President delivers State of Union address Clinton calls for 'dramatic change in our economy'

By TERENCE HUNT
AP White House Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) - In a political drama unseen for 40 years, President Clinton went before a distrustful Republican Congress Tuesday night and asked his political opponents to join him in bringing about "dramatic change in our economy, in our government and in ourselves."

Looking back on the GOP election landslide last November as well as the 1992 vote that put him in the White House, Clinton said in a nationally broadcast State of the Union address: "We didn't hear America singing. We heard America shouting. Now we must say: We hear you. We will work together to earn your trust."

Clinton was the first Democrat since Harry Truman to face a Republican Congress, and the White House viewed his speech as a crucial step in rebuilding his troubled presidency.

"Mr. President, welcome to the House," Speaker Newt Gingrich said. Despite the GOP majority, Clinton was greeted with cheers and applause.

Clinton used his speech to launch a national campaign to combat teen pregnancy.

verify the identification of prospective workers.

He also pledged to seek a raise in the minimum wage from the current $4.25 an hour, but shied from mentioning a specific pay scale; GOP leaders oppose it. Clinton favors a boost to $5 over two years, aides said.

Though politically weakened, Clinton was quick to lay down challenges to the Republicans who control both the House and Senate for the first time in four decades.

"Let's give the folks at home something to cheer about," Clinton said, urging lawmakers to stop accepting gifts from lobbyists even before passing a bill that would outlaw them. "When Congress killed political reform last year," he said, "the lobbyists actually stood in the halls of this sacred building and cheered."

Over and over, Clinton stressed conciliation and partnership but he sketched out sharp differences with Republicans on how to cut taxes, shrink government and help the middle class. "Let us put aside partisanship, pettiness and pride," he said.

"As we embark on a new course, let us put our country first, remembering that regardless of our party label, we are all Americans."

New Jersey Gov. Christine Todd Whitman, who has rocketed to political stardom with a tax-cutting plan, was chosen to give the Republican response.

In a taped address from the historic legislative chamber in Trenton, Whitman said a revolution is sweeping the country in which "people want less government, lower taxes and less spending from the federal government."

George found in S. Carolina

A young woman who fled Deaf Smith County during her trial last week was arrested in South Carolina Tuesday after she was stopped for speeding.

Melinda Simons Bevers George, 23, was convicted on a charge of delivery of cocaine by a 222nd District Court jury last Wednesday.

She failed to appear in court Thursday morning for the punishment phase of her trial. Judge David Wesley Gully issued a warrant for her arrest and raised bond to $1 million. She had been free on $10,000 bond.

Deaf Smith County Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul said he learned late Tuesday afternoon that George had been picked up in Columbia, S.C.

"A highway patrolman pulled her over for speeding on Interstate 20," Saul said. A check by South Carolina authorities revealed she was wanted in Texas, he added.

George is being held in South Carolina for extradition to Texas. If she does not waive extradition, Saul said, proceedings will be started to bring her back to Hereford.

The punishment phase of the trial went on without the defendant last Thursday, after Judge Gully and Saul determined that the criminal code would permit the proceeding to continue.

"If the defendant is voluntarily absent after trial begins, the trial can go on," Saul said.

The jury assessed punishment of 99 years in Texas Department of Criminal Justice and a $10,000 fine.

George may face new charges when she returns to Texas. Saul said he expects to file charges of bail jumping and failure to appear against her.

The $10,000 bond that permitted George to be free prior to and during the trial has been forfeited by the bonding company.

Academic decathlon team

Members of the Hereford High School academic decathlon team show the medals they won last weekend at the regional competition in El Paso. The team won 49 medals, including second overall team and first in Super Quiz to earn their third consecutive trip to the state competition, to be held next month in San Antonio. Team members are: back, from left, J.C. Michael, Cady Auckerman, Heather Hernandez and Joe David Barrera; middle, from left, Gabe Kelley and Josh Liscano; and front, from left, Bao Nguyen, Mari Gamez and Vu Nguyen.

Academic Decathlon team going to state competition

For the third consecutive year, Hereford High School's academic decathlon team will represent the school in the state competition.

What is different is that this year, the school will go after placing second in regional competition, their dreams of a "three-peat" lost last weekend to a team from Fort Stockton.

The Hereford team had dominated the El Paso regional competition the last two years, but coach James Perkins said this year the competition has raised itself to Hereford's level.

The students returned to school this week having won 49 medals, including four for Perkins and co-coach Cherie Zinck.

The nine students competed in three different divisions -- Varsity (C-average), Scholastic (B-average) and Honors (A-average).

The team won first in the Super Quiz competition and captured the second overall team medal.

In addition, each member of the team competed for individual medals in a variety of subject areas.

Team members said their goal at this year's state competition will be to win four medals, double the two last year's team won.

The HHS team will be one of 20 at the state competition, to be held Feb. 24 and 25.

Also scheduled to be in San Antonio will be the team from Fort Stockton that beat Hereford last weekend.

Perkins said the two teams showed good sportsmanship, rooting for each other and even spending time together after the contest was over.

Team members and the medals they won are:

Joe David Barrera -- Second in Economics; third in Language and Literature; first in Super Quiz; and second Overall Team.

Josh Liscano -- First in Fine Arts and Super Quiz; second Overall Team.

J.C. Michael -- First in Super

Quiz; second Overall Team.

Mari Gamez -- First in Interview, Language and Literature and Super Quiz; second Overall Team; third in Social Science and Speech.

Heather Hernandez -- First in Speech and Super Quiz; second in Economics, Essay, Interview and Overall Team; third in Fine Arts, Social Science and Overall Individual.

Gabe Kelley -- First in Super Quiz; second in Fine Arts, Economics, Overall Team and Overall Individual.

Cady Auckerman -- First in Speech, Interview, Fine Arts and Super Quiz; second in Social Science, Language and Literature and Overall Team; third in Economics and Overall Individual.

Bao Nguyen -- First in Super Quiz; second in Interview and Overall Team; third in Mathematics.

Vu Nguyen -- First in Economics and Super Quiz; second Overall Team.

Texas delegation backs amendment

By MICHELLE MITTELSTADT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - As the House opens debate on a constitutional amendment to balance the budget, there's little doubt where Texas' 32 members of Congress stand.

Twenty-four of the lawmakers, including Republican Sens. Phil Gramm and Kay Bailey Hutchison, are on record supporting at least one of the two main proposals being debated in Congress.

But more than their support, Texans also are driving much of the action that takes center stage on the House floor beginning today.

On one side is Republican Rep. Joe Barton of Ennis, author of the balanced-budget proposal contained in the GOP's "Contract With America."

Of the plethora of balanced-budget amendments circulating on Capitol Hill, Barton's is viewed as the toughest. It requires a three-fifths majority of the House and Senate to approve most tax increases.

While most House Republicans back the "supermajority" provision, it has proved far less palatable among House Democrats and in the Senate.

Some lawmakers have questioned the constitutionality of a supermajority to raise taxes. They also have raised concerns that Barton's requirement could put too much power in the hands of a minority and hamstring Congress in times of crisis.

Those leery of Barton's option can turn to another Texan: conservative Democrat Charles Stenholm of Stamford, who has crafted the leading bipartisan alternative. Like Barton, Stenholm's measure would mandate a balanced budget by 2002. But it would not require a supermajority to raise taxes.

Twenty of Texas' 30 House members indicated that they would support a version of the balanced-budget amendment along the lines of Stenholm's proposal.

Three Texans have not announced how they would vote on Stenholm's version, including Barton and GOP freshman Steve Stockman of Friendswood, who don't want to contemplate the possibility that Barton's version won't pass. Freshman Democrat Sheila Jackson Lee of Houston is the third uncommitted member.

Seven House Democrats - Ken Bentsen of Houston, Ron Coleman of El Paso, Lloyd Doggett of Austin, Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio, Gene Green of Houston, Eddie Bernice Johnson of Dallas and Frank Tejeda of San Antonio - oppose both Stenholm's and Barton's versions.

The Barton version is opposed by 11 Democrats, including four who support the Stenholm plan.

Barton suggested that grass-roots support for his plan had yet to kick into gear and put pressure on wayward lawmakers. Anything less than a tax-limitation balanced-budget amendment would be unsatisfactory, he said.

"I think you create a real unbalanced situation if you amend the Constitution and make it easier to raise taxes than to do anything else," Barton said.

Block grant housing program drawing unfavorable reviews

By SONYA ROSS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - The Clinton administration's plan to convert key housing programs into block grants to states - while slashing the federal housing budget - is drawing unenthusiastic reviews from the new Congress and housing advocates.

The administration intends to fold 60 programs at the Department of Housing and Urban Development into three block grants for public housing, rent assistance and community development.

Under the plan, $13 billion would be cut from HUD's budget over five years through program changes, and an additional $800 million would be cut from administrative costs. The administrative cuts would trim 4,400 jobs from the agency.

But housing advocates say deep cuts in HUD, coupled with dramatic policy changes, would only speed the decline of federal housing projects and the neighborhoods around them.

"It seems tough, to me, to carry out this heavy agenda for change with a shrinking staff. We're wondering where the (budget) hits will be felt the deepest," said Deborah Austin, lobbyist for the National Low-Income Housing Coalition, an umbrella organization of housing interest groups.

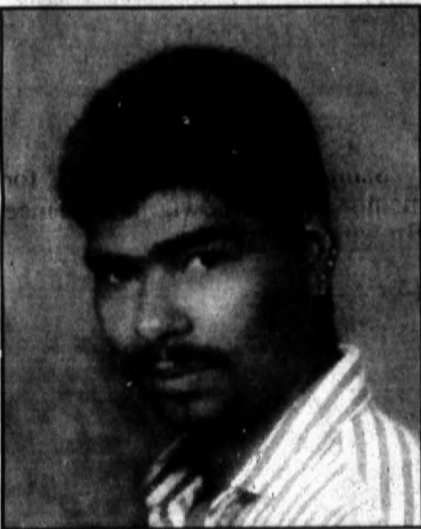

And, some House budget writers worried that the cuts would wreck necessary housing programs. Also, they argued, some states may lack the skill and resources to administer housing programs.

"I believe in a system of checks and balances," said Rep. Marcy Kaptur, D-Ohio. "I have some concerns about people's technical ability to do the job. There is a severe problem at the local level."

HUD Secretary Henry Cisneros told a House Appropriations subcommittee Tuesday that the $13 billion would come from savings created by program changes such as lowering rent subsidies on assisted housing, giving preference in public housing to working families, demolishing dilapidated public housing and issuing certificates directly to residents so they can choose where to live.

DPS arrests sleeping man; finds body in trunk of car

VEGA, Texas (AP) - A 22-year-old Michigan man was arrested Tuesday after police found him asleep in a car that held the body of a missing limousine driver.

Denim Roman of Taylor, Mich., was arrested about 8 a.m. by officers who linked the Lincoln Town Car - parked at a rest stop - to the disappearance of Gregory Crouch, who had been reported missing Monday in a Detroit suburb. Crouch's body was in the trunk.

Roman later was arraigned on a first-degree murder charge by Judge Don Allred, said Skylor Hearn, a trooper with the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Hearn said Crouch, 45, appeared to have been shot once in the head. Hearn said he also found a gun and credit cards, both reported stolen, in the car.

"I caught him asleep and I think we had him under custody before he knew what happened," Hearn said.

Roman gave officers at Oldham County Jail "a full description of when, where and how" Crouch was killed, Hearn said.

Vega is on Interstate 40, about 35 miles west of Amarillo, in the Texas Panhandle.

The trooper was on patrol and ran a check on the parked car, finding that it was linked to a missing person's report from Michigan, said DPS officer Wayne Beigle.

Vote asked on equity borrowing

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - Texans would be allowed to vote on the right to borrow money against their home equity under a proposed constitutional amendment.

State Sen. Jerry Patterson, R-Pasadena, on Tuesday filed legislation that would allow voters to decide in November whether home equity lending would be permitted in Texas.

To get on the ballot, the measure would require a two-thirds vote of the state House and Senate.

Currently, the Texas Constitution only allows home equity loans to pay for taxes or home improvements.

The proposed constitutional amendment would allow home equity loans to pay other debts, fund businesses and buy more real estate - even for cars, vacations and medical bills, according to Patterson.

"The home equity issue is a property rights issue and it is very simple. Being able to manage your money however you choose is something all Texans can relate to," Patterson said.

Banks and business groups have lobbied for more home equity lending, saying it would boost the economy by freeing up more than $100 billion locked in home equity. They also say that interest on equity loans is deductible from income for federal tax purposes.

The measure includes a limit on the amount of the loan to 90 percent of a home's fair market value, Patterson said. The loans would have to be signed in the office of a licensed lender or mortgage company to avoid rip-offs, Patterson said.

Realtors, farmers, builders, labor, consumer advocates and some groups representing the elderly oppose it. They say Texans shouldn't expose their homesteads to the risk of defaulting on a loan obtained for purposes unrelated to their homes.

Under Patterson's measure, Texans 65 and older would be prohibited from home equity lending and would instead be qualified for reverse mortgages.

To take out a reverse mortgage, a homeowner must already own their home or be close to paying it off.

The reverse mortgage is then paid out in monthly installments or on a line-of-credit basis over a number of years. The borrower is not required to pay back any of the monthly loan advances or interest until the loan term is over, according to Patterson.

"With virtually all reverse mortgages, no repayment is due until the owner dies, sells the home or permanently moves away," Patterson said.

Tom Smith, state director of Public Citizen, criticized the measure.

"We don't think it solves the fundamental problems with home equity and reverse annuity mortgages, which is that they can be a deceptively expensive form of credit," Smith said.

"What is never fully revealed is the complete cost of borrowing includes not only interest, but frequently closing costs which average $3,500, according to the Department of Housing and Urban Development."

Roman told them the missing man's body could be found in the trunk, Beigle said.

Police in the Detroit suburb of Allen Park said they would seek to have the suspect extradited since he admitted killing Crouch in Allen Park.

Allen Park Deputy Chief Ken Dobson said the suspect has indicated he would not fight extradition. He said Crouch was reported missing Monday to the sheriff's department in Oakland County, where Crouch worked for Transerv limousine service in another Detroit suburb, Southfield.

The owner of the limousine service didn't immediately return messages left for him on Tuesday.

Drop-out rate for women is above average in Marines

By ELIZABETH TENNYSON
Associated Press Writer
QUANTICO, Va. (AP) - If the Marines are looking for a few good MEN, what was Nicole Dube doing at Officer Candidates School?

That's exactly what she wanted to know. "I was so pumped. For seven months, everything I did was training and now I'm just trying to get by," she said. "I don't really know if I want to do this anymore. I don't know if I can live my life like this."

Doubts are common among candidates. For six to 10 weeks, three times a year, the dense woods and swamps of Quantico become a "crucible of stress" for hundreds of young men and women. The grueling course separates those who have what it takes to be officers from those who don't.

But though women are only a tiny minority - just 7 percent of candidates in 1994 - the drop-out rate for women is well above the average.

In 1992, the last year for which complete figures were available, 38.4 percent of women dropped out of the program before graduation, compared to an overall attrition rate of 28.2 percent.

And initial figures for 1994 show the gap continuing to grow: Attrition for women was estimated at 27.7 percent, compared to 13.5 percent overall.

There are many explanations - the lack of preparation of women recruits, problems with the training regimen. But authorities say the corps needs to diversify, and changes are being made.

"There's no doubt in my mind we're getting the same quality of woman. My only concern is she's not as prepared," said Col. H.P. Osman, OCS commander.

Osman says most officers who screen, process and prepare candidates for training are men and don't know what special problems women may face.

He plans to introduce a new element into the training program for officer selection officers - a course on preparing women candidates, taught by a female officer with firsthand experience.

"There has to be an understanding of what's going to happen when you arrive," said Capt. Christopher J. Chivers, a Buffalo, N.Y.-based selection officer. "And with the women, I think the shock is worse because many of them haven't had that type of severity in their lives."

"I thought I was used to military life because my dad was in the Army," said Dube, of Shippensburg, Pa. "I thought I was used to living like that."

She soon realized that nothing prepared her for candidates school, though she stuck it out and graduated.

Some women find they have qualms about killing. "There's a lot of good stuff," said Mary Brutzman, of Charlotte, N.C., "but at the same time the purpose is war. It's a shame such a great organization has such a low purpose."

She sought advice from the chaplain, who told her there was a difference between murder and killing in defense of one's country.

She was still uncertain if she would accept her commission when she graduates from the University of North Carolina this Spring.

Other women fit right in. "It's a fraternity of the highest kind," said Nicole Kulenic, of Raleigh, N.C. She wanted to be a Marine, she said, because "I want to be the best. I want something I can be proud of."

She was among those who succeeded at OCS, finishing 20th in a 103-person company that included men.

"I really love it. It's sick," said Kulenic, now a 2nd lieutenant. "I look around my barracks and say, 'This is it. This is me.'"

"Many of the guys who are here have absolutely no doubt that they want to be there, and they'll endure anything. It's easier for them to finish than to go home and face their fraternity brothers and families having failed," Chivers said.

"A lot of the women are there with only lukewarm support from their peer group. They can walk away a lot more easily."

Women are segregated into all female platoons and participate in a separate physical training program.

For a perfect physical fitness score, men have to run three miles in under 18 minutes, do 20 pullups from a dead hang and complete 80 situps in two minutes. Women must run 1-1/2 miles in under 10 minutes, do a 70-second flexed arm hang from a pullup bar and complete 50 situps in one minute.

Some women find the training too tough, but others complain that it isn't tough enough.

"I wish it was straight across the board," said one female candidate who spoke on condition of anonymity.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Elizabeth Tennyson spent 2-1/2 weeks at the Officer Candidate School - the first time the Marines allowed a reporter to participate.

'The Lord's Prayer' subject of program

The home of Margaret Zinser was the site of the Jan. 23 meeting of the Valeda Study Club. Vice president Norma Walden led the group in reading the club collect.

Roll call was answered with the members stating which instrument they would be if the club were an orchestra.

The minutes were approved as read and committee reports were given.

Joyce Ritter announced that the next meeting will be at her home and husbands will be invited. Dinner will be served at 7:15 p.m.

Frances Parker, local piano and voice teacher, presented the program on "The Lord's Prayer". After giving a history of the prayer and its usage, she played and sang three different versions. Parker said the Lord's Prayer unites people all over the world.

After adjournment, refreshments were served to Bettie Gilbert, Ritter, DeAnn Sisson, Clovis Seago, Frances Crume, Della Hutto, Juanita Brown, Bettie Dickson, Marcella Bradley, Betty Roberts, Walden and Zinser.

Rebekah Lodge sponsors supper

The Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 will sponsor a bean supper on Feb. 4 from 5-8 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Temple, 205 E. 6th St.

The meal will feature beans, cornbread, coleslaw, pie and beverage.

The cost will be $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Wyche FCE Club selects Woman of the Year delegate

The Wyche Family Community Education Club met Jan. 19 in the Hereford Community Center with Coreen Odom as hostess.

Carol Sartain led the pledges to the United States and Texas flags and gave the FCE prayer.

For the opening exercise, Odom read a poem "Salt of the Earth."

The roll call was answered with a new year's resolution.

Minutes of the November and December meetings were approved as read.

Odom was elected as council delegate to represent Wyche FCE Club at the council meeting Jan. 23 in the Heritage Room.

Jo Lee was elected club delegate for Woman of the Year.

A total of 250 volunteer hours was reported.

Refreshments were served to one guest, Miveda Busby, and members Thelma Auten, Shirley Brown, Louise Axe, Argen Draper, Camelia Jones, Dorna Kirby, Lee, Dorothy Landry, Marie Maxwell, Odom, Pet Ott, Sartain and Barbara Sterne.

Club hears that future is optimistic

The Bayview Study Club met Jan. 19 in the home of Jeanie Caison.

In the absence of the president, Lois Scott presided at the business meeting.

Bob Josseland presented the program "Local Issues". He said that the future looks very optimistic for Hereford with the prospect of several new businesses. Within a year changes will be seen in the city.

Herd holds off Raiders, moves into tie for 1st

By JAY PEDEN

The Hereford boys' basketball team blew out Randall in the third quarter and held on in the fourth quarter to take a 64-59 win Tuesday in Whiteface Gym.

The win allowed the Herd to finish the first round of District 1-4A play in a tie for first place with Pampa at 5-1. Pampa, which defeated Hereford Friday, was idle Tuesday.

"It puts us a step closer to the playoffs," said Randy Dean, who's in his second year coaching a Hereford program that hasn't been to the playoffs since 1977.

"We now can start seeing that it is within our grasp," Dean said. "It's a nice position to be in."

Hereford, 16-7 overall, must keep it going against Canyon Friday in Canyon.

Randall came in tied for second with Hereford but left with a 4-2 district record, tied for third with Canyon. Randall fell to 15-11 overall.

In the first game of Tuesday's doubleheader, the Hereford girls missed a prime chance at upsetting Randall by failing to score in the game's final 4 1/2 minutes. Randall produced a 11-0 run and won 42-39 after Hereford led 39-31 with 4:37 left.

In the boys' game, Hereford's Michael Brown hit a three-pointer with five seconds left in the first quarter, giving Hereford its first lead at 16-15.

Randall briefly retook the lead at 24-20 in the second quarter, but Hereford's defense fueled an 11-0 run that put the Herd up 31-24. Randall kept it close (31-29) at the half only on Matt Reeves' 30-foot turn-around three-pointer at the buzzer.

"Midway through the second quarter, we started really playing hard on the defensive end, and we took them out of what they wanted to do offensively," Dean said. "And the third quarter was the best defensive quarter I've seen in a long time."

Hereford's Ashley Noland hit a three-pointer early in the third to break a 33-33 tie. Moments later, the Herd defense keyed a 15-0 run which put Hereford up 51-35.

"Coach said we needed to come out really hard," said Noland, a senior guard. "We came out strong, and as the quarter went on, we got tougher and tougher, and they started to fall to the pressure."

The run started with a Michael High lay up, then Isaac Walker wrapped a pair of inside shots around a trey by Michael Brown. A Noland steal led to a three-point play by High, who got a nice pass from Benton Buckley. Noland capped the run off with a three-pointer.

"We had real good ball movement and some great assists," Dean said.

Hereford outscored Randall 24-9 in the third quarter and led 55-38 going into the final period.

Randall didn't give up. Through most of the fourth quarter, the Raiders answered every Hereford basket with two of their own.

"Randall made a great effort to come back at us," Dean said. "In the fourth quarter, we shot the ball a little quickly, but it's hard to change from the pace we were in in the third quarter to using a little more clock when the shots are not going in."

A three-point play by Randall's Kevin Clayton cut the Herd lead to 62-57 with 1:31 left. Hereford had just about run out of offense but had enough defense to hang on. Walker and Brown each had single free throws in the final minute that kept Randall from getting within three points.

Walker led the Herd with 21 points, while Michael High had 12 and Noland--the guard who's usually a defensive specialist--had 11 points, including three treys.

Randall used a gimmick defense to help hold Buckley to nine points--ten under his average. The Raiders used the box-and-one, which meant four men played a zone defense and one man played man-to-man against Buckley. Though it worked to some extent against Buckley, it didn't work against the rest of the Herd.

"They came out in a box-and-one to try to take Buckley out of the game," Dean said. "It was crucial for someone to step up. Everybody did."

In the girls' game, the Lady Whitefaces led 39-31 with 4:37 left in the game, but they didn't score again.

"We quit attacking the defense," Hereford coach Eddie Fortenberry said. "We got timid. Nobody wanted to take the shot. I don't know what to account that to. We've got to find that go-to player if we want to get to the next level."

Tracy Simms scored seven of the points in Randall's 11-0 closing run. She picked up a loose ball and hit a shot to pull Randall within 39-35, then she hit a trey to get her team within one. A Torri Bailey bucket put Randall ahead, and Simms hit a pair of free throws with 24 seconds left for a 42-39 lead.

Hereford got the ball with five seconds left, but couldn't get a good shot off. A well-guarded Julie Rampley was forced to put up a shot from deep in the corner, and it was long.

The final minutes ruined what had been a great performance by the Lady Whitefaces. Hereford outscored Randall

Alabama upsets Hogs

By HARRY KING
AP Sports Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Arkansas' shooting was consistent. Bad, but consistent: 12-for-34 in the first half, 13-for-36 in the second. Corliss Williamson, a 59 percent shooter from the field, made three of nine in the first half and four of nine in the second. Scotty Thurman, a 50 percent shooter, was 3-for-8 in each half.

Arkansas' last lead was 13-11, and the last of six ties was at 19-19 when Marvin Orange's driving layup started an 11-0 Alabama run. Richardson was hit with a technical as the half ended, and that enabled Alabama to start the second half with Washington's free throw and 3-pointer. Arkansas' only run - 8-0 - included two baskets each by Thurman and Williamson and narrowed the Alabama lead to 54-46.

It was 56-48 before Davor Rimac forced a pass and Washington got loose for a fast-break basket and a 10-point lead. He scored again after an Arkansas turnover, then hit a 3-pointer for a 15-point lead after Thurman committed an offensive foul.

And nobody picked up the slack for the ninth-ranked Razorbacks on Tuesday night, so the result was predictable, but surprising nonetheless: Alabama 88, Arkansas 70.

It was the first loss for Arkansas (15-4, 4-3 Southeastern Conference) in Walton Arena, their home the past two seasons, and it ended a 26-game home winning streak. It was the defending national champion's worst home loss since a 74-52 defeat to Missouri in 1967-68.

Tuesday night also saw the nation's longest home winning streak snapped as Michigan beat Indiana 65-52. The Hoosiers had won 50 in a row at home, the last loss to Iowa on Feb. 21, 1991.

Top-ranked Massachusetts now has the nation's longest home winning streak at 39 games.

In other games involving ranked teams Tuesday night it was: No. 1 Massachusetts 103, Duquesne 53; and No. 14 Georgetown 88, St. John's 71.

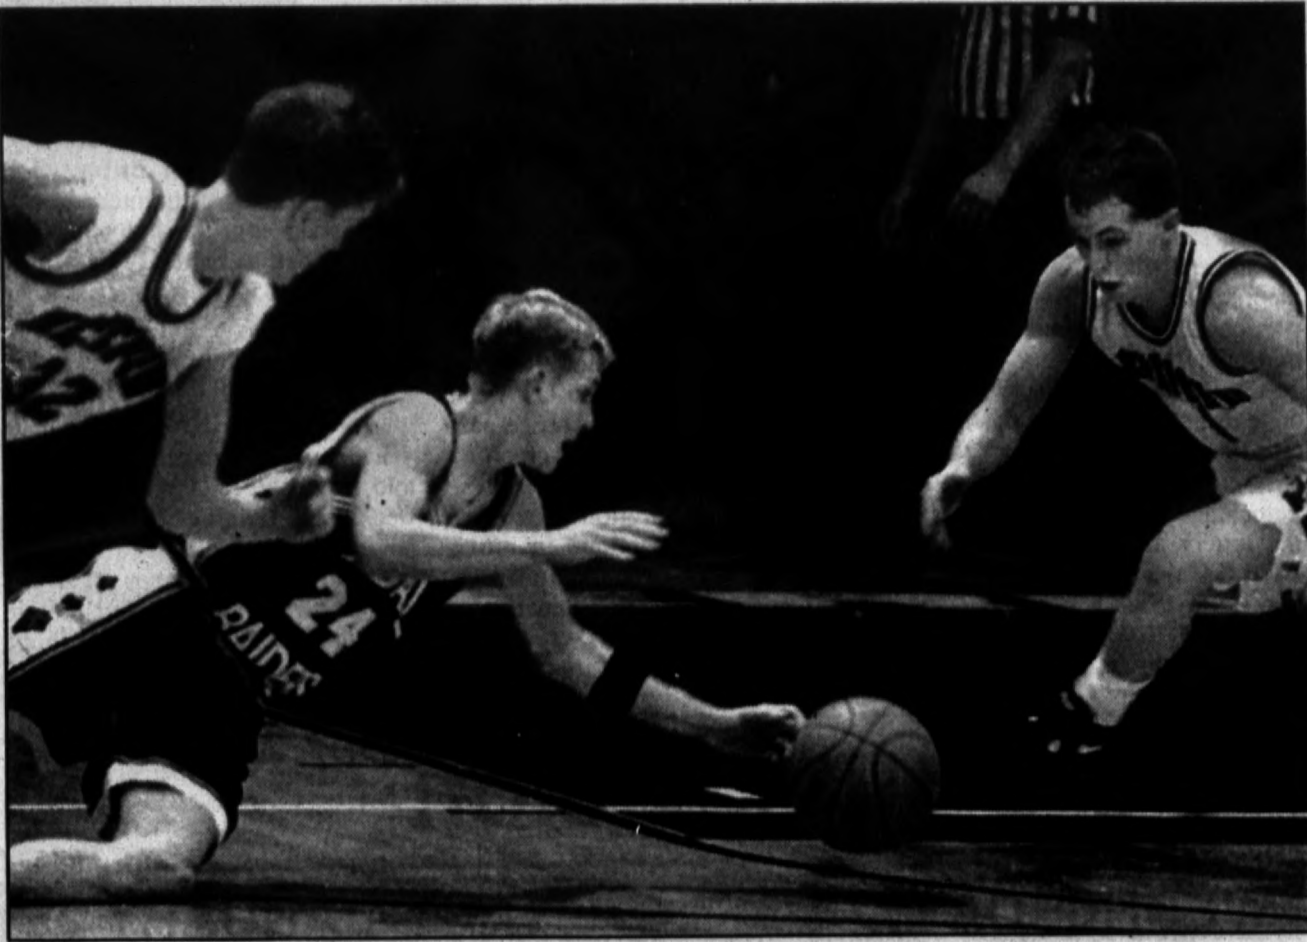

Arkansas' shooting woes weren't limited to the stars. Clint McDaniel, the only other Razorback averaging in double figures this season was 1-for-6; Alex Dillard was 1-for-5; and Dwight Stewart 3-for-11.

"It was one of those nights, we just couldn't get them to fall," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. "Guys who needed to shoot the ball in the hole for us didn't."

For Alabama (13-4, 4-2), it was just the opposite. Jamal Faulkner was 8-for-9 in the first half and Eric Washington hit seven of nine in the second half. Faulkner scored 16 points in the first half as Alabama built a 42-33 lead and Washington's outburst included a 4-for-5 effort from 3-point range and 19 points in the second half. Overall, the Crimson Tide were 33-for-62 from the field.

Washington missed five of 13 shots in the first half before his strong performance in the second.

"I told him to go in and keep shooting and he would break out of it," Alabama coach David Hobbs said.

Loose ball

HERD

11-7 in the second quarter—hitting 7-of-8 free throws—to take a 21-19 halftime lead.

"All but the last four minutes, we had great execution on offense," Fortenberry said. "Our kids were prepared to play."

The score was tied at 25-25 for several minutes of the third quarter until Hereford went on a 7-0 run. Katie Betzen hit a tough shot, was fouled and completed the three-point play. Betzen and Kari Barrett combined on a steal and Betzen hit a layup. Another steal by Barrett resulted in a pair of free throws by Rampley for a 32-25 lead.

"We played as well tonight defensively as we've played all year long," Fortenberry said.

Simms closed the third quarter with a three-pointer, coming with less than 10 seconds left. Still, Hereford opened the fourth quarter with a 7-3 run, with Tarabeth Holmes, Rampley and Barrett scoring. Randall's Andrea Burrows hit a trey to keep it within reach, but Barrett's two free throws stretched the lead to 39-31. Then Simms and Randall took over.

"The end of the game over there was the Tracy Simms Show, and the end of this one was, too," Fortenberry said. "She's a great player. Luckily, she's a senior."

In Hereford's close loss at Randall Dec. 16, Simms hit a long three-pointer with 56 seconds left, taking the lead from Hereford. She added a 6-of-6 free throw performance in the final minute to keep Hereford at bay. "We did the same thing at Randall," said a disconsolate Fortenberry. "They're good; I don't want to take anything away from Randall. The last minute was an instant replay of what happened over there."

SCORING

Girls: Tarabeth Holmes, 8; Misti Davis, 7; Katie Betzen, 7; Julie Rampley, 6; Brittney Binder, 4; Mindi Davis, 3; Kari Barrett, 2; Heather Hodges, 2.

Boys: Isaac Walker, 21; Michael High, 12; Ashley Noland, 11; Benton Buckley, 9; Michael Brown 7; Todd Dudley, 2; Terance High, 2.

Randall: Tracy Simms (No. 24) led the girls with 15 and Michelle McWilliams (52) added 11. Kevin Clayton (00) led the boys with 16 points, and Kelly Coryell (20) added 10.

Hereford also split Tuesday's junior varsity games. Hereford won the boys' game, 60-55. Johnathan Keenan led a balanced attack with 11 points. Brian Torres and C.J. Kubacak each scored 10 points, and Cory Schumacher each scored eight.

Randall won the girls' JV game, 39-17. No one scored more than four points for Hereford.

The sophomore boys' team played Palo Duro Tuesday in Amarillo and lost 81-44. Eric Ambold led Hereford with 15 points, and Trip Robison chipped in 12.

The Hereford girls' JV won its game Friday in Pampa, outscoring the Lady Harvesters 11-8 in overtime for a 44-41 win.

Shay Henderson led the effort with 11 points, and Briar Baker added 10.

Michael High played as well as two players last week, earning Player of the Week honors on both offense and defense for the boys' basketball team. Ashley Noland was the academic honoree.

The latest girls' basketball poll from the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches suggests that the champion of Region I-4A has a good chance to win the state championship. Of the 10 teams listed, six are in Region I: No. 1 Levelland (24-1); No. 2 Canyon (21-2); No. 3 Cleburne (25-2); No. 6 Granbury (23-4); No. 7 Randall (20-4); and No. 8 Burkburnett (17-4).

Of the Hereford girls' nine losses, four of them are to teams in the 4A Top ten—two to Randall, one to Canyon and one to Burkburnett, which beat Hereford 61-47 in the opening game of the Wichita Falls tournament in November.

The other teams in the top ten are No. 4 Dallas Lincoln, No. 5 Silsbee, No. 9 Carthage and No. 10 Cedar Hill.

The boys' top 10 looks like this: 1. Austin Anderson (24-0); 2. Dallas Lincoln (23-1); 3. Port Arthur Lincoln (22-3); 4. Justin Northwest (23-2); 5. McKinney (17-5); 6. Waxahachie (22-3); 7. Levelland (21-4); 8. Bay City (22-2); 9. Silsbee (16-6); 10. Boerne (23-1).

Pippen throws tantrum, chair during Spurs' win over Bulls

By The Associated Press

Scottie Pippen's season of frustration had him seething again.

The unhappy Chicago Bulls forward got downright mad Tuesday night, tossing a chair across the court of the United Center after being ejected in the first half. No spectators were hurt, but the Bulls were forced to play overtime without their leading scorer and rebounder.

If Pippen had stuck around, he would have seen San Antonio's David Robinson make a spectacular play to give the Spurs a 104-102 victory. But Pippen was long gone by the time the 7-foot-1 center stole a pass, dribbled the length of the court and made the winning layup with 1.7 seconds left in overtime.

In other games, it was New York 105, Portland 99; Detroit 116, Philadelphia 105; Miami 107, Indiana

96; Orlando 110, Boston 97; Phoenix 100, Minnesota 85; Houston 115, Milwaukee 99; Seattle 111, Denver 89; New Jersey 106, Golden State 93; and Sacramento 110, Dallas 109 in double overtime.

Pippen ran afoul of referee Joe Crawford when the forward complained that San Antonio was committing 3-second violations. Finally, Pippen drew a technical from Crawford, and Pippen's angry reaction got him thrown out.

Teammates B.J. Armstrong and Luc Longley tried to keep Pippen from going after Crawford, but they couldn't stop him from tossing the chair.

"I tried to think of the team. I knew we needed Scottie," Armstrong said. "But he had a point to make. Whatever that point was, I'm sure he got it across."

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — On his first full day on the job, Gov. George W. Bush met with five northern Mexico governors to discuss U.S. immigration policy and the U.S. Border Patrol's large-scale crackdown on illegal border crossings.

Later, at his first formal press conference as governor, Bush said while border policy is a federal matter, he would work to improve relations between Texas and Mexico, and voiced opposition to California's Proposition 187, a voter initiative that cuts off state public services to illegal residents.

Bush did say, however, that the Border Patrol's Operation Hold the Line, which targets illegal crossings between Ciudad Juarez and El Paso, should be extended along the Rio Grande.

The governor described the current financial crisis in Mexico as temporary and said he supports the Clinton administration's efforts to get Congress to pass a $40 million loan guarantee to help the Mexican economy.

Mexican governors representing the states of Coahuila, Chihuahua, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas, which borders Texas and the Gulf coast state of Veracruz, met with Bush in the closed-door session.

A Houston lawyer is challenging the constitutionality of a Texas law that keeps voters from taking lists of candidates prepared by someone else into polling places.

In fighting the suit by W. Mark Cotham, the Texas Attorney General's Office argues that prohibiting voters from taking lists into the polls helps assure timely and orderly elections.

Cotham filed the suit, claiming his constitutional rights to free political association were violated when precinct judges prohibited him from using a League of Women Voters Guide in the Nov. 8 general election.

He told the Houston Chronicle that the state law, in prohibiting voters from using such lists, "actively encourages uninformed and random voting" and hurt his ability to vote.

State law does allow voters to use personally prepared lists of candidates or sample ballots as guides.

Richard Murray, a University of Houston political scientist, signed an affidavit supporting Cotham's lawsuit and pointed out that the statute prohibiting voters from using lists is not uniformly enforced, and that enforcement "leads to voter anger, frustration, embarrassment and, in some instances, disenfranchisement."

The Texas Lottery Commission and two Texas A&M professors have released separate studies that attempt to discern who plays the state lottery and who spends the most money on it.

According to the state Lottery Commission study, people with the least education are also least likely to play.

But the A&M study found that lower-income Texans spend a greater percentage of their money on the lottery than those in the middle and higher income brackets.

However, lottery spokesman Steve Levine said, the A&M study fails to address the fact that lower-income Texans spend a greater proportion of their income for everything they buy.

A third study, by the University of Texas, shows that the percentage of Texans playing the lottery is increasing. It found that the percentage of Texans who played the lottery at least once increased from 64 percent in 1993 to 71 percent in 1994.

The UT study, taken last fall from a telephone survey of 1,710

Texans, also showed that most lottery players are 25 to 34 years old, and those older than 65 are the least frequent players.

A "heavy player" spends more than $601 on lottery tickets per year. Of all lottery players, 2.5 percent are heavy players who earn less than $10,000 a year, the UT study found.

Meno to Leave Office March 1
Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno announced last week he would not remain in office past March 1, when his term of office expires.

The state constitution allows any state officer to continue in office until a successor's appointment is confirmed by the Texas Senate.

Meno, a New Yorker and a 1991 appointee of former Gov.

Ann Richards, earlier said he would remain in office if the Bush administration desires his services.

Garza Confirmed as S of S
Tony Garza Jr. of Brownsville, Gov. Bush's first appointee, quickly won Senate approval and was sworn in last week as secretary of state.

Garza, 35, former Cameron County judge, will serve as the state's chief elections officer and as an advisor to the governor.

Other Highlights
House Speaker Pete Laney told lawmakers to show up last week for a training session on the new computers installed at each legislator's desk. Laney said the system is rather simple, but if their computer knowledge was anything like his, they need training.

Bivins gets gavel

State Sen. Teel Bivins recently received a committee gavel as chair of the Senate Nominations Committee after Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock appointed him to the post.

Anyone for a bowl of chili?

Karla Vasek prepares chili for this year's annual Hereford Young Farmers Livestock Show. The parents of the local 4-H members operate the concession stand for the event to raise money for the organization. The concession stand is the one major fund raising project for the club. The stock show starts today and runs through Saturday.

Local students named to honor rolls by 3 universities

West Texas A&MU

Two hundred and four West Texas A&M University students were named to the President's List and 804 students earned mention on the Deans' List for the 1994 fall semester.

Students earning President's List recognition achieved a semester grade point average (GPA) of 3.85 (of a possible 4.0) or better with a minimum class load of 12 undergraduate hours.

Students on the Deans' List achieved GPA's of at least 3.25 with a minimum of 12 undergraduate hours.

Area students on the President's List were Cindy L. Bailey, Christie L. Culp, Kerri D. Debord, Sherri L. Harrel, Beverly L. Martin, Jill S. McCracken, Norma J. Ochs and Daphne D. Walker.

Those on the Deans' List were Victor M. Avila, Judy A. Aycock, Christopher M. Blair, Rene Cano, Michelle L. Carlson, Sharon A. Cramer, Joyce L. Dawson, Terri L. Debord, Pamela A. Engel, Tracy R. Flood, Veronica Gallegos, Timothy R. Gee, Eric F. Gilley, Leslie D. Hill,

Vernon Regional JC

Academic honor lists for the 1994 fall semester at Vernon Regional Junior College have been released.

The President's List recognizes full-time students who complete their enrollment period with a 4.0 grade point average.

The Dean's List includes full-time students who post a grade point average of 3.25 or above during the enrollment period.

Hereford student Jacqueline Michelle Brock was named on the President's List.

On the Dean's List from Hereford were Erin Bullard, Kara Sandoval and Katie Young.

Angelo State University

Area students attending Angelo State University in San Angelo, are listed on the Dean's List for the fall semester at the University.

Those listed include Melissa Ann Cloud, Stacy M'Lynne Culpepper, Angela Jill Dutton, Ruth H. Hernandez, Amber M. Mason, Jill Diane Ruland, Eric Scott Sims and Andrew Mark Tijerina.

To be eligible for the Dean's List, a student must be enrolled as a full time student and have at least a 3.25 grade point average.

Hints from Heloise

Q. We have a stainless-steel kitchen sink in our new home and I am not sure of the best cleaning method to use. Can you help? — Margaret M., Billings, Mont.

A. Sure can, and it's pretty simple. Stainless-steel sinks should be cleaned on a regular basis with a mild detergent and water to keep them in tip-top condition. After cleaning, rinse well and buff with a dry cloth.

• A mild ammonia-and-water solution (about 4-8 tablespoons to 1 quart water) is also an effective cleaner and a great grease-cutter on stainless steel.

• For tougher stains, use a cleanser made for cleaning stainless steel. Apply it with a damp sponge and rub into the stains.

• For polished stainless steel, rub lightly and in the direction of the polish lines but do not rub a mill-rolled finish (shiny, mirror finish).

• For mirror-finish stainless steel, just apply the cleanser with a damp sponge, leave it for a while and then carefully wipe up to avoid scratching the finish.

• Remove any hard-water stains by applying vinegar with a cloth, then rinse with water and dry.

• Wipe the sink dry often to help minimize hard-water stains.

• For a quick shine, a drop of oil on a paper towel does a great job. — Heloise

CAKE DECORATING

Dear Heloise: I decorate cakes in my spare time and have a helpful hint that will help anyone who also decorates cakes.

I put on rubber gloves and wash them in soap and warm water (they have powder on them) before I tint the frosting. This keeps the color off of my fingers and it's very inexpensive. The gloves are available at any drug store and are very reasonably priced. — Robin Simpson, Jacksonville, Ark.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter has been seeing a psychiatrist for more than a year. Periodically, I am asked to sit in with her for a session. I have told the doctor that I don't know how much more of this I can take, but he doesn't seem to get the message.

My hope is that the psychiatrists who read this letter will realize that just because parents send their child to get help does not mean they are capable of seeking help for themselves.

All I want to do is die. I can't take any more pain. It seems I am always fighting with someone and then end up screaming. I know there are parents who go through the very same agony, but that doesn't make it any easier for me. I wish I could work up the nerve to say to the psychiatrist, "I ALSO need your help. I'm terribly depressed, and I can't stop thinking of how much better off my family would be if I were dead." I would like to end my life, but I don't have the courage to do it.

My daughter's psychiatrist is very good. He is really helping her. Why doesn't he recognize that I am in worse shape than she is? If the psychiatrist would ask me just one extra question during a session, it might make all the difference in the world. Please print this. Maybe he will recognize himself. — Depressed Mother in New York

DEAR N.Y. MOTHER: Psychiatrists are not mind readers. For heaven's sake, speak to the doctor about a separate appointment for yourself. He may not agree to treat you, but he certainly would recommend another therapist.

I urge you to follow through at the very next session. You sound to me as if you are skating on thin ice. Please write again and tell me you took my advice. I'm concerned about you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: With the recent crowning of Heather Whitestone, who is profoundly deaf, as Miss America, the topic of hearing impairment is in the forefront of everyone's mind.

Ann, please tell the parents of newborns and infants to be alert to their baby's speech and hearing development. A child who does not respond to parents' speech and environmental sounds, or does not show signs of speech, may have some degree of hearing loss, and it is easier to combat if discovered early. Children can be fitted with the appropriate listening devices (such as hearing aids) and taught to listen and speak through therapy, opening up a whole new world to them.

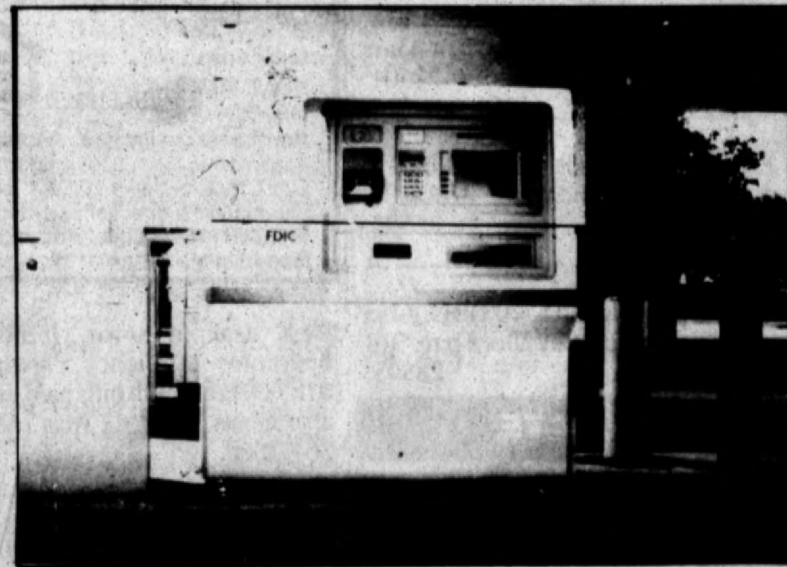

The Alexander Graham Bell Association for the Deaf has a speech and hearing checklist to identify abnormal behavior at certain ages. One copy is free, and answers to other questions about deafness are also available. Readers should send a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Alexander Graham Bell Association for the Deaf, 3417 Volta Place N.W., Washington, D.C. 20007—Donna McCord Dickman, executive director, Alexander Graham Bell Association for the Deaf

DEAR DONNA: Your letter is sure to change a lot of young lives. Bless you for writing. Helen Keller, who was both deaf and blind, said if she could have one of the two senses restored, she would choose to hear, rather than see. Her statement surprised me. I believe most people would choose sight. (I would.)

Gem of the Day: If you love something, you will not be afraid to set it free. If it comes back, it is yours. If it doesn't, it never was.

LEGAL NOTICES

Gerald Brinkley will be responsible for only his debts in his name. All others will be responsible for those.
Gerald Brinkley

NOTICE OF SELECTION OF COUNTY DEPOSITORY
Notice is hereby given that Deaf Smith County Commissioners will select a County Depository at 9 AM on February 13, 1995 at the Courthouse. The depository contract will then be awarded on February 27, 1995 at the Commissioners meeting. The term of the contract will be for a two year period. Banks wishing to become a depository for the county should contact Judge Tom Simons concerning particulars of the bidding. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

The Commissioners Court of Deaf Smith County will open proposals at 9 AM on February 13, 1995 in the Courthouse for general insurance coverage (fire, hail, E.C., auto, liability etc.) for the one year beginning February 21, 1995. Specifications of needed coverage may be obtained from the County Auditor at 242 East Third Street, Hereford, Texas. The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all proposals.

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES:

You are hereby notified of the opportunity for public comment concerning the application for Standard Exemption No. 93 by CLOVIS CONCRETE CO. INC. under Standard Exemption Registration No. 27871 to construct a Concrete Batch Plant near Dawn, Deaf Smith County, Texas. This Concrete Batch Plant is a portable unit and will be used only for construction purposes. The proposed location is approximately 5 miles north on FM 809 and about one and a half miles west on FM 1062. This facility will emit the following air contamination: particulate matter including (but not limited to) cement, aggregate, and road dust. A copy of all materials in the public file is available for public inspection at the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) Amarillo Regional Office, Air Program, located at 3918 Canyon Drive, Amarillo, Texas 79109-4996, telephone (806)353-9251, and at the TNRCC Central Office, Office of Air Quality, 12124 Park 35 Circle, Building C, Austin, Texas 78753, telephone (512) 239-1000. Inquiries about the exemption application should be directed to the TNRCC Office of Air Quality, New Source Review Program (P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087) in Austin or the TNRCC Amarillo Regional Office.

All interested persons may inspect these materials and submit written comments to the Office of Air Quality New Source Review Program of the TNRCC. Any person residing in a permanent residence within one-quarter (1/4) mile of the proposed location of the plant may request a contested case hearing from the Commission pursuant to Section 382.056 (d) of the Texas Health and Safety Code. The Commission is not required to hold a contested case hearing if the basis of a request is determined to be unreasonable. All written comments and hearings requests for a contested case hearing must be received in writing by no later than 15 days after the second publication of this notice. All written comments submitted to the Executive Director shall be considered in a decision on the application. All comments will be made available for public inspection at the TNRCC regional office. If you wish to request a public hearing, you must submit your request in writing. You must state (1) your name, mailing address, and daytime phone number; (2) the permit number or other recognizable reference to this application; (3) the statement "I/we request a public hearing"; (4) a brief description of how you, or the persons you represent, would be adversely affected by the granting of the application; (5) a description of the location of your property relative to the applicant's operations; and (6) your proposed adjustment to the application/permit which would satisfy your concerns and cause you to withdraw your request for hearing. Requests for a public hearing on this application should be submitted in writing to Office of the Chief Clerk, Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087, Telephone (512)239-3300.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, You who make me see everything and who show me the way to reach my idea. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You, no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with You and my loved ones in Your perpetual glory. Amen, Thank You for Your love towards me and my loved ones. (Grace obtained).

GOP tells President: Follow or get out of the way

By DAVE SKIDMORE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Republicans responding to the State of the Union address offered President Clinton a choice: Follow or get out of the way.

"If he has changed his big-government agenda, we say 'great - join us as we change America,'" said New Jersey Gov. Christie Whitman, who delivered the GOP's televised response Tuesday night.

"Republicans welcome your ideas for making government not bigger but smaller," she said, speaking from the legislative chamber in Trenton.

While Clinton "sounded pretty Republican," GOP ideas are actually being put into practice at the state level, Whitman said, citing Wisconsin Gov. Tommy Thompson's welfare overhaul, Virginia Gov. George Allen's criminal justice reforms and her own tax cuts.

Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said that while Clinton's message was important, "the more important and most powerful message remains the one the American people delivered in November."

"We welcome any support the president offers as the Republicans carry out our mandate to rein in government with less spending, less taxes and more freedom," he said.

Rep. Van Hilleary of Tennessee, one of 73 GOP freshman in the House, said, "There's no question he can talk the talk; we'll have to see if he can walk the walk."

And Rep. Bill Archer, R-Texas, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said, "He has looked the American people in the eyes and embraced our fundamental goals of a smaller, less costly government, and for more and higher-paying jobs. The only question that remains is this: How, together, can we achieve these goals?"

Democrats, predictably, were more laudatory. Senate Minority Leader Tom Daschle, D-S.D., said Clinton "came tonight with an expectation not to confront but to cooperate and to lay down an agenda for bipartisanship."

"The real question is, how dug-in are we? ... Senate Democrats are not dug-in," he said.

However, Sen. James Exon, D-Neb., said Democrats were wary of Clinton's determination to match Republicans with his own tax cuts. "I don't think there's much enthusiasm for that at all," he said.

Despite Clinton's conciliatory tone, many Republicans questioned the president's sincerity.

"In rhetoric, he's reaching out. ... You get to the specifics and that's where you fall off the wagon," said Sen. Rick Santorum, R-Pa.

Rep. Susan Molinari, R-N.Y., said, "The president read the 'Contract

With America' and did a good book report."

"If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, on behalf of all Republicans, I thank the president for his compliment," said Rep. John Boehner, R-Ohio.

Democrats angrily rejected that contention.

"It was not a me-too speech," said Rep. Maxine Waters, D-Calif.

House Minority Leader Dick Gephardt, D-Mo., praised the president for pushing for a minimum-wage increase, which is adamantly opposed by Republican leaders.

And many disgruntled Republicans referred to the length of the address.

"It wasn't his finest hour. It wasn't even his finest hour and a half," said Rep. Michael Oxley, R-Ohio.

With other Republicans filling the role of critic, House Speaker Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., kept a low profile afterward. Before the speech he sought to create an atmosphere of bipartisanship, at least for one evening.

"The fact is, we can reach out to the president. ... We can find common purpose," he told reporters.

State of Union address at a glance

By The Associated Press

A look at issues President Clinton addressed in his State of the Union speech to Congress:

TEEN PREGNANCY: Clinton says he is launching a national campaign, led by the surgeon general, to reduce teen-age pregnancy. "We've got to stop the epidemic of teen pregnancies and births where there is no marriage," he said.

More than one million teen-agers will probably get pregnant this year; about a third will be age 17 or younger; more than a third will abort. Families headed by current or former teen mothers get $34 billion a year in government health and welfare benefits.

MINIMUM WAGE: Clinton wants to raise the $4.25 minimum wage; aides say to $5 over two years.

"The weight of evidence is that a modest increase does not cost jobs and may even lure people into the job market," he said. "But the plain fact is you can't make a living on $4.25 an hour."

More than 2.5 million Americans make the minimum, 4 percent of the hourly work force. It was last raised in 1991. Concentrated in food service, retail sales and labor, it leaves a family of three more than 25 percent below the poverty line. GOP leaders oppose raising it, saying that would wipe out thousands of jobs.

IMMIGRATION: Clinton proposed speeding the deportation of illegal immigrants arrested for crimes and improved identification of illegal aliens in the workplace. Aides said he favored a national data bank to help employers verify the identity of prospective workers.

"This is a nation of immigrants," he said. "But it is also a nation of law. And it is wrong, and ultimately self-defeating, for a nation of immigrants to permit the kind of abuse of our immigration laws we have seen in recent years."

The number of illegal immigrants in the United States is thought to be 3.2 million to 3.4 million, about 1.4 percent of the population. Each year the country accepts about 700,000 legal immigrants. About 13 percent of foreign-born people living in the United States are here illegally, the 1990 Census found.

HEALTH CARE: Setting aside dashed plans for a health care overhaul, the president called for legislation allowing workers to take health insurance from job to job without risk of losing it. He also advocated wider insurance reforms and extra health protection for children.

"Last year, we bit off more than we could chew. This year, let's work together, step by step, and get something done."

More than 30 million Americans did not have health insurance last year.

NATIONAL SERVICE: Clinton defended his fledgling $580 million national service program, which allows Americans 17 and older to earn educational grants by doing community service.

"This is citizenship at its best," he said.

Republican House Speaker Newt Gingrich calls it coerced volunteerism. He says people should help others without a monetary or equivalent reward.

The program, AmeriCorps, has 20,000 people working on 350 projects to improve education, public safety, human services and the environment. They earn allowances of about $600 a month. After about a year of fulltime work, they receive awards worth $4,725 for higher education.

ASSAULT-TYPE WEAPONS: Clinton said he will not stand for the repeal of last year's ban on 19 assault-style weapons. He recognized several members of Congress lost in the November election because they backed gun control.

"These people laid down their seats in Congress to try to keep more police and children from laying down their lives in our streets under a hail of assault weapons' bullets," he declared. "And I will not see that ban repealed."

The National Rifle Association is working hard to get the Republicans now in control of Congress to bring a repeal of that ban to a vote. So far, GOP leaders have not taken up the issue.

TERRORISM: The president said he will send Congress legislation strengthening the ability to fight terrorism at home and abroad.

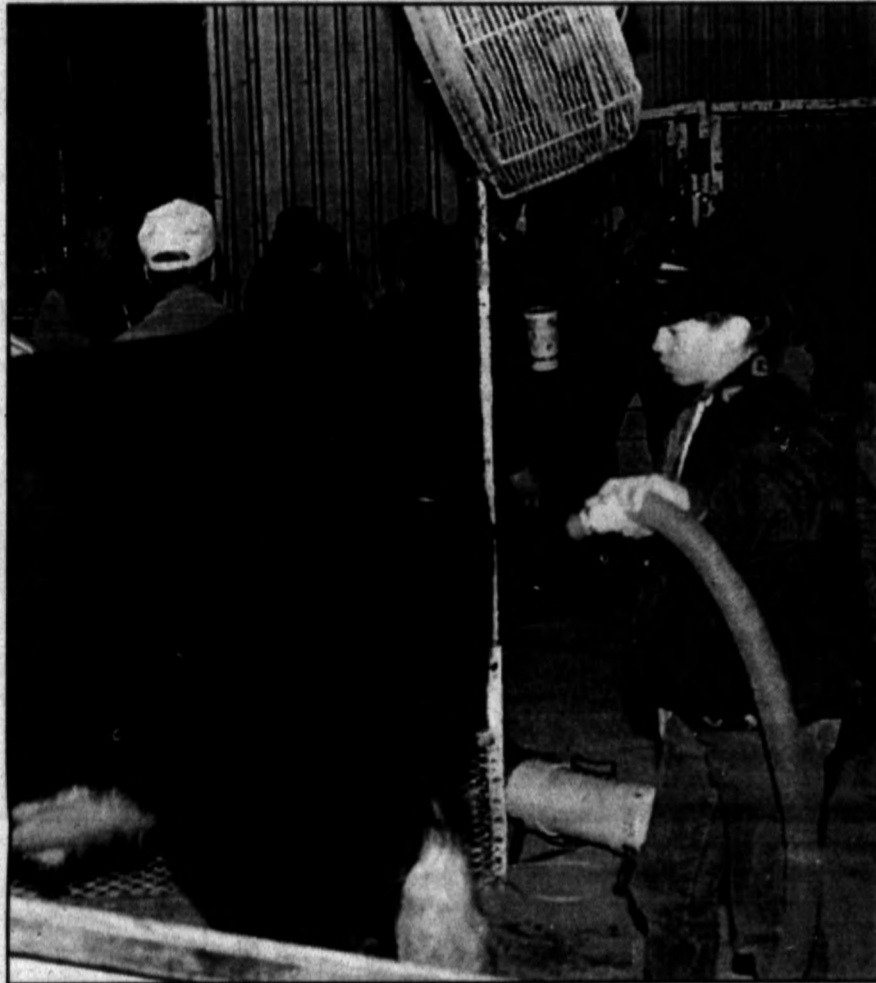

"As the cowards who bombed the World Trade Center can testify, the United States will hunt down terrorists and bring them to justice," he said.

Clinton struck back at Mideast terrorists by freezing their assets in American banks and moving to outlaw raising money in the United States for their operations. Court-approved wiretaps will be used in the campaign.

TAX CUTS: Clinton restated his proposed "Middle Class Bill of Rights."

"I know a lot of you have your own ideas about tax relief. I want to work with you. My test for any proposal is: Will it create jobs and raise incomes ... strengthen families ... shrink the underclass? Is it paid for? If it does, I will support it. If it doesn't, I will oppose it," he said.

The package is made up of a tax deduction for education and training after high school; a $500 tax credit for middle-class children under age 13; penalty-free withdrawal from retirement accounts for school, health care, first-time home buying and parent care; and vouchers worth $2,600 a year for school or job training for laid-off or low-paid workers.

Crash of USAir flight didn't need to happen, test pilots tell NTSB

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The pilots of USAir Flight 427 should have been able to recover from a series of sudden rolls and prevent the plane from crashing, two test pilots told federal investigators.

Lester Berven of the Federal Aviation Administration and Michael Carrier of Boeing Commercial Aviation Group said Tuesday that they recovered from similar rolls in repeated computer simulations.

"We were aghast that this could happen," Berven told a National Transportation Safety Board hearing investigating the Sept. 8 crash.

All 132 people aboard the Boeing 737-300 - including Capt. Peter Germano and First Officer Charles Emmett - were killed when it pitched slightly left, recovered, then went into a severe left roll and fell thousands of feet into a ravine.

A spiral of wind from a plane four miles ahead is believed to have initially jostled the plane, according to other witnesses at the hearing. What caused the subsequent severe trouble remains a mystery.

Boeing senior engineer James Kerrigan said the computer simulations were based on approximations of flight conditions. A pilots' union official discounted the test pilots' comments.

"What they are saying is only speculation," said Tom Kreamer, a senior executive with the Air Line Pilots Association. "The rudder moved the opposite of the way it was supposed to have moved to save the plane. We have to determine what forced that rudder over, and there is no reason to believe that an experienced pilot would flip a plane over on its back on purpose."

The flight-data recorder, or "black box," tracks speed, altitude and other factors 20 times a second but does not provide rudder positions.

"It would be real nice to have rudder angle. That would remove a lot of guesswork," said Harry Dellicker, a Boeing data analyst.

Investigators asked detailed questions about the plane's rudder. Experts have said the plane's twisting motion as it fell suggests the rudder was slammed all the way to the left.

Rudder failure also is a possible cause of the 1991 crash of another Boeing 737-300 at Colorado Springs, Colo. The FAA has begun a review of all rudder systems on Boeing 737s, and USAir has warned its pilots to be aware of the possibility of spontaneous rudder movements on its 737s.

Investigators also have discussed possible problems with a flap on the leading edge of Flight 427's left wing. Dellicker said the part, called a stat, has not been ruled out as a cause of the crash.

Names in the news

LOS ANGELES (AP) - For $15,000 a month, Robert DeNiro gets four bedrooms and 1.5 acres of land. As a bonus, he gets a swank Beverly Hills address.

DeNiro is leasing the home of British actor Roger Moore, the Los Angeles Times reported Sunday.

The estate has an exercise room, tennis court and pool. DeNiro, whose begins filming the movie "Heat" this month, is leasing the country manor-style house for six months, the Times reported.

In "Heat," DeNiro plays a criminal being pursued by a Los Angeles police homicide lieutenant played by Al Pacino.

Great ideas can really catch on

Kerosene Heaters Are Becoming More Popular
But They Can Be Dangerous If Misused

Kerosene space heaters are becoming more and more popular as an alternative heating source. Caution must be used when operating your kerosene heater and storing its fuel.

Before using your kerosene heater, be sure to:

- Use proper fuel.
- Read the instructions carefully.
- Properly ventilate the room.

While operating your kerosene heater:

- Fill the heater out of doors.
- Do not overfill.
- Use only the fuel recommended by the manufacturer.
- Do not refuel the heater when it is hot.
- Do not place clothes or furniture near it.
- Do not leave it unattended.
- Do not run the heater when you are sleeping.

Remember, to check for a product safety seal of approval and be sure your heater has all the current safety features.

OFFICIAL RULES & ENTRY BLANK

1. TO ENTER: No Purchase is required. Print your name, address, zip code and phone number on the Official Sweepstakes Entry Form provided at participating stores. Deposit the completed Entry Form in the Official Sweepstakes Entry Box. Each entry must be hand printed. No photocopies or mechanically reproduced entries will be honored. Sponsors are not responsible for lost, late, misdirected, illegible or incomplete entries.
2. DRAWING: A Drawing will be held in each participating store to randomly select winners on or about Saturday, January 28, 1995, at 7:00 p.m. The Drawing will be conducted by authorized persons representing the participating store(s) whose decision shall be final. Odds of winning any prize depends upon the number of entries received.
3. Winners selected at each participating store (one (1) per participating store) will receive a Magnavox 27" Stereo Color Monitor/Receiver Model #TS2760C, average retail value $500.00. NOT INCLUDED: Any federal, state, or local taxes. Such taxes are the sole responsibility of the winner(s). Prizes must be accepted as described above. No cash substitutions are offered.
4. The "Football Fan Favorites" Sweepstakes is being conducted individually in participating stores in the Continental United States and Hawaii. Eligibility is limited to adults 18 years of age or older. Employees of the participating stores, Fleming Companies, their advertising or promotional agencies or anyone engaged in the development or implementation of the "Football Fan Favorites" Sweepstakes and their immediate families are not eligible to win. Void where prohibited by law. All federal, state and local laws apply.
5. WINNERS will be notified by certified mail and need not be present to win. Winners may be required to submit an Affidavit of Eligibility and Liability release. Failure to comply with this provision will result in disqualification and an alternate winner will be selected. By acceptance of a prize, the winner consents to the use of his or her name and address for the purpose of advertising without additional compensation.

ALL ENTRIES MUST BE RECEIVED NO LATER THAN SATURDAY, JANUARY 28, 1995
