United Way kickoff is Wednesday noon

Goals and a new direction for United Way of Deaf Smith County will be set at the annual kickoff luncheon at noon Wednesday at the Hereford Community Center.

UWDC has a $150,000 goal this year to benefit 12 member agencies. Leaders will discuss plans and the importance of the agencies UWDC serves at the luncheon.

The theme for the campaign is "Take Time to Care." In a world that has become increasingly complex, residents are urged to stop and remember those who need a little additional help from time to time.

The $150,000 goal is divided among 12 agencies which serve all age and socio-economic groups in the county," said John Sherrod, president of United Way of Deaf Smith County. "Due to recent controversies with United Way of America, we pay no state or national dues at this time; all money stays right here to help our local groups."

UWDC provides funding for 12 agencies that directly affect life in Deaf Smith County: American Red Cross, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Family Services, Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center, Salvation Army, High Plains Epilepsy, Hereford YMCA, Senior Citizens, Campfire and Children's Rehabilitation Center.

The guest speaker at the luncheon will be William D. Poteet III, president and chief executive officer of Lubbock Methodist Hospital System. Poteet has spent his career working in hospitals and health-related facilities in Texas. He served as chairman of Lubbock's United Way campaign in 1987 and was president of the Lubbock board in 1988.

The luncheon will be a joint civic club meeting for the second week of September; others are welcome to attend the luncheon but are asked to make reservations by calling the UWDC office at 364-5220. Cost for the luncheon, catered by K-Bob's, is $4.75 per person.

Bush, Clinton wrap themselves in Truman

WASHINGTON (AP) - When they're not busy wrapping themselves in Harry Truman's mantle, President Bush and Bill Clinton are casting their newly opened fall campaign as "a choice between hope and fear," each claiming his stake to the more positive choice.

To George Bush, "Governor Clinton wants to scare American workers so he can slip into office with the failed tax-and-spend policies of the past."

"We can do worse," Bush says. "You can't trust Clinton and Gore. They have nothing to run on but negativism and fear."

Not so, says the Democrat: "This election provides Americans their clearest choice in a generation; a choice between hope and fear. ..."

"We are running on vision and hope," he says.

Those were the messages Bush and Clinton trumpeted Monday on what has been the traditional Labor Day kickoff to the fall presidential campaign.

But this year it was just another full day in a campaign that Bush said "has been going on about 10 months too long."

Their running mates also debated in absentia, arguing job opportunities versus environmental protection.

Al Gore, in Labor Day speeches in Detroit, said, "The only time Bush and (Vice President Dan) Quayle start thinking about your jobs is when they are scared that their jobs are on the line."

Quayle began a three-day Western swing. He acknowledged California's economic troubles but predicted voters would, in the end, be unable to support a candidate about whom they had "grave" character questions.

Richards' popularity high in poll

DALLAS (AP) - After two years in office, most Texans believe Gov. Ann Richards is doing a fine job of ruling the Lone Star State.

"She could be elected queen of Texas," said Micheline Blum of the firm Blum & Weprin Associates Inc., in New York, which conducted the survey for The Dallas Morning News.

According to the survey, 73 percent of those polled approved of the job Richards is doing. Twenty percent said they did not and the rest were undecided.

The telephone survey of 1,027 registered voters was conducted Aug. 30-Sept. 3 and has a margin of error of 3.5 percentage points.

"She's got it every way - the majority of Republicans, Bush voters, men, women, black, white," Ms. Blum said.

Richards scored highest among her base supporters of women, Democrats, liberals, minorities and those with moderate incomes. But she also drew good marks from conservatives and Republicans.

The poll indicates the Democratic governor has a positive approval rating among virtually every group in the survey, including political supporters of President Bush.

Bill Cryer, a spokesman for Richards, called the figures "fairly astounding" and credited what he

Congress faces hectic fall

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress convenes a pre-election session today, with majority Democrats ready to challenge President Bush's pledge to veto any bill that spends more than he wants.

The Senate begins work today, with the House expected to take up the Senate-passed family leave bill when it opens business on Wednesday. Bush vetoed a nearly identical bill two years ago, calling it a hidden tax on business.

The measure would require companies with 50 or more employees to provide up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave for a childbirth or medical emergency.

Bush served notice at the GOP convention last month that "if Congress sends me a bill spending more than I asked in my budget, I will veto it fast."

House Republicans banded together to prevent a veto override of the family leave bill two years ago.

"The block of votes that are against government mandates on private companies are still there," said an aide to a House GOP leader. "This close to the election it would be pretty hard for those members to change their votes."

Another possible subject for a veto battle is a bill to impose trade restrictions on China. The 102nd Congress so far has failed to override any of some 30 Bush vetoes.

Some conservatives would like to force another tax showdown in Congress before the election, but administration officials so far have indicated no desire for one. Bush has vowed to cut taxes if he wins a second term.

A potential fight looms over a $31 billion urban aid bill that initially was intended to revitalize inner cities in response to the Los Angeles riots. The measure has now become a grab bag of investment and tax incentives to help stimulate a continuing sluggish economy.

Most House and many Senate members will have their attention diverted by their own re-election campaigns. The session is to extend into next month.

Another matter that could draw attention away from legislation is the probe of the House bank scandal. Special counsel Malcolm Wilkey is nearing the end of the initial phase of his review of members' overdrawn checks.

Bush asks $7.6 billion in storm aid

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush said today he will ask Congress for $7.6 billion in emergency aid to clean up and rebuild from Hurricane Andrew.

"It's a large financial burden," Bush said.

However, he said, "Our country must be able to answer the cries for help from those people who have lost so much but, I feel, have stayed so strong."

Despite his election-year criticism of Congress on the campaign trail, Bush said he was confident that lawmakers would put aside partisanship on hurricane relief.

"I don't think there is any gridlock at all," the president said. "We're together on this one."

Bush announced the aid figure during a meeting with members of Congress in the Cabinet Room. It came as Congress returned to work from a summer break.

The president has pledged that the federal government will pay 100 percent of eligible costs for rebuilding.

Hurricane Andrew, the costliest natural disaster in the nation's history, caused an estimated $20 billion in damage in Florida and $1.5 billion in Louisiana. Fifty-two deaths have been linked directly or indirectly to the storm.

Andrew destroyed or damaged 97,000 homes in Florida and 14,000 in Louisiana. Upwards of 250,000 people were left homeless. In Florida, 118,000 homes and businesses are still without electricity.

Life after storm: big lines, tents

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) - The Army announced it was opening another tent city for refugees from Hurricane Andrew, even as relief officials claimed to have turned a corner from crisis to reconstruction.

Military officials said Monday they would open a tent city at the Miccosukee Indian Reservation on the fringe of the Everglades. The Miccosukee tribe's huts and trailers were badly damaged in the storm.

The five existing tent cities filled up suddenly over the Labor Day weekend as authorities closed shelters in schools, which are being readied for the delayed beginning of the school year next week.

After the holiday weekend, which saw thousands of volunteers head to hurricane-ravaged sections of south

MDA telethon sets another record

LAS VEGAS (AP) - Jerry Lewis let the tote board have the final word. His annual Labor Day telethon ended Monday with a record $45.8 million in pledges to the Muscular Dystrophy Association, despite criticism by muscular dystrophy victims upset with Lewis' fund-raising methods. "The American people are listening," Lewis said, pointing to the board at the end of his 21-hour show. "They heard me." His voice broke as he praised his staff and told a cheering audience, "We're so grateful we have a shot at winning this thing."

Protests by victims of the disease, including a White House appointee, had MDA officials worried that contributions would suffer. But the final total of $45,759,368 exceeded the record 1991 total by nearly $700,000.

Last year, corporate sponsors presented checks for an additional $65 million. This year's figure for additional corporate donations was not immediately tabulated.

Some victims of the disease complained that Lewis uses pity to coax contributions from viewers and corporate sponsors. Others were critical of an article Lewis wrote in 1990 in which he envisioned himself as a muscular dystrophy victim and said the experience would make him half a person.

Evan Kemp, chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, said Friday, "I have always had problems with the pity approach to raising money." Kemp has a mild form of muscular dystrophy, a chronic disease characterized by the wasting away of muscles. It afflicts about 1 million Americans.

Lewis wrote President Bush in February, complaining about similar comments Kemp had made earlier and saying he was misusing his government office. Robert Ross, executive director of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, said the association had been assured the comments would be toned down.

Ross said calls and letters of support for Lewis poured in from companies, children, parents and entertainers.

Lewis was visibly shaken by the flap as he prepared for the 27th annual telethon. He declined interviews, saying he had been the target of unfair criticism.

LIFE

Florida to help clean up, officials proclaimed a new phase in the massive storm relief effort.

"I'm not ready to declare victory," U.S. Transportation Secretary Andrew Card said, "but we've made dramatic progress and we're continuing to move forward. The community spirit is terrific."

Card, who is in charge of the federal relief effort, headed to Washington to brief President Bush and members of Congress about the situation in Florida and Louisiana, as well as Guam, which was hit by Typhoon Omar last week.

In Louisiana, Agriculture Secretary Edward Madigan was to review farm damage today and Marilyn Quayle, the vice president's wife, was to have lunch with Red Cross volunteers and relief recipients.

For some people in the zone of destruction, there was a sense that the crisis was passing and that it was time to resume their lives, however altered they might be.

In hard-hit Cutler Ridge, Bob Beolet mowed his front lawn Sunday and then moved his neighbor's lawn Monday. "It's beginning to look more like the old neighborhood," he said. Down the street, garbage crews loaded debris into dumptrucks and contractors nailed tarpaper over holes in rooftops.

New federal and state aid centers opened, handing out millions of dollars in food stamps, disaster grants and interest-free loans.

The Salvation Army appealed for volunteers and asked people to donate items other than clothing. Spokesman Jim Minter said the tons of clothing being shipped in are much more than is needed by storm victims.

He urged that people send money, as well as baby items, especially diapers and baby food.

Study links iron, heart attacks

NEW YORK (AP) - High levels of iron may be a major risk factor in heart attacks, according to a study published today in a scientific journal.

The study, conducted in Finland, is not conclusive; for one thing, it shows a statistical correlation between iron and heart attacks but no evidence of cause and effect.

But if supported by further research, the findings could challenge current medical recommendations for the amount of iron in the diet.

Heart attacks are the leading killer in the United States and in most other industrial countries.

The study was reported in Circulation, a journal published by the American Heart Association. It was conducted by Dr. Jukka T. Salonen and his colleagues at the University of Kuopio in Finland.

In an accompanying editorial, the article was praised as a "landmark paper" by Dr. Jerome L. Sullivan, director of clinical laboratories at the Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Charleston, S.C.

Sullivan first proposed the theory that high amounts of iron promote heart attacks 11 years ago. The theory suggests that iron helps form the plaque that hardens artery walls and blocks the flow of blood.

Dr. Claude J. Lenfant, head of the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute, was quoted in The New York Times today calling the Finnish study "provocative and potentially very important." He said scientists at the institute were looking into ways to confirm the findings among Americans.

Salonen's five-year study measured the amount of ferritin, a protein that binds iron in the blood, in more than 1,900 men ages 42 to 60 who had no clinical evidence of heart disease when the study began in 1984.

Ferritin can be used as a measure of the total amount of iron in the body.

The researchers found that for each 1 percent increase in the amount of ferritin in the blood, heart attack risk increased more than 4 percent.

Hints from Heloise

Q. Would you please explain the difference between mulch and compost? With different kinds to choose from, I'm not really sure what type I need for my garden and flower beds. — Camille J., Houston, Texas

A. Mulch is a material used to cover soil to help keep in moisture, inhibit weed growth and protect plants from drastic temperature changes. Shredded yard clippings, pine needles, leaves and wood chips all make an excellent mulch. As this type of mulch decomposes, it turns into a rich top soil.

Compost, a mixture of various decaying organic substances such as dead leaves, manure and certain kitchen scraps, is a soil enhancer made to improve existing soil. Some use compost as a mulch. — Heloise

FLOWER-STEM EXTENSION
Dear Heloise: To extend short stems on flowers, insert the stem (freshly cut at an angle) into a plastic straw. Next, cut the straw to the desired length.

Make sure that the stem of the flower is below the water line in the vase. — Mimi Krutzel, Huntington Station, N.Y.

CARPET WRINKLES
Q. Several years ago we had a good grade of carpeting installed in our living room.

Lately a wave has developed clear across the room. I have tried several suggestions but to no avail. The waves are making me seasick; please throw me a life saver. — V. Marinaro, Belleville, N.J.

A. According to the experts at the Carpet and Rug Institute, your carpeting was not stretched properly when it was installed.

Many carpet installations are done using a knee kicker to stretch the carpet. Consumers should be aware that a knee kicker does not stretch the carpet; a tool called a power stretcher does, and this tool should always be used when installing new carpet.

Call the carpet store where your carpet was purchased, explain your problem and ask them to come to your home and restretch the carpeting using a power stretcher.

Remember, the installation of carpet is just as important as the grade of carpet you choose. — Heloise

RUST RINGS
Dear Heloise: I solved a friend's problem very inexpensively. She complained that her father's shaving cream can marked up the bathroom vanity.

I suggested using a coaster to put under the can. It can even be color-coordinated with the bathroom to add a pretty touch. — L.G., Louisville, Ky.

PET PALS
Dear Heloise: I have a 2-year-old female ferret named Tika, and her favorite playmate is Tina, my 1-year-old sheltie.

They love to play tug-of-war with a rope toy. Tika is famous for stealing Tina's other toys and hiding them all over the house.

My ferret and dog share treats, drink water together (at the same time) and also share the throw rug to rest on. — Mrs. Debra Mills, Chalmette, La.

TOOTHBRUSH HOLDER
Dear Heloise: I have the habit of throwing loose pens and pencils in my purse, and the lining has become stained with ink marks. After buying a new purse, I decided to be a little more organized.

I bought a plastic toothbrush travel holder and put my pens in it. A couple of pens and pencils fit perfectly and it is easy to get to when needed. — Helen Biagioli, San Antonio, Texas

What makes lean ground beef lean?

Reduction of fat can leave cooked ground beef dry and unflavorful. That's why regular ground beef maintains a ratio of between 73 percent lean to 80 percent lean with the balance consisting of fat to carry moisture and flavor.

New high tech research funded by the beef industry has made it now possible to add taste and texture to ground beef that is more than 90 percent lean.

The research projects relied upon many different natural and similar agents to help today's new lean beef products retain that all-important moisture. These agents include various combinations of the following ingredients:

* More than 90 percent lean ground beef--an excellent source of protein, iron and some of the B vitamins.

* Carrageenan (car-ah-GEE-nun)--a naturally occurring food ingredient derived from plants. Carrageenan is already used in many familiar low-fat products including soft-serve ice cream, yogurt and pudding.

* Oat bran, oat flour, at trim and oat derivatives--a highly popular, naturally occurring good ingredient used in a wide range of consumer products from cereal to cookies.

* Hydrolyzed vegetable protein--a soybean derivative that enhances flavor and is found in packages soups and sauces and processed and frozen meat products.

* Modified dairy solids--butter milk solids and whey protein concentrate. Used in many other meat products and ice cream.

Rebels hold Whitefaces scoreless in opener

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The game wasn't on the line when Herd quarterback Richard Sanderson was knocked out of bounds at the Tascosa one-yard line as time ran out, but he still slammed the ball to the Dick Bivins Stadium turf.

A Saturday afternoon of frustration in Amarillo could have been salvaged partially by just one score, but Hereford was denied even that in the 19-0 loss to Tascosa.

"That symbolized the whole game: coming close and getting stopped short," Sanderson said through bloody lips. "It seemed like that's how it was the whole game: we'd get something going, then we'd get stopped short."

The Herd got inside the Rebels' 20-yard line three times, and each time came away with nothing. On the other side, Tascosa wingback Clint Falk made two big plays for the Rebels' first two touchdowns.

The game started with promise for the Herd. Hereford kicked off, and Tascosa ran three plays and lost a yard. After the punt, Hereford started in Tascosa territory. Hereford moved to the Rebel 13, but there the drive stalled and Greg Coplen's 31-yard field goal attempt missed.

The Rebels took over and moved onto Hereford's side of the field. Hereford linebacker Kyle Hansen made a big tackle on fourth down on Hereford's 35-yard line. The Herd took over and couldn't go anywhere. Furthermore, that would be the best field position they'd get for the rest of the day.

The teams traded punts several times, and it looked as if the half would end in a scoreless tie. Tascosa threatened again early in the second quarter, but Nathan Henderson, Mark Kuper and Andy Montana combined on a sack which forced an unsuccessful 37-yard field goal attempt.

It still looked like the half would be scoreless even after Tascosa reached the Hereford 20-yard line with a minute to play, because a holding penalty and a five-yard loss pushed the Rebels back to the 35.

Tascosa found the big play, though. On third down and 18 to go, Tascosa quarterback B.D. Ware threw towards Falk on the left side. Herd cornerback Michael Ramirez went for the interception but missed. Falk caught the ball, turned and ran untouched to the end zone.

"We gambled and lost," Herd coach Danny Haney said. "I tell my players, 'You take a risk. That's the only way you're going to make plays.' We did, and it came up craps."

The extra point kick made it 7-0 with 31 seconds left in the half. Tascosa tried an on-side kickoff, but Hereford's Cody Powell covered it.

The Herd offense came out renewed in the second half. Pety Colvin's 22-yard return set Hereford up at the 32. The Herd used nine minutes and chalked up five first Coach Brenda Reeh said the team played well in sweeping six pool play games on Friday, then didn't play as well on Saturday.

"We played very well the first day," she said. "We worked real hard making sure our free-ball passes went

Rogers, Cettie take HCC Member-Guest tourney

Blair Rogers and guest Dr. Grant Cettie of Wichita Falls carded a four-stroke lead Saturday and held on to win the championship Bull flight Monday in the annual Hereford Country Club Member-Guest Golf Tournament.

Rogers-Cettie shot a low ball 64 on opening day, followed with a 70 alternate shot total Sunday and finished with a 64 scramble to post the winning score of 198. Cettie, a former Hereford resident, won the city championship in 1990.

The team of Ron Weishaar and Jay Bryan of Amarillo had the low scramble score of 63 on Monday but couldn't overtake the leaders. Weishaar and Bryan had a 202 total. Third place went to the team of Pat McGinty and Ed Wright of Amarillo with a 214.

Frank Brorman and Larry Richardson of Vega took the Stocker flight with a 222 total, while two teams tied for second. Virgil Marsh and Jim Light of El Paso took second on a scorecard playoff and Don Graham and Speedy Nieman finished third at 226.

Leland Shelton and son Jeff of Wichita Falls captured the Packer flight title, coming from behind with a 66 scramble score on Monday to win by two shots with a 223 total. John Stagner and Gary Stagner of Irving took second with a 225, the team of Rodney Barrett and Clint Savoini was third at 226.

In a special "Freeze-Out Derby"

Sunday afternoon, Ed Wright teamed with Max Moss to win on the seventh hole. The top 10 scorers on Saturday were paired with the bottom 10 to form teams, and the partners hit alternate shots. All the teams started on No. 1 and one team was eliminated on each hole. The team of Weishaar and Dave Hopper finished second, and Rogers and Nieman took third.

There were 20 teams in the field this year. The three-day event included several parties at Hereford Country Club for golfers and wives, and prizes were awarded each day for longest drives, closest to the pin, shortest drive and most balls lost. Most of the awards were $25 golf certificates donated by local businesses.

Jim Light won a watch, presented by Cowan Jewelers, for being nearest to the pin on No. 3 for three days. John Stagner headed up the tourney committee, which also included Scott Keeling, John Sherrod and Pat McGinty.

Cross country runners open season in Borger

The Hereford High School girls' cross country team started the season with a fifth-place finish Saturday at the Borger Invitational. The Hereford boys did not run a team, but Jack Borden finished seventh.

The Hereford girls earned 128 points and finished behind Borger, which won with 55 points, Randall, Amarillo High and Pampa.

"I was disappointed in the way we ran," coach Martha Emerson said. "I think we should have had at least four of (our) five times in the 13s and 14s. Borger, Randall and Pampa didn't run all that well, we just need to do better to compete with them."

Ricka Williams in 12th place was Hereford's highest finisher and her time was the only one in the 14s. She ran the two-mile course in 14 minutes and 38 seconds. Renee Banner was 23rd in 15:13; Belinda Murillo was 26th in 15:25; Melissa Lucio was 33rd in 16:05; and Nora Herrera was 34th in 16:08.

Palo Duro, Caprock and Tascosa all finished behind Hereford's girls' team.

Borden finished the three-mile boys' course in 18:47. Aurelio San Miguel and Ismael Arroyos were the only other Hereford boys running on varsity. San Miguel was 18th in 19:47, and Arroyos was 40th in 22:30.

"They all competed well," Emerson said. "From our district, there were only three runners ahead of Jack--the first only 11 seconds ahead of him. The district will be very competitive."

Caprock won boys' varsity with 59 points. Borger was third, and Pampa was fourth.

Hereford had several runners in the junior varsity races. Eighth-grader Bethany Townsend finished second in 14:08 to lead the Hereford girls' JV to a second-place finish behind Stratford. Another eighth-grader, Miguel Carillo, finished fifth in the boys' JV race.

Other JV runners with places and times:

Girls--12, Nicole Chance, 15:41; 28, Linda Martinez, 16:22; 29, Michelle Garza, 16:23; 30, Beverly Celaya, 16:24; 35, Cady Auckerman, 16:34; 50, Karon Harder, 16:58; and 70, Ana Torres, 17:56.

Boys--10, Josh Pena, 21:31; 36, Lee Mungia, 23:51; 45, Adolfo San Miguel, 25:10; and 63, Justin Criner, 30:55.

The captains for the cross country teams are seniors Banner, Borden and San Miguel, and sophomore Herrera.

where they were supposed to, and, as a result, we were able to run a quick offense."

"The second day, although we won two matches, we were relying too much on the other team to make mistakes," Reeh said.

"Borger didn't hit many winners on us. We had nearly as many hitting errors as kills." She added that Borger served 11 aces.

In pool play, Hereford beat Caprock, 15-7, 15-13; San Angelo Lake View, 15-5, 15-5; and the Lake View junior varsity, 15-7, 15-9.

Hereford's junior varsity also claimed third place in a tournament over the weekend. They beat Dumas, 3-15, 15-10, 15-13, for third place in the Amarillo JV Invitational.

They beat Palo Duro, 15-2, 15-8 to move into the winners' bracket, then lost to Amarillo High, 15-3, 15-10 to fall out of the winners' bracket.

"We came out and couldn't do much of anything in the first game," coach Royce Spies said of the Dumas match. "Then in the second we decided we could play, and we played very well in the third."

Boudreau's Number

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) - Lou Boudreau, who starred in baseball and basketball for the University of Illinois, rounded out an illustrious trio this spring when his baseball jersey was retired by the school.

Boudreau joined football greats Red Grange and Dick Butkus as the only athletes in Illinois history to have their jerseys retired. Boudreau helped lead the Illini to baseball and basketball Big 10 titles in 1937.

He went on to star in big league baseball for half a century as player, manager and broadcaster. He is a member of the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Spots available for couples tourney

There are still some spots open in the Couples Golf Tournament which will be held here Sept. 19-20, it was reported today by golf pro Dave Kaesheimer.

The annual tournament is sponsored by the Hereford Women's Golf Association. The partnership format requires a female and male on each team.

The golf pro also reminded golfers that the Hereford Men's Golf Association will be holding a meeting Thursday at the VFW Hall. The meeting starts at 7 p.m. and all members are urged to attend, announced president Bill Brown.

Smith shreds 'Skins, leads Cowboys to win

IRVING (AP) - Joe Gibbs was worried about the Dallas Cowboys having the world champion Washington Redskins number. They still do. It's No. 22.

Emmitt Smith ran over and around the dazed Redskins to carry the Cowboys to a 23-10 victory Monday night.

Inspired by a gift of Rolex watches before the game, his offensive linemen cleared the way for 139 yards on 26 rushes and a touchdown. It was the fifth consecutive 100-yard rushing game by Smith against Washington.

Smith has scored seven touchdowns in his last five games against the Redskins.

He went into the game averaging 5.9 yards per carry against Washington.

"I don't know what it is about the Redskins," Smith said. "I've got great players around me. That's what I attribute my success to. It felt like I carried the ball 400 times. It was hot. But I guess it got too hot for the Redskins."

Gibbs said before the game, "We can't seem to find a way to stop Smith. You don't like it when a team and a player has your number."

After the game, Gibbs said, "You just have to say it was a heck of a job on their part. Dallas is a heck of a team. All you can do is brag on them."

Gibbs has another number he doesn't like against Dallas. He's below .500 coaching against the Cowboys, 11-12. Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson is 4-3 against Gibbs.

"We felt like we could beat Washington," Johnson said. "The team we are really worried about is the Giants in New York on Sunday. I think we will get better as time goes on."

The Redskins seemed frustrated by Smith's success because the defensive game plan was geared to target him.

"We tried to stop Emmitt but we couldn't," linebacker Andre Collins said. "But he did a really good job of cutting back. They didn't pull any tricks. He just picked up the yards and got the first downs."

Smith scored on a 5-yard run and caught three passes as Dallas dominated all three phases of the game: offense, defense and special teams.

Issiac Holt blocked a punt for a safety and Kelvin Martin returned a punt 79 yards for a touchdown.

"We've prepared all summer for the game against the Redskins," Martin said. "We were working on them when we were playing preseason games."

The Cowboys sacked Redskins quarterback Mark Rypien twice. He was sacked only nine times all of last year.

"This is a wakeup call for this team," Rypien said. "I thought we had a good game plan but we couldn't execute it. The crowd was loud and it was tough to audible. The Dallas defense was very aggressive. This is only one of 16."

Rypien hit 20 of 38 passes for 208 yards but was hounded all night by a Dallas rush aided by Charles Haley, obtained recently in a trade with the San Francisco 49ers. Haley had a sack.

"It was a great way to start with the Cowboys," Haley said. "We had the Redskins reeling."

Rypien escaped only once, hitting Gary Clark with a 30-yard scoring pass.

"I don't want to talk about the game or nothing else," Clark said afterward.

Dallas quarterback Troy Aikman threw two interceptions but still managed to hit 18 of 31 passes for 216 yards.

"I was not sharp," Aikman said. "But the best part of the night was the way Emmitt ran the ball. Washington knew what we were going to do and we still did it."

The Cowboys have defeated Washington at least once a season since Johnson became the coach in 1989.

The Redskins beat Dallas 33-31 in a Monday night game last year but lost 24-21 in RFK Stadium.

"Emmitt is the cause of it all," Redskins defensive end Tim Johnson said. "He's short and you just can't get a hold of him."

Smith ran over one of the Redskins on the touchdown run.

"It was an off-tackle play and the guy who tried to tackle me just fell off," Smith said. "Then I scored. That's all there was to it."

As simple as putting together, 2-and-2.

Baseball commissioner resigns

NEW YORK (AP) - After a summer of battling major league owners, baseball commissioner Fay Vincent decided his tenure was no longer "in the best interests of baseball."

Vincent, who had promised to fight owners all the way to the Supreme Court, resigned Monday, four days after owners urged him to step aside in an 18-9 no-confidence vote.

"I've concluded that resignation - not litigation - should be my final act as commissioner 'in the best interests of baseball,'" Vincent wrote in a three-page letter to owners that he made public.

His resignation ended a three-month struggle with owners over how much power he had over issues including collective bargaining, realigning the National League's two divisions and control of cable TV superstations that broadcast baseball.

Vincent, 54, urged the 28 team owners to maintain a strong role for the commissioner, but said he doubted they would.

"The commissioner has to look out for the fans, and the owners don't want to hear me speak that idea," Vincent said from his Cape Cod vacation home. "I think they'll change the office to a very thin shadow of what it is... and it'll be too bad."

Owners had been expected to vote on whether to fire Vincent at a meeting Wednesday in St. Louis.

Vincent had argued that the Major League Agreement, the contract that governs baseball, prevents a commissioner from being fired. He had retained an attorney and promised a court fight, but reconsidered after talking with friends, including President Bush.

"I thought hard about it over the weekend," Vincent said. "I consulted with good friends and got lots of advice."

An executive council made up of American League president Bobby Brown, National League president Bill White and eight owners will decide what happens next. They planned to meet by telephone today, said Philadelphia Phillies owner Bill Giles.

Vincent's term was supposed to last through March 31, 1994. He will be paid the remainder of his $650,000-a-year contract.

Jerry Reinsdorf, owner of the Chicago White Sox and one of Vincent's strongest critics, said he was relieved the battle had ended.

"It was the only sensible thing he could do," Reinsdorf said in Chicago. "It was his best interest and in our best interest."

Reinsdorf has said he would like to see the office restructured to make it a chief executive officer reporting to the 28 owners as a board of directors.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, a former federal judge, was named the first baseball commissioner after members of the Chicago White Sox threw the 1919 World Series. Landis quickly assumed wide powers to act in the best interests of the game, including banning some White Sox players for life.

Vincent was deputy commissioner and took over when his friend, A. Bartlett Giamatti, died during the Labor Day weekend three years ago.

"He accepted the job as commissioner of baseball in a most difficult time," said Baltimore Orioles owner Eli Jacobs. "While in office, he has been an unselfish decision maker, not once failing to act in the best interests of baseball."

In a game of gambles, Brian McRae won, and so did the Kansas City Royals.

McRae streaked into second base for a double with one out in the bottom of the 12th inning, then scored on Curtis Wilkerson's two-out single as the Kansas City Royals beat Toronto 5-4 Monday night.

Early on, Toronto's Dave Winfield was thrown out when he tried to stretch a single into a double.

Elsewhere, Boston beat Texas 3-0, California topped Oakland 3-2, New York defeated Baltimore 6-2 in 13 innings, Minnesota downed Seattle 4-2 and Milwaukee beat Cleveland 2-0.

National League

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Expos have hit a bit of a September slump.

Bernard Gilkey's solo homer leading off the 10th inning gave the St. Louis Cardinals an 8-7 victory over Montreal on Monday at Olympic Stadium. The Expos, who have lost three straight, remained four games behind Pittsburgh in the NL East.

Elsewhere in the NL it was Chicago 6, Pittsburgh 5 in 11 innings; Atlanta 7, Los Angeles 1; Cincinnati 10, Houston 0; New York 6, Philadelphia 3; and San Diego 7, San Francisco 5.

THE BUCK STARTS HERE.

Newspaper is usually the first place people go when considering a purchase. It's their primary source of advertising information.

Newspaper helps spark the local economy by putting dollars into circulation. And that's good for everyone, not just the retailer.

Because a strong local economy means lower property taxes, more jobs, tax support for community services, and a better place to live.

Newspaper is more than just a smart place to advertise.

It's an integral part of our lives.

Newspaper: It delivers.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column about sons who visit their mothers too much hit close to home. I am 84 years old and have had 12 children. Two died at birth, and tragically, three have died within the past 10 years.

I was lucky enough to have had eight boys and two girls. I was unlucky enough to be married to an alcoholic. I tried to raise all my children to show respect but since I raised them alone while working two jobs, I guess I didn't do as well as I thought.

All the boys were close to me until they got married. I have never interfered in their lives but they have stopped coming over for holiday dinners. They visit to their wives' mothers instead.

I have not seen two of my sons in over 10 years, except for the time they came to see me in the intensive care unit when I had a heart attack a year ago. I don't remember their visit at all, and I haven't seen them since.

Thank you for being a special part of my life, Ann. When I feel sad, I read your column. It lets me know others are in worse shape than I am--Fayetteville, N.C.

DEAR N.C.: If I read your letter correctly, you still have seven living children. Some of them must read this column. I'd be interested in the back end of this story, if there is one. Why would seven children ignore an 84-year-old mother who struggled so hard to raise them? Does anyone care to comment?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your advice to "Stunned in Detroit," about a gifted child who taught himself to read, was right on the money. If the same advice had been given to my parents 30 years ago, it may have saved me.

I started reading spontaneously when I was 2. I was not considered "extraordinary," but something of a freak. I was under-challenged in school and ridiculed by my classmates. I became withdrawn and unable to form friendships. Even though I was clearly the brightest student in my class and my grades were excellent, I had no social life.

A few perceptive teachers tried to help me. After their evaluations, my mother was informed that I was extremely gifted and would benefit from a special course of education. She refused, saying it was more important that I learn to fit in with everybody else.

After 12 horrendous years in school, I graduated--only to find that I would not be going to college. My family decided I didn't need it, that I was educated enough.

I am now 32, and I have no friends and no social life. I am lonely and bitter. My family still has a repertoire of funny stories about all the weird things I did and said as a child, and they tell them every time we get together. Meanwhile, I have watched two younger sisters and a brother go to college with my mother's blessing. Two of them didn't last a year.

My 2-year-old daughter is showing signs of being even more gifted than I was at her age. You can be sure that she will receive the love, attention and encouragement that she deserves--Cheaton in Frankfort, Ill.

DEAR CHEATED: Apparently you found someone to marry, so you are more capable of relating to others than you think.

I urge you to get counseling and take night-classes. With your extraordinary brilliance, you can be a college graduate in half the time and perhaps go into law, teaching or some other specialty. I wish you luck in overcoming your central problem, which is low self-esteem.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Singer Janet Jackson is preparing to record her first album since signing a $32 million deal with Virgin Records last year.

The as-yet-untitled album should be in stores next April, said Jimmy "Jam" Harris, who, with partner Terry Lewis, produced Jackson's multiplatinum albums "Control" and "Rhythm Nation 1814."

Harris said Saturday the album is in the talking stages and should take about three months to complete.

"For this album, we totally started with a clean slate and decided that we would each make a list of ideas and song titles and such," he said. "And then we got together the other night and compared our list and they were like identical."

Harris and Lewis won a Grammy as producers of the year for 1986's "Control."

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) - Former baseball star Pete Rose skipped a power boat to victory in the Miller Offshore Grand Prix, even though he got seasick and had to be bailed out by the Coast Guard.

Rose and two teammates earned the high-point title for the season in their 2,000-horsepower boat, The Hit King. The 40-foot boat won the Super Vee class in the national race by turning in the fastest lap, of 70 mph, around the 12 1/2-mile course Sunday.

Rose became nauseous, vomited and had to be rescued by the Coast Guard when his boat began taking on water with less than two laps remaining. The boat didn't even cross the finish line.

But Rose and his teammates still won because they made more laps around the course than the Success Express.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Singer Gloria Estefan popped in for a surprise visit to hundreds of volunteers unloading trucks and packing boxes of supplies for victims of Hurricane Andrew.

Ms. Estefan arrived Monday at the Florida Relief Center after touring the disaster area in a U.S. Army helicopter. She said she wanted to be informed as she publicizes a Sept. 26 concert to raise money for storm victims.

"The organization you have here is really unbelievable. You've got things well under control," Ms. Estefan said in between signing autographs for soldiers and volunteers. "We just have to keep this going."

Her own home in Miami Beach emerged from the storm with little damage.

Schools to benefit from approved grant proposal

The Panhandle-South Plains Center for Professional Development and Technology, the collaborative brainchild of more than 40 representatives from educational institutions and organizations, will receive nearly $2 million of $10.2 million competitively offered by the Texas Education Agency.

West Texas State University officials, along with collaborators from Texas Tech University, Lubbock Christian University, Wayland Baptist University, South Plains College, Amarillo College, Region 16 and 17 Education Service Centers and all 70 school districts located in the Panhandle-South Plains regions, received word of the proposal's acceptance Aug. 28. The exact amount of the award has yet to be announced, and formal acceptance is contingent upon approval from the State Board of Education.

"We are very excited," Dr. Brian Lotven, dean of WTSU's College of Education and Social Sciences, said. "Except for the formalities and funding negotiations, this is a done deal."

The center, to be staffed by a director, two regional coordinators (one for the Panhandle and one for the South Plains), technology specialists and technicians, will offer two basic programs: Preservice teacher education and professional development and in-service training. Both programs involve technology, research-based practices, field-based programs and community involvement.

At least part of the center's mission is based on a Technological Needs Survey conducted by South Plains College. The average survey respondent was a secondary teacher with a master's degree and 16 years of teaching experience. But in spite of their advanced degrees and multiple years of experience, only 35 percent of the 690 respondents use computers for instruction, and the majority indicated "little/no skill" in the area of educational technology. Additional survey results did, however, indicate that 94 percent believe training teachers to use technology should be a top priority and that students who learn to use technology will have a definite advantage in later life.

"The technology component includes interactive communications among the participants and television capabilities for distance learning," Lotven said. "By integrating this kind of technology into teaching programs, we can begin to bridge the gap between the 'haves' and the 'have nots.' It's the only way we can ever hope to achieve equity in rural areas."

According to Lotven, the Panhandle-South Plains Center for Development and Technology will be established immediately following final approval from the State Board of Education, and most of the center's programs will be in place by Sept. 1993.

TEA also awarded Development and Technology Center grants to East Texas State University, Laredo State University, Stephen F. Austin State University, Southwest Texas State University, Texas A&M University and the University of Texas at San Antonio.
