Withdrawals cause drop in pool assets

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - Although the pace has slowed somewhat, local government investors continue pulling money from the TexPool investment fund. TexPool's assets have fallen nearly 39 percent in three days.

Investors withdrew another $463 million on Tuesday, bringing total withdrawals to about $1.4 billion since last Friday.

State Treasurer Martha Whitehead said investors are receiving 100 cents on each dollar invested.

Officials said that the Treasury was using state funds to buy government securities from TexPool, which is an investment pool run by the state for 1,300 local Texas governmental units.

Mrs. Whitehead said she was working to convince investors their money was safe.

"We've assured them it's safe, sound and sure," the treasurer said. "The things we have in TexPool are very conservative investments."

A total of $655 million was withdrawn on Monday and $348 million on Friday. Deposits were only $15 million Monday and $42 million Friday. Tuesday's deposits totaled $15 million.

The fund's assets have fallen from about $3.6 billion last week to about $2.2 billion Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Whitehead said she believes confusion and misinformation in the wake of the Orange County, Calif., bankruptcy is behind the run on TexPool. The county filed for bankruptcy after its investment fund lost about $2 billion.

"I am confident we will weather this storm and calm any concern raised due to the irresponsible and unjust comparisons to the Orange County situation," Mrs. Whitehead said.

"My top priority is to reassure participants that they will not lose a dime and that the service and benefits of TexPool merit continued support by our members," she said.

Mrs. Whitehead said she knows of no governmental unit that had closed its TexPool account, although some have withdrawn all their money.

Some financial experts said the Treasury's action to purchase the TexPool securities had the earmarks of a taxpayer bailout, the Austin American-Statesman reported Tuesday.

HISD takes funds out of TexPool

The Hereford Independent School District has joined governmental agencies from across the state in withdrawing its funds from TexPool, Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt said Wednesday morning.

Greenawalt said he withdrew the district's $2 million that was in TexPool "for precautionary reasons" after investors began pulling out of the pool in the wake of revelations that TexPool had invested in derivatives.

"I think that's what people in this community would expect," he said of his action, adding that, while he still believes TexPool is a good way for the district to invest funds, taking the money out at this time was done to reassure the public and board members.

In addition, Greenawalt said, information coming out about TexPool investments has caused him some concern.

He said it was his understanding that TexPool had to invest money using the same guidelines as school districts used, which prohibited investing in derivatives.

Orange County, California, recently filed bankruptcy after losing money on invested derivatives.

TexPool had a small portion of its balance in derivatives, but has since sold them.

Greenawalt said he has contacted TexPool for a copy of its investment guidelines, to find out what restrictions there are on funds placed there for investment purposes.

He also said he thought TexPool was backed by the state Treasury, but said that issue may not be settled.

Greenawalt said he will study both the pool's investment practices and its backing before recommending further deposits there.

The money taken out was deposited in a local bank.

Bullock tabs Bivins to head Senate Nominations panel

From Brand, AP reports
AUSTIN - Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock on Tuesday announced his appointments to Senate committees, including Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo, as head of the Senate Nominations Committee.

Bullock said he expects the chamber to operate without regard to political affiliation.

"The Texas Senate proved during the 1993 legislative session that it operates in a bipartisan manner. Democrats and Republicans worked together on the problems of Texas," Bullock. "I expect no less this session."

In making the appointments on Tuesday rather than at the beginning of the session on Jan. 10, Bullock said he was breaking his own tradition.

"We have a lot of work to do. Announcing appointments today will give Senators an opportunity to hire their committee staffs and start to work. We all want to hit the ground running," he said.

The Senate will be made up of 11 standing committees and two special committees. In addition, there will be a new subcommittee to the Senate Finance Committee that will focus on veteran affairs.

In addition to his chairmanship of the Nominations Committee, Bivins was tabbed by Bullock to serve on four other committees: Education, Finance, Natural Resources and Natural Resources Subcommittee on Agriculture.

Bivins said his appointment to the chairmanship of the important Nominations Committee is significant.

"The Lieutenant Governor's selection of a Republican as chairman of Nominations is a clear message that he respects the new Governor's constitutional duties to appoint Texans that George Bush believes will serve the state well," Bivins said.

The Senate is required to vote to confirm gubernatorial appointees to state boards and commissions. The Nominations Committee is the first step in the confirmation process.

"As chairman, my duty will be to insure that appointees meet all legal requirements for service on boards and commissions," Bivins said. Bush is expected to appoint about 3,000 Texans to boards and commissions during his term as governor. A majority of those will require Senate confirmation.

Committee chairs and vice chairs are:

- Committee of the Whole on Legislative and Congressional Redistricting: Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, chair; Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas, vice chair.

- Criminal Justice: Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston, chair; Sen. Florence Shapiro, R-Plano, vice chair.

- Economic Development: Sen. David Sibley, R-Waco, chair; Sen. Peggy Rosson, D-El Paso, vice chair.

"The way it was mangled, there was nothing I could do. I didn't want to hurt them any more than they were," David Stanley told The News & Observer of Raleigh. He went to lead rescue vehicles to the scene.

"There was one major piece, and the rest of it was a mix of fire, plane, trees and wire," Edmond Badham, Stanley's neighbor, told The Herald-Sun of Durham.

"We have complete confidence in this aircraft," American Eagle spokesman Al Becker said. "At this point, no one has the slightest notion of what caused this."

Project Christmas Card to conclude Thursday

Hereford residents are reminded that Thursday is the deadline to make donations to this year's Project Christmas Card.

Gifts need to be made directly at Hereford State Bank or First National Bank, or placed in a special envelope in a collection canister before 5 p.m. Thursday. Canisters are located throughout the city.

Project Christmas Card is sponsored annually by L'Allegria Study Club and raises money to benefit Hereford Regional Medical Center. This year, funds will be used to purchase an attachment to the hospital's mammography unit.

Residents are asked to take the money they ordinarily would have used to buy local Christmas cards and give it to the fund instead. Names of those people who donated will appear in Sunday's Christmas Greeting section of The Hereford Brand.

Referrals help CSF provide Christmas assistance to needy

Some people who are in the greatest need may be reluctant to ask for help. For that reason, the Christmas Stocking Fund often works from referrals in order to ensure that assistance reaches those who really need it.

A case in point involves a family of five who are having a hard time seeing anything bright about the holiday season.

A 41-year-old father of three was seriously injured on the job. Because he is a longtime employee, the business where he worked has kept him on the payroll throughout his prolonged absence due to injury. But, due to the extended time of his disablement, the employer was forced to cut the number of hours for which he is paid.

The mother is working two jobs to try to keep the family's financial head above water. There are three children, ages 14 to 18, at home to support, and ongoing and crushing medical costs present a daunting challenge.

This family did not ask for help from CSF, but a neighbor concerned about their welfare did. With the help of donations from generous supporters of CSF, the holiday charity will lend this family all of the assistance that it can.

CSF is a non-profit holiday charity funded solely by the donations of local residents, and is not affiliated with any other organization. The charity is administered by a committee of anonymous volunteers representing a broad cross-section of the community.

Donations to CSF may be made in person at the offices of The Hereford

Winners in light contest announced

The winners have been announced in this year's Christmas Lighting Contest, which is sponsored annually by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

There were six divisions in the contest, four for residential entries and two in the business category.

Within the residential category, Ralph Detten, 147 N. Texas, claimed first place in the Light Display Division; Edward J. Yavornik Sr., 822 Baltimore, was first in Religious Division; Herbert Vogel, 415 19th St., was first in Most Creative; and Ron Rives, 405 Centre, was first in Window/Door.

In the business category, Gililand-Watson Funeral Home, 411 E. Sixth, won first in the Total Business division, while Kid's Alley, 417 N. Main, won in the Window/Door division.

Overall, 19 residences were entered in the contest.

The following are winners in each division. First place is the only award given in the window/door divisions.

Business Total Business -- first, Gililand-Watson Funeral Home, 411 E. Sixth; second, King's Manor Methodist Home, 400 Ranger.

Other homes that were entered in the contest but that did not win were: 106 Ranger, 709 Cherokee and 241 Star.

Regulation of pesticides is criticized

AUSTIN (AP) - Pesticide regulation in Texas was under fire after a state report said the board responsible for coordinating policies on farm chemicals hasn't done its job.

"The public is not getting the protection from the hazards of the use of agriculture chemicals that they deserve," Reggie James of Consumers Union said Tuesday. "It's a hazard that we don't have to accept."

But Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry defended his regulation of pesticides, and the work of the Agricultural Resources Protection Authority (ARPA), which he chairs.

"TDA is proud of its record of aggressively enforcing the state's pesticide laws," Perry said.

ARPA, which coordinates pesticide regulation, needs to be restructured, according to a report by the staff of the Texas Sunset Advisory Commission.

The Sunset Advisory Commission recommends changes in state agency operations to the Legislature.

ARPA was created in 1989 after several lawmakers, including at the time Perry, complained about then-Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower's aggressive enforcement of pesticide regulations.

Five years later, ARPA should be overhauled because it "cannot do the job as it is currently structured and needs changing," the Sunset Commission staff report said.

ARPA has failed to develop any policy direction and its makeup doesn't have a broad representation of interests, the report said.

Perry said he supports most of the recommended changes for ARPA except one that would require the board to conduct periodic public hearings to solicit comment on the state's pesticide regulation efforts.

"The regularly scheduled quarterly meetings of ARPA provide sufficient opportunities for the public to provide comments," Perry said.

The report also noted that Agriculture Department enforcement actions and investigations have declined between 1991 and 1994.

Texan could be next USDA secretary

Administration nearing decision on Espy's successor

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House is drawing closer to picking a replacement for Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy, with new attention being put on a veteran Democratic lawmaker who won re-election in November.

White House officials, speaking on condition of anonymity, said a decision could come this week, but probably not before Friday. Espy, under an ethics investigation, leaves office Dec. 31.

According to the White House officials and others, the strong candidates are Deputy Secretary Richard E. Rominger, defeated Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Kan., and Rep. Kika de la Garza, D-Texas, the 14-year chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

The veteran Texas lawmaker is from Mission in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, an area that produces Texas' citrus crop and grows a large crop of winter vegetables.

Rominger is a farmer and former head of California's Agriculture Department. Glickman is a veteran lawmaker with farm bill experience, now seeking a job because he lost his re-election bid. De la Garza, though re-elected, will yield his chairmanship next year to Rep. Pat Roberts, R-Kan.

Rep. Jill Long, D-Ind., remains a candidate. Like Glickman, she lost re-election and is campaigning for the job. Ruth Harkin, a former Agriculture Department lawyer, also was mentioned at the White House.

Harkin, wife of Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, runs the Overseas Private Investment Corp., and has won high praise from the president and business leaders for her work at that agency, which promotes overseas investment.

Agricultural interests have begun pushing de la Garza in the past week. The lawmaker has tried to avoid the appearance of campaigning for the job.

"He would be open to a call from the White House," said his press secretary, Kerry Abelson.

De la Garza's coyness comes of necessity. He can't afford to weaken his already diminished role as ranking minority member of the House Agriculture Committee if he's passed over, say his supporters.

"I just think that the agriculture community all of a sudden has woken up to the fact that Kika might be interested," said Dennis Robertson, chief lobbyist for Arkansas Electric Cooperatives and former aide to Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., Clinton's point man on farm matters.

De la Garza would bring Washington experience and bipartisanship to the job, where the main task next year will be producing a five-year farm bill. A consensus-builder on the Agriculture Committee, he also is a strong advocate of improved trade, especially with Latin America.

He comes from vote-rich Texas and would be the first Hispanic secretary of agriculture.

But the other candidates have their strong backers.

Rominger has quietly and methodically done most of the nuts-and-bolts work at the department. He is respected by a wide variety of farm and environmental interest groups.

Pryor has talked to Rominger but has not made a recommendation to Clinton, aides say.

Glickman, even though he voted against the newest accord under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, important to agriculture and the Clinton administration, enjoys the friendship and support of White House Chief of Staff Leon Panetta.

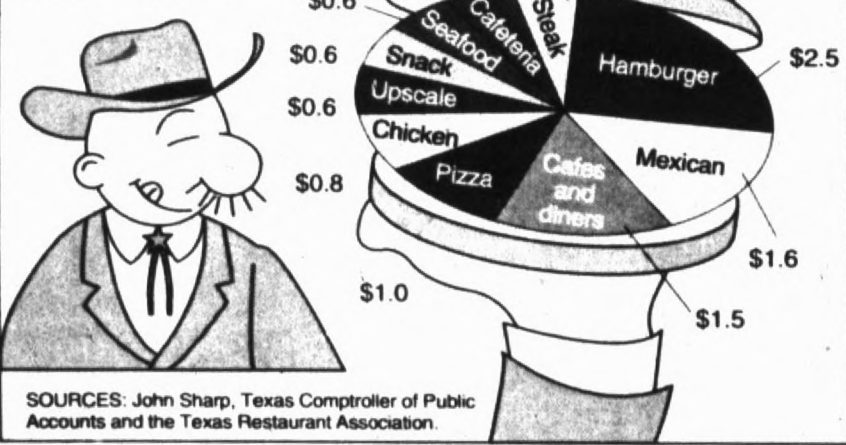

Long has support from home-state farm groups and members of Congress, including a number of Republicans, minority and female members. Outgoing Texas Gov. Ann Richards, briefly mentioned as a candidate, has endorsed Long.

Appointment criticized

by insurance industry

By SCOTT ROTHCHILD

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards' appointment of a consumer advocate as Texas insurance commissioner has been met with a chilly reception from the industry.

Richards on Tuesday named Rebecca Lightsey, currently executive director of a state health insurance pool, to lead the Texas Department of Insurance.

She will replace J. Robert Hunter, who had resigned, effective Monday.

Since Hunter's term expires Feb. 1, Ms. Lightsey's job will span from Richards' administration to GOP Gov.-elect George W. Bush's. Bush, who defeated Richards, a Democrat, will be sworn into office Jan. 17.

Rick Gentry, an insurance industry spokesman, said Richards passed over qualified executives at the department who could have filled in until Bush can appoint his own insurance commissioner.

"It raises the question of whether the governor, through her longtime political ally Ms. Lightsey, is attempting to complete an agenda left unfinished by Hunter's early departure," he said.

Hunter was set to consider proposed rules aimed at prohibiting insurers from discriminating in the sale or price of insurance based on race, color, religion and national origin.

Hunter postponed a hearing on the proposed rule at the request of Bush, who asked for more time to study the measure.

Ms. Lightsey said she would honor Hunter's commitment to Bush not to start hearings until after Jan. 1.

"My intention is to carry on the good work that the staff of that agency has been doing so there will be a smooth transition to the new commissioner," she said. Ms. Lightsey said she wouldn't apply to keep the job after Feb. 1.

Bush's spokeswoman Karen Hughes stated: "The governor-elect would appreciate any courtesy in not implementing any major changes during the transition period."

"The people of Texas have spoken and they would like to see Gov.-elect Bush's philosophy in state government."

Extension sets course on pesticide

The Deaf Smith County office of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will sponsor a recertification course for private, commercial and non-commercial applicators on Thursday in the Hereford Community Center.

The class will start at 9 a.m., with five continuing education credits offered to those attending.

The course will be a replay of one offered statewide on Dec. 7 and is being offered again, said county extension agent Dennis Newton, because of the amount of interest in receiving the continuing education credits.

Cost is $5 to attend the class. Newton said the original broadcast was not shown at the Deaf Smith-Oldham County Farm Bureau offices due to technical difficulties.

Private applicators have until Dec. 31 to complete 15 CEU hours, Newton said, while commercial and non-commercial applicators must complete five hours per year.

For more information call the extension office at 364-3573.

Florence Nightingale, the English founder of modern nursing, was born in 1820 in Florence, Italy.

Richards said she had to fill the position. "There are pending issues concerning the regulation and rates of insurance and individuals seeking licenses that cannot in good governance be left pending," she said.

Ms. Lightsey is former executive director of the Texas Consumer Association. She served as an assistant general counsel in Richards' office, handling insurance and health care issues, before being named executive director of the Texas Insurance Purchasing Alliance.

Power outage affects million in eight states

By DARA AKIKO TOM

Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A disruption in the power grid criss-crossing the West cut power in eight states early today, leaving 1 million customers without electricity in California and another 100,000 people in Seattle in the dark.

The 500,000-volt system went down early today, said Lyric LaFaver, a spokesman for Pacific Gas and Electric, which serves Northern California.

LaFaver said the shutdown might have been caused by a fire at a substation in Los Banos.

"We're swamped trying to get this thing under control," he said.

The other states affected were Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Oregon, Washington state, Idaho and Montana.

The total number of people hit by the blackout was not immediately known, and the cause of the outage was under investigation, LaFaver said.

Seattle City Light said the outage began near Oakland, but LaFaver said it wasn't clear where the problem originated.

Montana Power spokesman Court Freeman said several cities reported power failure, including Billings, Butte and Helena.

Utah Power & Light said the problem caused some lights to dim and brighten, but there were no known outages in the state.

Arizona Public Service Co., which provides power to most of the state, had no reports of outages but had "things like traffic lights going on and off for no reason," said Lynne Adams, a utility spokeswoman.

Lights flickered in Boise, Idaho, but Idaho State Police didn't have any reports of large-scale outages.

Deadline extended for C of C 'Woman of Year' nominations

The deadline for submitting nominations for the Women's Division's Woman of the Year has been extended to Dec. 29.

Nominations may be mailed to the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office, P.O. Box 192, Hereford, or they will be accepted at the office, 701 N. Main St.

The award, presented by the Women's Division, will be given to a division member who has been active during the past year. The winner will be announced at the Women's Division's first quarterly meeting on Jan. 12, 1995.

Persons submitting a nominee need not be a member of the Women's Division. Nominations should be in writing, giving qualifications and reasons why the person named should be considered. The letter does not have to be signed.

Nominees will be judged on accomplishments done for and on behalf of the Women's Division and/or the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Other outside activities will then be considered such as community work.

Switzer: Cowboys need to stay intense

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Barry Switzer says he has learned in professional football that you can't expect to win all the games. "In college you had to win 'em all to be considered for the national championship," Switzer said. "It doesn't work that way in the pros. It's hard to be up for every game when you have a 16 game schedule and all those exhibitions before it." Switzer was talking about his team's lukewarm performance against Cleveland last Saturday. "I saw guys do things against Cleveland they haven't done all year," Switzer said. "I told the team they ought to be a lot more hungry than they are. The secondary isn't playing that well and we're not showing the intensity I'd like to see." Dallas ranks second in total defense in the NFL but the 19-14 loss to the Browns unveiled a team that didn't fly to the ball, a trademark of the last two championship teams. "We're not a physical team," Switzer said on Tuesday as the players took a day off. "We've got quick guys and we have to use finesse. We have to have intensity. We're not playing in a frenzy or gang-tackling. Tony Tolbert (defensive end) is the only one who played like it was a must-win game." Switzer said he asked his players point blank in a team meeting: "Do you want to play three games in the playoffs or two? Do you want to win Monday night's game against New Orleans and clinch a bye? I told 'em I could use the rest myself personally." The 11-3 Cowboys, who have already clinched the NFC East, can cement a first round bye and the homefield advantage for the divisional playoffs on Jan. 7 or 8 with a victory against the Saints. Any combination of a Dallas win or a Minnesota loss in the last two weeks of the season gets the Cowboys a first round rest. Dallas is a game behind San Francisco for the overall NFC homefield edge with two games to play. All ties go to the 49ers who beat Dallas 21-14 earlier in the season. "I think we are in good shape."

Switzer said. "I might have taken a 13-3 record before the season started since that's the best a Dallas team has ever done. Of course, I want to win every game. But I've found out in the pros that's not realistic. In college you have to win 'em all to win a national championship. "I don't think you have to be on a big roll going into the playoffs. Dallas had to beat the New York Giants in overtime in the last regular season game last year didn't they? We're in better shape than we were last year. I like what Nate Newton says. He said all he wants is to get back to Candlestick Park (home of the 49ers)."

Smith honored by TSN

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Dallas Cowboys running back Emmitt Smith was named Sportsman of the Year on Tuesday by The Sporting News. Despite being slowed by an array of injuries and playing behind a battered offensive line, Smith has carried 349 times for 1,410 yards and scored a league-leading 21 touchdowns. He is the NFL's second-leading rusher behind Detroit's Barry Sanders.

Last year, Toronto Blues Jays executive vice president Pat Gillick and manager Cito Gaston were co-winners of the award.

A first-round draft choice from Florida in 1990, Smith has helped Dallas to consecutive Super Bowl championships.

In five NFL seasons, Smith has never missed a game because of injury.

Smith, 25, is the third NFL player to win the award from The Sporting News. O.J. Simpson won in 1973 and Joe Montana was given the honor in 1989.

Coaches expect fun Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (AP) - For the national title? No. For fun? Yes. The Cotton Bowl doesn't have a big national spotlight this year because of the records of Texas Tech and Southern California. But their coaches predict it will be a good game to watch and enjoy. Texas Tech is 6-5 and was involved in a five-way tie for first place in the Southwest Conference. Unbeaten Texas A&M was ruled ineligible because of NCAA probation. USC was 7-3-1 and fell from contention in the Pac-10 race after it lost 31-18 to UCLA in the next to last game of the season. The Trojans completed their schedule by tying Notre Dame 17-17. Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes and Southern California coach John

Robinson said their teams were excited about the Jan. 2 clash. It's the Trojans first visit to the Cotton Bowl and Texas Tech hasn't been in the game since 1939 when it lost to St. Mary's of California. "This is a big opportunity for us," Robinson said Tuesday. "We have a young team with a chance to play in a major game. We had a frustrating end to our season so the chance to play one more game like this is important." Dykes said "it's been a long wait for us. We're a young team that started the season as a bunch of no-names then kept getting better. We won the right to be here. Our record is not as good as some people would like it but we fought our way here." Dykes said The Raiders had a hard time getting started because it had to replace all of its skill players. "We had 92 percent of our offensive punch graduated," Dykes said. "I think we did a fine job of improving." Dykes said he knew there were some frustrations about the Red Raiders not playing better. "Oh, I guess you lose 10 percent of your friends every year and I've been there 10 years," Dykes said. "Mom and my dog is about all I got left." Robinson said he knows the Trojans will get Texas Tech's best shot. "Texas Tech plays with a lot of emotion and enthusiasm," Robinson said. "The way their offense has developed through the year has been very impressive."

Oregon coach gets Bryant Award

HOUSTON (AP)--Rich Brooks, who led Oregon to its first Rose Bowl berth since 1958, won the Bear Bryant Award on Tuesday night as college football's coach of the year. Brooks was one of six finalists for the honor, presented annually by the Football Writers Association of America. The other finalists were 1993 winner Terry Bowden of Auburn, Tom Osborne of Nebraska, Sonny Lubick of Colorado State, Joe Paterno of Penn State and Fred Goldsmith of Duke. Paterno would have become the award's first four-time winner. Oregon recovered from a 1-2 start that included consecutive losses to Hawaii and Utah to finish the season 9-3 and earn a shot at Penn State in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 2. "We beat Washington and Arizona back-to-back and that solidified us as a true Rose Bowl contender," said Brooks, who has coached for 18 years at Oregon. "The good news is we were able to finish the job at the end of the season." "We had to come from behind three different times against Washington, Arizona and Oregon State to win the championship." The Ducks stumbled early in the season because of inexperience. "We were a very young football team at the beginning of the season," Brooks said. "Seventeen of the top 22 players on offense were freshmen and sophomores and we really made some mistakes early." "We did some things from assignment errors, turnovers and giveaways. Once we got that corrected after the Utah game, we became a very good football team. We had players step up and fill in for injured players."

7th A boys win tourney at Valleyview

Hereford's seventh grade A boys' basketball team won a tournament played Friday and Saturday at Valleyview Junior High in Amarillo. The Hereford team captured the title by defeating, in order: Dimmitt's A team, 64-44; Canyon's A team, 59-34; and Plainview, 58-56. L.J. Vallejo scored 41 points in the three games, and Eric McNutt scored 36. The other three Hereford Junior High boys' teams competed in the tournament. The eighth grade A team took the consolation trophy, losing to Dimmitt A 56-40 in the first round but going on to defeat Valleyview B, 68-40, and Canyon B, 57-35. Mitch Wagner scored 23 points in the three games. The seventh grade B team lost in the consolation game, 53-38 to Dimmitt A. It lost in the first round to Plainview, 82-22, but did beat Canyon B, 46-31. Matt Lusk scored 28 points in the three games. The eighth B team fell in both it's games, 61-38 to Plainview A and 40-27 to Canyon B. Corey Ortiz scored 13 against Canyon. The HJH boys won three out of four games Monday at Canyon, while the girls, playing Canyon in Hereford, won only one. The boys' seventh A team won 56-28, getting 12 points from McNutt and 11 from James Miller, while the seventh B team won 45-41 with 13 from Lusk and 11 from Ian Isaacson. The boys' eighth A won 57-39 (no high scorer was reported) but the eighth B lost 45-34, despite Brent Bullard's 10 points and Ortiz' eight. The girls' eighth grade A team took the victory, 25-23 over Canyon at HJH. Makesha Rives and Myra Olvera each scored eight points. The B team lost 22-17, despite Kasey Torres' 11 points. The seventh A team fell 30-18, as Toni Eicke and Tori Walker each scored six points. The B team lost 29-14, with Senaida Origo scoring five.

The Great Gibson
 PITTSBURGH (AP) - The stories about Josh Gibson, the great slugger of the Negro Baseball League, are many - and at least one is hard to believe. According to the legend, Gibson was playing for the Pittsburgh Crawfords in a game in Pittsburgh's Forbes Field, and he hit a ball to center field that went "up, up, and away." The center fielder ran back to the fence but the ball kept going. Players and spectators agreed that it never did come down. The umpires ruled it a home run.

76ers' Burton burns old team with 53 points

By The Associated Press
Willie Burton had something to prove. Nick Van Exel was just in the groove.
Burton, released last month by the Miami Heat, helped the Philadelphia 76ers win Tuesday night by scoring 53 points against his old team in a 105-90 win.
It was the top performance in the NBA this season, and it even outdid Michael Jordan's 52-point scoring record set at Philadelphia's Spectrum on Nov. 16, 1988.
"I'm going to have a hard time sleeping tonight," said Burton, waived by the Heat on Nov. 3 and picked up by the 76ers five days later. "I just want to savor this."
While Burton was hitting layups galore against Miami, the Lakers' Van Exel was putting on a 3-point display against the Dallas Mavericks.
Van Exel made eight of 16 3-pointers for 35 points in Los Angeles' 115-108 victory against a Dallas team distracted by a mid-game spat between forward Roy Tarpley and coach Dick Motta that led to Tarpley's suspension.

76ers 105, Heat 90
Philadelphia took its biggest lead, 85-64, with 9:33 to play, but Miami went on a 19-6 run to close to 91-83 with 5:21 remaining.
The 76ers then scored 10 straight points, capped by Dana Barros' 3-pointer with 2:47 to play.
Glen Rice had 25 points and Bimbo Coles had 17 points and 12 assists for Miami, which has lost four of five games. Barros added 17 points for Philadelphia.
Hornets 107, Bucks 101
Hersey Hawkins made all six of his free throws down the stretch and finished with 23 points as Charlotte handed Milwaukee its 10th loss in 11 games.
With the score tied at 90 with 3:03 remaining, Larry Johnson scored a key basket inside and Dell Curry hit a 3-pointer to give the Hornets a 97-92 lead with 1:17 to go. Charlotte then made eight straight free throws to seal the win.

Alonzo Mourning added 20 points for the Hornets. Rookie Glenn Robinson had 24 points for the visiting Bucks.
Cavaliers 90, Pacers 83
Cleveland scored the first 8 points of the fourth quarter to beat cold-shooting Indiana.
The Pacers, who shot just 27 percent in the fourth period, had their five-game winning streak snapped. Cleveland has won three in a row.
Chris Mills scored 17, John Williams 15 and Bobby Phills 14 for Cleveland. Mark Price had 13 points, 11 assists and seven rebounds.
Rik Smits led Indiana with 26 points, and Dale Davis scored 16. Reggie Miller had 13 points on 6-for-17 shooting, including 1-for-7 on 3-point attempts.

Hawks 85, Timberwolves 83, OT
Atlanta's Lenny Wilkens moved within three wins of Red Auerbach's NBA record for coaching victories as the Hawks defeated Minnesota in overtime.
Andrew Lang's short hook in the lane with 1:21 remaining in the extra period at The Omni gave Atlanta its fifth victory in seven games.
The Timberwolves have dropped 10 of their last 12.
Mookie Blaylock led the Hawks with 19 points and Isaiah Rider paced Minnesota with 23.
Bulls 98, Pistons 78
Chicago came back from a horrific third quarter to defeat injury-depleted Detroit.
Scottie Pippen finished with 31 points and Toni Kukoc a career-high 28 for the Bulls. Joe Dumars and Terry Mills had 16 points each for visiting Detroit, playing without injured Grant Hill, Lindsey Hunter and Oliver Miller. The Pistons, who committed 28 turnovers, are scoring only 84 points a game during a four-game losing streak.

Rockets 93, Bullets 85
Helped by Otis Thorpe's 27 points and 14 rebounds, Houston withstood a late comeback by Washington.
The Bullets, down by 17 points in the third period, outscored Houston 9-0 during a mid-quarter spurt to trim the Rockets' lead to just 77-71.
Washington then cut the Houston margin to 88-83, but that was as close as the Bullets could get.
Washington, which lost its third straight, got 22 points and 16 rebounds from Chris Webber. Calbert Cheaney and Scott Skiles each added 16 points.

Kings 112, Warriors 107
Off to its best start since 1982-83, Sacramento beat Golden State in Oakland for only the second time in four years.
Brian Grant scored 13 of his 15 points in the fourth period, helping the Kings send the Warriors to their seventh straight loss.
Mitch Richmond's 29 points led the Kings. Otis Polynice had 20, Walt Williams 15 and Spud Webb 13 as the Kings improved to 11-8.
Tim Hardaway scored 23 points to lead the Warriors, who have lost 11 of 12 since starting the season 7-1. Clifford Rozier, Rony Seikaly and Carlos Rogers each added 14. Seikaly also had 12 rebounds.

Mavericks suspend Tarpley

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas Mavericks power forward Roy Tarpley was suspended without pay Tuesday night by coach Dick Motta after Tarpley reacted angrily when he was removed from a game with the Los Angeles Lakers.
Trying to make a comeback this season after being banned for drug violations, Tarpley played seven minutes in the second quarter and when he was replaced, he glared at Motta and went to the bench muttering.
The player dressed and left Reunion Arena following an altercation with Motta later in the locker room during halftime.

"He tried to kick me out of the locker room," Tarpley said. "He told me not to challenge him or he would get rid of me. I'm disappointed and frustrated. I'm just here to play basketball."
Motta said front office personnel would meet after the game to determine the length of Tarpley's suspension.
"I can't get into another person's head," Motta said after the game. "I thought his actions were detrimental to our team. I don't think anybody's interested in the game right now and that's sad. I compliment our players for not being distracted."
The Mavericks lost 115-108.

Dismissed by the league in 1991 for violating its anti-drug agreement, Tarpley was reinstated by the NBA shortly before the season began.
This season, he was averaging 12.4 points in 11 games.
Mavericks owner Donald Carter said he stood by Motta.
"I know that a player was talking when he left the game and that's something that shouldn't be tolerated," Carter said. "You're always disappointed any time somebody doesn't perform up to expectations. I doubt if he'd have been in the game in the second half if I were the coach. Whatever Dick Motta says is what it's going to be."

Penn shocks Michigan, 62-60

By HARRY ATKINS
AP Sports Writer
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—This was supposed to have been a game that got Michigan back on track. Instead it may have gotten Pennsylvania back into the national picture.
Michigan had fallen to the last rung in the Top 25 after losses to Arizona State, Arizona and Duke. A home game against an Ivy League team is supposed to straighten things out for a Big Ten program.
Penn, though, is no normal Ivy League team. The Quakers are two-time defending champions and beat Nebraska in the first round of the NCAA tournament last year and nearly defeated Florida in the next round.
"This is as good as it gets," Penn coach Fran Dunphy said Tuesday night after the 62-60 victory on Jerome Allen's leaping jumper in the lane with four seconds left. "This means a lot to our program."
Penn went 25-3 last season and had four starters and the top three reserves back from that team. A opening-round home loss to Canisius in the Preseason NIT hurt, but the win at Michigan should erase some of the doubt from that loss.

Penn (4-1) took a 21-point lead in the early going behind its poise, discipline and deadly shooting as Scott Kegler had four of his five 3-pointers in the first half.
In the only other games involving ranked teams Tuesday night, it was No. 17 Cincinnati beating No. 11 Minnesota 91-88 in overtime and No. 19 Ohio University downing Wright State 90-56.
No. 17 Cincinnati 91, No. 11 Minnesota 88, OT
At Minneapolis, LaZelle Durden scored a season-high 25 points, including a 3-pointer that tied it with 4.4 seconds left in regulation and another 3 in overtime to lead the Bearcats (5-2). Durden had five 3-pointers for the fourth straight game.

He was helped inside by freshman Danny Fortson, who had 19 points, and junior center Art Long, who returned from a two-game disciplinary suspension to score 18 points.
The Golden Gophers (6-1), who could have had their best start in coach Clem Haskins' nine seasons, were led by Voshon Lenard, who had 19 points on 6-for-21 shooting, 1-for-9 from 3-point range.
No. 19 Ohio U. 90, Wright St. 56
At Athens, Ohio, Gary Trent had 20 points and 10 rebounds for his ninth straight double-double. The Bobcats (7-2) built a 19-4 lead on three 3-pointers by Gus Johnson, who finished with 17 points and was 5-for-10 from beyond the 3-point line.
The Raiders (2-3), who got no closer than 30 points in the second half, were led by Rob Welch's 12 points.

Owners expect offer; deadline is Thursday

RYE BROOK, N.Y. (AP)—Baseball owners expect a new offer from players today and still say they'll impose a salary cap Thursday unless they see signs of progress.
The sides met three times over a 15 1/2-hour period that began at 10:30 a.m. EST Tuesday morning and didn't end until just after 2 a.m. EST today. The bizarre day saw union head Donald Fehr appear in an Australian hat and play the piano while answering questions during a break.
"It's a search for a mechanism that does the job," Fehr said.
Officials on both sides said much of the talk involved discussions that went around in circles with no progress. The union raised the possibility of trading salary arbitration for earlier free agency, but sources said owners didn't give a direct reply.

Colorado Rockies chairman Jerry McMorris, the most optimistic member of management's negotiating committee, revealed the possibility of a new offer from the players.
"They had some consulting to do with their people and they'll be back to us in the morning," he said.
Whether the players would come up with something that will convince owners not to impose a salary cap Thursday, however, was uncertain. Owners are to meet Thursday in Chicago, and management negotiator John Harrington has said if there isn't a deal by then, the teams will declare an impasse and impose a salary cap.
The union would challenge the imposed salary cap before the National Labor Relations Board, leading to months of litigation and the possibility teams would open the 1995 season with replacement players.

Octagenarians a hit in elementary school

By LYNN BULMAHN
Waco Tribune-Herald
WACO, Texas - George Brown is in the first grade. He is 88 years old. Sam Harelik's elementary school class threw him a surprise birthday party. They even decorated the classroom for the occasion. They were 80 candles on his cake. The two men are not late bloomers, but volunteers for the Adopt-A-School project at Crestview Elementary School in Waco.

Both Harelik and Brown are members of the Waco Founder Lions Club. Since the club's headquarters is Lions Den, a few blocks from the school on North 42nd Street, it was natural for a partnership to emerge between the civic club and Crestview.

Although Founder Lions is not exclusively a senior citizen's club, its older members find they have plenty of time to volunteer. Brown and Harelik spend hours at the school, tutoring students who need a little extra help and attention. Brown, a retired Clifton Manufacturing salesman who ran B&B Specialties for 17 years, began volunteering this year. Brown goes to the school after the noon meeting of the Lions Club on Wednesdays. Staff members confide he gets there earlier each time.

Brown's special friend in Linda McCartney's first-grade class is Samuel Henry. "He's helped a whole lot," said McCartney of Brown. "This really helps the self-esteem of Sam. He's more confident."

The youngster often waits at the classroom door, asking if Brown is going to visit that day, she said. "Mr. Brown said he's not sure if he's helping the kids or if the kids are helping him," said Cookie Davis, the school's Adopt-A-School coordinator. "But the kids love him."

One Wednesday, Brown and Samuel worked at coloring a worksheet together. The design on the worksheet was coded by numbers, and the student had to match the right number with the color it represented. When Samuel realized he'd colored one design incorrectly, he slapped his hand to his mouth.

Brown said Samuel does that any time he makes a mistake. But, he said, the errors are becoming fewer. "He is as smart as all get out," Brown said of Samuel. "But when he sees the end of something, he's not interested in it."

"What color are you looking for?" Brown asked his student. "Number three," Samuel replied. "What color is number three?" Brown asked. "Yellow."

When Samuel could not find a yellow crayon, Brown suggested he substitute a light orange one.

McCartney said Brown's influence has been positive. By working one-on-one, she said, an Adopt-A-School volunteer learns what the student needs and how to relate to the child.

Harelik, who operated Harelik's Man Shoppe for many years, is a veteran Adopt-A-School volunteer. He knows all the children by name. And he knows who is - and isn't - in the room.

"Out of 20-something kids, he automatically knows who is not here," Davis said. "That even takes the teacher a while."

Harelik takes a personal interest in his students.

"I haven't had a bad bunch," Harelik said, thinking back through the years he's volunteered. He helps in several areas, but Harelik says his preference is reading.

"My theory of the three Rs is that it is reading, reading, reading," he said. "I don't think they can accomplish anything else unless they can get their reading down good."

He admits children often squabble about which ones will go and read with Harelik. "They love to read," he said.

Recently, Harelik, who is Jewish, spoke to the pre-kindergarten classes about the observance of Hanukkah. He lit candles and played them a song about the dreidel as part of the children's learning about different cultures for social studies. They were spellbound.

"You have been a well-behaved bunch," he tells the afternoon class. Harelik admits he was overwhelmed

"I didn't realize I'd have such a grown-up class."

Later, Harelik goes to his regular assignment, Mildred Johnson's third grade. Immediately, the children throw him a hug. He tells visitors to him, wanting a hug. He tells visitors how a little girl wanted to go read with him, and cried when she wasn't chosen. A little boy gave up his place so that she could go.

"I don't know what I'd do without him," Johnson says. "He assists the kids with their reading skills and their math skills. Their grades have improved."

Harelik admits he was overwhelmed by the class' surprise birthday party in his honor. "I've been 39 for 41 times now," he smiled. "But they made such a big thing out of my 80th birthday, I guess I'm going to have to admit my age."

He said the children guessed his age. Some said 49, and others said 94. When he told them the correct year, they said "you don't look like you're 80."

"I think they're all going to be diplomats with the United Nations," when they grow up, Harelik beamed.

Trooper resigns in wake of pumpkin theft investigation

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - A state trooper has resigned in the wake of an investigation of pumpkin thefts from a Lubbock County field and a subsequent police chase.

Freddie Salazar, a nine-year veteran trooper, resigned Tuesday, according to a statement from the Texas Department of Public Safety. No charges had been filed as of Tuesday.

The DPS released information about Salazar's resignation to remove suspicion from the Lubbock County Sheriff's Office, which also had been under investigation, said Lt. Barry Caver of the Texas Rangers.

Trooper Daniel Montemayor has been charged with trespassing, theft and trespassing while carrying a deadly weapon in the Oct. 8 incident. All charges are misdemeanors.

Montemayor is on administrative leave with pay pending disciplinary action.

Montemayor and Salazar were the only troopers on duty when the pumpkins were taken from Clifford Hamilton's farm - in northwest Lubbock County, Caver said.

Hamilton, who gives pumpkins to children each year, said he became suspicious of Salazar more than a month after the theft.

Salazar had come to pick pumpkins with a school group two days after the Oct. 8 theft. He returned them in November after a newspaper article appeared on the theft citing Montemayor's alleged involvement, the farmer said.

"He told my secretary he didn't appreciate what I had said about his friend," Hamilton said of Salazar. "He was insinuating that these (pumpkins) were the ones he got (with the schoolchildren). But this pumpkin that he brought back had part of a vine on it."

When Samuel could not find a yellow crayon, Brown suggested he substitute a light orange one.

McCartney said Brown's influence has been positive. By working one-on-one, she said, an Adopt-A-School volunteer learns what the student needs and how to relate to the child.

Harelik, who operated Harelik's Man Shoppe for many years, is a veteran Adopt-A-School volunteer. He knows all the children by name. And he knows who is - and isn't - in the room.

Healthcare Foundation is one of city's worthwhile charity groups

As generous Deaf Smith County residents plan their gifts to charities during the holiday season, the Deaf Smith Healthcare Foundation board hopes that it makes the "short list."

"A gift to the Healthcare Foundation benefits every single person in the county," noted Sylvia Khuri, volunteer executive director of the foundation. "Everyone of us is a potential user of healthcare services. The foundation exists to support and enhance those services so that they will always be there."

The foundation's purposes are "to provide technology, help recruit physicians when needed, and provide scholarships in the medical field," to name a few. Ms. Khuri pointed out that the foundation set a goal of raising $200,000 in two years as the first step in building an endowment.

"By definition, an endowment means that we spend investment and interest income only on our projects, leaving the principal intact," she said. "We are happy to announce that during our first year of building, we have successfully raised more than $139,000...thanks to our generous supporters and to the efforts of our board members," Ms. Khuri said.

"Area residents are truly fortunate to have an excellent volunteer board of directors steering this ambitious undertaking to protect one of the most vital assets this community has," she said.

Noting that Deaf Smith County enjoys the availability of good medical services—including physicians, hospital and medical clinics—Ms. Khuri urged "everyone to pitch in and help make sure this will be the case well into the future."

"It's easy for people to take things for granted but, judging from the situation in other rural communities, we cannot afford to take that attitude. Just imagine how the quality of life would be affected if he had no hospital and no doctors to serve us when we need them," she emphasized.

Mr. Khuri added that good medical facilities are important in helping attract new industry to the community. "Healthcare services was an important issue that Premium Standard Farms investigated during their recent evaluation of the area."

She said the foundation board is currently focusing on scholarships for students who are pursuing a career in healthcare. Directors have developed scholarship guidelines and the board has the mechanism to accept scholarship funds from the public.

Ms. Khuri said opportunities for giving to the foundation include cash gifts, securities, real estate, other property, bequests, life insurance, honorariums, birthday and anniversary recognition, and memorials. The foundation is a charitable organization and a gift is tax deductible as allowed by law.

"Not only can you experience the joy of giving, but this would be an opportunity to alleviate a year-end tax burden," she said. For further information, contact a board member or Ms. Khuri at 364-2141, or write Deaf Smith Healthcare Foundation, Box 1858, Hereford.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I don't think I've ever seen this problem addressed in your column, and I hope you'll print my letter. It is for all policemen who patrol the highways, especially at night.

You may be the one who pulled my husband over last week. Or two months ago. Or last year. Yes, it was after midnight. Yes, maybe he was weaving a bit or driving a little too slow. Maybe you smelled alcohol on his breath or saw a bottle on the front seat. But you gave him a pass and let him go. Why? Because he is a fellow police officer. You probably call it "professional courtesy." I'm sure you meant well.

This likable cop with the great smile and charming manner has a drinking problem. He caused me no end of worry, and we had some stormy sessions because of his boozing it up and insisting on driving while intoxicated. I am not sure how he is doing these days because I asked him to move out two months ago.

So the next time you pull over "one of your own," please remember your responsibility as a law enforcement officer. By giving that impaired driver a pass, you may have prevented the crisis he needed in order to realize how much trouble he was in. I believe it is far better to get arrested for drunk driving than to end up in the morgue.

Please publish this letter for the countless men in blue who will see themselves in your column today. I want my husband back.—Anonymous in N.Y.

DEAR ANON: Here it is—not only for the men in blue, but also the women in law enforcement, who are asking themselves, "Could this be me?"

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing in the hope that, together, we can influence more Americans to protect our young children against infectious childhood diseases like polio and measles.

Almost 2 million 2-year-olds still need some shots to be properly immunized against nine preventable diseases. As recently as three years ago, a measles epidemic swept the country. Eighty children died, and thousands were hospitalized. These tragedies were preventable.

Children need at least 11 shots before their second birthday. We cannot wait until they enroll in school to protect them. It is during infancy that they are most vulnerable. This means that health professionals must take every opportunity to vaccinate children during office visits and parents must take responsibility for bringing in their children for shots. Parents should also keep a record of their children's immunizations and specifically ask the doctor if the shots are up to date.

To boost our vaccination rates, President Clinton has launched the most ambitious immunization campaign in U.S. history. We've teamed up with parents, doctors, public health officials, community leaders and the private sector to spread the message that children need all the shots recommended in the first two years of life.

I urge your readers to get the word out to family, friends and neighbors. Parents who don't know where to go for shots, or which shots their baby needs, can call our toll-free number, 1-800-232-2522. For Spanish speakers, the number is 1-800-232-0233. Sincerely—Donna E. Shalala, secretary of health and human services, Washington, D.C.

DEAR DONNA SHALALA: Thank you for helping me save a lot of young lives today.

YORBA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — Elvis Presley and Richard Nixon crossed paths only once, but the former Nixon aide who arranged the once-secret White House meeting says it was certainly unusual.

"People think it's the most bizarre thing. Can you imagine a meeting between two more unlikely people?" Egil "Bud" Krogh asked an audience Saturday at the Richard Nixon Library & Birthplace.

A few feet away, the presidential library's gift shop was doing brisk sales in T-shirts featuring a color photograph of the White House encounter with the words, "Dream Team."

In December 1970, a man handed a letter to a guard at a White House gate, Krogh explained. The six-page note, handwritten on American Airlines stationery, asked for a meeting with the president that day and was signed Elvis Presley.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Dancing with wolves wasn't enough for Kevin Costner.

The actor has produced "500 Nations," an eight-hour documentary on American Indians, and also serves as host of the film, which examines life in North America before and after the Europeans arrived and forever changed the fate of the native American nations.

Costner's Tig Productions company says two books, an interactive CD-ROM, a soundtrack, a video and a book on tape also will be released with the film's April broadcast.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Tom Brokaw says his fellow journalists better get serious about what they consider news.

"I think we're living through an age of real anxiety in American culture and economics, and I worry that it isn't getting much attention," the NBC anchorman says in Sunday's Daily News of Los Angeles.

"If we lose sight of the fact that there is other news out there needing to be covered besides the O.J.'s and the Susan Smiths and the Heidi Fleisses, we do so at our peril," Brokaw said.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no daily change, straight word ads.

Times	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	26	5.20
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60
5 days per word	59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines--those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are 4.35 per column inch, 3.65 inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers an additional insertion will be published.

Dry weather, sunshine needed in some areas for planting, harvest

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Producers in North Texas are asking for some sunshine and dry weather this Christmas to aid in planting and harvesting, according to the state Agricultural Extension Service.

Randall Upshaw, district extension director in Dallas, said producers are getting more rain than they bargained for, with many field activities at a halt.

"Wet fields have stopped wheat planting for many parts of the area," Upshaw said this week. "And the wheat that is in the fields is water-logged."

He said producers still are deciding whether they will be able to plant other crops, like soybeans, corn and sorghum.

Bob Greenway, Extension agent in Hunt County, said parts of Greenville have received 15 inches above average rainfall, leaving many producers without much hope for a wheat crop this year.

"Usually we finish planting by late November so the wheat is up to stand by mid-December," Greenway said. "However, we only have around 5 percent of our planting completed."

Greenway said farmers have only been able to get in the fields two days in the last month for planting and harvesting.

"Our cotton harvest still has a long way to go before it's finished, and we seem to be losing more cotton than we are harvesting," he said. "And what we have harvested is low in quality and yield."

He estimated 25 percent of the cotton is harvested, but said that number could be as low as 15 percent.

Dr. Clay Salisbury, Extension agronomist in Amarillo, said adequate rainfall and mild weather are making cotton harvests easier for producers in the Panhandle. He said harvests are 90 percent complete, with only a few stray counties with cotton in the fields.

"The quality looks good, considering the damage it sustained from last summer's drought," Salisbury said. "The irrigated cotton is looking better than the dryland, but we're happy to say it's not by much."

Salisbury said wheat producers are right on track, with few having a problem with disease or pests. He added that the number of pests is down from last year.

However, insect problems aren't down for all parts of Texas, as producers in San Angelo find more pests than usual in their wheat fields.

Kenneth Cook, district Extension director in San Angelo, said wheat fields are providing some excellent winter grazing for livestock, despite problems with pests.

"We have seen more greenbugs than we expected, but we are hopeful that the problem will take care of itself," Cook said. "The fields are right on target as far as growth, making a pest problem the last thing we need."

Jon Zeidler, meteorologist at the National Weather Service Agricultural Service Center in College Station, said moist Gulf air will provide the fuel for showers and thunderstorms, as a cold front moves through Texas Wednesday through Friday.

"High pressure will build behind the front, bringing fair skies and cool conditions over the weekend," Zeidler said. "Expect light to moderate rainfall, with the heaviest totals from one-half to one inch in a region stretching from Sherman-Denison to Del Rio."

High temperatures through Friday will range from the 50s in the High Plains to the 70s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Lows will be in the 30s for the High Plains to low 60s along the Gulf coast. Highs for the rest of the state will be in the 40s and 50s, with lows in the 30s and 40s.

The following specific livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by district Extension directors:

PANHANDLE: Soil moisture short. Pastures, ranges need moisture. Cotton harvest near completion. Irrigated wheat fields progressing. Preparing land for spring planting. Cattle in good condition.

SOUTH PLAINS: Soil moisture short. Pastures, ranges in fair to good condition. Harvesting cotton, sorghum. Wheat, grains need moisture. Supplemental feeding for livestock continues.

ROLLING PLAINS: Soil moisture adequate. Pastures, ranges in good condition. Harvesting cotton; lower yields, quality. Planting wheat. Livestock in good condition; supplemental feeding continues.

NORTH TEXAS: Soil moisture surplus to adequate. Pastures, ranges improving with rain. Harvesting cotton, soybeans, peanuts, pecans. Planting oats, wheat. Turnips, greens progressing. Livestock in fair condition.

EAST TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Pastures, ranges benefiting from moisture. Harvesting fall vegetables. Winter forage progressing. Pruning peach trees. Pecan yields low.

FAR WEST TEXAS: Soil moisture very short to adequate. Pastures, ranges in fair to good condition. Harvesting red chiles, pecans. Planting onions. Cutting, baling hay. Wheat fields need moisture.

WEST CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Pastures, ranges in fair condition. Wheat progressing. Peanut grades excellent. Livestock in good condition; supplemental feeding continues.

CENTRAL TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate. Pastures, ranges providing excellent grazing for livestock. Pecan harvest completed; quality, yields low. Pests damaging vegetables, wheat.

SOUTHEAST TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate to surplus. Pastures, ranges improving with moisture. Baling hay. Peach trees blooming. Preparing land for spring planting. Cattle in good condition.

SOUTHWEST TEXAS: Soil moisture adequate to surplus. Pastures, ranges in good to excellent condition. Harvesting cabbage, southern greens. Peanut harvest near completion. Winter forage, spinach progressing.

COASTAL BEND: Soil moisture adequate to surplus. Pastures, ranges benefiting from rain. Preparing land for spring planting. Gardens progressing. Livestock in good condition; discontinued supplemental feeding.

SOUTH TEXAS: Soil moisture short to adequate. Pastures, ranges in good condition. Harvesting sugar cane; wind problems disrupting harvest. Onion, cabbage progressing. Livestock in good condition.

Simpson attorneys take new DNA tack

By MICHAEL FLEEMAN
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — O.J. Simpson's attorneys have tried one novel approach after another to have evidence excluded from his trial, mostly without success.

Their latest effort tops them all. The defense wants to hold a hearing on the admissibility of crucial DNA evidence in front of the jury rather than outside the panel's presence, according to a motion filed Tuesday.

Under the proposal, opening statements would begin Jan. 4. Then, in mid-trial, jurors would hear lawyers discuss whether DNA tests on blood samples taken from Simpson and the crime scene are reliable and should be presented.

Superior Court Judge Lance Ito would decide whether jurors should hear about the actual results.

Legal analysts said they had never heard of a tactic quite like this one. And while they give the defense high marks for originality, they suggest the idea won't fly with Ito because the decision on whether to admit the evidence does not lie with the jury.

"This motion shows a fair amount of chutzpah on the part of the defense," said law professor Myrna Raeder of Southwestern University. "If they can pull this off, it will be a real coup."

Prosecutors would not comment. But on Monday, Deputy District Attorney Marcia Clark suggested she would object to a mid-trial DNA hearing because it would distract the jury while the prosecution is trying to prove its case.

Legal analysts agreed. University of Southern California law professor Erwin Chemerinsky said the jury might have to sit through weeks of mind-numbing, theoretical scientific testimony.

A pretrial DNA hearing could last as long as eight weeks and cost Simpson $500,000 for legal fees and expert testimony. If Ito approved the admissibility of DNA evidence — and he has rarely sided with the defense so far — many of the same issues would have to be fought out again at trial when attorneys try to show jurors how much weight should be given to the evidence.

In their motion, Simpson's attorneys agreed that if he is convicted in the June 12 knife killings of ex-wife Nicole Brown Simpson and her friend Ronald Goldman, the fact that jurors heard the DNA discussion would not be used as grounds for an appeal.

But if the judge admits the evidence, Simpson's lawyers reserved the right to use that decision as a basis for appeal.

What you should know about our Pricing Policy: Not all items in this publication are on sale. Percent and dollar savings are off regular prices on in-stock items. Selection may vary by showroom; some items may not be available through Mail Order. An item's reference retail price, indicated by the † symbol, is your guide to its regular selling price at department stores and similar retailers. It is not our present or former selling price. It is either the retail price suggested by the mfr. in this publication's distribution area or our own determination of full retail price based on customary retailer markups for similar merchandise. Best Values are exceptional regular prices.
