Meet the Clintons: They're comfortable in Lincoln, Mustang

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - The Reagans were West Coast and imperial, the Bushes East Coast and preppy. The Carters were Southern and, well, Southern. The Clintons won't be so easy to label.

Yuppies, maybe. They earn more than $100,000 a year, live in a nice house, drive nice cars and are certainly upwardly mobile.

They like chicken enchiladas and B-movies. The symphony and theatre. Clinton's chauffeur-driven Lincoln and his 1966 Mustang. Jazz bands. Books. Cattle barns and ballrooms.

"It's a 40-something style," said family friend and former legislator David Matthews of Lowell, Ark. "It's an average, middle-class style - a man, his wife and their daughter. ... On the weekends, it's blue jeans and a polo shirt. On business days, it's a business suit, maybe a tux at night."

Much of the Clintons' spare time revolves around their 12-year-old daughter, Chelsea, a bright student in a local public school. Her father may be a workaholic, but he's left meetings to attend Chelsea's softball games and ballet recitals.

In keeping with the tradition, Mrs. Clinton took time off the campaign trail and her profitable law practice to throw out the first ball in Chelsea's softball league this year.

Before he ran for president, the Arkansas governor and his family could be spotted in restaurants around town. He loves the enchiladas at Doc's Eat Place, a political hangout near the state Capitol.

The Clintons also often join Jim Blair, chief counsel for poultry giant Tyson Foods Inc., and his wife, Diane, at the swanky Cafe Saint Moritz in downtown Little Rock.

Clinton's inaugurals were black-tie events, although Mrs. Clinton wore a favorite dress instead of a gown in 1990. Chelsea wore a new, floor-length purple gown described by her mother as "every little girl's dream of a dress."

Clinton and his wife often jog or take strolls together. He loves sports - plays golf and critiques the University of Arkansas football team.

Clinton is a Southern Baptist, his wife is Methodist and Chelsea takes turns attending their churches.

The governor is a movie fanatic and often finds time to watch a first-run movie or rent a videotape.

Skip Rutherford, whose daughter plays in Chelsea's softball league, said Clinton "will watch just about anything." His favorite movies are "High Noon" and "Casablanca."

Clinton often totes a book to the state Capitol and is quick to give a brief review. One of his recent books was "The Culture of Contentment" by John Kenneth Galbraith.

But old friend Blair said he and Clinton often exchange cheap spy thrillers. "Bubble gum for the mind, I call them," Blair said.

State police drive Clinton to work in a state-owned Lincoln. Clinton was asked recently to finish this sentence, "Nobody knows I..." He answered, "Own a '66 Mustang."

The Clintons have varied taste in music - from Elvis, of course, to classical and gospel. Mrs. Clinton loves to sing, but isn't very good at it. When friends and family gather at the mansion, one of Clinton's oldest friends, Carolyn Staley, hosts the sing-along.

These are a few of Bill Clinton's favorite things...

- Chicken enchiladas
- Barbecue
- Jazz bands
- Cheap spy thrillers
- High Noon and Casablanca, or almost any other movie.
- Any kind of music

Jobless rate falls in Texas

DALLAS (AP) - The Texas unemployment rate fell to 7.4 percent in October from 7.7 percent in September, the Labor Department said Friday.

There were 26,000 more Texans working last month than in September but 1,000 fewer in the labor force, which includes both those working and looking for work.

In October 1991, the state jobless rate was 7.7 percent. Texas' labor force has grown 2.1 percent, adding 183,000 jobs, since that time.

The nation's unemployment rate was 7.4 percent last month, hitting a six-month low.

The three-month average of Texas unemployment, which is considered a better measure, was steady from September to October at 7.3 percent.

The quarterly average has fallen steadily since June when it reached a high of 7.7 percent. In October a year ago, the quarterly average was 7.0 percent.

The number of Texans looking for work last month fell by 27,000 to 643,000 from 670,000 in September. In October 1991, there were 662,000 looking for work.

The number of employed Texans climbed by 202,000 to 8,098 million last month from 7.896 million in October 1991.

The biggest job gains were in state and local government, food and drink establishments, health and other service companies.

United Way urges additional support

As a major funding source for 12 community programs in the Hereford area, the United Way deserves the solid support of residents here. This year, the campaign, "Take Time to Care," has established a goal of $150,000 to support these programs. If this goal is not met, all of the programs will suffer from reduced funding that will become necessary.

The agencies receiving funding and their 1992 allocations are American Red Cross ($16,000), Big Brothers/Big Sisters ($15,000), Boy Scouts ($10,000), Girl Scouts ($1,800), Family Services ($7,880), Rape Crisis/domestic Violence ($7,870), Salvation Army ($4,000), High Plains Epilepsy ($3,750), Hereford YMCA ($12,500), Senior Citizens ($8,000), Camp Fire ($12,000), and Children's Rehabilitation ($1,200).

"It's especially important that people return their pledge cards and make a commitment to the United Way," Ron Rives, this year's campaign chairman, said. "The United Way supports organizations that affect every aspect of community life, from newborns to our older citizens. Money raised locally stays with agencies that serve the county; the United Way of Deaf Smith County pays no state or national dues, so it's an excellent way to help others, and potentially yourself, through one central organization."

The services these dozen agencies provide are both varied and critical to the community's quality of life. American Red Cross teaches first-aid, water safety and baby-sitting classes; it also provides assistance for low-income situations, family disasters, and for servicemen and their families.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Hereford has helped children from single-parent homes since 1975. A limited budget already forces the agency to limit its services to 55 children.

In Hereford, the Boy Scouts of America works with more than 500 youth and 100 adults, teaching young people self-discipline, self-reliance, leadership skills, responsibility to others, patriotism, fitness, and an enduring belief in God.

Girl Scouting sends an important message to youngsters: "Become your best; set your sights high; you can make it happen." With the problems facing girls today, they have an organization that will help them learn to make good decisions.

The Hereford Family Services Center provides mental health services primarily for the chronically mentally ill, such as screening and assessment, counseling, psychiatric evaluation, medication, referral, and consultation and education within the communities.

The Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center has given help to approximately 900 victims of sexual assault and domestic violence since 1987, and reached over 3,000 with community education programs.

The Salvation Army's primary purpose is immediate assistance in times of need, to people in trouble, either personal or financial. In Deaf Smith County, the Army is comprised of a 7-member board who all volunteer their services, without any overhead expenses.

The High Plains Epilepsy Association provides the medical attention that allows many with epilepsy to lead normal, productive lives. Services to clients and family members include counseling, employment assistance, transportation, medical arrangements, and education.

The Hereford YMCA provides programs and services that include sports, meeting areas, and youth programs. A major objective of the YMCA is to provide value-oriented programs for youth, encouraging them to develop respect for themselves and others.

Hereford Senior Citizens focuses on a growing population of older citizens. The group offers many types of support. Congregate meals at the Center yield both nutrition and fellowship; a homebound program delivers meals five days a week. They provide transportation, recreational programs, and physical fitness programs, as well as benefits counseling.

Camp Fire was founded originally as a non-sectarian organization for girls, but now includes boys. Membership is open to ages kindergarten through 21. In Hereford, more than 125 adults serve as volunteers, program leaders, local board members, supporters and staff. The group reaches young people through clubs, camping, self-reliance courses, and response programs.

Children's Rehabilitation Center also began as a single-focus organization, serving children with cerebral palsy. Today, the services are open to all physically disabled children. The Center works with the school district to ensure quality medically supervised therapy, helping the child to learn to become independent as an adult and to help the family adjust to the disability and accept children for what they can accomplish.

Anyone wishing more information about the United Way should contact Donna Brooks at the United Way Office, 364-5220.

King's Manor will hold annual dinner Thursday

Members of the Founders Association of King's Manor Methodist Home will hear a Lubbock minister deliver the keynote address as the association's annual dinner Thursday evening.

The Rev. Dr. James F. Jackson, senior pastor of First United Methodist Church of Lubbock since 1990, will be the speaker at the catered dinner in the Lamar Room of King's Manor, at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Master of ceremonies for the evening will be John Bunch, association president. Members of the Key Club will serve dinner. The King's Manor Auxiliary is in charge of decorations.

Special entertainment will be provided by the Singing Farmers of Hart.

The Founders Association was organized in 1966, just four years after King's Manor opened its door. The association was designed to help answer a need that was felt in the facility.

"They recognized that some residents need assistance to remain in the home," said the Rev. Lanny Wheeler, chaplain.

The annual dinner and a barbecue in the summer are the two main fundraising activities of the association.

The keynote speaker for the dinner is a native of Shreveport, La., who later moved to Georgia. He was graduated from high school in Moultrie, Ga., and attended LaGrange College, then Valdosta State College where he earned a bachelor's degree.

JAMES F. JACKSON ... dinner speaker

Jackson continued his education at Emory University Chandler School of Theology, receiving a master of divinity degree, and the San Francisco Theological Seminary where he was awarded a doctor of ministry degree in 1981.

The speaker served churches in Jeffersonville, Ga., Macon, Ga., and Ashburn, Ga., from 1969 to 1982. He was appointed to St. Mark United Methodist Church in Columbus, Ga., in 1982 and served as senior pastor until moving to the pastorate in Lubbock.

Jackson has been recognized by church and civic groups for a number of accomplishments. He was a delegate from the Northwest Texas Conference to the general conference of the United Methodist Church in Louisville, Ky., earlier this year.

King's Manor opened in 1962. In the complex, also, is Westgate Nursing Home. Campus capacity is 140, said Wheeler.

Through the years, efforts of the Founders Associations have allowed some residents to remain at the home even through difficult economic times, added Wheeler.

Now, see, the wit and wisdom of Ross Perot. It's simple. Period.

PEROT

WASHINGTON (AP) - A selection of comments by Ross Perot in the final days of the campaign:

"Now both of them constantly quote their economists. Governor Clinton's got the Nobel Prize-winning economist. George Bush has got his economist; thinks computer chips and potato chips are the same."
"Had a truck driver ask me the other day, he said, 'Ross, did you ever know a rich economist?' Confused me for a minute. I said, 'No, I don't think I did. Why?' He says, 'Well, if these ol' boys are so smart, why aren't they rich?'"
- during a 30-minute ad aired on two networks Nov. 1 titled "Deep Voodoo, Chicken Feathers and The American Dream."

On Clinton's record in developing a job base as governor of Arkansas:

"One out of five jobs created in the last 12 years created in Arkansas has been created in the poultry business. Now, this is not an industry of tomorrow. This is honest work. It is hard work. The people that do it are world-class people. But if we decide to take this level of business-creating capability nationwide, we'll all be plucking chickens for a living."
"... On economy, Arkansas ranks last. It's 50th among the 50 states, in the hourly wages for manufacturing workers, not much manufacturing work in Arkansas. ..."

"You say, 'This doesn't square with these big percentage increases that the governor talks about. It's pretty simple. If your net worth is a penny and you get another penny, you have doubled your net worth.'" - during Nov. 1 ad.

On Clinton's experience as governor of Arkansas:

"Where would Arkansas stand in the Forbes 500 list if it were a business? It would be 248th. It ranks behind Toys-R-Us, Quaker Oats and Chiquita Brands. So as corporations go, it is not a very big corporation, so you might say the governor's running a medium-sized business." - during Nov. 1 ad.

On ethics, morals and teen-age sex:

"Certainly, rather than have babies that are unwanted - the saddest thing in the world is a baby that's unwanted. Stop irresponsible sex. Just remember every time you start thinking about it that Ross said, 'You're not a rabbit. ...'"
"Just getting drunk, getting high, getting laid and getting pregnant is not the key to a great new country."

- during a Nov. 1 interview on cable network MTV.

On the Washington political establishment:

"I love them all in Washington. All they do is make - see, the Democrats are not responsible for any problem we have and the Republicans are not responsible for any problem we have. And I look at them and laugh and I say, 'Guys, who else is there?' I'd have said the other day, let's put them both in a blender and then we'll hold it up to the American people and say, 'Here's who's responsible for all of our problems.'" - during MTV interview.

On his performance in the presidential debates:

"You all went over to the dog pound, picked up an old stray dog with fleas and ticks all over it. Now you should have given me a quick dip before you sent me on to the debate, because it was so bad they always entered on one side and had me enter on the other side. ..."

"Is there any question in your mind that these old boys had been prepared? One of them was like one of these little dolls that you pull and get a message. ..."

"They had been prepared and prepared and rehearsed and memorized and so on and so forth. ..."

"I literally went to the barbershop, sat there and talked to all the people in the barber shop, got the haircut, got on the airplane, followed their advice and did all right. Right. ..."

"Here's the real secret: that stray dog you sent up there spoke from the heart. I talked about what I believed in." - during speech to rally Monday in Dallas.

Lubbock man keeps the memory of Buddy Holly rocking

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer
LUBBOCK (AP) - An international musical and the announcement of a stamp in honor of the late Lubbock rock 'n' roll star Buddy Holly have renewed interest in the man who shook the jukebox with tunes like "Peggy Sue" and "That'll Be The Day."

Holly, who blossomed in the 1950s with a clean-cut image that included a coat and tie on stage and horn-rimmed glasses, is arguably

Lubbock's most famous native. Each year, hundreds of Holly faithful from as far away as Australia and Japan trek to this West Texas city. They find a park named in Holly's honor and a downtown statue erected in 1980.

But to learn about the man who recorded 88 songs and earned two gold records before dying at the age of 22, one must find the home of Bill Griggs.

Griggs has transformed a room in his modest brick house into a 1950s memorabilia store, featuring rare Holly import records, posters and photographs.

The focus of the business is not on annual sales or inventory, says Griggs, adding, "It pays the rent."

The business, which includes the publication of a magazine titled "Rockin' 50s" with a circulation of 5,500 in 34 countries, is part of a passion that drove Griggs from Hartford, Conn., to Lubbock 12 years ago.

He found the innocence of the decade best captured by Holly, who died in 1959 in a private plane crash near Clear Lake, Iowa. Fellow rock stars Ritchie Valens and J.P. "The Big Bopper" Richardson also died in the accident.

His research, which includes work as a consultant for the 1978 movie "The Buddy Holly Story," has made him one of the country's authorities on the Lubbock star.

"Kids were allowed to grow up and have a certain innocence in the 1950s," Griggs says. "With all the drug problems and other things going on today, a kid has to grow up overnight."

"Buddy was clean-cut. He was a Christian. Today, he would probably be perceived as a nerd with his glasses and coat and tie and all."

Griggs has outlined a driving tour for those who wish to visit Holly's grave site or the houses, schools and dance halls in Lubbock where Holly spent time growing up.

Chamber of Commerce officials direct visitors to Griggs, who serves as a clearinghouse for Holly information.

Griggs enjoys his role as the local Holly historian, but he also resents the city of Lubbock for not building a museum to showcase the musician's life.

"I started the Buddy Holly Memorial Society in 1975 out of disgust. Buddy's image was not getting much attention. Buddy Holly put Lubbock on the map."

--Bill Griggs, Buddy Holly's biggest booster in the Hub City.

"Buddy Holly put Lubbock on the map," Griggs said. "I hear city officials wanting to improve tourism. One way to get people in here is with a museum featuring famous musicians from West Texas."

West Texas, which is as flat as a tabletop, may not be much to look at, but it has had plenty to listen to thanks in part to local recording stars like Holly, Roy Orbison, Waylon Jennings, Bob Wills and Mac Davis.

Alan Henry, a Lubbock mayor in the mid-1980s, says interest in memorializing Holly is still strong.

"Certainly, I think the potential is there for a wonderful attraction," Henry said. "I think what is lacking is an organization that had the ability to put together the type of facility and funding methods it would take to put it over."

Inspired by Holly's prolific song writing and youthful spirit, Griggs moved to Lubbock to develop his magazine and business.

"It was the clean guitar break, the voice, the lyrics," says Griggs, reliving a Holly concert in his mind. "Buddy never wrote a lyric he had to be ashamed of, and he did more in 18 months as a recording artist than some achieve in a lifetime."

"I started the Buddy Holly Memorial Society in 1975 out of disgust," Griggs says. "Buddy's image nationally and internationally was not getting that much attention."

Recently, Griggs has been receiving a few extra calls than usual from people interested in Holly, possibly due to the musical "Buddy: The Buddy Holly Story" and a stamp to be released next year by the U.S. Postal Service.

The musical opened in London and is currently touring the United States. The stamp is due out next June.

Griggs says the attention the musician is receiving these days is long overdue.

"Holly has always been recognized as a famous Texan," Griggs said. "Now it's nice to know he is being recognized as a famous American."

Local Roundup

Vote to be canvassed

A canvass of last Tuesday's general election will be conducted by Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court in a regular meeting Monday, beginning at 9 a.m. The court also will discuss temporary power lines with an SPS representative and consider legal fee payments. Automatic doors for the county library also will be considered.

Child welfare board to meet

The Deaf Smith County Child Welfare Board will meet at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in Room 200 of the courthouse. Agenda items are a financial report, discussion of a monthly meeting schedule and appointment of a nominating committee.

City police arrest three

Hereford Police Department Friday arrested three men--a 48-year-old man for public intoxication, a 20-year-old man for driving while license was suspended, and a 29-year-old man on city traffic warrants. Police investigated one minor accident and issued eight traffic citations. Officers also checked complaints on two assault cases, two criminal mischief reports, a disorderly conduct charge, and checked a report of a suspect test driving a vehicle too long.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS
"Food, glorious food!" goes the joyous exclamation from Oliver Twist. When the "food bell" rings at HJH, there are two lunch lines that usually have different menus, a tossed salad and a snack bar available to students and teachers. If you come to HJH to have lunch with us, you'll find friendly cafeteria workers to greet you and you will quickly observe how these workers interact with everyone that comes through the line. Our Educational Support Personnel, (Extra Special Personnel), at the HJH cafeteria are Nancy Mitchell, Manager; Agnes Betzen, Cruz Ybarra, Lupe Gonzales, Maria Gutierrez, Sarah Hightower, Maria Martinez, Bonnie Nall, Donna Parrack, Nora Perez, Norma Rodriguez, Terryne Rhyne and Rudy Perez.

Students of the week named most recently were eighth grader Landon Morris and seventh grader Renee Schulze. Each of these young people are good student and you rarely see either of them without a smile.

With the end of football and volleyball seasons and the beginning of basketball season, activities are at a slower pace, which is probably good with this being the end of the six weeks. Students and teachers are trying to get all work completed by Friday so that no "incomplete" grades are recorded.

Student Representatives, a relatively new organization, and Junior Historians met this past week to get plans made for each group. These two organizations will certainly be assets to HJH, as they are service groups.

Mrs. Rudd's English classes are beginning Outsiders, Mr. Perez' classes are studying the evils of alcohol and drugs, and Mr. Zimmerman's classes are readying for a CO2 car tourney. Mr. Vincent's classes will begin a unit on the Solar System next week. One could say that we do have a variety of activities going on at HJH.

Seventh grade literature classes are creating advertisements using mythological characters. Many of these ads show a distinct sense of humor on the part of the creative students. Some of these ads will be on display in the front hall beginning Nov. 9.

Eighth grade PACE English class has completed Watership Down and students are working on their dictionary, which will be filled with "created" words. These students have also been working on word parts--roots, suffixes and prefixes.

It all started at Scratchland, where there was a rule for every exception--and an exception for every rule....so goes the introduction to The War Between the Pitiful Teachers and the Splendid Kids by Stanley Kiesel. This is, evidently, a popular book from the shelves of HJH library. You'll have to get your name on the waiting list in order to check it out. I believe I will "check it out"...

KPAN off air Monday

KPAN Radio will go off the air Monday, probably for about 24 hours, as the result of a project to increase the power of the FM station, it was announced Saturday by Chip Formby, news director.

Formby said the station will be installing a new, higher-gain FM transmitting antenna that will increase the power from the current 3,000 watts to 7,000 watts. KPAN will go off the air during the noon hour Monday and expects to resume broadcasting within 24 hours, weather permitting.

The project will not double the coverage of the FM station, noted Formby, but it will give a higher grade signal in the current fringe areas of Canyon, Vega and Friona.

Obituaries

Troy Schuder, retired owner of Troy's Sweet Shop, died at 7:22 Saturday morning after a lengthy illness.

Funeral services are scheduled Monday at 2 p.m. in Temple Baptist Church with the Rev. Jim Bozeman officiating, assisted by H.W. Bartlett. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery with arrangements by Rix Funeral Home.

Schuder, 65, was born July 7, 1927 in Millersview. He moved to Hereford 25 years ago from Dimmitt. He married Betty White on Aug. 8, 1951 in Clovis. She died in 1990.

Mr. Schuder was a member of Temple Baptist Church and the American Legion. He served in the U.S. Air Force during World War II.

Survivors include one son, Kyle of Hereford; one daughter, Troyce Workman of Hereford; three brothers, Andy of San Angelo, Preston of Eden and Jack of Riverside; one sister, Fern Edwards of Eden; and two grandchildren. He was also preceded in death in 1991 by a sister, Opal Click.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests memorials go to a favorite charity.

Volunteers needed for CSF committee efforts

Individuals who would like to volunteer to assist with the 1992 efforts of the Christmas Stocking Fund, the holiday charity which helps Deaf Smith County's less fortunate each Yule season, have an opportunity to join the charity this year.

If you'd like to help with CSF, contact Speedy Nieman, publisher of The Hereford Brand. He serves as a liaison for the CSF to protect the anonymity of committee members. Nieman will pass your name to the CSF committee, and you will be contacted concerning meetings and activities.

The newspaper also handles the fund raising efforts of the charity and publishes a list of contributors. This campaign will start in the near future.

One half of knowing what you want is knowing what you have to give up to get it.

Capitol remodeling sends session 'underground'

AUSTIN (AP) - Lawmakers working on school finance in the upcoming special session will have to work around another project: the $186 million restoration and expansion of the Texas Capitol.

To avoid delaying restoration work, the Senate will meet outside of its Capitol chamber for what's believed to be the first time since the building was completed more than 100 years ago.

The House will meet in the Capitol, several blocks from the office building to be used by the Senate.

Gov. Ann Richards already has moved underground, into a new extension building that's still being completed just north of the Capitol. It's believed to be the first time the Texas governor's office has been outside the historic building.

"We're all going to be issued Rollerblades" to get around, joked Bill Cryer, Richards' press secretary. But staffers say they'll be able to live with the spread-out arrangement, which will continue through the regular session that runs Jan. 12-May 31.

"We'll have phones and faxes. It's pretty easy to communicate back and forth that way," said Rafe Greenlee, press secretary to Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock.

The restoration and expansion is meant to eliminate Capitol safety hazards and overcrowding, enhance access for the disabled and preserve the historic Capitol, which was built to hold about 800 people and was jammed with some 1,200 before restoration began.

The project first was funded in 1989 and is scheduled to be completed in late 1994, with the underground extension due to be finished before the regular legislative session convenes.

Although the estimated pricetag for the entire project has risen since initial forecasts were made, executive director Dealey Herndon of the State Preservation Board said officials hope it will end up costing up to $10 million less than its current budget.

About 200 people already have moved into the $62.9 million, four-story underground building, which includes office space, House and Senate committee rooms, an auditorium, cafeteria, bookstore, gift shop and two floors of parking.

Besides Richards and her staff, occupants include several lawmakers, the secretary of state, and House committee staff.

After restoration is completed, Richards and her top aides will move

Comptroller's study looks at future jobs in Texas

AUSTIN -- "For decades, the myth of Texas - cultivated by epic movies like Giant and the television series Dallas was synonymous with gushing oil wells, huge cattle ranches and big spenders. Our future, however, rests with a much more valuable resource - unlimited human potential," State Comptroller John Sharp says.

The future of the Texas labor force is explored in the latest issue of Fiscal Notes, a monthly publication of the Comptroller's Research Division. Fiscal Notes again explores the issues that are evolving from Forces of Change, a year-long study by Comptroller researchers of all aspects of the Texas economy to the year 2025.

"Rapid change in the economy and the nature of the workplace means workers will have to learn new skills and keep up with new technologies. The question is whether we are willing to do those things competitively," Sharp said.

"Will we choose to educate and train a large Texas workforce for good-wage, high-skill jobs? If not, we risk sinking to the level of a second-class society, and the boom years of 1960s and 1970s will be only a far too distant memory.

"For the 1990s and beyond, a student who aims for high school graduation and postsecondary training will find lots of opportunity for jobs like registered nurse or secondary school teacher. Among the occupations with the fastest rate of growth by 2000 will be health services."

But if that student drops out of school, he or she may end up in other areas high in demand but low in pay - fast growing but low-skilled jobs as janitors and maids, general office clerks, truck drivers and child care workers, the article concludes.

"No longer can a worker depend on sheer physical strength or the benefits of mass production to provide the economic security the worker seeks," Sharp said.

"The successful workers of the future must be able to master a variety of intellectual exercises stressing higher-order thinking skills, mathematical computations, the ability to communicate clearly and to adopt to new technologies."

"Despite Texas education reforms, many of today's students leave high school ill-prepared for the workplace. Colleges don't always provide the flexibility and affordability that adults returning to school need. It has fallen to many employers to prepare their workers for the future. Nationally, corporations, government, unions and workers spend $1 billion each year on remedial education for workers.

"By 2000, an estimated two million Texans will be working in professional and technical occupations. However, the next fastest growing segment will be traditionally low-paying services. With the prospect of an economy increasingly dependent on low-skilled, low-pay jobs, more attention is being paid to making investments in the work force, both at public and private levels."

The Fiscal Notes report concludes that the 10 Texas occupations with the largest potential for growth will add 366,600 new jobs by 2000, though many will not be high wage employment. Among service occupations, janitors, cleaner and maids will top the list; among professionals, registered nurses will add the most jobs.

--Janitors, cleaners and maids, 45,250 jobs
--Secretaries, 44,250 jobs

--General office clerks, 38,750
--Registered nurses, 38,250 jobs
--Retail Salespersons, 38,100 jobs
--General managers and top executives, 34,850 jobs
--Truck drivers, 34,250 jobs
--Child care workers, 33,900 jobs
--Teachers-secondary school, 29,350 jobs
--Waiters and waitresses, 29,250 jobs

back into the pink granite Capitol, which also will contain the offices of the secretary of state, lieutenant governor and 51 of the 150 state representatives.

Ninety-nine state representatives ultimately will have offices in the underground extension, which can hold about 900 staffers and lawmakers. The Senate will decide how many of the 31 senators are in each building, Ms. Herndon said.

Some of the first committee staff members to move into the extension joked that they were like canaries in mines - if they survived, the rest would follow.

They've encountered such difficulties as getting used to the energy-conserving, motion-sensitive lights, which have shut off on people working with their backs to the motion detector. Ms. Herndon said that will be remedied as people become accustomed to their rooms and stop sitting with their backs to the sensors.

Extra effort also has been required to fight dust, since construction still is going on, she said. But Ms. Herndon said that overall, there have been few hitches in opening up the building.

Although the extension is underground, public areas and lawmakers' offices have access to natural light from several large skylights.

Two skylights top the main corridor, which has granite wainscoting and is divided by an open-air granite rotunda that's the same size as the one in the Capitol.

Six more skylights, three on each side of the main corridor, create "light courts," rectangular areas surrounded by offices with windows. The offices also have mini-blinds, in case the occupants prefer privacy to sunlight.

The shape of Texas is etched on some granite surfaces, and Texas' Lone Star adorns iron railings.

Main legislative hallways have oak wainscoting, and floors of the main halls are terrazzo tile, like those in the Capitol, with geometric designs of deep green, gray, cream and red.

In side hallways, the wainscoting changes to a less expensive painted wood, and the floors are carpeted.

Twin staircases connect the Capitol basement to the extension, with the back of the state seal designed in terrazzo between them.

Among details in the design are the Alamo, oak leaves and six flags. Ms. Herndon said workers tore out the first version when it was nearly finished because they didn't like its look.

"They did it on their own. They wanted it to be right," she said.

Visitors generally will have to check in with security before entering the extension while construction is going on, Ms. Herndon said. But after the building is finished in January, it will be open to the public.

Besides the Capitol basement entrance, there are two granite entry pavilions to the extension from the ground, and tunnels to surrounding state office buildings.

About four feet of dirt cover the extension's roof, topped with grass landscaping, lights and trees that were taken from the area before the hole was dug for the building.

Skylights are surrounded outdoors by concrete benches, which are covered with a rock surface to match the color of the granite. The benches are rough, Ms. Herndon acknowledged. "If you make it smooth, it looks like bubble gum."

Although the project is now dislocating some officials, Ms. Herndon said that when it's done, Texans will have easy access to committee hearings and lawmakers' offices in one complex.

Cryer, Richards' press secretary, said staffers may even benefit from the current arrangement.

"The physical conditioning after the session is over is going to be superb," he said. "We're going to clean our arteries out with our three- or four-mile-a-day walks."

Like it or not, the countdown for Christmas has begun. Times have changed and the start of the Christmas holiday season has moved to early November. Today's issue of The Brand includes a special section on "Hereford's Holiday Happening." It's a gift guide for local shoppers and has plenty of ideas for choosing gifts for the Yule season.

Local floral shops will have "open houses" today, and retail merchants will conduct open house events next Sunday, Nov. 15. The annual Christmas Lighting Ceremony will be held next Saturday, about 6:30 p.m. Look for more details this week!

How about those Whiteface gridders? The Herd left no doubt as to who was No. 1 in the district Friday night, routing the Dumas Demons by 35-7. Congratulations to the Whiteface players and coaching staff on a great season. Probably not enough has been said about the Herd offensive and defensive front line. Football is a team sport but those guys in the trenches really did a great job this year!

Bill Clinton was not my choice. In fact, he was not the choice of a majority of Americans. But, he will be our new president and we sincerely hope he can deliver on his promises. Change was the key word in this unusual election year. Voters are tired of political scandals and the gridlock in Congress. Now, the Democrats can either make good are face the voters again in four years. We fear some voters chose Clinton because he made the best promises. But there's no such thing as a free lunch, and the president-elect's plan sure won't come free.

We're sure voters must have been weary from the long bombardment. Personally, we liked the old system in Texas better--the filing date was June, the primary election was in August, and the general election in November. The process now goes on for a full year, and the cost of financing a campaign keeps some good candidates from seeking office.

Instead, special interest groups finance the campaign. Most of the money comes from political action committees (PACs) or wealthy individuals. It takes at least $500,000 to run an effective campaign for Congress, and many incumbent congressmen raise most of their money from PACs. Some of those PACs are not located in the district served by the congressman.

It makes you wonder if the PACs care anything about the issues in your own district. And, it makes you wonder about the election. Did we have an election, or was it a referendum on which special interest groups gained an upper hand in our government?

We took a golf-package trip to Las Vegas the first part of this week, and we can report that not many folks in the gambling capital of the nation seemed to give a hoot about the election results Tuesday night. By the way folks are spending and gambling away their money there, you'd never think the economy is in bad shape.

We met senior golfers from around the country, and most of them did express concern about the future. They are mostly concerned about the way all taxes are continuing to increase, making it difficult to invest and improve business ventures. They're ready for a change, but it better be a change for the better!

THE VOICE OF BUSINESS NOT EXACTLY WELFARE QUEENS

by Dr. Richard L. Leshner, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

WASHINGTON — The most distressing aspect of our welfare system is not its cost, which is huge and growing, but rather the way it undermines the best efforts of recipients to become self-sufficient and independent.

A case in point is Cecelia Mercado, a Connecticut mother who relied upon Aid to Families with Dependent Children to feed her eight children. Unfortunately, for Mercado, two of her children took part-time jobs to raise money for college. Soon they had accumulated more than $1,000, the cutoff line for AFDC recipients. Mercado had to repay the $9,342.75 she had received from the government during the time her assets exceeded the minimum, and her kids were required to squander their savings quickly to enable their mother to regain AFDC eligibility.

A variation of the same thing happened to Grace Capetillo of Milwaukee who tried to put away money for her daughter to attend college. According to syndicated columnist William Raspberry, Capetillo not only had to repay more than $15,000, she was also convicted of welfare fraud and placed on probation.

Somehow I don't believe these are the people President Ronald Reagan had in mind back in the days when he spoke disparagingly of "welfare queens." To the contrary, I am sure he would share my indignation about the treatment these women received.

But therein lies the fundamental dilemma posed by our welfare system, and the daily quandary with which government officials must wrestle. On the one hand, we all want welfare recipients to enter the work force, acquire property and achieve financial independence. That will be better for them, better for the government and better for society.

On the other hand, however, government has an obligation to restrict welfare to those who truly need it — to prevent plundering of the public purse by opportunists. Thus, Congress imposed the $1,000 cutoff line to distinguish the broke from the near-broke.

Unfortunately, the practical effect of such arbitrary limits is to discourage the poor from working to better themselves. They face a grim choice of either accepting their plight as a permanent condition, or of dishonestly concealing their savings from the government.

Raspberry suggested an exception should be made for savings put aside for higher education. That is a good idea, but higher education is only one of many potential routes out of poverty. I would exempt savings for vocational education as well, and would look even more favorably on funds put away to launch a new business enterprise.

In any event, it is irrational to criticize welfare bureaucrats for the plight of women like Mercado and Capetillo. The bureaucrats are required to follow the law as it is written, not as it should be written, and their options are as limited as those of their constituents. What we need is a more enlightened welfare system designed to encourage and reward efforts to achieve self reliance. Even if such a system invites abuse, it would be preferable to the present program that strangles ambition and initiative.

An AP News Analysis

GOP eyes prospects for 1996

AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) - For Dan Quayle, the odd man out, there's no evident or easy route to political revival - but he'll be looking. One possible starting point for an out-of-work vice president would be a new political organization of his own, launched with leftover campaign funds.

Jack Kemp's course is clearer. Conservatives were billing him as a likely Republican leader for 1996 long before President Bush lost the White House. He can make his base - and his case - at a conservative think tank as the Democrats take over.

"Jack has an almost unique ability right now to play a role in uniting the Republican Party," said Rep. Vin Weber of Minnesota. "If he does play that role, I think that makes him serious right through 1996."

But Weber said there's a strong farm team for the next White House campaign.

Among the names on the consensus list of Republican prospects for next time: Texas Sen. Phil Gramm; governors such as Carroll Campbell of South Carolina and William Weld of Massachusetts; William Bennett, the former education secretary; Patrick Buchanan, the conservative commentator who challenged Bush in the 1992 GOP primaries; and more to come.

The Bush defeat may have ended the possibility of a bid by James A. Baker III, the secretary of state who became White House chief of staff in a futile attempt to rescue the campaign.

He and Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney may also have lost their issue; Cheney lamented on Election Day that voters, pundits and candidates seemed disinterested in foreign policy and national security matters.

"The idea that the time when we have to focus on foreign policy and national security is behind us I think is hogwash," Cheney said.

But Election Day polling showed that only 8 percent of the voters regarded foreign affairs as a top issue.

Obviously that would change in case of crisis abroad. But at this point, domestic concerns, the Democrats' strong suit, are dominant.

Pat Robertson, the television preacher-commentator who ran for the 1988 nomination, has been organizing his Christian Coalition to take power in state Republican operations and build his national reach that way.

"The Republican Party will probably have a splendid opportunity, if we have some economic collapse in the next two or three years, to come back strong in '96," Robertson said in a TV interview as Clinton won.

Kemp and Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, the Republican leader, also ran for the 1988 nomination that Bush won. Dole, 69, said he isn't foreclosing any options, but probably won't be a candidate four years from now.

Dole said it may be time for the next generation of candidates.

As vice president, Quayle, 45, would have started as a leading figure in that GOP generation, despite the errors and image problems that have dogged him. Election Day polling showed 27 percent of the voters thought the vice presidency a major issue; among those voters, 70 percent backed Clinton and Vice President-elect Al Gore, and just 27 percent voted for Bush and Quayle.

So the problem persists as Quayle looks for ways to start over. He's said he wants to continue in public service. But there are no evident openings, and he hasn't decided on a course.

Alone on the major party tickets, Quayle had no political haven in defeat. Bush, 68, retires with the perquisites of a former president. Gov. Clinton and Sen. Gore both had continuing terms in the offices they already held.

Quayle says he hasn't decided on a course. He's talked about going home to Indiana, but he's reluctant to move his children with one finishing and one entering high school. At the same time, he doesn't want to linger, ghostlike, around Washington. And he has mulled his 1996 prospects.

To pursue them, some in the Quayle camp have suggested a political action committee, with startup money to come from a $400,000 surplus left after his last Senate campaign, in 1986.

It's been done before. Ronald Reagan set up Citizens for the Republic as his political organization between his unsuccessful bid for the 1976 nomination and his winning campaign in 1980.

But he started strong, and when the Democrats won the White House, he was in the wings, ready for next time.

And Dan Quayle is no Ronald Reagan.

Editorials from around the state

By The Associated Press

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from Texas newspapers on President-elect Clinton's victory Tuesday:

The Abilene Reporter-News:

The people made it clear they are dissatisfied with politics as usual, politics by and for the politicians, bureaucrats and special interests. They made it clear that they want their elected representatives to be more accountable, more responsible, more effective.

Tuesday the voters had the ultimate say. Some will argue that there can be no mandate coming out of an election in which no candidate receives a majority of the popular vote. But as clearly as the lines were drawn by the candidates this year and as involved as the people became in the process, Bill Clinton should feel validated to push ahead with his vision for the future.

The Amarillo Daily News:

The Clintonites are already beginning to realize that winning the campaign is a much simpler task than governing. A Clinton administration will be faced with difficult and, often, contradictory problems.

The biggest single hurdle will be living up to expectations. For the first time in 12 years, one party will control the government. Democrats will have to put up or shut up. A reversion to tax-and-spend and interest group politics will hurt the country and almost guarantee a one-term presidency for Clinton. But if Clinton is indeed a new Democrat, then there is hope.

The Beaumont Enterprise:

Clinton will have difficulty claiming a mandate from the voters' decision. He must remember that more than half of all voters cast ballots against him. That hardly gives him a blank check to remake government in his own image.

Moreover, the new president and the Democratic majority in Congress cannot blame each other if they don't improve the nation's plight. They have no cover. And failure to deliver the goods will prompt swift reprisal from voters in four years.

Just ask George Bush.

The Brazosport Facts:

We heard so many words over and over again that we may choose to drop them from our vocabulary for at least four years.

Reoccurring words, in no particular order, include pundit, character, bozo, experience, economy, Congress, gridlock, conspiracy, draft, marijuana, inhale (or didn't inhale), arms, Iraq, Millie, Baker, issues, poll, ozone, tax and spend, recovery, Larry King, altered photo, anti-war rallies, debates, hearing aid, health care, agenda, waffle, jobs, adultery, Jennifer, Hillary, recession, recovery, GNP, Arkansas, gasoline tax, media, family values, deficit ...

The main word voters overwhelmingly remember is change. It was the entire premise of Clinton's campaign. While we should all go through therapy to forget some of the other words tossed around, change is one word we should not scratch from our memory bank.

It's a word we had better not forget for four years. We need to continue reminding our new Democratic leader of his promise of change. Will it be a change for the better?

The Dallas Morning News:

Now, Bill Clinton and Al Gore have as their task the charting of the nation's future. Their personal challenge is to grow into their role as world leaders. George Bush set a strong example, knowing during his presidency which international leaders to call, using military strength when necessary and exercising diplomatic pressure with prudence.

As the nation calls out for change, it should not forget the need for shared sacrifice. The roller-coaster '92 campaign has ended. It is time to bring the various interests of the country together. As Mr. Perot might have put it, let's work together to get the hood up on the car, make the necessary repairs and get moving.

Notes on the Law

Are you a consumer with a problem debt or are you a consumer creditor needing to collect a debt? If so, you should be aware of the Federal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act. Although this Act is approximately 15 years old, many people are unaware of its provisions and limitations.

There are some technical terms which govern the application of the Act to particular circumstances. However, in general, if someone is attempting to collect a debt, then any letter to a consumer debtor should contain the following information:

1. The amount of the debt and the name of the creditor;
2. A statement that unless the consumer, within 30 days after receipt of the notice, disputes the validity of the debt, or any portion thereof, the debt will be assumed to be valid;
3. A statement that if the consumer notifies the debt collector in writing within the 30-day period that the debt, or any portion thereof, is in dispute, the debt collector will obtain verification of the debt or a copy of a judgment against the consumer and a copy of such verification or judgment will be mailed to the consumer.
4. A statement that upon the consumer's written request within the 30-day period, the debt collector will provide the consumer with the name and address of the original creditor, if different from the current creditor.

If the Federal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act is violated, the creditor may become liable to the debtor and the creditor's claim may be offset by the amount of a judgment in favor of the debtor.

Another Act that governs debt collection practices is the Texas Debt Collection Act. Under this Act, the use of threats, coercion, harassment or abusive tactics is prohibited. Violation of the Texas Debt Collection Act can result in both civil and criminal damages or penalties. Also a violation of the Texas Debt Collection Act may result in liability under the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act. This is important because a creditor may be exposed to liability for punitive damages if the creditor's conduct violates the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act.

Finally, wrongful collection efforts can cause a creditor to be liable in tort. There are numerous cases in Texas in which debtors have obtained judgments against their respective creditors for mental distress caused by the collection efforts utilized by the creditors.

If you are a consumer debtor or a consumer creditor, you need to be aware of your legal rights and limitations that affect your obligation to pay or your rights to collect consumer debts. ### West Central celebrates week

Students of Marva Spain at West Central Intermediate School were some of the children who participated in last week's Red Ribbon Week activities. The students were constantly reminded of the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse by door decorations, posters, signs and other items throughout the week.

HHS students share ideas on drugs

We, as teenagers, need to control ourselves with our under age drinking. In order to earn respect and trust from the public, I think we need to trust and respect our inner selves without alcohol or drugs first!

Joey Garcia Jr., IV

The underage drinking is a problem that is not being taken seriously in the community. I worry about what the kids in the future have to look forward to regarding drug and alcohol abuse.

Misty Dudley

Parents need to realize that their teenagers are drinking and forget the fantasy image that their teenagers don't, because they should know better.

Edna Valdez

I feel that under age drug users should concentrate on improving their future instead of throwing it away.

Mandi Ann Tijerina

It's great that people are willing to fight for this cause but in order to achieve something, we have to stop being hypocrites about it.

Rene Cano

It is an opportunity for kids and adults who are drug and alcohol free to stand and be counted for. My goal for red ribbon week is to educate students and adults of the harm of drugs and alcohol abuse.

Connie Jackson

I believe students should be taught by their parents that drinking & drug use is wrong. If the problem is to be solved I think it has to start at home.

Misty Peabody

The drug abuse in our society is unfortunate. I appreciate all the information made available and hope everyone will listen to what they are trying to tell us.

Jill Ruland

I think that there is a big drug problem because our country has our minds so wrapped that none has any morale anymore.

Greg Coplen

Hereford, Texas has such a bad teenage drinking problem, and we have not done anything about it. We are just so lucky that we have not had that many alcohol related deaths. I think we need to do something about the alcohol problem we have before it gets any worse. Marking Hereford dry will not demolish the whole problem, but will help a lot.

I worry about kids who have not had a good moral up bringing. I think that is a major problem with society.

Here's a primer on Clinton's stances

WASHINGTON (AP) - Americans demanded change when they picked a new president, and that's what they're about to get. If Bill Clinton has his way, assault weapons will be banned, family leave will be guaranteed and so will a woman's right to abortion.

Across the board, Clinton is preparing a big shakeup in policy.

Executive orders signed by George Bush and Ronald Reagan are up for review. Bills they vetoed are being resurrected.

Republican efforts of 12 years to restrain Washington's power are giving way to an activist government under Clinton, who takes office Jan. 20.

"Clinton is a young leader who has a clear message about solving some problems in society," said James Thurber, director of American University's Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies. "That alone will bring a great sense of change. This is a historic election."

The economy was issue No. 1, and the centerpiece of Clinton's campaign was a stimulus program built around a $20-billion-a-year spending plan for highways and bridges to create jobs. In the longer term, he'll seek investment tax credits for new plants and equipment and a capital gains tax cut for new business.

He wants to raise taxes on Americans with household incomes over $200,000 and cut taxes for middle- and lower-income workers.

Beyond Clinton's well-known promises on the economy and health insurance, though, are numerous other unequivocal positions that lay a blueprint for his administration.

He is pledged to sign the Brady bill requiring a waiting period for handgun purchases. He wants to ban offshore oil drilling where rigs are not already in place. He wants a law to prohibit companies from hiring permanent replacements for strikers.

Clinton says homosexuals should be allowed to serve in the military. The number of American troops in Europe would be cut to between 75,000 and 100,000 under Clinton rather than the 150,000 ceiling set by President Bush. Clinton says allies should shoulder more of the burden.

He wants a system under which states would automatically register people to vote when they apply for drivers' licenses. He is willing to spend $8.25 billion on the atom-smashing superconducting super collider projects. He says he'll repeal most Bush policies on abortion. He'll cut the White House staff by 25 percent and challenge Congress to do the same.

To combat crime, Clinton wants to put 100,000 new police officers on the streets through a national police corps and other means. He supports the death penalty.

He wants to limit carbon dioxide emissions to 1990 levels by the year 2000 to reverse global warming. For cars, he wants to phase in a 40-mpg auto fuel efficiency standard by the turn of the century, although he has wavered.

Clinton wants to cut defense spending by about $100 billion by 1997. He intends to scrap the massive spaced-based defense system known as Brilliant Pebbles. He wants to build another Seawolf submarine and shrink the Navy to 10 carriers instead of 12.

Clinton would give Head Start enough money to cover all eligible 3-year-olds as well as older preschoolers. He would make college aid available to all, to be repaid through community service or as a percentage of future income. Every employer would be required to pay a 1.5 percent payroll tax for federal training and education programs.

He will push the trade agreement with Mexico but wants to negotiate additional safeguards for U.S. workers and industries.

Clinton will seek the line-item veto. He will increase spending for AIDS research. He would put a two-year cap on welfare benefits, during which time a recipient would be helped with education, training and child care. After that, those who can work must.

WHAT HAPPENS NOW?

Q. What happens from the time I decide to purchase, until I take possession of a new home?

A. After the house has been picked out, the loan application will be filled out. The lender will do a credit check, an appraisal and a survey of the property. After approval, legal documents are prepared for the signatures of the seller and the new owner. These papers include a new deed, note and mortgage. At this time the title will be checked to see if there are any debts against the property along with verification of legal ownership. After everything is in order, closing will take place. The seller will sign the new deed, you will sign a new note and mortgage. The old loan is paid off and new the loan set up. Then anyone who has performed a service; the seller, attorneys, title company and real estate agency will be paid. After these compliances are done, the title insurance policies will be issued to you and the lender.

—YOUR EYES—

MORE THAN SCENING

Mass vision screenings have their place. They often spot vision problems that might have gone undetected in people who do not get regular professional eye care. But screening cannot stand in for a complete eye examination by an eye professional.

Having you read an eye chart is only one step in measuring the condition of your eyes. Your optometrist will also examine the health of your eyes, making sure that they are free of disease or other abnormalities. At a certain age, your exam will include a test for glaucoma and retinal diseases. Indeed, some physical diseases show up in the eyes before other symptoms become obvious.

A complete examination will test the coordination of the eyes: do they work together as they should? Do they point and focus at the same place? Stereopsis tests determine depth perception, the ability to judge distances and space relationships. Peripheral vision is tested, too. Correction will be prescribed if needed.

District Champions.

"I love it," Hereford fullback Quincy Curtis said after the Herd's 35-7 rout of Dumas made Hereford the outright champion of District 1-4A. "There's no feeling like it. You can't say how it feels."

"All the tough workouts we had were worth it," added center Manuel Barba. "It was payday today."

Hereford's payoff is its first outright district title since 1981. The Whitefaces also get to renew an old rivalry with Plainview in the first round of the state 4A playoffs. Plainview, which is a regular foe in scrimmages but has been absent from the schedule since 1985, beat Lamesa 21-14 to earn a playoff berth.

The Herd defense set the tone for the game, and the tone was loud. In the first quarter, Dumas' high-powered attack had no first downs and one total yard. One.

"The moment we stepped on the practice field Monday, we were focused from that point on," linebacker Eric Sims said. "We went out and took care of what we had to."

Linebacker Kyle Hansen said the defense was ready mentally for the Demons.

"We came in the game knowing we couldn't underestimate these guys; they got behind Randall and came back on them," Hansen said. "We kept the D juiced up. We pretty much knew what they were going to run before they ran it. We studied these guys more than we have anybody."

Sims said coach Danny Haney got them ready emotionally.

"Everybody was quiet before the game--just sitting and thinking," Sims said. "Coach Haney gave a little speech, and we shot through the roof."

The defense was responsible for the game's turning point only six minutes into the game. The Herd offense drove the ball down inside the Dumas 10-yard line, but quarterback Richard Sanderson was stopped for a two-yard loss on fourth down and goal at the six. It was a potentially-crushing loss scoring opportunity.

Dumas took over and on second down, Herd rover Joel Gaytan hit Dumas running back James Smith in the backfield and knocked the ball loose. Sims fell on the ball at the five-yard line. Petey Colvin ran for a touchdown on the next play, and Greg Coplen kicked the extra point to give Hereford a 7-0 lead.

The defense held Dumas to three plays and a punt on the Demons' next two possessions. After that, the offense took over.

While the defense held Dumas to 170 yards total offense, Hereford rolled to 403 yards. Curtis, Sanderson and Colvin each ran for more than 100 yards. Curtis led the team with 119 yards, followed closely by Sanderson with 117 and Colvin with 116. It was Sanderson's second 100-yard game of the season and Curtis' first.

"They were keying on Petey all night," Curtis said. "They were keying on Petey and Richard, but they were still making gains. They weren't watching me. Of course the offensive line--they blocked good all night. They didn't have any breakdowns."

At a meeting Saturday morning in Canyon, the coaches flipped and Plainview won the toss. The playoff game will be Friday night at 7:30 in Jones Stadium in Lubbock. Tickets will be $6 here and at the gate. A pre-sale for students will be $3 a ticket, but all tickets will be $6 at the gate. Hereford will be the visiting team, with seating on the east side of Jones Stadium.

well and executed well."

Hereford stuck with its running game. Sanderson attempted only three passes. He completed one for 13 yards and had one intercepted on a tipped pass.

The interception was on Hereford's third possession and the defense held Dumas to nothing. Hereford scored on its next two possessions.

The first was a 50-yard, 10-play drive keyed by Drew Radford's 13-yard reception on third-and-11 and by Curtis' 20-yard run. Colvin scored from one yard out with 8:40 left in the half, and Coplen kicked for the point and a 14-0 lead.

"We communicated on the line," Barba said. "We wanted to get the backs to the end zone; that's all we were thinking."

"(Dumas) played pretty well defensively," Haney said. "We earned everything we got. The boys played

The second drive was a 76-yard, nine-play drive. Colvin had runs of 17 and 20 yards, and Sanderson had runs of 14 and 19, both on third down. Sanderson's 19-yarder was for the score. Coplen's kick made it 21-0 with 1:42 left to play.

Hereford's defense twice staved off Dumas' serious threats to score. Dumas decided to go for it on fourth-and-one at the Hereford 16, but Mark Kuper and Brad Lemons teamed to stop quarterback Paul Legg for an eight-yard loss.

The second threat came in the last minute of the half, but it ended when Hansen intercepted Legg's pass at the Herd 10.

Hereford scored again early in the third quarter. Colvin's one-yard plunge capped a six-play, 44-yard drive, and Coplen's kick ran the score to 28-0.

Dumas answered with a nine-play, 62-yard scoring drive that ended when Smith got around the left corner for an 18-yard touchdown. Smith's season ended with just over 1,500 yards and a new Dumas single-season rushing record. Alfredo Medrano hit the extra point to make Hereford's lead 28-7 with 3:58 left in the third.

Hereford came right back with an 83-yard, nine-play drive on which all three backs had runs of 10-plus yards. Sanderson scored on another 19-yarder on the first play of the fourth quarter, and Coplen finished off a 5-for-5 night to make the score 35-7. Mostly backups played the rest of the way for Hereford.

Dumas didn't get outside its own 32-yard line on its last four possessions. In fact, except for the Demons' scoring drive in the second half and their two threatening drives in the first half, they didn't get outside their own 32 at all.

Hereford finished the regular season at 8-2 and is on an eight-game winning streak. The Whitefaces earned Haney his first district title in his second year as head coach.

"It's a great feeling," Haney said. "You've got to understand it's not just me. I've got lots of good coaches and lots of good players. And there's nothing magic about it. It's lots of hard work on everybody's part."

He hinted that if the work keeps up, so could the season.

"I think the team's come to the understanding that they can play as long as they want to."

Katy knocks off top-ranked Jersey

By JAIME ARON
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Three quarters into their season finale, the No. 1 Jersey Village Falcons appeared headed for their first regular-season title. The defense was dominating Katy and running back Wes Baker was unstoppable.

But a funny thing happened on the way to the trophy case. First, a missed extra point. Then, a safety followed by a four-play scoring drive gave Katy a 9-6 victory and opened the door for a new No. 1 team in Class 5A.

That honor could go to Temple, which held the top spot for most of the season. The No. 3 Wildcats blew out Bryan 52-12 but may need the help of Dallas Carter, which faced No. 2 Dallas Kimball on Saturday.

When the season's final Associated Press schoolboy football poll is released Monday, the other four No. 1s likely will be the reigning teams, two of which held the top spots all season.

Jersey Village (9-1) and Katy (8-2) were scoreless entering the fourth quarter, with the Tigers doing an impressive job of stopping the Falcons' lethal combination of quarterback Jay Boehmke and receiver John Pollard. Baker picked up much of the slack, rushing for 211 of the team's 270 yards of offense, but it took backup fullback Jason Haddock to score the game's first points on a 9-yard run with 6:56 to play. The kick failed.

Jersey Village stalled on its next drive and elected to take a safety and ensuing free kick with 2:33 remaining rather than punt the ball from its own 17.

Four plays later, Christian Reyes caught a 37-yard touchdown pass from Robey Williams with 1:13 remaining to cap a 51-play drive that likely ended Jersey Village's regular-season title hopes.

"What a great defensive effort," Katy coach Mike Johnson said. "The defense played real inspired and kept their offense contained very well. We just hung in there offensively and made the big play at the end of the game when we had to."

Katy gained only 178 yards, more than one-fourth coming on the game-winning drive.

Fourth-ranked Odessa Permian defeated San Angelo Central 49-21, No. 5 Converse Judson beat San Antonio Madison 49-35, No. 7 Fort Worth Dunbar defeated Fort Worth Western Hills 30-9, No. 8 El Paso

Irvin finished the season undefeated by beating El Paso Andress 34-7 and No. 9 Spring Westfield beat Spring 35-30.

Among the five other ranked teams to lose this weekend was Class 4A's No. 7 West Orange-Stark, which earlier this week was forced to forfeit five games for using an ineligible player. Stark, which is appealing the ruling, fell 14-13 to Port Neches-Groves.

Austin Westlake, which rose to 4A's No. 1 this week for the first time in school history, defeated Hays Consolidated 28-13 to cap the school's first-ever 10-0 season.

Second-ranked Waxahachie could make a run at Westlake, having drubbed Midlothian 68-9. Defending champion A&M Consolidated, ranked third, won its ninth straight, shutting out Navasota 42-0.

Fourth-ranked Gregory-Portland, one of a handful of teams whose regular seasons conclude next weekend, beat Kingsville 56-18 and No. 5 Bay City defeated Port Lavaca Calhoun 51-6.

Former No. 1 Carthage, ranked sixth, ended the year 9-1, beating Longview Pine Tree 29-18. The Bulldogs' season ends because Henderson defeated Kilgore 8-7, sending those two teams to the playoffs. Kilgore beat Carthage last week.

Austin LBJ's Shon Mitchell rushed for 244 yards, giving him 1,788 yards and the city's single-season rushing record by 109 yards. He broke the 1974 record of Austin High's David Seaborn in the No. 7 Jaguars' 35-14 victory over Austin Anderson.

Ninth-ranked New Braunfels capped an undefeated season by beating Alamo Heights 27-3 and No. 10 Corpus Christi Calallen beat Beeville 26-0.

Class 3A's top-ranked Southlake Carroll extended two impressive streaks by defeating Lake Worth 56-0.

The Dragons extended their state record for consecutive regular-season victories to 61 and concluded their sixth consecutive undefeated regular seasons, one short of tying the national record.

Second-ranked Vernon, which has posted solid victories all season but has been unable to dethrone Carroll, closed its perfect season with a 48-8 victory over Breckenridge.

Bellville, ranked No. 3, beat Smithville 49-6, No. 4 Waco Robinson beat Cameron 22-16 and No. 5 Carrizo Springs beat Pearsall.

Shutouts highlighted the final weekend in Class 2A, where Freer is likely to earn its first-ever regular-season title. The No. 1 Buckaroos slammed Banquete 56-0 to end the year 9-0.

Six other ranked teams posted season-ending shutouts, including No. 2 Van Alstyne, a 47-0 winner over Bells, and No. 3 Schulenburg. The defending champion Shorthorns thumped Brookshire Royal 63-0.

Raiders steal playoff spot

Hereford's 35-7 win Friday at Dumas gives the Herd a 5-0 district record (8-2 overall) and outright possession of a district title for the first time since 1981.

A loss might have ended the season, but the Whitefaces didn't consider that an option.

"Everybody was talking about tie-breakers all week," Herd fullback Quincy Curtis said. "We weren't worried about tie-breakers."

Dumas, Randall and Pampa were the ones who had to worry about tie-breakers. The trio ended up tied for second place with 3-2 district records. Two blocked punts in the fourth quarter helped Randall beat Pampa 40-21 Friday in Pampa. The margin was enough to send Randall into the playoffs as the second seed.

The Raiders (7-3) will face Estacado at a time and site to be determined. Caprock claimed fifth place in District 1-4A with a 17-14 win over Borger. Caprock finished at 1-4 and 3-7, while Borger failed to win any of its 10 games.

Dumas season ended at 5-5, and Pampa finished at 3-7.

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
IRVING (AP)—How many of you had three years in the office pool? As in three years until Jimmy Johnson had the Dallas Cowboys back on top of the NFL again? If you predicted it, take a weekend to Las Vegas. Great things could be in store. After a 1-15 start with a team that probably couldn't have handled anybody in The Associated Press collegiate Top 25, Johnson has traded, wheeled and dealed and drafted his way to the NFL's upper echelon. The Herschel Walker trade to Minnesota was the blockbuster that got the Cowboys a rocket boost in talent with draft picks and a frontline cornerback like Issiac Holt. But the Cowboys also signed free agents and went after a top pass rusher like Charles Haley. "I knew they were serious when they got somebody like Haley," said safety Thomas Everett, who left Pittsburgh to join the Cowboys. The Cowboys' climb has been so fast that Johnson is only five games away (going into Sunday's game at Detroit) from the .500 mark for his pro career. It's been nine years since the Cowboys led the NFL. They started 9-0 in 1983. They got back to the top with a no-star, who's-he, defense which doesn't have an All-Pro or a Pro Bowl headliner on it.

The offense is a burgeoning giant because of mastermind Norv Turner, who is finding the proper mix of Emmitt Smith's runs and Troy Aikman's passes. Perhaps the smartest thing Johnson did was hire Turner away from the Los Angeles Rams. Johnson got lucky there, bigtime lucky. Turner wasn't on the original search list after Johnson fired David Shula, now head coach at Cincinnati. Johnson wanted Gary Stevens, who was working with Miami Dolphins coach Don Shula. Stevens, after much soul-searching, decided to stay at Miami. Then Johnson took a run at San Diego Chargers assistant Ted Tollner. The Chargers wouldn't give permission for Johnson to interview Tollner. Johnson wanted to speak to Kansas City's Joe Pendry. The Chiefs said no.

"I'd been with the Rams six seasons and I was excited about what the Cowboys had to offer," Turner said. "It was a great opportunity." Emmitt Smith, who led the NFL in rushing under Turner, gave testimony to what it means to run in his offense. "It's allowed me to become the runner that I want to be and allowed me to do things I want to do," Smith said. "He creates situations and puts the ball in my hands. His offense is the big reason I led the NFL in rushing." The Cowboys are the youngest team in the NFL, averaging under 26 years old. Johnson is a big believer in replacing older players before they outlive their productivity. It's certainly been a swifter climb to the summit than all but the psychic predicted.

That's when defensive coordinator Dave Wannstedt mentioned Turner, who had worked with Ernie Zampese at Los Angeles.

Smith above comparisons to Sanders

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) - Emmitt Smith used to do a slow boil whenever he was compared to Barry Sanders. Fairly or not, he always felt that Sanders was held in higher esteem.

All that has changed. Smith now can afford to be above comparisons. He may not like the comparisons any better, but he clearly is having a better season than Sanders.

When the Dallas Cowboys (7-1) play the Detroit Lions (2-6), the Cowboys will bring the NFL's best record into the Silverdome. And part of the reason is Smith, who is on track for a killer season.

Smith leads the NFL in rushing with 896 yards on 200 carries. Sanders is languishing with 527 yards on 137 attempts.

"I'm not putting any 'best' title on anyone," Smith said. "That's something for the media to worry about. I'm not worried about that. We're playing in different offenses. Much of the time, we also play different opponents."

Yet the fact remains that Smith and Sanders, just a year ago, were about as even as two running backs could be.

In 1991, Smith became the first Cowboy to lead the NFL in rushing. He carried the ball 365 times for 1,563 yards and 12 rushing touchdowns. Sanders rushed for 1,548 yards and 16 TDs on 342 carries last year.

"Emmitt Smith, when he came out, was looked on as a Thurman Thomas-type of running back," Detroit coach Wayne Fontes said. "He has, indeed, turned into a very, very fine runner. Right now, he's running behind a fine offensive line."

And Fontes believes that is the difference. A year ago, the Lions also had a solid offensive line. But they lost Mike Utley to a career-ending neck injury, and over the summer Erik Andolsek was killed when he was struck by a car. And, today, only one starter - Lomas Brown - remains of the linemen who started the season.

The rest are injured. "A line helps anybody," Fontes said. "Put me behind a great line and I'd look good. But, we'll play the hand we were dealt."

Which is not to say that Sanders isn't still a great running back. Or that he won't suddenly break out. Two weeks ago, in a 38-7 victory at Tampa Bay, he rushed for a season-high 121 yards and two TDs on 21 carries. One score came on a 55-yard run.

"I don't think it's ever easy to slow down Barry Sanders," Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson said. "I don't think you ever stop him."

Johnson noted that teams are stopping Sanders this year by ganging up at the line of scrimmage. He recalled the Cowboys tried the same tactic in their playoff game against the Lions last season.

"When you jam up at the line of scrimmage, that should open up the passing game," Johnson said. "We tried to do that on Jan. 5, and I think Erik Kramer passed for 341 yards and three touchdowns against us."

In fact, the Lions beat the Cowboys twice last season. They beat Dallas 34-10 on Oct. 27 and won that playoff game 38-6.

"Detroit was a better team than many people imagined," Johnson said. "And we weren't as good as people thought."

"We know the capability of Detroit. We look at their lineup. It's the same lineup we faced Jan. 5, except for the missing offensive linemen."

Odds makers have made the Cowboys seven-point favorites for this meeting with the Lions.

"We've had a great start," said Smith, who has rushed for 315 yards in his last two games, including a stunning 163 yards last week against the Eagles. "It's helped us to get more confident. Everyone believes in each other now."

Oilers don't know why they're struggling at 5-3

HOUSTON (AP) - At last, Sunday is here and the Houston Oilers can take out their agony on someone other than themselves.

They've been verbally beating on each other all week, trying to decipher what's happened to the team that was supposed to finally put aside its underachieving ways and blast its way into the Super Bowl.

Instead of fine-tuning for the second half of the season, the Oilers received a strong warning from coach Jack Pardee and exchanged their own ideas why they are 5-3 and struggling.

Much of their self-critique centered around a lack of discipline, first addressed by defensive tackle Ray Childress, who said the team had serious problems. Some agreed, others didn't.

It was clear to all, however, that they must play a better second half beginning at noon CST Sunday against the Cleveland Browns (4-4).

"Once we start winning, all this will be forgotten," defensive tackle Lee Williams said. "We lost to Pittsburgh by a field goal. Where's the lack of discipline there? You can't judge it on one play."

There were even suggestions that Pardee's low-key approach to coaching should change.

"One of the problems is that we don't come together as a team, and it comes down to discipline," safety Bubba McDowell said. "Coaches can only do so much, though. It's a two-way street."

McDowell thinks a tougher coaching stance is called for.

"I'm not saying this to insult the coaches, but if we had more discipline from the coaches, things like this couldn't be going on," McDowell said. "They should just put down their foot."

Childress' dire assessment was counterbalanced by free-spirited wide receiver Haywood Jeffires, who thinks good times are ahead.

"Let's don't get outrageous," Jeffires said. "There are different views of what discipline is. It's probably mental mistakes that's causing our problems. Maybe we should just have a party and go into the game relaxed."

The Oilers have plenty of weapons to challenge the Browns. Warren Moon is the top-rated quarterback in the AFC. Jeffires leads the NFL with 58 catches and Curtis Duncan is tied for third with 44.

"We're obviously at a critical point but we're not panicking," defensive end William Fuller said. "We'd love to be 8-0 or 7-1 but we're not. Now we just have to take care of the next game."

Cleveland coach Bill Belichick has his own problems, trying to recharge the Browns after Sunday's loss to Cincinnati that snapped a five-game Bengal losing streak and ended Cleveland's three-game winning streak.

He'll do it without injured Bernie Kosar, replaced by Mike Tomczak, who signed as a free agent on Sept. 15.

"I look for great challenge," Tomczak said. "How many 30 year olds can line up at quarterback and go play the Houston Oilers in their life. At times I'm a little animated but I have fun playing this game."

"Eight weeks ago I was out of the game and now I have the opportunity to continue my career."

Tomczak hopes the Oilers are still worried about themselves when the game starts.

"We haven't played an effective game in the last two weeks," he said. "I think we need to go out there and control the clock and get some big plays."

The Browns will be facing former Browns receiver Webster Slaughter, who gained his first start with the Oilers last Sunday against Pittsburgh.

Cleveland running back Eric Metcalf leads the team with 24 catches for 400 yards. The Browns have completed passes to an NFL high 16 receivers.

Historic Draft

NEW YORK (AP) - The first free agent major league Amateur Draft was held in 1965, and Rick Monday of Arizona State had the honor of being the first man selected. Monday was chosen by the Kansas City Athletics where he played a couple of seasons before moving with the team to Oakland.

Kansas City selected 10 players who made it to the major leagues in the 1965 draft, including Sal Bando and Gene Tenace.

Some other significant picks that year included catcher Johnny Bench by Cincinnati, infielder Graig Nettles and the career strike it king, Nolan Ryan, tapped by the New York Mets in the second round. Pitcher Tom Seaver was selected by Los Angeles but did not sign and later went to the Mets.

In 1983, Fred Lynn of the California Angels hit the first grand slam in the history of the All-Star Game.

To Make Money In The Stock Market, You Need A Little Skill. To Make Money From Lotto Texas, You Need A Little Pencil.

LOTTO Texas is a new game from the Texas Lottery, and you could make millions just by filling out a playslip and paying a dollar.

(We apologize to all those who have made their money through skill and savvy.)

The purpose of this is to instruct you on how to play.

OK. To play, just pick six numbers from one to fifty. If you happen to pick the same six numbers that come up at the drawings, then you could win millions of dollars.

OK. Step number one. Go to any of the LOTTO Texas retailers. You can only play where you see a red and yellow sign that says LOTTO Texas.

Step number two. While you're at the retailer, pick up a LOTTO Texas playslip and a pencil. There's a picture of the playslip on this page. You may find the playslips in a stand called a play station. If not, just ask for one.

Step number three. (My, we're moving right along now, aren't we?) Just choose SIX numbers from one to fifty. You can play up to five times on each playslip. Completely fill in the numbers that you choose on the playslip ONLY WITH A BLACK OR BLUE BALLPOINT PEN OR A PENCIL. The one featured here would work just fine.

Also, don't erase any mistakes you make. Just fill in the VOID box on that particular play and you will not be charged for it.

Step number four. (Past the halfway mark.) Take a dollar (that's how much it costs to play LOTTO Texas) and give it and the playslip to the retailer. It takes just a few seconds. When you're done, you'll be handed a ticket which will verify which numbers you picked. Please remember to take the time to sign your name on the back of your ticket so no one else will be able to cash it in.

Step number five. Tune in the televised drawings on Wednesday and Saturday nights at 9:58 p.m., CST to see how well you did.

If you picked all six of the numbers which are randomly chosen on the ball machine, then you could become a millionaire. If you missed the drawing, the numbers will be posted the next day at all LOTTO Texas retailers and in your local newspaper. The jackpots are paid in 20 annual installments.

You can also win second and third prizes by matching five out of six or four out of six numbers. Match three out of six and you will win $3 automatically.

Win up to $599, and you can collect your prize at any LOTTO Texas retailer.

Winnings of $600 or more can be claimed at any of the 24 Texas Lottery claim centers. # Ex-UT coach Akers in no rush to find coaching job

By KIRK BOHLS

Austin American-Statesman
MANOR, Texas (AP) - A coal-black mix of Rottweiler and pit bull named Bull sits lazily in the bed of the dingy blue pickup. A purebred Rottweiler named Maddie runs alongside as Fred Akers drives a circuitous route through the 120 acres of brush country a few miles outside the city.

In the section he calls the Back Forty, he points out the four Longhorns that he breeds and raises with a passion.

"I've always been intrigued by Longhorns," says Akers, a former Longhorn himself as Texas football coach from 1977 to '86. "They're very hardy and, compared to other cows, superior in disease resistance. I see regular cows, and they look naked to me. They look like they don't have all their equipment."

Akers drives farther into the mesquite-covered ranch he bought in 1979 for a weekend getaway. Off in the distance are four quarter horses, including Chuckles, a two-time world-champion reining horse. That doesn't even count the miniature horse named Keri or the 26 Brangus cattle or the assortment of deer, bobcats, foxes and coyotes who call the ranch home.

"That's her tree," Akers says of wife Diane's personal favorite, a twisted oak.

Akers is in his element. Well, part of it, anyway. There is something missing.

He isn't a football coach now. But he plans to renew his 31-year coaching career next year if he can land a Division I head coaching job or an assistant's position in the National Football League.

After agreeing to step down as Purdue head coach in 1990 with a 12-31-1 record over four seasons, Akers promised his wife he would sit out one season to avoid jumping into a job he might regret. He lived up to that vow but applied unsuccessfully for the Arizona State vacancy last season and will campaign for his fourth head coaching position this winter.

"If the right situation - and there's not just one - were to open up, yes, I would do it," said Akers, 54. "I've spent a lot of years getting to the point I can be good at it. I'd like to coach another eight to 10 years."

Akers has managed to stay busy during his hiatus from coaching. He has divided his time among public speaking, giving motivational and leadership seminars, doing sales training for a marketing company, and, of course, never-ending ranch work.

He spent a month in China last year, addressing groups as diverse as students in Beijing and members of the country's National Sports Council.

But Akers has wanted to be a coach as far back as the third grade in a YMCA-sponsored league in Blytheville, Ark.

He has coached since 1961, when he was a graduate assistant in Frank Broyles' Arkansas staff. After three abbreviated high school stints, including one at Edinburg as the youngest head coach in the state, Akers was hired by Darrell Royal as an offensive assistant. Nine years later, he landed his first head coaching job at Wyoming and turned that dorm into a Western Athletic Conference champion in two seasons.

His Wyoming contract contained an escape clause that allowed him to leave early for a job at Texas or Arkansas. Curiously enough, after that second season with the Cowboys, he said he was offered the head coaching position at the University of Miami. Yes, that Miami.

"I told Miami I wasn't interested," said Akers, who also turned down a lucrative offer from the University of Florida while at Texas. "I didn't care to go to Miami. It didn't appeal to me."

Days after he turned down Miami, Texas came calling. He returned to Austin and was an instant success. His first team, with Earl Campbell and other Royal recruits, won its first 11 games before losing 38-10 to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl. That cost the Longhorns a fourth national championship.

Akers would have another shot at No. 1 in 1983 when his defense-oriented team again went through the regular season undefeated. However, once again offensive failures proved disastrous, and Texas dropped a 10-9 game to Georgia in the Cotton Bowl and lost any shot at a national title.

Three years later, he was fired despite a glittery 86-31-2 record that remains the sixth-best winning percentage (.731) in the Southwest Conference history. Unfortunately for Akers, Royal is still at the top of the SWC list at .774. In addition, Akers' bowl record was a dismal 2-7 including 0-4 in his final appearance.

"We did a good job of it, and we did it the right way," Akers said. "I don't have to apologize to anybody. I think a good program was interrupted."

Some of the problems at UT undoubtedly were Akers' doing, although most blame the wide chasm that developed in the program after Royal's top assistant, Mike Campbell, was passed over when Akers was hired. Others blame Akers' need to control everything and failure to delegate proper authority to his assistants.

UT administrators grew concerned about his declining graduation rates and academic discipline of his players.

In Akers' tenure at Texas, the SWC was one of the strongest leagues in the nation. The Longhorns had four Top 10 finishes in 10 years. In six of those years, at least one other SWC team finished in the Top 10, and in four of those seasons, two other SWC teams were Top 10 clubs.

"A lot of people don't remember how good the league was," said former Texas place-kicker Jeff Ward, the school's all-time leading scorer. "I remember the 1983 SMU game. In all my life, I had never been on a field or seen a field with that many good football players on it. It was absolutely amazing."

Nine players on the 1983 All-SWC team were still playing in the NFL last season. Teams were so even that of Akers' 31 losses at Texas, 11 were by a touchdown or less.

The depth on those SWC teams was almost as impressive as the depths to which some of those schools sank to sign the players. Six of the nine schools in the SWC at the time were placed on NCAA probation in the '80s. That includes Texas, which was cited for small loans, gifts and complimentary ticket abuses.

The probations brought the SMU the death penalty and decimated Texas Christian as well. Houston, Texas A&M and Texas Tech have fared much better.

Nevertheless, recruits left the state by the schooner-full. Many top players from Texas still start for out-of-state programs such as Oklahoma, Miami, UCLA, Colorado and Notre Dame.

"The league has really deteriorated," Akers said. "The level of competition is way down, and that's sad because the Southwest Conference has been a strong football conference for a long, long time. I don't see how it can survive. I think the NCAA will go down to 75 scholarships (from 92)."

Less than two weeks after he was fired at Texas in 1986, he accepted the head coaching job at Purdue. By the new year, he had already lost his star player, franchise quarterback Jeff George, who became the NFL's No. 1 draft pick in 1990.

Publicly, George and his family contended that Akers' conservative offenses helped ease Jeff's decision to transfer to Illinois. That deeply disturbed Akers, who said he was dumbfounded when a member of the media asked him at his first press conference if he thought the wishbone Akers ran at Texas could be adapted to the Boilermakers' personnel. Akers never ran the wishbone at Texas.

"People are easily led," Akers said. "Once you're labeled, everybody knows the truth even if it isn't the truth. I should have known something was up at our first press conference when they introduced the president as the ninth president in the school's history and me as Purdue's 32nd coach."

Even today, Akers doubts Purdue's long-term commitment to winning and suggests recruits from the state of Texas weren't always made to feel welcome. Purdue has a rich basketball tradition and revels in it at the expense of football.

Akers' teams never won more than four games in a season and never beat a ranked team. His Boilermakers lost

Temple supports its football

By KEVIN SHERRINGTON
The Dallas Morning News

TEMPLE (AP) - Laverta Dillard, her cane propped on a bleacher, was documenting her devotion to Temple High School football when an interruption came from another gray head two rows below.

"How long she been coming to games?" the woman asked, eyeing Dillard.

Forty-two years, the reporter said. "I got her beat," she said, wrinkling her nose. "Forty-five."

She turned, triumphant, to the field. But Dillard soon made it clear she would not readily abdicate her unofficial title as Temple's No. 1 fan, a considerable feat in this Wildcat-crazy town.

"You been to all the home and away games?" Dillard asked, looming over her challenger, her soft soprano sharpening.

"Well," the woman said, faltering, "the home games, yes."

Dillard eased back.

"I've been to all of them," she said.

Dillard was exaggerating, of course. Her streak does not extend some 450-plus games. She missed a game against Copperas Cove in 1984, she conceded under questioning, because she was in the hospital.

O.B. Graham didn't need a doctor's excuse. He has seen them all, victories and losses, home and road, since 1948. The youngest of his two sons - whose misfortune was to play his last season the year before Temple's only state championship, in 1979 - has not missed a game since he was 6 months old.

These examples of loyalty are extreme but not outlandish in Temple, a town of 46,106 and only one high school. The size and location of the town, a general lack of diversions and Temple's formidable football history make for its unique setting.

Plano and Amarillo have more all-time victories. But Plano has a suburb's metropolitan options. Amarillo is three times Temple's size.

Temple is just large enough to back big-time high school football and small enough to be consumed by it.

"This," said Jerode Banks, Temple's best basketball player, "is a football town."

A quarter of the town's population will fill the football stadium on a fall Friday night. Tickets to Wildcat football games have been the fodder of divorce settlements and passed on in wills. A local pastor spent 11 years on a waiting list for season tickets. A booster said a ticket to the spring football banquet, put on at a price that is half of the $15,000 collected in annual membership fees, is entree to one of Temple's finest social engagements.

A football fan has few choices in Temple, an old cotton and railroad town on the belly button of Texas. The University of Texas, an hour south on Interstate 35, and Baylor, a half-hour north, are inconvenient enough to justify a non-native taking up the Wildcats' cause.

Temple football might as well be considered a local industry. The town, with one of the largest medical centers in the state, once promoted itself as the "hospital center of the South." But high school football more closely defines it, which might seem a heavy burden for boys in shoulder pads.

No one seems to object, though. The media coverage, after all, is relaxed, buffered somewhat by patrician football coach Bob McQueen, who considers it one of his duties to "eliminate distractions."

The fans generally are not a problem for him. Temple's is not a rabid following. The faithful did not appear to take obscene delight in this season's 43-8 romp over poor Copperas Cove. A week before, a group of 30 or so spent a peaceful night outside the administration building in order to buy tickets the next morning for the game with Killeen, an old rival. They hardly even grumbled at the Quarterback Club meeting the following Monday, upon reliving a Temple quarterback's errant pitch in a 14-7 loss. A loss, in fact, that dropped the Wildcats from No. 1 in the state to fourth. (They are back in third place.)

They are used to these small disappointments. As good as the Wildcats have been, with alumni like Botchey Koch and Ki Aldrich and Kenneth Davis, they have only the one state title. Plano has six. Temple wrung out its fans in five championship games before winning the Class 5A title in 1979.

Asked what was the prevailing sentiment at the time, McQueen smiled and said, "Relief."

McQueen, 54, coached at other high schools and was an assistant at SMU under Hayden Fry. But all he really wanted as a coach was to go home. He is in his 21st season at his alma mater, the longest tenure in school history.

His record of 218-57-1 is the best reason for his longevity, though boosters also seemed almost in awe of the discipline he instills in his teams. His players, like many from tradition-rich programs, generally do not go on to become college stars. Two of his best, Davis and Albert Reese, later became involved in the biggest pay-for-play scandals in Southwest Conference history, at TCU and SMU.

Temple has had few players of any impact since Davis. For one, the school's enrollment has dropped to 2,068, second smallest in its district. McQueen's 1988 team won its opener and then lost nine in a row, the worst record in Temple history. "We couldn't believe it," one booster said.

The school board reacted by giving McQueen a three-year contract.

"They knew we could do the job," said McQueen. "This is not a win-at-all-cost kind of place. We want to win with class."

The social standing of Temple football, as elevated as it is, has receded over the years. J.W. Fipps, a prominent booster, recalled when men wore suits and hats and women wore high heels to games in the late 1940s and early 1950s.

Any able-bodied boy wore a football uniform.

"You just about had to be a member of the football team," McQueen said. "It's really not that way now. It's a very balanced athletic program now, and I'm pleased with that."

As Temple's athletic director, McQueen said he wants diversity. He hired basketball coach Harry Miller, who, in his first season, advanced to the regional semifinals last spring before losing to Longview.

Basketball has its niche, albeit a secondary one. Only three members of the football team also will play varsity basketball.

The support for basketball is growing, McQueen said. But it will be some time before it rivals football, if it ever does.

Most of the football players interviewed seemed somewhat oblivious to the extent of the fans' commitment. They said the support always is the same, win or lose. "Nothing can describe it," senior quarterback Adrian Woodson said. "It's like a big family."

McQueen becomes acquainted with his prospects early. One of the items on the Quarterback Club agenda at a recent meeting was the introduction of football players from Bonham, one of three local middle schools.

The middle school coaches also prepare varsity scouting reports. Before analyzing game film from the previous week, McQueen dissected the reports: A cover letter on last week's game; a breakdown on each opposing player, including a short commentary, and page after page of offensive and defensive tendencies, respective to down and yardage.

The information overwhelmed at least one relatively new member of the Quarterback Club.

"That scouting report was the same kind we got in the pros," Brad Dusek said. He returned to Temple last year from Virginia, where he lived while playing for the Washington Redskins from 1974 through 1981.

Dusek runs a real estate firm with his father, Ed. Bucky Dusek, a member of the junior varsity, became the third generation of Duseks to play Temple football.

The Quarterback Club membership seemed representative of the community. Only one black person, a woman, attended. But there were eight other women, including Dillard. Most were white males, many in their 50s or older.

J.W. Fipps, 71, said he and his brother-in-law, Homer Elliott, have been going to Quarterback Club meetings for more than 30 years. They recite, without provocation, scores and memorable plays of games 50 years old.

O.B. Graham didn't know what football was until he moved from deep East Texas to Temple in 1948, at 17. But he learned.

Graham remembers a late fall day in the early 1960s when his wife went to a funeral and came home late, apologizing for depriving him the opportunity of going to the game. He didn't miss it, he told her. Who sat for the baby? she asked. Nobody, he said. "You didn't take that 6-month-old baby out in the rain and sleet, did you?"

"I sure did."

A season ticket is a valuable commodity in Temple, says Karen Berg, accounting clerk in charge of ticket distribution.

"I got my neck in a noose last year," Berg said. "A lady came in to pick up her husband's ticket book. He came in a little later. I told him she already had it. He was furious."

"He said, 'Didn't you ask her if we were still married?'"

He received his tickets in the mail this year, Berg said.

Dillard has been going to Temple games for more than 42 years, actually. She missed the 1949 season after her first husband died. Her second husband's death interrupted only one game. A dedicated Wildcat, he collapsed from a heart attack at the 1980 Killeen-Temple game.

His funeral was done in blue and white, Temple's colors.

The team awarded her the game ball.

"Everybody has to die somewhere," Dillard said from her Section E, Row 6, Seat 1 address. "When I die, it might as well be here, too."

Gramps' Locker
LOS ANGELES (AP) - Baseball humor among teammates frequently is somewhat pointed.

During the 1992 season, southpaw John Candelaria of the Dodgers was known to the other players as Gramps, a tribute to his 38 years.

Somebody or somebodies, undoubtedly one or more of the other Dodgers, placed a rocking chair in front of Candelaria's locker in the clubhouse.

AKERS

by an average of almost 23 points, never beat Notre Dame and never finished higher than sixth in the Big Ten. However, his quarterbacks twice won Player of the Year although one, Brian Fox, eventually transferred to Florida.

When Akers' final team finished 2-9 for the most losses in any Purdue season, the school and the coach decided to part ways.

Akers would dearly love to return to Arkansas if Broyles does not retain interim Coach Joe Kines. Akers has spoken to Broyles but is not optimistic.

He also has talked to Baylor's Grant Teaff, who must resign his head coaching job there to become full-time athletic director after this season. Teaff has invited Akers to Baylor's practices this fall, and Akers plans to take him up on the offer. He's also been invited to Washington by Don James.

"Fred averaged 8 1/2 wins for 10 years at Texas," CNN analyst Danny Sheridan said. "I can't think of too many coaches who can say that. He's a good coach."

Friends in the coaching fraternity regularly call Akers and send him tapes of college games to help him keep up. Akers most likely would decline head coaching offers from small colleges, but not because of ego.

"It's not beneath me," he said. "I don't think any coaching job is beneath a real coach. If I take another coaching job, I want it to be the last place for me to coach and live."

The Hereford Gun Club will be hosting a turkey shoot Nov. 8th beginning at 1:30 P.M. Sunday the 8th.

THE FESTIVAL OF TREES

Hosted By

The Hereford Senior Citizens Association

426 Ranger Drive, Hereford, Texas

NOVEMBER 19-22, 1992

"Christmas Wonderland"

TREE DISPLAY AND AUCTION

25 Beautiful Christmas Trees designed and decorated by Senior Citizens and 18 other community individuals, organizations and businesses will be displayed for viewing by the general public on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Costs of this display are offset by individuals, businesses, organizations who are festival tree sponsors and volunteer decorators.

3500 preschooler and school children will tour the center and view the trees.

Trees will be sold at the public auction on Thursday, November 19, 1992 by Auctioneer Ted Walling assisted by Henry Reid.

A decorated artificial tree will be given as a prize the night of the auction.

Viewers will have the opportunity to vote for their favorite tree.

BETH ELAINE ROHRBACH, RICHARD CRAWFORD

Couple to marry

Beth Elaine Rohrbach of Lubbock and Teddy Richard Crawford of Dallas plan to be united in marriage Jan. 16, 1993, in Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of Vega. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rohrbach of Hereford and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Crawford of Jal, N.M. Miss Rohrbach received a B.S.

degree and plans to complete her M.S. degree this December in speech and hearing sciences from Texas Tech University. She is employed as a speech-language pathologist at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Crawford received a B.S. degree in construction engineering from Texas Tech University and is employed by Babcock & Wilcox Engineering in Dallas.

Savoini best topic speaker

Clint Savoini was selected as the best topic speaker when members of the Hereford Toastmasters Club met Thursday at the Ranch House. Dr. M.C. Adams led the pledge and Rick Jackson gave the invocation. President Suzanne Finch presided over the brief business meeting. Bob Lohr served as toastmaster; Wayne Winget, timer; Gayla Sanders, "ah" counter; Dr. Adams, grammarian; Finch, wordmaster; and elicit, the chosen word. Topicmasters were Liane Poell and Jackson. Topic speakers included Adams, Lohr, Savoini, Finch, Joe Weaver, Chris Leonard, Margaret Del Toro, and Winget.

Joe Don Cummings, who was evaluated by Clark Andrews, spoke on "The Bob Lohr Award." Del Toro presented the reading and the joke was given by Weaver. Leonard served as general evaluator. Adolfo Del Toro was welcomed as a guest. MIAMI (AP) - The estranged wife of baseball slugger Jose Canseco is going into the nightclub business. Esther Canseco put up the money for The Hidden Sailor, and her brother, Roberto Haddad, is managing it, The Miami Herald reported Monday.

Employee injuries hurt your company, too.

One of the most important services our independent agency helps provide for business clients is loss control—suggesting steps that will minimize accidents and their harmful effects on employee and employer. We provide this service through loss control experts at major insurance companies we represent. These experts at the CNA Insurance Companies go beyond minimizing accidents. Their workers compensation program includes a sophisticated rehabilitation program that helps injured employees return to the job more quickly. This program helps reduce the loss and your future insurance premiums. For ideas that might lead to less painful employee injuries at your company, contact our agency.

Extension News

By BEVERLY HARDER
County Extension Agent-H.E.
While observing National Diabetes Month this November become aware of the two types of diabetes mellitus which both interfere with the way the body uses food.

In insulin-dependent (IDDM) or type I diabetes mellitus, the pancreas does not produce enough insulin to meet the body's needs. The hormone insulin allows the body to use glucose for energy. Without insulin, the body is unable to properly use glucose and it builds up in the blood, leading to the high blood-glucose (blood sugar) levels that are characteristics of untreated diabetes.

Insulin injections allow your body to use glucose (which your body produces from the foods you eat) for energy. This keeps blood-glucose levels from becoming elevated. But the amount and kind of insulin you take must be balanced with your food and activity.

In non-insulin-dependent (NIDDM or type II) diabetes mellitus, the pancreas produces some insulin, but the body is unable to use it properly. Insulin is a hormone that allows the body to use glucose for energy. Without insulin, or without being able to properly use the insulin your body makes, the body cannot use glucose. Glucose then builds up in the blood, leading to the high blood-glucose (or blood-sugar) levels that are characteristics of uncontrolled diabetes.

Since your body produces glucose from the foods you eat, eating right is the first step in controlling NIDDM. Because the majority of people with NIDDM are overweight, most are advised to lose weight. Even slight weight losses have dramatically improved blood-glucose levels by helping the body use its own insulin more efficiently. If eating right and losing weight do not improve blood-glucose levels, your doctor may prescribe either diabetes pills or insulin injections. But it will still be important for you to eat right.

According to Dr. Mary Kinney Sweeten, registered dietitian and Extension nutrition specialist, the American Diabetes Association recommends dietary goals for each type of diabetes. Dietary goals for people with insulin-dependent diabetes require a meal plan that will help maintain day-to-day consistency in the amount of carbohydrate, protein, and fat that's eaten at each meal.

These goals also help establish a schedule for meals and snacks. Meal plans will guide your food choices so you'll have a consistent mix of foods while still enjoying variety.

Balance is also important for the insulin-dependent diabetes. A consistent food intake will help ensure that there is glucose in the bloodstream at the times when your insulin is peaking (working the hardest), or during those times when you will be most active, such as at exercise class. Never skip a meal if you have taken your insulin—or you risk upsetting this balance.

Maintaining proper weight is the third goal. Your body's ability to use insulin, as well as your overall health, will be best when you are at a reasonable body weight. Your meal plan will take into account whether you need to lose, gain or maintain weight.

The dietary goals for people with non-insulin-dependent diabetes mellitus is a meal plan that controls blood-glucose and blood-fat levels (try to keep them within non-diabetic levels). If you are overweight, this is often accomplished by losing some weight. Your body's ability to use insulin, as well as your overall health, will be best when you are at a reasonable body weight. If you need to gain or simply maintain your current weight, your meal plan will fill these needs as well.

Eating the right amount of food to match the insulin in your body is necessary. Some people match their insulin best by dividing their day's food allowance into three meals; others match their insulin better by eating smaller meals and snacks.

Whether you have insulin-dependent or non-insulin-dependent diabetes, contact your physician for a referral to a dietitian who will help design a meal plan that will match your eating habits to your diabetes management goals:

- Attaining and maintaining a reasonable body weight.
- Improving blood-glucose and blood-fat levels.

- And attaining a healthy lifestyle that includes eating right (for adequate nutrition), exercising and reducing stress.

Work closely with your dietitian as you begin to make changes in your eating habits. Once you are on your way, you should have your diet reviewed every six months to one year or call Beverly Harder, Deaf Smith County Extension agent (home economics), at 364-3573. The County Extension agent can help identify other local resources to reach these dietary goals.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Readers: Are you thinking about sending flowers to a favorite friend as a holiday gift or a thank-you? The Florists' Transworld Delivery Association (FTD) has a few recommendations that can help you spend your money wisely.

- Order early! During the holiday season flowers are in great demand, so order early to help assure your gift is available.

- Many flowers and plants are seasonal and only available for a short time, so be sure to ask.

- When you send flowers to another city or state, have the florist include a second choice. The growing and shipping of flowers is affected by the weather, and a plant or flower available in your city might not be available elsewhere.

- If you have a complaint, contact the florist from whom you bought the flowers. They want your return business and should work with you to resolve the problem.

For more information on buying and caring for flowers and plants, you can receive a free copy of the booklet "Tips on Buying and Caring for Flowers and Plants" by sending a self-addressed, stamped (29 cents), long (business-size) envelope to FTD Tips Booklet/H, P.O.

Extension offers farm, ranch seminar

COLLEGE STATION -- Women who are interested in learning more about managing their farm/ranch business, regardless of their current role, will have a rare opportunity to do so in early 1993. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service will offer the first annual sessions of a new program, "Women in Agriculture: Management Development Seminars" in January and February.

Many educational programs dealing with farm management are attended primarily by men. "Women may not feel comfortable attending, much less asking questions about the basics of topics covered," said Danny Klinefelter, Extension Service economist and management specialist.

"This program is designed with those women in mind," he said. "Younger and older farm wives, women landowners and those who run the business on their own will all benefit from this exciting new educational event."

Women in Agriculture: Management Development Seminars will be held in two locations in 1993. The first conference will be January 12-13 in San Antonio at the Wyndham San Antonio. The second seminar will be February 18-19 in Lubbock at the Sheraton. A third location will be added in 1994 in the Dallas area.

These two-day conferences will begin with registration at 9 a.m. on the first day and conclude after lunch on the second. Information will be presented by keynote speakers, in smaller workshop settings, and in informal sharing sessions. There will be a wide variety of workshop topics, ranging from financial management, record keeping and marketing to those more family oriented. Each workshop will be repeated. Workshop topics will include:

- Managing Family/Business Relationships
- Your Farm/Ranch in the Year 2000: How Big?
- Basic ASCS Information
- Understanding and Working With Lenders
- Thinking Globally and the North American Free Trade Agreement
- Agriculture and Environmental Regulation
- Developing a Management Information/Recordkeeping System
- Understanding Financial Statements

- The Essentials of Labor Laws
  - Estate Planning
  - Protecting Your Farm & Your Future: The Role of Insurance
  - Marketing Basics
- Participants in the Women in Agriculture: Management Development Seminars can expect to learn practical management and marketing skills, gain confidence in participating in new roles on the farm and meet other women with similar interests.

The cost of the conference is $95, which includes three meals, breaks and all conference materials. The Syndham San Antonio is on I-10 just north of the loop. The Sheraton in Lubbock is located at the Civic Center. For more information, or to register, contact your Deaf Smith County Agent Beverly Harder at 364-3573.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Former resident weds Thursday in Canyon

Jennifer Diane Martin and former Hereford resident, Brant Eric Reid, both of Amarillo, were united in marriage Thursday evening at the Country Home Bed and Breakfast in Canyon. Jim Shewmaker of Amarillo officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Paul and Judy Martin of Amarillo and the bridegroom is the son of Henry and Judy Reid of 235 Fir St.

Michelle Montague of San Antonio served as her sister's matron of honor and John Murdock was best man.

Flower girl was Macaulay Montague, daughter of Louis and Michelle Montague of San Antonio. Lisa Davis of Amarillo invited guests to register at the reception held at the bed and breakfast inn.

Cake was served by Ginger Bean of Amarillo, and punch and coffee were poured by Wendy Cornelius of Canyon, the groom's sister.

The bride, a 1989 graduate of Tascosa High School in Amarillo, attends Amarillo College where she is a finance major. She is employed by Great Nation Investment Corporation in Amarillo as a trader.

The groom, a 1986 graduate of Hereford High School, attended West Texas State University where he received his real estate license. He is currently employed by Data Line Office Systems in Amarillo. Prior to his present job, he worked for HCR Real Estate for four years.

Students name best teachers for new Who's Who directory

A select group of America's toughest critics, their former students, in the second edition of Who's Who Among America's Teachers, 1992. Hereford teachers honored are L. Belle Scott Braddock, Nina Buckner Brown, Connie Brazzil Gilbert and F. James MacLaskey.

All of the 65,000 teachers being honored were selected by their former students who themselves are currently listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students or The National Dean's List, publications which recognize the top five percent of our nation's high school and college students respectively.

The students were requested to nominate teachers who "made a difference in their lives" by helping to shape their values, inspiring interest in a particular subject and/or challenging them to strive for excellence. Many of the students commented about the enthusiasm and knowledge their teachers demonstrated in the classroom and many praised their teachers for their ability to relate to youngsters on a personal as well as a professional level. One student wrote about her teacher saying, "She made education something pleasurable, instead of a dreadful ordeal, by letting me spread my wings and showing me the best way to fly."

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) - George Carlin says he's getting smarter as he gets older - and now he's smart enough to be a cynic.

"You no longer believe things will get better. You realize the whole system is rigged against little people ... in favor of corporations and the wealthy, the ruling class," he said in a recent telephone interview from Las Vegas.

"When you begin to realize that is true and never going to change, then it gives you a freedom to write."

MR. AND MRS. ANTHONY ENRIQUEZ PENA

Wedding vows spoken in home ceremony

During an intimate home wedding ceremony Saturday afternoon, Oct. 24, Pam Reed and S.R. Anthony Enriquez Pena were united in marriage. The ceremony, which was officiated by Don Cherry, was held in the home of the bridegroom, 505 Union.

The bride is the daughter of Gary and Sybil Reed of Amarillo and the bridegroom is the son of Chano and Margie Guerrero of Hereford.

The home was decorated with royal blue, teal and white crepe paper and balloons. Further enhancing the setting were red roses and white carnations.

Teresa Pena, the groom's sister, served as maid of honor and Eric Suttle was best man.

Flower girl and ring bearer were Jessica Caster and T.J. Caster, respectively. They are the children of Stacey Caster of Amarillo.

Candles were lit by Margie Guerrero and Sybil Reed.

Played at the ceremony was "When I Look Into Your Eyes."

The bride was attired in a teal dress and carried an arrangement of teal, royal blue and white flowers accented with streamers. Her honor attendant wore a purple and blue strapless dress with white pumps.

Cindy Pruitt invited guests to register at the reception held in the home.

Brenda Enriquez and Margie Guerrero served cake, and punch and coffee were poured by Chano Guerrero and Gary Reed. Also, assisting were Sam and LoRee Pruitt.

The refreshment table was draped with a white lace cloth and centered by the traditional two-layered wedding cake.

The bride is a junior at Hereford High School.

The groom graduated from Hereford High School this year.

Out of town wedding guests included Gary and Sybil Reed and Stacey Caster, all of Amarillo.

Lapidary club elects new officers

New officers were elected when members of the Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club met recently at Deaf Smith County Library.

Serving as president will be Dale Henson; vice president, Weldon Roberson; secretary, Betty Henson; treasurer, Ruth King; and telephone committee chairman, Thama Pearson. Roberson presided over the business session.

Betty Ford of Amarillo was introduced as a guest. She is the sister of club members, Thama Pearson and Bud Cawthon.

The door prize, which was furnished by Bud and Lurline Cawthon, was won by Joe Williams.

Hosts for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Coker and L.D. Combs. There were 17 members present.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Nov. 23, at the library.

One in five U.S. residents own stock or invest in stock mutual funds.

Thank you

I'd like to take this time to thank those who helped build a successful campaign. Though I cannot thank each of you individually, I would like all those who helped to know that their efforts were greatly appreciated.

In addition, I'd like to thank the people of Precinct 1 for the opportunity to serve you. I will do my best to serve all the people of Precinct 1. Once again...

I thank you.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for the women in Virginia whose husband had an affair and now wants his wife to accept the other woman as his "friend." You were right to tell her, "No way."

My father became involved with a married woman two years ago. My mother found out about "Denise" and confronted him. He told her they had broken up and were now "just friends."

A few weeks ago, we learned that Denise is five months pregnant. She has told everyone that the baby is Dad's. He doesn't deny it.

Ann, my father is 60 years old. Denise is my age, 33, and has three children. The state law says she can claim one-quarter of his income for child support. Money is tight, and my folks are just getting by. I don't know how they will manage if one-quarter of Dad's income has to go to his "friend."

We are concerned about the baby's welfare. Denise's home situation is terrible, and she doesn't take very good care of her other children. Her husband is an alcoholic, and he knows this child isn't his. Dad has suggested that Denise give the baby up for adoption, but she flatly refuses.

Mom insists she still loves Dad and will stick with him. Although my siblings and I are very angry with him, we are trying to be supportive. His attorney has advised him to wait until the child is born and then do a paternity test. Dad wants to petition for custody if paternity is proven. Mom says if it's Dad's child, it's hers, too, and she will raise it as such. I think Mom is a saint.

I know this letter is long, Ann, but I needed to let your readers know what remaining "friends" can lead to.—The Big D

DEAR D: Your letter should scare the daylight out of all the old goats who are fooling around and think they're beyond suffering the consequences. Thanks for the docudrama and I agree, your mother IS a saint.

Marriage announced

The Arneson Theater La Villita Riverwalk in San Antonio was the scene for the marriage of Dr. Clay Suggs and Lorena Cuautle Oct. 24.

Dr. Suggs is the son of Barbara Marrow of Amarillo and the late G.W. Suggs. He is also the grandson of Emily Suggs of Hereford and the late George Suggs.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Cuautle of Anchorage, Alaska.

The couple resides at 19703 Wittenburg, San Antonio, where Dr. Suggs is a chiropractor.

Buddy Poppy Day

Hereford's Buddy Poppy Day has been designated for Monday, Nov. 9, by Mayor Tom Legate. The poppies, which are offered to the public, are made by disabled veterans. All proceeds from contributions go toward helping veterans and their families. The members of the Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 4818 will be offering the poppies Monday throughout Hereford. Witnessing the proclamation signing are, from left, Ruth Stetham, Poppy Chairman Essie Martin and Auxiliary President Linda Maeder.

HHS senior to compete in Amarillo pageant

Dusty Saul, a senior at Hereford High School, and former HHS graduate, Britt Hinkle, are contestants in the 1993 Miss Amarillo Area Scholarship Pageant planned at 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 14, in the Amarillo Civic Center auditorium.

Saul is the 17-year-old daughter of Roland and Sandra Saul of Hereford. She has been listed for two years in Who's Who Among American High School Students. Hinkle is the 22-year-old daughter of Paul Hinkle of Moorefield, W.Va. and Bobbie DeLaney of Sterling, Va. She is currently a senior at West Texas State University majoring in speech communication.

The Miss Amarillo Area Scholarship Pageant is a part of the Miss America Pageant system. It is a non-profit organization, run solely by volunteers on state and local levels. The competition is based on talent and beauty as well as qualifications for college scholarships. The goal of the pageant is to assist Panhandle area women achieve their educational goals. Sponsors for the pageant include the Amarillo Civic Center, KFDA-TV, Stendhal Cosmetics, American Airlines and Fifth Seasons Inn East.

Miss Amarillo Area 1992 is Gina Cox. "I've really enjoyed my year as Miss Amarillo Area and all of the wonderful attention I've received! I became a contestant because of my desire for scholarship aid and I would encourage anyone wanting to enter the pageant to go ahead and do just that. You will always cherish the experience," Cox said. The reigning Miss Amarillo Area plans to become an English teacher and continue with a singing career as a hobby.

For more information about the pageant, call 1-359-6680.

Program on Czechoslovakia heard by legion, auxiliary

Joe Don Cummings presented a program on his recent mission trip to Czechoslovakia when members of the American Legion and its Auxiliary, Unit 192, met Nov. 3 in regular session.

Cummings explained the purpose of his trip was to teach English in the Czech hospitals by using the Bible as his textbook. His presentation included photographs, books, currency of that land and maps. He said, "The people are very intelligent and were eager to meet a westerner and learn about America."

The speaker spent most of his time in Koscice, a city of 100,000 which is located 30 kilometers from Hungary, Poland and Russia. One of the highlights of his trip was to teach in a Czech high school. He stressed that education is a valued treasure because it is such a privilege to be selected to attend school.

A few of the facts learned about Czechoslovakia included: coffee and Pepsi are the main beverages; a typical work day is from 6:30 a.m. until 5 p.m.; the country has a very family oriented lifestyle; the metric system is used completely; the Volvo, VW and a Czech made cars are the vehicles used; one liter of gasoline costs $1.85; it is a Communist country; there is government controlled television; and the Hereford Whiteface cattle are the primary cattle in the area where the speaker visited.

As a result of the trip, Cummings said, "I have a deeper appreciation of the United States and our freedom. America is the best place in the world to live."

President Betty Jo Carlson called a short business meeting to order and Chaplain Dorothy Shannon offered the prayer.

Beverly Jesko hosted the meeting. Those present were Carlson, Shannon, Irene Berger, Beverly Jesko, Bernice Layman, Artie Frost, Alta Hudson, Ella Caudle and Lou Ann LaFever.

The group's annual holiday dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m. Dec. 1 in the Post Home. Those attending are encouraged to bring a covered dish and Christmas gifts for the Amarillo Veterans Hospital Gift Shop.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

WHEN DISASTER STRIKES

Two former businessmen were comparing notes as they relaxed on a sunny isle in the Bahamas. "What kind of business were you in?", the older man asked. "Warehousing," replied the younger. "And I would be in it still except one night a terrible fire burned every building I owned to the ground. So, I decided to take the insurance money and move to the islands."

"How interesting," mused the older man. "I was in the warehousing business too. However, it was a terrible flood that destroyed everything I owned. Just like you, I decided to collect the insurance, and here I am."

The younger man stared thoughtfully out over the peaceful, blue ocean waves. In a moment he turned to the older man. "How on earth," he asked, "do you start a flood?"

Although this story is imaginary, disasters like fires and floods are real. During the first ten months of 1992, major disasters caused billions of dollars worth of damage and put thousands of small business owners out of business in the United States.

Hurricanes slashed the southeastern coasts, record floods drowned the east and south and tornadoes ripped through the midwest. Riots, fires and earthquakes ravaged the western states. Toss in a few plane crashes, car wrecks and heart attacks and you can see that many forms of adversity wreck havoc on small businesses.

Bouncing Back

One of the keys to surviving a disaster in business is bouncing back quickly. You only make money when you are open for business. So getting back to business as usual after a disaster should be your immediate goal.

Perhaps the best way to ensure that you can bounce back quickly, is to have a crisis-management plan drawn up before you need it. Begin by listing potential crisis situations; then determine a plan of action. Who will you need to contact? What steps will you need to take first? What can you do right now to be ready to rebuild your business immediately?

It is wise to carry insurance to protect against major losses. However, even if you have a policy in force, you should check to see that it is up-to-date and that the coverage is adequate. Have your agent go over the details of your policy with you. Find out how quickly their claims service can process the paperwork. Are there any major items you need to cover? Can you afford to replace these items? For example, does your policy cover both your computer hardware and software?

What about data re-entry?

Other items to question your agent about include determining if the policy covers your living expenses in the event of a disaster. What about travel and relocation? If you maintain large amounts of cash on your business premise, you must list it separately in order to cover it. Consider the options before you determine if your coverage is appropriate.

Information please

All businesses need information in times of emergency. I recommend that you store a copy of your business records away from your business. You should include computer records, financial information, customer and vendor account numbers along with their names, addresses and phone numbers. You should copy and store business cards and rolodex files off the premise as well.

Ask any hurricane or riot survivor and they will tell you that information saved is valuable. Take time today to secure your main information resources.

Additional information needs include how to assure the safety of customers and staff. Different disasters require separate strategies. For example, heading for higher ground may save your life in a flood, but can earn you and Toto a free ride to Oz in a tornado. Consider your safety needs as you develop your disaster plan.

SIMPLE BUT STYLISH FACADE
Great Room Windows Let The Light Shine Through

FEATURE HOMES

© BY W.D. FARMER, F.A.I.B.D.

A stoop entry is to a private foyer leading to an incredible great room that offers spacious family living. The ceilings are sloped to the ridge line of the gable and a fireplace separates it from the formal dining with the same ceiling style.

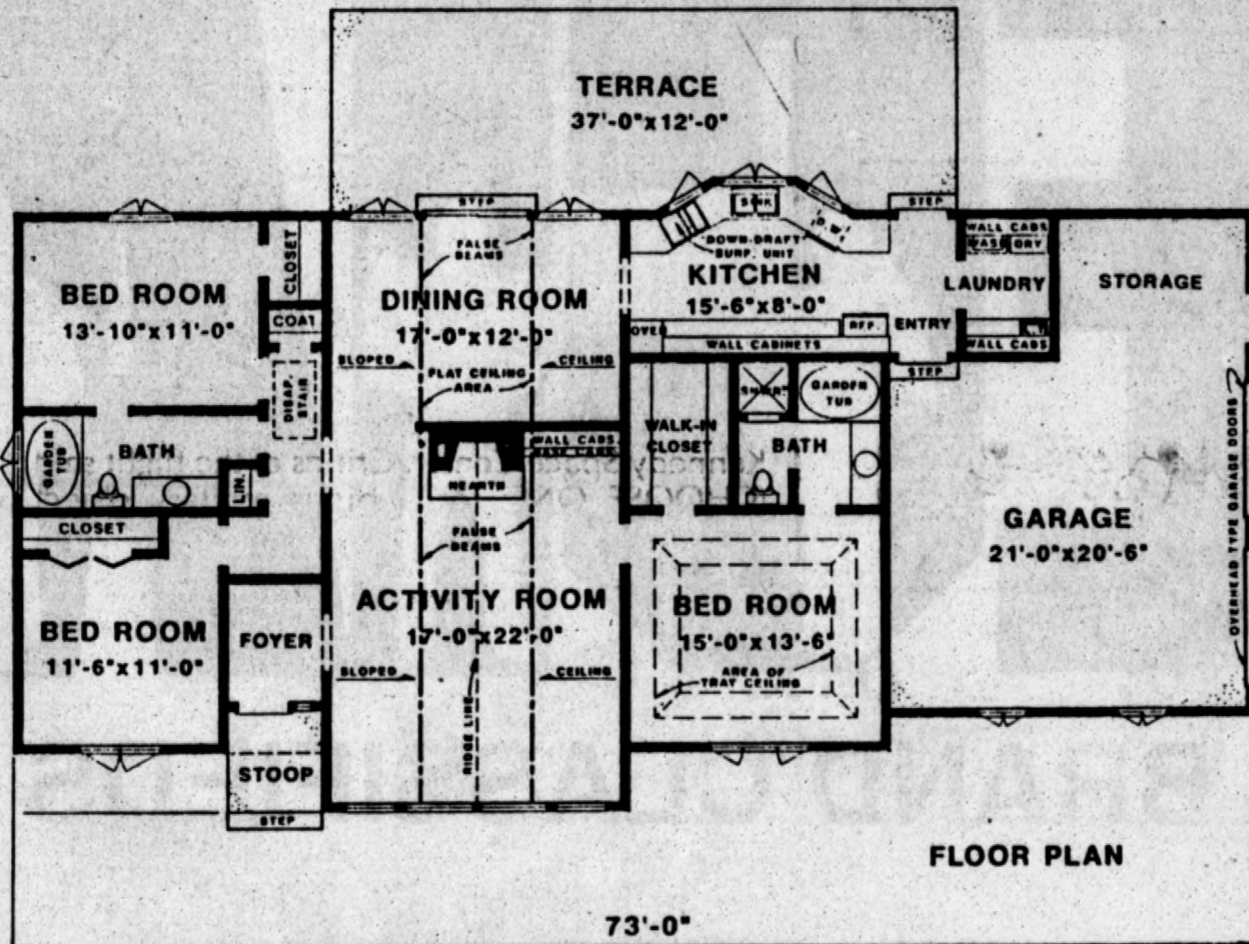

There is a patio entry from the dining room and the bordering kitchen is graced with cabinets and counter top, the sink cabinet being recessed into a bay window. Garage, laundry and patio access adjoin the kitchen.

The master suite is designed to identify typical families and their needs. Tray ceilings, expansive closet space and compartmented bath are all included.

The remaining bedrooms are isolated at the opposite end of the plan and share a central bath.

The contemporary exterior is typified by the utilization of vertical wood siding, gable roof design and single pane uninterrupted glass window treatment. The house is drawn for a crawl space foundation.

The plan is Number 899. It is a computer generated plan. All W.D. Farmer plans are drawn in compliance with FHA and VA requirements and include special construction details for energy efficiency. For further information write W.D. Farmer, P. O. Box 450025, Atlanta, GA 30345.

Questions and Answers

Q: I live in a house built in 1926. The mudsills are not bolted to the poured concrete foundation. If what I read about earthquakes is true, I'd better get them fastened down. I've been told that there is no simple way to do this. How can I secure them without jacking up the entire house to get the bolts in.

A: For those not familiar with the term, the mudsill or sillplate is the lowest member of an exterior wood frame wall which rests on the foundation and supports the joists and upright portions of the frame.

Normally, this sill is anchored in the foundation wall. This helps prevent the house from sliding, shifting or even overturning in the event of an earthquake.

Because of the limited space, installing anchor bolts in the top of the foundation would be difficult and costly. Jacking up the house is not a practical solution and is not recommended. We suggest that you have an ironworks shop fabricate iron angle brackets. The brackets should have a small spike on the short end which can be hammered into the sill plate to prevent sliding. By mounting brackets on all of your house exterior walls, you will adequately secure the structure. Also check with a licensed structural engineer in your area for specifications as to bracket size and spacing to cope with local conditions.

Campbell receives award

Jim Brett Campbell, son of Jim and Brenda Campbell of Hereford, has been named a silver award winner in competition for the National FFA Agricultural Sales and Service proficiency award. He is a freshman at Texas Tech University.

Jim Brett was presented a framed certificate recognizing his placing in the competition. The award is one of 20 agricultural proficiency awards presented annually at local, state, regional and national levels to recognize FFA members for achievements in activities leading to careers in agriculture.

FFA is a national organization of more than 401,087 members in 7,431 local chapters throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business and technology of agriculture. Local, state and national activities and award programs provide opportunities for students to apply knowledge and skills acquired through agricultural education. FFA members strive to develop agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship.

Hamman's donate collection to WTSU

Mary Jo and Bob Hamman, left, of Hereford, join Joanna Whaley, a senior geology major from Vega, and Dr. J.C. Cepeda, professor of geology at West Texas State University, in admiring the fossil and mineral collection of the Hamman's late son, Craig. The Hammans contributed the collection and the exhibit cases in memory of their son.

Cooking cauliflower with a little milk can help them keep their bright white color.

WTSU Foundation establishes Hamman Memorial Scholarship

The West Texas State University Foundation has announced the establishment of the Craig Ray Hamman Memorial Scholarship. The scholarship was endowed by Hamman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hamman of Hereford. In addition to the financial contribution, the Hammans donated Craig's mineral and fossil collection and the display cases he built to house the collection. The collection is on display on the third floor of the Agriculture and Natural Sciences Building on the WTSU campus.

"The Craig Hamman Scholarship symbolizes the helping and caring attitude that Craig personified during his time at West Texas State University," Dr. J.C. Cepeda, professor of geology, said. "The scholarship given in his name will promote the science of geology and allow recipients of this scholarship to continue the search that was his consuming joy."

Hamman, who received his B.S. degree in geology in May 1991, frequently shared his love of the earth and geology with his fellow students. He returned to campus after graduation several times to visit with professors and new students about his ideas and new mineralogical finds. Just prior to his death, he invited the WTSU Geology Society to join him on a field trip to a newly discovered mineral pocket in New Mexico. Hamman's search for minerals and fossils reached far into Colorado, New Mexico, and on one occasion participated in a three-week field trip to Yucatan.

The $500 annual scholarship is for junior, senior or graduate students and will first be awarded in the fall of 1993.

Christmas Bazaar Nov. 13-14

The Annual Friona Christmas Bazaar is scheduled Nov. 13-14 in the showbarn. The public is invited free of charge.

The event will be staged from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 13, and from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 14.

There will be 55 booths featuring wood working, painted t-shirts, baked goods, jewelry, scarves, dolls and doll clothes, quilts, baby blankets, fall arrangements, decorated bedspreads, etc.

3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines--those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS
Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Local florists schedule holiday open houses

All year 'round, Park Avenue Florist has all the flowers you could want. But on Sunday, the place will get into the Holiday spirit.

Park Avenue Florist will be having an Open House Sunday to introduce the store's line of holiday decorations. Flowers West, the other florist in Hereford, will have an Open House possibly Nov. 15.

Park Ave. Florist will have "everything Christmas," said owner Tommie Savage. "This place will look like a Christmas store."

Park Ave. Florist will feature silk Christmas trees, Christmas decorations, decorated wreaths and garlands.

Something new that Savage said people may be interested in is L'Art de Chine. It is a hanging wall or door decoration that is thinner than a wreath. Savage said it's good for people who have screen doors or storm doors, but there's not room for a wreath.

The Open House will be from 1-5 p.m. They'll have refreshments, plus separate door prizes for adults and children in attendance.

Janet Lavvorn at Flowers West hopes to have an Open House Nov. 15. Some of the things Flowers West will offer are trees, ceramic angels and Madonnas, and poinsettia arrangements--with either fresh or silk poinsettias. Flowers West also offers a yard decorating service.

When Flowers West has the Open House, there will be door prizes and refreshments.

Holiday grooming tips for men

During the holidays, even the most enthusiastic party-goers may find the season's seemingly endless social whirl to be a bit daunting - and sometimes even downright exhausting. A few advance preparations in order to accommodate the demands of hectic days - and evenings - can make a stylish approach to the round of office parties, family gatherings and holiday photo opportunities which dominate the weeks between Thanksgiving and New Year's even easier than imagined.

For office and after-work celebrations, assemble a kit of toiletry essentials that can be stashed in your briefcase or the glove compartment of your car. Be sure to include a toothbrush, toothpaste, shaving cream and a high quality razor.

First impressions are extremely important, and keeping these grooming essentials on hand will help you look and feel your best during the hectic holiday season - and can get your New Year off to a good start.

Keep your pet's health in mind this holiday season

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly..." but don't let Fluffy or Spot eat it! Holiday time presents some unique situations which can be hazardous to your pet's health, according to the American Animal Hospital Association.

Some of the more common "holiday hazards" include:

-Bonuses: The holiday turkey or ham will leave a lot of tantalizing bones, but don't feed them to your dog. Smaller bones or bone chips can lodge in the throat, stomach and intestinal tract. Fats, gravies, and poultry skin can cause severe gastrointestinal upset as well.

-Holiday plants: Holly, mistletoe, and poinsettias are extremely poisonous when eaten. Keep them out of reach.

-Electrical cords: Sparkling holiday lights mean more electrical cords for kittens and puppies to chew. Be sure you have the cords secured and out of the way.

-Sweets: Too much holiday candy is as bad for your pet as it is for you. A stomach ache is a mild side effect while an over-indulgence in chocolate can actually be fatal. Chocolate poisoning is caused by theobromine, a caffeine-like chemical substance found naturally in chocolate.

-Christmas tree: Make sure your Christmas tree is well-secured. If you have a tree-climbing cat or large dog, anchor the top of the tree to a wall, using strong cord or rope.

-Pine Needles: Check around holiday trees and decorative boughs frequently. Ingested pine needles can puncture your pet's intestines.

-Ornaments: Sharp or breakable tree ornaments, yarns and ribbons, angel hair and, most especially, tinsel and string should be kept out of reach. Hang them high and make sure your packages are securely wrapped.

The American Animal Hospital Association is an international organization of more than 10,000 veterinarians who treat companion animals such as dogs and cats.

What's eating you this holiday season?

Before your summer tan had a chance to fade, the holiday season hit like a stampede of wild reindeer. The holiday goodies have begun to pile up, and so have the invitations to holiday celebrations where rich food and drink are abundant. Between toasts of good cheer, you still need to fight the crowds in hopes of finding that perfect gift for each person on your shopping list.

No matter how well you prepare, it can all seem a little overwhelming - not to mention stressful. As a result, you find that instead of sugar plums dancing in your head, you end up with a churning and burning in your stomach.

Virtually everyone, even people with cast-iron stomachs, suffers a bout of gastrointestinal distress from time to time. In fact, more than 80 million Americans live with and suffer from any number of digestive problems such as acid indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach accompanied by gas, and upset stomach associated with these symptoms. But during the holidays, the combination of overindulging in party food, along with the added stress of preparing for the season, can cause people to experience greater incidences of digestive ailments.

There is an easy way to help control your digestive problems not only during the holiday season but all year long. All it takes is proper diet, exercise and stress management.

Food For Thought

By following the six-step eating plan outlined below, you can help keep your digestive problems in check.

-High fiber - Consume foods that are naturally high in fiber to promote regularity. Fiber is found in complex carbohydrates such as grains and cereals including wheat, oat, rice bran, dried beans and popcorn; in vegetables such as peas, potatoes, broccoli and carrots; and in many citrus fruits.

-Low fat - Too much fat can cause problems such as heartburn, for the digestive tract. The goal is to reduce your total fat intake by eating small amounts of fats from all sources.

Protect your arteries and soothe your digestive tract by avoiding or using the following foods sparingly: fried foods, whole-milk dairy products, non-dairy creamers, egg yolks, beef, veal, lamb, pork, sauces and processed foods.

-Low lactose - A low-lactose diet helps those who suffer from intestinal gas and lactose intolerance, two of the most common digestive complaints.

Consider using alternatives to regular dairy products, such as acidophilus milk and fermented or processed milk products, including yogurt made with live cultures, butter, hard and soft ripened cheeses, butter milk and sour cream.

-Low spice content - Spicy foods may cause acid indigestion, especially if they are eaten on an empty stomach. Garlic, chili powder, cloves, curry powder, mustard seed and nutmeg can be more aggravating to the digestive tract than other spices such as allspice, cinnamon, mace, paprika, sage and thyme.

-Low gas-forming legumes - Certain foods like dried beans and broccoli may cause you to produce more gas than others. If you reduce your consumption of these gas-forming foods in your diet, you can improve certain digestive problems.

-Low calories - Overeating and excess weight can cause problems for your digestive tract and be a major source of heartburn. By reducing calories from fat, increasing your carbohydrates and controlling the amount of protein you consume, your body will be able to function at peak performance.

Since anyone can overindulge or lose a little bit of willpower from time to time, it's good to know how to help yourself and get fast relief from a sudden flare-up of your symptoms.

Over-the-counter antacids can help by neutralizing stomach acids. Antacids come in regular and extra strength and are available in a variety of flavors in liquid or tablet form.

A Combination to Avoid

The combination of stress and an irregular diet can wreak havoc on your stomach. Excessive stress, tension, anxiety and worry, may cause some people to smoke more, to consume more alcohol and coffee, and to eat more fatty foods which may lead to acid indigestion and heartburn.

Stress management contributes to enhanced thinking, creativity, higher energy levels, endurance and improved physical performance.

Here are some techniques that may help you ring in the new year in a completely different frame of mind.

-Periodically close your eyes, breathe deeply, and alternately tense and relax each muscle group from your face to your toes.

-Plan time for relaxation and stick to it.

-Exercise regularly.

-Say no to new commitments until you feel less pressured.

-Stay away from large amounts of food.

-Avoid eating on the run and don't skip meals.

-Plan well-balanced, well-timed meals.

Learning how to handle your digestive problems through a change in diet and some stress management techniques could be the key to a happy, healthy holiday and a new year free of digestive problems.

Enjoy holiday shopping this year

The countdown has begun...the holiday season is just around the corner, and so are the endless hours of standing in line, after line, after line. And that's just for shopping.

You can begin preparations by taking care of your feet. Think about it. Your feet will take you shopping from store to store while you buy presents for the entire family, wait on lines with you, help you prepare festive holiday meals (and clean up, too!), and take you to many social gatherings where they must endure the evening's fun - while holding you up!

For all their extra hard work during the holiday season, here are some tips to help you - and your feet - enjoy the holiday season:

-Wear shoes that will "weather" the shopping elements - especially in the rain, slush and snow. Look for specially treated leather that will dry quickly after walking through parking lots and street puddles, without leaving any salt lines or stains.

-If you get caught standing in line, keep your feet moving - try wiggling or curling your toes - anything to keep your feet in motion.

-Change your shoes and socks often to keep your feet dry, healthy and happy.

-Try to elevate your feet for 15 minutes at least once a day. This allows for better circulation in your lower legs and feet.

-Alternate between heels and flats to keep your tendons flexible.

-In very cold weather, make sure that you feet are protected properly with at least two or more pairs of socks.

-Don't sacrifice comfort for fashion! For holiday shopping, stick to basics (which are in fashion now!)

such as oxfords, camp mocs.

-Relax tired foot muscles with this routine: Start with the whole foot, sole firm. Grasp your foot with fingers on top and thumb on the sole. Apply firm pressure in a circular motion over the entire sole. Then switch positions, with thumb on top.

The holiday season is a good time to think about giving - so don't forget about your feet. They'll appreciate the extra care long after the season is over.

Lure of holiday sweets

This holiday season, the average American will gobble up nearly two pounds of candy canes, chocolate Santas, and other festive confections, according to confectionery industry estimates. On average, each American will spend five dollars on Christmas or Hanukkah candy in 1992.

According to the National Confectioners Association (NCA), candy consumption has risen 30 percent since 1980.

"More than two-thirds of Americans surveyed in late 1991 believe that candy fits into their diet and lifestyle," says Lawrence T. Graham, president of the McLean, Virginia-based NCA. Not surprisingly, the percentage of people who will give candy as Christmas gifts also has increased over the past five years, from 28 percent in 1987 to 36 percent in 1991.

"Candy is an ideal gift, especially during the holiday season," says Mr. Graham. "It's a relatively inexpensive family tradition that everyone can enjoy." Confections also can enhance a gift's value when used creatively for decoration, such as embellishing plain gift-wrap with starlight mints or filling an otherwise ordinary glass pitcher with red and green foil-wrapped chocolates.

Planning for Festival of Trees

The Hereford Senior Citizens Association will hold its annual Festival of Trees Nov. 19-22, and two members of the entertainment committee—Jolene Bledsoe and Ruth Knox—are shown making plans for the event. The festival starts on a Thursday with entertainment, receptions, fashion show, Teddy Bear Tea, Breakfast with Santa, and other activities on the agenda. The big auction of specially decorated Christmas trees is set Thursday night, Nov. 19.

Make this holiday a totally Texas one

This Thanksgiving start a new tradition in your family by serving a "Totally Texas Menu."

From the gobble to the sweet potato pie, planning a menu of foods grown or processed in Texas is easy, affordable and wholesome.

"As Thanksgiving approaches, we Texans are truly blessed with an abundant harvest," Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said. "We produce all the ingredients necessary for a sumptuous holiday feast right here in the Lone Star State."

Perry launched the Texas Department of Agriculture's "Totally Texas Menu" campaign last November to encourage supermarkets, hotels, caterers and consumers to market and consume meals using Texas foods and beverages—not only during the holidays but year-round.

Thanksgiving is an especially bountiful season in Texas. With fall vegetable harvest underway in the Rio Grande Valley and South Texas, broccoli, cauliflower, winter squash, celery and lettuce should be plentiful.

Pecan harvest has also begun, the East Texas sweet potato harvest is in and shipments of grapefruit and oranges are rolling out of the Valley to markets statewide.

As for the main course, turkey supplies are expected to be excellent this year. Whole birds will average about 95 cents a pound, but consumers will find bargains at supermarkets featuring Thanksgiving specials. Ham, which is being sold at competitive prices, is also abundant.

Perry said a "Totally Texas" Thanksgiving menu may feature this typical holiday fare, but it doesn't necessarily have to.

"The state's cultural heritage is so varied and its agricultural production so bountiful, it's possible to prepare a whole range of alternatives without straying from the Texas concept," he said.

Possible substitutes might include Hill Country ranch-raised venison or West Texas prime rib, and for dessert, instead of traditional pie, an apple strudel—a favorite of Czech Texans—or a creamy Mexican flan.

And don't forget to toast the holiday with a bottle of Texas wine from one of the state's 26 wineries, or glasses of chilled Texas milk or Texas bottled water.

Keep holiday plants healthy

To make sure your holiday bouquet or other holiday flowers and plants last through the season, florists recommend the following:

-Water floral arrangements regularly. Check flowers arranged in floral foam with your fingers. The foam should be moist at all times. If dry, add water and drain excess.

-Keep holly and evergreens away from excessive heat. Water and mist frequently to keep fresh.

-Keep poinsettias in a cool place, maintain sufficient exposure to light (natural or artificial), and keep moist with regular watering.

Planning annual home tour

La Madre Mia Study Club's 1992 Christmas Tour of Homes is planned from 2-5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 6. Each year the public is invited to tour three outstanding Hereford residences with proceeds from the event to benefit the community. Slated on this year's tour are the homes of Justin and Ruth McBride, 824 W. Park Ave.; Buster and Cynthia Miller, 220 Ranger Drive; and Joe and Annie Brown, 208 Ironwood. Discussing the tour with Ruth McBride, center, are club members, Mary Beth White, at left, and Glenda Marcum.

Aquariums enchant families

Of all Christmas presents, perhaps the most beloved is a living gift such as an aquarium filled with tropical fish. Colorful, varied and sure to be enjoyed by the lucky recipient, it's also easy to maintain and adds a unique decorative touch to any family room, living room or den.

In fact, a recent study by researchers at the University of Pennsylvania concluded it is even a benefit in relieving stress.

Bestowing a home aquarium upon a friend, relative or your own children has many positive benefits. Throughout the U.S., 10 million aquariums are being enjoyed in homes, offices, restaurants and hotels.

In order to select the best aquarium for your money, one that's filled with colorful tropical fish and easy to maintain, it's a good idea to do a little investigating.

First, you will want to locate a good dealer in your area. If you have a friend who has an aquarium, ask for a reference; otherwise the phone book lists most tropical fish retailers.

It is advisable to purchase a book that provides complete instructions on setting up and maintaining an aquarium.

If you receive an aquarium as a gift, you must assume all the responsibilities for maintenance.

When determining where to put your new aquarium, you should consider several factors. You will not want to put it in direct sunlight since this will cause algae to grow on the glass and plastic accessories.

You will also not want to put it on your best carpeting since, during water changes, it is possible for some water to splash on the floor. And you should also be sure to put your aquarium on a firm stand since water is heavy.

After you have decided on the aquarium, your first accessory will be a tightly fitting canopy cover equipped with a fluorescent fixture. Fluorescent fixtures throw off a cool light and will not cause fluctuations in the water temperature.

While we are on the subject of water temperature, tropical fish require an environment maintained at around 75 degrees F (25 degrees C). You will therefore need a good heater and an aquarium thermometer.

One basic rule to follow, however, is to buy the largest aquarium possible since, the greater the water environment, the less chance of water problems.

A recent development in this technology is the liquid crystal digital thermometer which affixes to the outside of the aquarium yet measures most accurately the water temperature.

You will also need a quality filter. Your dealer can give you proper advice since there are several types of filters and your needs will vary with the size of your aquarium. If you are going to keep a lot of fish, you will also want a separate air pump to add oxygen to the water.

Decorating an aquarium is great fun. There are multi-colored gravels, highly decorative backgrounds and hundreds of ornaments, as well as plastic plants so real in reproduction it's almost impossible to distinguish them from live plants.

Most good retailers will have a complete assortment and your selection should be based on the size of your aquarium and the amount of money you decide to spend.

Once you have set up your aquarium, you should add a chlorine neutralizer to the water and add only a few fish initially. These few fish will help develop the proper biological conditions necessary to maintain a fully stocked aquarium.

After three to four weeks, assuming everything is functioning properly, you can then go ahead and add the rest of your fish.

Capture holiday smiles

The holidays are a time when faces shine bright, homes radiate with charm and festivity and spirits soar. It's a perfect time to capture loved ones - especially children - at their best on film. The Photography Information Council offers advice on how to take exceptional shots of children in all their buoyant splendor this holiday season, and how to show them off in a personalized "photo" calendar - perfect for doting grandparents.

Follow these helpful hints on how to take those winning photos and then read on for calendar instructions:

-Always carry a loaded camera and take plenty of pictures. Special moments often occur when we're least expecting them, especially with children, so be prepared and take many shots until you feel you've caught the one that counts.

-Move in close - about three to four feet away. Children's facial expressions are worth a lot more than the wallpaper behind them!

-Get down and shoot parallel with a child's eye level. Ineffective photos are often taken of children from an adult's standing perspective, looking down.

-Try to capture the moments when your child is in the height of action or surprise; spontaneous, candid pictures are usually the best.

-Take advantage of bright holiday greens and reds and capture your child amidst lots of color in clothing, festive decorations, toys, etc.

-To minimize the "red-eye" phenomenon when using flash, capture dad looking at junior instead of looking directly into the lens.

-Have a camera readily available to other family members so that whoever "sees" a terrific photo opportunity will be able to "seize" it as well. Besides, no two people view an image in the same way, and one person can't be everywhere at the same time.

-Have two sets of prints developed to save both time and money. There are so many inventive uses for photographs - save one set for a holiday album and decorate your home or create personalized gift items.

Now that you have a stack of wonderful photographs of your children to display, The Photography Information Council spokesperson, Donna Lang, suggests creating a personalized grandparents calendar as a gift from the heart that gives grandparents the opportunity to cherish these pictures every month.

The instructions are easy to follow for this practical and timely gift that you or your child can make.

1. Find any calendar and enlarge or reduce each month to fit two months side-by-side on a sheet of 8 1/2 x 11-inch paper. Choose a heavy, coated stock paper. Place the months on the bottom half of the sheets.

2. Cut the sheets in half lengthwise, creating 12 long sheets.

3. Choose 12 favorite photographs to crop down to one uniform size to fit above each month. Keep in mind that the final product will be bound, using up about one-half-inch of space from the top of the sheets.

4. Use clear plastic photo mounting corners to securely attach the photographs. This way, photos can be used again at the end of the year. An alternative method which looks just as nice is to cut out an image of a child from a photo and affix with paste.

5. For the cover, enlarge a pretty photo negative of flowers or a landscape to at least 11 inches in length, and then crop down to fit the 4 1/4 x 11-inch sheets.

Non-alcoholic holiday gifts

Even though people are drinking less, many resort to the time-worn habit of giving alcoholic beverages as holiday gifts. Despite good intentions, they may forget that 33 percent of all adult Americans do not drink alcohol, and that moderation may be important to their friends and associates.

To set an example this holiday season, hundreds of major corporations will publicly announce their plans to give non-alcoholic gifts to employees, vendors and customers.

Called "Operation Safe Holiday," this campaign has been created by the National Council on Alcoholism for the business community.

Say the organizers, "Well-meaning companies sometimes give liquor unwittingly to those who would rather not use it. Instead, we are encouraging companies to give alternative gifts such as sparkling Perrier or flowering plants or specialty books."

Alternative gift-giving works outside the office, too. For the friends on your list, think about giving a magazine subscription or a gift basket tailor-made to their personal interest. Or, bring a case of light and bubbly Perrier to a holiday party as an unexpected and welcome surprise.

With a little caring, you can create so much pleasure with original, "alternative" gifts.

Planning for annual festival

Members of the Golden K Kiwanis Club will be participating in the Annual Festival of Trees to be held Nov. 19-22 at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center. The club's tree decorating committee, from left, Art Stoy, Louise Witkowski and Chairman Mary Stoy, make plans for a specially decorated tree.

Holiday fire safety tips

Follow these fire safety tips to help keep your family safe during the holidays:

-Holiday Lighting - Take care when burning candles. Be sure they are kept well away from decorations or other combustible materials. Don't leave children unattended in a room with lit candles, and always keep candles, as well as matches and lighters, up high, out of the reach of children. (Preferably stored in a locked cabinet.) Never display lighted candles in windows or near exits. Never use candles to decorate Christmas trees! When decorating with lights, be sure to purchase only those labeled by a testing laboratory. For outside decorations, use only those lights labeled for outdoor use. Don't overload electrical outlets, and always unplug all lights before leaving home or going to bed. Never put electrical lights on a metal Christmas tree.

-Holiday Parties - Decorate only with flame-retardant or combustible materials. Avoid using candles during parties. Provide guests with large, deep ashtrays and check them frequently. After the party, check inside and under upholstery and in trash cans for cigarette butts that may be smoldering.

-Other Holiday Fire Safety - Choose a fresh Christmas tree, and put it in a stand designed not to tip over. Place the tree well away from heat sources and exits, and water it constantly. If you purchase an artificial tree, be sure it is labeled as fire-retardant. If you plan to hang stockings on your fireplace, don't burn fires in it! Choose holiday gifts wisely, passing up those that could be highly flammable.

-Kitchen Fire Safety - Wear tight-fitting clothes when cooking; loose clothes can be ignited by hot burners. Always turn pot handles in, and never leave the kitchen when something is cooking on the stove. Don't store items on the stove top, they could catch fire. Keep kitchen appliances clean and in good condition, and turn them off after use. Don't overload electrical outlets, and don't use appliances with frayed or cracked wires.

-Leave Fireworks to the Professionals - Fireworks are dangerous. These devices are designed to burn hot and/or explode.

Helpful hints when storing, packaging gifts of food

Wonder why cookies and candies arrive in thousands of pieces when sent in the mail? Want to know how long cookies can be kept in the freezer or the best way to keep them fresh for the longest period of time? Need some clever ideas to make a gift of food unique and special for the receiver?

Here are a few gift-wrapping ideas, as well as tips on how to store your cookies until you are ready to deliver your holiday cheer.

HOW TO STORE AND MAIL COOKIES

To store cookies for short term (1 week):

- Cook cookies completely
- Do not mix soft and crisp varieties in the same container or the crisp cookies will soon become soft
- Store soft cookies in a container with a tight fitting lid
- Store crisp cookies in a container with a loose-fitting lid
- Store bar cookies in the pan in which they were baked; cover pan tightly with aluminum foil or plastic wrap

To store cookies for long-term (6 months):

- Both frosted and unfrosted cookies can be frozen and stored up to six months
- Arrange in a container lined with plastic wrap or aluminum foil; separate with layers of aluminum foil or plastic wrap

-Tightly seal container, label and freeze

-Thaw cookies by allowing them to stand loosely covered on a serving plate for about 20 minutes

To mail cookies:

-Bar, drop or fruit cookies can best withstand mailing; tender, fragile cookies are apt to crumble when mailed

-Use a heavy cardboard box or empty coffee can as mailing container

-Line container with aluminum foil or plastic wrap

-Wrap four to six cookies of the same size together in aluminum foil, plastic wrap or plastic bags and seal securely with freezer tape

-Place the heaviest cookies in the bottom of the container and layer the wrapped cookies with crumpled paper toweling around them

-Seal container with freezer, plastic or adhesive tape

-Wrap container with an outer paper wrapper

-Print mailing address and return address on the package in ink; mark the package "perishable food" to ensure more rapid transit and careful handling

HOW TO STORE, MAIL CANDY

To store candies:

- Individually wrap candies in waxed paper or plastic wrap; nearly all candies will stay fresher, longer
- Store individually wrapped candies in boxes, tins or carton with tight-fitting lids

-Exception: store small hard candies together in a tightly fitting jar after dusting with finely ground sugar

-Do not mix candies that absorb moisture in the same container as those that lose moisture

-Use waxed paper to individually wrap or separate layers of fudge to avoid sticking

To mail candies:

-Do not package candies that absorb moisture in the same container as those that lose moisture

-Use a heavy cardboard box or coffee can as mailing container with crumpled or shredded newspapers or plastic filler for padding

-Mark the package "fragile" to ensure careful handling

HOW TO PACKAGE COOKIES, CANDIES FOR GIFT GIVING

-Wrap with aluminum foil or plastic wrap

-Pack in inexpensive decorative tins which can be purchased in supermarkets and discount stores

-Place bar cookies and drop cookies that travel well in festive gift bags which can be purchased in card stores

-Arrange an assortment of treats on a sturdy holiday plate and wrap with a big bow for a "sampler" from your kitchen

-Fill holiday cookie jars with cookies and wrap for a festive gift that can be filled and used again by the recipient

-Decorate your empty jelly jars with ribbon or acrylic paint and fill with hard candies

-Decorate oversized plastic tumblers or purchase colorful ones—they make great containers for small gifts, especially for children

Tips for holiday photographs

Enhance your holiday photographs by following these tips from The Photography Information Council:

-Hold the camera vertically when photographing faces. Most people tend to hold the camera horizontally out of habit, ease of use, and comfort. Faces are vertical; thus, a vertical frame is more flattering.

-Compose photos within the camera frame (rather than cropping later on) and be sure to pay attention to any distractions in the background.

It's the Christmas tree man

This tree may look like a "living" Christmas tree but it's actually Jap Dickerson sorting out the city's holiday decorations which will soon be put up across town. Each year members of the Whiteface Kiwanis Breakfast Club, with assistance from Southwestern Public Service employees, spend many hours decorating the streets of Hereford for the enjoyment of residents.

Ways to say thanks after holiday season

People spend a good amount of time and money selecting gifts for their loved ones, taking special care to suit the needs of the individual. The same amount of care should be given when thanking those who have been so gracious. Any form of thanks is always appreciated, but making someone feel as though they have made a smart and meaningful purchase, is a gift in itself.

-Instead of hastily choosing a package of thank you cards, pick a card for each individual, having your thank you come truly from the heart. -Have pictures taken of each of your unwrapping your gifts. In the thank you card, enclose a photograph of the person's gift being opened, worn or displayed.

-Those who have access to equipment for videotaping the festivities may opt for an elaborate thank you. A mini-film of gift-unwrapping time, plus on-camera reactions will absolutely thrill the gift-giver.

-How about a personal thank you for those who live in your vicinity? Taking the time to thank someone in person and expressing how much you are enjoying the gift will make that person feel that his or her gift to you really meant something special.

-If time allows, a get-together for everyone to whom you want to say thank you is a unique and fun way of showing your gratitude.

Children play an important role in thanking people also. When a child creates his or her own very special thank you, it not only pleases the gift giver, but it directly shows the child how important (and fun) it can be to thank someone.

-A drawing of the gift, and perhaps one of the child opening it.

-A cassette tape of your child, talking about the gift that he or she was given. (These suggestions are ideal for the child whose writing skills are not strong.)

-A homemade thank you card created by the youngster.

To be appreciated is something everyone needs; fulfill that need this holiday with a personal spark added to your thank yous.

About 80 percent of the world's diamonds are suitable only for industrial use.

How to win shopping marathon

Christmas shopping often requires the stamina of an Olympic athlete. For weeks before the big holiday, gift-givers compete in buying events, including the 50-store dash, the parking space sprint, the salesperson tackle, the grab-the-last-one-left run, the check-out counter hurdle and the return-it relay.

Sound familiar? Just the thought of this annual shopping marathon is enough to make even the most seasoned shopper break into a cold sweat.

But, you don't have to go into training to find gifts that will please the favorite guy on your holiday shopping list.

With a little planning, you can find gifts that will give him a fresh, fashionable look for the New Year - and reduce your shopping to one store.

Plan ahead-at home

Send him - and the children - out for a few hours to wherever you send them when you want to be alone.

When the coast is clear, grab a piece of paper and a pen and make a preliminary shopping list with headings for items that need replacing, things to fill in obvious gaps in his wardrobe, and new pieces to give him a fashionable new look.

Add columns for his favorite colors and the colors in which you think he looks best, and a list of his sizes.

Now, head for his closet. Go through what he already owns and fill in your list as much as possible. Be sure to check out his style preferences. For example, do his favorite dress shirts have button-down or spread collars?

Now you're ready to finalize your shopping list.

Check off the things you wish to replace or add to his wardrobe. Then make a note of style choices and several color options for each item, keeping the following tips in mind.

The easiest way to update a business suit is to purchase a shirt of a different color. Even the most conservative guy can add pink, seafoam green or maize to his collection of white and pale blue dress shirts.

Another quick update is to give him a patterned shirt. Newest for the coming season are those with strong two-color stripes or narrow (from 1 to 1 1/2 inch) repeating patterns on a white or pastel background.

The more fashionable man will be wearing relaxed fit shirts, a silhouette which is slightly larger and looser over all.

Thinking about sportswear? Bold colors like royal blue, red, jade, gold and purple will lead the way, followed closely by pastel combinations like pink and lavender.

Sportswear styles are oversized and comfortable. Rugby or Henley collar shirts in bright solids or bold stripings will please just about any guy.

Sweaters, in either solid colors or the latest contemporary mixed patterns will really spice up his wardrobe.

about adding a shirt in one of the new fabric finishes. Add to your list a shirt of chambray, flannel, corduroy or one of the new garment-washed shirts that have the look and feel of being comfortably worn.

Be flexible. Give yourself several alternative selections for each item. Then, when you begin shopping, you won't have to run all over town to find something in one exact style or color.

Pick A Store

If you've planned completely and flexibly, you should be able to do all your shopping for him in one session in one store.

Select a major department store or men's specialty shop which has a large selection of merchandise in styles and sizes that suit him.

List in hand, head for the store you've selected. Once there, go straight to the men's department, no matter what else catches your eye.

Work methodically through your list until you are done. That flexibility will come in handy here. The store is all out of royal blue sweaters in his size? Well, you know he looks great in red. Pick a red one instead.

HOLIDAY HAM AND CHILI-CHEESE BALL

Jo Lee

1 cup (4 oz.) shredded lowfat cheddar cheese
1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese, room temperature
1 can (4 1/2 oz.) deviled ham
2 Tbsp. finely chopped scallions or green onions
3 Tbsp. chopped green chilies
1/2 cup chopped pecans

*Serve with assorted crackers or chips

In a small bowl, combine cheddar cheese, cream cheese, deviled ham, onions and chilies; mix well. Place nuts on waxed paper, mound the ham mixture on the nuts and use the paper to help mold the ham mixture into a ball. Wrap in plastic wrap; chill. Remove from refrigerator to soften slightly before serving. Makes 1 cheese ball. This recipe may also be used as a spread.

CHRISTMAS SALAD

Tonie Vaughn

1 16 oz. can cherry pie filling
1 16 oz. can crushed pineapple
1 can Eagle Brand Milk
1 large Cool Whip
Optional--a few Maraschino cherries, red food coloring and pecans if desired.

CARAMEL BROWNIES

Marie Thames

1/3 cup can milk
1 1/2 stick butter

Mix top ingredients. Fill cake pan 1/2 full then let cook in 350 degree oven for 7 minutes.

1/3 cup can milk
1 small pack chocolate chips

Melt caramels in milk. Spread over bottom half of cake. Spread chocolate chips. Fill with rest of cake mix. Let cook for 18 minutes at 350 degrees.

PEANUT BRITTLE

Louise Hall

2 cups sugar
3/4 cup white corn syrup
1/2 cup water
Dash of salt
Butter (size of walnut)
2 tsp. soda
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups raw peanuts

Combine sugar, syrup, water and butter; cook to soft ball stage. Add peanuts and cook to a hard crack stage. Watch carefully--burns easily. Add vanilla and soda; beat to mix. Pour onto buttered cookie sheets. Pull and stretch as it cools if you prefer thinner candy.

PRETZEL SURPRISE SALAD

Mary Broman

3 cups broken pretzels
1 1/2 sticks margarine, melted
8 ounces cream cheese
1 cup sugar
1 package whipped topping mix
2 (10 oz.) packages frozen strawberries
1 large can crushed pineapple
1 (3 oz.) package strawberry gelatin

Combine pretzels and margarine. Put in a 9 x 13 inch pan. Bake for 10 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool. Cream the cream cheese and sugar. Prepare whipped topping mix and combine with the cream cheese mixture. Spread over pretzels. Refrigerate.

Drain strawberries and pineapple. Measure juice, add enough water to make 2 cups. Boil and dissolve gelatin in it. Chill until set; add strawberries and pineapple. Pour over rest. Serves 12-16 people.

RAISIN NUT POPCORN

Elizabeth Baca

2 qts. popped corn (1/2 c. unpopped)
1 cup dry roasted peanuts
3/4 cup dry roasted sunflower seeds
1/2 cup honey
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 tsp. ground cinnamon
3/4 cup dark raisins

Prepare in microwave 20 minutes before serving.

In small bowl combine honey, butter and cinnamon. Cook on high 2 minutes. Stir halfway through cooking.

Pour butter honey mixture over popcorn. Mix stirring to combine evenly. Return to microwave and cook on high 5 minutes, stirring halfway through cooking.

Cool before serving. Stir to break up.

SNICKERDOODLES

Jeanette Ramey

1/2 cup soft shortening
1 stick oleo
1 1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 3/4 cups flour
2 tsp. cream of tartar
1 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt

TOPPING:

2 tsp. cinnamon

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Mix shortening, sugar, and eggs thoroughly. Sift together flour, cream of tartar, soda, salt and stir into above mixture. Form dough into balls about the size of walnuts. Roll in mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Place about 2 inches apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 8 to 10 minutes at 400 degrees.

CHILI CORN BREAD

Winnie Wiseman

1 Tbsp. shortening
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 lb. ground beef
1 (8 oz.) can tomato sauce
1 1/2 tsp. chili powder
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
6 or 7 green pepper rings
1 recipe of cornbread batter

Brown the onion and ground beef in shortening. Add tomato sauce and seasoning and simmer while preparing cornbread. Place pepper rings in bottom of baking dish so they form a design under meat. Pour meat mixture over pepper rings then pour cornbread batter over meat. Bake in hot oven. Invert on platter and serve.

PINEAPPLE-BANANA CAKE

Beverly Harder

In the large mixer bowl:

Sift:
3 cups flour (1 1/2 c. white, 1 1/2 c. whole wheat)
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
2 cups sugar

Then add:

1 1/4 cups cooking oil
1 (8 oz.) can crushed pineapple with juice
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla
3 eggs
2 cups diced ripe bananas (about five medium)

Mix thoroughly. Pour into 9 inch x 10 inch greased tube pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour and 20 minutes. Cook before removing from pan.

HAWAIIAN CAKE

By Grace Covington

1 (18 oz.) pkg. yellow cake mix
1 (5 1/2 oz.) large pkg. instant vanilla pudding mix
1 (8 oz.) pkg. cream cheese
1 (9 oz.) pkg. thawed Cool Whip
1 (20 oz.) can crushed pineapple, drained
1/2 cup Maraschino cherries
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup coconut (flaked)
1 cup cold milk.

Prepare cake mix according to directions. Pour into greased 10 x 15 jelly roll pan. Bake in 350 degree oven 30 to 35 minutes. Cool in pan. When cake is cooled, blend pudding mix with milk. Beat cream cheese into pudding until smooth. Stirring by hand fold in Cool Whip. Spread pudding mixture over cake. Then spread drained pineapple over pudding; sprinkle with chopped nuts and coconut. Then chopped cherries. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Serves 18-20 minutes.

BLUEBERRY SALAD

Johnnie Messer

1 lrg. pkg. frozen blueberries
1 lrg. can crushed pineapple
1 cup water
1 lrg. pkg. blackberry Jello
8 oz. cream cheese
1/2 cup sugar
1 small carton sour cream

Dissolve Jello in boiling water. Add blueberries and drained pineapple. Pour into 9 x 13 inch dish. Let this congeal. Mix cream cheese, sugar and sour cream together. Spread over Jello mixture when it is firm. This is also good made with 1 can whole cranberry sauce instead of blueberries and cherry Jello.

GUACAMOLE SALAD

Rosie Valdez

2 lrg. avocados
1 lrg. tomato, diced
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 fresh green onion, chopped fine
1 Tbsp. chopped canned green chili
1/4 tsp. red chili powder
1/8 tsp. garlic salt

Peel the avocados and mash the pulp in a bowl. Add tomatoes, lemon juice, green chili, and garlic salt. Let set 30 minutes.

Mash all into a smooth paste. Serve on fresh lettuce, sprinkle lightly with the red chili powder. Serve guacamole salad with tostadas.

SOUR CREAM CINNAMON TWISTS

Loretta Urbanczyk

1 cup sour cream
1 pkg. dry yeast
1/4 cup warm water
2 Tbsp. butter, softened
3 Tbsp. sugar
1 egg
3 cups flour
2 Tbsp. soft butter
1/3 cup brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/8 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt

Heat sour cream just to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Stir in sour cream, 2 T. butter, granulated sugar, salt, egg, soda and 1 cup flour. Beat until smooth. Mix in remaining flour until dough cleans side of bowl. Turn dough onto lightly-floured board and knead until smooth about 10 minutes. Cover and let rest for 20 minutes. Roll into a rectangle, 24 x 6 inch. Brush with 2 T. butter. Mix brown sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over lengthwise half of rectangle. Fold other half onto sugared half. Cut into 24 one-inch strips. Holding strips at each end, twist in opposite directions. Place two inches apart on greased baking sheet, pressing ends of twists on baking sheet. Cover and let rise until double--about one hour. Bake at 375 degrees for 12-15 minutes or until gold brown. While warm, frost with creamy glaze.

CREAMY GLAZE:

Mix:
1 1/4 cups confectioners sugar
2 T. butter
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla and 1-2 T. hot water until smooth and of spreading consistency

NO FAIL DIVINITY

Maudette Smith

4 cups sugar
1 cup clear corn syrup
3/4 cup water
Dash of salt

Mix in an 8-cup measuring cup and microwave 19 minutes. Stir every 5 (See RECIPES, Page 12C)

Coconut will come out of its shell more easily if it's first frozen for about an hour.

Decorative, edible holiday treasures

The holiday season is synonymous with entertaining. It's the time of year when family and friends get together to enjoy the festivities of the season. Creative holiday decorating makes the home warm and welcoming and guests will be surprised to learn that the decorations were baked right there in the kitchen.

Here are some easy and inexpensive holiday entertaining and decorating tips for the frequent or once-a-year host or hostess:

Invite the neighborhood to a tree-trimming party

--Whip up a batch of gingerbread men or butter cookies prior to the party

--Let guests thread ribbons through the top of the cookies and adorn the tree with personalized ornaments

--Be sure to have extra cookies on hand for them to enjoy at home.

Host a holiday brunch with a memorable centerpiece that's easy on the budget

--A homemade bread wreath, such as an Apricot Cardamom Wreath (recipe attached), sets the mood for an elegant gathering when a colorful candle is placed in the center"

--Gingerbread houses decorated with gumdrops, hard candies and marshmallows make wonderful centerpieces for informal parties

--Use gingerbread men as placecards; simply write guests' names on them with icing

--Gingerbread men placecards become instant party favors -- if guests don't eat them first!

Be prepared when friends drop by unexpectedly by keeping homemade goodies in the refrigerator or freezer

--Have a few round bread loaves stored in the freezer

--When guests make a surprise visit, hollow out the top portion of a bread loaf, fill with the dip of your choice and serve with pretzels, chips or cut vegetables

Involve the kids and turn cookie decorating into a fun family activity

--Children can place decorated cookies in lunch bags that they color themselves; give them with a ribbon and they can then use as gifts to their schoolmates and friends

ORANGE SPICED GINGERBREAD CUTOUTS

Dough One-third cup firmly packed brown sugar
One-third cup Cream Butter, softened
2/3 cup light molasses
1 egg
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 3/4 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 cups powdered sugar
1/2 cup sweet cream butter, softened
3 to 4 tablespoons milk
2 teaspoons vanilla

In large mixer bowl combine brown sugar, 1/3 cup butter, molasses, egg and orange peel. Beat at medium speed, scraping bowl often, until smooth and creamy (1 to 2 minutes). Add all remaining dough ingredients. Reduce speed to low. Continue beating, scraping bowl often, until well mixed (1 to 2 minutes). Cover; refrigerate at least 2 hours. Heat oven to 375 degrees. On well floured surface roll out dough, 1/2 at a time (keeping remaining dough refrigerated), to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut with 3 to 4-inch cookie cutters. Place 1 inch apart on greased cookie sheets. Bake for 6 to 8 minutes or until no indentation remains when touched. Cool completely. In small mixer bowl

Create video Christmas cards

For the special people on your Christmas card list, consider sending a card that really brings your message to life: A video Christmas card recorded with the family's camcorder.

To produce a quality holiday video message, organization is key. Just like a movie director, outline a shooting script to determine who will be in the video and what they will say. Next, choose a location to tape. This is one area with room for imagination.

Since the lightweight camcorder can be taken just about anywhere, go "on location" to the park to catch your sports star in action, or zoom in for a dramatic close-up of the monkey gymnast swinging off the family bars.

Perhaps you would rather capture the family as a group. Since camcorders also record audio, you can record the family gathered around the Christmas tree singing carols.

Move movie camcorders, which have low light sensitivity, allow you to capture even the flicker of the Christmas tree's lights.

To title your holiday message, you can record a hand-lettered sign at the opening and closing of the production. Or, for that more sophisticated touch, you can title your movie like the pros by using a special accessory.

Finally, you don't have to wait until the holiday season to film your video. If thought out in advance, you might use scenes from all seasons - a kind of family year in review.

combine all frosting ingredients. Beat at low speed, scraping bowl often, until fluffy (1 to 2 minutes). If desired, color frosting with food coloring. Decorate cookies with frosting. YIELD: 4 dozen.

TIP: To use as ornaments, while baked cookies are still warm use wooden pick to make holes for string or ribbon. After decorating cookies, thread string or ribbon through holes and hang as ornaments.

APRICOT CARDAMOM WREATH

Bread-1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cardamom
1/2 cup sweet cream butter
1 (12 ounce) can evaporated milk
2 teaspoons salt
2 (1/4 ounce) packages active dry yeast
1/4 cup warm water (105 to 115 degrees F)
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
3 eggs
6 1/2 to 7 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
Filling-2 to 2 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup brandy or water
1 (6 ounce) package (2 cups) dried apricots

1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons milk
Large crystal sugar

In 2-quart saucepan stir together sugar and cardamom; add butter, evaporated milk and salt. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until butter is melted (5 to 8 minutes). Cool to warm (105 to 115 degrees F). In large mixer bowl dissolve yeast in 1/4 cup warm water; stir in warm milk mixture, sour cream, eggs and 3 cups flour. Beat at medium speed, scraping bowl often, until smooth (1 to 2 minutes). By hand, stir in enough remaining flour to make dough easy to handle. Turn dough onto lightly floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic (about 5 minutes). Place in greased bowl, turn greased side up.

Cover; let rise in warm place until double in size (about 1 to 1 1/2 hours). Dough is ready if indentation remains when touched. Meanwhile, in 2-quart saucepan combine 2 cups water, brandy and apricots. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally and adding small amounts of additional water if necessary, until apricots are tender and mixture is thickened (40 to 45 minutes); set aside. Punch down dough; divide in half. Let rest 10 minutes. On lightly floured surface roll one half of dough to 20x9-inch rectangle; cut into 3 (3-inch) strips. Spread each strip with 1/4 cup apricot mixture to within 1/2 inch of edges. Bring 20-inch sides up together; pinch sides and ends tightly to seal well. Gently braid filled strips together.

Place on greased large cookie sheet; form into wreath. Pinch ends to seal well. Repeat with remaining dough and apricot mixture, cover; let rise 30 minutes. Heat oven to 350 degrees. Bake for 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned. In small bowl stir together 1 egg and milk. Brush breads with egg mixture; sprinkle with large crystal sugar. Continue baking for 5 to 10 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from cookie sheets; cool on wire racks. YIELD: 2 wreaths.

TIP: For best results, bake one wreath at a time.

Let food set the mood

Holiday entertaining can be fun and easy. Gingerbread cookies look beautiful on the tree if they are not all eaten first. You can also let this Apricot Cardamom Wreath set the mood for your holiday dinner party.

Heartwarming gifts from your kitchen

With more people doing their Christmas shopping early, even before the Thanksgiving holiday, it's easy to get weary of tired children and high prices. Harried holiday shoppers and those looking to save money this year, are rediscovering the gift shop located in the comfort of their own homes: the kitchen.

Increasingly, Americans are moving back to basics and recapturing the old-fashioned spirit of the holidays by giving homemade gifts of food. More than 44 percent of the people in the United States give homemade food gifts during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

Cookies, candies and breads make warmly personal, and economical, gifts for everyone from relatives to co-workers. They are also perfect host or hostess gifts for friends who entertain. Here are a few creative, yet easy tips on how to present homemade gifts of food this season:

-Wrap up homemade quick breads in bright holiday ribbon accented with small ornaments.

-Present a mini-loaf on a favorite holiday decoration.

-Package sweet treats, such as Cashew Butter Crunch, in a colorful container or cookie tin lined in bright cellophane.

-Line a stenciled basket with a cloth or paper holiday napkin and fill with an assortment of homemade cookies or candies.

-Pour homemade ice cream sauces or relishes into glass jars and wrap with a festive bow and gift tag.

BANANA MACADAMIA NUT BREAD

- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup softened sweet cream butter
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon grated orange peel
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup mashed ripe bananas
- 1/4 cup orange juice
- 1 cup flaked coconut
- 1 (3 1/2 oz.) jar coarsely chopped macadamia nuts or walnuts

Heat oven to 350 degrees. In large mixer bowl combine all ingredients except bananas, orange juice, coconut and nuts. Beat at low speed, scraping bowl often, until well mixed (2 or 3 minutes). Add bananas and orange juice. Continue beating, scraping bowl often, until well mixed. By hand, stir in coconut and nuts. Spread into three greased 5 1/2x3-inch mini-loaf pans or 1 greased 9x5-inch loaf for 60-65 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes.

No one will have to dig to the bottom of the bowl to find the cashews in this toffee-like candy.

CASHEW BUTTER CRUNCH

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup sweet butter
- 1 tablespoon light corn syrup
- 1/2 cups salted cashew pieces

In 2-quart saucepan combine sugar, butter and corn syrup. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally.

until candy thermometer reaches 290 degrees or small amount of mixture dropped into ice water forms brittle strands (25 to 30 minutes). Remove from heat; stir in cashews. Spread to 1/4-inch thickness on waxed paper lined 15x10x1-inch jelly roll pan. Cool completely; break into pieces.

Top your favorite ice cream with this rich fudge sauce.

HOT FUDGE SAUCE

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup sweet butter
- 1/3 cup water
- 2 tablespoons light corn syrup
- 1 (6 ounce) packet (1 cup) semi-sweet real chocolate chips
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

In medium saucepan combine sugar, butter, water and corn syrup. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a full boil (5 to 8 minutes). Boil 3 minutes; remove from heat. Immediately add chocolate chips; beat with wire whisk or rotary beater until smooth. Stir in vanilla. Serve warm over ice cream or cake.

Give a personal gift

This Thanksgiving and Christmas season give those special friends and relatives a personal gift. Homemade candies, breads and ice cream sauces make the perfect gifts, especially when wrapped in pretty bows or covered with brightly colored cellophane.

Scheduling holiday events

VIDEOS·SOAPS·MOVIES·MUCH MORE!

CBS' 'Sinatra': Behind Ol' Blue Eyes

Philip Casnoff plays the title role in CBS' four-hour, biographical miniseries, Sinatra, airing Sunday and Tuesday. Produced by his daughter Tina, the work chronicles the life and career of singer Frank Sinatra, from his early days with the Tommy Dorsey band to his status as an international star.

Miniseries peopled with Kennedys and kingpins

By Dan Rice

The two-part miniseries Sinatra, airing Sunday, Nov. 8, and Tuesday, Nov. 10, on CBS, translates 50 years of the entertainer's life into five hours of engaging prime-time fare.

Tina Sinatra, Frank's oldest child, was named by her father as executive producer of the project. She stresses that her father was very much involved in the telling of his story. "The words, the scenes that put together this picture are all his recollections and remembrances."

Still, Sinatra is not the glowing tribute one might expect, thanks to the influence of director James Sadwith (Baby M).

"I read the script and told Tina that if I was going to make this, it was not going to be an ode to Frank Sinatra, it was not going to be The Al Jolson Story. I would make something much more akin to Raging Bull, that I wasn't a fan of Frank's, and I was going to play the drama and not the sentiment."

There is no shortage of drama in Sinatra's life: his humble beginnings, his obsessive climb to stardom, his failed marriages and his connections to powerful figures — all make for intriguing viewing. Of particular interest is his middleman relationship between the Kennedys and organized crime; according to the movie, his intercessions with union leadership helped put JFK in the White House.

The casting process was extensive. "We would go for people who embodied the essence of the character, but we wouldn't necessarily go for exact look-alikes," Sadwith recalls.

The title role was filled at nearly the last minute by Philip Casnoff (Hands of a Stranger), who refused to be intimidated by the fame of his character.

Marcla Gay Harden plays Ava Gardner, Frank Sinatra's (Phillip Casnoff) second wife.

"I basically ignored the fact that he was a famous person," Casnoff says. "I think if I had been intimidated I would have been dead in the water."

Casnoff, who claims he grew up on "Motown, the Beatles and heavy metal," says he gained a new understanding of Sinatra and his music through this project.

"I knew he was very ambitious, but beyond that, one of the things that really struck me was ... he was very vulnerable and private when he was on stage," Casnoff says. "I think something happened to him on stage that didn't happen anyplace else in his life. He was very moving when he sang. I think the girls responded to his vulnerability. It's almost like Michael Jackson in a way. There was almost an androgynous quality to Frank when he was very young, when he was so gaunt and frail up there on stage."

Casnoff is surrounded by a fine supporting cast. Most memorable is Olympia Dukakis as Sinatra's saloon-keeper/abortionist mother, Dolly. Also noteworthy are Joe Santos as his ex-boxer father, Gina Gershon as Nancy Barbato Sinatra, Marcia Gay Harden as Ava Gardner, Joris Stuyck as Peter Lawford, Nina Siemaszko as Mia Farrow, and Rod Steiger as mob boss Sam Giancana.

Sinatra makes for interesting viewing for the glimpses of famous personalities from show-business history and for the music. As with any biography of a living person, the miniseries has the problem of where it should end. The producers have opted to close with a Madison Square Garden concert in 1974 at the height of Sinatra's success. It appears a conscious decision was made to leave the "Chairman of the Board" on top.

TRIVIA, ETC.

Let's be perfectly Frank

By Steven Alan McGaw
 This week, CBS airs the long-awaited Sinatra miniseries. Test your knowledge on the film career of the real McCoy.

- Questions:
1. What movie marked Frank Sinatra's film debut? (Bonus: Sinatra only sang in that movie. In what film did he make his first appearance as an actor?)
  2. Here's the plot: Sinatra plays a naive entertainer who gets involved with racketeers. Shelley Winters co-stars. What's the movie?
  3. 1967's Tony Rome spawned a sequel one year later. Name it.
  4. Two of Sinatra's movies (and two of his best) deal with the planned assassination of a political figure. What are they?
  5. Sinatra has directed only one film in his career. What's the picture?
  6. Sinatra's last starring role came in 1980's The First Deadly Sin. Who plays his comatose wife?
  7. 1956's High Society was a remake of a popular 1940 film. Name it.

- Answers:
1. Ship Ahoy was his first film; he first acted in Higher and Higher.
  2. Meet Danny Wilson.
  3. Suddenly in 1954, and 1962's Powerful The Manchurian Candidate.
  4. None But the Brave in 1965.
  5. None But the Brave in 1965.
  6. Faye Dunaway.
  7. The Philadelphia Story.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics.

Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Dear Candace: I am a great fan of As the World Turns. I love Tom and Margo Hughes. They are terrific, but I hate what has been happening lately with the rape and HIV story line. These two characters are why I watch the show. What is going to happen to them? -J.D. Greenville, N. C.

Dear Reader: Ellen Dolan (Margo) is leaving the show at the beginning of next year. The producers are recasting the role, so it is doubtful Margo will die of AIDS.

Renée Propp (Ellie) and Mary Ellen Stuart (Fannie) are also leaving the show at the end of this year. It has not been decided whether or not they will recast the roles.

ATWT is bringing a new character to the show, Royce Keller, who will be played by Terry Lester (ex-Jack, The Young and the Restless and ex-Mason, Santa Barbara).

Dear Candace: I have a couple of questions I would like you to answer.

On All My Children, is Tad coming back and are Erica and Dimitri going to be involved again?

What happened to Chase on Y&R? He was such a good friend of Danny and Cricket's and was in love with Nina. Where did Brittany Rawlings and Jim Granger disappear to? -D.H., Desoto, Ill.

Dear Reader: It doesn't look like Michael Knight (Tad) will show up any time soon. He is doing a play in Los Angeles. There is a good possibility that Erica and Dimitri could get together, now that he has asked Angelique for a divorce. But it will not be easy, nothing ever is for Erica. Characters often disappear from Y&R without a trace or they are sent off never to be heard from again. Jim Granger is Cricket's dad and he wasn't at her wedding. The character supposedly transferred to a position at another hospital. Brittany just disappeared. Stephen Gregory (Chase) left when his contract was up, but the show never addressed his departure.

Several of you have written in regards to Skip and baby Skylar on Y&R. Todd Curtis, who plays Skip, is on recurring status, though you hardly ever see him or the baby.

HBO whittles the Bard down to swordfights and soundbites

By Suzanne Gill

What's good for you isn't always great, as proven by HBO's new monthly series, Shakespeare: The Animated Tales. Announced last January as a highbrow undertaking for the premium cable giant with the sometimes prurient interests, the series of six half-hour films debuts Tuesday, Nov. 10.

Condensing Shakespeare, whose plays often run to five acts and three or more hours, is not a new idea. In 1807, siblings Charles and Mary Lamb published their Tales From Shakespeare, a collection of prose synopses that is still in print. Still, it is not a task to be undertaken lightly, and author Leon Garfield does yeoman's work condensing the stories while preserving much of the most famous dialogue. His efforts have won the series the endorsements of the National Education Association, the Folger Shakespeare Library and others.

The Tales are animated in a variety of styles, including claymation and an unusual method of painting on glass plates, executed by Moscow's Soyusmultfilm Studios. The result is not world-class, but for the most part it is colorful and entertaining, as in Twelfth Night, where puppets are used to retain the comic suspense involving a pair of separated twins.

The greatest asset of these Animated Tales is the series' host, actor Robin Williams, who shot all six introductions — most in just one or two takes — in a single day and without a prepared script. Williams' Juilliard backbone serves him well: He summarizes the stories, conveys the fun and offers helpful insight to the characters' motivation (his analysis of Hamlet gives kids a flesh-and-blood hero to root for) in a matter of mere seconds. He does so well, in fact, that one wishes he would perform the whole play himself and just forget about the animation.

Ultimately, the project is hoist with its own petard: In abbreviating the best storytelling in the English language, the audience is left with more plot than substance and may well wonder what all the fuss has been about these 400 years.

LET'S TALK

De Mornay becomes electric; the Apollonia of his eye

By Taylor Michaels

Q: After I watched The Hand That Rocks the Cradle, Rebecca De Mornay became my favorite actress. I was wondering if you could tell me what other movies she has been in and give me an address to write her. —James Bell, Youngsville, Penn.

A: A Santa Rosa, Calif., native and Lee Strasberg acting student, De Mornay was lucky enough to be cast as the proverbial "prostitute with a heart of gold" in 1983's Risky Business. The film, of course, was wildly successful and was responsible for catapulting Tom Cruise to superstardom and Bronson Pinchot (Perfect Strangers) from obscurity to TV comedy. De Mornay's other films include: One From the Heart, Testament, The Slugger's Wife, Runaway Train, The Trip to Bountiful, Beauty and the Beast, and God Created Woman (1987 version). Feds and TV movies Pecos Bill, King of the Cowboys and The Murders in the Rue Morgue. You may write her in care of International Creative Management, 8899 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif., 90048.

Q: On Sept. 14, 1992, WGN Chicago aired an episode of Joan Rivers with a doctor who claimed to have experienced death and wrote a book about it. I have not been able to remember the name of the man or the book's title. Can you help? —Diane Schultz, Shawano, Wis.

A: The guest was Dr. Raymond Moody, and his books on the subject include Life After Life and, more recently, Coming Back. On Thursday, Nov. 12, The Learning Channel's Beliefs anthology will present a one-hour documentary version of Moody's Life After Life.

Q: I very much enjoyed 2000 Malibu Road on CBS. It has now been about four weeks since this series last aired. Is there a reason for this, or is the station in Portland just unwilling to show it? —Wayne Clemmer, Portland, Ore.

A: The main reason you haven't seen 2000 Malibu Road is because it has not been picked up by the network, and the summer fill-in appears to be history.

Q: I recently turned on the TV and saw Ann-Margret as a guest on the Donahue talk show.

Rebecca De Mornay

She was being praised for not having a typical Hollywood lifestyle or marriage; she has stuck by her man through thick and thin. Donahue told her that she was a boring interview and tried to dig a little dirt out of her. I would like to write to Ann-Margret and let her know that she was refreshing, not boring. I also saw why Donahue's ratings are falling. —D. Leeson, Pittsburg, Penn.

A: You may write to Ann-Margret in care of Triad Artists, Inc., 10100 Santa Monica Blvd., 16th Floor, Los Angeles, Calif., 90067.

Q: HBO recently ran the movie Black Magic Woman. The end credits listed the character Cassandra as played by Apollonia. What is the history of this star? How can she be contacted? —Conrad Froelich, Chanute, Kansas.

A: Patricia "Apollonia" Kotero, a German/Hispanic/Italian actress and singer who generally goes by just Apollonia, appeared in South American films and TV shows before playing Prince's girlfriend in 1984's Purple Rain. Since then, the native of Santa Monica, Calif., has parlayed her association with His Purple Majesty into a number of musical and acting jobs, including a role in the miniseries Mystic Warrior and a year on TV's Falcon Crest, which brought her her greatest notoriety. You may write her in care of Abrams, Rubaloff & Lawrence, 8075 W. 3rd Street, Suite 303, Los Angeles, Calif., 90048.

Simon says little: Frankel joins 'Sisters'

By Steven Alan McGaw
Englishman Mark Frankel has joined the cast of NBC's Sisters, playing billionaire recluse Simon Bolts. He is the enigmatic silent partner in Teddy's (Sela Ward) new business and just may be headed for romance with Teddy as well.

"I'm signed for 12 episodes," Frankel says, "but the way things are developing, you never know."

Frankel describes his character as a self-made man. "He's from London, from a very poor background," the actor explains, "He's insecure and tries to bury his past." Slowly, Frankel says, Teddy begins to chip away at his shell.

His work on Sisters marks Frankel's American network TV debut. He was first seen by U.S. audiences as the young Michelangelo in TNT's A Season of Giants, followed by the same network's Young Catherine. Next spring, Frankel will star in the feature comedy Leon, the Pig-Farmer.

Trained at London's Webber-Douglas Academy of Dramatic Arts, Frankel says he'd love to return to the stage (he once performed a one-man Macbeth), but currently is focusing on building a film career. Asked about his influences, Frankel points to Richard Burton. "I could watch him endlessly," the actor says, adding, "He could walk away from the camera, still talking, and it was fascinating just to watch his back."

Road warrior visits blackboard jungle

By Chris Carpenter
One would assume that adding unsolicited drama to an already hectic school day would meet with eyebrow-raising disapproval. But if the rabble-rouser is actor Mel Gibson and the dramatics are penned by William Shakespeare, perhaps an exception could be made.

In the Sunday, Nov. 8, installment of Teacher TV, Gibson spends time at a Los Angeles high school to offer his musings on Shakespeare's Hamlet in the "Curriculum Innovations" episode of The Learning Channel's acclaimed series for teachers.

Eliciting a semester's worth of shared inquiry (not to mention starry-eyed gazes) in just one day, Gibson also speaks eloquently as a student, as one who has arrived at his own interpretation of the material and literally acted on his beliefs. "It's important for these kids to know nothing specific is expected from them," he says. "Anything is valid if it means something to them."

After Gibson bows out, fascinating short subjects follow on multi-cultural middle schools and a new "food science" course that really cooks. But the episode's closing piece, in which a whole city has a hand in creating a mock space-shuttle mission for its sixth graders, is extraordinary.

In fact, any single episode of Teacher TV is a breath of fresh air for a deflated, beleaguered profession.

All-Stars hoop-it-up on NBC dream court

By Michael Scogin

If you win it, they will come. After months of battling their way through regional qualifying rounds, the winners of the international three-on-three Hoop-It-Up tournament have earned the right to test their basketball skills against a team of former NBA All-Stars on the "Court of Dreams." The game airs Nov. 14 on NBC's Saturday Sports Showcase.

Julius Erving will coach the NBA All-Star team, which features such talent as Walter Davis and Calvin Murphy.

"It'll be the realization of a dream for these guys to have the chance to play against three Hall of Famers," says NBC Sports' Quinn Buckner, who will call the game with fellow commentators Ahmad Rashad and Hannah Storm.

Earning a berth against the All-Stars was no easy feat for the winning amateurs. The 1992 champions first won their city tournament to make it to regionals, where the top two teams moved on to compete in the finals in Dallas. The team that survived the finals now takes its shot at the NBA All-Stars.

"It should be very competitive considering the winning team may be a little better conditioned," says Buckner. "It's their chance to shine."

"But," he adds, "believe me, these NBA guys don't want to get beat by someone who hasn't played in the league."

Go west, America; The play's the thing

By Dan Rice

The manifest destiny of the United States was made a reality through the struggles of determined settlers heading west. On Friday, Nov. 13, The Discovery Channel's Roger Kennedy's Rediscovering America examines the factors involved in pushing the population toward the frontier. The development of modern conglomerates and labor unions and the debate over individual rights versus property rights are considered in the episode titled Railroads, Robbers and Rebels.

History's most-read playwright becomes even more accessible when HBO raises the curtain on Shakespeare: The Animated Tales on Tuesday, Nov. 10. The half-hour adaptations begin with A Midsummer Night's Dream.

Don't care for the Bard? How about the Boss? On Wednesday, Nov. 11, MTV presents Bruce Springsteen Plugged, the rock 'n' roll performer's first televised concert. Originally intended as an edition of MTV Unplugged, the name changed when Springsteen turned on his amps after one acoustic number.

There's no place like home. On Sunday, Nov. 8, TNT airs Pillar of Fire, a two-hour documentary about the years preceding the establishment of the state of Israel in 1948. Jason Robards narrates the special, which includes archival footage and interviews with witnesses and historians.

Morning's Lunden strikes prime-time deal

Joan Lunden, who celebrated her 12th anniversary as co-host of ABC's Good Morning America this year, has signed an agreement with the network to produce and host three prime-time specials over the next three years. Currently early morning television's longest-reigning co-host, Lunden has formed her own production company, New Life Entertainment, and expects her first special to air during the 1992-93 season.

There's boot scootin' on the continent now that CMT (Country Music Television) has launched its new European cable network. CMT Europe is a 24-hour country-music video service that plays a careful mix of American and European artists. E.W. Wendell, president of CMT owner Gaylord Entertainment Company, says his company's mission is to be "the internationally recognized source of country music entertainment."

Where's Elvis? On Jan. 8, 1993 — what would have been Elvis Presley's 57th birthday — TBS will air Elvis, U.S.A. The hourlong special has comedian Paul Provenza on the road to seek out the ways in which "The King" has managed to become "the eighth natural wonder of the world."

Public television is making child's play of the task of training early childhood education professionals in remote areas.

An experimental three-year program launched in September by South Carolina Educational Television is training 440 future Head Start teachers in 12 states through weekly interactive broadcasts funded in part by the federal Department of Health and Human Services. Two more 40-week series will be added, bringing the program to all 50 states and U. territories.
