Energy Experts Forecast Costs

Energy Supply for Irrigation Said Okay

Irrigation
Conference Speakers

Addressing the audience who attended the High Plains Irrigation Conference here Friday is K.B. "Tex" Watson, president of Pioneer Natural Gas Company. Reports were given by other energy officials including James Hull, manager of Rural Electric Cooperative, and at right, Berl Springer, vice, president of Southwestern Public Service.

While definite optimism runs high for the future Panhandle water supply for irrigation farming, caution seems to be the bedfellow of energy sources needed to harness this natural resource.

At least this was the general picture painted by water and energy experts at the annual High Plains Irrigation Conference held at the Hereford Bull Barn Friday.

BEFORE ABOUT 150 persons, mostly area irrigation farmers, 13 specialists in agriculture research, water and energy revealed the latest in irrigation equipment and developments and described the future of water and energy supplies.

The conference was climaxed when a panel of energy producers and distributors gave a confident view of the energy availability in the near future but not so rosy a picture for long range plans. A most certain price increase over the next few years was forecast by the panel although a leveling off period is expected.

Appearing on the panel were James

Hull, manager of the Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative; K.B. (Tex) Watson, president of the Pioneer Natural Gas Co.; and Berl Springer, executive vice president of Southwestern Public Service.

Governmental regulation over the energy companies was the chief reason expressed by Watson for the recent troubles in the shortage and rising costs of energy.

"THE BIGGEST threat to energy supplies and cost is regulation by government (both state and national)," Watson explained. A cited example is that of attempts by the Federal Power Commission (FPC) to control the use of intrastate natural gas. Interstate gas is presently supervised by the FPC both in price and distribution.

However, Watson also comforted the immediate situation of energy supplies noting that customers will not have to worry about gas supply problems this year.

Springer concurred saying that electrical service to present customers would not cease in the next few decades. The Southwestern Public Service fuel reserves were plentiful as the company keeps at least 15 per cent in reserve. In natural gas shortages, the company burns fuel oil. Other sources are being sought such as coal and prospect of a gas-cooled fast breeder reactor, which is expected to be decided on in August. He too noted that the government intervention was the main cause of present troubles.

As far as price hikes, Watson said the natural gas cost would go up at least 20 to 25 cents per MCF (thousands of cubic feet) this year. He thinks that a leveling off should occur.

The REC and SPS prices depend more or less on the gas costs.

Hull explained that the REC would have electricity for its members and is presently meeting needs of the coop by building two new substations.

Watson summed up the situation of price for the panel—a set of two alternatives for the future—either pay more for gas or do without.

Concerning the supply of water, A.L. Black of Friona and a member of the Texas Water Development Board said water would be around for our lifetimes, but that as the existing supply runs dry, importation of water is a necessity.

On importation, he and the other speakers are sure it is coming, the question is when. Black as well as Duncan Ellison, executive director of Water, Inc. said the political climate seems right for passage of a water importation plan and legislation to implement it.

Wayne Wyatt, also of the TWDB staff explained where the existing water is and how long irrigation farmers in the area counties could expect to have it.

FOR DEAF SMITH County, he said that about one third of the present supplies would be left in the year 2020. Overall about half of the present supply will still be in the Ogallala Aquifer and the much smaller Santa Rosa Aquifer.

The remainder of the conference included sessions in use of center pivot sprinklers and automated gated pipe irrigations systems, a report of grower irrigation field results by Leon New, area irrigation specialist, a study of irrigation research facts by Nolan Clark, irrigation agricultural engineer, and an explanation of how pumping equipment influences irrigation costs (by Wayne Keese, irrigation agricultural engineer).

The conference was hosted by the Deaf Smith County Water Association and Justin McBride, Deaf Smith County Extension Agent.

WATER was an important subject around the area this week. Hereford hosted the High Plains Irrigation Conference Friday; the Deaf Smith County Gas Users Association met Wednesday night to discuss the energy situation in regards to irrigated farming; and the Red River Authority is holding a quality water management hearing Monday in Canyon.

IF YOU'RE interested in arts and crafts, don't forget the Arts and Crafts Extravaganza today in the Community Center. Sponsored by Hereford Art Guild, the big show started Saturday and continues today from noon to 6 p.m. The show offers a wide variety of artwork suited to art buffs of diverse tastes.

WE HOPE a lot of folks are making plans to attend the quarterly meeting of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, since the program is being handled by the Bicentennial Committee and the event will be a joint luncheon for all civic clubs. It should be an interesting and informative meeting and the 11:30 luncheon at the Bull Barn is open to the public. Reservations should be made with the C of C office.

★★★★ Gas Users Act on Priority Change ★★★★★

Further encroachment by the federal government upon the affairs of individuals usually prompts quick reaction. And when a person's whole means of living is threatened, the response comes swiftly and loud such as that from the Deaf Smith County Gas Users Association Wednesday night.

Meeting in the Hereford Community Center, area gas users showed to hear facts and then express their views on the recent attempts by the Federal Power Commission to reclassify the irrigation gas users in the priority three category (industrial) from the priority two category, (commercial) which is presently enjoyed.

ALTHOUGH, the order change was directed at El Paso Natural Gas Co., and not Pioneer Natural Gas (our area supplier), the farmers attending the meeting are concerned that, "a foot in the door will lead to an affect upon all irrigation farming."

An order dated Dec. 19 by the FPC, included a paragraph authorizing the change. Since then Panhandle farmers and Pioneer have been in constant activity to investigate the cause and reasoning for the change and to find ways to counteract the order before it goes into effect Wednesday, March 19.

The order specifies that El Paso is to show on a new set of tariffs that irrigation gas use is in a category three priority, not priority two.

Luke Miller, president of the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association, and Bruce Rigler of the Plainview Gas Users, told the gathering that immediate support was needed from all member associations to fight the change. Other groups have been raising funds for the fight by levying a $5 per well payment on all members.

The last meeting of the local association was in February, 1972. Since then the annual dues of $2 a well have not been actively collected. So the members decided a compromise $5 a well dues payment would raise what might be necessary.

UPON A MOTION made by Virgil Marsh, Association president Dick Fellers asked for hands on whether or not to send statements to all members as well as to solicit voluntary contributions from members. The motion passed overwhelmingly.

The money raised goes into the treasury and once a sufficient amount is collected, all but necessary operating funds will be sent to the Plains Association. The pooled money is then to be used to foot expenses of those going to Washington D.C. to correct the order change.

"We've got to work like heck to delete the paragraph (of FPC order)," Rigler emphasized. "It's up to us and we should let all our friends know the seriousness of the situation. I don't feel safe at all with the category (No. 3)."

He said some of the El Paso industrial customers such as cotton gins and fertilizer plants had been interrupted by as much as 40 per cent during peak energy consumptions.

"If the pressure gets weak, farmers could be cut off (under priority three)," he said.

SO FAR the 14-county Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association has sent representatives to the national capital to meet with the FPC and seek out the alternatives. Rigler explained that one group while in Washington was advised to file a motion of intervention in the El Paso case, which was done.

However, nothing has come of it even though a letter in response was promised, Rigler said. "We couldn't even find out why the change of priority was written or which FPC official did it."

Representatives of the gas users and Pioneer met on the change and both sides indicated that the order was not beneficial and therefore should be jointly fought.

Pioneer president K.B. (Tex) Watson, appeared before the High Plains Irrigation Conference Friday and said the order would "not effect our customers. However, it is a dangerous precedent and all effort should be made... to have the ruling reversed."

RIGLER POINTED out that the FPC (See GAS USERS, Page 2)

RRA Water Plan Hearing Scheduled

Sources of water usually are the primary concern of area residents and farmers, but what about the destination of water located in Deaf Smith County?

This question doesn't crop up much if at all. However, it is one being heavily emphasized this week by Tommy Carnahan, Hereford director of the Red River Authority (RRA) of Texas in relation to an upcoming public hearing. The hearing is being held to study the contents of the proposed Red River Basin Water Quality Management Plan for the entire area of the authority. It stretches from the border of New Mexico to Fannin County, located on the other side of Dallas in northeast Texas.

THE HEARING is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 18 in Rm. 206 of Student Activity Center on the West Texas State University campus in Canyon.

"I think everyone in this area ought to be concerned about the future applications of this plan," Carnahan said Thursday. "It will affect the city, the vegetable sheds, feedlots, and especially area farmers—in other words, anyone who might have water draining into the Tierra Blanca Creek."

The Tierra Blanca is the source for most runoff water in this area and leads directly into the Red River. Therefore, it is included as part of the Red River Authority water shed.

The public hearing is being held as the last chance for persons to express any opinions before the plan goes into effect on April 1. Other hearings are being held in Childress on March 20 and in Wichita Falls on March 25.

CARNAHAN is deeply concerned with the plan contents as they will dictate future guidelines for water and substances which might be permitted to drain into the creek.

"It could turn out like a situation in New Mexico in which farmers were told certain fertilizers and herbicides couldn't be used on their land because they contained substances which were deemed unsuitable," the water official said.

The plan similar to others controlling water authority districts, establishes standards for pollution control along with proposed waste-water treatment facility improvements including estimated costs for these improvements. The plan was completed by the RRA staff and will only be changed subject to public hearing discussion and final approval by the Texas Water Quality Board (TWQB) and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

THE RRA was designated in 1974 by the TWQB to prepare a water quality management plan for the Red River Basin in accordance with federal law and the directions of the EPA.

Although, this area doesn't have a volume of drained water, Carnahan encourages all concerned to attend the meeting.

"I was just notified about the meeting this week and I think others should be aware of it," he said. "It's their last chance to comment on the plan."

The public hearing will start with a welcome and introduction by Fred Parkey, general manager of the authority.

Approval of the complete RRA water quality management plan and the TWQB public hearings will follow under the

Local Meetings Scheduled

Three area meetings are scheduled this week including the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, the Hereford City Commission and the County General Hospital Board of Directors.

The hospital board is meeting at 7 a.m. Tuesday in Hospital conference room.

The City Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. Monday at city hall.

The C of C board meets at 6:30 a.m. Thursday in the C of C office building.

Membership Drive

Bicentennial Luncheon Set For Tuesday

Auction of Bicentennial commemorative coins is the main objective of a community luncheon to be held at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Bull Barn.

Local civic organizations have rescheduled regular meetings to coincide with the joint assembly and all individuals are invited. Cost of the catered meal will be $2.80.

president, will be auctioneer of the Deaf Smith County medallions which are suitable for framing or as jewelry. The coins, minted in gold, silver and bronze, will increase in value as keepsakes and mementoes of the nation's 200th birthday celebration.

Auction profits will be used by the Hereford and Deaf Smith County Bicentennial Associations, sponsors of the luncheon.

LOCAL CATTLEMEN who recently discussed the beef industry with U.S. legislators will report results of the trip. Jim Conkright, member of this delegation, will be the main speaker.

Co-chairmen of the county Bicentennial association are Mrs. Joe Reinauer and Mrs. Clint Formby.

Award Comes As Surprise

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

It's been a year of worry and uncertainty for the Loyd W. Vaughn family, as in most farm families. But it also is one they will never forget or regret.

Even with all the ups and downs experienced in the agricultural arena during 1974, the Vaughn's of 213 Ranger in Hereford consider it a good year especially since they were named the 1974 Texas Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) Farm Family of the Year.

"THE LORD'S been good to me this year and I have to owe much of my success to Him, even the award," Vaughn said while reflecting on the hard and long days he spent working his some 800 acres of farm land.

"I was totally taken when I came home last week and my wife told me we had received the award," Vaughn noted. "It wasn't until I woke up the next morning that I fully realized what I had won."

The Vaughns were chosen for Farm Family of the Year Award from among 18 FmHA district winners nominated from across the state. The award goes annually to one district nominee, who is selected from entries of "farm families who have made outstanding success through the use of Farmers Home Administration credit in developing a family farm, while at the same time contributing to the betterment of agriculture and their community," an FmHA release said.

IN THE FARMING business all his life, Vaughn said it is probably one of the biggest risks one can get into. "But with the help of a strong faith, everything can usually come out alright."

He farmed with his father while growing up mostly in Muleshoe and got an early nack for farming. For awhile he worked on other farms in his early adulthood and eventually encountered the right situation to finance his own farm operation in 1965.

The help for the endeavor came from FmHA and he began a farm in Muleshoe. After six years, he moved his family to Hereford, where he now runs a 323 acre farm 2 1/2 miles north of Westway and about 440 acres of rented land near Farley.

His principal crops are wheat and milo, which really gave him experience in the laws of supply and demand as prices during the year fluctuated constantly and weather and worldwide grain shortages dictated distributions.

However, Vaughn looks to the future as far as his farm operations are concerned. The future for him is 50 acres of improved grasses, cross fence and a cow-calf operation. He plans to implement these new facets of the farm as his income allows.

FOR VAUGHN and his wife, Glenda Rae and his children Gerald, 14, Stevie, 11, and Travis, 4, enjoyment of life is easy. They are a family that likes doing things together including a common interest in music.

In their well decorated modern home, the Vaughns have included a long line of musical instruments including a player piano, an antique organ and a modern organ for more continuous playing.

Glenda Rae is the coordinator of the family sing-songs and Loyd likes to join in the singing with the rest of the family in harmonious unity.

"I love to sing," said Vaughn. "It's a part of me."

Although Vaughn doesn't have any specific hobbies besides farming itself, he does enjoy the company of good friends. "People I guess you could say are my hobby," he added.

Glenda Rae has, however, many hobbies which more than make up for her husband's lack of them. She paints, plays music instruments, collects barbed wire specimens, likes to decorate and make different arts and crafts. One painting of an Indian adobe house is a special favorite of Loyd's and he hung it proudly in their bedroom.

THE MAIN INTEREST of the Vaughn boys is athletics. Gerald runs track and even won on the state level recently as a long distance sprinter. Stevie has participated on some championship baseball teams, which he proudly explains.

Of course Travis is a bit young for sports. Vaughn says that his time will come.

The whole family at different times have helped with the farming operations.

"MY SONS have worked for me at various times, but they keep pretty busy with their interests," Vaughn said. "I want them to do what they want first."

Above all though, the Vaughns are deep believers in the good in people which follows right along with a strong religious belief. They attend the Church of the Nazarene in Hereford.

Vaughn says that any farmer of course worries about his farm investment, but not to the point of thinking about it all the time.

"I THINK GOD will provide as He has in the past and I credit Him with what I already have," he said. He said he really feels close to God when farming especially when he feels the moist earth in his hands.

He is elated to have received the award but he confided that he doesn't want to get a "big head" over it. However he said he looks forward to the national FmHA Farm Family of the Year competition and wishes he could win it as it would mean a trip for him and Glenda to Washington D.C.

The competition is in April and national winner is honored in Washington.

It will be conducted much as the state competition with an interviewer coming to the farm for observation.

The Vaughns will be honored locally in April for the honor by the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce.

Applications Still Taken For Sewers In Labor Survey

The Brand has reprinted the survey form for the prospective garment firm which is considering Hereford for the location of a plant. It is located on page 13C.

The form should be filled out by qualified sewing machine operators and returned to the Chamber of Commerce office on Main Street. The survey is being taken accurately measure the potential labor force here.

A decision of the firm is expected early next week although they are still considering the current application. It is not an employment application.

The company operates on a large scale and is expected to pay well above the minimum wage.

Loyd W. Vaughn adjusts machinery at his farm located two and a half miles north of Westway community. He was notified this week that his family was dubbed Farm Family of the Year by the Texas Farm Home Administration. They reside at 213 Ranger.

Rifle Project To Start

A new project will be started in Deaf Smith County on Tuesday night, March 18, at 7 p.m. in the REC Medallion Room on East Highway 60.
It is a Rifle Project, which will consist of at least two meetings on firearm safety and at least three meetings on sportsmanship and marksmanship. The three meetings on sportsmanship and marksmanship will be conducted at the City's Pistol-Rifle Range and all meetings will be under adult supervision.
The objective of the Rifle project is to learn and practice the rules of rifle safety, sportsmanship and accuracy with firearms.
All 4-H'ers, age 9-19, are eligible to participate, along with anyone wishing to join 4-H and use this as their project. A rifle team from Deaf Smith County will participate at District Round-Up in May.

School May Face Civil Rights Probe

Hereford School District is on a government list along with a number of other Texas districts alleged to have substantial racial disproportion in some schools, it was reported Saturday.

John H. Pratt, U.S. Judge for the District of Columbia, ordered the federal government Friday to investigate Hereford, Dumas, Pampa, Plainview and Amarillo schools for possible violation of civil rights laws. Other Texas districts were also included.

Bill Phillips, administrative assistant for the Hereford schools, said the district has had no official notification of a possible investigation. He pointed out that a news story several months ago reported the Department of Health, Education and Welfare had taken information from schools across the nation identified as having large minority groups.

Phillips said the HEW indicated that they realize the information, gathered in 1972, was old and they were not making any charges against individual schools at the time but would wait for an investigation. That old report mentioned Hereford's bilingual education program.

The local district realized it had a racial disproportion at Central Elementary some time ago, and this is being worked out in the building of a new elementary school. Boundaries are likely to be changed with the opening of the new school, located just off West Park Avenue. Considerable changes and corrections have already been made in the bilingual education program.

According to a report in the Amarillo Daily News Saturday, comments from school officials in the area about appearing on the list ranged from "We don't know anything about it" to "We've been working on it all year."

THE CANYON GROUP of the C of C Commences Membership Drive

A quick-hitting, two-day campaign to sign up new members for Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will be kicked off with a 6:30 a.m. breakfast Monday at the Caison Steak House, it was announced this week by Mac Tubb, drive chairman.

Six team captains met Friday afternoon to organize the drive and name their four team members. Prospect cards will be dealt to the captains Monday morning, and the contest will close at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The winning team will be honored, along with their spouses, at a Country Club dinner Friday. Individual winners will also be honored with merchandise prizes of $200, $100 and $50 going to the top three in signing up new members. Certificates will be presented which will be redeemable for merchandise in Hereford firms. Those who sign up five business members will also qualify to join the Hereford Hustler Club.

Bill Johnson is serving as membership chairman this year and has named Mac Tubb as the drive chairman. The teams and their captains are: Hard Chargers, John D. Bryant; Gold Dusters, Irene McKinster; Bunch's Bananas, John Bunch; On Timers, Don Tardy; Lee's Winners, Lee Umsted; and Wagner's Wheels, Charles Wagner.

The C of C hopes to broaden its membership base and involve more people in the activities of the chamber, according to Johnson.

one-fifth of all Americans were living in poverty just 25 years ago, and today the total is just half of that.

□ In 1952 there were some 202,000 households with annual incomes of $25,000 or more. In 1972 there were 4,225,000.

□ College enrollment has more than doubled in the last 15 years, and about 60 per cent of all college graduates today come from homes in which parents did not complete even one year of college.

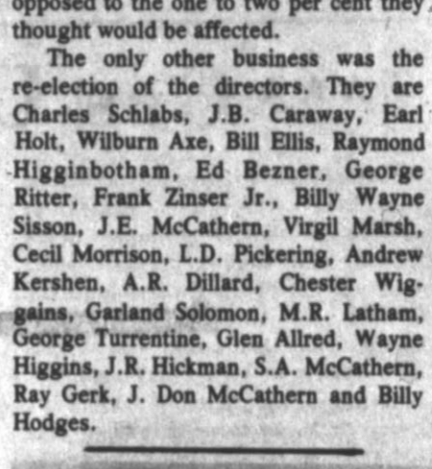

□ More family income is now being spent on education, recreation, housing and health care, and less on cosmetics, jewelry and alcohol.

MR. WATTENBERG concludes that Americans are "smarter, wiser, calmer, shrewder, tougher and more forgiving than their critics of the left and of the right."

He foresees that Americans will continue to be dissatisfied with their state of affairs . . . and that they'll continue to evidence progress in every area.

School Administrator Named To Hall of Honor

By DAN WELTY
Brand Sports Editor

In 20 years of coaching, Larry Wartes was on the winning side of football 168 times. His recent election to the Texas High School Coaches Association Hall of Honor was just one of many awards he's received, but Larry says he never would have gotten those awards unless someone helped him.

Larry Wartes is now an assistant administrator with the Hereford Independent School System. He's in charge of school plant operations. But he could sit and tell you hours and hours of coaching stories. That is, if he wasn't so busy in the administrating job.

WARTES GRADUATED from Amarillo High School back, he says, when there was only one high school in that city. He was a four-year letterman in basketball at Hardin Simmons University in Abilene. He returned to the Abilene campus in later years and received his master's degree.

"I began teaching and coaching (and some people fail to realize that coaches are teachers first), in a little class B school down at Meadow in 1951. From Meadow I went to Stanton, Tex. Then to Stamford and on to Hereford. I was lucky in that I had the chance to coach in every class of school, from B all the way up to AAAA."

Wartes outlined the award he was to be honored with by the Texas High School Coaches Association. Some of the criteria states that an inductee into the Hall of Honor must have been a member of the organization for at least 15 years; that he should have contributed to the association; and that he should have contributed to his profession.

The former Hereford coach is one person who can fill the bill. He was a director of the Coaches Association from Region II, the Abilene area, from 1960 to 1962. After moving to Hereford in 1967, he was nominated for the same position from Region I, and served three years from 1969 to 1971.

"I was fortunate to be able to serve the association for five years as it turned out. Most coaches serve their two years and someone else moves in. I was just lucky to get to do it for five years," Wartes said.

While head coach at Stamford, Wartes' teams won the state championship in 1958 and 1959. The record books show Brady won the 1959 championship, but Wartes' team beat Brady twice that year. Stamford lost the 1959 trophy by default because of an ineligible player.

IN 20 YEARS of coaching, Wartes saw time as a coach for football, basketball, track, baseball, golf and even a term as a girl's basketball coach. As a head football coach, Wartes won exactly 100 games, lost 45 and tied 2. Twenty players who were under Wartes as head coach won All-State honors, and Wartes even had one basketball player that won All-State recognition.

Although Wartes was never selected coach of the year in the state, he was in the top four on four different occasions: 1958, 1959, 1964 and 1966. In the Abilene area he was named as Coach of the Year in 1958, 1959, 1963, 1964 and 1966. In addition, he was named Coach of the Year at Hereford in 1968 and 1970.

But Wartes is quick to point out that there were many other persons who worked hard for the recognition that fell on his shoulders.

"There were so many honors, I wasn't deserving of all of them. I was lucky to be recognized for the players and other coaches on my staff I was associated with."

Wartes served for three years under Gordon Wood, a person who Wartes and most everyone else recognizes as the winningest high school coach since high school football was organized.

"A LUCKY BREAK that I got was that I got to coach with Gordon Wood. I learned by being associated with him. Not only him but all the coaches I worked with," said Wartes. "I received all those awards, but I don't know of anyone who could do that by himself. It can't be done unless someone helped him to get it."

On July 31, Larry Wartes will be inducted into the Hall of Honor along with four other Texans who were coaching greats. The honors will be passed out at an awards luncheon on the last day of the annual coaching school, held this year in Fort Worth.

"I feel fortunate that I was chosen for this honor," Wartes said. "I don't suppose there could be a greater honor, because it's selected by the coaches themselves. It's been a greater honor for me to be able to serve the others in my profession."

EXIT WARTES, the coach. And enter

Wartes the assistant administrator.

Wartes goes about his job of assistant administrator in much the same way he did coaching. With an air of professionalism that includes hard work to get the job done and done right.

He is now in charge of school plant operations. This includes transportation, maintenance, food service, insurance, attendance, bulk purchasing and a variety of other jobs. Asked if he thought his job was mostly that of a troubleshooter, Wartes said that might be a good description.

"It's my job to see that the school plant is in working order. That the buses are running and the buildings are going to have heat the next day, that sort of thing. I have many helpers who work in all these different places, but when problems arise, I'm the one who usually is called on to solve them," the former coach said.

Wartes may work a bulk order of a million paper clips one morning and then work up bid proposals to have a parking lot paved that afternoon. He may oversee office furniture from the time it is stored in the school's warehouse till the time it is moved and set up in the school building.

"ON A TYPICAL DAY I may be called on to buy a bulk load of duplicator fluid and arrange for a truck to pick it up in Amarillo. Before I'm through there, I might get a call for a tractor to come and pack the baseball field. Then a principal may call and tell me of a family out in the country whose children aren't attending school.

Then another principal will call and say he's out of duplicator paper. Meanwhile I'm checking on the limits of the liability on the school's insurance policies and 19 other things," said the former coach. "But I'm depending on a lot of people to help me get all this work done. I just oversee it and report to the school superintendent."

Transportation is one of Wartes' big responsibilities. He must see that 27 bus routes that total 2,400 miles must be covered every day so that 1,500 students can reach school and get back home.

Wartes has been an assistant administrator for four years and he'll likely stick with the job.

"I could've kept on coaching, but this was about as good a school system as a guy could get into. And I still feel the same way," he said.

Keys Can Be Key To Crime Prevention

In an interview designed to help Deaf Smith Co. businessmen protect their establishments against crime, Dean Butcher of the Sheriff's Dept. of crime prevention unit cautioned, "No lock will protect a place if a burglar gets hold of the keys. Many burglaries result from current or ex-employees having keys. Employers can greatly reduce this problem by implementing a sensible program of key control."

Butcher recommended that businessmen monitor their employer's access to keys. When someone leaves the company, all locks should be rekeyed. (It's not necessary to have them replaced.) Also, when an establishment moves to a new location, a locksmith should rekey all the locks so that former occupants cannot use their keys.

"A manager or proprietor should be extremely careful about who has access to keys to any part of his operation, even for short periods of time," Butcher continued. "Particular attention should be paid to possession of keys by persons providing the company with maintenance contract services. If keys get lost, tumblers should be reset immediately."

Suggesting that business people always separate their home and office keys from their ignition keys when they leave their cars in parking lots or garages, Butcher added that cars should always be locked and the keys removed whenever they're left unattended. He went on to caution against letting anyone "hide" keys above visors, under floor mats and so forth, because burglars know where to look for hidden keys, too.

"Identification tags on keys should be avoided," Butcher said. "Tags tell burglars which locks they fit. Locks that open with skeleton keys are bad news, because anyone can buy a skeleton key in a hardware store."

In closing, Butcher urged managers and proprietors to assign key control to one reliable employe, making keys available for legitimate purposes but easily monitored.

The commercial crime prevention program conducted by Deaf Smith Co. Sheriff Dept. is part of the Panhandle Regional Crime Prevention Program partially funded by Criminal Justice Division of Governor's Office.

For further information on Key control and other aspects of the crime prevention programs sponsored by Deaf Smith Co. Sheriff Dept., members of the Deaf Smith Co. business community should contact Dean Butcher, at 364-2311.

Coach At Third

Coach Aaron Bourland comments to baserunner Mike Dudding as the Herd player takes a lead off third base. Action came during the Dumas-Hereford game in the first round of the weekend's baseball tourney. Results of the finals of the tourney were not available at press time.

Hull Elected Key Club Lt. Governor

Mike Hull, Junior at Hereford High School, was recently elected Lieutenant Governor of Division 33 of Key Clubs in Texas and Oklahoma.

Hull was nominated at the recent Spring Rally for Key Clubs held at Amarillo High. Following nominations, candidates delivered a campaign speech and then votes were cast.

As Lieutenant Governor of Division 33 of the Texas-Oklahoma District of Key Clubs International, Hull will oversee all the other clubs in the division, including Tulia, Muleshoe, Amarillo High, Dimmitt and Hereford. His duties will be to help promote the clubs and act as an advisor. In addition, Hull will be called upon to re-organize three Key Clubs that have broken up, Canyon, Amarillo Caprock and Friona. Reports on all clubs in the division will be made by Hull to the T-O district.

Hull will attend at least two board meetings that will be held in Dallas, one in June and the other in November.

At the board meetings, Hull will represent Division 33.

The End Zone

IT WAS another one of those weekends where almost everything sportwise occurred on Saturday.

There was a girl's track meet involving 18 teams held in Hereford Saturday (sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce), there was a finals round played in the Deaf Smith County Baseball Tournament, there was a Hereford team competing in the XIT Relays up at Dalhart, and there were tons of other sports things going on. But....

They were all held too late for us to get any results for this edition of the paper. One person suggested that we could overcome that problem by becoming a daily and putting out a paper every day. What he didn't know is that it usually takes the sports desk three days to do one day's work anyway.

FOR SOME OF us who are new in town, it's amazing to learn all the coaching honors and recognitions that have come Larry Wartes' way in his career. The story on page two reveals that Larry Wartes is alive and well and working as hard as ever as an assistant administrator in Hereford. We think it's an interesting article about an interesting man.

JUST ONE MORE comment about snow skiing and then we'll leave it alone for a few months, maybe. Channel Four's Steve Oakley had the nerve to go up there in the mountains last weekend and get snowed in at Angel Fire. Sports fans, with snow that good still coming, it's gonna take some awful warm days to melt the snow. And there's nothing like skiing in cut-offs and a T-shirt. Soak up that sunshine!

TAKE NOTE OF the article on the new facility that may get built in Hereford yet, a complex with eight well-lighted ball parks. We thought Chuck Cosper had run into a brick wall as far as getting the thing pushed through, but old Chuck's persistence seems to have produced some results. Hereford may get that complex yet. More power to ya, Chuck!

A TEXAS LEAGUE umpire will be in Hereford to conduct rules and umpiring sessions for Bronco League members and anyone else who would like to come.

The umpire, Eldon Narritz, will be coming Hereford way out of the kindness of Bobby Bragan, Texas League president and the Abilene Arrows. March 29 is the day and there will be three sessions, morning, afternoon and evening. The meetings will be held in the Community Center. If you need more information contact Gene Combs.

IT'S GETTING ABOUT time to break out the old tennis racket and practice up on some of the old ground strokes. The Chamber of Commerce, among all the other many things they do, will be sponsoring a tennis tourney again this summer for all Hereford residents. We're trying to get Jerry Payne, chairman of the C of C sports committee, to establish a new class: sports editors, 25 and under. Tennis, anyone?

Men's Softball League Sets Thursday Meet

A meeting of anyone interested in a men's softball league will be held Thursday, March 20, at 8 p.m. at K'Bob's Steak House.

League officials said attendance at the meeting would be essential in getting the league started for the 1975 season. Coaches and players are invited to attend.

Survey finds an increase in news on TV.

Booster Club Sets Monday Meeting

The Hereford Whiteface Booster Club will meet at the high school cafeteria Monday night at 7:30 p.m., according to Booster president Tom Simons. Members of the Herd's volleyball and baseball teams will be introduced to the Boosters. All other spring sports teams will go before the Boosters at a later meeting. Parents of volleyball and baseball team members are invited to attend the meeting, as well as members of the Booster Club.

Levelland, Berger in Championship Finals

Herd Rally Short, Sandies Win Consolation Title in Tourney

A last-inning rally fell short and the Hereford Whitefaces lost an 11-9 decision to the Amarillo Sandies in the consolation finals of the Deaf Smith County C of C Baseball Tournament here Saturday morning.

The 'Faces fell behind 4-1 in the early going and came back to tie the game at 4-4 in the fourth, but the Sandies chased across four runs in the fifth and took an 11-5 lead in the top of the seventh.

A three-run homer by Roy Martinez and a run-producing double by Mike Foster plated four runs for Hereford in the final frame before Amarillo reliever Matt Biggers put out the fire. Hereford outthit the winners by 11-9, but six errors afield led to the 'Faces downfall.

Lynn Tarr started for Hereford on the mound and was followed by Vance Hennington and Craig Nieman.

Martinez drove in four runs with his homer and a double, while Mike Crim and Mike Dudding each had a double and a single. Matt Shirley was the winning pitcher.

The Whitefaces lost a close 5-4 decision to the Dumas Demons in the opening game Thursday when errors cost the Herd an opportunity of playing in the championship bracket. Roy Martinez limited the Demons to seven hits while his teammates collected nine, but eight fielding miscues led to the second defeat of the season.

Hereford drew a bye in the consolation bracket of the seven-team tourney Friday, while Levelland and Berger advanced to the finals with wins over Canyon and Dumas. Amarillo, first-round loser to Canyon, downed Pampa Friday to reach the consolation finals against the Whitefaces. Canyon and Dumas were to play at 1 p.m. Saturday for third place, while the title game between Levelland and Berger was set at 3:45.

The loss by Hereford Thursday snapped a four-game win streak. Vic Vaughn went the distance for the Demons in that game with only Harvey Torres, Mike Dudding, David Artho and Martinez able to solve the off-ings of the southpaw. Torres had three hits while Dudding rapped an inside-the-park homer and singled in another tally to plate three runs. Martinez and Artho also had two safeties each.

Martinez deserved a better fate as he struck out 10 men and walked only one batter while going the full seven frames. In his first start this season, he hurled a two-hitter and lost the decision.

Berger, after drawing a first-round bye, won its first game of the season Friday and that triumph put them in the championship finals. The Bulldogs scored an 8-6 decision over Dumas, breaking a 16-game losing streak dating back to last year.

Dale Florer rapped two hits for the Bulldogs while Mark Miller's two run single in the bottom of the sixth was the big blow to provide the winning runs. Florer socked a home run with no one on base. Mickey Robertson started on the mound for Berger but Don Keener picked up the win in relief.

Levelland reached the finals by pounding out a 11-1 victory over Canyon Friday. The game only went five innings, because of the 10-run-lead rule. Jim Richardson and Stanon socked home runs for Levelland, while Brasher knocked in three runs just two hits in the short game. Levelland collected 11 base hits.

The Sandies scored an 8-3 win over Pampa in the consolation round Friday morning. Jim Poole had three hits for Amarillo and Chuck Poole rapped a double and single. Chip Biggers was the winning pitcher, stopping Pampa with just three hits. Two of them were doubles by Fraser and Drinnon.

All three of the opening games Thursday were decided by one run. Levelland scored a close 3-2 decision over Pampa with Willie Franklin's two-run triple in the third frame providing the difference. Brasher also had a three-bagger and Basye had three singles for the winners. Drinnon and Chance had doubles for the Canyon edged Amarillo, 4-3 in the other Thursday game. Ken Cooper was the winning pitcher as he gave up seven hits to the Sandies. Scott Woolrey was the loser. Matt Madewell led Canyon at the Plate with a double and two singles, driving home two runs. Canyon pushed across two runs in the top of the sixth to capture the victory.

Golf Team Slips At Plainview

The Hereford Whiteface Golf team slipped one place in the team standings after the second week of competition on the District 4-AAAA golf tour.

The Herd fell to seventh place in Plainview after a team score of 342 for the day Friday. Curtis Stoerner and George Yocum led the Herd with 79's, but Billy Word slipped to 91, Greg Pagett and Doug Walterscheid had 93's. The Herd junior varsity remained in last place in the district. Don Shaw shot an 88 Friday, Kelly Lea carded a 90, Mark Fowler was at 93, Randall Herr had a 96, Blake Allen was at 100 and Tony Albracht shot a 101.

Curtis Stoerner remained tied in fifth place for medalist honors, seven strokes off the lead.

Team totals found Monterey still in the lead with a 614. Coronado's junior varsity was eight strokes back at 622, Plainview was at 624 and the Monterey jayvees were at 635.

Coronado's varsity leads off fifth place with a 625, Lubbock High is at 661, and Hereford at 665. Plainview's jayvees were at 708, Lubbock High's jayvees were at 713 and Hereford's jayvee finished off the list at 753.

District competition will move to Hereford Friday and Coach Terry Russell said the home course should make a difference in the Herd's scoring. The Herd will not compete in any practice matches between now and Friday.

BASEBALL

LAKELAND, FLA.—Ralph Houk, in his second year as boss of the Bengals at Detroit, says the 1975 pennant race in his eastern American League division will be close. He doesn't claim the Tigers will come from sixth to win it.

But he says the Tigers will be faster, more powerful and very much improved. All the other clubs are also improved, according to Houk. Realists know the Tigers are rebuilding this year. They will miss Al Kaline, for one thing.

Pitching is the big question for the Tigers. Last year they were the worst in the Majors.

TEXAS TALK

Q: I've been told some grocery stores have their own meat grades. Is there more than one system for grading beef cuts?

A: Some meat packers utilize their own grading systems known as name brand or in-house grading. However the grade you see in the supermarket is almost always that assigned the meat by the Standardization and Grading Branch of the United States Department of Agriculture. Meat products will generally carry a label reading "USDA Choice, USDA Prime" or whatever the appropriate grade. USDA grading is done on the basis of carcass classification and is supposed to reflect the eating quality of the meat. A USDA grading system seldom noticed by consumers is the Yield Grade. Purpose of the Yield Grade is the determination of the relative cutability of the carcass. Specifically, how much of the carcass can be used in the four major retail cuts of beef. Highest Yield Grade for beef is USDA-1. Lowest is USDA-5.

Orchestras Compete In Contest UIL Festival Ranks Music Students

The three Hereford secondary schools competed at the UIL Orchestra Contest held at Amarillo College Wednesday. The Hereford High School Orchestra received a second division rating in concert and a second division in sight-reading; and the Stanton orchestra received a first division rating in concert and a second division in sight-reading.

The Hereford High School Orchestra performed Sonata da Camera in E minor (First and Last) by Vivaldi-Brown; Ballet Music from "Le Cid" by Massenet-Isaac; and Russian Sailor's Dance by Gliere-Isaac.

should result in a fine AAAA orchestra." Judge George C. Wilson commented, "A pretty well balanced string group...playing is firm but the orchestra needs to do more with dynamics. Sailor's Dance...a good opening...the performance of this piece was effective...fine performance."

A third judge made mostly technical comments on points of interpretation. All three judges awarded the orchestra division two ratings.

In sight reading, the judge commented, "This group has many fine qualities and appears to be on the way toward becoming an excellent reading group. Keep up the good work..." He awarded the group a second division.

Stanton's orchestra played the all-string composition Port Royal by McKay and the all-orchestra selections Farandole by Bizet and Air de Ballet by Gluck.

La Plata's orchestra played the First Movement, Suite For Strings by Robert Washburn as their string number and as all-orchestra numbers played Cossack Dance by Moussorgski and Chorale-Fugue by J.S. Bach.

La Plata students who competed in the UIL Solo-Ensemble competition in Canyon last Saturday received 13 first divisions, 13 second divisions and one third division rating.

Winners of first division ratings were: Richard Olson, a string bass Class II solo; a violin trio Lynn Garret, Stephanie Paetzold, and Imelda Barrera playing a class III selection; a string quartet playing a class III piece, composed of Brenda Brown, Sheri Whitaker, Jimmy Bodkin and Robbie Fish; a string quintet, class II played by Tammy Fishbacher, Rebecca Rudd, Bette Stewart, Jim Fish and Richard Olson.

A number of music students were awarded superior Junior Music Festival. About 130 youngsters participated.

Sponsored by Hereford and Dawn Music Study Clubs, the competition was under auspices of Texas Federated Music Clubs. Each performance was judged on individual merit, according to Mrs. Ray Stewart general chairman.

Those youths receiving top results were:

Hagar Issued Surveying License

Kenny W. Hagar has been issued his license by the State of Texas to practice land boundary survey in Texas.

Hagar has been associated with Major Schroeter for the past seven years and will continue to work with Schroeter in this field.

Statutory requirements to become a Registered Public

Surveyor in Texas, are that a person must have educational background and must have had at least six years of practical experience in the field under another recognized registered surveyor.

Hagar passed his examination the first time he was eligible to take it, which is rather unusual and speaks well of his determination to become registered.

Hagar is married to the former Shannon Watson. They have a son Kelby and live at 408 Avenue J.

Assistants Attend Meeting

Mrs. Jane White and Mrs. Michelle Brisendine, Optometric Assistant to Dr. M.C. Adams, returned home recently after attending the Twenty-Ninth Annual Meeting of the Southwestern Optometric Assistants in Dallas.

The SWPA, under the auspices of the Optometric Extension Program Foundation, Inc., meet each year and present educational papers to further the knowledge of the attending assistants.

Mrs. White and Mrs. Brisendine were two of 62 assistants who attended from a five-state area and were awarded Certificates of Attendance in ceremonies Sunday morning.

Senior Citizens Elect Officers

Hereford Senior Citizens met for election of officers Thursday night in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas.

Elected president for the ensuing year was Leona Seavey; first vice president, Harold Hershey; second vice president, J.T. Guinn; secretary, Mrs. Cecil Williams; relief secretary, Mrs. B.M. Wiltshire; treasurer, Mrs. J.T. Guinn; and parliamentarian, Carlos Vaughn.

Chairmen of committees were named for publicity, Mrs. C.E. Leasure Sr.; membership, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Newell; recreation and entertainment, Dr. and Mrs. B.M. Wiltshire, Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Benson and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hargrove.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 27, in the Community Center, for a covered dish supper. Everyone is encouraged to bring their dominoes and cards for fun and games.

Stanton Choir Wins Honors

The Stanton Junior High Mixed Choir received a sweepstakes trophy Wednesday after competition in the University Interscholastic League choir contest in Amarillo.

The choir, under the direction of Doug Morris, received a first division rating in concert singing and a first division rating in sight reading. According to Morris, concert selections were chosen and rehearsed before the contest. The sight reading rating is determined by the ability to sing a totally unfamiliar song. This song is sung once with a piano accompanist and then a second time without any help from the piano. Accompanying the choir was Mrs. Ken Walser.

In concert, the choir sang O Come Ye Servants of the Lord by Tye, She Is So Dear by Praetorius and Io Tivoria by Dlasso.

The sweepstakes award was the third received by Stanton choirs in the last four years.

Fashion

There continues to be controversy about hemlines. The mid-calf length is definitely not popular although some designers continue to feature it.

The mini-skirt is definitely out and should have been out long ago for all women who were not slim and shapely.

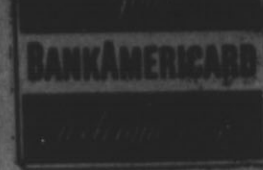

Any length just above or a trifle below the knee is favored. The advice of most designers is for the wearer to stand before the mirror and decide what is the best length for her.

THE HOME GAME

BY VIRGINIA TRUAX

EASTER COTTON TAILS — Easter and bunnies are synonymous to children. Create some Easter bunny cupcakes guaranteed to make them smile. Bake cupcakes and remove the paper cups when cool. Turn cakes upside down and frost with fluffy white icing, then sprinkle with shredded coconut. A marshmallow on a toothpick will be its head, small pointed pieces of marshmallow its ears, and half a marshmallow its tail. Use gumdrops or raisins for eyes and small strands of spaghetti for whiskers.

SEEDLING FUN — Ever tempted to plant some of those grapefruit or orange seeds you throw out? They usually won't bear fruit, but the foliage is most decorative. Give them full sun during the day and 40- to 50-degree temperatures at night. For bushy plants, pinch out the tip when about 12 inches high. Next time you take some oranges or grapefruits to a shut-in, include a small pot and soil so they can try it. Makes a fun gift.

HAVE A HEART — Bake some heart-shaped cupcakes and cover with pink icing for a festive Valentine's Day treat. To achieve a reasonable facsimile of a heart shape, place paper baking cups in your muffin tins. Shape wadded-up aluminum foil into a small-pie shape and wedge this between the paper cup and muffin-tin rim. This will press the paper in enough to give it a Valentine look.

Bid Made For Quarter Horse Hall of Fame on WT Campus

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum has made a bid to get the American Quarter Horse Association to locate the American Quarter Horse Hall of Fame on the West Texas University campus.

Keith L. Winter, Director of Development at West Texas, is in charge of the project.

Jim Hanson, Director of the Museum, has submitted a letter offering space and security for the hall of fame.

Letters have also been submitted by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and the Canyon Mayor stating their support for the project.

"I have invited the AQHA to come down and look at the facilities we have," said Winter. Quarterhorse representative Ron Blackwell said that the group will set up a committee but will not make a decision of location yet.

Winter listed several reasons for the establishment of the hall of fame on this campus. WTSU is the logical site because it is near the AQHA headquarters. The museum would like to do this, and WTSU will make a place for a permanent site. The hall of fame would be located at the same site of the museum, and it would be convenient to AQHA members and employees. The proposed site is only 15 minutes from Amarillo.

Membership in the American Quarter Horse Association is near 70 thousand. The AQHA also publishes a journal which has a circulation of near 65 thousand.

"If the American Quarter Horse Hall of Fame is located at West Texas State University it will help promote the university to a great extent," said Winter.

Local Girls Initiated Into Scribes NHS

Roxann Schwertner, Marcia Tiefel and Diana Zinser, all Hereford Juniors, have initiated into Scribes, the national honor society for senior women, at West Texas State University.

To be eligible, women must have an overall grade point average of 2.0. Members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership and service to the University.

The society recognizes scholarship achievements on campus and faculty accomplishments.

Miss Schwertner, an accounting major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oskar Schwertner of Route 5. Miss Tiefel, an elementary education and math major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tiefel of 231 Avenue C. Miss Zinser, an accounting major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zinser, Jr. of Route 5.

OMITS BONUSES

DETROIT—The Chrysler Corporation's top officers received pay increases in 1974, but gave up more than $4.5-million in bonuses due to the company's $52-million loss last year.

Which is heavier—snow, sleet or rain?

Snow is the lightest of the three kinds of precipitation. Sleet is next and is much heavier than snow. Rain is the heaviest of the three.

Some people do not realize that a foot or two of snow is not an unusually heavy fall. Snow is so light that a fraction of an inch of rain is often the equivalent to more than a foot of snow! Sleet is the most damaging and most dangerous of the three types of precipitation, causing slippery highways, foliage damage and adding excessive weight to wires, etc.

One can actually keep warm in snow, if he burrows down deep and takes advantage of its insulation—in very cold climates.

ASK YOUR TAX MAN

BY SAUL SILBERT

DEAR MR. TAX MAN:
I got a job as a social worker for our welfare department. The Welfare Director says that I can keep the job but only if I get my college degree, so naturally I went back to school at night to finish up. I have a year and a half to go. Can I deduct tuition, books, fees, etc.?

PART-TIMER
DEAR PART-TIMER:
Sorry to disappoint you, but no deduction is allowed for expenses incurred to meet minimum education requirements for employment. The fact that you are already performing services for your employer does not mean you have met the minimum requirements.

DEAR MR. TAX MAN:
If I go to a professional tax preparer, how much should I expect to pay? My grocer used to charge me $3 and gave me a cookie if I had to wait, but I don't think that's typical.

DEAR PINKY:
Not any more. Most commercial preparers charge $10 for a Federal and State short form, double that for a long form, and substantially higher for any additional forms, work or calculations that may be required. Many CPAs charge $50 and up for transient tax clients, and lawyers are even more expensive. I never give cookies to my clients, but I do keep aspirin handy.

Nancy Brink And Shari Hughes On Dean Honor List

Nancy Brink and Shari Hughes of Hereford have been named to the Dean's Honor List for the 1974 fall semester at Texas Christian University.

To be eligible for this honor, students must be enrolled for at least 12 semester hours' credit. For that work freshmen must have achieved a 3.4 or higher grade-point average, sophomores a 3.5 gpa, juniors a 3.6 gpa and seniors a 3.7 or above average.

A total of 687 students were named to the TCU lists for the fall semester. Three hundred sixty-three of those were from AddRan College of Arts and Sciences, 125 from the School of Fine Arts, 65 from the M.J. Neely School of Business.

U.S.-IRAN AGREEMENT
The United States has agreed to sell Iran eight nuclear power plants as part of an agreement that will total some $15 billion in non-oil trade over the next five years.

Usually the victim of gossip has something others are jealous of.

H<sup>3</sup> / HUSTLE HUSTLE HUSTLE

By Bill Albright, Executive VP
Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

What does the Chamber of Commerce do for me and my business? Most of us have asked that question one time or another and some of us have asked that same question by others. Well, lets see if we can come up with some answers today.

"The Chamber of Commerce is the center of everything"—"The Chamber of Commerce gets it all together" "The Chamber of Commerce helps our community a better place to live and earn a living." The Chamber of Commerce is the one organization that provides a catalyst or a leavening to bring all the varied factions and forces in a community into a harmonious focus. Oh brother! I really had to reach for that last one.)

But each of those statements tell a true story in a general sense. Now lets see some specific answers. And of course, specifics apply to actual accomplishments and ongoing activities so don't be surprised if it seems like we're patting ourselves on the back—because we may have to do just that.

The Chamber is constantly working to improve the economic situation—seeking new jobs for people to bring more dollars into circulation. This is accomplished by attracting industry, and encouraging expansion, by influencing the business and agricultural situations by bringing tourists in to visit our area. New money means a higher standard of living—more consumer items available—better government services such as schools, streets, police and fire departments—more recreational facilities—and all the other benefits that come from increased earnings or buying power.

Everybody profits in some way. The other side of that same coin has a familiar ring to it! "Make our community a better place to live". Here is where we highlight the activities and projects that mark us as a progress oriented community and provides for the needs of our people.

Goals for Progress is a detailed examination of what we are doing and specific recommendations of what we need to do. This is a far reaching project with many applications—probably one of the most important talks ever undertaken.

+Bicentennial Celebration is organized and underway. Many activities require a lot of people and much coordination.

+The Agricultural Committee is constantly working to establish a better understanding between farmers and consumers and gain more favorable legislation to improve market conditions.

+The Tourism Committee is seeking better ways to publicize our community and to attract a large number of visitors to this area—Last year, tourism in Texas brought 2.1 billion dollars into the state. A seminar is scheduled for April 16.

+Sports are always a big thing in Hereford and your chamber really gets into the program for both young people and adults. This the season for track meets and baseball—tennis will follow in June.

+CARE (Culture, Arts, Religion and Education) covers a lot of diversified activities including the Fine Arts Festival, Religious programs and a real effort to educate folks on our free enterprise system—We have purchased a film and we're showing it at every opportunity—Call the chamber office for a reservation.

+Governmental affairs are extremely important these days. Especially with congress generating so many bills that direct impact on us here in this great agricultural area. We are in the process of Registering with the state attorney general as a lobbyist.

+Industrial Development is always an activity requiring much time and effort. We are working with several companies to bring in new industry and to provide additional jobs.

+Business is vital to our growth and we actively encourage our citizens to spend their money here in town. To assist in attracting folks to come in to Hereford to shop and to improve the shopping conditions in all areas. We want everyone to know that "Profits mean jobs..."

These are only some of the activities that your chamber is currently working on. Does it sound like bragging? Probably not and we deserve to brag on our community—cause that's what the chamber represents—the entire county of Deaf Smith! So pat yourself on the back—you are the community and you are the Chamber.
All together, we make this a better place to live and earn a living thru cooperation understanding, personal contributions of time, money, effort and lots of HUSTLE, HUSTLE, HUSTLE.

Pre-Schoolers Aid In Easter Festivities

Pre-schoolers in three states will aid in the Easter season festivities with the second annual Kinder-Arts Show, March 17 thru 30, at Western Plaza Mall, 1-40 at Western, in Amarillo.

Sponsored by Western Plaza Merchants Association, the Kindergarten Arts-Crafts Show is open to two, three, four, five and six-year-old students who are not yet in the first grade. One piece of artwork may be entered by each student, and the entrants will receive a participant ribbon.

Invitations have been extended to all public, private and church schools in the area as well as in Amarillo. Additional information may be obtained by calling the Western Plaza center office—Area 806, 355-2218, or by addressing to Unit 31, 1-40 at Western, Amarillo Texas 79109.

ON ERA
WASHINGTON—Final ratification of the equal rights amendment, outlawing any law that discriminates on the basis of sex, is not expected to come until 1976, if then. The amendment was recently rejected by Oklahoma, Arizona, Nevada, Georgia and Utah.

ON SUPERSONIC JETS
The Federal Aviation Administration has given a tentative go-ahead for British Airways and Air France to start flying the Concorde supersonic transport into New York and Washington next year.

430 Courses Offered By ENMU Summer Session

Over 430 courses in 40 departments will be offered by Eastern New Mexico University during the 1975 summer session which will begin June 10 and conclude Aug. 1.

From May 30 to June 7 over 13 pre-session workshops will be held on the Portales campus, with new student activities for the summer session held on June 7-8. Registration for the regular summer session will be held June 9, while the final day for registration has been set for June 16.

In addition to summer session, Eastern will offer summer workshops and post-session workshops. A total of 25 courses will be offered during the period.

Regular admission procedures are to be followed for the summer workshops and post-session workshops. A total of 25 courses will be offered during the period.

Regular admission procedures are to be followed for the summer session with all undergraduate applications made to the Office of Admissions. Graduate applications should be made to the School of Graduate Studies.

Eastern students currently enrolled may register early for the summer or fall sessions on April 14-16. Interim and summer session Bulletins may be obtained at the Information Desk in the Administration Building or by mail.

Dr. Mosely Appears At Seminar, Saturday

Dr. Richard Mosely, associate professor of English, will present "Southwestern Writers in the Twentieth Century" as the fourth Saturday Seminar March 15 in Room 102 of the West Texas State University Science Building. The series of lectures, beginning at 10 a.m., is for all academically-talented high school juniors and seniors who would like to attend.

Dr. Mosely discussed major subjects and themes of important regional writers. He will focus on the frontier myth in relation to the fate of the twentieth century.

"I'll concentrate on where self-reliance and the independence of the cowboy ideal confront suburban and technological lifestyles," Mosely said.

Concentrating primarily on fiction, Dr. Mosely discussed earlier writers, including Willa Cather, Conrad Richter, Oliver Le Farge, and Datherine Porter, in addition to contemporary writers such as Paul Hargan, Frank Waters, Edwin Shrake and Larry McMurty. Dr. Mosely has research interests in Southwestern literature, contemporary American literature and film and pop culture. He received his doctorate from the University of Cincinnati.

Travelogue Peers Behind Iron Curtain

On Tuesday evening, the Kiwanis Whiteface Breakfast Club will present its second program of the "Travel and Adventure Series" at 7:30 p.m. in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Richard Linde has traveled extensively throughout Europe, the Middle East, Russia and the Orient. During World War II he served in the United States Submarine Fleet in the Pacific as a chaplain, and later in Shanghai, China.

His academic background includes a graduate degree from the Harvard Business School, as well as degrees from Drew University and Asbury College. He is listed in Who's Who in the East, Who's Who in the Midwest, and the Dictionary of International Biography.

He is the author of numerous magazine articles. Mr. Linde received an award for meritorious service from the United States Committee for the United Nations. Czechoslovakia is a question mark in the heart of Europe—a country behind the Iron Curtain, but strangely like the West. Land of Czechs and Slovaks, it is a young nation formed at a meeting of diplomats in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, at the conclusion of World War I. Yet Slav tribes immigrated to Czechoslovakia as early as the first century, A.D.

The written history of the area dates back twelve hundred years, and includes "Good King Wenceslaus," renowned in Christmas carol and murdered by his own brother; Holy Roman Emperor Charles IV; and Jan Hus, the reformer who was burned at the stake.

"What's it like behind the Iron Curtain?" The question is answered in Linde's color motion picture documentary, showing transportation, housing, religion, education, recreation, agriculture and industry. Linde portrays the people in this (Red land climbing mountains in the High Tatras along the Russian border; auto camping in their car made at the famous Skoda (now Lenin) works; "taking the cure" as spas where nobility once gathered. Carlsbad and Marienbad (now Karlovy Vary and Mariánské Lázně); blowing glass in a socialized factory; making the acclaimed puppet motion pictures at the Ceskoslovensky Film Studios of Gottwaldov.

Children reside in Communist Young Pioneer camps, modern-clad girls and elderly peasants care for the grape vines on a cooperative farm, families attend church in a country officially atheistic. There is sailing on the Blue Danube, motorcycle riding, hot rods and cow carts. Views of the beauty of the capital, Prague, the Golden, are included.

The Spartakiade, one of the world's most spectacular athletic events, is a highlight. 140,000 gymnasts from every corner of Czechoslovakia perform before throngs in Prague's Strahov Stadium. In one event alone, 16,000 athletes take part in a kaleidoscope of color, music and movement.

Villages too, have their wonders. For a week each year at tiny Straznice, brilliantly-costumed groups keep their traditional folkways alive in song and dance performing from morning until night in three separate arenas before 100,000 spectators.

This is life behind the Iron Curtain in enigmatic Czechoslovakia, Europe's question mark country.

Richard Linde

Texas Medical Association
Texas Medical Association
1801 North Lamar Austin Texas 78701

What would you do if you encountered a person choking—unable to talk or breathe? Most people would probably slap them on the back and hope the problem would work itself out. Now, however, there's a better way! It's called the "Heimlich Maneuver" or the "Heimlich Hug". It was devised by Dr. Henry J. Heimlich, director of surgery at the Jewish Hospital in Cincinnati and in most cases where the "Hug" was applied, a life has been saved.

Because the "Hug" is so easy and quick to do, and because its results have been so successful, the Texas Medical Association recommends that everyone become familiar with it so that future choking victims can be spared a needless death.

Prompt action is required to save a choking victim because death can occur inside of four minutes. The "Heimlich Hug", which you may want to practice on a willing "victim" first, can be applied from the standing position in this fashion:

1. Stand behind the victim and wrap your arms around his waist, allowing the victim's head arms and upper torso to hang forward.

2. Make a fist with one hand and grab it with the other. Place the fist against the victim's abdomen, slightly above the navel and below the rib cage.

3. Squeeze the fist into the victim's abdomen with a forceful upward thrust. This may be repeated if necessary. (Note: A second person should be prepared to remove the ejected food or other obstruction from the victim's throat when it is expelled.)

If the victim has already collapsed, the rescuer need not pick him up. Face down or face up, the procedure is basically the same: Straddle the victim. Place both hands (one on top of the other) just below the victim's diaphragm. Then push sharply toward the victim's head. The procedure should be repeated if necessary.

Note: A second person should be prepared to remove ejected food or other obstruction from the victim's throat when it is expelled.

The idea of the "Heimlich Hug" is to compress the air in the lungs, so that food stuck in the throat pops out, enabling the victim to breathe again.

Every year in the United States, 3,900 people strangle on food stuck in their throats. That's more people than are killed each year in accidental shootings. In most cases, the incident occurs at the dinner table. The victim suddenly chokes, turns blue or black, and is dead within minutes. He can neither speak nor help himself. And chances are no one else will help him either since bystanders usually confuse the episode with a heart attack. Thus the popular appellation, "cafe coronary."

The typical case of "cafe coronary" involves an elderly person with either no chewing teeth, or with ill-fitting dentures. The victim also often has been drinking, and so not as careful as he should be about cutting up his meat or chewing adequately.

In one case, a man told his wife, "Mabel, you can't swallow that big piece of steak." She replied, "Oh yes I can!" Unfortunately, those were her last words.

Possibility of Ballparks Outline Before Kiwanis

Chuck Cosper, president of Deaf Smith County's Kids, Incorporated program, told Kiwanians at their noon luncheon Thursday that a lighted baseball complex may be possible in the near future for Hereford youth.

The Kiwanians also made plans for the Mop and Broom Sale that will be held Saturday and welcomed new members Eldon James Koch.

Cosper told the Kiwanians that four anonymous benefactors had offered to purchase 30 acres of land near the city so that a complex of eight lighted ball parks could be built for the Kids, Inc. summer baseball program. The program uses only three ball parks now. The girl's softball program was forced to play their season late in the summer for lack of facilities.

Outlining the history of the organization, Cosper said it was first organized in 1973 with a governing body of three men as the Board of Directors. The program began with Boy's Baseball, the Bronco and Pony Leagues. The Bronco League, for boys 7 through 12-years-old, involved over 450 boys and 100 adult volunteers last summer.

The Pony League, for boys 13 and 14-years-old, involved 60 kids and 20 adult volunteers. A new program, girl's softball, was kicked off in 1974 with 425 girls from 8 to 15-years-old participating in the program.

The Summer Youth Program, Cosper said, begins in mid-April with organizational meetings. It runs through August when the last ball games are played.

Financially, Kids, Inc. operated in the black in 1974, according to Cosper. The United Way provided Kids, Inc. with about $6,800 and the remainder of the $18,000 budget was raised by the organization. Concessions, sponsorships and other donations made it possible for the program to operate and pay off a $4,000 debt from the previous year. Projected budget for 1975 is $20,000.

Cosper's pet project has been to provide the facilities to run the program without hassling schedules and pushing the girl's program into the late summer. With the donation of the land, Cosper said federal funds regulated by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department could be obtained to build the facilities. In order to cut the estimated $125,000 cost, volunteer labor and donated materials would be sought.

The ballparks would not utilize the entire 30-acre plot, according to Cosper. The remaining land could be used to build a YMCA-type facility or other needed recreational facilities. In addition, other organizations such as the high school team, American Legion baseball program and men's softball league could probably benefit from the complex as well, Cosper said.

"Kids, Inc. in Deaf Smith County can expand, but it can only do it with the help of the community," Cosper pointed out.

Kiwanian of the Month honors were awarded to Pat Hanlon for the month of January and Armon Lauderback for the month of February. Tommy Carnahan was welcomed back into the club after a leave of absence and Koch was inducted as a new member. Koch is with the First National Bank.

The Mop and Broom Sale was conducted on the parking lot of Safeway and Gibson's Saturday.

Inducted As Kiwanian

HOW TO RE-POT

Re-potting plants is a messy chore, to be sure, but it's also often a necessary measure to insure the health of your plants and it may even be essential to their existence. How to know when re-potting time has arrived? The sure-fire way to determine that your plant has grown too big for its pot is straggling roots growing out from the drainage holes. Even if this is not apparent, however, the root system may have grown to the extent that no air is able to circulate in the soil. This can cause the plant's growth to slow down enormously or even to stop entirely.

Take the potted plant in question and turn it upside down next to a table edge. Hold the main stem or stems of the plant with your hand and tap the pot rim against the edge. The plant and its root ball should come out in your hand and lots of stray soil will fall to the floor so it's best to have some newspapers under the table edge. Now, observe the nature of the root system. If roots have been pressing against the inside of the pot and the root ball has taken the firm shape of the pot, the plant definitely needs a new pot. (If root growth does not appear to be excessive, however, put the plant back in its original pot. Slow growth may be due to the plant's normal dormancy period or to some other problem that will not be helped by a larger pot.)

Local Educators To Attend TSTA Convention

Five Hereford educators are planning to attend the 96th annual state convention of the Texas Teachers Ass., March 20-22 at the Astrodome Convention Center in Houston.

They will be among some 10,000 TSTA local Ass. members and guests expected to attend. These Hereford educators will be official representatives to the 1975 TSTA house of delegates. That is the state association's governing body, which will meet in four sessions during the convention to act on proposed amendments to the TSTA constitution, consider committee reports, debate resolutions, and conduct other business.

The 1,528 official delegates are elected from TSTA local associations throughout the state. They are certified by districts on the basis of one delegate per 100 members or major fraction of 100, to represent the 159,000 members of TSTA. Every local association is entitled to at least one official delegate.

Carl Rowan, syndicated newspaper columnist and author, will speak at the opening general session Thursday night, March 20, in the Astrodome Arena.

Lesley Stahl, a Washington-based news reporter for the Columbia Broadcasting system, will speak at the second general session Friday morning in the Arena.

The Hereford delegation will include Carolyn Waters, Reuben McGilvary, Eugene Barkowsky and Roy Hartman, local delegates and Gene Brock, district delegate.

Carolyn Waters, local anti Pres., will leave Saturday for a pre-convention meeting at NEA headquarters in Washington, D.C. She was appointed Jan. 10, to the Unified Local Association Steering committee for Unification. In Washington, she and Mr. Gordon Harman, Superintendent of Schools in Temple, will meet with Mr. Joe Fisher, NEA Membership and Unification Chairman to discuss unification of TSTA with NEA.

The Steering committee has been working on detailed plans to promote unification among TSTA members and to keep pro-unification forces advised as to the progress of the campaign.

Early Easter Parade

Bearing Easter confections "Penelope" the Easter bunny, is ambassador for the Foods and Gifts Sale March 21 sponsored by St. Thomas Episcopal Church Auxiliary. However, Kim and Wendy Emerick, know this rabbit is actually their mother, Mrs. David Emerick in disguise.

Scribbles and Scratches

By Kerrie Womble
Women's Editor

EYEBROWS RAISED, jaws dropped and confusion reigned supreme Thursday afternoon when a 6-foot tall bunny in a frilly frock placidly walked through the newswoman.

certain individuals while others simply attributed it to a potent brew in the coffee room. Nary a leprechaun has yet to be sighted around the premises and Easter bunnies are already running amuck.

As in most situations, however, there are logical explanations for such occurrences. The aforementioned rabbit is "Penelope" (shades of "Harvey"). She is the official emissary of St. Thomas Episcopal Church Auxiliary in publicizing their foods and gifts sale slated March 21.

No Bugs she, Penelope is the most charming rabbit to chance into the office this year.

Mrs. Grooms Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. Jordan Grooms was guest speaker at Calligraphic Study Club meeting Thursday evening in Ward Parlor of First United Methodist Church with Mrs. Alton Fraser serving as hostess.

Mrs. Grooms exhibited 20 Madonnas from her private collection of more than 150 of the statues. She explained that the figurines were given to her over a period of 20 years. She also defined the meaning of the Madonna as "mortal mother love and mother love of family and friends." The Madonnas, which all the early artists painted, can be found decorated with fruit, birds and angels.

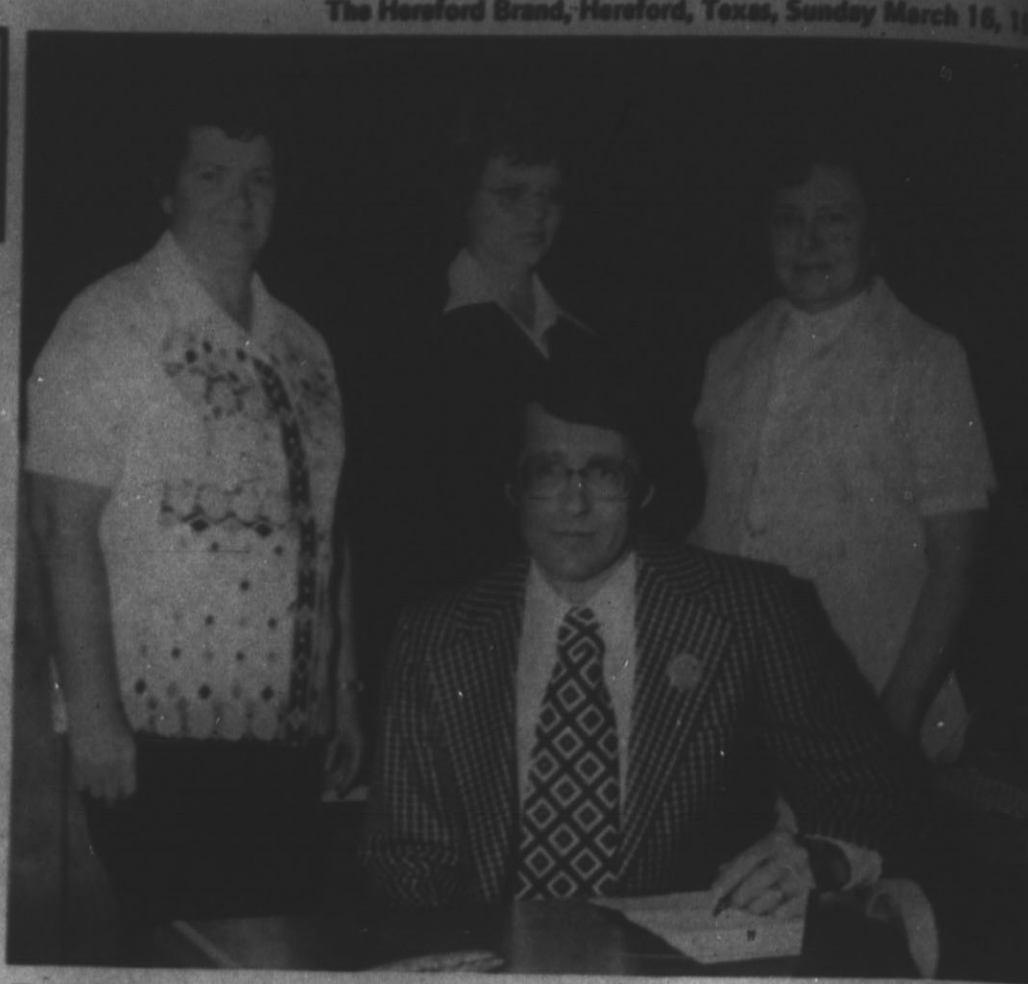

Mrs. Grooms outlined the history of the Madonna and mentioned that Madonnas of the Chair is the most famous of the statues and Our Lady of Gaudalupe is the American Madonna.

Following the program, a brief business meeting was held during which members voted to donate money to the piano fund at Deaf Smith County Library.

The next meeting is scheduled April 12 at 8 p.m. Members present included Misses: Clyde Cave, Zella Mae Crump, Emil Dettman, Dale Furr, Mary Gibson, John Gilliland, Virginia Holmes, Sue James.

Also, Misses: Tom Kendrick, Annel McDowell, Layton McWhorter, Trow Miss, Keith Simmer, George Warner and Ruth Word.

Birthday Celebrated

Directing Campfire Birthday Week activities are council board officials. They are Buddy Peeler, president; standing from left, Mrs. Blue Turpen, treasurer; Mrs. Cal Garrett, secretary; Mrs. Earnest Langley, vice president.

Campfire Organization Observes Birthday Week

Hereford Campfire Girls will join sister chapters across the nation by observing its Founders Day March 17 and its 69th anniversary during Birthday Week, March 16-22.

Flag ceremonies, mother-daughter teas and tours of local business firm are activities planned by Bluebird, Discovery, Adventure and Horizon chapters of the Campfire organization.

Members and adult leaders will attend worship services this morning in Campfire uniform as single units. This will include approximately 400 youth, Camp Fire's total enrollment, and 65 adult leaders.

Camp Fire activities fall under auspices of a council which includes Camp Fire Leaders Association. Council Board of directors are Mrs. Lewis Lea, executive director; Buddy Peeler, president; Mrs. Earnest Langley, vice president; Mrs. Cal Garrett, secretary; Mrs. Blue Turpen, treasurer. State of officers for the Leaders Association are Mrs. Jimmy Dawson, president; Mrs. Pat Parker, vice president; Mrs. A.T. Griffin, secretary.

In an official proclamation signed Wednesday by Mayor James Sears, the coming week has been set aside for specific Camp Fire goals. These include "rededication to the human rights and responsibilities that are a part of this country's heritage."

Categorized under the motto, "We the People," Camp Fire members will strive for completion of several Bicentennial projects. These involve greater understanding of the American Revolution, recommitment to this country's goals, pride in different cultures and participation in the democratic process.

Paying tribute to young people, the proclamation states, "This country was created by young people. Some were young in years; all were active and young in vision."

"Young people were in the front lines in the separation of the colonies from the mother country. Young people fought to win and keep that independence," it continued.

"Young people have, in every generation, found ways to reassert and reaffirm the concept of a free, self-governing people who discipline themselves with responsible at-itudes and create checks and balances to ensure freedom."

The document commended Camp Fire Girls and adult leaders for "youthfulness of spirit and for a sense of community and national responsibility."

Personal experiences with racial prejudice have been recounted in a book, "Bessie Yellow Hair," which will be reviewed by Mrs. E.W. Dettman at 10 a.m. Thursday in Deaf Smith County Library.

The public is urged to attend and there will be no admission fee.

Grace Halsey, author, relates the true events which took place after she disguised herself as an American Indian and worked as a maid for a white family. She describes the racial prejudice and hardships encountered as a member of a minority culture.

St. Thomas Auxiliary Plans Sale

Homemade food and gift items will be sold as a fund raising project from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. March 21 by the Women's Auxiliary, St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

The sale will be conducted at the church, 601 W. Park, according to auxiliary president, Mrs. Ellen Carter.

Sale merchandise will include frozen casseroles, pastries and canned goods. Unique gift articles available are macramé vessel holders, potted plants, decorated sugar eggs and paper quilting.

Colonial Times Is Program Topic

Wooring and Wedding in Colonial Times was the program presented by Mrs. Joe Reininger, Sr. to members of Los Ciboleros Chapter of Daughter of the American Revolution Thursday in the home of Mrs. Sue James with Mrs. Jess Robinson as co-hostess.

During the business session with Mrs. L.W. Norvell, regent, presiding, it was reported that the microfilm reader-printer had been installed at Deaf Smith County Library and that more funds would have to be raised to complete payment.

Final plans were made for the chapter participation in the 76th State Conference scheduled Monday through Thursday in Hilton Inn at Amarillo.

Members voted to participate with other Division I chapters in furnishing the Bereavement Room in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Amarillo.

Announcements were made concerning the various Bicentennial activities for Hereford and Deaf Smith County, stressing the luncheon to be held Tuesday in the Bull Barn.

Members present were Misses: Leroy Williamson, E.S. Brainerd, Johnnie Burkhalter, T.J. Carter, J.J. Durham, V.O. Hennes, Earl Holt, Merline Kaul, Charles Holt, Stan Knox and Alfred Smith and Sydney Brainerd and Mildred Elliott.

When is an emerald not an emerald? Well, usually when it is an aquamarine. They are both popular varieties of the mineral beryl. Medium light to dark green beryl is emerald; light blue to greenish-blue beryl is aquamarine. There is also golden beryl, cat's eye beryl, star beryl... Aquamarine is an alternate March birthstone.

In the Song of Solomon: "O daughters of Jerusalem, this is my beloved and this is my friend; his hands are as gold rings set with the beryl." This is an ancient reference to aquamarine. It has been long considered the symbol of happiness and ever-lasting youth. In the Middle Ages it was supposed to give the wearer insight and foresight. It cured insomnia.

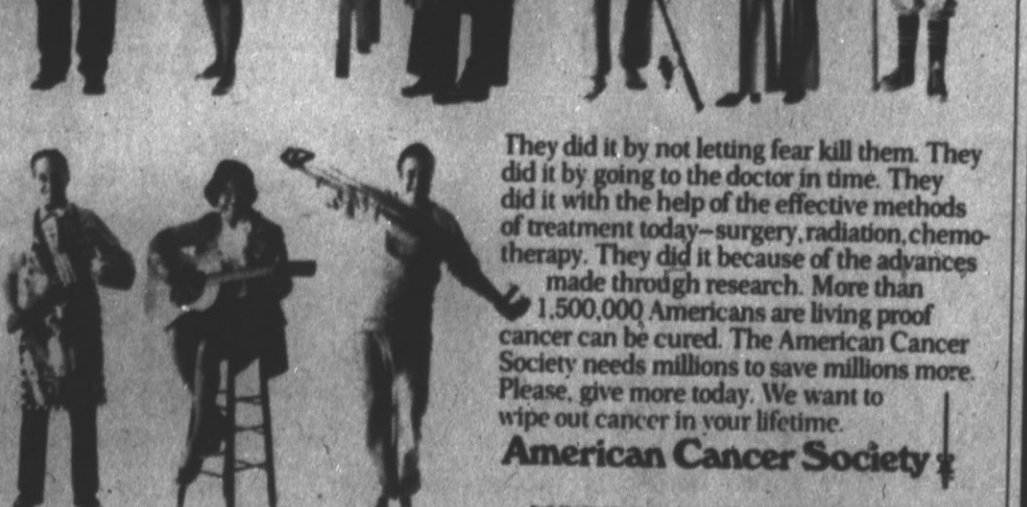

And, shades of "The Exorcist," it was an ancient belief that one could hold an aquamarine in the mouth, call up a devil from hell and receive answers to any questions asked. There were further powers ascribed to it. If the aqua was consecrated before worn, it would ward off evil. Drop an aqua in water and the water became a palliative for eye trouble, shortness of breath and hiccup.

Aquamarine is aptly named. This variety of beryl derives its appellation from the Latin word meaning "sea water." They come big, too. In 1910 a crystal was found in Brazil that weighed 243 pounds! It was nineteen inches long and sixteen inches wide. It was greenish-blue on the outside and a deep blue in the interior. This giant aqua was so transparent that objects could be seen through the long distance.

The British Museum of Natural History boasts a flawless, sea-green, step-cut aqua which weighs 879.59 carats. The American Museum of Natural History has specimens weighing 355 carats, 144.51 carats and a top-quality stone of 400 carats.

Cancer hasn't stopped 1,500,000 people from living.

They did it by not letting fear kill them. They did it by going to the doctor in time. They did it with the help of the effective methods of treatment today—surgery, radiation, chemotherapy. They did it because of the advances made through research. More than 1,500,000 Americans are living proof cancer can be cured. The American Cancer Society needs millions to save millions more. Please, give more today. We want to wipe out cancer in your lifetime.

Couple Exchange Nuptials In Candlelight Ceremony

Miss Carla Marquita George and Randall Brian Jones were married in a candlelight wedding ceremony Saturday afternoon in First Presbyterian Church with Rev. Rodger Knapp, pastor officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B.E. George of 114 Ranger Drive and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Jones of 114 Douglas.

A bouquet of white stock and red carnations was used as a centerpiece at the communion table and large bouquets of matching flowers were arranged on either side of the main altar. Red and white bows marked the pew.

Maid of honor was Miss Joannie Myers of Ponca City, Okla. and best man was Wayne Stoerner.

Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Wendall Bain and Miss Karen Walden of Lubbock. Groomsmen included David Hensler of Lubbock and Gary Fickinger of Midland.

Escorting guests to their seats were Ike Graves, Mike McCathern and Ron Matthews.

Principal wedding selections, Wedding Song and Follow Me were presented by vocalist, Miss Leslie Euler, cousin of the bride, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Jones.

Lighting candles during the late afternoon ceremony were Mrs. Jimmy Yeager and Mrs. Robert Baum.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk organza over bridal taffeta designed with a fitted empire bodice.

Venice lace appliques trimmed with iridescent seed pearls marked the Victorian neckline and decorated the full sheer sleeves and deep cuffs which formed a point at the wrist.

Matching appliques also enhanced the full princess line skirt which fell to a Venice lace hemline and swept into a full chapel train cascading from panels at the back waistline.

The bride wore white picture hat trimmed at the brim with white flowers. She carried a cascade of white sweetheart roses, stephenotis and gardenias.

As good luck pieces the bride wore a pearl necklace and matching earrings, a gift from the bridegroom.

Bridal attendants and candlelighters wore red and white dotted Swiss gowns which tied at the back. Lace trimmed the front of the skirts, sleeves and neckline.

Each carried a Londonderry bouquet of daisies and miniature red carnations.

The bride's mother was attired in a beige gown and gold accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a yellow gown designed with a A-line skirt with yellow accessories.

Each was presented a corsage of white gardenias and stephenotis.

Members of the house party wore red and white, dotted Swiss A-line gowns designed with puff sleeves. Each was given a corsage of white daisies and red carnations.

Mrs. Tony Carter registered guests at the reception held in the church parlor and Miss Melody Tyler of Amarillo served punch from the refreshment table.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Mitchell Bell, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Cindy Noltzenmeyer of Lubbock served cake. Other assisting were Miss Cathy Carrothers and Miss Jenene Herrington of Amarillo.

The three-tiered, white square bridal cake was decorated with white lace trim and scallops topped with white roses and daisies. The bridegroom's two-tiered chocolate cake was crowned with fruit. Both cakes were trimmed with smilax and fresh daisies.

Leaving for a wedding to points of interest in New Mexico, Mrs. Jones wore a three-piece pantsuit with large yellow and orange flowers designed on black background. Orange accessories completed the outfit.

The bride is employed at Flowers West. She is a member of Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority where she served as the sorority sweetheart. She graduated from Hereford High School in 1972.

The bridegroom is employed at Deaf Smith REC. He graduated from HHS where he was a member of the marching and stage band. He has attended East Texas State University at Commerce and West Texas State University.

Easter Art Exhibit To Open Next Week

Mrs. George Turrentine reminds area artisans that religious art objects are needed for the "Symbols of Easter" exhibit to be erected at First United Methodist Church.

The display will be open to the public from 2-5 p.m. March 23 and from 11 a.m.-12 noon March 24-28 in Ward Hall at the church. Directing the project is the cultural committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, Women's Division.

All modes of religious art, including sculpture, painting, literature, needlework and other crafts must be taken to Ward Hall. All pictures should be accompanied by easels and literary works should be mounted on a hard surface.

Mrs. Turrentine said, "We do not want to limit the art forms entered in the Easter exhibit. Any handmade creation pertaining to Easter will be welcomed."

The art project will be a community-wide interfaith display in observance of Easter. Exhibit entries can be picked up Saturday, March 29.

Because people believed that lead would keep out evil spirits, religious objects were often kept in lead caskets.

Mrs. Hunter Opens Club Exercise

"March" was the poem read by Mrs. John Hunter for the Cultural Home Demonstration Club's opening exercise Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ira Scott.

A joint program was given by Mrs. Paul Corbett, who discussed THDA and Mrs. M.W. Summers who explained metric measure.

During the business session with Mrs. Grady Parsons presiding, the next meeting date was rescheduled for Friday at 2:30 p.m. Members are asked to meet at Yocum Decorators.

Also a report was given on the Sew Fair held at Friona Thursday by Mmes. Hunter, J.G. Grady and Summers.

The meeting was closed with a reading of water wing words.

Members present included Mmes. Mary Ellen Ricketts, J.D. Love, Nell Stallings, Tom Hargrave, Ada Houser, Warden Hudgens and Arthur Dettmann.

FORD PLANS FALL TRIPS

President Ford is tentatively planning a busy fall schedule of foreign travel with trips to Europe and China, the White House reports.

ONG.I. SCHOOL BENEFITS

White House officials are proposing an elimination of G.I. education benefits for future veterans. The cutoff would not affect anyone now eligible, veterans or those on active duty.

Art Club Visits Amarillo Shop

Ceramic Art Club assembled Wednesday morning at Community Center before traveling to an Amarillo ceramic shop. Staining ceramic objects demonstrated by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith, owners of J Bar 5 ceramic firm. The Amarillo couple were guests of the club during a covered dish luncheon at the shop.

During a brief business discussion, the nominating committee presented a new slate of officers. They were Mrs. Lloyd Kirkby, president; Mrs. Charles Springer, vice president; Mrs. J.W. Stangd, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Leona Dewey, historian.

Also, members changed the regular meeting time to the second Monday of each month. Those going on the field trip were Miss O.E. Oldpeter, Bright Ham, Kirkby, Stangd, George DeBoer, Curtis Wright, Ben Geisler and W.C. Roman.

The Veterans Administration reminds that direct loans up to $500 per academic year are available under some circumstances to eligible veterans, wives, widows and children training on a half-time or more basis at undergraduate colleges and certain other schools.

Film To Be Presented

Beginning this month, the Deaf Smith County Library and the tour committee of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce will co-sponsor a Travelogue.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Higginbotham will narrate a film of a tour of the Holy Land and surrounding countries Tuesday, March 25, at 8 p.m. in the Heritage Room of the library.

Also, a book review will be given by Mrs. E.W. Detton, beginning at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Heritage Room.

Engagement Announced

Miss Deborah Anne Evans, a fourth grade teacher at Tierra Blanca Elementary School, and George Truett Borden of Farwell, plan to marry June 7 in First Baptist Church of White Deer. The bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Edward Evans of White Deer, received her bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Wayland Baptist College at Plainview. She was listed on Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and Spinning Wheels. Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Truett M. Borden of Grady, N.M., is engaged in farming with his father near Farwell. He attended Wayland Baptist College and West Texas State University.

Mrs. Duncan Gives Book Review

Mrs. G.W. Duncan presented a book review on "Power of Positive Thinking" written by John Binago to members of Victory Sunday School Class of Avenue Baptist Church Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Lane Compton.

Mrs. Carlie Sargent led the opening meeting. Members decided to change the visitation date to the fourth Tuesday of each month.

Before the close of the meeting, the class teacher, Mrs. Johnie Townsend, was presented a birthday gift from class members.

There were six present.

Banquet To Honor Authors

Three Hereford residents are on the list of 21 Pashanville authors to be honored March 22 by the Friends of the Amarillo Library for publication of a book within the past year.

To be recognized are Frank Ford Jr., Mrs. Cara Johnson and George Malool. Ford is the author of "New Harvest," a book of inspirational readings, and "Back To Nature," a cookbook of pure foods. "Things That Abide" is a compilation of cupied poetry collected by Mrs. Johnson. George Malool's publication, "The Lovely Blue" contains original poems.

Reservations for the 7th Annual Book and Author Dinner, to be held at the Amarillo YWCA under the sponsorship of the Friends of the Amarillo Library, are coming in well ahead of any previous year, according to June Bull in the library office.

Deadline for reservations is March 20. Tickets will be picked up at the door, but reservations must be called or sent in advance. The dinner is at 6 p.m., Saturday, March 22.

The Book and Author Dinners are offered to the public by the Friends of the Amarillo Library. Annually the Friends have provided a speaker from the world of books; some of these have been A.C. Greene, Frank H. Wardlaw of the University of Texas Press, and Charles W. Ferguson. This year's choice was the subject of a New Yorker Profile Nov. 12, 1973, called "The Book Traveller", George F. Scheer of Chapel Hill North Carolina.

Twenty-one authors from 19 area towns are on the list to be honored at the dinner this year. Only one now lives outside the 25 county area of the Texas Pashanville.

The idea for the Book and Author Dinners originated with Louisa Grace Erdman in 1969 as a member of the executive board of Amarillo Friends of the Library. The occasion also serves as the annual business meeting of the Friends and election of officers. Current president is Clark Woolbridge.

Reports will be made by David Brown, chairman of the nominating committee; Joyce Cowley, treasurer; Jay O'Brien, chairman of the committee on the constitution and by-laws, and president. George Fabian Scheer, speaker for the dinner, is an author, editor, literary agent and publisher' representative. His special interests include the American Revolution, children's books, preservation of historic sites, clockmaking, and talking about books.

He will talk about the scene backstage in the publishing business, what happens to a manuscript and how to go about getting a book published. He will also explain the term "best seller" and how a book gets on the list. The Friends Board plans to leave time for all interested to linger and talk books with the "Book Traveller."

Vying For Title

Elizabeth Garcia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Garcia of Ruidoso, N.M., former Hereford residents, will be one of 21 contestants to compete in the Miss New Mexico Pageant April 15 at Las Cruces, N.M. # Legion Birthday To Be Observed

In observance of 36 years of service, the American Legion Post No. 100 and its auxiliary will hold their annual birthday dinner at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Legion Hall.

Members are urged to attend and bring a salad or vegetable dish. The main course, dessert and drinks will be furnished.

Mrs. Faye Gaugel of King's Manor, a retired school teacher, will review the book "A Man Without A Country." The story chronicles the true events which took place prior to and after our great martial and exile of a U.S. soldier.

Legion Commander is currently Jimmy Jodka, whose wife is president of the auxiliary. The local post was organized in 1929.

Established in March 1919 after World War I, the American Legion was dedicated to the cause of God and country. The Legion constitution was written in Paris, France.

Comings And Goings At King's Manor

By FAY GAUGGEL

and richness as well as depth of feeling.

Mrs. Frances Parker accompanied her as well as all music of the evening on the organ. Mrs. Parker has filled in for Mrs. Roberta Wilson on several occasions lately. Thanks to her.

Mrs. Don Davidson introduced each part of the program and those who performed.

In anticipation of July 4, 1976 when the national Bicentennial begins, Mrs. Fay Gaugel presented the story of "The Man Without a Country" by Edward Everett Hale.

Phillip Nolan, Lieutenant in the U.S. Army in a youthful, careless and impetuous mood once said, "Damn the U.S. I hope I may never hear of the U.S. again."

Being court-martialed, he was found guilty and given exactly the sentence he had expressed in his wish. Thus he was transferred permanently to an outgoing vessel and had no family, no home and no country for the rest of his miserable life. Death to him was kind because he breathed his life away with a smile in his state room where several patriotic shrines of his own making were found.

The epitaph he requested for his tomb read "Here lies Phillip Nolan, Lieutenant in the Army of the United States. He loved his country as no other man has loved her, but no man deserved less at her hands."

Mr. Hudson led us in more patriotic songs and the program closed. Out-of-town individuals were recognized.

THE ALICE WARD CIRCLE of Hereford Methodist Women met Tuesday afternoon at the Manor. There were 23 members present. Mrs. Grant Hanna is circle leader. Mrs. Pryor was program leader and was assisted by Mrs. Don Davidson, Mrs. Hanna and Mrs. Oia Davis.

The topic for program was Missions in Nepal, small province in the Himalayas mountain range between China and India. Hindu is the major religion there but Christianity is gaining a foothold there.

Mrs. Pryor established the theme that "Missions are people" and Mrs. Davidson carried on this idea in teaching that missions involve touching other lives and other cultures by whatever circumstances present.

Mrs. Davis' scripture was the familiar admonitions of our Lord to Peter in the words - "Feed my sheep."

A litany was read each response was "We piped to you and you did not dance; We wailed and you did not weep." Luke 7:32b. The essence being that in our missionary efforts we sometimes fail to relate to the ways of other races and other cultures. Conclusion by the leader was "God forgive us for we know not what we are doing."

Mrs. Hanna had seen recent crowning of a new monarch of Nepal. His regal Highness with proper pomp and ceremony speak to us of hope that Western Ways (and Western Christian beliefs) will bring Nepal closer to the true God. Meeting closed with prayer.

Some people believe that a firefly in the house brings good luck.

ALONG THE FRIO

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Brand Correspondent

Revival services are planned Frio Baptist Church beginning Sunday, Mar. 16 to run through Mar. 23. Guest preacher will be Rev. Clyde Hankins of Calhoun Ky. Ed Shubert, of Amarillo, music director of San Jacinto Baptist Church, will be in charge of Choir.

Rev. Hankins spent many years as a missionary in Brazil and has been there again for a few weeks tour since he preached at Frio three years ago.

The public is invited to attend the series of services, morning at 11 o'clock and evenings at 8 o'clock through this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Andrews attended the basketball tournament at Austin during the weekend. Mrs. Andrews' brother, Brad Sanders, was one of the players with the Dimmitt team, winner of Class AA basketball championship.

The Andrews also visited a brother, Mark Simpson, and Mrs. Simpson while in Austin. Simpson is stationed there in the Air Force.

The Andrews children stayed with her sister Mrs. Dick Hill of Hereford, while they were away.

Several from here attended the funeral of Mr. Roy Robinson at Slaton March 8. It was held in Westview Baptist Church at 2 p.m. and burial was also at Slaton.

Mr. Robinson who died March 3 was the father of John Robinson and has visited here and at Frio many times.

Mrs. H.M. Mobley and her sister, Mrs. Claude Price of Floydada visited their mother, Mrs. Leila Taylor, last week at a Throckmorton nursing home. Mrs. Taylor, who is 98 years old, recently suffered a stroke and for the first time in the eleven years since going to the home to live, is confined to her bed.

Before going to the home, she lived alone in her home. On Thursday, Mrs. Mobley and Mrs. Price also were there to attend the funeral for the father of their sister-in-law, Mrs. J.W. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. J.F. Warwick went to Oklahoma last week to visit her mother, who was in hospital after breaking a hip.

Frio Homemakers Club met Tuesday at Pioneer Natural Gas Flame room. The program was on Learning Disabilities and featured a film and discussion by Mrs. Bob Lassiter from the Public School Special Education Department.

Hostess was Mrs. Jack Andrews and others attending included Mmes. Frank Robbins, E.F. Vogler, Tony Urbanczyk, J.E. Warwick, Carlton Dobbins, Herbert Bruns, Edgar Vinson, Robert Dobbins, John Russell and Miss Alma Andrews.

Catholic Women Slate Egg Hunt

Children aged 1-8 years old will be guests at an Easter egg hunt 3-4:30 p.m. March 26, it was decided by St. Anthony's Women's Organization Thursday in the church's Antonian Room.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Ernest Flood Jr. and Mrs. Robert Diller said that volunteers needed to help with the hunt. Refreshments will be served and prizes awarded. Children 4 years old and younger will be based in Mother's Park and the other youngsters will search Dameron Park.

Various committee chairmen reported current and past projects. Mrs. Joe Artho announced that a Christian Mother Retreat will take place today from 1:30-5 p.m. Mrs. Neal Lueb led discussion of a vacation Bible school to be conducted during June with babysitting services provided.

During the monthly meeting, Mrs. Sinnacher presided and expressed thanks to those women who served supper to the 350 individuals saying farewell recently to Father Aedan Davis. She also extended appreciation to those who helped with refreshments during the reception which followed World Day of Prayer worship services, sponsored by Church Women United.

Exhibits Sculpture

Mrs. Johnny Trotter, at right, will exhibit her western art sculpture this month at Deaf Smith County Library. She explains the many hours involved in making the finished product which is cast in bronze to assistant librarian, Rhonda Stewart.

Alternate delegates are Mrs. Arnold Fargman and Mrs. Joe Artho. Speakers will include Margarita Jimenez and Mrs. Nat Conner of Sweetwater.

It was also announced that Red Cross Day will be observed in April.

Undergoing programs had spots on the agenda. Citizens for Decency through Law will be posting anti-pornography stickers at local businesses, it was decided. Also, the Right to Life faction considered erecting a billboard on the roadside between Hereford and Canyon.

Fund-raising suggestions were approved by SAWO members. The group will sponsor an auction of homemade items at the next meeting, April 10. Also, the ways and means committee will sponsor a cabaret dance April 5.

It was announced that the Rev. Bernard McGorry, also present at the meeting, will moderate Bible study of the old Testament at 10 a.m. each Thursday. This will involve all Bible study clubs combined.

A motion was made that a telephone subcommittee be established to help the bereavement committee.

Mrs. Joe Frank Huckert explained a Deaneary Council meeting, which will take place April 16 at Boyina from 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Mrs. Robert Diller and Mrs. Raymond Artho will be delegates at the meeting which will have the theme "reconciliation and renewal."

members present was a SAWO skit which involved all those attending. Hostesses were Mmes. Raymond Schlabs, Doug Banner and Cecilia Vasek.

The community unit reported that they served 60 individuals of Church Women United. This division reminded SAWO members to vote in the upcoming school board and city elections.

Those present learned that the Catholic Youth Organization was host at a farewell party recently for Jerry DiGiralamo who was transferred to Graymoor, N.Y. The CYO also presented gifts recently to Rev. McGorry and DiGiralamo.

Today, one average man lives 25 years longer than a century ago. He has to in order to get his taxes paid.

Pam Trotter Is Selected March Artist

Mrs. Johnny Trotter has been selected as Artist of the Month and will be displaying her unique western sculpture during March at Deaf Smith County Library.

She began sculpting professionally in January of 1974 but has a delay in the field since childhood. She also paints in oils and watercolors, but prefers carving realistic western scenes.

Mrs. Trotter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Myers and is the former Pam Myers of Levelland.

She is a member of Hereford Art Guild, Texas Fine Arts Association and Women Artists of the American West.

The talented homemaker resides at Easter community with her husband and their son Rick.

WHERE IN THE BIBLE CAN I FIND THE PLAN OF SALVATION?

We are often asked the question, "Where in the Bible can I find the plan of salvation in actual operation, making saints out of sinners? Where can I put my finger on a passage and say, there it is? Shall I look in Genesis, in Psalms, in Romans, or Revelation?"

One can read the Old Testament all his life without finding the plan of salvation. Until that Testament was ended there was no salvation. Then, too, the Law of Moses was given to the Jews, and was never intended for the gentiles. People, not heeding the division between the Old and New Testament, go blindly to the old law for the plan of salvation, or for the justification of some religious practice. Hebrews 10:9-10 says... "he taketh away the first [covenant] that he may establish the second, BY WHICH WE HAVE BEEN SANCTIFIED."

Do we believe the Old Testament? Certainly we do. It is every word the word of God, but it is a law that has fulfilled its purpose, and has been replaced by another law. (Col. 2:13-14)

Our search having narrowed down to the New Testament, let us examine it. The books of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John recorded the lifetime of Jesus. You cannot find the plan of salvation in actual operation in these books because the covenant was not yet in force after men are dead; otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth." Then a salvation prior to the cross would not be a New Testament salvation; nor a church, a New Testament church. We might, however, find in these books a forecast of what the plan of salvation would be [see Mark 16:15-16] but not the plan in actual operation.

Now from Romans to Revelation we have a group of letters written to people who were already saved. We could not expect the plan of salvation to be found in actual operation saving SAVED people. We might find the apostles calling to the mind of the saved what they had done when they were saved [Rom. 6:3-4; Gal. 3:26-27].

Having failed to find the plan in operation in the Old Testament; in the first four books of the New; nor from Romans to Revelation, we turn to the one remaining book of the Bible: Acts of the Apostles. Jesus had commanded them to go make disciples. Here they go, making disciples. Let's go with them. Let's read the book which records the actions of the apostles. In reading the book we find the plan of salvation in actual operation making saints out of sinners no less than eight times. We beg you to turn and study these passages: Acts 2:1-47; Acts 8:4-24; Acts 8:26-40; Acts 9:1-20 and 22:1-16; Acts 10:1 to 11:18; Acts 16:12-15; Acts 6:23-34; Acts 18:8.

Comment upon these passages would be useless. In them one can clearly see the plan of salvation in actual operation. The plan of salvation today is exactly as it was in the days of the apostles. Any other plan is worthless. People, then, simply heard, and believed the gospel. They repented of their sins, confessed the name of Jesus and were baptized for the remission of sins.

Kind reader, let us plead with you to cast aside every weight and hindrance and obey with humbleness and faith the plan of salvation recorded in the scriptures, and become simply a Christian.

Here today, gone tomorrow — that's the vanishing buck . . . unless you've established the reserve where he can survive and increase, fully protected from extinction. We recommend our Savings Plans as the best of all possible environments for your money's safety and growth. That makes us conservationists in more ways than one. Clearly, where YOUR buck is concerned, we have the greatest interest. Protect your vanishing buck.

Farm Priorities

The Federal Power Commission, acting on its own and without much consultation with members of Congress, has changed the priority for the allocation of natural gas for use in irrigated farming.

Until December 19, 1974, farming was given a No. 2 priority on natural gas, the same priority enjoyed by commercial firms.

Now farming has been dropped to a No. 3 priority, interruptible service, the same as industrial or manufacturing plants using gas.

This may sound simple to a bureaucrat of the Federal Power Commission, but to an irrigated farmer who has his pump and motor shut off in the midst of a busy pumping season, it can be disastrous.

Farmers don't run their irrigation wells except when the growing crop has to have water, or for pre-watering in order to get a stand. When the water is being pumped, it is essential that it continue to be pumped. To shut off the water at the wrong time is to lose the crop.

There are some 5 million acres of irrigated farm land in the Panhandle and South Plains, about half of the cultivated land in use. In an average year, the drop in production would be about 50 per cent if the water were to be shut off when the crop needs watering.

The nation depends upon the farmers for their food, and apparently the urban population and certainly some members of Congress believe that it is a simple matter to grow grain. They have never tried it.

In order to assure a dependable food supply, it is essential that the farm irrigation wells which operate on natural gas have the supply of fuel they need. Irrigation wells that operate on gasoline, propane, diesel or electric motors must have the fuel and the power required to lift water and produce crops.

There needs to be a letter writing campaign to the Federal Power Commission, protesting this ruling. The address is: Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, Washington, D. C. 20426.

The Voice of Business

By ARCH BOOTH
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

I can see it now: Mom drives nervously into the supermarket parking lot, watching her rear view mirror for signs that she's being followed. She parks toward the back of the building, near the loading docks.

There, in the shadows, is the man she has come to meet. She leaves the car and walks toward him, glancing anxiously from side to side.

They meet. Their terror-filled eyes lock briefly.

"Where is it?" she asks in a frantic whisper.

"It's in the cornflakes," he says. They part quickly, by different routes.

The store manager returns to his office. And Mom goes in the front door, to buy the package of cornflakes with the Lone Ranger decoder ring in it.

She doesn't enjoy this life of deception, but it's the only way to find out which brands have toys in the box, since the Federal Trade Commission banned all advertising of premiums.

Will it come to this? Who knows? Crazy things seem to be happening every day.

BUT THE fact is, with the economy in serious trouble, the federal budget out of control, and millions jobless, the Federal Trade Commission is worrying about whether innocent kiddies are seduced into buying the wrong product because there's a toy in the package. Consequently, they want to ban premium advertising on children's TV shows, and maybe in all other media.

There's no allegation that anything is necessarily wrong with the products being promoted. It's just that the FTC thinks the lure of the premiums will prevent your average three-year-old from giving due and sober consideration to the relative merits of vitamin fortification, fiber bulk, unit price, etc.

Of course, since your average three-year-old is not likely to consider such things under any circumstances, then it must be Mom who is interested in the ingredients.

And if it is Mom who reads the labels, does the FTC really believe that she will be so blinded by her consuming desire to own a Lone Ranger decoder ring (or whatever) that she will feed her family junk in order to get it? Or that she is so unable to say "no" to the kids that she will let their desire for a premium outweigh her better judgment in a matter of importance?

The FTC may think so, but personally, I have a higher opinion of Mom (or Dad, for that matter, if he's doing the shopping).

UNDER OUR present system, one producer may offer a premium, another an improved product, and still another a lower price. These are all forms of competition. The consumer then chooses among them, and by so doing rewards the producer who best catered to his preferences. It's a much better system than letting the FTC make our decisions for us, and never knowing what we've missed.

Besides, cereal box premiums have been around so long they have practically become a social institution, like the childhood games beloved of every generation. If the practice has done us any grave damage, it is certainly well-hidden.

Alcohol Bad For the Stomach

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is furnished by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission as part of their Alcohol-Drug Abuse Services Program. It is published here to further inform those who might be affected.)

Those two or three martinis you have before lunch or dinner may make you feel great, but they're literally killing off part of your stomach, according to two medical researchers.

Dr. Linda L. Shanbour, a University of Texas, physiologist, and Larry L. Tague, a research associate, said consuming cocktails rapidly as people do at parties or before dinner causes the lining of the stomach to erode away and actually to start bleeding.

The researchers based their comments on laboratory studies done with dogs, but Dr. Shanbour said she felt the effect "probably occurs in humans also."

The alcohol itself is not doing the mischief, they said in an interview here. The alcohol breaks down a complex transportation system within cells which normally carry acids into the stomach. As result, the acids start acting on the gastric mucosa, or stomach lining.

Within 30 minutes after consumption of two or three martinis, they said parts of the stomach lining is rotted away by the acid and hemorrhaging occurs.

"If it were not for the rapid regenerative capacity of the gastric mucosa," said Tague, "the incidence of perforation and bleeding would probably cause ethanol (alcohol) to be classified as poisonous material."

Instead of aspirin, Dr. Shanbour said the morning-after drinker should reach for some bland foods-milk, potatoes, bread or hard-boiled eggs. Food, particularly protein-rich food, will help the damaged stomach lining repair itself, she said.

St. Patrick's Day

St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland, died on March 17, 493. The anniversary of his death has been celebrated regularly in recent times by not only Irishmen but those of many other races, and not only Catholics but those of other faiths.

In fact, the New York organization in memory of St. Patrick, the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, was organized by both Irish Catholics and Presbyterians, and its first president was a Presbyterian.

The most famous tale about St. Patrick is the one which tells of his banishment of snakes from Ireland. Yet Cardinal Moran, who some years ago wrote an article on St. Patrick for the Catholic Encyclopedia, fails to mention it. He does mention the ordeal of St. Patrick when he was surrounded by demons in the shape of vultures, and tells of the drowning of the demons in answer to his prayers.

Whatever the tale, and there are those who believe several different versions, a great number of people enjoy celebrating the anniversary of the death of St. Patrick, in the middle of this month, every year. Irishmen, particularly, take pride in the occasion, and on some occasions in the past they have even brought pieces of the "ould sod" from Ireland to observe the occasion.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY—Recent efforts by a Saudi Arabian sheik to purchase the Alamo as a gift for his son are not exactly a new development in the history of Texas' most famous shrine.

For 69 years after Col. William Barret Travis and his men died in its defense on March 6, 1836, the Alamo was rented, leased, sold and re-sold a number of times. In 1882, even advertisements were run in San Antonio papers headlined: HISTORIC ALAMO—A BONANZA FOR SALE.

Following the Texas Revolution, the Alamo was little more than a ruin. In 1849, when the U.S. government offered to rent the property from the Catholic Church, the hierarchy was delighted. Federal money was used to reroof the church and restore the adjacent convent. The government turned the property into an Army quartermaster depot.

In 1876, Fort Sam Houston was completed and the Army moved its operations to the new site. Honore Genet bought the old convent building and yard. He turned the property into a general store and leased the adjoining Alamo as a warehouse, primarily for his stock of liquor. When he died in 1882, his estate advertised the Alamo properties as "a bonanza."

In 1883, the state purchased the Alamo for $20,000. The adjoining convent and grounds continued to be leased as a wholesale grocery and liquor store. In 1903, when a syndicate attempted to buy the property, raze the buildings and erect a hotel, Miss Clara Driscoll and the Daughters of the Republic of Texas bought it. In 1905, the state finally purchased the convent and grounds and preserved the Alamo for posterity.

remaining railroad tunnel has reopened, but nobody will see it except trainmen on Fort Worth & Denver Railway freights.

The tunnel, ten miles south of Quitaque, Briscoe County, seemed to be doomed when 13 cars derailed inside it a year and a half ago. Clearing out the wreckage seemed impractical so the railroad routed its trains through the area on tracks leased from competitors.

Later, however, it was decided to restore service through the tunnel. Built in 1927, it bores through a sandstone hill that juts above the Caprock Escarpment between Childress and Lubbock. It is 700 feet long.

Because the tunnel is located on a farm and isn't adjacent to a highway, railroad buffs can visit it only by getting permission from the owner of the land through which the railroad runs.

INVENTORS AT WORK—Old-time dentists would have loved Jim Green of Dallas.

Green, who invents and builds firearms that might have rewritten history had they been available, has one which he calls Dr. Oliver Puller's Dental Gun. It is a combination weapon and dentist's drill. It enables the doctor to do his work and hold a gun on the patient at the same time.

Green's invention would have solved one of dentistry's greatest problems in the pre-novocain days. Then it was almost impossible to keep a patient quiet while the dentist drilled a cavity.

STATE OF GOOD ROADS—Latest report of the Texas Highway Department shows that there are 258,131 miles of highways in the state.

CLEAR TRACK — Texas' only

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner discusses gardening this week, we think.

Dear editor:

As I understand it, there's a tremendous interest in home gardens all across the country as more and more people realize they're going to have to take the battle against the high cost of food into their own hands.

NATURALLY there's going to be some disappointments as beginners start to discover whose side the weather's on and find out there's no way to get peas for example to come up already shelled and sealed inside a plastic bag. Also, when the insects start attacking those tender shoots a lot of city people with backyard-gardens may re-study their opposition to chemical insecticides. Up to now, some city people have taken the position that it's all right to use an insecticide on roaches and ants in your home but if you use anything out in the fields it's likely to upset the balance of nature.

Personally, I've never understood the phrase, "balance of nature." Anybody who has ever tried to farm or ranch 10 years in a row knows there's nothing more unbalanced than nature, unless it's the market at harvest time, or Congress when it's called on to act in a hurry.

BUT BACK to gardening, I've been reading articles in the newspapers and magazines pointing out how small a plot of ground it takes to feed one person. A piece of ground 10 feet by 20 feet when properly tilled will grow an enormous amount of food, if you've got a strong back, a garden hose, and enough money to pay the water bill.

Years ago a man named Thoreau proved you can feed yourself on just a tiny plot of land out in the woods and not work over 30 or 40 hours a year, provided you go into town every other night and have supper with Mr. Emerson. You don't get biscuits and gravy out of a garden.

But the man who has reduced the amount of land it takes to make a living on down to the absolute minimum with the absolute smallest amount of work is an Arab sheik I read about. He does it on a piece of ground about 3 feet square. His oil well produces 40,000 barrels a day, which at $12 a barrel comes to $480,000 a day, which, even with inflation and all, is enough to get by on, provided you can get the U.S. to give you a cash rebate on all the military equipment you buy over here.

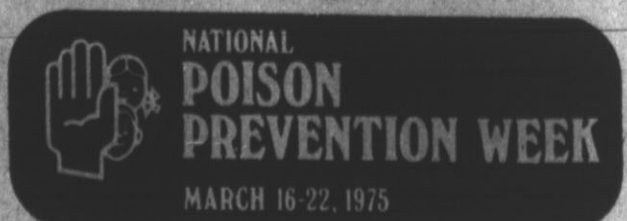

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Easter Seals

The 1975 Easter Seal campaign interests all good citizens. Helping crippled children is one of the more rewarding things we can do in our efforts to help our fellowman.

In most states a volunteer organization enthusiastically conducts the Easter Seal sale each year.

A number of children walk today because of the existence of this organization and its work in past years. We solicit the attention of our readers to the present Easter Seal drive and recommend they support the effort in behalf of crippled children.

'Bake and Take'

by Joyce Shipp

Many of you have asked, "What is 'Bake and Take'?" It's "Something Special for Someone Special." It's an opportunity for you to show love and concern by baking your favorite cake, bread or cookies and taking it to shut-ins, senior citizens, residents of nursing or convalescent homes or just to neighbors and friends.

The personal satisfaction gained in the expression of thoughtfulness and remembrance shown to others will far outweigh the joy created in the hearts of the recipients.

And to the wheat producers, knowledge that there was public recognition of the important role of wheat and wheat foods, with even higher enrichment levels than before, in the nutritional requirements of consumers in this country.

Here's two suggested recipes you might like to try:

SCOTCH SHORTBREAD
 1 c. (1/2 lb.) butter
 3/4 c. brown sugar
 2 1/4 c. sifted flour
 1/2 t. salt
 Cream butter and brown sugar; add flour and salt. Mix well. Shape into rolls about 1 1/2" in diameter and roll in wax paper.

Refrigerate at least four hours before slicing to bake. Slice 1/8" thick; place on greased cookie sheet and bake 8-10 minutes at 375 degrees.

For Diabetics
DIABETIC CHOCOLATE NUT BROWNIES

1/4 c. & 1 T. margarine, melted
 2 T. liquid artificial sweetener
 3 T. vanilla
 2 eggs, beaten

2 T. cocoa
 1 c. cake flour
 1/2 t. salt
 1/2 t. baking powder
 12 chopped pecan halves
 Combine margarine, sweetener, vanilla and eggs. Sift cocoa, flour, salt and baking powder. Add to liquid mixture. Stir in nuts.

Four into greased 8" square pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 20 minutes.

Cool and cut into 16 squares.

MANY THANKS to everyone who had a part in making the third annual 4-H Bean Supper another success. We appreciate those who gave their time and effort and to those who took time from your busy schedules to eat with us.

THE HOME Demonstration clubs in Deaf Smith County are studying upholstery - fabric and tools, this month. They've been touring local upholstery shops in Hereford. They've learned that today's upholstered furniture comes in a wide variety of styles, sizes, qualities and prices.

When you get ready to select a chair or sofa, you must decide which piece will best serve your needs and fit your budget. The choice of style is determined by the general atmosphere you wish to create in your home, your personal preference and the furnishings you already have.

Consider the size of your house, floor space and the persons who will be using the furniture when determining the size pieces you'll need.

Quality in upholstered furniture is difficult to judge. There are some features you can see and test carefully. However, much of what you do not see affects the quality of upholstered furniture. This means you must rely upon the integrity of the manufacturer and the dealer.

Some information will be included on the label. A reliable dealer should be able to answer most your questions, but you need to know what to look for in order to shop wisely.

The quality of workmanship and materials on the outside is an indication of the general quality on the inside. Since the outside part is exposed to daily scrutiny, there are some features you should check carefully.

Good tailoring is an indication of high-quality workmanship throughout.

The fabric should be cut and placed so that the weave or grain line will look even. This means that the crosswise threads will run parallel to the bottom edge of the frame; the lengthwise threads will be perpendicular to the base of the frame.

You may purchase a piece of furniture already covered but more often you will select a style and then have a choice of upholstery fabrics. Your choice of fabric may completely change the general appearance of the piece of furniture. The fabrics shown for the same piece of furniture can vary considerably in quality and price.

REMEMBER: H.D. Council meets Monday, March 17, 2:30 p.m. in the County Courtroom.

By The Garden Gate With Glad

By Gladys Manjeot

Yes, every year we have winter.

And every year the rain does come . . . gently and quiet upon the good earth.

Truly a day which is always looked forward to . . . when Spring comes.

The birds come by, going north again. And it is time to work with the good earth.

One of the grand, sweet fragrances is when the earth has been plowed or spaded. Yesterday I had my garden plowed. It was good to feel the warmth of the earth and to walk in the furrows. Nearby the unearthed soil, were narcissus, sending up their deep green spears and nestled underneath the soil were the curly leaves of the rhubarb. Also revealed many of the artichokes (all oddly shaped, yet sweet and tasty).

Before the plowing was done, we covered the top soil with decomposed leaves, corn husks and scraps from the kitchen. All make a good humus to be turned under.

And now the rain is falling on the new turned soil which will be good for planting and growing later. I do offer a word of warning—do not get in too big a hurry to plant seed. It is best to wait until the soil has warmed. Cold soil will hinder, rather than aid fermentation and growth.

Daily I talk with or visit gardens and gardeners. At the McCullough home, I enjoyed the beautiful crocus, in varied colors, also was thrilled over the dainty and beautiful, Species Iris (Mixed). The gorgeous colors remind one of royal velvet and the intricate markings are exciting and golden. If you have not grown crocus or the Iris Species, make a list now and remember to order bulbs in the fall.

These two are really harbinger of spring and always give the passerby a thrill, as well as the gardener. They are really picturesque peeking through new fallen snow.

Some of the recommended crocus are; crocus yellow, crocus snowstorm (pearly white), Striped Beauty, crocus blue (deep in hue). Almost all small bulbs are hardy and excellent for planting. Most of them produce rather small flowers, so I suggest that they be planted in groups for the best effect. Another iris which is interesting, is Iris Danfordiae.

Mrs. Cowan also shared some of her Christmas rose blooms. It was a real thrill to see them and to know that they will grow and flower here. She is an interested skilled gardener, both with indoor and outdoor plants and new varieties. As always she shared some of the goodies from her kitchen.

MARCH ACTIVITIES for gardeners: During March, spring begins to unfold. However gardening is handicapped, because of the changing weather. One day is warm and sunny; next day is cold with some snow fall or rain. It is a good time to plan the vegetable garden.

Planting and preparation of ground require care in selection of seed especially plants for transplanting. Diseases can be carried by unhealthy plants.

With days getting longer, gardening activities increase. Continue to plant trees, shrubs, bare-root roses, woody vines, bare-root fruit, nut trees and shade trees. Plant as soon as possible, before new growth is started.

This is also good advice for ground covers. This will give plants more time to establish effective root systems, which will enable them to withstand growth stresses caused by weather changes.

Good Friday, fast approaching, is a good time to start pruning trees and shrubs, (flowering shrubs and trees should not be pruned before they flower). In pruning, avoid giving the pruned plants and trees a boxed or round appearance. The natural look is the best and is effective for the landscape design.

However in a formal garden, some of the geometric effects can be used. Most gardeners like to have the hedges trimmed and shaped, however if planted for screening or wind protection, the natural look and growth pattern is best.

Lawn care must be started. For a permanent lawn of bluegrass or other lawns in which dandelions and other garden enemies thrive, a treatment should be applied for early control of these garden nuisances.

Use care in selection of the treatment, counsel with one who knows the right preventive or inquire of the nurserymen. Two years ago, I had my lawns sprayed for dandelions and crabgrass and it was almost 100 per cent effective.

If the lawn is Bermuda, with winter grass, lower the mower and cut close so light and air can penetrate and encourage the grass to start its spring growth. When Bermuda starts show of green, it is a good sign that Spring has come.

After the first mowing, it is advisable to begin a monthly feeding with high-nitrogen fertilizer. Be sure and check percentages as listed on the bag in which the plant food is packaged for information. It is also recommended before the first mowing, that the lawn be thoroughly raked, removing old grass. This will aid the roots and new shoots with more sunshine and air circulation, which promotes growth.

Iris should be groomed. All debris removed from the base of the plants. Old withered and browned tips or leaves removed. Stir the soil lightly (root system is near the top of soil) and give the plant a side dressing of your favorite plant food. Again, I stress the percentages on the bag, and for this there should be a high content of the center number to promote blooms.

For those who have inquired when to prune roses, check the calendar. Spring starts March 20 and Good Friday falls on the 21st. Prune carefully and well. Often times it is good to give them a "boyish bob."

All dead wood should be removed, and if climbers, the canes rubbing on wood or other fences should be removed. Wires or trellis frames should be checked, tightened and perhaps a coat of paint would help the appearance, preserving the wood of the trellis.

Roses are a great favorite of gardeners, and some of our greatest thrills come when the buds begin to form and show color. As they unfold and their fragrance fills the air, we know that it is good to share their sweetness and beauty.

There are many excellent rosarians in our area. They will be glad to share their knowledge and advice. There will differences, but good ideas, and suggestions could be helpful.

ATTENTION: Be sure to include in your garden plans, a planting of red, white and blue. This is a nation-wide suggestion for all to share in the Bicentennial celebration. Soon we will be sharing a list of flowers which will be suggestive plantings for this project.

FERTILIZER ANALYSIS identifies a fertilizer. It usually consists of three numbers on the label, separated by dashes, such as 21-0-0, 16-20-0, 12-8-4. The first number always indicates percentage of nitrogen; the second, percentage of phosphorus as P2O5; the third tells you the percentage of potassium as K2O.

A ding-a-ling orders Gas air conditioning now.

A telephone call to Pioneer Natural Gas brings an air conditioning specialist to your home for a free survey and cost estimate at no obligation to you. He'll answer all your questions, and tell you what it will take to install GAS air conditioning in your home. It's the first easy step toward having your dependable GAS air conditioner installed before the first hot, windy days are here.

A GAS air conditioning system is ruggedly built to cool quietly and efficiently. There are fewer moving parts, and no compressor to break down or wear out. Heat from the steady blue flame circulates a refrigerant through the system to cool the air. It's this simple principle that gives GAS air conditioning its long life with no loss of cooling capacity and easy maintenance.

Install gas air conditioning now. You'll avoid the rush, and be enjoying the quiet, cooling comfort of GAS air conditioning while everyone else is waiting. Give us a ring . . . a-ling.

Research Shows Corn Good Crop For Watergrass Fields

Corn is a good crop to grow on fields infested with water grass according to Dr. A.F. Wiese, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Weed Researcher. He cited these findings at a recent Corn Production Symposium held at the USDA Research Center at Bushland.

Research over four years proved that watergrass will not hurt yields if corn is planted by May 1, enough herbicide is applied and fields are cultivated twice. AAtrex worked well at 4 pounds per acre applied preplant and incorporated with a disk or rolling cultivator or applied preemergence.

Excellent control was obtained when Sutan+ and Eradicane were incorporated with a disk immediately prior to bedding and corn was "watered up" after planting on dry beds. Preemergence applications of Lasso and Bladex followed by post directed sprays of Evik or Lorox gave adequate control and near maximum yields. If crops other than sorghum are to be rotated with corn, AAtrex must not be used.

THESE PRACTICAL methods of controlling watergrass in corn were developed in experiments conducted from 1971 to 1974 by Wiese and his associates.

Dwane Lavake and Wayne Chenuk. In 1971 and 1972, studies were located on Harvey Garrison's farm, 10 miles east of Dumas.

The best control in 1971 was obtained when a total of 5 pounds of AAtrex were applied. It didn't matter if the herbicide was applied preplant, preemergence or split into two applications. In 1972, results were a little different, and watergrass control was increased 10 percent with a split application. Postemergence directed applications of AAtrex and Evik did not enhance weed control. Soil was dry and 6-inch watergrass under moisture stress was hard to kill.

In 1973, the study was moved to the Texas Tech Center at Amarillo because Garrison had controlled most of the watergrass in his fields. Treatments were redesigned to include several short residual herbicides. As in previous years, AAtrex applied at 3.75 to 5 pounds per acre preplant, preemergence or as a split application gave the best watergrass control. If less herbicide was applied, weed control was reduced.

Contrary to previous years, postemergence directed sprays applied to small watergrass gave excellent control. "Combining short residual preemergence herbicides with post emergence directed sprays accomplished the objective of controlling watergrass and being able to plant wheat the same fall. Lorox or Bladex preemergence followed by post directed sprays of Evik or Lorox did the job," Wiese stated.

In 1974, outstanding watergrass control was obtained with either Sutan+ and Eradicane applied at 4.75 pints per acre and incorporated with a tandem disk prior to bedding. Application, incorporation and bedding were done 3 days before planting and corn was "watered up" with furrow irrigation. Watergrass control was poor in a previous study, when Sutan+ was incorporated with tandem disk 40 days before planting and the field was bedded and prewatered before planting.

Herbicide treatments did not affect yields in 1971, but increased yields about 40 percent in 1972 and 1973. In 1971, corn planted May 1 had about 3000 pounds per acre of watergrass in untreated checks at harvest, but yields were not reduced. Watergrass that emerged about a month after corn planting was not very competitive.

Corn and Watergrass Control

Research indicates that good management and the application of proper herbicides can control watergrass in corn. In the left photo, a field infested with watergrass and on the right, a clean field after proper management and the application of 3.75 pounds per acre of AAtrex.

Farm Bureau Lobbies Against Strike Permit

The Texas Farm Bureau is seeking defeat of bills which would permit strikes by postal workers and make possible compulsory union membership for those workers.

TFB President Carrol Chaloupka has urged two Texans who are on the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee to help defeat the "dangerous" bills in committee. The Congressmen are Reps. James Collins (R.) of Dallas and Richard White (D.) of El Paso.

H.R. 55 amends the Postal Reorganization Act of 1970 to permit strikes by postal employees.

The other bill, H.R. 56, provides for possible compulsory union membership for postal employees.

Chaloupka said he understands the proposals are part of an overall plan by organized labor to provide for collective bargaining and the right to strike for all public employees—federal, state and local.

"Similar power has been abused in other lands and has brought nations to their knees," Chaloupka said. "We will not stand idly by while any group is given the power to do such harm to this country."

The state farm leader said the Farm Bureau membership "has spoken in no uncertain terms" on this subject.

"We are strongly against giving the strike weapon to public servants at any level of government," Chaloupka said. "We also believe that no one should have to join any organization in order to work.

14. CARD OF THANKS

CARD OF THANKS The R.D. Scott family wishes to express our appreciation for all the sympathy shown us during our time of sorrow.

PUBLIC NOTICE BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW (Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. It is one premise that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that time on, public notice advertising has become a necessary part of the democratic process. It is important that the public be kept informed of the actions of their government. ## Tech To Hold County Government Workshop

"The Future of County Government" will be the topic of a workshop for officials and employees of local governments. Wednesday, March 19, at Texas Tech University. Workshop registration will begin at 9 a.m. in the Division of Continuing Education (DCE) Building (Bldg. X-15) across from the Municipal Auditorium. The workshop will run through 4:15 p.m.

"Legal, state, regional and county viewpoints will be presented to provide varied perspectives on the utility and function of county governments in Texas," said David C. Cummins, professor of law in the Texas Tech University School of Law and coordinator of the workshop.

"Systems wherein county and city governments are merging or county governments are changing from executive commissions to legislative councils will be discussed," Cummins said. "The authority and limitations of county governments will be examined, and emphasis will be given to opportunities for county governments to broaden duties and areas of responsibility to meet needs of their citizens."

Workshop sessions will include "A Legal View of the Future of County Government," conducted by Bruce M. Kramer, professor of law; "A State View," by Rep. Craig A. Washington of Houston, former chairman of the Local Government Committee of the 1974 Texas Constitutional Convention; "A Regional View," by Roland Smith, associate professor of political science, and Mike Lumsden, assistant director, South Plains Association of Governments; and "A County View," by Glen Williams, County Judge, Bailey County.

The workshop is one of a series conducted by the Texas Tech Division of Continuing Education in cooperation with the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) for local governments.

The next workshop in the series will be April 2 on "Planning for Natural Disasters."
