EPA eases pesticide requirements

By PAUL RAEBURN
 AP Science Editor

The Environmental Protection Agency is telling critics of its decision to ease guidelines for pesticide safety testing that the change means more pesticides can be checked and more potential hazards found.

An internal memorandum obtained by The Associated Press said the federal agency is doing away with most field tests on the effects of pesticides on birds and fish.

Environmentalists call the move a concession to the pesticide industry and say it could hurt humans. They contend the agency should have sought public comment before changing its guidelines.

"This is basically a post-election, pre-Christmas gift for the pesticide industry," said Marc Smolonsky of the Center for Resource Economics in Washington, D.C.

"Given that this is a relatively dramatic change, it would be my view that this should have been brought to a larger audience," said Jay Feldman, executive director of the National Coalition Against the Misuse of Pesticides.

He said it was inappropriate for the lame-duck Bush administration to make any changes in environmental policy, because many EPA officials may be "poised to move to industry."

The Oct. 29 memorandum was obtained by environmentalists and given to the AP.

The memorandum's author, Assistant EPA Administrator Linda Fisher, was at an agency meeting in Kansas City and could not be reached for comment, her office said. James Jones, an adviser to Fisher, denied there were any political considerations in making the change.

"The effort was undertaken in May 1992, when President Bush was ahead in the polls, so any political motivation is not true," Jones said.

The memorandum says that in lieu of field tests, decisions on pesticide approvals will be made on the basis of laboratory tests and computer analyses. Field tests on birds and aquatic animals will not be required "except in unusual circumstances."

Clinton promises to keep in touch

WASHINGTON (AP) - President-elect Clinton is making the rounds of official Washington after discussing the state of the world with President Bush and his new hometown with residents of a working-class neighborhood.

"I'll do my best not to get out of touch," Clinton promised during a walking tour Wednesday of a predominantly black business district in northwest Washington several miles from the White House.

He said he visited the Georgia Avenue corridor of small shops and restaurants to dramatize his commitment to helping inner cities and small businesses and to demonstrate that Washington was "not just government buildings."

Visiting Washington on a two-day get-acquainted call, the Arkansas governor planned to cement his relationship with congressional Democratic leaders while reaching out to Republicans in a series of meetings today in Capitol Hill.

The president-elect already has vowed to work closely with leaders to smooth the way for the economic measures he is expected to submit soon after taking office Jan. 20.

He planned a breakfast session with Democrats, a luncheon with leaders of both parties and several one-on-one meetings with individual members of Congress, including Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

Presumably, they'll talk about the tax aspects of the economic package Clinton stressed during his campaign.

Clinton's plan includes a modest middle-income tax cut and an increase in the maximum tax rate from 31 percent to 36 percent on households with earnings over $200,000 a year.

Clinton also planned private sessions with Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., House Minority Leader Robert Michel, R-Ill.; Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Robert Byrd, D-W.Va.; House Energy and Commerce Committee Chairman John Dingell, D-Mich.; and House Budget Committee Chairman Leon Panetta, D-Calif.

Later today, he was getting a military briefing from Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Powell has criticized Clinton's pledge to end the ban on homosexuals in the military.

The president-elect's first stop in the nation's capital on Wednesday was a courtesy call at the White House, where he met with Bush for nearly two hours in a private Oval Office session.

Afterwards, Clinton told reporters the meeting focused on a few domestic issues and on nearly a dozen world problem areas, including Russia and the other former Soviet republics, Bosnia, Somalia and the Middle East.

"It was a terrific meeting," Clinton said. "He gave me a lot of insights. The American people would have been pleased."

Bush spokesman Marlin Fitzwater issued a statement calling the talks "warm and informative."

Clinton was wrapping up his whirlwind visit to the nation's capital tonight at the Georgetown mansion of Democratic benefactor Pamela Harriman.

On Wednesday night, he was the guest at a dinner party thrown by Washington lawyer and transition chief Vernon Jordan. He also went to a fund-raising reception for the Children's Defense Fund - the advocacy group his wife, Hillary, once led.

Thousands of people strained against police lines for a glimpse of Clinton as he walked from shop to shop along Georgia Avenue on Wednesday talking to shop owners and their families. He shook hands with many in the crowd.

Grand jury indicts ten

Nine indictments against 10 people were handed up by the 222nd District Grand Jury here Wednesday.

Leroy Castillo and Joe Manuel Lopez were charged with attempted murder in connection with the Oct. 17 shooting of Michael Herrera.

Jeffrey Ray Spence was charged on two counts of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon in connection with a threatening and assaulting Jerry Don Townsend and Ryan Massey on Oct. 12.

Also charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon were Lucky Dominguez and Margarito Fortuna. The Oct. 28 incident involved the assault of Noel Andrade. Roger Padilla, also known as Roger Salas, was charged with aggravated assault for an Aug. 26 incident in which Jose Hernandez was struck with a bat.

Felony driving while intoxicated charges were handed up against four persons-- Abraham Alvarado, Romualdo Castro, Benito Juan Castaneda, and Vicente Perez Diaz.

Unnamed indictments were handed up against three persons still at large.

Morris takes over as Land Bank CEO

John Morris, former regional vice president of the Farm Credit Bank of Texas, Austin, was introduced as the chief executive officer of Westex Federal Land Bank Association during an open house Wednesday morning at the Hereford branch office.

The Westex association is headquartered in Dimmitt and has branch offices in Hereford and Tulia. Morris will be in the Dimmitt office but will spend time in Hereford and Tulia. Ed Crawford is a vice president in charge of the Hereford office, located at 709 N. Main St.

Roy Carlson, chairman of the association board, and George Turrentine, director, helped host the open house and introduced Morris to interested farmers and businessmen here Wednesday. Morris has been with the farm credit system for 20 years and has served as CEO in various associations for 15 years.

Reared in Sonora, Morris is a graduate of Texas A&M. He and his wife, Connie, have four children--three of them in college and a second grader. They will reside in Dimmitt.

As regional vice president in Austin, Morris worked with nine Federal Land Bank associations, of which Dimmitt was included. Crawford is currently making appointments in the Hereford office only on Wednesdays, but Morris said that schedule may be changed after the first of the year.

Morris said the association has a number of loan products, ranging from a variable rate to a number of fixed-rate programs. Loans range from 1 to 15 years and interest rates are currently from 7.1 to 9.45 percent. The rates change weekly, based on the money market.

Carlson and Turrentine are association directors for Deaf Smith County. Swisher County also has two directors and Castro County has one.

Son's arrest shocks friends

HOUSTON (AP) - Friends and neighbors say they are stunned by the arrest of a man who is charged with killing and burning the bodies of his parents, two sisters and brothers-in-law.

"It's just utterly unbelievable," Mary Grass, a neighbor of the victims, said Wednesday.

Robert Otis Coulson, 24, the only surviving member of the slain Spring Branch family, remained jailed without bond Wednesday. Police said he has refused to talk to investigators.

Coulson was arrested Tuesday night at a local hotel after his roommate and alleged accomplice - apparently bothered by a guilty conscience - gave a statement to Houston police about the killings, authorities said.

Otis Bullard Coulson, 66; his wife, Mary, 54; their daughters, Sarah Lucinda Coulson, 21, and Robin Wentworth, 25; and Robin's husband, Richard Robert Wentworth, 27, were discovered dead Friday evening at the elder Coulsons' west Houston home.

The five victims were suffocated before their bound and gagged bodies were set on fire, but police said they have not determined exactly how they were killed.

Teens fear future, violence

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's brightest high school students are gloomy about many of the same domestic ills that drove their parents to vote in record numbers this election - their economic futures, violence and AIDS.

The 23rd Annual Survey of High Achievers, released Wednesday, found nearly one-third of the students had considered suicide, more than 40 percent had experienced violence in schools and nearly half had dealt with pressure to have sex.

It also found more than three-quarters were more concerned about contracting AIDS than they had been a year ago, while more than half worried that their generation would fare worse economically than their parents.

"If large numbers of our most accomplished young people feel this way, it spells trouble for the entire generation," said Paul Krouse, publisher of "Who's Who Among American High School Students," which conducted the survey.

Krouse said the findings portray a "generation that is sexually aware, politically indifferent, personally depressed, economically anxious and fearing for their safety."

Educators said that, while the survey demonstrates considerable gloom among students, much is likely to be attributed to the typical anxieties of adolescence combined with the heavy attention to the nation's domestic woes this year, which helped draw a record 104 million Americans to the polls Nov. 3.

"Adolescence is a time of transition and change... that always bears out these sort of concerns, but I think everything has been heightened by the social and economic circumstances of the last three or four years," Bob Hochstein of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching in Princeton, N.J., said in an interview.

Added Marilyn Monahan of the National Education Association, the nation's largest teachers' union:

"The survey confirms for us that we're not talking around these kids, that they're picking it up, talking about themselves and are just as fearful about the direction of the nation."

"It spells trouble for entire generation."

Krouse's publication sent out questionnaires to 5,000 students nationwide with A or B averages asking for their views on their future, sex, politics, suicide, violence, drugs and alcohol. There were 2,092 respondents: 73 percent were female and 81 percent were white.

Among the most poignant findings, Krouse said, was a strong fear among even the brightest students about "downward mobility."

Fifty-four percent said they expected to have more difficulty than their parents in starting a career, 58 percent expected more difficulty in buying a house and 60 percent anticipated more difficulty in affording an education.

"If our best and brightest young people are concerned about their future opportunities, one can only imagine the pessimism running through the entire generation," Krouse said.

The survey also found 78 percent of students were more concerned about getting AIDS than a year ago and 27 percent said they would get tested for the disease if schools provided it confidentiality.

But 41 percent said they were likely to have sex even if a condom, the key to AIDS prevention, was not available.

Forty-five percent reported feeling considerable pressure to have sex and 26 percent described themselves as sexually active. Among the sexually active, 43 percent reported having sex before age 16.

Governor defends increases

HOUSTON (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards defended nearly doubling the number of employees on her office staff, but admitted some cuts need to be made.

Richards said Wednesday that her office "has been a far more activist office than probably in a long time" and that the Legislature has given her more responsibilities.

"When they give you a job to do, you have got to have the people to do it," she told reporters.

But, she added, "Beyond that, I think that we need to cut."

The Houston Post reported that the gubernatorial payroll has grown from 185 employees as Republican Gov. Bill Clements stepped down to 337 workers as of Nov. 10.

State Rep. Tom Craddick, R-Midland, and chairman of the House Republican Caucus, said the increase in Richards' staff was outrageous.

"She's going to have to look at home before she talks about other people trying to cut," Craddick said. "The first thing she needs to do is get rid of some of her staff and get down to where the rest of us are."

Among other top state agencies, The Post reported that Attorney General Dan Morales' office has expanded nearly 32 percent since in January 1991. State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison has expanded her office by 16 percent and Comptroller John Sharp, 14 percent.

Sharp's office said most of its increase was due to taking on the responsibilities of overseeing the state lottery.

Two agencies have reduced personnel since January 1991, according to the state comptroller's office. Land Commissioner Gary Mauro's office is down nearly 4 percent to 614, and Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry's office has dropped nearly 10 percent to 533.

Jones said most field tests on animals provide little useful data and add considerably to the time required to test new pesticides and those already in use.

The change will cut approval times from about six years to about three, he said.

"It's a fundamental shift in the way the program has done business," he said.

Despite the importance of the move, he said, "There's not a legal requirement that we get public comment at this stage."

He acknowledged, in the face of criticism, that that might have been a mistake. "That's something we're clearly going to have to consider," he said.

About 700 active pesticide ingredients are in use in the United States, Jones said.

Volunteers recognized at auxiliary meeting

Hours of service by volunteers in King's Manor Auxiliary were recognized and officers, headed by Ruby Stevenson as president, were installed at the auxiliary meeting Tuesday in the Lamar Room of King's Manor.

To serve with Stevenson in office the next year are Virginia Garner, vice president; Sue Coleman, secretary; and Carmen Angel, treasurer. Rev. Lanny Wheeler, chaplain at the Manor, conducted the installation. Huff, retiring president, was recognized for her leadership the past term.

Members voted to donate $100 to help purchase new campus lights for Christmas decoration and an equal amount for a new Christmas tree to be placed in the Lamar Room.

Bea Noland, Manor activities director, thanked members for the varied assistance they give during the year as a service to Manor residents. She presented a gift to Huff from the craft room where articles made by Manor residents are on sale.

Reports were heard from the following committees: Sunshine cart committee which takes articles needed by the residents to the rooms of those not able to go shopping; the transportation committee; telephone committee; birthday card committee; and those who coordinate the service of various Hereford organizations in staging birthday parties each month for residents of Westgate.

Coffee was served as members arrived.

The next quarterly meeting, to which any interested volunteers are invited, will be at 9:30 a.m. on the third Tuesday of February 1993.

Officers nominated by E.H. club members

Cultural Extension Homemakers Club officers were submitted for nomination by Jewell Hargrave when the women met Nov. 13 at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center with President Perry Keyes presiding.

The following were nominated to serve for 1993: President, Perry Keyes; vice president, Nell Pope; secretary, Fannie Townsend; treasurer, Edna Marnell; reporter, Wilma Goetsch; council delegate, Jewell Hargrave; historian, Byrdie Fellers; and cheer committee, Vernis Parsons. The slate was voted on and approved.

Also, during the business meeting, Hargrave reported on the club's food booth to be featured this week during the Hereford Senior Citizens' Festival of Trees celebration. She requested donations and also reminded members of the council Christmas party Dec. 7 and the Westway Extension Homemakers Club's annual bazaar Dec. 12.

Secretary Townsend read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved, and Keyes read correspondence from the Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center inviting the group to attend its open house Nov. 30-Dec. 5. Goetsch reminded the women of the club's holiday party and gift exchange to be held at noon Dec. 11 at the Hereford Community Center.

Townsend gave the telephone committee report and Naomi Hare and Parsons reported sending six cards. Keyes presented the council delegate report.

Make apple-head puppets

My family has enjoyed the wonderful variety of fresh, crisp locally grown apples this past month. We've lugged home bags full from markets and orchards. Already, most of the apples have been eaten, except for a few that have rolled to the back of the frig, hidden behind the mayo jar and pickles. No longer suitable to eat, these soft and bruised apples are perfect for drying, to use for creative puppet-making with my kids.

Here's how to dry apples:
-In a bowl, stir together 1 cup reconstituted lemon juice and 1 tablespoon of salt.

-Peel and core several apples, trimming off any bruises. Soak the apples in the lemon mixture for several minutes and then remove and pat them dry. Insert a wooden popsicle stick, wooden skewer or pencil into the bottom of each apple. With adult assistance, cut out eyes, nose and a mouth on each apple. For best results, make the cuts and slits a bit exaggerated in size.

-Place the apples in a warm 200 F. oven for 4-5 hours with the oven door slightly open during the drying process. The apples will become hard and shrink as they dry, changing their shape and form. If the apples aren't completely dry, place the sticks and skewers in long-necked bottles with the apples on top of the bottles. Let them set in a dry place for a day or two.

-When the apples are completely dry, cover the sticks with fabric scraps, ribbons and buttons to create bodies and clothing for the apple head creatures.

-Present an apple-head puppet show by holding onto the sticks to maneuver the characters.

Helpful stocking stuffers

What's a perfect holiday gift for the person who has everything? Audio or video cassettes as well as blank computer diskettes for personal computers can make great stocking stuffers.

Blank audio cassettes can be used to record music, lectures, meetings or dictation.

Blank video tape cassettes offer limitless possibilities for any home recording library. Popular uses include:

- taping favorite television programs or movies for later viewing;
- taping historic sporting events;
- creating a family video album of weddings, holidays, birthdays, vacations, and graduations.

Diskettes also called floppy disks, are by far the most widely used storage units for computers. They come in two sizes, high or low density:

- five and one-quarter inches
 - three and one-half inches
- Be sure to give the size and density that fits the computer disk drive of your computer whiz.

Blank tapes and disks or blank media, as they are called in the consumer electronics industry - could help you get through your gift list in record time.

Sand-bubble crabs absorb oxygen through disks on each of their 10 legs.

LONDON (AP) - Some Royal Air Force pilots learned that Princess Diana enjoys proving doubters wrong.

After Diana was told Wednesday that some people questioned whether she would squeeze into a fighter jet, she did just that. And she appeared to enjoy it, despite the discomforts of wearing a skirt in the cockpit.

Diana, honorary air commodore of the base in Cambridgeshire, north of London, took the controls of the Harrier GR7 jump jet during a visit to Wittering Royal Air Force Base. Squadron Leader Mike Harwood said he challenged the princess.

Lt. Thomas E. Selfridge became the first airplane fatality in 1908 when a propeller of his plane broke on a bracing wire.

Lady Whitefaces know what they'll face in Austin

By JAY PEDEEN
Sports Editor

After the Lady Whitefaces' emotional win over Dumas in the regional finals Saturday, it was hard to concentrate on more volleyball this week, even with the Class 4A state tournament coming up Friday and Saturday.

"We spent Monday just watching film from Saturday. At that point, we still couldn't stop them from smiling." Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said before practice Wednesday. "(Tuesday) we worked out hard, and I want this to be another hard workout."

The Lady Whitefaces won't be going blindly into their first state tournament. Reeh was able to gather a scouting report from the coaching grapevine on Austin Anderson (28-9), their opponent in the semi-final match Friday.

"(Anderson) played Pleasanton in the regional finals," Reeh said. "The match took approximately 32 minutes. They aced Pleasanton 15 times."

That suggests either that Anderson is really good or that Pleasanton really shouldn't have been there. The Lady Whitefaces find out which at 5:45 p.m. Friday in Burger Center in Austin.

"Their middles are real big," Reeh said, mentioning 5-foot-11 Susan Crisman. "The core of their offense is their middles. They like to hit back to our right. They can hit some sharp angles because of their height."

That tells the team what to expect on defense. Reeh also has an offensive game plan.

"Teams that have had success against them have hit at their setter," she said. "If you make their setter take the hit, that makes the middle sometimes have to set, and that throws them out of their offense."

"We'll test them out by trying a variety of attacks. We'll have to make adjustments quickly to what their strengths are."

If Hereford wins Friday, they take on the winner between Red Oak (38-2) and Friendswood (25-9). Red Oak, a state semi-finalist last season, owns a win over Amarillo High in the Arlington Classic in September. Amarillo High, which is in Austin for the Class 5A tournament, beat Hereford three times in three meetings this season.

Red Oak is located twenty miles south of Dallas. Friendswood is halfway between Houston and Galveston. Austin Anderson is, of course in Austin. All three surely have plenty of experience against good 5A teams, but so does Hereford with AHS, Tascosa and Coronado.

Hereford is two wins away from a state championship, but Reeh said the players are not showing the pressure. The team was not expected to get anywhere near this far, so the girls have felt through the playoffs that they have nothing to lose.

"I hope we can stay just as loose," she said. "I'm sure when we get down there nerves will come into effect. We need to have the same attitude we've had through the playoffs."

"The key is how quickly we adjust to what they attack us with. I think we can rely on our defense a lot. If we keep digging hits, maybe we'll frustrate their hitters a little."

Bonds named National League MVP

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) - Reluctantly, Barry Bonds attended a news conference called to announce he'd won his second National League Most Valuable Player award in three years.

Reluctantly, because it got in the way of a workout.

"How many ballplayers have started their intense workout program right now?" Bonds' father, Bobby, wondered Wednesday. "And he's been MVP two of the last three years."

"And he's started it. He's been talking about it since Monday. On Monday, he was saying, 'I've got to get ready for the season.' Like it starts next week. I once watched one of his winter workouts and I thought he was crazy, doing that. After the year that he had, I didn't think he was crazy."

The elder Bonds was a proud father as his son became the 10th player to win more than one NL MVP, joining such Hall of Famers as Stan Musial, Willie Mays and Ernie Banks.

And Barry wants more. "I want to do it again," Bonds said of the MVP award at the office of his agent, Dennis Gilbert. "I'm 28. I want to be the first to do it four times."

Bonds, a free agent, was an easy winner over Atlanta's Terry Pendleton, receiving 18 of a possible 24 first-place votes in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Bonds finished with 304 points, followed by Pendleton with 232 points, including four first-place votes, and San Diego's Gary Sheffield with two first-place votes and 204 points.

"I think this is probably the most important one because this one I'm giving to my mom. She deserves it," Bonds said of the award.

Hereford resident nearly wins race

Hereford's Randy Williams took second in his division in the National Hot Rod Association's Southwest Bracket Championship Nov. 6 at Texas Raceway Park in Kennedale.

There were more than 150 cars going for a $40,000 purse in the Super Pro class. Williams was beaten out by Jo Nickoson by two-thousandths of a second.

Lions hold shoot

The Easter Lions Club will be hosting a turkey shoot from 1-5 p.m. Nov. 22.

Bullard kills

Hereford's Erin Bullard sends a hit over Dumas' Angie Swimmer (32) and Laura Tatum (34) Saturday in Amarillo. If the Lady Whitefaces win two matches at the state tournament Friday and Saturday, they are champions in Class 4A.

Expansion teams won't threaten in '93

NEW YORK (AP) - Maybe the Colorado Rockies and Florida Marlins will be terrible, after all.

The big names stayed put in Tuesday's expansion draft, while the Rockies and Marlins chose little names and no-names.

"We don't think we're going to win a pennant with the team we have," Marlins' general manager Dave Dombrowski said. "But that wasn't our philosophy going in. We think we have a bright future."

Just not a winning one in 1993. Florida's prospective pitching rotation of Jack Armstrong, Pat Rapp, Dave Weathers and Scott Chiamparino has a combined career record of 34-51.

Colorado went for players with slightly more big league experience, but also won't challenge anyone with this cast.

"We felt," general manager Bob Gebhard said, "we were able to put together a young but experienced ballclub that can play without being intimidated, as opposed to one with young guys with no experience."

As of now, Colorado's payroll for a 25-man roster will be about $4 million.

Florida is paying more than that to just one player, reliever Bryan Harvey. His salary is listed at $4,125,000 in 1993. Shortstop Walt Weiss, obtained in a postdraft trade, will get somewhere near the $760,000 he was paid by Oakland in 1992.

"Our feeling was that players who were just breaking in at the big league level or were in the minors could make us a better club in the long run," Dombrowski said. "We didn't put as much emphasis on having players who play at the big league level right now."

Florida's lineup for opening day could have Jack Armstrong pitching, Steve Decker catching, Jeff Conine at first, Bret Barberie at second, Weiss at shortstop and Gary Scott at third. Junior Felix, Monty Farris and Chuck Carr could be in the outfield.

Colorado could have David Nied on the mound throwing to Joe Girardi, Andres Galarraga at first, Eric Young at second, Freddie Benavides at shortstop and Charlie Hayes at third. The potential outfielder is Jerald Clark, Alex Cole and Dante Bichette.

"We stayed away from guys who won't be here in a year or two," Gebhard said. "But yet we were able to bring in established players, especially on the four corners where we have four guys who can hit home runs and drive in runs in Mile High Stadium."

Colorado and Florida could sign free agents, especially after Dec. 7, when draft-pick compensation will end for many, but both teams expect to have low payrolls when the season opens.

"I don't think we're going to be very active in the free-agent field," Dombrowski said. "We have about 20 players we drafted that we feel can play with our big-league club at one time or another next year. We think we picked up most of our starting lineup in the draft."

Big names like Danny Tartabull, Jack Morris, Lee Smith and Shawon Dunston weren't touched because of high salaries and age. But Pittsburgh lost Danny Jackson, the New York Yankees lost Charlie Hayes and California lost Harvey.

"We'll probably have to do something to patch this up," Pirates general manager Ted Simmons said.

The Yankees thought Hayes wouldn't be taken and that the expansion teams would take their minor leaguers instead.

Polo is divided into either six or eight periods, which are called chukkers.

Existing customers with DS1/DDS Services will not be affected by these rate changes. DS1 1.544 Megabits per second (Mbps) Service and Digital Data Service (DDS) will be offered by the transmission of data communications or large volumes of voice communications between two locations. These services are optional and will not affect the existing rates of customers who do not order these services. The estimated annual effect on GTE-SW's revenues in the first year is $1,080,567. The estimated annual effect on Contel's revenues in the first year are $42,383.

DS1 Service

DS1 Service is an intraLATA Private Line Service which provides a dedicated, high capacity channel which may be used for simultaneous two-way transmission of voice data or other digitally encoded customer information signals. DS1 Service is available in and between all exchanges of GTE-SW and Contel where digital facilities exist. DS1 Service is available on a point-to-point intraLATA basis between two Customer Designated Locations (CDL), between a Serving Wire Center (SWC) and a CDL, between a CDL and a point of connection with another service provider or between two SWCs.

IntraLATA DS1 Private Line Service is comprised of three rate elements: DS1 Local Loop, DS1 Transport and DS1 Transport Termination. Each element is described below.

DS1 Local Loop

This rate element is for the cable facilities from the CDL to the SWC. The customer has two payment options for the purchase of DS1 Local Loops. There is a month-to-month plan or term contract Optional Payment Plan (OPP).

The month-to-month payment basis allows the customer to establish and disconnect DS1 Services, without penalty, other than to meet the minimum service interval of one month's service, as needed. Under the month-to-month service, the additional DS1 Local Loop rate applies only when the additional DS1 Local Loop (s) is (are) ordered at the same time and between the same two CDLs as the first DS1 Local Loop.

The OPP plan allows the customer to select a term of service (1 YR, 3 YR and 5 YR) with lower monthly rates associated with longer term contracts. If the customer selects an OPP, additional DS1 Local Loops may be ordered and installed at the Additional DS1 Local Loop rate between any SWC and CDL covered by the OPP, at any time during the term of that OPP.

DS1 Transport

This rate element is for the mileage sensitive charges for transporting a DS1 signal between Serving Wire Centers. Transport occurs only when the two CDLs being connected are served by two different SWCs.

DS1 Transport Termination

This rate element is for the equipment to terminate DS1 Transport at the SWCs. This charge applies only when DS1 Transport is required for the service configuration of the customer. One transport termination charge applies at each end of the DS1 transport.

Proposed Rates and Charges for DS1 Service are as follows:

	Nonrecurring Charge	Monthly Rates

Digital Data Service

Digital Data Service (DDS) is an intraLATA Private Line service which supports synchronous, full-duplex transmission between the CDL and the SWC or the point of connection with another telephone company at transmission speeds of 2.4, 4.8, 9.6, 19.2 and 56 kilobits per second (Kbps). DDS provides a transmission path for digital data signals within the same LATA.

DDS Service is available in and between all exchanges of GTE-SW and Contel where digital facilities exist. DDS Service is available on a point-to-point intraLATA basis between two CDLs or between a CDL and a point of connection with another service provider.

IntraLATA DDS Private Line Service is comprised of three rate elements: DDS Local Loop, DDS Transport and DDS Transport Termination. Each element is described below.

DDS Local Loop

This rate element is for the cable facilities from the CDL to the SWC. The customer may establish and disconnect DDS Local Loops without penalty other than the minimum service interval of one month's service, as his/her needs demand.

DDS Transport

This rate element is for the mileage sensitive charges for transporting a DDS signal between SWCs. Transport occurs only when the two CDLs being connected are served by two different SWCs.

DDS Transport Termination

This rate element is for the equipment to terminate DDS Transport at the SWCs. This charge applies only when DDS Transport is required for the service configuration of the customer. One transport termination charge applies at each end of the service.

Proposed rates and charges for DDS are as follows:

Grambling's Robinson now coaches sons of ex-players

By RICK WARNER
AP Football Writer

Football is a family affair at Grambling.

Eddie Robinson has been coaching there so long that five of his former players have sons on the 1992 team.

"There could have been more, but I guess a lot of the fellas had daughters," joked Robinson, who started at Grambling 51 years ago.

The five second-generation players are running back Broderick Fobbs, defensive lineman Rodney Ladd, and offensive linemen Phillip Payne, Billy Norman and Anthony Simmons.

Ladd is the son of former AFL star Ernie Ladd, Fobbs' father, Lee, and Simmons' dad, Anthony Sr., also played pro football.

Robinson, whose team is 8-2 and ranked No. 1 among black colleges, has won more games (379) than any other football coach in NCAA history. Except for a two-year period during World War II, Robinson has coached the Tigers since 1941.

attached a piece of garlic to its press release.

"This garlic stinks," the release says, just above an arrow pointing to the smelly herb.

"This one doesn't," it says, just above a list of Garlick's accomplishments, which include breaking Fordham's career receiving marks in receptions, yards and touchdowns.

Garlick's play has added some spice to an otherwise drab season. The Rams are 1-8 going into Saturday's season finale at Holy Cross.

SMU to stay in Division 1-A

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist's place in major college football and the Southwest Conference seems secure. The Board of Trustees is expected to adopt a task force's recommendation that the school keep all of its Division 1-A programs.

A source close to the board said the recommendation will be rubber-stamped at a Dec. 4 meeting.

"It was a thorough report, very well done, and the board shouldn't find many objections to the conclusions," the source said.

"I don't think we'll be doing this again two years from now," SMU President A. Kenneth Pye said.

"Things could change if the Mustang club doesn't fulfill its commitment, or Texas A&M and Texas defect, or if Title IX doesn't become too disruptive financially."

The task force recommended that any future operational deficit should be met by the Mustang Club, alumni and other school supporters.

"They didn't have enough players during the war to field a team, so he coached a high school team to the state championship," school spokesman Stanley Lewis said.

The family tradition at Grambling extends to Robinson's own family. His son, Eddie Jr., played quarterback for his father and is now the Tigers' offensive backfield coach.

SCRATCH AND SNIFF: Fordham University admits that one of its promotions stinks.

POWERFUL PAC: The Pac-10 may be the best conference in the country.

Four Pac-10 teams are ranked in the top 16, and every team in the league except California and Oregon State has a chance to finish with a winning record.

Oregon, Arizona State and UCLA need victories Saturday to go 6-5. Fifth-ranked Washington, No. 14 Stanford, No. 15 Southern Cal, No. 16 Arizona and unranked Washington State have a combined record of 36-12-2.

Fourth-sixth grade volleyball champs

The Slammers beat the Bumpin' Babes 15-10, 14-16, 15-11 for the championship of the Hereford YMCA's fourth-sixth grade volleyball league. The Slammers are Misti Tice, Keshia Rives, Dorina Guerrero, Amanda Padilla, Audra Witkowski, Audrey Cabezuola, Crystal Estrada, Shyla Martin and Mykca Maddox. Coaches are Minnie Perez and Elva Padilla.

Preseason NIT starts marquee games early

By The Associated Press

The preseason NIT is keeping the college basketball cupcake count down.

The early season is usually filled with games between teams that have little in common except for uniforms and sneakers.

Thanks to the tournament that started the season on Wednesday night, there will be two matchups of ranked teams in Friday night's semifinals.

Fourth-ranked Indiana beat Murray State 103-80 and will play host to No. 17 Tulane, a 70-54 winner over Wagner. Ninth-ranked Florida State downed Siena 89-80 and will play host to No. 19 Iowa State, an 84-69 winner over Indiana State.

In Wednesday night's other games, Texas-El Paso beat George Mason 90-71 and No. 24 UCLA downed St.

Louis 68-54. They will play their quarterfinal game Friday night at UCLA.

Tonight, Delaware is at No. 6 Seton Hall and Tennessee visits Rutgers, with the winners meeting Saturday.

The semifinals will be Nov. 25 in New York, with the championship game two nights later.

Tulane scored the first 12 points of the game on the way to victory over Wagner as Anthony Reed scored 22 points, six in the opening three minutes.

"For the first time out of the box, I think the kids did a good job," Tulane coach Perry Clark said. "The kids came out well. They were a little flustered at times, but it was a good win for us."

Now comes Indiana, a Final Four team last year that has four starters back.

"We're going up there to win," Clark said. "We are not just going up to play a good game and come home."

The Green Wave forced 14 turnovers on the way to a 35-20 halftime lead and Wagner, which was led by Miladin Mutavdzic's 19 points, never got no closer than 11.

"We got off to a slow start," Wagner coach Tim Capstraw said. "Anthony Reed really took it to us."

No. 4 Indiana 103, Murray St. 80

The Hoosiers made 37 of 42 free throws in the easy win, with Greg Graham leading the way with 12 of 13 as he scored 22 points.

"The main thing is to concentrate," Graham said. "Free throws are really going to be important for us, because those are easy points. You're not going to get any easier points than free throws."

The Hoosiers held Murray State to two field goals and six free throws over an 8-minute span and took a 48-28 lead.

Calbert Cheaney and Alan Henderson each had 13 points for the Hoosiers, while Frank Allen had 19 for the Racers.

No. 9 Florida St. 89, Siena 80

The Seminoles played without starters Charlie Ward and Douglas Edwards, but guards Bobby Sura and Sam Cassell each had 24 points.

Ward is still tending to his duties as starting quarterback for Florida State's third-ranked football team, and the point guard won't return until after its bowl game. Edwards, a junior forward, was suspended for academic reasons.

Cassell filled in for Ward by handing out nine assists and Sura took care of the outside shooting, going 8 for 11, including all four of the Seminoles' 3-pointers.

Senior guard Mike Brown scored 28 points, including five 3-pointers, to lead Siena, while Lee Matthews added 22 points and 9 rebounds.

No. 19 Iowa St. 84, Indiana St. 69

Sophomore Julius Michalik scored a career-high 24 points and matched his personal best with seven assists to lead the Hawkeyes to their fourth straight season-opening victory. Justus Thigpen added 19 points for Iowa State, which shot 61.5 percent in the second half and led by as many as 25 points.

Greg Thomas led Indiana State with 18 points.

No. 24 UCLA 68, St. Louis 54

The Bruins rallied from a 34-28 halftime deficit behind the 21 points and nine rebounds of Loyola Marymount transfer Richard Petruska. UCLA went on a 19-2 run in the second half that was capped by Tyus Edney's 3-pointer with 9:38 left that gave the Bruins a 55-44 lead.

"UCLA was playing without Shon Tarver, its leading returning scorer, who sustained a thigh bruise after practice on Tuesday.

St. Louis, just 5-23 last season, was playing its first game under coach Charlie Spoonhour. The Billikens were led by Scott Highmark's 20 points.

UTEP 90, George Mason 71

Eddie Rivera had 19 points and six assists to lead the Miners, who led 52-37 at halftime after a 25-7 run. Antione Gillespie added 16 points for Texas-El Paso, while Johnny Melvin had 15. Roy Howard 14 and Ralph Davis 13.

Donald Ross led George Mason with 17 points.

Jazz gets 1st win in Boston

BOSTON (AP) - Boston Garden is becoming an easier place for visitors to play. Even the Utah Jazz can win there.

For the first time in their 18 years of existence, including the first five in New Orleans, the Jazz won a regular-season game on the Garden's parquet floor, breaking a 21-game losing streak.

"Forget the jinx, forget everything else," said John Stockton, who had 14 assists and gave Utah a big advantage at point guard. "It feels good to win here."

The 92-91 squeaker Wednesday night came against a Celtics team struggling to find itself after the offseason retirement of Larry Bird and the decision not to re-sign point guard John Bagley.

Both could have helped on the last play.

a three-point play after he was fouled by Douglas.

"The play wasn't intended for anyone in particular," Stockton said. "It's for whoever gets open."

A layup by Lewis, who led Boston with 25 points, and two free throws by Utah's Karl Malone, who topped all scorers with 29, made the score 92-89. Two more foul shots by Xavier McDaniel closed Boston to 92-91 with 48 seconds to play.

With the Celtics trailing 92-91, playmaker Sherman Douglas gave the ball to Reggie Lewis, who replaced Bird as the go-to guy, in poor shooting position. Lewis lofted a shot from just inside the 3-point line with two seconds to go. It bounced off the rim, and Kevin McHale's tip fell short as the buzzer sounded.

"We just weren't organized on the last play," Lewis said. "We're trying to get used to each other."

In the only other NBA games Wednesday night, it was Orlando 120, Philadelphia 110 and Phoenix 127, Sacramento 111.

Douglas also was victimized on a key possession that gave Utah a 90-87 lead with 1:30 remaining. After a timeout, Stockton eluded Douglas, sank a layup off an inbounds pass from Tyrone Corbin and completed Magic 120, 76ers 110

Shaquille O'Neal had 29 points and 19 rebounds, leading first-place Orlando to a win in Philadelphia.

Nick Anderson scored 23 points and Scott Skiles 19 for the Magic, who finished 21-61 last season without O'Neal, but improved to 4-2, good enough for first place in the Atlantic Division. Hersey Hawkins scored a season-high 32 for Philadelphia.

Make most of family dinners

Based on the results of a recent magazine survey, in which 90 percent of female respondents said their families "frequently" or "fairly often" have the main meal together, family dinners continue to be a mainstay of American family life.

"Despite the challenges and realities of busy schedules, today's families are making dinner a priority, and that's great news," says Patricia Gallagher, child care expert and mother of four. "Mealtime is an everyday opportunity to strengthen parent-child relationships and family connections. However, it can also turn into a family feud without some common sense planning."

Gallagher offers the following tips to help parents plan for, and enjoy, a positive sharing experience at their family dinner table:

1. Eliminate daily decision-making. Put together a monthly meal planner that includes a mix of homecooked and convenience foods, as well as seasonal produce. It may seem a painful exercise at first, but a meal planner is worth the effort in the long run.

2. Make friends with your microwave. Learning to use your microwave oven will save you lots of time and energy. Take advantage of the variety of microwaveable foods available today for quick and easy meal preparation.

3. Share the work load. Reduce your own stress and instill responsibility in your children by insisting they take part in mealtime cooking and cleaning. Create and post a "Chore Chart" to help each child keep track of his assignments, and rotate tasks weekly to keep things fair and curtail arguments.

4. Turn off the television. Minimize distractions and set the stage for dinner conversation by turning off the TV or video games, and putting toys, games and books out of reach. Also, make it a rule to turn on your telephone answering machine to record any calls received during mealtime.

5. Keep the dinner table a battlefree zone. Do not bring up bad behavior, report cards or sagging test grades at dinner, and save any heated discussions with your spouse for private talks. Dinner should be a special time to praise and enjoy each other's presence.

6. Don't overreact. Acknowledge the fact that children spill food and beverage and that not every one will like everything on his or her plate. When a child spills, recognize that it was an accident and clean it up quickly. If children refuse to eat some of the foods prepared, let it go. It's seldom worth the struggle to insist children remain at the dinner table until they finish everything.

7. Find something worthwhile to talk about. Rather than leave it to chance, take steps to inspire conversation. Clip newspaper or magazine articles of interest to read aloud and discuss. Ask every family member to tell the best and worst things about their day. Take turns reporting on current events to develop children's reading comprehension and verbal skills.

8. Take your family by surprise. Break up the dinner routine once in a while by serving food in new and unusual ways. Spread out a blanket in the family room for an indoor picnic on a rainy day, or set up a buffet table. Celebrate everyone's "un-birthday" with a party cake and ice cream, or decorate a festive theme table for an ethnic meal. The possibilities are limited only by your imagination.

9. Laugh a little. Dinner should not be an overly structured, hurried or hurried time. If parents relax more and approach dinner with a sense of fun, children will follow their lead and learn to anticipate the nightly ritual. Challenging every family member to repeat a tongue twister, recount a joke or read a favorite comic aloud can also add to the fun.

10. Be persistent. You cannot realistically expect every family dinner to be a joyous occasion, but you can improve the experience through consistent and constructive reinforcement. Take pleasure in the knowledge that you're helping to form the ties that bond and remember that there's always tomorrow night!

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I hope it's not too late to get in on the fracas regarding "Virginia Beach." She said her fiance always paid child support on time, but his ex-wife stooped to all kinds of lies to get more money from him. She has a lot to learn, and experience can be a tough teacher.

I, too, met and married a divorced, wonderful guy. He told me his first wife was a selfish (Expletive deleted) who got herself pregnant and committed adultery while Mr. Wonderful worked two jobs. He finally divorced his wife and let her and her lover adopt the child.

After 11 years of marriage, our fourth son was born. Five months later, Mr. Wonderful announced that we had grown apart and he no longer loved me. That was three years ago, and we are still married. He went through all my money, and I will soon lose the house. The children and I have no place to go. He says his job is "hanging by a thread," yet he manages to maintain a flamboyant lifestyle for the "friend" he moved in with two years ago. I recently learned she has been in his life for the last seven years.

He now claims I'm money-hungry and "bleeding him dry." Meanwhile, he says "in the best interests of the children" he's willing to give up custody. Thanks to Mr. Wonderful's planned acquisition of every dollar we held jointly, I could not retain a hot-shot lawyer and am a sitting duck.

My advice to Virginia Beach is to take a long, hard look at her fiance and talk to his ex-wife. A "lovely man" will do everything in his power to see that his children are cared for. What you see happening to Mrs. Ex today may be a transcript of what your life will be like tomorrow.—Sadder But Wiser in N.Y.

DEAR S.B.W.: Let's hope Virginia Beach reads your road signs and saves herself a trip.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 40-year-old woman who has worked all my life. I've tried to help others through community service and volunteer work.

The recession led to my being laid off from a good job with a prestigious corporation. My husband's salary was cut so drastically that we had to file for bankruptcy. Since my career ended, I've become deeply depressed. Although we've been able to keep our home, we've often been without food and medical care. We have young children, and I am under constant stress. I belong to a support group, which helps, but I cannot confide my shame to them. Ann, I'm filled with such remorse and guilt that I can't sleep and feel suicidal.

In order to have proper clothing for job interviews, I began shoplifting. I can't return these worn outfits, but I cannot pay for them either. My family is prominent in this city, having given generously to the community. If I am caught, my reputation will be ruined and my children will suffer. Worse yet, I've violated all the ethics I've worked so hard to instill in them. I'm an emotional wreck. I don't know how long I can hold the pieces together, and I don't know where to turn. Please help me.—Broken Spirit in Louisiana

DEAR LOUISIANA: You sound as if you've cracked emotionally from all the pressure. Please look up Recovery, Inc., in the phone book or write them at: Recovery, Inc., 802 N. Dearborn, Chicago, Ill. 60610. Go to the meetings. It's free and anyone is welcome. You'll find strength and the courage to carry on. Write and let me know how you are doing.

LONDON (AP) - Rolling Stones guitarist Bill Wyman, 56, was jauntily while his ex-wife, Mandy Smith, seemed downcast as the two met in court to try to work out a divorce settlement.

Wyman and his 22-year-old wife of less than two years were divorced in May 1991 but have failed to agree over the terms of their settlement.

Miss Smith looked pale and downcast at the lunchtime adjournment on the third day of the closed-door hearing, and walked alone from the courtroom to join her mother and sister in an ante-room.

The two met when she was 13 years old.

Three million carton harvest anticipated

Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry today heralded the return of the Texas citrus industry in a Ruby Star grapefruit grove planted since the 1989 freeze dealt the industry its second major blow of the past decade.

Valley citrus producers are expected to harvest more than 3 million 40-pound cartons of grapefruit and oranges during the 1992-93 growing season—the first significant harvest in three years.

Perry said perfect growing conditions have produced an excellent crop. "It looks like a great season even though we still have a way to go before reaching the 16 million carton crop we produced before the last freeze," he said.

Perry spoke at a news conference at Jimmy Steidinger's citrus groves near Donna. He was joined by industry leaders, including Ray Prewitt, executive president of Texas Citrus Mutual, and Bill Weeks, executive vice-president of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Association.

"I know I'm not the only one excited about this season," Perry said. "Even buyers looking at Florida's crop can't hide their enthusiasm over the return of Texas grapefruit."

Rio Stars, grapefruit with crimson interiors, will dominate this year's harvest, yielding an estimated 1.9 million cartons of fruit. Total grapefruit production will be about 2.4 million cartons.

Growers, forced to replant twice during the 1980s, leaned heavily toward Rio Stars, which make up 80 percent of the grapefruit crop. Rio Star is a trademarked name that includes Rio Red and Star Ruby varieties, which were developed in Texas.

Producers also raise Ruby-Sweet grapefruit, another trademark that includes Ruby reds and two other pink grapefruit. Naturally sweet Ruby Reds, developed in Texas during the 1930s, earned the state a worldwide reputation for superior grapefruit.

Texas has 22,000 acres of citrus, down from approximately 70,000 acres before a devastating freeze in 1983. Seventy percent of the crop is planted in grapefruit and 30 percent in oranges.

WAIKOLOA, Hawaii (AP) - Tom Selleck's back in the islands, so it seems an appropriate time to ask: How about "Magnum: The Movie?"

"Universal (Studios) would love to do one, since 'Magnum' is the most successful hour-long prime-time series ever," said Selleck, who played the title role in "Magnum P.I.," a long-running detective series set in Hawaii.

"We probably will do a movie, but it won't be this year - there's no script yet," he said.

Selleck was on Hawaii Island as host of a 10-part cable television series tentatively called "The Practical Guide to the Universe." The Learning Channel, which plans to air the series next year, is devoting segments to beaches and volcanoes.

"Obviously, I'm not a scientist and the scripts make me sound very smart, and I like that," Selleck said.

Here's some toy buying hints

Getting a plaything for your offspring can seem more like child's play if you heed a few hints from experts on child development. A well-chosen toy, they say, has certain aspects that make it more valuable to a child's growth.

A child can power the toy with his or her own ideas and imagination;

The toy is open-ended and may be used in several ways;

The toy engages the child's interest beyond a few moments;

The toy can grow with the child through more than one developmental stage;

The toy is fun, safe, durable and attractive.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Swiss filmmaker Arthur Cohn, the only producer in Hollywood history to win five Academy Awards, was honored with a Hollywood Walk of Fame star.

Kirk Douglas, Janet Leigh and Red Buttons were among 500 people gathered curbside to witness Tuesday's unveiling in front of the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel.

"When I go back to Switzerland I will take the star home forever in my heart," Cohn said.

"There's no doubt that Arthur deserves this star," Douglas said.

Cohn won Oscars for the films "Sky Above, Mud Below," "The Garden of the Finzi-Continis," "Black and White in Color," "Dangerous Moves" and "American Dream."

NEW YORK (AP) - Whitney Houston's "I Will Always Love You" has jumped from No. 12 to No. 1 on Billboard magazine's "hot 100" singles chart.

The last single to go to No. 1 from out of the top 10 was "Uncle Albert, Admiral Halsey," recorded 20 years ago by Paul and Linda McCartney, Paul Grein, Billboard research analysis editor, said Wednesday.

Houston's "I Will Always Love You" is on "The Bodyguard" soundtrack, released by Arista Records. She makes her film debut in that movie.

"I Will Always Love You" was written by Dolly Parton.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) - Kirk Cameron and his television co-star and wife, Chelsea Noble, have starring roles in preparing an audio-video store being opened by Noble's brother.

The couple helped stock shelves, patch nail holes, clean glass and answer the telephone this week at the mall store that David Mueller plans to open Saturday.

Cameron, 22, and Noble, 27, have been out of the spotlight since spring, when the series, "Growing Pains," ended its seven-year run. Their work for Mueller ends Saturday, when they'll sign autographs at the store.

Mueller, 30, said Cameron and Noble also helped to finance the store, his first.
