PSF seeking 'right attitude and right mix'

PSF officials welcomed to Hereford

Industry and business leaders in Hereford welcomed two representatives from Premium Standard Farms to the city during a reception and dinner Monday night. Shown visiting, left to right, are Brian Paulsen of PSF; Scott Keeling; Charlie Arnot of PSF; James McDowell and Dennis Printz. The company is studying potential sites for a pork processing facility. Another welcome sign, in columns to right, was a billboard placed on North US-385 by Hereford Economic Development Corporation.

Premium Standard Farms is looking for "the right attitude and the right mix" in the community selected for locating a $65 million pork processing facility, a PSF official told industry and business leaders at an informal reception and dinner here Monday night.

Charlie Arnot, PSF director of communications, education and training, said Hereford had extended "a warm and fantastic welcome" to the company. With him on the tour of possible sites is Brian Paulsen, government liaison officer.

Arnot was introduced to the local group by Mike Hatley, interim executive director of Hereford Economic Development Corporation. About 35 people were invited to the reception, held in the James McDowell home.

Arnot showed a short video, which outlined the company's operation in Missouri, to the group last night. He gave a brief description and information on the processing plant. Wherever the new plant is located, he said a minimum of 400 to 600 jobs would be provided, and the plant would have the capacity to process 7,000 hogs a day.

"It appears Hereford would have the available labor force to handle such a facility," Arnot said.

However, Arnot met with a group of about 30 citizens at Vega High School Monday morning and told them that "there is a grave misconception" that the site selection is further along than it is.

He added that the company would like to make a decision in the next couple of weeks and, certainly, by the first of the year. "We'd like to find a location that is financially feasible and socially acceptable."

The Vega group expressed concerns about a change in their community, additional students and water usage, if a proposed site about halfway between Hereford and Vega were to be selected. However, the HEDC has several sites available.

Arnot said two other company officers are scheduled to be here tonight for a reception and dinner. They are John Stadler, president of Premium Standard Foods, and Rick Anderson, director of development.

The two PSF officials will continue a tour of the city and county today, including a visit to possible sites. Another reception and dinner is set tonight at the HISD banquet room with about 250 to 300 people invited. The diverse group will include elected officials, business leaders, directors of local boards and agencies, and spouses.

The PSF representatives met with the Deaf Smith Tax Abatement Board Monday for an informal discussion on the board's policies and eligibility for tax abatement. No action was taken.

Gifts to Stocking Fund hit $5,700

The anonymous committee administering Hereford's Christmas Stocking Fund operates on the premise that children should not be penalized because of mistakes made by adults which carry consequences that leave children in need.

"Many times we are called on to make judgement calls when there are kids involved in some difficult cases. Sometimes, you may be tempted to look at the fact that somebody is in jail, and look no further," said a CSF spokesman.

"But the kids didn't commit the crime and they may be the ones suffering because some adult did. If we make a mistake in a call, we would rather our mistake be in favor of the kids." For that reason, CSF assistance is specified in some cases for items such as children's clothing.

A case in point this year involves a mother of five children, ranging in age from 7 to 13. Her husband, the father of the children, has been in jail for a year, and that has left a family in financial difficulty.

The mother cares for the children with the help of her grandmother, and works at a job to support her family, but it's hard to stretch her salary to cover all of their needs. Also complicating the problem is the fact that she owes a large doctor bill.

This mother is asking for CSF help for the purchase of school clothes for her children. Help with such needs can only be delivered through the caring and sharing of residents of Hereford and Deaf Smith County expressed through donations to the stocking fund.

CSF funds are administered by the anonymous volunteer committee that screens all applications and makes decisions on assistance to be delivered.

Any assistance rendered comes in the form of vouchers for specified items or services, or direct payment to service providers such as utilities, pharmacies and medical facilities.

Food assistance is delivered in units purchased and packaged by the committee.

Donations to CSF may be mailed to CSF in care of Box 673, or delivered in person at the offices of The Hereford Brand, 313 N. Lee Ave.

Hawkins supposed to die Wednesday

A man convicted of raping and beating a Hereford woman in 1976 in a spree across the Panhandle that resulted in the deaths of two women has a date with the executioner in the early minutes of Wednesday.

Samuel Hawkins, called the "Traveling Rapist," was convicted of murder and rape of women in Borger and Amarillo as well as the aggravated rape in Hereford.

Now 51 years old, Hawkins will die for the May 3, 1977, death of a pregnant homemaker in Borger, Abbe Rodgers Hamilton.

Some authorities believe Hawkins was responsible for 40, or more rapes, in the Panhandle.

Deaf Smith County Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul was the prosecutor in 1978 in the case against Hawkins in connection with the Hereford rape, on Sept. 2, 1976.

Saul had won a primary election for the post and the defeated district attorney announced his resignation, effective July 1. Saul remembers that the trial of Hawkins was supposed to start before July 1 because of speedy trial laws in Texas.

"I was brought in as an assistant district attorney to try the case in Houston, on a change of venue," he said. Hawkins was convicted on the charge against him and assessed a life sentence.

Saul credited the testimony of the Hereford woman as critical to the state's case against Hawkins in the Borger case and another in Amarillo.

The Hereford victim, no longer a resident here, identified Hawkins as her assailant after undergoing hypnosis by the Deaf Smith County sheriff at the time, Travis McPherson. She identified him in a line-up in Amarillo.

Hawkins was convicted by a Lubbock jury on a change of venue in the Hamilton slaying and given the death sentence.

Gingrich, GOP say they will play tough

By ALAN FRAM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - White House officials don't like Rep. Newt Gingrich's remarks about drug use by aides to President Clinton. But the incoming House speaker and his Republican team have a message for them: Get used to it.

The Georgia Republican defended his earlier accusation that up to one-fourth of the White House staff had used drugs in the four or five years before joining the staff, saying Monday that hardball politics is a solid American tradition.

"I'm a historian," he told reporters Monday. "Jefferson and Hamilton each subsidized papers to smear the other. Trying to lead America has always been a tough business and even Washington occasionally got hit."

A Gingrich ally, Rep. Bob Walker, R-Pa., also jumped in, saying, "This White House is going to have to learn that they no longer have lap dogs on Capitol Hill."

The verbal duel ensued as giddy House Republicans gathered Monday to crown their new leaders for the 104th Congress, which convenes Jan. 4 under GOP domination for the first time since 1954. They will be making decisions about House rules, committee structure and committee assignments through Wednesday.

Gingrich, unopposed, was chosen to be the next House speaker by acclamation, a selection the House will formally ratify on its first day. Rep. Richard Armey, R-Texas, was named majority leader and Rep. Tom DeLay, R-Texas, was elected majority whip, the No. 3 job.

Gingrich promised Republicans would dig right in on their "Contract

With America," their campaign promises to cut taxes, pass a constitutional amendment requiring a balanced budget, and pare the size of government.

"We have an opportunity this spring and summer to begin decisively changing the shape of the government," he told them.

Gingrich touched off the dispute over drug use on a television news show Sunday, attributing the information to a senior law enforcement official whom he did not name. He provided no further details.

In response, White House Chief of Staff Leon Panetta said Monday that Gingrich's accusations were untrue, and that the fierce conservative was "behaving like an out-of-control radio talk show host."

He added, "We cannot do business here with the speaker, we cannot do business with the speaker of the House who is going to engage in these kinds of unfounded allegations."

That comment drew scoffs from Gingrich and his allies.

"His comment was nonsense," Gingrich said. "I am constitutionally going to be the chief legislative officer of the House. I don't know who he's going to be chief of staff for if he doesn't want to negotiate with the speaker of the House."

Rep. Christopher Cox, R-Calif., referred to Panetta's past service as a congressman and discounted the exchange between the two men.

"Leon Panetta and Newt Gingrich know each other very well," Cox said. "This isn't the first time, nor will it be the last time, they exchange rhetorical fire. Both can be counted on to continue to work with each other."

Bentsen resigns to return to Texas

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton today "with deep regret" announced Lloyd Bentsen's resignation as Treasury secretary and said he would nominate Robert Rubin, head of the National Economic Council, to succeed him.

In a Rose Garden announcement, Clinton praised Bentsen for a "job, very, very well done."

The president said Bentsen had expressed a desire to return to his native Texas to spend more time with his family and grandchildren but would be available to serve in a "kitchen cabinet" to provide outside advice to the administration.

Bentsen's resignation was to take effect on Dec. 22. Rubin, who amassed a multimillion-dollar fortune on Wall Street before joining the administration, will leave to win Senate approval for the Cabinet job.

Bentsen called Rubin "an excellent choice" and said he had originally recommended Rubin for the Treasury job when Clinton approached him in 1992.

"After a career in public service, I want to go back to Texas, to my roots and return to the private sector... while I still had a spring in my step," Bentsen said.

Bentsen said he told Clinton in September he planned to leave after the midterm elections "and the completion of our agenda for the year."

He praised Rubin as "a man of honor and integrity" with "a broad knowledge of our problems and programs."

Clinton said that Rubin had done an excellent job as the "consummate honest broker" in his position as director of the National Economic Council, the White House organization Clinton established to develop economic strategy.

Clinton said that "too many people are not feeling the benefits" of the economic recovery, even though he said he believed much had been accomplished to improve business prospects during the administration's first two years.

City approves $91,000 for airport work share

A $91,000 payment for the city's share of $1.8 million in improvements for the municipal airport was authorized Monday by the City Commission. A federal-state grant has been made for improvements on taxiways and between hangars, with provision that the city contribute $91,000 to the project.

City Manager Chester Nolen said the original estimate of the city's share was $90,000 and that amount is in the budget for the current year. The city is required to pay five percent of the estimated $1.8 million cost of the improvements. The State of Texas also will contribute five percent and the federal government will provide the remaining 90 percent.

The commission met for less than 10 minutes. The only item of business was approval of the payment to the Texas Department of Transportation for the airport grant.

The meeting was delayed a few minutes because a quorum was not achieved until Commissioner Dennis Hicks returned from an out-of-town trip.

Absent were Commissioners Silvana Juarez, Nancy Griego and Roger Eades. In addition to Hicks, Mayor Bob Josseland and Commissioners Wayne Winget and Carey Black were present.

Barndt is best speaker

Ralph Barndt was selected as the best Hereford Toastmasters Club speaker during the group's morning meeting conducted at the Ranch House Dec. 1.

Joe Don Cummings was named as best evaluator and Linda Minchew was chosen as best topic speaker.

Dan Hall led the pledge and Jigger Rowland gave the invocation. Cummings presided over the meeting.

Art Gonzales served as Toastmaster; Barndt, timer; Rowland, "ah" counter; Linda Minchew, grammarian; Sharon Cramer, wordmaster; and "contemplative" was the chosen word.

Nancy Griego was Topicmaster and topic speakers included David Jury, Linda Minchew and Wayne Winget.

Barndt spoke on "Old Jim," evaluated by Cummings, and Clark Andrews spoke on "Will and Me," evaluated by Winget.

Gonzales gave the reading and Dave Kimmel served as general evaluator.

Bud Joel was recognized as a special guest.

Gold Star Recipients honored

Tommie Weemes of Hereford congratulates Cady Auckerman, at left, and Amanda Sims, for being honored as the Gold Star Recipients from Deaf Smith County during the recent 37th Annual Panhandle District I 4-H Gold Star Banquet. The event was held at the Borger Country Club.

Youths honored at Gold Star Banquet

Cady Auckerman and Amanda Sims were honored as Gold Star recipients from Deaf Smith County during the 37th Annual Panhandle District I 4-H Gold Star Banquet held recently at the Borger Country Club. The local youths were among 33 outstanding 4-H club members from the Panhandle area to be given special recognition.

Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, along with Rita Blanca Electric, North Plains Electric, Swisher Electric Cooperative, Lighthouse Electric Cooperative and Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, sponsored the banquet.

The theme of this year's program was "4-H--More Than You Ever Imagined." The banquet was planned and conducted by 4-H'ers on the Gold Star Committee of the 1994-95 District 4-H Council. Committee members represented Deaf Smith, Dallam, Hartley and Oldham counties.

Deaf Smith District Council Delegates Karon Harder and Cady Auckerman presented portions of the evening's program. Also, Joanna Brumley and Cindy Harder, the county "I Dare You" recipients, registered guests.

To qualify for the Gold Star Award, the highest 4-H honor, a 4-H'er must be at least 15-years-old, have completed three years of club work and be active in 4-H. The award is intended to stimulate winners to higher achievement and to encourage other young people to participate in the county 4-H program.

The awards were presented by Paul Gross and Martha E. Couch, district extension directors of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. 4-H is the youth program of the Extension Service.

Hints from Heloise

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Cicely Tyson says her three Emmys don't assure her regular work for three reasons: She's a woman, she's black and she's choosy. "I added a third strike by being selective," Tyson says. "They don't usually need (black women) unless there's a role specifically written for us."

"I went around promoting 'Sounder' and realized much of America was very ignorant about black people and particularly black women," she says. "I decided then that my body of work should help define who we are. We are not all the same."

Cowboys aren't excited about clinching division

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Three consecutive NFC East championships don't mean much to the Dallas Cowboys.

A third consecutive Super Bowl victory is all that will make them celebrate.

"Winning the NFC East didn't make us jump around," wide receiver Michael Irvin said. "We don't want a pat on the back until we win another Super Bowl. We have to do anything we can to get a third ring. We don't want to look back in 10 years and regret we didn't give it our all."

Dallas beat Philadelphia 31-19 on Sunday to stretch its overall record to 11-2. It was the 16th division championship in club history and gave the Cowboys a 21-6 all-time record in games after Thanksgiving.

"This ain't that special," offensive guard Nate Newton said. "Super Bowls are special."

Safety Darren Woodson, who returned an interception 94 yards for a touchdown to put the Eagles away, said the Cowboys were unemotional after the victory because they had anticipated winning the division.

"We expected to win it, so when it happened it was not that big a deal," Woodson said. "We're the unhappiest 11-2 team you'll ever see."

The Cowboys have lost to Detroit and San Francisco, also 11-2. If Dallas and the 49ers win out, then San Francisco would own the homefield advantage in the NFC playoffs.

The Cowboys have won the last two weeks with backup quarterbacks. Rodney Peete took Dallas to victory on Sunday. On Thanksgiving Day, Jason Garrett beat the Green Bay Packers.

Troy Aikman, who has a much-improved sprained ligament in his left knee, was expected to return to practice and possibly start against Cleveland on Saturday in Texas Stadium.

Bates has thumb surgery

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Dallas special teams star Bill Bates underwent surgery Monday to repair a fractured right thumb, and Joe Fishback was activated to take his place on the roster.

The Cowboys put running back Derrick Lassic on injured reserve and defensive end Jim Jeffcoat agreed to restructure his contract to keep the team under the salary cap.

Dallas also may be missing defensive lineman Russell Maryland and kick return specialist Kevin Williams when it plays the Cleveland Browns on Saturday in Texas Stadium. Both players have knee sprains that make them questionable.

Bates, who was injured in Sunday's 31-19 victory over Philadelphia, was expected to miss only one game. Fishback was cut last week when Dallas added running back Blair Thomas to the roster.

Raiders outduel Chargers, 24-17

By BERNIE WILSON
AP Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The Los Angeles Raiders spoiled San Diego's coming-out party Monday night, with Jeff Hostetler's 6-yard touchdown pass to Rocket Ismail with 7:23 left giving them a 24-17 victory over the Chargers.

The Chargers (9-4) needed a victory to clinch their second AFC West title in three seasons. The Raiders, meanwhile, needed a victory to stay alive in the scrambled playoff picture and joined four other AFC teams with 7-6 records.

The Chargers wore their throw-back uniforms from 1961, with sky-blue jerseys and white helmets with yellow lightning bolts, and a towel-waving, record crowd of 63,012 hoped to celebrate a division title.

But the Raiders won at Jack Murphy Stadium for the fourth time in five years.

Ismail's second TD catch of the night came at the end of an 81-yard, nine-play drive on which Hostetler completed passes of 31 and 16 yards to Tim Brown. Ismail also caught a 6-yard scoring pass from Vince Evans in the second quarter.

The Chargers began their final drive at their 8-yard line with 1:28 to play and got to the Los Angeles 48 before a holding penalty moved them back. Aaron Wallace sacked Stan Humphries to end the game.

The Raiders outscored San Diego 10-3 in the fourth quarter. The fourth quarter had been a problem for the Raiders, who had been outscored 98-49 in their 12 previous fourth periods.

The Chargers squandered two big opportunities in the second half.

Natrone Means' halfback pass from the Raider 19 sailed way over the head of wide-open Shannon Mitchell, and Means fumbled two plays later, with safety Eddie Anderson recovering at the 20.

The Raiders moved 65 yards for Jeff Jaeger's 43-yard field goal and a 17-14 lead. Rookie Andre Coleman returned the ensuing kickoff 68 yards to the Raider 24 and the Chargers eventually got to the 6, but had to settle for John Carney's 24-yard field goal.

Hostetler was 22 of 29 for 319 yards and two touchdowns, with one interception. Brown caught seven passes for 96 yards. Ismail, who had only three TD receptions coming into the game, had four catches for 31 yards, three touchdown passes previous. The Raiders tied a team record with 17 penalties, for 146 yards.

Humphries was 17 of 33 for 202 yards with one touchdown. Means was held to 41 yards on 18 carries, his worst output of the season.

The first half, which ended in a 14-14 tie, included four touchdown passes from four different quarterbacks and 14 penalties by the Raiders for 116 yards.

San Diego backup Gale Gilbert became the fourth quarterback in the game after Humphries bruised his right thumb with 30 seconds left and the ball on the Raider 28.

Gilbert completed three straight passes, including a 16-yard touchdown to Tony Martin with seven seconds left. Martin, who dropped two sure touchdown passes in a 31-17 win over the Los Angeles Rams a week earlier, caught the ball at the 5 and spun around former Charger Donald Frank to tie the game.

Hostetler hurt his left hand diving for a first down at the end of a 7-yard run to the San Diego 7 early in the second quarter. Vince Evans came on to complete the 82-yard, 14-play drive, hitting Rocket Ismail in the back of the end zone for a 14-7 lead.

Hostetler got his TD pass on the Raiders' first play from scrimmage, throwing a 76-yard scoring pass to Alexander Wright for 76 yards and a 7-0 lead. With no defensive back within five yards of him, Wright pulled in the ball at the Charger 25 and was gone.

Humphries came right back and got his TD pass, finding Shawn Jefferson on a 29-yarder for a 7-7 tie. The 63-yard drive included 31 yards on four Raider penalties.

Clippers approach record for futility

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Robert Parish, who played three seasons under Bill Fitch at Boston, knows his former coach likes a challenge.

Fitch certainly is in the right place: at the helm of the winless Los Angeles Clippers.

"Some of us are just gluttons for punishment," Parish, the Charlotte center, said Monday night after the Hornets routed Los Angeles 115-83, making the Clippers 0-16, one shy of the NBA record for worst start.

In his first season with the Clippers, Fitch hasn't gotten them one centimeter off the ground, eclipsing his personal record of a 0-15 start with the expansion Cleveland Cavaliers as a rookie NBA coach in 1970. He has since gone on to coach more games than any coach in league history.

In the only other NBA games Monday night, New York beat Philadelphia 101-96 in overtime and New Jersey rallied to beat Chicago 99-94.

Los Angeles tries to end its string of futility - and avoid tying the 0-17 start by the expansion Miami Heat in 1988 - on Wednesday against the Milwaukee Bucks at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. The Bucks have a modest losing streak of their own, seven games, heading into their game tonight against the Kings at Sacramento.

The Clippers' loss gave them a franchise record 20th consecutive defeat stretching back to last season.

"We've approached every game the same way, but we just have these slumps in games that we can't overcome right now," center Matt Fish said. "Everybody's so frustrated. We all know the streak is hanging over us and we all don't want to be remembered that way."

The Hornets didn't want the Clippers' streak to end Monday.

"We didn't come out here thinking about being the first team that loses to them," said Larry Johnson, who led the Hornets with 18 points. "I admit that teams come in here and that's on their mind, not to be the first team the Clippers get a win against. But it's not something you concentrate on."

"They're struggling right now, but it's all about chemistry. They've got some talent over there."

"This is the first game where the bottom dropped out," Fitch said. "The momentum is killing us and we don't want to let it spread. You have to act like a winner until you win and keep a sense of humor."

"We had good looks at the basket and missed," Fitch said. "Missing easy shots affects everyone. We've been sliding fast these last few games."

Hersey Hawkins added 17 points for the Hornets, who are 8-4 since their 0-3 start and have surrendered fewer than 100 points in a club-record seven consecutive games.

Frier probably won't walk again

BELLEVUE, Wash. (AP) - Seattle Seahawk Mike Frier can't move his legs or fingers and probably never will, a neurosurgeon says.

"He has no sensation below his belly button," Dr. Michael Schlitt said Monday at Overlake Medical Center, where Frier and fellow Seahawks Chris Warren and Lamar Smith were brought after the car they were in crashed into a utility pole last Thursday.

"We've not seen any deterioration on the neurological front since the time Frier was admitted," Schlitt said. "Unfortunately, we have not seen any substantial neurological improvement," particularly in his hands and legs.

Frier, a third-year defensive tackle, was in serious condition, heavily sedated and with his skull and spine in traction.

He was suffering from pneumonia in his left lung - a complication resulting in part from his inability to cough and clear his lungs - and will probably always be plagued with lung infections, pulmonary specialist Dr. Ronald O'Quin said.

"I'm a team player, not a prima donna," the newswoman says. "I'm competitive in a fair and graceful way. And I try to lose graciously. But you want to be the king of the hill."

Pauley also says in the Dec. 10 issue of TV Guide that she has a flair for creating a natural, conversational on-camera chemistry.

"I'm not going to perform questions so we can snip them for use in sexy promos," says the co-anchorwoman of NBC's "Dateline." "I don't move in for the kill just for the sake of being photographed."

LANCASTER, Texas (AP) - That was no tornado whipping through town - that was Willie Nelson!

The show he headlined Saturday night raised more than $35,000 to help replace sidewalks, awnings, lights, trees and historic markers in Lancaster's town square, badly damaged by a tornado in April, organizer Darrell Miller said. Three people died and more than 900 homes were destroyed in the tornado.

Nelson, who plays about 25 benefits a year, including Farm Aid, says it's just part of his responsibility as a performer.

Video shown to lapidary club

Jack and Helen Nunley showed a video they had taken on a recent trip to the Ozarks when members of the Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club met recently at the Deaf Smith County Library.

The video featured the Arkansas River locks and dams that raise and lower the river for boat traffic.

During the business meeting with President Dale Henson presiding, reports were given on sick members and the door prize, which was furnished by Dee Sturges, was won by Betty Henson.

Sturges exhibited her handmade jewelry and discussed her upcoming plans for rock hunting in Georgia.

Hosts for the meeting were Ezell and Verba Sadler and Bobbie Roberson.

Those present included Bobbie Roberson, Ruth King, Ralph Packard, Baxter London, Joe Williams, Dee Sturges, Verba and Ezell Sadler, L.D. and Thama Combs, Helen and Jack Nunley, Betty and Dale Henson and Bud and Lurline Cawthon.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - John Prine has already whittled down his firstborn child's name from John Patrick Whelan Prine to just Little Jack.

"This is the first time I've seen John Prine walking 3 feet off the ground," Al Bunetta, Prine's manager, said after the 8-pound boy was born Thursday.

The singer-songwriter's credits include "Hello In There," "Sam Stone" and "It's a Big Old Goofy World."

Local 4-H'ers participate in banquet

Hereford Country Club has holiday party

Helping greet party-goers at the annual Hereford Country Club Christmas Ball were Mr. and Mrs. Walt Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hopper. Davis is club president and Hopper is vice president. The gala event featured dining and dancing, with a live band in the front ballroom and an entertainer in the bar area.

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I live where the air is crystal clear, dry and pollution-free. My son jogs, so I decided to join him. It didn't last long. I started having chest pain, and I thought I was having heart symptoms. To make a long story short, many tests later, I learned I have asthma. I'm fine now. I use an inhaler. My doctor sees a lot of this. It is something about the air dryness causing the attacks of asthma. Thought you'd be interested. —K.J.H.

ANSWER: Asthma involves a sudden constriction of the breathing tubes — a bronchospasm.

Exercise-induced asthma is pretty common. And it can occur in the most pristine atmospheres. Cold, dry air quickly dries out normal moisture-lined breathing tubes, causing the characteristic coughing, wheezing and chest pain.

You can usually confirm such asthma with a few puffs of an inhaler containing a breathing-tube-expander drug. The inhaler can permit some people to continue exercising. It gradually desensitizes the tubes from the stress to come.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am reading a label on a bottle of antacid tablets. It says each provides 500 milligrams of calcium carbonate and that five tablets provide 100 percent of daily calcium needs for adults. I would like to know if taking five tablets a day would be too much. I do have osteoporosis. Is this a good form of calcium to take? — R.M.R.

ANSWER: One 500-milligram tablet of calcium carbonate contains 200 milligrams of actual calcium. Five tablets gives you 1,000 milligrams — 1 gram — a healthy daily amount for adults. Current recommendations are 800 to 1,500 milligrams daily.

Remember, too, that you are getting some calcium from your diet, dairy products being a prime source, as are broccoli, spinach and sardines with bones. If you go heavy on dairy products, be sure they are the low-fat varieties.

Sarpalius seeking employment with congressional career over

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - U.S. Rep. Bill Sarpalius is looking to the future, and he's trying to find it in the want ads.

"I'm just looking for any opportunity out there for me," said the three-term Texas Democrat, who was ousted by Republican Mac Thornberry in the November general election. "I'm not interested in lobbying. I am looking at trade organizations."

The defeat was the first of Sarpalius' political career. Immediately after the election, he disappeared from public view. Sarpalius said he was taking a delayed honeymoon.

"In one month, I got married and lost my job," he said in Sunday editions of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

In late summer, Sarpalius proposed to Carol Davis at the top of the Capitol dome. He and Ms. Davis, a Pentagon underwater warfare consultant, married on Oct. 13 and spent the first three weeks of their marriage campaigning.

Sarpalius acknowledges he feels some bitterness toward his opponent.

"I feel bitter about the type of campaign he ran. He tried to make it look like I was under an FBI investigation, and that's just not the case. It was just dirty politics," he said.

Sarpalius has repeatedly denied he is under investigation for potential financial disclosure violations. The Justice Department has neither confirmed nor denied the investigation.

But despite the allegations, Sarpalius does not believe Thornberry was his greatest problem.

"You could have had Donald Duck on the ballot, and I still would have lost," he said. "I was running against a movement, not an opponent."

Sarpalius also blames his defeat on the lack of motivation among Democratic voters.

"If anybody beat me in this election, it was the Democrats who stayed home. I don't feel like it was Mac Thornberry who beat me."

In 1992, Sarpalius beat Republican Beau Boulter 117,827 to 77,609. Four weeks ago, Sarpalius could manage only 63,268 votes to Thornberry's 79,268.

Now Sarpalius and his 16 staff members are looking for work as they prepare to dismantle operations Dec. 16.

Sarpalius said he may take another crack at politics.

He said his office has received a stream of mail and telephone calls from supporters urging him seek the 13th Congressional District seat again in 1996.

The former high school agriculture teacher might even try teaching again. Whatever he does, he's convinced it will be something of value.

"I've always believed when the good Lord closes one door, he will open another."

In 1607, an expedition of English colonists, including Capt. John Smith, went ashore at Cape Henry, Va., to establish the first permanent settlement in the New World.

Manufacturer's Coupon Expires 12/31/94

SAVE 60¢

Texans who are heavy users of grocery coupons, 1993

Clippin' and Savin'

Coupons are as popular with Americans as breakfast cereals. That's understandable because the first cents-off coupon appeared on C.W. Post's cereal boxes in 1895.

U.S. consumers received more than 298 billion coupons in 1993—an average of 3,200 per household—and redeemed about 6.8 billion for a typical face value of 60 cents. Health and beauty aids and prepared foods are the most frequently discounted products.

Consumers in the Southwest redeem coupons less often than those in other regions. Those who do, however, save $10 to $60 a week, according to the Dallas-Fort Worth Grocers Association.

In Texas, both men and women are avid coupon users. A survey by Mediarmk Research reveals that about half of all Texans are 25 to 44 years old and most users are married with children. Their household incomes typically range between $20,000 and $40,000. Surprisingly, though, three out of 10 Texans identified as "heavy" coupon users have household incomes greater than $50,000. Coupon use levels off for Texans over 50 years old but picks up again for those over 65.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The growing number of needy Texans means the Legislature will have to find more money — about $2.2 billion in its 1995 budget session — to pay for the state Medicaid program in 1996-97.

Last week, state Medicaid Director DeAnn Friedholm told the legislative health committee, "The basic problem is that we have a disproportionate number of low-income, uninsured people who qualify for Medicaid aid.

"This demand is coupled with medical inflation and higher reimbursement for institutions, such as nursing homes and hospitals," she said.

Cindy Rugeley, a spokeswoman for Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, said, "We are going to have to meet the request (for additional funds). It's going to be a tough, tough budget year."

The committee also heard a list of proposals that would shave an estimated $237 million from the Medicaid budget, including the cutting of provider payments and services and restricting eligibility.

But Friedholm said the cuts were not "palatable" and committee members agreed with her that carrying out the proposed cuts would only be a "Band-Aid" approach.

Friedholm said the best way to save money would be through a federal waiver — which would take 10 months to receive approval — allowing the state to restructure its Medicaid program. The waiver, if granted, would require that the state form partnerships with Texas counties and consolidate local hospital districts and indigent care programs in order to receive matching dollars from the federal government.

In support of the federal-waiver plan, state Sen. Judith Zaffirini, who chairs the Senate Health and Human Services Committee, said, "We don't want to make cuts at the state level that would simply shift costs to the local level."

Schools May Outweigh Taxes

Taxes won't be an issue in the upcoming legislative session unless the Texas Supreme Court overturns the current public school finance law, according to Brad Reynolds, an aide to Lt. Gov. Bullock.

Reynolds said the Legislature's focus will shift to finding a new way to pay for schools if the high court rejects the finance system — one that is being challenged for the fourth time since 1989.

Presently, funds used to run the state's public education system are taken from a mix of property taxes, and state and federal aid. Reynolds said that if the high court once again declares the school-funding system unconstitutional, lawmakers may have to look at new sources of revenue, such as a value-added tax on manufactured goods.

But Bullock and House Speaker Pete Laney, D-Hale Center, have promised that there would be no tax increase in the upcoming biennium.

Inauguration Committee
 Donald Evans, chief executive of a Midland oil and gas company, will serve as chairman of the committee planning the Jan. 17 inauguration ceremonies, Gov.-elect George W. Bush and Lt. Gov.

Bullock announced last week.

Bush said the day will begin with a prayer service and include the swearing-in, a parade, a traditional Texas barbecue and inaugural balls.

Committee co-chairs will be Nancy Brinker of Dallas, founder of the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, and Austin political consultant Jack Martin.

Jeanne Johnson Phillips of Dallas, founder of a fund-raising and special events consulting firm, will serve as executive director of the inaugural committee.

Ruling: Long Hair OK'd
 Zachariah Toungate's 15-inch-long hair style may violate school policy, but the 12-year-old Bastrop student is within his rights to wear it.

Visiting Judge Norman Lanford of Houston threw out a jury verdict when he ruled last week that Bastrop Independent School District's hair-length policy is unconstitutional, but he did not order school officials to abolish the policy.

Toungate began drawing national attention in 1990 when he was given in-school suspension for refusing to cut his hair in accordance with school policy, which limits boys' hair to collar length.

Toungate is being home-schooled.

Other Highlights
 ■ A bill has been pre-filed for the 1995 legislative session that would allow repeat child molesters to volunteer to be surgically castrated as a form of treatment. Senate Bill 40, co-sponsored by state Sens. Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo, and Bill Sims, D-Paint Rock, stipulates that state prison inmates who choose to undergo surgical castration would not reduce their prison sentence by doing so.

■ The state's office of Public Insurance Counsel is recommending a 25.5 percent decrease in the benchmark rates for homeowners insurance. The counsel, which represents consumers in rate cases, also proposed a 27 percent decrease for farm and ranch owners insurance. The current rates will be reviewed at the annual rate hearing, scheduled to begin Dec. 15.

■ Gov.-elect George W. Bush said Texas Ranger president Tom Schieffer will replace him as general partner of the baseball team. Bush said he will relinquish his role by Dec. 31, although he will retain his 1.8 percent ownership of the baseball team.

LEGAL NOTICES

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES:
You are hereby notified that FRITO-LAY INC. has applied for renewal of Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) Air Quality Permit No. 3509A to continue the operation of a Corn Cleaning Plant in Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas. The location of the facility is 101 South Progressive Road. This facility will emit the following air contaminant: particulate matter.
A copy of all materials in the public file is available for inspection and reproduction at the TNRCC Amarillo Regional Office, Air Program, located at 3918 Canyon Drive, Amarillo, Texas 79109-4996; telephone (806)353-9251, and at the TNRCC Central Office, Office of Air Quality, 12124 Park 35 Circle, Building C, Austin, Texas 78753, telephone (512)239-1000. The facility's compliance file, if any exists, is available for public review in the regional office of the TNRCC. Inquiries about the permit application and any information concerning any technical aspect of this application can be obtained by writing Mr. Michael Wilson, TNRCC Office of Air Quality New Source Review Program, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087 or the TNRCC Amarillo Regional Office.
You may submit written comments concerning the permit renewal to the Office of Air Quality, New Source Review Program in Austin. All written comments received within 15 days after the second publication of this notice shall be considered by the Executive Director in determining whether to renew the permit. All written comments will be made available for public inspection at the TNRCC Central Office in Austin. This notice is to be published on December 6, 1994 and December 7, 1994.
Any person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from this facility may request the commission to hold an informal public meeting and/or contested case hearing on the permit renewal pursuant to Section 382.056(d) of the Texas Health and Safety Code. The Commission is not required to hold a contested case hearing if the basis of a request is determined to be unreasonable. All requests for a contested case hearing must be received in writing within the 15-day comment period regardless of whether an informal public meeting has been held or scheduled on this matter. If you wish to request a public hearing, you must submit your request in writing. You must state (1) your name, mailing address and daytime phone number; (2) the permit number or other recognizable reference to this application; (3) the statement "I/we request a public hearing"; (4) a brief description of how you, or the persons you represent, would be adversely affected by the granting of the application; (5) a description of the location of your property relative to the applicant's operations; and (6) your proposed adjustment to the application/permit which would satisfy your concerns and cause you to withdraw your request for hearing. Requests for a public hearing on this application should be submitted in writing to Office of the Chief Clerk, Texas natural resource Conservation Commission, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087, Telephone (512)239-3300.
Before a permit can be renewed for this facility, the applicant must demonstrate that all emission sources are in compliance with all TNRCC air quality Rules and Regulations and all applicable Federal Regulations.
