That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says anytime you think you have influence, try ordering someone else's dog around.

The judge asked the prospective juror, "Is there any reason you could not serve as juror in this case?" The man responded, "I don't want to be away from my job that long."

The judge said, "Can't they do without you at work?"

The juror answered, "Yes, but I don't want them to know it."

Hereford's first-ever appearance in the state volleyball tournament comes this evening at 5:45 p.m., with all Whiteface fans hoping for a win and a chance at the state-title game Saturday. KPAN Radio will broadcast the game, and The Brand's Jay Peden will be there to report the action.

The Festival of Trees continues at Hereford Senior Center after the big dinner and auction of trees Thursday night. The beautifully decorated trees sold for around $300 to $1,100 last night with auctioneer Ted Walling and assistants Henry Reid and Juston McBride doing a great job.

Senior Center exec Margie Daniels reported that about 1,500 kids attended activities Thursday, and more are due today. The big style show and German supper is tonight, while Breakfast With Santa, the Teddy Bear Tea, and the Old Fashioned Christmas Party are set Saturday. Continuous entertainment and activities are scheduled today and Saturday.

With Christmas shopping going full tilt, this is a busy time of year for retailers. By the same token, it's a busy time for newspapers. What the retailers realize in sales in November and December may well determine whether they will be in business next year. From 25 to 40 percent of the total annual sales for many types of retailers is accounted for in this brief period.

Retail sales experts point out that the holiday season accounts for far more than gift buying. Many categories, unrelated to Christmas giving, reach their high point in sales in November and December. So, it's a vital time to advertise those products!

For example, according to the U.S. Census data on retail sales, eating and drinking places have top sales in this period. November and December are also the biggest sales months for appliances and furniture. Other categories that will experience top sales include hardware stores, footwear and TV-stereo outlets.

I don't know about you, but one of my pet peeves is politicians who solicit funds after the election to clear up their campaign debts. I got one of those letters this week from Barry Williamson, who won the Railroad Commission post over Lena Guerrero. He's seeking $300,000 to cover "loans we had to use to get our message on television."

It's bad enough to run up a debt like that, but his staff ought to check the mailing list and make sure they don't ask for TV money from newspaper men!

Maybe it's a pretty common thing for politicians to do these days, but I question voting folks to office who can't handle their campaign without going into debt. Makes you wonder how they're going to handle our tax dollars, doesn't it?

Reps still hunting votes on school plan

AUSTIN (AP) - The chairman of the House GOP caucus says Republicans intend to stick together to get a school spending plan they favor.

Republican support is crucial to passing a constitutional amendment on school finance, as desired by state leaders. It takes a two-thirds vote of the Legislature to put a constitutional amendment before voters, and Republicans number 58 in the 150-member House.

The House on Wednesday mustered enough votes to keep alive a proposed school finance amendment that would allow some local property tax money to be shifted from wealthy to poorer school districts.

The amendment is designed to meet a Texas Supreme Court mandate to come up with a constitutional plan to equalize school funding by June 1, 1993.

But the 86-59 vote fell short of the two-thirds required. Only two Republicans voted for the measure, and five were shown absent.

Rep. Tom Craddick, head of the Republican caucus, said GOP lawmakers in the House want passage of a spending plan, which requires only a majority vote, before they help pass a constitutional amendment.

"Our main purpose basically is to get the best school finance plan we can get for the state, and if we give in on the constitutional amendment, we are not going to have the input, because then they don't need a two-thirds vote. They'll just need a simple majority," said Craddick, of Midland.

Clinton cuts broad DC swath

WASHINGTON (AP) - President-elect Clinton wooed Washington much as he courted the voters, mixing down-home symbolism with lofty talk of the nation's goals as he walked both the streets and the corridors of power.

In just two days, Clinton managed to touch a broad swath of the power spectrum. He visited with President Bush, lunched with congressional leaders, consulted with the nation's top military man and attended a Tony Georgetown social gathering.

He also rubbed elbows with people on an urban business strip and talked to a homeless man at a downtown McDonald's.

"He's a different kind of president ... and that's the way it's going to be throughout the administration," promised spokesman George Stephanopoulos.

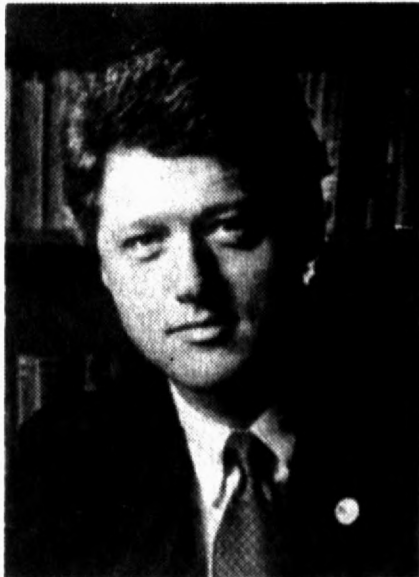

When he headed back to his Arkansas home late Thursday, Clinton left behind a stock of goodwill that could serve him well later - but few clues as to how he might cash that in.

"They're Democrats, we're Republicans, but our common interest is moving the country forward, about jobs, economy, health care, deficit reduction, whatever it may be," said Senate Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas. "So I would guess you're going to find a lot of common ground."

House GOP leader Robert Michel, who joined Dole and leaders of both parties at a Thursday luncheon for Clinton, said he detected "a little bit more of an emphasis on attempting to have an accommodation between the Congress and the new president-elect."

Michel, whose party lost the presidency, said it was up to GOP members to listen to Clinton's ideas - when they're available.

"I guess it's one thing to talk about all these things during the course of the campaign - and then when you really get down to judgment day, to present to the Congress your list of priorities," he said, adding that Clinton's list, so far, was "pretty fuzzy."

Clinton

Among the topics Clinton talked about, he said he favored restrictions on China's most-favored-nation status but did not want to isolate the country and had "noted with satisfaction" moderation by China since the Bush administration took a tougher line on human rights and trade violations.

He also said his proposed changes in the Bush administration's Haiti policy would not "promote mass migration" but would allow refugees to petition to prove they were political, not economic refugees.

But if his legislative agenda was still in the formative stage, Clinton's public relations strategy came through clearly. Washington's latest conqueror stormed the city with a blitz of photo opportunities and non-stop meetings reminiscent of his presidential campaign.

"Yes, I'm very pleased with my days in Washington," he said at the end of the two-day visit. The highlights, he said, were "meeting with the president, meeting with Congress, walking along Georgia Avenue" - that strip of shops where his appearance Wednesday caused a sensation.

Dimmitt will vote on development

The Dimmitt City Council voted Tuesday to hold a citywide bond election Jan. 9 to raise $4.5 million as an incentive for a food processing company that community leaders are trying to lure to the city.

City officials announced this week that the previously unnamed company is the Rubinoff Food Corporation, headed by Ronald B. Rubinoff of Eldorado, Ark. Rubinoff is a marketing project manager for ConAgra, who is prepared to resign his job for the chance to open a beef, pork, poultry and vegetable processing plant in Dimmitt.

Rubinoff said his company has agreed to repay the certificates of obligation if a majority of voters approve the bond issue. Mayor Wayne Collins said the certificates would be guaranteed by the city.

In return, the city will retain the right to appoint a third of the company's board members and a third of the membership to the company's executive committee, a city official said.

Rubinoff said his part of the deal entails raising $10 million in addition to the city's $4.5 million in bonds. If voters approve the issue, Rubinoff said the plant could begin production in April 1994. He projects a start-up workforce of 50 with the potential to employ 250 or more in the future.

Officials have not decided on a location, although the mayor said the city owns a tract of land that has been targeted as one potential site. If Rubinoff chooses a location within the city's enterprise zone, the company could receive a 100-percent abatement of its ad valorem taxes for the first five years, and a 50-percent abatement for the next five years, the mayor said.

Sides trade off on GATT talks

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and the 12-nation European Community failed once again to resolve a bitter farm trade fight, but both sides insist they are getting closer to a breakthrough.

Officials said negotiators would meet again soon, after they had time to review the latest proposals put on the table before the talks broke off Thursday.

Both sides are facing a Dec. 5 deadline for resolving the dispute. Without agreement by then, the Bush administration has said it will begin imposing a 200 percent import tax on $300 million worth of European products, primarily white wine.

The punitive tariff would be in retaliation for European subsidies the administration claims are costing American farmers $1 billion in lost sales annually of soybeans and other oilseed crops.

In addition to the soybean fight, the United States and the EC are trying to resolve a broader battle covering all farm subsidies that for two years has blocked successful completion of talks aimed at rewriting the rules of world trade.

The higher wine tariff will effectively triple the price of European white wine for American consumers. It is likely to set off a full-fledged trade war because European officials have threatened to retaliate with higher tariffs against American goods.

However, officials expressed hope late Thursday that they will soon reach a breakthrough that will keep the trade sanctions from going into effect.

"We made good progress today. We are quite close together and we are going to continue to work," U.S.

Trade Representative Carla Hills told reporters.

Her counterpart, EC Trade Commissioner Frans Andriessen, said "substantial progress" had been made during the 10 hours of discussions Wednesday and Thursday and the talks will resume "as soon as possible."

Andriessen and EC Agriculture Commissioner Ray MacSharry left immediately for Brussels to report today to the European Commission on the status of the negotiations.

Neither Hills nor Andriessen explained what roadblocks remained that were preventing a final deal. Earlier Thursday, both had expressed the hope that an agreement could be reached during the talks held at Blair House, the government guest residence.

Hills said progress had been made not only in resolving the soybean dispute but also the broader issue of reducing all European farm subsidies as part of achieving new rules governing world trade.

Those negotiations, known as the Uruguay Round for the country where they were launched in 1986, have been deadlocked because of European objections to the farm subsidy cuts being demanded by the United States.

The Uruguay Round is an effort being made by 108 nations working under the auspices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade to lower tariffs and other barriers to trade in agriculture, manufactured goods and services such as banking and telecommunications.

GATT Director General Arthur Dunkel said that if the United States and the EC resolved their differences, the Uruguay Round could be completed by the end of the year.

NEW ORLEANS - Severe chest pain, which accounts for about 750,000 hospital admissions annually, can be treated as well in small community hospitals as big medical centers, conclude authors of a major new study. Exposing rabbits to second-hand cigarette smoke nearly doubled the accumulation of fat in their arteries, offering clues to explain why second-hand smoke causes some 50,000 deaths annually in non-smokers, according to a new study.

Aspirin usually fine for angina

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Severe chest pain, which accounts for about 750,000 hospital admissions annually, can be treated as well in small community hospitals as in big medical centers, say authors of a major new study.

Their work found that ordinary medicines, including aspirin, are as effective as high-tech procedures available only in major hospitals.

The report answers important questions about the best way to treat a condition called unstable angina, a dangerous condition that often foreshadows heart attacks.

The new study found about 10 percent of patients go on to die or suffer heart attacks within a year, regardless of whether they are treated with ordinary medicine, receive clot-busting drugs or have angioplasty.

The clot-busting drugs are widely used to treat heart attacks, while angioplasty - a procedure that uses skinny balloons to force open clogged arteries - is a routine treatment for chest pain.

"The message is that for the vast majority of patients with unstable angina, you can adopt a conservative approach," Dr. David McCall of the University of Texas in San Antonio said Thursday.

The study, conducted on 1,392 patients, is the largest ever undertaken to figure out the best treatment for unstable angina, the No. 1 cause of admissions to hospital coronary care units.

The results were disclosed at the annual scientific meeting of the American Heart Association, which concluded Thursday.

Unstable angina is chest pain that strikes when people are not exerting themselves. It often results from a blood clot partially blocking a heart artery.

Aspirin is already a key treatment for preventing new or recurring heart attacks and strokes. Now it is clearly the standard treatment for unstable angina as well. Aspirin's major drawback is the possibility it will trigger unwanted bleeding.

Earlier this week, Dr. Robert Goldstein and colleagues from the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences in Bethesda, Md., reported the most impressive evidence yet of aspirin's power in people recovering from heart attacks or angina. They found that those getting one aspirin tablet daily had a three-fold reduction in their death rates after two years.

In the latest study, the medically treated patients received aspirin as well as four other drugs - the blood-thinner heparin, nitroglycerin, beta blocks and calcium blockers.

Since clot-dissolving drugs, like TPA, are effective in thwarting heart attacks, many doctors hoped they could successfully break up the clots that cause unstable angina as well.

However, 11 percent of the patients getting TPA died or suffered heart attacks, compared with 9 percent receiving aspirin and other drugs. The difference was not statistically meaningful.

"This settles the issue of thrombolysis (clot-busting) for unstable angina," said the study's director, Dr. Eugene Braunwald of Boston's Brigham and Women's Hospital. "There is not a shred of evidence in favor of it."

In the comparison with angioplasty, the outcomes were also virtually identical: 10 percent of medically treated patients died or had heart attacks, compared with 9 percent receiving angioplasty.

When initial medical treatment failed to stop the pain, patients were sent to get angioplasty. Those getting angioplasty as first-line treatment had less pain and needed to be readmitted to the hospital less often.

"In an era of cost containment, patients can be treated conservatively in community hospitals," said Braunwald. "If they don't do well, they can still be triaged to tertiary medical centers."

State gives grants for recycling

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Water Commission has put its money where its mouth is by announcing a new $4 million program to help cities develop recycling and composting programs.

"These programs are very important because in Texas today, local governments are spending over $1.2 billion to pay for the disposal of the trash that we generate," said John Hall, water commission chairman.

Hall said the program, dubbed "Clean Cities 2000," provides financial and technical assistance for 30 cities to begin recycling household and workplace trash, yard waste, used motor oil and tires.

The program also will help cities to find markets for recyclable goods, he said.

Hall said Fort Worth, Lubbock, Beaumont and Harlingen and rural areas in East Texas, Central Texas and the Panhandle have already been designated to receive funds.

More communities will be announced later, he said.

"We recognize at the Texas Water Commission that we will not be successful in our endeavors unless we actually form a strong partnership with local governments and with the private sector," Hall said.

Water Commissioner Pam Reed said the program represents a change in the way money generally flows between the commission and local governments.

"Obviously this program is a rarity because we're going to be giving money back," Reed said. "What we're announcing today is a return of millions of dollars to local governments and obviously it doesn't happen very often, and hopefully we're going to see a big return on our investment."

Fort Worth will receive $500,000, Lubbock and Beaumont will each get $400,000. Harlingen will get $350,000.

A Central Texas area of Bastrop, LaGrange, Schulenburg and Smithville will share $250,000. A Panhandle cluster of towns including Borger, Fritch, Pampa, Panhandle and Stinnett will receive $350,000 and the East Texas communities of Lufkin and Nacogdoches will split $400,000.

The program is an offshoot of the commission's Clean Texas 2000, a statewide campaign to reduce pollution.

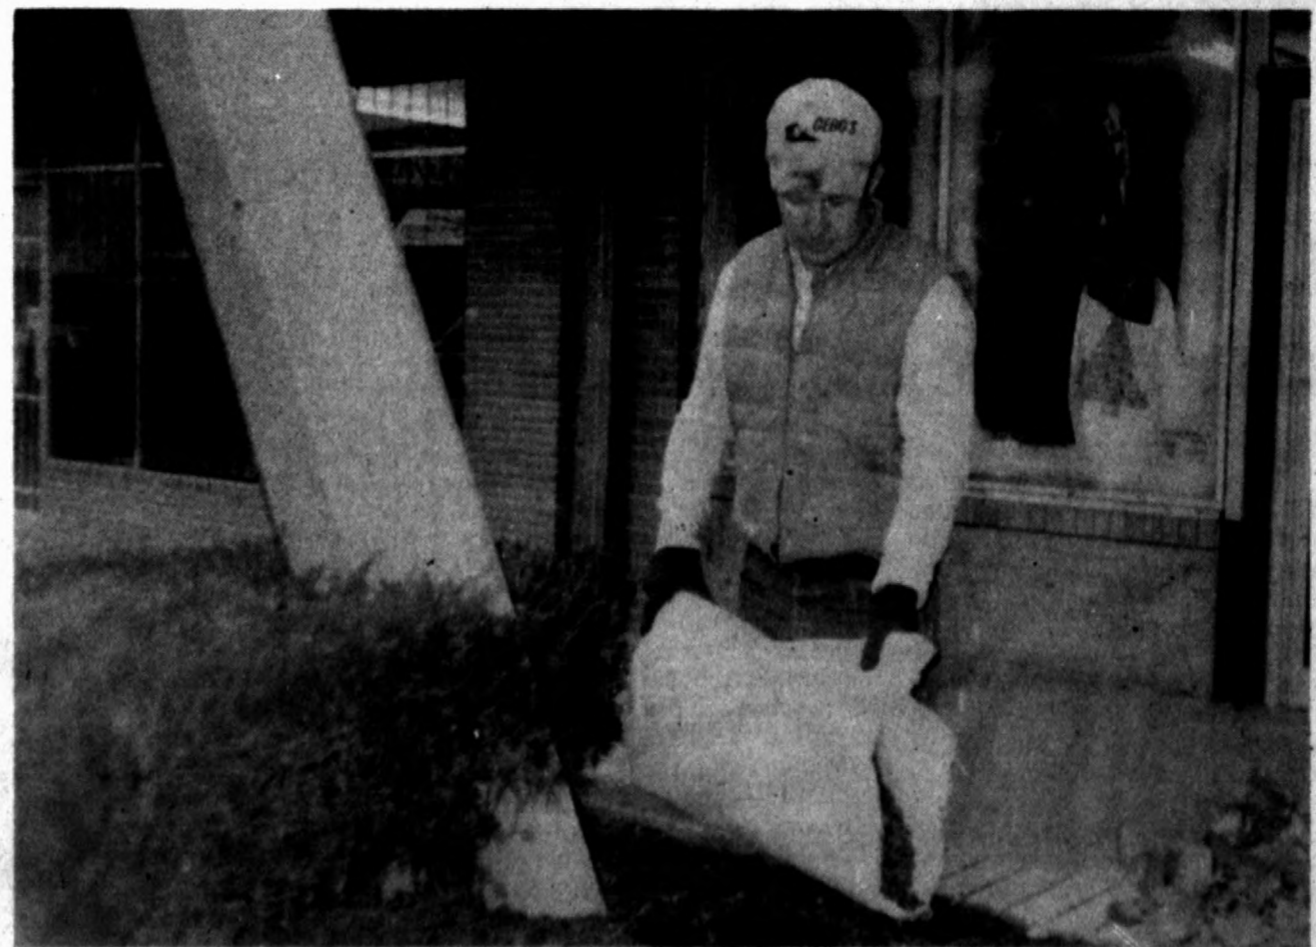

The funds going to the cities for recycling were derived from landfill tipping fees collected by local communities and forwarded to the state.

Protect your eyes

See your doctor promptly if you have problems with dry, red eyes or irritated eye lids.

Many factors contribute to ocular irritations. They may be caused by medications, allergens, contact lens wear, air pollution, or other more serious irritants.

Eye care specialists recommend special drops that can be bought over the counter. These artificial tears soothe and lubricate the eye, as well as take the red out.

Keep extra glasses around as too much contact wear may irritate eyes. Giving your eyes a rest is another natural way of soothing irritation.

Significant SWC tilts set Saturday

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

Beginnings and endings, remembering and forgetting will abound in the Southwest Conference on Saturday.

Not to mention a bit of anticipation for No. 4 Texas A&M, which could wrap up its second consecutive title with a victory over Texas Christian, coupled with a Baylor victory over Texas.

Grant Teaff is ending his 21-year reign as Baylor football coach and he'd like nothing better than to finish with a victory over the Texas Longhorns (6-3, 4-1), a team he's had a knack for upsetting over the years.

This time, the Bears are favored. Teaff will step aside to become athletic director at the end of the season. He'll take a 126-105-6 record at Baylor into the game.

"This is a good team," Teaff said. "They have a great sense of loyalty to each other and to the university. They're just the type of team one would hope to go out having in his last year coaching."

Baylor (5-5, 3-3) is a two-point favorite over Texas; Rice is expected to beat Navy by 24 points; Texas A&M has a 24 1/2 point bulge over TCU; Texas Tech is favored by 1 1/2 over Houston and Arkansas is favored by 10 1/2 over SMU.

Long-suffering Rice fans are remembering the glory years of the Owls (5-4, 4-2) football program and hoping to begin a new era with a winning season if they can beat the Midshipmen (1-8).

Southern Methodist (4-6, 2-5) and Texas Christian (2-7-1, 1-5) anticipate new beginnings.

SMU closes its season at Arkansas and is completing its most successful season since the death penalty probation. Texas Christian's 23-14 upset of Texas gives first year Coach Pat Sullivan a cornerstone for rebuilding.

Houston and Texas Tech are winding down forgettable seasons at Lubbock and trying to build momentum for 1993. Tech won a high-scoring shootout in the Astrodome last season 52-46.

The Aggies are off to their best start since the 1975 Aggies started 10-0 and finished 10-2.

Victories by Baylor and Texas A&M would give the Aggies their second straight SWC football title and the host berth in the Cotton Bowl regardless of the outcome of their Thanksgiving Day game against the Longhorns.

The Aggies are miffed at being leap-frogged by Florida State, which moved into third place in the AP poll. "If we go 13-0, we'll be the national champions, I don't care what anybody else says or thinks," guard John Ellisor said.

Aggies coach R.C. Slocum said: "There's no significance to scores. We beat Stanford, and Stanford goes back and beats Notre Dame 33-16, so if we're that bad, how bad is Notre Dame?"

Texas Christian solidified Coach Pat Sullivan's first season as head coach two weeks ago with a 23-14 upset of the Longhorns. The Frogs have played well enough to win the last three weeks with losses to Houston (49-46) and Texas Tech (31-28).

The Horned Frogs lost to Miami earlier in the season and now they're ready for the Aggies. "I'm proud of our football team, in the attitude they've displayed the last month and a half," Sullivan said. "They were not intimidated going to Miami and they aren't intimidated going to College Station."

"Our kids believe in themselves. They'll play as hard as they can play. That's the first step in building a program."

Quarterback Robert Hall likely will miss Tech's game, meaning another start for Jason Clemmons. That's no consolation for Houston coach John Jenkins.

"Here's a guy you'd think they would tail off but he plugs right in and keeps on going," Jenkins said. "I have to go sit in the whirlpool after watching him. He hurts you just watching."

Historic college rivalries on schedule

By The Associated Press

When O. J. Simpson played for Southern Cal in the 1960s, the game against UCLA was the most important of the season.

At that time, it had widespread significance. Not only was the Rose Bowl at stake but usually the national championship was too.

There are no such stakes this season - only the championship of Los Angeles. But to the players, it's still the most important game.

"I can't say I'd be satisfied (with the season) if I don't play against USC," said UCLA quarterback John Barnes. "One of my goals before the season was to play in the USC game."

Barnes will get his wish when he starts Saturday against a Southern Cal team with bowl designs. The Trojans are ranked No. 15 after having turned their season around. They are 6-2-1 overall and tied for second place in the Pacific-10 Conference with Stanford at 5-2.

UCLA, meanwhile, has struggled, going 5-5 overall and 2-5 in the Pac-10. The Bruins have won their last two games after losing five straight.

The Trojans are favored by eight points, but Larry Smith, 3-1-1 against UCLA since becoming Southern Cal coach in 1987, says previous games are meaningless in this rivalry.

"In a game like this, the crosstown rivalry, where many of the players have played with or against each other since the second grade or so in the same neighborhoods, the same leagues, you don't need anything else to get the players' attention this week," he said.

Southern Cal leads the series, begun in 1929 with a 76-0 victory, 34-20-7.

The USC-UCLA game is one of several featuring historic rivalries on Saturday.

Harvard and Yale play in The Game, which has become a ritual for its combatants as well as its observers. They'll play for the 109th time. Yale has a 59-41-8 record in the series, which had its hallmark game in 1968 when Harvard scored an incredible 16 points in the final minute to tie the Elis 29-29.

HHS girls try to spike state title

The Lady Whitefaces are in Austin today, participating in the state 4A volleyball tournament, meeting Austin Anderson in the semifinals at 5:45 p.m.

A Hereford victory would match them against the winner of the Red Oak-Friendswood winner for the state crown Saturday at 4:30 p.m. A loss would mean the end of the playoff trail.

Brand Sport Editor Jay Peden is in Austin to report the action as the Lady Whitefaces hope to bring home the title in the school's first trip to the final four. See the Sunday Brand for details of the first game. KPAN Radio is broadcasting the game.

Oakland's Eckersley adds MVP award, edges Puckett

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Oakland's Dennis Eckersley is ready to defend his selection as the AL Most Valuable Player to anyone who doesn't think a reliever deserves the honor.

"I may not have played nine innings every day, but I sure did grind," said Eckersley, who earned the honor by converting 51 of 54 save opportunities. "I was nervous for nine, so if that counts, I was ready every day."

The Athletics' closer, who also won the American League Cy Young Award last week, said Thursday he values his second award even more. He spent the day staying near the phone, daring to hope he would win.

"Part of me was waiting by the phone because I thought I deserved it," Eckersley said. "It's hard to say because I'm not that cool to think I deserved an MVP. But if there was any time in my whole life I thought I deserved it, this is the moment."

Eckersley, 7-1 with a 1.91 ERA, won convincingly, getting 15 of a possible 28 first-place votes and 306 points in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America. He was followed by Minnesota outfielder Kirby Puckett with 209 points, including three first-place votes, and Toronto outfielder Joe Carter with 201 points and four first-place votes.

Mark McGwire, Dave Winfield and Roberto Alomar also received first-place votes.

The 38-year-old right-hander is only the ninth player to win both the Cy Young Award and MVP honors in the same season. He joins Don Newcombe (1956), Sandy Koufax (1963), Denny McLain (1968), Bob Gibson (1968), Vida Blue (1971), Rollie Fingers (1981), Willie Hernandez (1984) and Roger Clemens (1986).

Eckersley joins Jim Konstanty (1950), Fingers and Hernandez as the only four relievers to win the MVP.

In getting the career-high 51 saves, Eckersley helped the A's win their fourth AL West title in five years. But he's still haunted by the game-tying, two-run homer he gave up to Alomar in the ninth inning of the AL playoffs' Game 4.

"I just feel I've got a lot of responsibility in front of me for last year," he said. "But (winning the MVP) does help, no doubt about it."

In the last five years, Eckersley has been successful on 220 of 246 save opportunities, establishing himself as the most dominant closer in the game's history.

He began his career as a starter with Cleveland and threw a no-hitter on Memorial Day 1977 against the California Angels. Eckersley played for Boston and Chicago, where his career waned as he struggled with alcoholism.

Eckersley, who just wanted to last long enough in the majors to get his pension, said his accomplishments have exceeded his dreams.

"The greatest things that have happened have come from playing with great teams, Oakland being where everything happened," he said.

For winning the MVP award, Eckersley receives a $100,000 bonus, bringing his 1992 income to $3.35 million. Puckett also got a $100,000 bonus.

Schoolboy playoff pairings are outlined

DALLAS (AP) - Reagan County coach Sam Harrell doesn't want his players to fear Southlake Carroll, but he knows a healthy measure of respect is necessary going into this week's playoff game against Class 3A's No. 1 team.

"On film it seems like other teams get overwhelmed and give up. We just may not have enough sense to know any better," Harrell said.

Carroll (11-0) enters Friday night's game against Reagan County (11-0) after finishing its sixth consecutive undefeated season. The Dragons are seeking their second state title in five seasons.

"We're removed from Metroplex so we know who they are, but we don't hear about their record every day and get bombarded by it," Harrell said.

Their 3A battle is one of several highly anticipated games for the area round of the playoffs. Although it's only the second of five games needed for a state title, this weekend's results should clear up the roads to the seven championships.

Several opposing coaches and other experienced observers call the Dragons a "machine-like" team. They seldom make mistakes and seem to always capitalize on the ones they force opponents to commit.

"Something has to be done to get them out of their routine. Of course, they're also good at getting you out of yours," Harrell said.

Carroll's only unknown quality is whether it can come from behind. The Dragons haven't been tested this season because they've seldom, if ever, been down.

"We hope to be right in there with them late in the third quarter," said Harrell, whose Owls overcame a 14-0 halftime deficit last week.

The bumpiest title path is in Region IV of Class 5A Division I, composed of a perennial power, a defending state champion and the class' No. 1 team entering the playoffs.

"If there's a tougher region in the nation, I wouldn't want to be in it," Huntsville coach Joe Clements said. "Every team in our region is good. I think several of them could go a long way if they were in another region."

Clement's Hornets face the No. 2 Temple Wildcats this weekend, hoping to advance to play the winner of Richardson (9-2) and Dallas Kimball (11-0), which ended the season ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press schoolboy poll.

The rest of the region includes the experienced Dallas Carter Cowboys (8-3) against Richardson Lake Highlands (10-1), and defending 5A "big school" champ Killeen (8-2) facing Nacogdoches (9-1-1).

The Kangaroos' star running back Dion Marion injured his left knee and left ankle in the season finale and missed last week's game. He stopped limping early this week but still has problem changing directions when he runs.

The "small school" Region I has defending Division II champion Odessa Permian (9-1), ranked third, playing El Paso Eastwood (10-1), with that winner advancing to the regional round against either Lewisville (9-1-1) or South Grand Prairie (8-2-1).

Other Region I games include No. 8 El Paso Irvin (11-0) against Amarillo (10-1) and No. 7 Fort Worth Dunbar (10-1) plays Lewisville Marcus (9-2).

Two games highlight the regional round of the "big school" title hunt.

Sixth-ranked Jersey Village, which was ranked No. 1 until losing its season finale, faces Alief Elsik's top-rated defense and Kalief Muhammad, the Houston-area rushing leader.

Also, No. 4 Converse Judson (10-1) plays crosstown foe San Antonio Jay (9-2).

The feature game in the lower classes is in Class 2A's Region IV, where No. 1 Freer (10-0) meets No. 6 Refugio (11-0) for the right to face the winner of Blanco (10-1) and No. 3 Schulenburg (10-1), the state's defending champion.

Whoever outlasts that pack could face No. 7 Universal City Randolph (9-1) in the quarterfinals.

Freer and Refugio split non-district games the last two seasons and this is their first meeting in 1992.

A&M Consolidated has gotten back to its winning routine since a season-opening loss. The defending 4A champs, ranked third, put their 10-game streak on the line against No. 5 Bay City (9-1).

"They've got a very explosive ball club," Consolidated coach Ross Rogers said. "They have great speed and two quarterbacks who throw the ball well. Defensively, they've got as much quickness as we've seen all year."

A&M Consolidated is seeking its fourth consecutive trip to the semifinals. To do so, the Tigers may also need to go through Jasper, one of five remaining undefeated 4A teams.

Class 4A's most difficult region is likely IV, where No. 4 Gregory-Portland (10-0) plays Floresville (8-3) for the right to face either No. 8 Austin LBJ (10-1) or Hays Consolidated (9-2).

That winner could face onetime No. 1 Austin Westlake (11-0), which plays Austin Travis (8-2).

Undefeated D'Hanis will try to prevent a No. 1 vs. No. 2 matchup in Class A. It faces top-ranked Bartlett (10-0) with the winner likely to next play second-ranked Runge (10-0). Runge plays Agua Dulce (5-5).

Third-ranked Iola (11-0) could be awaiting one of those teams if it gets past Center Point (9-1) and the winner of Flatonia (6-3) and Ben Bolt (7-2).

Oilers face road games

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

Forget the House of Pain. The Houston Oilers are looking to make big strides toward the NFL playoffs in a place that always has been painful for them - the road.

In the midst of an 11-day stretch that takes them to three difficult stadiums for visitors, the Oilers need a good trip to keep them in playoff contention. They got it started well with a 17-13 victory at Minnesota last weekend, but lost quarterback Warren Moon with a broken arm.

"We do seem to always be climbing some obstacle," safety Bubba McDowell said. "I thought we got over the hill at Minnesota but then Warren gets hurt."

"There's always something taking us where we don't want to go. Now we've got to play again like always, when there's something in the way of us being the team that we want to be."

Houston is at Miami this Sunday, then plays at Detroit on Thanksgiving Day. At 6-4, the Oilers are one game in back of Pittsburgh in the AFC Central.

If they can avoid being tentative, the Oilers could become a dangerous team, according to Cody Carlson, who replaces Moon for at least the next three weeks.

"Part of our problem is that as a team, we're afraid to make a mistake," says Carlson. "I have to guard against that. If I think I have to be perfect, all of a sudden I'm playing with one hand around my throat."

The Dolphins are 7-3, one game in back of Buffalo in the AFC East. They lost to the Bills last Monday night.

"We could be a lot better off," Dan Marino said, "but we're certainly not out of it."

Jackson sparks Clipper's win; Spurs beat Dallas

By The Associated Press

It was just another game for Mark Jackson - until the game started.

Jackson, the point guard traded by the New York Knicks to the Los Angeles Clippers before the season, led his new team against his former mates Thursday night. He was at the center of a mini-maelstrom as he guided the Clippers to a 101-91 victory.

Was Jackson excited about the matchup?

"At least I wasn't coming into the game," he said. "It was just another game than. But when it got down to crunch time, the emotions took over and it really became inspirational and something that we wanted - not individually, but collectively."

Jackson, dealt to the Clippers in a three-team trade that brought Charles Smith, Doc Rivers and Bo Kimble to New York, had 13 points and nine assists for the Clippers, whose fourth victory in five games also snapped the Knicks' six-game winning streak at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. New York lost its third in a row on a West Coast swing despite 19 points and 13 rebounds by Patrick Ewing.

Jackson also coerced Knicks guard Greg Anthony into an unsportsmanlike conduct technical foul, Anthony later picked up a flagrant foul against Ron Harper, and Jackson had some words with John Starks at the Knicks' bench after Starks tossed some water at him.

In other games, it was Chicago 108, Seattle 99; Orlando 126, Golden State 102; Denver 99, Detroit 87; New Jersey 108, Atlanta 101; Houston 99, Cleveland 92; and San Antonio 123, Dallas 95.

Clippers 101, Knicks 91

At Los Angeles, Danny Manning scored 27 points and Harper added 22 as the Clippers ended a 12-game losing streak to the Knicks. Trailing by a point at the start of the fourth quarter, the Clippers used a 15-1 burst to take charge.

Jackson sparked the win.

Bulls 108, SuperSonics 99

At the Seattle Kingdome, the Sonics couldn't provide many thrills for a crowd of 37,401. Instead, the Bulls were inspired.

Michael Jordan scored 35 points and Scottie Pippen chipped in 21 points, nine rebounds and eight assists.

Magic 126, Warriors 102

At Orlando, the Shaq Show continued. Rookie Shaquille O'Neal, taking full advantage of Golden State's lack of size, had 29 points and 16 rebounds. The victory was the fifth in seven games for the Atlantic Division-leading Magic, off to the best start in the franchise's four-year history. O'Neal, Nick Anderson (30 points) and Dennis Scott (25) have been combining for an average of almost 71 points per game.

Nuggets 99, Pistons 87

At Denver, Dikembe Mutombo had 23 points and 14 rebounds and Denver shot above 50 percent for the first time this season as it broke a five-game slide.

The Pistons played without Isiah Thomas and Dennis Rodman, both out with injuries, and lost their third in a row.

Nets 108, Hawks 101

The Nets won for the first time in Atlanta since 1985, a span of 16 defeats. Derrick Coleman and Sam Bowie sparked a late 13-0 run as New Jersey ended a 16-game losing streak in Atlanta.

Coleman finished with 24 points, two more than Bowie. Coleman also had 11 rebounds and two steals.

Rockets 99, Cavaliers 92

At Houston, Sleepy Floyd got a rare start and used the opportunity to score 28 points, including nine of the last 11 by the Rockets.

Hakeem Olajuwon also had 28 points, along with 20 rebounds and five assists.

Mark Price led the Cavs with 24 points

Spurs 123, Mavericks 95

At San Antonio, the Spurs beat Dallas for the seventh straight time as Sean Elliott scored 26 points and David Robinson added 19. San Antonio shot a season-high 53 percent from the field.

Derek Harper's 24 points paced the Mavericks.

Southwest Outdoors

It's happens every winter. The first blue norther roars in from the Arctic wastelands and suddenly the old car develops a series of problems. This year could be different; you could be ready for those frosty mornings.

If you can still find a full-service gas station, it is like an oasis to a thirsty traveler. Shadetree Sam, my trusty mechanic, recommends the following items be checked before winter tightens her icy grip.

Battery--Check each cell because a bad cell waits until that extra-cold morning to finally quit.

Tires--Inflate to the recommended pressure and check for any uneven tire wear or traces of shiny steel belts. Investing in a tire rotation, balance and alignment is cheap insurance and prolongs the life of your tires. Find your spare tire and check the pressure. Now is also a good time to see if all the parts of the jack are intact.

Antifreeze--All new cars now use antifreeze as a summer coolant, so most cars are in good shape. Winters in our region rarely see overnight lows below zero but antifreeze is cheap compared to a new block. Shadetree says: "Protect down to minus 20 degrees." Make sure that the windshield water is refilled with proper fluid.

Belts and hoses--Visually check them for any cracks or signs of wear. If you do any out-of-town driving, an extra fan belt is better than money in the bank.

Oil and air filters--Change both according to the owner's manual. If you plan to keep that car an extra year, an oil change is your best investment.

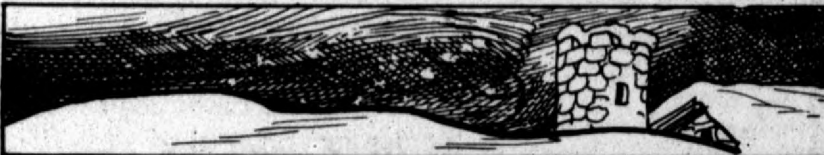

Fluid levels--Steering, brake and transmission fluids all need to be checked. If you don't know the source of any new leaks on the garage floor, use a white paper towel to present the evidence to your service agent.

Mel's bargain of the year--The following emergency supplies will fit in a corner of the trunk, can save your life during a blast of arctic air, and they cost less than $10: an aluminum-coated plastic space blanket ($2 at discount stores), six candles, an old flashlight with new batteries, 3/4 gallon of water in a plastic jug, a dozen food bars, a pack or two of safety matches, an old coat and an old blanket.

Good news--All my camping buddies are now non-smokers.

Bad news--We occasionally forget to bring any matches to start our stoves, lanterns or campfires. Not having any matches on a camping trip is inconvenient, but not having any matches while stranded on the side of the road can be cause for real concern.

Mel Phillips is a ward-winning member of the Texas Outdoor Writers Association. He is an avid hunter, tournament fisherman and host of a Wednesday evening talk show on KGNC TalkRadio 71.

In old Scotland it was believed if February 12-14th were stormy, there would be good weather the rest of the year.

Fire safety tips

Nobody wants to think about disaster, but planning can be the difference between safety and tragedy.

Every family should have a plan in case fire breaks out in the home, suggests the United Food and Commercial Workers Union. Fire departments recommend planning an escape route, picking a place outside to meet and practicing a fire drill.

Smoke detectors should be installed on every level of the home. Batteries should be replaced once a year, and checked on occasion. Fire extinguishers can be useful for small fires. Don't use water on grease fires on the stove; clamp a pot lid on the pan and turn off the burner.

If the house is on fire, get out and stay out. If you can't get out, feel the door of the room. If it's hot or you smell smoke, find another way out, or go to the window and signal for help.

Smoke can kill. It's a gas and rises. Drop to the floor and get below the smoke.

CHURCH

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The children who have been participating in the Wednesday night Succoth Booth planning will present a program to all children and parents Sunday morning. The program will begin at 9:45 a.m. during the Sunday school hour in the fellowship hall. Live drama, dancing, and songs will be part of the service, along with a Thanksgiving Litany to be shared with all persons attending. Children are asked to bring canned goods for the Succoth Booth to be given to Operation Good Shepherd Food Pantry.

The Fellowship Sunday School Class will have its Thanksgiving Dinner at noon Sunday in the fellowship hall. Also, members are asked to attend the Community Thanksgiving Service at 6 p.m. Sunday at the Church of the Nazarene.

An all-important Church Conference, conducted by District Superintendent Albert Lindley, will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday in the sanctuary.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print the enclosed article again. I clipped it years ago. Someone in my home needs to read it--Another Turned Stomach in S.C.

DEAR TURNED STOMACH: With pleasure. Many people need to see it again, especially some of those sports heroes who are setting a very poor example by chewing and spitting on TV. Here it is:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For years, you've had the courage to speak out on subjects that were sure to anger some folks. Here's another one--chewing tobacco.

My husband feels very pious about having given up smoking, but now he is almost never without a chunk of tobacco in his mouth. He claims it is harmless, but I can't believe a person can soak his gums and teeth in that awful stuff night and day without doing some damage to his system.

I admit I have strong feelings against chewing tobacco because it looks so unappetizing. I can't stand to talk to a person who has tobacco juice running out of the corners of his mouth and spits every few minutes. When the stuff spatters, I become nauseated.

What do doctors say about this? Is there any evidence that chewing tobacco produces undesirable side effects?--Turned Stomach in the Carolinas

DEAR TURNED: The incidence of tongue, gum and mouth cancer is much higher among those who chew tobacco than those who don't. Gastritis is another bonus for chewers of the brown stuff. There is irrefutable evidence that tobacco, in any form, is bad news and anyone who thinks differently is kidding himself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for "Dead Serious in L.A.," the person who confessed that stubbornness was the trait that ruined his life.

Couldn't many of the world's problems--racial hatred, religious intolerance, self-righteous wars, parent/child fights--be attributed to that same characteristic? Whenever a person or a group latches onto an idea and closes the mind to all other possibilities, conflict is inevitable.

When I was 17, I wrote a poem to remind myself to reflect on my fallibility. It helped me a lot and maybe it will help "Dead Serious." It was originally published anonymously in the May 1972 Lindbergh High School paper in St. Louis.--Nancy Gates Meyer, Buffalo Grove, Ill.

DEAR N.G.M.: Of all faults, stubbornness may be the most self-defeating. The Old Testament calls it "stick-neckedness." If people only knew that to change one's mind is not a sign of weakness, but of strength. Here's your problem.

I Might Be Wrong
Age, skin color, sex and creed, I know, Put me on top, the rest below. Those unlike me don't count. Although--I might be wrong. Apologize? Why? All the blame Is surely his, and so the shame. Let HIM ask pardon. All the same--I might be wrong. I must not change. I can't upset The way I've always done things. Let it stay the way it's always been. And yet--I might be wrong.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been married for 15 years to my high school sweetheart. We get along well and have never had a blowout that we couldn't resolve before going to bed. I've never felt threatened even though "Victor" is very good-looking and women tend to fawn over him.

Yesterday I received an anonymous newspaper clipping that was upsetting. It contained the following "hints" a woman should look for if she suspects her husband is fooling around.

When I read the article, I confess some of the clues sounded uncomfortably familiar. Am I getting paranoid? Is someone trying to make trouble? Here are the clues. Please tell me what you think.

1. Diminished sexual activity at home or just the opposite. Diminished could mean he is exhausted from putting out elsewhere. The opposite could mean he is trying to head off suspicion by being unusually energetic.
 2. A sudden variety in style. Where did he learn those things?
 3. Credit card receipts from restaurants and hotels that are foreign to you.
 4. When you confront him, he accuses you of being paranoid. Favorite line: "What's wrong with you? You're the one with the problem."
 5. Out of the blue (and uncharacteristic) offers to walk the dog, massage your feet, telephone your mother, etc. These little niceties are known as "guilt gifts."
 6. If he should show a sudden interest in doing little errands on weekends or evenings, he may be looking for an excuse to get out of the house and get to a pay phone.
 7. An increase in night work or out-of-town trips.
 8. If suddenly he is always broke or doesn't know where his money went -- this could be a dead giveaway.
- How about it, Ann. What do you think?--A Little Bit Nervous in Newark

DEAR NERVOUS IN NEWARK: Unless you see a definite pattern in four out of these eight "warnings," I'd say ignore it. And please don't let your imagination work overtime. The anonymous sender could be a serious troublemaker. They usually are.

Hints from Heloise
 Dear Heloise: Rabbits make wonderful apartment pets. My rabbit, Bugsy, is tons of fun! I let him run loose when I'm home so he can get some good exercise.
 I would like to offer some words of advice to others who may do this. Rabbits are very curious, so keep all closets and cupboard doors closed. Keep the lid down on the commode; they can jump on it and fall in. Rabbits will chew electrical wires. You can cover the wires with a clear, flexible tubing, which you can buy at any hardware store. This will prevent electrical shock to your rabbit as well as the danger of an unsafe cord in your home.
 I don't want to discourage anyone from getting a rabbit; I love mine. Make your house safe for your rabbit. The affection you get in return from it is "14-carrot." — Peg Maynard, Danvers, Maine
CONTACT-LENS HOLDER
 Dear Heloise: I came up with the greatest idea for carrying my favorite perfume in my purse or suitcase. I was hesitant to carry a small bottle because I worried about it opening. I used an extra contact-lens holder and soaked two small cotton balls with the perfume and put them into the holders. The cotton stays moist and is perfect for dabbing on a little perfume anytime.
 It closes tightly and can be kept in my purse or suitcase without worrying about it opening. — P.K.C., San Antonio, Texas

CALIFORNIA VIRGINIA
 Of the approximately one trillion dollars in federal aid distributed in fiscal 1990, California got the largest amount, $116 billion, but Virginia got the greatest amount per capita; $4,500.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

BENEVOLENCE TO THE STRANGER

THERE WERE CERTAIN CUSTOMS REGARDING STRANGERS AMONG THE HEBREWS THAT WERE CONSIDERED UNWRITTEN LAW IN REGARD TO THEIR SAFETY AND WELL BEING. A MAN IN A STRANGE TOWN, NEEDING LODGING FOR THE NIGHT, WOULD, BY CUSTOM, SEAT HIMSELF ON THE GROUND OF THE MARKETPLACE OR THE MAIN THOROUGHFARE AND WAIT FOR ONE OF THE NATIVES TO ISSUE AN INVITATION TO STAY THE NIGHT. THIS WAS INVARIABLY DONE SO THAT THE STRANGER WOULD NOT BECOME PREY FOR THIEVES. AN ILLUSTRATION OF THIS IS TO BE FOUND IN GEN. 24, WHERE ABRAHAM'S STEWARD IS SENT TO FIND A BRIDE FOR ABRAHAM'S SON, ISAAC, AND IS GREETED BY LABAN WHO EXCLAIMS, "COME IN THOU BLESSED OF THE LORD; WHEREFOR STANDEST THOU WITHOUT? FOR I HAVE PREPARED THE HOUSE, AND ROOM FOR THE CAMELS."
