Police need help on signs

Vandals uprooted and bent at least 22 street signs in Hereford Friday night, and city police are seeking clues concerning the incidents.

City Manager Chester Nolen estimated a cost of about $100 per sign to replace and repair the damage caused by the vandalism.

He urged anyone having information on the vandalism to call the police department. Persons responsible for the damages may be guilty of a felony.

Prizes ready in FB contest

Thirty-two weekly prize winners in the Hereford Brand Football Contest will be vying for grand prize awards this week, while non-winners will have a final chance at weekly prizes.

The grand prize game offers $100, $35 and $15 in Hereford Bucks to the top three entrants from the field of 32 who earned cash prizes sometime during the season. Those people should place their entries in the special box for grand prize contestants.

All other entries go into the orange box for regular entries. Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 in Hereford Bucks are awarded in the regular weekly contest. All entries must be in the boxes by 5 p.m. Friday.

Highways blocked by ice, stranded vehicles

Hereford is coming back to its regular self today, digging out from 10 inches of snow and high winds that gripped the city in a blizzard Tuesday.

Ten inches of snow fell in Hereford, according to the official observation at KPAN. While most of the Panhandle-Plains had plenty of snow Tuesday, no one around here had as much as Hereford.

Even after the snow stopped falling around noon, the winds of 30 mph and better whipped the snow into a blinding mass of white across highways. Officials never closed U.S. Highway 385 or U.S. Highway 60 going southwest from Hereford, but wreckers, Department of Public Safety troopers Deaf Smith County sheriff's deputies and Hereford firefighters stayed busy from daybreak Tuesday through last night and into this morning helping hundreds of stranded motorists. Motorists faced drifts up to 10 feet high in the Ford area, about 20 miles north of Hereford on U.S. 385.

U.S. Highway 60 from Hereford up to Canyon and into Amarillo was closed, blocked about three miles east of Hereford. State Department of Transportation officials ordered the road closed here because they aren't able to get U.S. 60 and Interstate 27 open because of dozens of stranded vehicles that are preventing snow plows from clearing the highways.

Members of the Texas National Guard were called this morning to assist with helping find stranded motorists, move stuck vehicles from roadways, and help to clear roads. They were expected to concentrate their efforts along Interstates 27 and 40 today, then continue their work along other U.S. highways once the interstates are clear.

Crews from the State Department of Transportation began work at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday in Deaf Smith County and have continued to work since, fighting a battle with wind-whipped snow. They, too, came across many stranded motorists during their work.

As bad as roads were around here, there were no accidents in Deaf Smith County as bad as a pileup on Interstate 40 in Amarillo. A 1.5 mile chain reaction accident was caused by ice, low visibility and stalled cars., according to Amarillo Police Cpl. Lisa Cherry.

"It was just a series of accidents," she said. "It just kind of progressed, one vehicle became involved and then several as it just continued."

Angela Marie Smith, 18, of Martinville, Ind., was walking across the interstate near Vega at about 1:45 a.m. when she was struck by a car and killed.

Five minutes later, when Stephanie Morton was got inside her vehicle to move it, Beigle said, a sliding tractor-trailer hit the vehicle and slammed it into Stella Morton, who was outside.

Stephanie Morton was killed; Stella Morton was listed in critical condition at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Dalton Stewart, manager of patient services at Northwest, said the

"Harvest" keeps city crews busy

City of Hereford crews were busy Tuesday clearing major streets in Hereford to make them as passable as possible. After maintainers and trucks scooped the snow into the middle of the street, it was "harvested" by a special machine into trucks and dumped in various places. Most of the major streets were passable today, but side streets, especially in residential areas, will probably be allowed to thaw and clear the natural way.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says patience is the power to idle your engines when you feel more like stripping your gears.

With the lottery now going full speed, we heard a story about a farmer who won $1 million with his ticket. A friend asked him what he planned to do with his newly acquired wealth.

"Well," said the farmer, "I guess I'll just keep farming until the money's gone."

With the Thanksgiving holiday coming tomorrow, this will be a combined Wednesday-Thursday edition of the newspaper. We'll take a day off before starting the busy schedule that leads to the Christmas holidays.

And, thinking of the Yule season, we will start our funding campaign for the Christmas Stocking Fund this week. The CSF charity helps the less fortunate families of our community have a brighter Christmas because of your sharing. Send the checks to The Brand, CSF, Box 673, or bring them by the newspaper office.

The CSF committee, composed of anonymous volunteers, administers the funding and distribution of the Christmas baskets.

Thanksgiving is a day to give thanks. It's not as easy to impress most Americans today as it was the Pilgrims on that first Thanksgiving. But now and then something happens to grab our attention and help us realize how much we are blessed.

Most Americans will have plenty to eat on Thanksgiving, as most do on every other day of the year. We can't say every American, unfortunately, but most of them. We take so many things for granted, leaving us wishing for things that would be nice but that we really don't need.

But now and then something happens, or we learn about others who are not so blessed, and we stop to count our blessings. Thanksgiving is a good day to do that, but we should be giving thanks to our Lord every day.

There are probably more people offering thanks every day than we realize. Folks who are aware of the tragedies taking place in our world every day will pause and think, "There, but for the grace of God, am I."

I'm inclined to think that many of us will be giving thanks for family on this Thanksgiving. We've seen and heard a lot of discussion this year about "family values" but much of that talk seemed to miss the mark.

"Other things may change us, but we start and end with family," said Anthony Brandt.

The family unit has always been the sustaining factor in our society. Nothing is more unifying than a family, even if your only "family" happens to be your co-workers. Regardless of our situation--whether we are young or old, single or married--we are part of a family. We belong.

USDA scrambling for cover

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - Over the next 90 days, President-elect Clinton's "cluster groups" will draw the map the new administration will follow.

The groups will recommend changes in government personnel and procedures - a task that will help Clinton fill 3,000 fulltime political posts.

That effort gets down to the nitty-gritty with today's announcement of the group leaders.

"They produce the road map for the next 90 days," spokeswoman Dee Dee Myers said Tuesday of the groups.

Clinton's policy team has been at work since Nov. 12, when he announced his top advisers on the economy, health care and other key issues. Naming the group leaders begins the second phase of the transition.

The president-elect is considering his options for the Cabinet in private meetings at the Arkansas governor's mansion. Clinton met Tuesday with Sens. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas and Tim Wirth of Colorado. The visits, which were not announced in advance, fueled speculation that they were being considered for Cabinet posts.

Much of Clinton's staff was leaving Little Rock for the Thanksgiving Day holiday. Some workers will travel with Clinton to California, where he will take time out from a four-day vacation to meet Friday with Ronald Reagan at the former president's Los Angeles office.

The cluster groups will examine personnel and operations under the 14 Cabinet secretaries.

In the foreign policy area, sources close to the transition said that J. Brian Atwood would lead the State Department cluster, Jeff Smith would lead the Pentagon cluster, George Tennant would lead the intelligence cluster, and Madeline Albright would lead the National Security Council cluster.

In addition, Rose Gottmuller, a strategic analyst for the Rand Corp., is said to have been tapped to lead the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency cluster, and Goller T. Butcher, a member of the board of directors of the Howard University Law School, to head the Agency for International Development cluster.

Clinton's talks with the two Democratic senators covered a wide range of issues, spokeswoman Myers said. Clinton aides cautioned against reading too much into the talks.

Bentsen is viewed as a possible Treasury secretary. Wirth, who did not seek re-election this year, has been mentioned as a candidate to run either the Energy Department or the Interior Department.

Clinton ready for 'cluster groups'

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department is flying in dozens of political appointees from around the country to talk about closing field offices two months before the Clinton administration takes over and they lose their jobs.

USDA spokesman Roger Runnigen said he had "no idea" how much it will cost the department to bring 250 employees from every state to Washington for the meeting Monday. Many are political appointees who will be replaced after President-elect Clinton is sworn in Jan. 20.

Runnigen said the reorganization, which has been on the drawing board for months, targets the field offices of five USDA agencies: the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration, Soil Conservation Service, Cooperative Extension Service and Federal Crop Insurance Corp.

The agencies' state leaders will be given data to help them decide which offices in their states should be closed or consolidated, Runnigen said Tuesday.

They are then supposed to compile a list of candidates for closure by Dec. 31, taking into account local factors, such as road conditions or mountain ranges, that could create hardships for farmers who would be forced to travel to a neighboring county for USDA services.

"They'll have a good idea which offices need to be consolidated and which do not, on the basis of some of the data they will be given," said Runnigen. He declined to disclose the site of Monday's meeting, saying it was not public.

Family-farm advocates questioned the timing of the reorganization, coming just as Clinton, who campaigned on the need to reform government, takes office, as well as the expense of flying in so many lame-duck employees.

"The state chiefs of the Soil Conservation and Cooperative Extension services are career employees, as are the crop insurance agency's field employees. But the state directors of ASCS and Farmers Home are political appointees.

"They don't need another trip to Washington before they're going to be replaced," said Rep. Byron Dorgan, D-N.D. "These people are not the ones who are going to reorganize the agencies."

getting on track a process that really deserves to wait," said Katherine Ozer of the National Family Farm Coalition.

But congressional and Bush administration aides say the plan gives Republicans and Democrats the political cover to pull off much-needed reforms. The Democrats can blame the GOP for the closures; the Republicans can push them through, then slip out of office.

"This may be the only way it ever gets done," said an administration official, speaking on condition of anonymity.

The five agencies have as many as 10,000 field offices scattered around the country, including a presence in some counties with few remaining farmers. Yet closing or consolidating even those offices may set off political firestorms.

Local Roundup

Blood drive is Friday

A special holiday blood drive will be held Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

The drive is sponsored by the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. All eligible persons are urged to donate blood.

Brand will close Thursday

The Hereford Brand will be closed Thursday for Thanksgiving and will not publish a newspaper on Thursday.

Because of the day off, deadlines have been changed for the week. Deadline for classified advertising for the Friday Brand will be 9 a.m. Friday.

Reward up to $500

Deaf Smith County Crimestoppers has increased its reward to $500 for information leading to an arrest and indictment in the Crime of the Week.

Hereford police are seeking clues in the burglary of the Church of the Nazarene sometime on Nov. 9-10. Suspects took cash and did damage to the building estimated at over $1,800.

If you have information about this or any other crime, call the Clue Line at 364-2583. You may remain anonymous by using a code name or number. All final rewards are determined by the Crimestoppers board of directors.

One arrested by police

Hereford police arrested a man, 39, for driving while intoxicated on Monday.

Reports on Monday included a domestic disturbance in the 100 block of Ave. H; an elderly woman was seen putting items into her purse at a store and was apprehended by store employees; theft of a wallet at Stanton Special Programs Center; theft of $150 from a wallet at a local restaurant; theft of about $200 cash, $300 in checks and a camera from First United Methodist Church; disorderly conduct in the 700 block of Blevins and 200 block of Norton; and assault in the 400 block of Ave. E.

Police issued nine tickets Monday.

On Tuesday, police reported an assault in the 100 block of Clement; domestic disturbance in the 300 block of Ave. G; and about $300 worth of movies taken from a video rental store.

Police issued one ticket Tuesday and investigated one accident.

Slight warming trend

Tonight, clearing and very cold with a low around 15. Northeast winds diminishing, 10 to 20 mph.

Thanksgiving day, sunny but continued cold with a high near 40. North to northeast winds 5 to 15 mph.

Outlook for the Thanksgiving weekend, mostly sunny days and fair nights. Lows near 20 and highs in the lower 40s.

This morning's low at KPAN was 19 after a high Tuesday of 25. KPAN recorded 10 inches of snow overall and .62 inch of moisture from the snow.

SW Bell suit is open to others

BEAUMONT (AP) - Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. officials say they are disappointed with a judge's order allowing a lawsuit brought against the company by the city of Port Arthur to proceed as a class action.

Beaumont state district judge Jack R. King issued the order Tuesday.

Port Arthur sued Southwestern Bell in March, claiming the company for years has been underpaying in a franchise fee agreement with the city. The possible underpayments could total millions of dollars, the city said.

The agreements grant the phone company the use of streets, alleys and other public properties needed to provide telecommunications services.

Marvin Marcell, Southwestern Bell's general manager of external affairs in southeast Texas, said Tuesday that the company is disappointed with King's decision. Nearly 400 Texas cities have reached new municipal fee agreements with Southwestern Bell in the past two years, he said.

"We believe these new agreements indicate wide support by Texas cities for amicably resolving these issues," Marcell said.

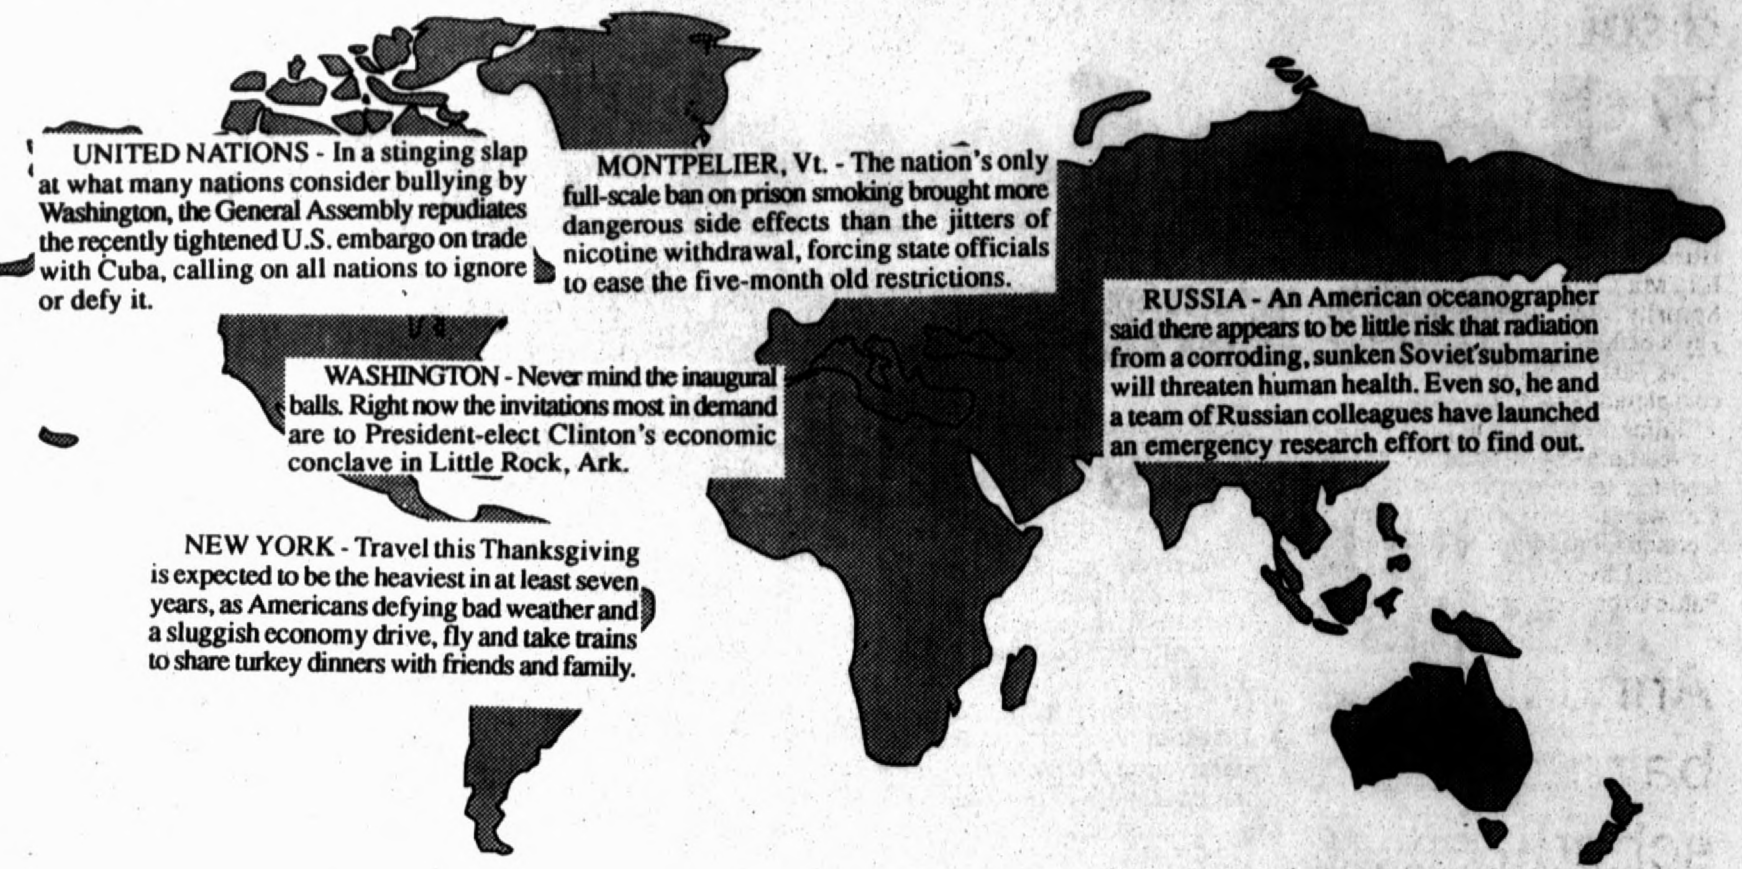

Similar lawsuits have been filed by Mesquite, Brownsville, Harlingen and Garland, but Port Arthur "was the first attempt to establish a joint effort by a large number of cities against Southwestern Bell," attorneys for Port Arthur said.

The attorneys released a list of 186 other municipalities across Texas they said also are involved in the lawsuit.

"Southwestern Bell has used its financial muscle to intimidate small cities throughout the state," Bruce Wecker, one of the San Francisco attorneys representing Port Arthur, said Tuesday.

"Hopefully, a class action will provide the mechanism through which the parties will be put on a more equal footing in seeking judicial interpretation of the franchise agreements at issue," he said.

Snow creates a wonderland of scenes in Hereford

Some scenes were beautiful, and some were sights of hard-working people as Hereford bounced back from the second heavy winter storm in less than a week on Tuesday. Above, a front-end loader works to clear the parking lot at Gibson's on West Park; below, snow covers shrubs in this scene typical of many across the area.

STORM

hospital had treated several other motorists for minor injuries Tuesday.

Beigle declined to guess the number of accidents the DPS worked.

"It's the pits," he said. "Matter of fact, it's the worst I've seen in 14 years."

For many motorists, the problem was not with snow or ice on the roadway. Instead, it was the practical whiteness caused by the blizzard. Drivers could see no more than a few feet in front of their vehicles at times, and wandered into snowbanks.

City of Hereford work crews began work Tuesday morning and continued well into the evening Tuesday to clear as many streets as possible of drifts up to three and four feet deep. Graders, trucks and other implements were put to work on the city's major streets first, then on other side streets.

"We didn't clear all of them, but we cleared as many as we could," City Manager Chester Nolen said this morning. "We had a lot of good men out there working on these crews, and we wanted to get some of our major streets as clear as we could."

Neighbors worked together, too. Farmers brought their tractors to town to clear driveways. Out on North Progressive, neighbors formed what looked like a fire brigade. They worked to clear driveways and streets of snow in the unincorporated area northeast of town.

Not all of Deaf Smith County was hit as hard, with only about three inches in the Walcott area.

No more snow was predicted through the holiday weekend, but travelers will likely be faced with ice on roads with thawing of snowbanks during the day freezing on the roads at night.

For today, officials were clear on what to do for Thanksgiving: enjoy it in your own home, right here.

Soviet sub poses no threat

By PAUL RAEBURN
AP Science Editor

There appears to be little danger that radiation from a Soviet submarine that sank off Norway in 1989 will threaten human health, but a U.S.-Russian team will study the wreck to make sure, an American oceanographer says.

Instruments will be lowered to the submarine and the surrounding area next summer to determine whether any leaking plutonium could contaminate rich fisheries, said Charles Hollister of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution in Woods Hole, Mass.

Some radioactive cesium is leaking from the corroding submarine, but it's less than what is pumped into the sea by English and French nuclear-fuel reprocessing plants, Hollister said Tuesday.

The submarine sank in 1989, killing 42 of 69 aboard.

Russian divers who recently explored the wreck found its reactor had been knocked loose and was leaning against the hull, said Kathleen Crane, an oceanographer at the Lamont-Doherty Geological Observatory in Palisades, N.Y.

"There was structural damage," she said. "There was almost no leaking at present. But everyone does express a concern about the structural integrity of the submarine and how structurally sound the reactor is at this moment."

She said she got that assessment from Gennia Chenayov, a colleague of hers and a pilot of the Russian Mir research submarines. She said she spoke to him last summer during a scientific dive south of Iceland.

"I think the risk to humans through the food chain is very, very low," said Hollister. Nevertheless, he said, a study of the problem was important because the submarine sank in a turbulent area "scoured by deep-sea storms."

Russian engineers said in an ABC News report broadcast Monday that plutonium could begin bleeding from the submarine as early as 1994.

Spokesmen for Norway and the Russian Navy denied that there was any immediate danger but said they were watching the submarine closely.

At a briefing in Oslo on Tuesday, Norwegian nuclear experts said even if the 28 pounds of plutonium in the submarine's reactor and two nuclear torpedoes on board leaked, the radiation would be so diluted it would do little or no damage.

In Washington, Pentagon officials said they could not confirm any radiation leak. "At this point, it's not a big concern, but it's something we have to keep an eye on," said spokesman Pete Williams.

The submarine is about 6,000 feet down about 150 miles north of Norway, Crane said. Others have given slightly different estimates of its location and depth.

Crane said the structural damage had blocked plans to salvage the submarine, because it could break apart at the surface.

"That could be much worse than leaving it where it is," she said. "Because then a lot of radioactivity could spill into the surface, where there are a lot of fish that feed a lot of people."

Festival planned Dec. 5

NEW YORK (AP) - Frank Sinatra, Lee Iacocca and Chuck Yeager, make room for H. Norman Schwarzkopf.

The Desert Storm retired general has joined those three in an exclusive club: More than 1 million hardcover copies of their biographies are in print. Schwarzkopf's "It Doesn't Take a Hero" joined the group with its ninth printing, due out next week, said publisher Bantam Books.

The autobiography, released Sept. 25, had an initial printing of 650,000 copies, said Bantam President Irwyn Applebaum. An anticipated surge in holiday sales led to the ninth printing and the 1 million mark.

"It Doesn't Take a Hero" joins "Iacocca: An Autobiography," "Yeager: An Autobiography," and "His Way: The Unauthorized Biography of Frank Sinatra" by Kitty Kelley as Bantam's only 1 million-printing biographies.

Wesley United Methodist Church will be hosting its 12th Annual Festival of Arts and Crafts from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Dec. 5 at the Hereford Community Center.

Love offerings will be taken on a quilt made by Mary Dean to be given away at the end of the day.

There is a few booths still available. Call Ellen Collins at 364-0774.

THANKSGIVING

Home for the Holidays

Thanksgiving is such an appropriate time for the Staff and Directors of First National Bank to express our gratitude for all the pleasures we enjoy by serving the community of Hereford. We believe that Hereford is unique; truly a special place to live and work. It is a great place to call home.

Especially during the holiday season, we are reminded that our prosperity year after year is due to the businesses and individuals who trust their financial needs to The First. We really have so much to be thankful for: this nice community we live in, good friends and neighbors, and the opportunity to provide...

DSG hospital employee named state treasurer

Martha Rincon, employed at Deaf Smith General Hospital, was installed recently as state treasurer for the Dietary Managers Association. Elizabeth Fluegel, regional director, installed the officers during the Fall State Workshop held at the Kiva Inn in Abilene.

During the three-day meeting, continuing hours of education was granted.

Among the guest speakers were Jenny L. Young, R.D./L.D. with Sears Methodist Center in Abilene who spoke on "O.B.R.A. Surveys, No Surprises"; Wendell Alford, administrator of Mitchell County Hospital in Colorado City, "Changing Environment in the Delivery of Primary Health Care"; Joe Hamby, EMT-P of Mitchell County Hospital, "CPR and Obstructed Airway

Maneuver"; Anna Staats of Mitchell County Home Health, "Cancer Awareness"; Dee A. Roach, M.D. of Mitchell County Hospital, "Correlation of Laboratory Findings in Relations to Nutritional Status and Dietary Requirements"; James Greer, M.A. of Humana Health Care in Abilene, "Understanding and Managing Stress; Janlyn Echols, director of Ben Ritchey Boy's Ranch in Abilene, "Women in the Work Place in the 90s"; and Bryan James, M. Ed., S.W.A., "The Psychosocial Effects of Food Service With Emphasis on the Care Plan."

Rincon noted that in all of the talks, it was stressed what a good food service means to any health facility. "To keep residents or patients happy, there must be good food served by happy employees."

Rehearsing for concert

Hereford Chamber Singers (from left), Denise Teel, Joan Bookout, Linda Gilbert and La Vetha Strange, rehearse for the group's concert planned Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 5-6, at 7 p.m. and 3 p.m., respectively, at St. Thomas Episcopal Church. The concert will feature music by composer Carlie Burdett of Amarillo, a former Hereford resident, and other original works composed for the Chamber Singers. There will be no charge for the concert but donations will be accepted. This is the 19th year for this choir of select voices who come from all walks of life and three area communities, Hereford, Dimmitt and Vega.

La Plata Study Club meets for Thanksgiving dinner

Members of La Plata Study Club recently entertained husbands and other guests at their annual Thanksgiving dinner held in the home of Mary and Dean Herring who catered the event.

Following the dinner, Lana Hall, a teacher in the Hereford High School speech and drama department, introduced senior student, Sarah Zinck, who dramatically presented a prose reading, "A Lantern in Her Hand", by Bess Streeter Aldrich. She also gave an oratory, "First the Good News" and a speech, "Pioneer Texas Women", by Empress Young.

During a question and answer period, Mrs. Hall pointed out how hard the students work on the various materials they present at numerous tournaments and she invited members and guests to attend the Orators Tournament scheduled Jan. 23, 1993, in Hereford. Sarah stated she plans to attend West Texas State University and pursue a career in the theatre.

Members and guests attending were Avis and Raymond White, Lois Mitchell, Yvonne and Ray Simpson, Ludie Green, Dorothy and Jim Mercer, Betty and Don Taylor, Dorothy Ott, Mildred and Ronald Fuhrmann, Clara Brown and Guy Walser, Nelda and Eldon Fortenberry, Rosemary and Philip Shook, Betty Mercer, Dorothy and Frank Prowell, Mozelle Neill, Margaret Schroeter, Lana Hall and Sarah Zinck.

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) - Darryl Michael Bell, one of the stars of NBC's "It's A Different World," is battling his stepmother and two of his sisters who say the actor and his grandfather mismanaged the estate of his father.

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) - Cable News Network anchor Bernard Shaw says the television news industry is ripe for change when it comes to attitudes about women in the workplace.

"There are men over age 50 on television reporting news," Shaw said during a speech Friday at Kansas State University. "They are wrinkled. They are gray. And because they are wrinkled and gray, they have the appearance of being very experienced."

But there aren't many women older than 50 on network television, Shaw said.

"It is time for television and our nation in general to stop this deluding fixation with youth and (to) respect the right of women, especially in television news and other professions, to wrinkle and to (turn) gray - on the job," Shaw said.

Be imaginative with your leftover turkey

The day after Thanksgiving is traditionally the biggest shopping day of the year, but it is also the day when many of us are shopping our cookbooks for a new way to disguise and digest leftover turkey.

If your attempts to recycle holiday turkey have left you feeling helpless and hungry, Chef Thomas Palmer of The Methodist Hospital's Chez Eddy Restaurant has some suggestions that will have you dancing to the beat of your turkey's drumsticks.

"Think of your Thanksgiving turkey as a healthy investment in many other delicious dinners," says Chef Palmer. "The holiday season is truly a busy time and often means grabbing a quick bite to eat rather than sitting down to a nutritious meal."

Chef Palmer recommends being economical with your time and your turkey. "Turkey is a tasty ingredient in soups and stews and both can be prepared now, popped in the freezer, and pulled out on a night when there just isn't time to cook," says Palmer.

If you just plain don't want any leftover turkey, Palmer advises selecting a smaller turkey or choosing a turkey breast. "But, since turkey is an inexpensive, low-calorie cut of meat, buying a larger turkey would be smart if your family actually looks forward to leftovers."

Self-basting turkeys may simplify your jobs, but Palmer warns they inject oils under the skin which add fat to the turkey. He advises only buying a fresh turkey if you plan to cook it in a day or two. If you choose a frozen turkey, it should be thawed under cold, running water or in the refrigerator.

Turkeys with pop-up timers are great and help ensure the turkey is cooking properly and reaching the desired internal temperature (170-175 degrees for medium-done). If your turkey doesn't have a pop-up timer, insert a meat thermometer into the thickest part of the turkey breast so you'll be sure its cooked thoroughly before you serve it.

After your Thanksgiving meal has been served and you're clearing the table, don't forget your turkey! Turkey should be wrapped tightly and stored in the refrigerator—it should not be left sitting out. Cooked turkey may be kept in the refrigerator for 3-4 days or it can be frozen.

So if you end up with leftover turkey and you just can't do a thing with it, don't despair. Chef Palmer has several recipes that are economical, easy, exciting new ways to prepare dishes with turkey that should ensure your leftovers will be gobbled up in no time.

TURKEY STOCK

1 turkey carcass
1 bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon dried marjoram leaves
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves
1 medium onion—chopped
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup sliced carrot
6 black peppercorns
2-3 quarts of water
Remove any meat from the turkey carcass and set aside for later use. Break up carcass and crack the large bones. Place the bones in a large pot, add all remaining ingredients and cold water, cover and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer uncovered for two hours. Let stock cool before you strain it. Store stock in covered pan or bowl in refrigerator. Skim fat off the top before using.

TURKEY GUMBO

1 cup white onions, diced
1/2 cup celery, diced
1/2 cup green bell pepper, diced
1/2 cup red bell pepper, diced
2 tablespoons tomato paste
2 tablespoons browned flour
3 cups turkey stock
8 ounces cooked turkey breast, diced
1 cup fresh tomatoes, diced
1/2 cup fresh or frozen okra, sliced
1 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
Spice blend:
1 teaspoon minced garlic
1 bay leaf
1 tablespoon gumbo file
1 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon dried basil
1/2 teaspoon dried oregano
To brown flour: Place flour on a sheet pan and place in the oven at 300 degrees. Stir occasionally until the flour is dark brown.

Combine spices in a small bowl. Stir to mix well. Heat 1/2 cup turkey stock in a medium saucepan. Add onions, celery and peppers. Saute for 3-4 minutes. Add spice blend. Saute for 2 minutes. Add tomato paste and browned flour. Stir well. Add tomatoes, turkey meat and okra. Simmer 2-3 minutes. Season with Tabasco to taste. Yield: 4 cups

TURKEY QUESADILLAS

8 8" flour tortillas
1 cup grated low-fat monterey jack cheese
1 1/2 small red onion, cut into long, thin strips
1 zucchini, halved and sliced
1 1/2 cups (12 oz.) cooked turkey, cut into thin strips
1/2 cup canned green chilies, cut into thin strips
1 large tomato, seeded and diced
2 tablespoons chopped cilantro
Optional: 1 jalapeno, finely minced
Spray a cookie sheet with non-stick spray and place 4 tortillas on it. In a medium saute pan with 1/2 teaspoon oil, saute onions and zucchini for one minute over medium heat. Add chilies, tomatoes and jalapeno and cook for one minute, stirring frequently. Remove from heat and let cool.

Spread onion and chili mixture on the 4 tortillas, sprinkle on turkey, cheese and cilantro. Cover each with another tortilla.

Bake in 350 degree oven 6-7 minutes. Serve with picante and guacamole. Serves 4.

GUACAMOLE

1 avocado
1 1/2 cups low-fat cottage cheese
3 green onions, minced
2 canned green chilies, chopped juice from one lime
1 clove of garlic, minced
1 tablespoon finely chopped cilantro
1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
Optional: 1 minced jalapeno
Combine all ingredients in a food processor or blender and puree until smooth.

HELP YOUR HEART RECIPES

American Heart Association

This recipe is intended to be part of an overall healthful eating plan that would not include more than 30 percent of daily calories from fat.

Cranberry Bread

Serve as a dessert or appetizer — and add some spice to your holiday meals.

1 cup vegetable oil spray*	1/4 cup orange juice
1 cup whole-wheat flour	1 Tbsp. grated orange rind
1 cup all-purpose flour	1 egg
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar	1/2 cup "acceptable" vegetable oil
1 Tbsp. baking powder	2 Tbsp. vanilla
1/2 tsp. salt	2 cups fresh cranberries, chopped
1/4 tsp. ground allspice

Preheat oven to 350° F. Lightly spray two 7 1/2 x 3 1/2-inch loaf pans with vegetable oil. Combine first six dry ingredients in a bowl and set aside. In a small bowl, combine remaining ingredients and mix well. Make a well in dry ingredients and pour in liquid mixture. Stir just until blended. Pour into prepared loaf pans and bake 45 to 50 minutes, or until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from pans and cool on a wire rack. Makes 24 1-slice servings.

* Do not use oil vegetable spray near an open flame or a heat source. Read directions on can before using, and follow directions carefully.
** Canola, corn, olive, safflower, soybean or sunflower oils.

Work your heart out

You don't have to run a marathon. You don't even have to swim across a lake. You don't even have to set foot in a gym.

But you should work out your heart. Physical inactivity is a major risk factor for heart disease, according to the American Heart Association. And when combined with excess eating, physical inactivity may lead to obesity and high blood cholesterol, two more risk factors for heart disease.

These are only some of the reasons why the AHA suggests you engage in physical activities at moderate intensity over a continuous period. For example, aerobic exercise 30 to 60 minutes three or four times a week can condition your heart and lungs. It can also help you reduce other heart disease risk factors. These include high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure and cigarette smoking. You can help yourself feel, look and work better. You can improve your circulation and your ability to breathe. And you can better fight anxiety, stress and depression.

Activities good for your heart include: hiking, stairclimbing, brisk walking, jogging, running, bicycling, rowing and swimming; and sports such as tennis, racquetball, soccer, basketball and touch football.

But even daily low-intensity activities can lead to long-term health benefits and lower the risk of cardiovascular disease, the AHA says. These include walking, golf, badminton, croquet, shuffleboard, lawn bowling and ping-pong. Some chores around the house such as mowing the yard are also good ways to get in a little exercise.

Four Hereford football players on ballot for AP all-state team

Four members of the Hereford High School football team are on the ballot for The Associated Press Sports Editors' All-State team in Class 4A.

Offensive lineman Steven Blea, running back Petey Colvin, quarterback Richard Sanderson and linebacker Eric Sims were the Whitefaces nominated.

A total of 141 players are on the ballot for Class 4A, including several from Hereford's District 1-4A. Four are from Randall—quarterback Brandon Barker, running back Travis Sims, center Bob Snyder and defensive back Tim Cox—and three from Dumas—quarterback Paul Legg, receiver Craig Dunham and running back James Smith.

Separate teams will be picked in the five classifications (excluding six-man football) by AP sports editors across Texas. The teams will be announced in December.

Young cagers split Monday

Hereford's seventh, eighth and ninth graders played basketball Monday and won half their games.

The junior high girls split four games with Valleyview in Hereford; the junior high boys split four with Valleyview in Amarillo; and the freshmen boys split A and B games with Pampa. The freshmen girls played at Pampa, but coaches did not report scores.

At Hereford High School, the ninth grade boys' B team outscored Pampa 11-5 in the fourth quarter for a 32-24 win. Michael Kriegshauser scored nine points for Hereford. The A team lost 53-35, as Pampa held them to three points in the first quarter.

At Hereford Junior High, Danielle Cornelius put back a Hereford miss for a basket with six seconds left, giving the eighth grade A team a 26-24 win. Cassie Abney had 12 points to lead the team and J.J. Hill added eight.

The seventh grade White team also won, getting 14 points from Katie Betzen in a 24-16 win. The seventh Maroon team fell 26-21, despite nine points from Briar Baker and eight from Julie Rampley. The eighth grade B team lost 32-2.

At Valley View, both seventh grade boys' teams won and both eighth grade teams lost.

Seventh grade White won 36-32 in overtime, getting 15 points each from Anthony Lopez and Jeremy Urbanczyk. The Maroon team won 27-20 behind 10 points from Spencer Power and eight from Bryant McNutt.

The eighth grade A team lost 57-30 despite Isaac Walker's 16 points. The B team fell 24-18. Wes Blackwell scored eight points.

Ags need to win to impress voters

AUSTIN (AP) - If the No. 4 Texas A&M Aggies are going to get a shot at the national championship, a victory over the Texas Longhorns Thanksgiving night would be the best campaign speech yet.

"I think we'll make a statement if we win the game," A&M coach R.C. Slocum said Tuesday. "It's not like every game you've got to have some kind of awesome display of prowess."

"I think if you play another good opponent on national television and keep winning, I think that in itself makes a statement."

The Aggies have been winning (11-0) and trying to make statements all season to gain the respect of the national media but a good-enough-to-win offense and an outstanding defense hasn't put them in position.

The Aggies still trail in The Associated Press poll behind No. 1 Miami (10-0), No. 2 Alabama (10-0) and No. 3 Florida State (9-1).

"If Alabama should falter, you would hope that the pollsters would say that there are only two undefeated and untied teams in the country and we should match them together and see who would win that game," Slocum said.

Florida State's only loss is to Miami, 19-16, and Slocum figures the only logical championship matchup would be the Aggies and Miami.

"It would answer no question to see if Miami can beat Florida State again this year," he said. "They've already demonstrated they can beat Florida State. They shouldn't have to prove it again."

The Aggies are a six-point favorite to beat the Longhorns (6-4) for the eighth time in the past nine years and Texas coach John Mackovic sees a tough time for the Longhorns' offense.

"I think the two best defenses in college football right now are Texas A&M and Alabama," Mackovic said. "Bring on anybody and they can play them and not many people are going to get points on them."

Their hopes for an upset hinge of solving the Aggies' defense.

"The key thing I think is you have to stop the four rushers first and get them handled the best that you can," Mackovic said. "And if you can do that, then of course they will bring the blitz."

"But if you focus too much on the blitz and forget those front four, they are the ones who make the plays."

The Longhorns still have a bowl opportunity if they defeat the Longhorns. El Paso's John Hancock Bowl is expected to tap the Horns if they win.

The Aggies will play in the Cotton Bowl regardless of what happens Thursday night.

The Aggies have a string of 20 straight regular-season victories dating back to their loss to Tulsa in their second game of 1991.

Tech's Morris honored by SWC

LUBBOCK (AP) - Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes had a simple reason for repeatedly calling Byron "Bam" Morris' number Saturday against Houston.

"He was doing good," Dykes said.

Even in near-blizzard conditions. Even though he was recovering from the flu.

Morris plowed 36 times in a heavy snowstorm for 222 yards and two touchdowns, leading the Red Raiders past Houston 44-35.

For his efforts, Morris was named Southwest Conference offensive player of the week.

Texas A&M linebacker Marcus Buckley, who had three sacks in the Aggies' conference title-clinching 37-10 victory over Texas Christian, was named defensive player of the week.

Morris said when he awoke to thick snow and rain Saturday, he figured coaches would try to keep the game plan simple by running the ball that afternoon.

One of his biggest plays came on third-and-3 in the second quarter.

Reedy takes Teaff's place at Baylor U.

WACO (AP) - Baylor offensive coordinator Chuck Reedy had been ribbed for weeks that he wouldn't be chosen to replace Grant Teaff, who was retiring after 21 years as head coach.

Most often, the kidding came from David Guinn, a law professor who chairs Baylor's faculty athletic council. And it even continued on Tuesday, when Reedy got the job.

"When I talked with him today and found out he wasn't going to be here, he said, 'Chuck, it looks like 98 percent that you got the job,'" Reedy said at a news conference announcing his promotion. "I've been wondering what that 2 percent was ever since he said that."

Even Teaff joked of Reedy: "I actually just told him to wear a suit today."

But Teaff, dean of Southwest Conference coaches and Baylor's athletic director, had actually assured a careful transition in his football program.

Baylor President Herbert Reynolds said he, Guinn and other university leaders decided to hire Reedy during a 3-hour meeting with Teaff on Monday.

"Coach Teaff said without equivocation that he highly recommended (Reedy) as his successor," Reynolds said. "All of us around the table just reached a very strong consensus with regard to his capability and felt we could look across the nation, go again at it, and do no better."

"I'm pleased that Coach Reedy was the caliber of man that Baylor University would want so that continuity could continue. It's very, very important," said Teaff, who built a 169-152-8 record.

"I'm not trying to replace Coach Teaff. I don't think anyone can do that," said Reedy, who has been Baylor's offensive coordinator since 1990 and was an assistant at Clemson for 12 years before that.

"Words can never express the feelings I have for him," Reedy said.

Reedy, 43, was given a five-year contract for his first head coaching job, which he said had been a goal of his since his teens.

He said Baylor fans should expect his teams to be in the Top 25 and in bowl games.

"We will expect to contend for the conference championship every year," Reedy said. "And we expect that at some point in the not very distant future to be able to compete for and ultimately to win the national championship."

Reedy also said he aims for the graduation rate of Baylor's football team, which leads the SWC at 62

Cowboys enjoy playing on Thanksgiving

IRVING (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys' don't mind playing on Thanksgiving Day while the rest of the country is watching from warm living rooms with a nice meal in their stomachs.

"I like playing on Thanksgiving," Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson said. "It's very positive for this club. You get the national television exposure. Actually, both teams get good exposure. It's a positive for both teams."

"Thanksgiving wouldn't be Thanksgiving without the Cowboys on national television from Texas Stadium," Cowboys owner Jerry Jones said. "We want to keep this tradition alive forever if we can."

The Cowboys (9-2) play host to the New York Giants (6-5) Thursday night. It will be the 25th anniversary of the Cowboys hosting games on the national holiday.

Dallas is 16-7-1 on Thanksgiving with its built-in advantage of staying at home while other teams have to travel in a short work week.

"There are a lot of memories of Cowboys football on Thanksgiving," Jones said. "As long as the NFL wants us to host the game we'll do it.

The Cowboys are coming back again. Everywhere we go on the road we're swarmed by fans. We've sold out the Los Angeles Coliseum, the Silverdome, and Phoenix. The Cowboys are back."

Tex Schramm, the former Cowboys general manager, struck a deal with the NFL in 1966 to become a Thanksgiving "host" along with the Detroit Lions, whose history with the game goes back into the 1950s.

The NFL wanted to expand to two games but had trouble finding another franchise willing to cooperate.

The Cowboys played on Thanksgiving until 1975. They missed another year in 1977. Other NFL teams were jealous of the Cowboys' television tradition and also the competitive advantage it gave the club.

However, each attempt to move the game away from Dallas failed. The NFL wanted to come back to Dallas in 1978. Schramm said the Cowboys could do it if they could have the game from then on. The desperate NFL agreed.

The Cowboys have even a bigger advantage with 10 days rest in the game following Thanksgiving. Dallas is 18-6 with a 9-2 record at home in games played after their Thanksgiving Day contest.

"I thought the 10 days rest was a big factor when we played New Orleans last year," offensive coordinator Norv Turner said. "We needed the time off to rest and study the Saints defense. This is just my second year to be involved in it but I believe this is a pretty smart tradition."

Sanders, White run well in run-and-shoot offense

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) - Barry Sanders and Lorenzo White are two oddities in the NFL. They are running backs who have thrived in a run-and-shoot offense.

Sanders is on his way to a fourth straight 1,000-yard season for the Detroit Lions (3-8). White is having his best year with the Houston Oilers (6-5).

Both will be on display Thanksgiving Day when the Lions and Oilers meet at the Silverdome.

"Our offense is different than Detroit's," White said. "We put more emphasis on the pass. But I'm happy with the way things are going for me this year."

He should be. White has rushed for 852 yards, by far his best season in the NFL. With another 148 yards, he will become the first Oilers running back to rush for 1,000 yards since Mike Rozier had 1,002 in 1988.

But he also has made himself a vital cog in the Oilers' passing game. With 35 catches, White is only four away from matching his previous high of 39 in 1990. He has 363 receiving yards, just five shy of his previous best, also in 1990.

"This is the first year things have felt right, for him to use his full potential," Oilers coach Jack Pardee said. "Lorenzo is a good receiver. We use him more on fullback-type routes, rather than halfback routes. But he has good hands. And he blocks well, too."

Thursday's game clearly holds a lot more meaning for White and the Oilers. They still have a shot at the AFC playoffs. The Lions are playing mostly for pride.

But Sanders always makes it fun to watch.

"As long as they have that No. 20 in the backfield, they still have some magic," Pardee said. "He's going to be a Hall of Famer down the road. He's a terrific player."

Number 20, of course, is Sanders. In the Lions' 19-13 victory Sunday at Cincinnati, he had more yards than the entire Bengals' offense. Sanders finished with 151 yards on 29 carries in one of his classic performances. The Bengals managed just 95 yards.

"It doesn't happen all the time," Sanders said. "When you do, you savor it."

Early in the season, it wasn't happening at all for Sanders. That's part of the reason the Lions, who won the NFC Central with a 12-4 record last year, have tumbled to the bottom of the division in 1992.

No running back in the NFL is as elusive or electrifying as Sanders when he is able to do his thing. The Lions, hoping for more of Sanders, brought in Dan Henning as offensive coordinator. But instead of more, the changes produced less.

"Maybe it just took time," coach Wayne Fontes said. "But I think the losses in our offensive line took a big toll, too."

The Lions lost offensive tackle Mike Utley to a career-ending neck injury a year ago and guard Eric Andolsek was killed in an accident just before training camp opened.

In the past few weeks, however, Sanders again has been used as the workhorse. In the last three games, he has produced 108, 94 and 151 yards. In his last five games, Sanders is averaging 102.6 yards.

He now has 880 yards for the season, well within reach of his fourth consecutive year with more than 1,000 rushing yards.

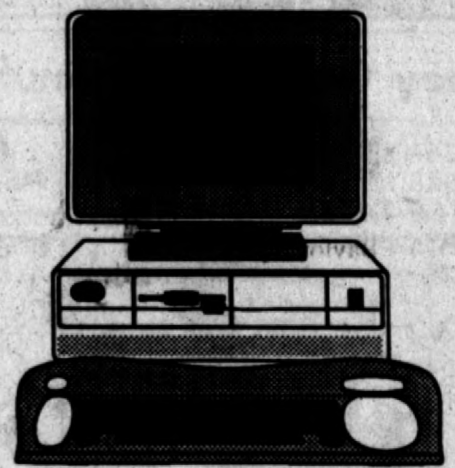

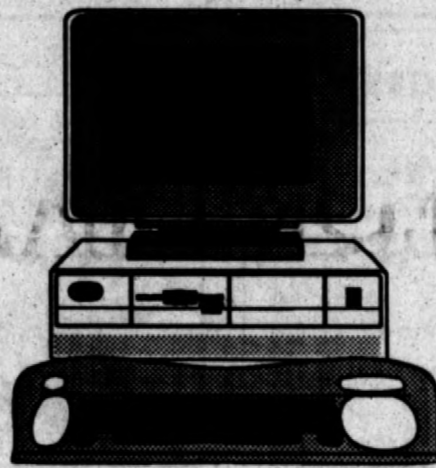

His effort in Cincinnati made him the all-time leading rusher in Lions' history. Billy Sims rushed for 5,106 yards from 1980-84. Sanders now has 5,202 yards - and counting.

If he performs at his current pace, Sanders could pass 10,000 yards by the end of the 1995 season.

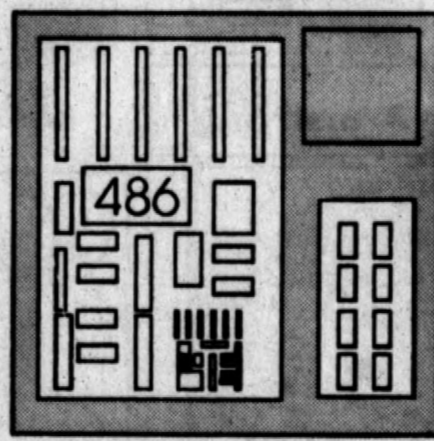

"He's a great back," Fontes said. "If we can stay in the game and can give the ball to Barry, we've got a chance to win."

percent, to be 100 percent in five years.

"The way we intend to do it is to bring in and recruit better student-athletes every year," he said. "We want to make progress every year."

He said he hoped to name most of his staff by the weekend so they can begin recruiting next week. Baylor defensive coordinator Pete Fredenburg will stay on, Reedy said. But he was noncommittal about the rest of Teaff's staff.

Reynolds said Teaff would coach again if the Bears are invited to a post-season bowl. Baylor has a 6-5 record with all six victories coming against NCAA Division I teams.

The SWC's other bowl prospects, Rice and Texas, have six victories each, but both have defeated a Division I-AA team. Rice beat Sam Houston and Texas defeated North Texas.

Rice must defeat Houston on Saturday and Texas must defeat Texas A&M on Thursday to qualify for the minimum six victories needed to go to a bowl game.

Drexler scores 15,000th point in win over Spurs

By The Associated Press

It is a measure of the man that Clyde Drexler, 15,000-point scorer, knows who to credit for reaching that milestone.

Without naming anyone so as not to insult somebody by leaving them out, Drexler praised those who set him up for many of those points. On Tuesday, he scored 24 to soar past 15,000 and lead the unbeaten Portland Trail Blazers to their eighth straight victory, 95-91 over San Antonio.

"A lot of guys had a lot to do with it, especially the ones who have been passing me the ball all these years," said Drexler, whose 12-foot shot at 3:33 of the third period gave him 15,001 points. "Duck (Kevin Duckworth) is going to remind me who passed me the ball on that shot - probably, it will be about 20 times a game."

Drexler became the 62nd player and 14th active player to reach 15,000 points. His coach, Rick Adelman, expects many more.

"It's a great achievement," Adelman said. "He's been so good for so long, to get a milestone like that shows the player that he is and the ability that he has. He's going to be around for a long time. He's still got a lot of basketball left in him."

Bulls 101, Warriors 92

At Oakland, Calif., Michael Jordan took advantage of the Warriors being undermanned. Continuing his hot scoring, Jordan's 49 points kept the Warriors as the NBA's only winless team at home, 0-4. Many of those points came when he was guarded by assistant coach Paul Pressey.

Pressey played 16 minutes, scoring two points and getting one assist and one rebound. The first-year assistant was activated earlier Tuesday after Keith Jennings was placed on the injured list with torn knee cartilage.

Chris Mullin scored 32 points and Tim Hardaway had 29 for the Warriors.

SuperSonics 103, Nets 97

At Seattle, Gary Payton, the second pick in the 1990 draft behind New Jersey's Derrick Coleman, put on a dazzling show. The 6-foot-4 guard was 10 for 16 from the field, had eight assists, four steals and no turnovers. His 25 points were a career high.

Trail Blazers 95, Spurs 91

At Portland, Drexler had 14 of his 24 points in the third quarter, when the Blazers went up 76-65, and were threatened only late in the fourth period.

Antoine Carr had 24 points and 11 rebounds, and David Robinson added 22 points and 14 rebounds for San Antonio. Lloyd Daniels blew a layup off a long feed by Robinson with 18 seconds to go that would have tied it.

Rockets 88, Clippers 83

At Houston, the Rockets took their sixth in a row as Hakeem Olajuwon scored 20 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. The winning streak is Houston's longest since a team-record 13-game run in March 1991.

Pacers 114, Heats 82

At Indianapolis, the Pacers blew the game open in the second period by outscoring the Heat 18-2 over a six-minute span. The Heat missed 12 of 13 shots in the rut.

Reggie Miller scored 20 points and Detlef Schrempf added 13 of his 19 during the key run in the second quarter.

Hornets 127, 76ers 119

At Charlotte, David Wingate scored 23 points, helping the Hornets to their fourth consecutive victory. Wingate, released by Washington during the offseason, was picked up by the Hornets last week to replace injured Johnny Newman.

Cavaliers 109, Bucks 105

At Richfield, Ohio, Mark Price came through down the stretch with four of his 24 points in the last 10 seconds. He drove around Eric Murdock and ducked under Brad Lohaus to hit a 10-foot runner in the lane with 9.9 seconds left, putting Cleveland ahead for good at 107-105. After Murdock missed a driving shot at the other end, Price sank two clinching free throws.

Knicks 98, Bullets 88

At New York, Patrick Ewing had 28 points and 18 rebounds as the Knicks moved to 5-0 at home.

New York used a 28-11 spurt at the start of the fourth period to take control against the undermanned Bullets.

Schott probably won't be punished

CINCINNATI (AP) - Marge Schott's apology has repaired some of the damage from her use of racial slurs. The question now is whether the Cincinnati Reds owner will be punished by major league baseball.

Pitcher Norm Charlton doesn't think so. Neither does Harry Edwards, a professor who has advised the major leagues on minority hiring.

And one of the civic leaders who met with Schott last week says it would be pointless for baseball to come down hard on her.

"If Mrs. Schott understands what we have been saying and is willing to act on it in a positive sense, I'm not sure what else baseball would want to do," said Michael Rapp, executive director of the Jewish Community Relations Council. "What would they want to accomplish?"

Edwards, a sociology professor at the University of California at Berkeley, will be surprised if anything happens to Schott, who has admitted using the word "nigger" on occasion.

"This is an owner who in many ways sets the moral and ethical tone for an industry," Edwards said Tuesday. "And nothing will come of it because baseball has not dealt with the problem. They thought they had dealt with it with Al Campanis."

Campanis was fired as a Los Angeles Dodgers executive in 1987 after suggesting on national television that blacks hadn't advanced in front offices because they lacked the necessities.

There's no precedent for an owner being forced out because of offensive statements. So Charlton, traded by the Reds to Seattle last week, figures Schott is safe.

"Other owners have probably done worse," Charlton said. "Legally, she's entitled to her own feelings and views and thoughts. What I can foresee happening is baseball giving her a slap on the wrist and telling her to watch what she says."

National League president Bill White met with Schott for 2 1/2 hours in Cincinnati on Monday to discuss a number of things, including Schott's deposition in a civil lawsuit that was dismissed last week.

In her deposition, Schott denies calling two of her players "million-dollar niggers," but admits she's used the racial slur. She said she wasn't sure the word was offensive.

Schott also said she doesn't know why a Jewish employee would be offended by a Nazi armband she has at home.

White and Schott declined comment Tuesday on their meeting.

White has spoken out against racism in baseball this year. He told a black coaches' association this summer: "I deal with people now who I know are racists and bigots," but he didn't single anyone out.

Edwards doesn't think anything serious will come of it because owners won't punish one of their own.

"Who votes her out? The other owners, who haven't said anything for years?" Edwards said. "The commissioner? There isn't any. The commissioner's office? It's a creature of the owners."

"They can railroad Al Campanis out of town and scapegoat him, but who railroads Marge Schott out of town since the commissioner's office is a creature of the owners?"

Local black and Jewish leaders were at least temporarily satisfied when Schott met them Friday and apologized for her language. She also promised to work on her minority hiring record. She's scheduled to meet with them again Dec. 22.

BAM

Linemen Charlie Biggers and Stance Labaj promised him a gaping hole on the key play.

"I went between them," Morris said. "A guy come up and hit me and I bounced off of him and another guy hit me and I just kept on running. It took about six of them to tackle me."

"Charlie and Labaj ran over and picked me up: 'Boy that's the way to run.'"

Morris, a 6-1, 242-pound sophomore from Cooper, led Texas high school runners in 1989 with 2,972 yards and 38 touchdowns. He counts Chicago Bears starting receiver Ronald Morris as one of his nine siblings.

"Bam's a big guy with great balance," Dykes said. "He's got some pretty good abilities."

Morris finished the season with 242 carries for 1,279 yards and 10 touchdowns.

With numb hands, he said he couldn't even feel the ball clutched to his chest during his two 1-yard TDs.

"I didn't want to fall because it was wet and it was cold - everything was soaked," Morris said. "I would run on top of the offensive line and fall on them."

Buckley, a 6-4, 230-pound senior, increased his sack total for the season to 12, for minus 101 yards. TCU lost 27 yards Saturday from Buckley's three sacks and five tackles.

He also recovered a fumble that set up a touchdown.

"I've been fortunate to be at the right place at the right time when it comes to the fumbles," Buckley said. "I think a big part of the credit has to go to the attacking style of defense we play."

"Marcus has been a real leader for our team this year and given us a big lift both by his play and his attitude off the field," Aggies coach R.C. Slocum said.

Buckley, who was slowed early in the season by a leg injury, has been improving steadily, Slocum said.

"He's really coming on strong right now and it's a good time for him to be coming on strong since it's late in the season. And I'm really excited for him."

Buckley led an Aggies defense that allowed the Horned Frogs just 192 total yards and 65 yards rushing.

Parents ask pediatricians' advice on kids' nutrition

Parents today need all the help they can get. In fact, parents ask pediatricians advice about their children's tantrums, TV watching, education and how to encourage kids to eat a healthful diet. As reported in a national survey of pediatricians, nearly two-thirds of parents ask pediatricians about non-medical issues, especially nutrition and behavior, the survey revealed.

Pediatricians said that parents most frequently ask them about nutrition (89%) followed by behavior problems (80%). The most asked nutritional question is how parents can encourage children to eat more (61%), the doctors report. Nearly one-third (29%) of parents seek advice on snacking and nearly all (94%) of pediatricians said snacking can have a role in a healthy diet.

Why are parents looking for advice? "Issues of eating and behavior can be a daily battle for many parents," said Nancy Samalin, founder of Parent Guidance Workshops and author of award-winning parenting books. "The demands facing parents to raise healthy and well-adjusted children are prompting parents to seek more advice than ever about child rearing," she said.

Fighting Food Fish

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) - Wahoo fish, which live in the warm waters off Florida, Cuba and the West Indies, often grow to 5 or 6 feet long and about 140 pounds in weight.

Fishermen know the wahoo as an energetic fighter and a good food fish. It has a pointed snout, a long cigar-shaped body and a dorsal fin.

The Lighter Side

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) - There is no apparent limit to the range of topics that have been presented to U.S. colleges and universities for doctoral degrees in recent years.

Included among more than a million dissertations preserved by University Microfilm International's extensive database are these on such subjects as soap operas, Elvis Presley, Fat Albert and the Cosby Kids, finger painting and "The Electrical Measurements on Cuticles of the American Cockroach."

The key to improving daily cooperation between children and parents is to open lines of communication to help build better relationships. Samalin offers the following suggestions.

Offer Choices and Encourage Decision-Making

Give children choices and allow them to participate in decisions that affect their lives, such as food choices or snacks. When children are part of the decision, they are more apt to agreeably follow through than when the solution is superimposed by the parent. Instead of saying "eat your vegetables," try "would you like cooked or raw carrots?"

Describe Rather Than Command

When children are asked to help, they sometimes need a description of how a task is accomplished. For example, say "your jacket belongs in the closet" instead of "hang up your coat."

Avoid Criticism

Positive comments accomplish far more than negative remarks. Find time to observe behavior that pleases you and make a clear statement about it. You might say to children who are eating a snack, "I noticed how well you share your snack." Remember, children always want their parents' approval.

Use "I" Not "You" When Displeased

You cannot ignore your child's unpleasant behavior nor pretend it doesn't exist. Express your dissatisfaction by talking about yourself, not the child. Instead of "you drive me crazy when you dawdle in the morning" tell a child how you are affected. "I worry that you won't eat a good breakfast and you'll be hungry at school."

Take "Adult Time Out"

Leave the room when you're angry. Leaving the room gives parents time to cool off and formulate an action or response to children that can be constructive, not destructive.

The pediatricians survey was conducted by an independent research firm Impulse Research on behalf of M&M/MARS. Two hundred pediatricians were randomly selected from across the country and interviewed by phone in September 1992.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have macular degeneration in my left eye. I have been going to my ophthalmologist for a year. He said I had fluid in the retina from small blood vessels bursting. The sight in that eye makes things look crooked and out of line. He said it may go to the other eye eventually, but I'll never go blind. Do you have any literature I can read that might help me learn more about this condition?

DEAR READER: The macula is the most sensitive part of the retina at the back of the eye, where images are projected so you can see. Degeneration of the cells of the macula will affect vision. Macular degeneration is the most common cause for the loss of vision, not cataracts or glaucoma, even though these are important.

Your description is accurate. A person may not notice any difficulty until each eye is tested separately. The involved eye may have a loss of vision in the central area, or it may cause straight lines to be bent or crooked. A simple test is to cover one eye and look at a door jamb or pole to see if it becomes crooked.

There are two kinds of macular degeneration. One is wet macular degeneration that is caused by the growth of new blood vessels into the macula. This can be treated with laser therapy to stop the growth of the blood vessels.

The other kind is dry macular degeneration, which is the progressive loss of cells, often related to age. Most people will have some loss of macular and retinal cells as they get older. Letters get fuzzy, affecting one's ability to read. Letters may drop out of words.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Take extra care when driving on snow, ice

According to local safety officials, now is the time to think about winter snow and ice and the fact that they pose special problems for even the most experienced driver.

Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander for the Texas Department of Public Safety in Lubbock, stated, "Winter driving is treacherous because it's so unpredictable. Fog could be over the next hill, a patch of ice on an overpass, or someone in front of you on a snow-packed road goes into a skid. However, if drivers are arms with a few basic rules for winter driving, the risk of collision can be lowered."

Probably, the most basic driving rule of all is to adjust your driving to the current conditions. If all drivers follow that one rule, collisions year round could be reduced dramatically. Major Cawthon advised there are two general winter driving rules which could help keep drivers out of trouble on hazardous roads: Rule No. 1-Drive smoothly. Anytime you are on a slick surface you must maintain traction. Any jerky movement can upset that traction causing loss of control. So every touch of the brakes, every turn of the wheel, every move to the accelerator must be gentle and gradual. Rule No. 2. Stay-alert. The slicker the surface, the farther down the road you must look, because it will take you longer to stop. Here is a good rule-of-thumb. Generally, allow double your normal stopping distance for wet roads, triple it on snow-packed roads, and even more on ice.

The first Jewish congregation in the United States consecrated its synagogue in New York City in 1730.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is not a letter asking for advice. It is a note of thanks for what you have meant to me for so many years. I hope you will print it on Thanksgiving Day.

I have been reading your column all my adult life. You've helped me to be a better wife, mother, mother-in-law, grandmother and friend. You have also taught me how to deal with a variety of everyday problems.

I've been married to the same great guy for almost 41 years. We raised four children any parent would be proud of and we now have three grandchildren. The first thing I learned from you was that it is normal for married people to disagree, that they must learn to compromise and that they should never go to bed angry.

Your column also taught me that children need and want discipline, and I should accept their friends, vocations and choice of a mate. But most importantly, it taught me to M.Y.O.B. when dealing with adult children. My daughter-in-law of almost nine years reminded me recently that we have never had an argument, and I told her, "Thank Ann Landers."

Your column gave me encouragement to seek professional help. After the birth of one of my children, I had some emotional problems and took your advice. It worked.

It would be a real treat to see this letter in print, Ann, even though it is awfully long. I happen to know that you are a night owl and often read your mail while soaking in the tub. I hope that this letter will put a smile on your face and a warm feeling in your heart knowing that you've been so helpful all these years.--Grateful Reader in Avis, Pa.

DEAR AVIS, PA.: I'm a little uncomfortable sharing such high praise with my readers, but after a good deal of introspection, I decided it was OK in view of the bashing I get from time to time. Thank you for all the kind words.

DEAR ANN: Please run this again on Thanksgiving. It's from way back, thanks, sweetie.--Dick in L.A.

DEAR DICK: "Sweetie" says thanks for asking. Here it is:

EVERYDAY THANKSGIVING
Even though I clutch my blanket and growl when the alarm rings each morning, thank you, Lord, that I can hear. There are many who are deaf.

Even though I keep my eyes tightly closed against the morning light as long as possible, thank you, Lord, that I can see. There are many who are blind.

Even though I huddle in my bed and put off the effort of rising, thank you, Lord, that I have the strength to rise. There are many who are bedridden.

Even though the first hour of my day is hectic, when socks are lost, toast is burned and tempers are short, thank you Lord, for my family. There are many who are lonely.

Even though our breakfast table never looks like the pictures in magazines and the menu is at times unbalanced, thank you, Lord, for the food we have. There are many who are hungry.

Even though the routine of my job is often monotonous, thank you, Lord, for the opportunity to work. There are many who have no job.

Even though I grumble and bemoan my fate from day to day and wish my circumstances were not so modest, thank you, Lord, or the gift of life.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: One of your best columns was a mega-bash of Christmas newsletters. Please run it again. Those who haven't seen it are in for a treat. Those who HAVE seen it will enjoy it once more. Thanks.--Your Fan in Tokyo

DEAR TOKYO: Every November, I get hundreds of requests for that column. Apparently it had global appeal. Here it is again:

DEAR ANN: Why do normally intelligent folks take leave of their senses at Christmastime? I refer to people who send those interminable newsletters to everyone who has sent them so much as a rummage sale announcement during the year.

I am galled by those who portray glowing pictures of affluence and success. I have before me several family newsletters from which I shall lift bits and pieces, changing the names and places for obvious reasons.

"Dear Friends" What a great year! Jim was named vice president of the bank! We celebrated by buying a Mercedes and flying off to the Orient. In addition to his Boy Scout work, Jim was co-chairman of the United Fund Drive. He continues on the board of Grace hospital and is treasurer of Kiwanis. His first love, however, is still conservation, and he is heading up the Committee to Fight Dutch Elm Disease.

"After completing my term as Junior League president, I swore I'd take life easy, but I am more involved than ever. I accepted the vice presidency of the Garden Club and am still active in the D.A.R. I ran the bake sale for the Eastern Star again, and we made $680. I also squeezed in a flower arranging class offered by a Japanese exchange student. All this with my leg is a cast! Dumb me fell off a ladder while hanging curtains at the U.S.O. center."

"Jim Jr. was elected class president and won his letters in football and basketball. He is on the all-state debate team and placed third in the national oratory contest. We were surprised to read in the paper that he had won a $100 prize in the American Legion Essay Contest. We never even knew he had entered! Junior has been accepted by both Harvard and Yale and can't make up his mind. Linda was elected vice president of her class, homecoming queen and sweetheart of the Phi Delt and was a finalist in the regional swimming meet."

And so it goes, Ann, until you could gag. Next year, I'm sending a newsletter to all the bores who have been sending as theirs. Here it is:

DEAR FRIENDS: We've had a rotten year. Bill was passed over for promotion again so he quit his job. He hasn't lined up anything yet but he's listed with the employment agencies and looks in the want ads every day. In the meantime, he is drinking like a fish. Having him around the house all day hasn't done much for my disposition.

Bill Jr. was defeated for home-room monitor. He flunked French and will have to go to summer school to graduate. College is out. He can't get in anyplace. Bob hasn't had a haircut since August and had to hock his guitar to pay for repairing his Honda. (Thank God he didn't lose his leg. We were plenty worried). Mary is protesting something and shaved her head two weeks ago. Her father is not speaking to her, which is just as well because I think she is deaf from all that loud music. My mother-in-law's May visit lasted 'til August and I am back in therapy. As I write this, the whole family is down with the flu and I'm exhausted. We hope next year is better. It couldn't be much worse.--Love, Jane

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Roseanne Arnold is writing a book about sexual abuse, overeating, smoking, divorce, alcoholism, drugs and self-mutilation.

"Arnold envisions the work as a serious perspective on the problems she has had to cope with in her life," Ballantine Books spokeswoman Carol Fass said Monday.

"At the same time, however, Arnold plans to share her moments of triumph with recovery, reunion and remarriage."

Ballantine will publish the book in 1993.

Arnold claimed recently that she was sexually abused as a child by her parents. They have denied it.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Charlton Heston recommends AIDS testing for participants on TV's bawdy "Studs" kiss-and-tell dating show, saying it would contribute to AIDS awareness.

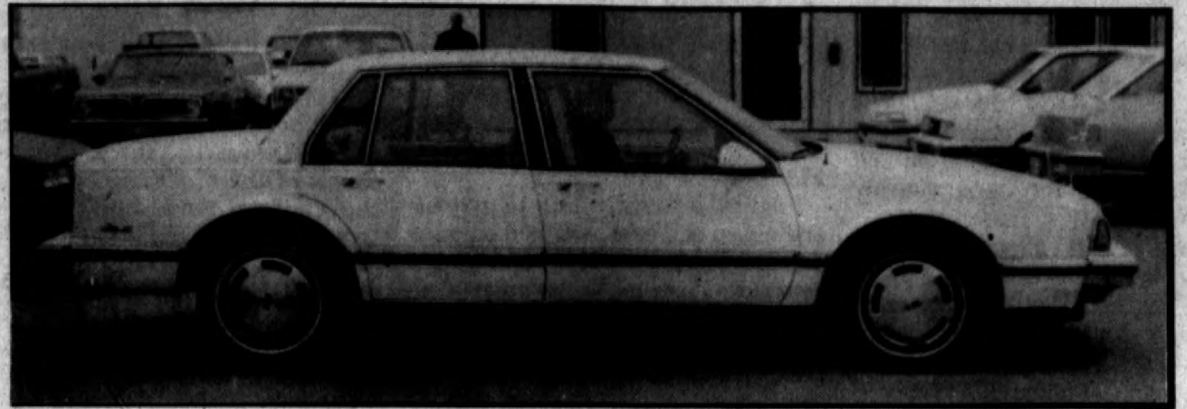

"Since the show is predicated on two young men taking three young women to bed and then discussing it, surely the producers should provide all participants with a free AIDS test as part of the casting process," he wrote in Monday's Los Angeles Times.

In 1900, international forces, including the U.S. Marines, entered Mexico to put down the Boxer Rebellion, which was aimed at ridding Mexico of foreigners.

Bone marrow transplants bring hope

New treatments may mean new hope for the many people who need bone marrow transplants.

Research into bone marrow transplantation began at the start of the "Atomic Era," when it was discovered one of the primary effects of radiation injury is the development of bone marrow failure. Bone marrow transplants were also found useful in treating such diseases as leukemia and aplastic anemia.

Up until the mid-1980s, bone marrow transplants were done only when a close relative could donate the marrow. Since then, doctors have developed techniques that let them use closely matched tissue from an unrelated donor for bone marrow transplants.

Some 12,000 allogeneic bone marrow transplants-transplants from a donor that is not a perfect genetic match to the recipient-have taken place to date and they are going on now at a rate of some 2,000 a year. There are more than 420,000 donors registered with the National Bone Marrow Registry and some 40 transplantation centers successfully carry out bone marrow transplants from tissue-matched but unrelated donors.

Candle stubs and empty milk cartons can make good kindling.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: My dog recently got sick, and I was surprised to find out the cause of his illness was eating onions he got out of the trash.

The veterinarian explained that onions can be toxic. Some signs are weakness, shortness of breath and vomiting. Also, they can cause anemia by attacking the red blood cells, and if that happens there could be blood in the urine. It causes a lot of discomfort but is not usually fatal.

It's surprising that he ate the onions, but there were some meat drippings thrown on top, so that could have lured him to them.

It's very important to keep all animals away from trash. There are just too many things that can harm a pet. — Sarah Brady, Ft. Myers, Fla.

I agree, and according to my veterinarian it's best not to feed your dog hamburgers or any other meat containing onions. If you have questions about caring for your dog, you may be interested in my pamphlet, Heloise's Guide to Dog Ownership. You can receive one by sending in $2 and a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, legal-sized envelope to: Heloise/Dogs, PO Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78270-5001. — Heloise

BABY-SHOWER GIFT

Dear Heloise: For a baby shower I bought several small things that I thought the mother-to-be could use, like safety covers for electrical outlets, door latches for kitchen cabinets and a sun shade for the car window.

The department store where I purchased them didn't have a box large enough to hold everything, so I bought a blue plastic sand bucket with a white shovel.

I gift-wrapped a few of the larger gifts and piled them all in the bucket, attaching the shovel to the handle with some pink and blue curly ribbon. A couple of the gifts I didn't wrap — a yellow rubber duck and a toy key ring, which I tied to the handle with ribbon. — Louise Setzer, Huntsville, Ala.

PET PALS

Dear Heloise: One day my dog and cat discovered a ground squirrel running into its tunnel and coming out the other end. Bear (the dog) went to one opening and Prissy went to the other. Each time the little squirrel poked his head out, he was greeted by them.

I let them play for a short time, then I brought them into the house. I didn't want to take a chance of either of them getting bitten, and the squirrel sure didn't like the "game." — Jean Norris, Denver, Colo.

LAYERED LOOK

Dear Heloise: My brother was going through his closet removing dress shirts he no longer wanted. He was going to give them away until I asked for them.

I added shoulder pads, and when I wore them I lifted the back of the collar up and rolled up the sleeves.

They look great!

I usually wear them with jeans and a T-top. — Janie Evans, Seattle, Wash.

Sometimes my most comfortable kick-around shirt is one of David's. I tie it at the waist and roll up the sleeves just like you do. — Heloise

GARDEN HOSE

Dear Heloise: When I roll up my garden hose, my hands always seem to get a little dirt on them. I have found that if I turn the nozzle on the end of the hose off, and then turn the water off, there is just enough water left in the hose to rinse my hands.

No more dirt on the doors to the house from making a trip inside to wash my hands. — R. I., Gambier, Ohio

HANDY SKATEBOARD

Dear Heloise: I sit on my son's skateboard to weed around my pool or to wash baseboards in the house.

Just keep on skating, and no more backache from those chores. — Kathleen B. Disch, Norwich, Conn.

Caring for holiday pets

A kitten can make a "purr-fectly" delightful holiday gift. A new puppy can also be a tail-wagging success. It's essential, however, that you know how to care for these new additions to your family.

After all, notes Daniel Carey, D.V.M., Iams Research Center, "Puppies and kittens are not simply little people with fur. They have nutritional, social and behavioral needs that are very different from those of infants."

The experts offer these tips for basic puppy and kitten care-feeding, bedding and housebreaking-that pet owners should keep in mind all year 'round:

Feeding:
-Feed your puppy three times a day until he's three or four months old, then cut out the midday meal and feed larger portions in morning and evening.

-Keep food in your kitten's dish at all times. By nature, kittens regulate their own eating habits according to their nutritional/caloric needs.

-Don't leave stale food in your pet's bowl-discard after one day.

-Don't omit dry food from a puppy or kitten's diet; chewing is good for their teeth and dry food contains important nutrients.

Bedding:

-When choosing a bed for your puppy, set up a cage or crate with an old blanket/towel in a quiet place.

-Be sure outside kittens have a shelter-garage or porch-from the rain. Inside kittens may like to sleep in a high-sided box lined with a washable pillow or cushion.

Housebreaking:

-Know the tell-tale signs of a puppy who wants to be walked; walking around in circles, sitting at the door and whining, making sustained eye contact, combined with a slightly anxious expression.

-Take a puppy "caught in the act" outside to finish, and praise him for his efforts.

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALIS
All rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

SNOW STORM, PART 2

Hereford residents recovered from a knockout punch thrown by a deadly winter storm on Tuesday. City road crews worked on major streets in town while State Department of Transportation workers tried to keep highways clear. The snow dumped 10 inches of white stuff at KPAN, with some drifts in the county up to 10 feet deep. No more winter storms are forecast through the weekend, but we can expect streets and highways to remain bad with thawing and refreezing until everything eventually melts. With temperatures around 15 degrees tonight, the thawing may take a while.

TAKE A MOMENT TO SAVE YOUR LIFE.

Seven million Americans do not know that they have diabetes. You can have the symptoms of this serious disease and not know it. If you're Black American, Hispanic or American Indian you're at even greater risk of developing diabetes.

A simple eight-question test from the American Diabetes Association can alert you, and maybe save your life.

Take the test. Know the score.
