.

Then they split. Parcells retired, only to return to the sidelines in 1993 as coach of the New England Patriots. Belichick was hired in 1991 as head man with the Cleveland Browns.

On Sunday, in a pivotal game for both teams, the Belichick and Parcells will be together again, if on opposite sides of the Cleveland Stadium field. "I'd do whatever I could for Bill - but not this week," Belichick said. "We've talked about our teams at different points during the year, about common opponents, things like that. But I'm not interested in helping him this week, and I'm sure he's not interested in helping me."

The Browns (6-2) are headed toward the difficult part of their schedule and can't afford to stumble against the Patriots (3-5), losers of three straight. Cleveland has built its record with victories against losing teams, and, despite Parcells' presence, that's what New England is.

Taking center stage for Cleveland will be Mark Rypien, replacing Vinny Testaverde (concussion) at quarterback. Rypien was with Washington when the Bills were in New York.

"When coach Parcells and coach Belichick were in New York and I was in Washington, they always wanted to keep the play in front of them," Rypien said. "They drop a lot more guys."

Actually, the Patriots have developed into a strong passing team with virtually no running game and a weak defense, hardly what's expected from Parcells.

"We have thrown an inordinate amount of time," Parcells said. "Generally speaking we've done a decent job moving the ball. We've just turned the ball over an inordinate number of times, and when you do that, it's the most significant statistic in football."

FOOTBALL

then Urbanczyk hit Lopez for two points. Pampa led 32-30 with 59 seconds left.

Hereford stopped Pampa and got the ball back with seven seconds left, but two long passes fell incomplete. A third desperation pass, made possible by a defensive penalty, was intercepted by Pampa.

The Hereford Junior High football teams closed the season Tuesday with three wins and a tie in eight games. Following are results of the game for each HJH team, with final record in parentheses.

Seventh grade White A (5-1): beat Pampa 16-6 in Hereford. John Paul Cardenas caught a 58-yard TD pass from Matt Lusk and L.J. Vallejo ran 10 yards for another TD. Vallejo and Andrew Ramirez each ran for two-point conversions. James Miller and Trey Barnett each intercepted passes.

Seventh White B (2-3-2): lost to Pampa 28-6 in Hereford. Chris Diller's 15-yard run provided Hereford's points.

Seventh Maroon A (4-2): beat Dumas 28-6 in Dumas. Nick Whaley scored on a 80-yard kickoff return and on runs of 30 and 25 yards—plus he ran for a two-point conversion. Seth Pietsek had the other TD, on a 10-yard run, plus he ran for two points. Pietsek and Steven Northern each had interceptions—Northern returned his 65 yards. Eric Guzman contributed with two fumble recoveries.

Seventh Maroon B (3-3-1): tied Dumas 6-6 at Dumas. Hereford's score came on a 50-yard pass from Daniel Carnahan to Julian Garcia.

Eighth Maroon A (2-4): lost to Dumas 24-14 in Hereford. Mark Rodriguez had a 78-yard TD run, and Mitch Wagner added a 15-yard TD run. Thomas Suarez hit Jason Foster with a pass for two points.

Eighth Maroon B (3-2-1): beat Dumas 20-12 in Dumas. Damon Frazier had TD runs of 60 and 10 yards. Shane Decker threw a 42-yard TD pass to Brian Matthews, and Decker ran for two.

Eighth White A (1-5): lost to Pampa 30-8 in Pampa. Jeremy Dominguez scored on a 40-yard fumble return, and Chris Torres ran for the two-point conversion.

Eighth White B (1-5): lost to Pampa 22-6 in Pampa. Tyrone Glover scored on a 35-yard run.

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am 64 and started menopause at 50, with no symptoms other than the end of periods. Recently, I had recurring urinary bladder infections. I was referred to a urologist. He said my urethra was atrophied because of estrogen lack. He prescribed Premarin cream. I find application and need to clean the applicator a nuisance. Would taking the estrogen orally be more or less effective? —J.L.

ANSWER: You should be able to switch to pills. If the urologist hesitates, have your own doctor confer with him.

At 64, some genital dryness is expected. In the early menopause years, waning hormone supply may remain sufficient to keep genital and nearby structures supple to a degree. For others, as estrogen production falters further, symptoms of dryness and thinning — atrophy — might also occur in places other than the vagina, such as the urethra, the urinary bladder's outlet tube. Symptoms also might include increased urinary frequency, urgency and pain. In addition, the shriveled urethra lining becomes a setting for potential urinary-tract infections.

The body's natural estrogen normally keeps those structures supple. When it's gone, we have vaginal creams to restore health to the vagina and nearby structures. However, the hormone in pill form and skin-patch forms are effective options.

The hormone cream mostly limits its effect to where it is applied and to neighboring tissue. In fact, only a small amount of the applied hormone gets into the blood.

The oral pills and the skin patches have a more systemic — generalized — effect, including a salubrious effect on weakening bones along with the specific desired targets — in your case, the vagina and urethra. With the pill or patch forms of estrogen delivery, you should anticipate a return of monthly periods.

Cider is the fermented or partially fermented juice of apples.

Terminally ill patients shouldn't be forced-fed

By BRENDA C. COLEMAN
AP Medical Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Terminally ill people shouldn't be given food and water artificially if they don't want it because it may only heighten their discomfort, researchers say.

Starving seems to ease such patients' deaths because dehydration lessens consciousness, promotes sleepiness and diminishes pain, the researchers said.

Such patients usually want very little nourishment in their final months.

"Patients terminally ill with cancer generally did not experience hunger, and those who did needed only small amounts of food for alleviation," the researchers said in Wednesday's issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association.

Previous studies reflect similar observations, but they run counter to the behavior of many doctors and families, said the lead author, Dr. Robert M. McCann.

"There's that whole thing of food as love. That type of emphasis is really misplaced in people who are dying," said McCann, head of geriatrics at Rochester General Hospital in Rochester, N.Y. "Families of the dying — they don't know what to do sometimes. So this (artificial feeding) is what they do."

The study involved 32 patients. All expressed a desire not to be fed or given liquids through tubes. They were allowed anything they wanted to eat and drink, including food brought by families.

"They lost their appetite. They didn't want to eat anymore," said Dr. Annmarie Groth-Juncker, a co-author who has cared for the terminally ill. "It didn't feel good to them anymore, or a little bit (of food), and they felt satiated."

People dying of other diseases, including Alzheimer's, have the same experience, said Ms. Groth-Juncker, medical director at St. John's Home, a nursing home in Rochester where the research was done.

Almost everyone studied consumed less than 25 percent of the food or fluids needed for basic nutritional requirements. Those who reported thirst or dry mouths sucked ice chips or hard candy and sipped liquids in far smaller quantities than needed to prevent dehydration, the researchers said.

"This is, of course, how people have always died, before there were hospitals with IVs and feeding tubes," Ms. Groth-Juncker said.

Richard Doerflinger, a spokesman for the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, said the bishops agree with the view of the researchers, as long as no food or fluid is withheld to hasten a death.

"It can be good medicine and good morality to forgo artificial feeding, when it can only impose additional burdens on a patient who is imminently dying from a progressive terminal illness," he said.

The part of South America known as Patagonia gets its name from a Spanish word that means big feet. The Indians who lived there when the Spaniards arrived were tall and wore large boots stuffed with grass.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

HEAVE OFFERINGS

A MOST IMPORTANT PART OF THE ANCIENT ISRAELITES' WORSHIP OF GOD WAS THE SACRIFICIAL OFFERING TO THE LORD. THE HEAVE OFFERING (THAT IS, THE PART TAKEN AWAY FROM A LARGER MASS AND SET ASIDE FOR JEHOVAH) SUCH AS THE RIGHT SHOULDER OF A LAMB BECAME, WHEN THE SACRIFICIAL CEREMONIES WERE OVER, THE PERQUISITE OF THE PRIEST CONDUCTING THE CEREMONY AND WAS EATEN BY HIM IN THE PRECINCTS OF THE SANCTUARY (NUM. 18:9-10; C.F. LEV. 6:16). ONCE HAVING LEARNED THIS, WE CAN UNDERSTAND THE DOUBLE SIGNIFICANCE TO CERTAIN ACTS RELATED IN THE SCRIPTURES. SAMUEL, THE PROPHET, WHEN HE INVITED SAUL TO EAT WITH HIM AND OTHERS AT A "HIGH PLACE" (A SHRINE OF WORSHIP) AND, AT SAMUEL'S DIRECTION, THE COOK SERVED SAUL THE SHOULDER OF MEAT, SIGNIFYING SAUL'S IMPORTANCE TO THE OTHER GUESTS, WHO DIDN'T KNOW THEN THAT HE WOULD SOON BE THE FIRST KING OF ISRAEL! (1 SAM. 9:15-24)

AND NOW SAMUEL SETS THE SUCULENT SHOULDER SECTION, USUALLY SERVED TO HIGH PRIESTS, BEFORE THE AMAZED SAUL...

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Bob Dylan's companion of nearly 20 years is suing him more than $5 million, saying she co-wrote his music and helped manage his career before they broke up last year.

Ruth Tyngiel "devoted all aspects of her life to (Dylan's) needs, interest and well-being," she claimed in a lawsuit filed Wednesday.

Tyngiel said that she allowed the singer and songwriter "to hold her out and she also held herself out as his wife," and that he promised to split his property with her in the event of death or separation.

The relationship began in 1974 and ended in 1993, the lawsuit said.

Tyngiel wants a monthly stipend, half of Dylan's still-undetermined assets and $5 million in damages.

The Newspaper BIBLE HE OCCUPIES THE THRONE OF HIGHEST HONOR

"King David quoted Jesus as saying: 'I know the Lord is always with Me. He is helping Me. God's mighty power supports Me.'
"No wonder My heart is filled with joy and My tongue shouts His praises! For I know all will be well with Me in death—You will not leave My soul in hell or let the body of Your Holy Son decay. You will give Me back My life, and give Me wonderful joy in Your presence."
"Dear brothers, think! David wasn't referring to himself when he spoke these words I have quoted, for he died and was buried, and his tomb is still here among us! But he was a prophet, and knew God had promised with an unbreakable oath that one of David's own descendants would be the Messiah and sit on David's throne."
"David was looking far into the future and predicting the Messiah's resurrection, and saying that the Messiah's soul would not be left in hell and His body would not decay."
"He was speaking of Jesus, and we all are witnesses that Jesus rose from the dead. And now He sits on the throne of the highest honor in heaven, next to God. And just as promised, the Father has sent the Holy Spirit—with the results you are seeing and hearing today."
"No, David was not speaking of himself in these words of his I have quoted, for he never ascended into the skies. Moreover, he further stated, 'God spoke to my Lord, the Messiah, and said to Him, Sit here in honor beside Me until I bring Your enemies into complete subjection.'
"Therefore I clearly state to everyone in Israel that God has made this Jesus you crucified to be the Lord, the Messiah!"
Acts 2:25-36

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.
This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Groups issue scorecards tracking candidate records

By MICHELLE MITTELSTADT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Interest groups running the gamut from the American Civil Liberties Union to the Christian Coalition are issuing congressional voting scorecards to help voters decide which lever to pull on Election Day.

The scorecards, which track specific votes taken during the 103rd Congress, generally give members of Congress scores from 0 to 100.

High scores are obviously prized by lawmakers, who crank out glowing press releases to tout their credentials as defenders of the federal purse strings, supporters of family values or protectors of the environment.

There won't be any ratings praising members of Congress for their liberal track records, however.

In a year when the word liberal is anathema to the re-election hopes of many Democratic incumbents, one venerable liberal scorecard will remain on the sidelines until after Election Day.

Americans for Democratic Action, founded in 1947 by a group of liberal Democrats, has decided to delay release of its scorecard until after Election Day. One official said the organization found itself between "a brick and a hard place" after some Democrats begged the group not to issue its ratings until after the election.

The AFL-CIO, which found itself in disagreement with many congressional Democrats last year over NAFTA, won't put out its scorecard until December. The ACLU scorecard was due later this week.

So, that leaves the bulk of prominent scorecards issued by conservative groups such as the Christian Coalition, the American Conservative Union and the League of Private Property Voters. Some Texans managed to rack up perfect scores with those groups.

The Christian Coalition, which this weekend is issuing 33 million voter guides to religious conservative voters, bestowed perfect scores on five Texas Republicans and one Democrat.

The coalition, an offspring of religious broadcaster Pat Robertson's 1988 presidential campaign, tracked votes on issues such as gays in the military, banning immigrants with AIDS, homosexuality, abortion and the Clinton budget.

The six Texas House members whose positions were in agreement with the Christian Coalition and who received perfect scores are Democrat Charles Stenholm of Stamford and Republicans Sam Johnson of Dallas, Bill Archer of Houston, Jack Fields of Humble, Tom DeLay of Sugar Land and Dick Army of Lewisville.

Where those six fared well on the Christian Coalition report card, they scored poorly with the League of Conservation Voters.

The league tracked votes on environmental issues such as safe drinking water, cleaning up toxic substances at military bases, the California Desert Protection Act, offshore oil drilling and renewable energy.

No Texans received a perfect score from the environmental league. Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, came closest with an 85.

Lawmakers who fared poorly on the League of Conservation Voters' scorecard were likely to do well when measured by the yardstick of the League of Private Property Voters. Private-property rights became an explosive issue in Texas this year - largely as a result of fights over the Endangered Species Act in various parts of the state.

The private-property group examined votes on issues such as grazing, mining royalties, private land acquisition and the California Desert Protection Act. The group handed out five perfect scores - to Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, R-Texas, Republican Rep. Larry Combest of Lubbock, Johnson, DeLay and Army.

German satellite flies after Atlantis launch

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - A rookie astronaut gently released a telescope-laden German satellite from shuttle Atlantis today for eight days of free-flying atmospheric research.

French crew member Jean-Francois Clervoy, on his first spaceflight, hoisted the 3,000-pound satellite from the shuttle cargo bay with the 50-foot robot arm. He held it high overhead while ground controllers completed final checks.

Then, as the shuttle flew 190 miles above northern Europe, Clervoy set the satellite free and commander Donald McMonagle slowly backed Atlantis away. The German space agency's white and gold-colored craft drifted into its own orbit against a backdrop of bright blue Earth and pitch black space.

"That was an outstanding deploy," Mission Control told the crew.

Release and retrieval of the satellite is one of the astronauts' chief jobs during the 11-day mission that began Thursday.

To avoid contamination from shuttle exhaust, the satellite must fly free during its observations and will trail Atlantis by up to about 70 miles until astronaut Ellen Ochoa plucks it from orbit late next week.

The $35 million satellite is carrying three infrared telescopes and other instruments designed to create a three-dimensional map of the flow of gases in Earth's middle atmosphere, an area from 7 to 17 miles up.

Physicists hope to gather the first global information about medium- and small-scale disturbances in the middle atmosphere.

Lions donations

The Hereford Lions Club on Wednesday presented donations to several local groups at the club's regular meeting. At right, Lanny Wheeler of King's Manor accepts a $300 check from club president Carey Black for the Founder's Association. Below, Lions District 2-T1 Governor Sid Shaw accepts donations of $750 for the Boy's Ranch Boots and Suit fund and $500 for the Girl's Town Coat and Shoe fund. In addition, the club gave $400 to the Christmas Stocking Fund and $20 to the Boy Scouts.

Drinking water testing conducted near Pantex

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - State environmental officials are testing for drinking-water contamination in the wells of farms near the Pantex nuclear weapons plant.

Earlier tests of two monitoring wells on the 16,000-acre nuclear weapons plant near Amarillo showed unsafe levels of nitrates in the Ogallala aquifer.

Bradley Jones, regional manager for the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission, expressed regret Thursday for not informing area residents sooner about the contamination.

"This is our first indication that somehow, somewhere there is some contamination," Jones told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Water samples collected March 29 by the conservation commission showed a nitrate level slightly above standards set by the Safe Drinking Water Act, Jones said.

A monitoring well tested June 29 by the Bureau of Economic Geology, the state's geologic survey, had a nitrate level more than five times the safe drinking water standard, Jones said.

In mid-September, new samples analyzed by Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Co., the contractor that operates Pantex, confirmed the earlier findings, Jones said.

Nitrates have been linked to gastric cancer and can lead to a lack of oxygen in newborns.

Traces of explosive chemicals, including TNT, were also found in the water samples taken from an area near where World War II munitions were manufactured.

The latest contamination was found about three miles from water wells that provide part of Amarillo's water supply.

The Ogallala aquifer is a vast underground water formation stretching from Lubbock to Grand Rapids, N.D.

Because the water migrates through sand at about 200 feet a year, environmental engineers say there is time to verify the contamination and check its spread.

To the Independent Voters of Texas:

NEXT TUESDAY I URGE YOU TO VOTE FOR ANN RICHARDS FOR GOVERNOR OF TEXAS.

Governor Richards is clearly the most qualified candidate.

She is one of the greatest governors in the history of Texas.

She is smart, tough, and principled.

Ann Richards is NOT FOR SALE AT ANY PRICE.

Ann Richards is a true independent. She listens to the people of Texas, and does not hesitate to disagree with the Democratic Party, or the President of the United States when the interests of the people of Texas are involved. Washington understands that you DON'T MESS WITH TEXAS with Ann Richards as Governor.

When Governor Richards took office, the Texas economy was in a slump.

- Texas was facing a six billion dollar budget shortfall.
- Today, three and one-half years later, Texas has a 2.2 billion dollar surplus.

Governor Richards works night and day to build and improve Texas.

- She has traveled all over the United States, urging companies to move to Texas.
- The jobs are pouring in.
- For the past three years, Texas has created more private sector jobs than any other state.
- Here's one for the Guinness Book of Records -- Last year Texas created more new jobs than California, Florida and New York combined.

Governor Richards is a former school teacher. She is focused on improving the Texas education system. The result is that SAT scores are the highest they have been in fourteen years, and the drop-out rate is at an all time low.

HOW'S THAT FOR RESULTS!

Governor Ann Richards obviously knows how to run this thirty-five billion dollar a year business we call Texas. She knows how to get people from all different walks of life to work together as a team to prepare Texas for the 21st Century.

NEVER FORGET, THE STATE OF TEXAS IS BIG BUSINESS -- NOT A SPORT.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS ARE A LOT TALK -- BUT THE WINNER MUST KNOW HOW TO GET RESULTS!

When you go to the polling booth next Tuesday, it is your turn at bat. Drive one out of the park for Texas -- vote for a proven, all-star player who has been knocking the ball out of the park for the people of Texas.

Ann Richards has earned our vote. We need more people like her in public office.

Texas has a great future. Why put it at risk?

As you think about who to vote for next Tuesday, remember that you own this thirty-five billion dollar a year business. You are getting ready to hire somebody to run Texas. The choice is clear.

Hire the person with a proven record of performance in running this massive operation -- ANN RICHARDS.

Sincerely,
