

FREIGHTER IS SUNK BY U-BOAT

LISBON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The 7,342-ton British freighter Manara was sunk last night off Portugal by what survivors declared was a torpedo from a submarine, and early this afternoon 41 of her crew of 88 had not been accounted for. At least two were killed and three wounded.

Survivors said the Manara, bound for Calcutta from Liverpool, was torpedoed without warning, and while the crew was attempting to abandon her in eight lifeboats the submarine opened fire and destroyed one lifeboat, killing one man and wounding four.

One of the wounded men apparently was Anteer Ally, who subsequently died en route to Lisbon.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—The United States lines today received a radio from the Washington which sailed from New York Saturday that she was "proceeding to the assistance of the Olivegrove" presumably in the vicinity of the English Channel.

The United States lines said the Washington should be near the channel by this time.

Lloyd's register gives the Olivegrove as owned by the Grove line of Glasgow with its home port as Glasgow.

The register said it was a 4,000-tonnage craft built in 1920.

aboard a rescue ship, the Netherlands steamer Mars.

The Mars brought 29 survivors here, among them the three others wounded—J. Furner, Thomas Jones and Abdul Nobre.

The Portuguese liner Carvalho Araujo arrived here with 16 British-Indian members of the Manara's crew.

Early this afternoon three lifeboats were reported still missing.

The Carvalho Araujo picked up her contingent of survivors 400 miles off Lisbon at 2 a. m. (8 p. m. CST, Wednesday). The liner's captain said while he was watching for lifeboats several Very lights went up.

The rescued Indian seamen were wholly ignorant of their location, knew nothing of navigation and soon would have been carried farther out to sea.

Members of the crew said the submarine suddenly broke the surface last night at 7:30 p. m. (1:30 p. m. CST).

Captain Shaw of the Manara and his officers are Europeans.

She went down about 70 miles northwest of Cape Roca, which is 20 miles west of Lisbon.

128 Dead Or Missing After Athenia Attack

GLASGOW, Scotland, Sept. 7 (AP)—Owners of the British liner Athenia, sunk Sunday night off the Scottish coast with 1,418 persons aboard, reported today 128 persons were dead or missing.

The Donaldson Atlantic line, however, still held slight hope the death toll might be reduced.

It pointed out there was the possibility outward bound vessels not equipped with wireless had picked up some survivors.

Accounting for 1,290 whose rescue is known, line officials said 590 passengers and crew had

Courthouse Grant Fades

A PWA project for a new $300,000 Howard county courthouse appeared definitely out of question Thursday with the announcement by the governmental agency that it was returning the application along with many others pending in Texas.

Applications were being returned on order of Federal Works Administrator John M. Carmody with the notation that in view of the adjournment of congress without provision of an extension of the PWA program that local public bodies could be free to make other arrangements.

The Howard county application, said County Judge Charles Sullivan, was for a grant of $135,000 on the proposed $300,000 structure. It was conceded that the PWA action killed the project for the time being.

Meanwhile, a $1,600 repair and painting program on the 30-year-old building was getting underway at the courthouse, Judge Sullivan said that pending the time district court was in session all work would be confined to the downstairs area.

Nazi Forces Approach Warsaw

Military Depot At Westerplatte Finally Yields

German Advance Making Progress; Centers Cut Off From Supplies

BERLIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Associated Press was informed officially today that the German army already was within 20 miles of Warsaw, but even this report was declared "probably already completely superseded."

It was announced officially also that the Polish garrison at Westerplatte, the Polish military depot in Danzig harbor, had surrendered at 10:30 a. m. today (8:30 a. m. C.S.T.). The Poles had been under German air and naval attack since early on the morning of Sept. 1.

The German supreme command stated the Westerplatte force of 120 men fought gallantly for several days, but in view of the hopelessness of the general situation—as the Germans put it—decided to surrender.

Thus one of the greatest German fears, that Danzig, newly rejoined to the reich, might be destroyed by the Poles' attack on their big Westerplatte ammunition stores, was said to have been allayed.

It was authoritatively asserted the accelerated speed with which German armies have been driving through Poland was due to the entire strategic defense plan of the Poles having fallen into German hands.

Among booty found when a Polish division surrendered, said a German informant, was an iron strong box. It contained plans for Poland's defense in minute detail.

The Germans were surprised, the informant related, when the Poles did not alter their strategy.

Talking with military experts, one gained the impression German strategy had created three big vises closing in on the Poles.

First, Poznan was encircled so that it now is held by gigantic pincers which cut it off from Gdynia and the south.

No direct attack except by bombers, concentrating on military objectives, is being made on Warsaw, but again German troops are trying to create a vise in which they can hold the capital.

The strategy seems to be to cut each of these centers off from all supplies, then press the jaws of the vise closer and closer in the hope of making the enemy capitulate without making necessary too much destruction.

Krakow also seems to have fallen by these tactics. Not even the Vistula bridges were destroyed before Krakow was taken.

The German naval supreme command, once again in the most emphatic terms, denied any German craft had anything to do with the sinking of the British liner Athenia.

At Dusseldorf and Cologne, returning travelers report, there have been several alarms about approaching enemy planes, but the population was permitted to leave their anti-aircraft shelters soon and no planes appeared.

With Adolf Hitler held up before them as a soldier's soldier, German troops were spurred to rapid swift conclusion of the Polish campaign before any British-French offensive could develop on the western front.

The German big guns were being dragged eastward by caterpillar trucks over the rough Polish roads.

The supreme army command announced its force from the north had reached Pultusk on the Narew river and that the Polish army continued a hurried retreat.

The communique said the "ninth and 27th Polish divisions,"

Jury Due To Report Soon

A report was expected from the 70th district court grand jury Thursday evening as the court pushed toward the end of its first week's work.

The fact that District Attorney Marielle McDonald had hopes of leaving during the afternoon for Austin was taken as an indication that the first session of the investigative body was near an end. Another long session the final week of the term was virtually assured due to a heavy criminal docket.

After Judge Cecil Collings had empaneled a jury Thursday morning attorneys for litigants filed the compensation case of Floyd Rankin versus Southern Underwriters. The damage suit of A. L. Cooper versus Tom Russell was transferred to Menard county on a plea of privilege.

Divorces were granted to Maxine Riegel from Robert Riegel and to Elizabeth Majors from Carl Majors.

Poles Fight 'Like Lions' Against Tanks

Defenders Fall Back To Line Along The Vistula River

WARSAW, Sept. 7 (AP)—The defenders of this Polish capital were reported today to have fallen back to a 30-mile line paralleling the Vistula river where they rallied and were "fighting like lions" against German tank thrusts.

Wing Hampered Back

The defense line ran between Pionak and Pultusk, northwest and northeast of Warsaw, respectively. About 30 miles of open country and the protecting Vistula river lay between Warsaw and the invaders from the north.

The right wing of the Poles had been hammered back from Clechanow, about 25 miles northwest of Pultusk, pivoting on Pionak.

At one stage of the struggle the Poles were driven from Pultusk and the Germans threatened to turn the Polish flank and thrust on to the Vistula and Warsaw. Pultusk, however, was regained in the face of withering German fire.

A staff officer, slightly wounded, returned from the battlefield and reported the Poles were staunchly holding the Pionak-Pultusk line, beating off repeated German attempts to break through.

"The Poles are fighting like lions," he said.

The officer related that Germans with tank vanguards succeeded in piercing the line in several places but the defenders outfanked them and smashed the penetrating columns, destroying and capturing a considerable number of tanks.

The Poles were preparing for a desperate struggle at the very edge of Warsaw if the battle went against them on the Pionak-Pultusk line.

German planes raided the northern section of Warsaw just before noon yesterday.

An official radio announcement said six planes attempted to drop bombs on the capital before this morning's assault.

THREE ADMINISTRATORS ADDED TO FD'S CABINET; OTHER STEPS TAKEN TO MEET WAR EMERGENCIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt today enlarged his cabinet "for the duration of the emergency" to include the administrators of loans, works and security.

At the same time the government moved swiftly to crush activities of foreign spies within the nation's borders, while an augmented naval and coast guard fleet steamed the Atlantic seaboard to protect American shipping.

Enlargement of the cabinet was announced in connection with a cabinet meeting called for today instead of tomorrow.

In addition to the regular 16 cabinet members, those invited to this emergency advisory council with appointment of three economists.

The three are Prof. Jacob Viner of the University of Chicago, and Walter W. Stewart and Winfield W. Riefler, both of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J.

Early also asserted the White House was receiving many "kick-backs" on the rise in food prices and all of these were being sent to Attorney General Murphy and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Wallace announced yesterday his department was investigating such complaints.

POLISH DEFENSE STRATEGY

The shaded area on this map, between the Vistula and Bug rivers marks an area of natural defense for the Polish army, reported to be withdrawing to more strategic positions as German armies advance on Warsaw from the north, west and southwest (arrows indicate direction of advance). Broken lines indicate approximate positions of the German armies in the north and south. It was reported that the Polish government was setting up headquarters at Lublin. The U. S. embassy staff was reported at Luck.

England Prepares For Finish-Fight Even If Hitler Conquers Poland, War Would Go On Against Hitlerism

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Great Britain guardedly organized its offensive against Germany today on a long-term basis for a fight to the finish.

The government has made plain by its brief and carefully worded communique during the first five days of the war that it is mapping under cover a vast, coordinated campaign along three general lines:

1.—Military and aerial cooperation with France and Poland to harass Germany on two fronts.

2.—Sweeping naval operations to choke off German lines, and intense propaganda work "to disorganize the economy of the enemy."

3.—Careful civil defense preparations to keep its own nation at a peak of efficiency and morale so as to be able to supply not only Britain's own forces but those of her allies with the materials for successful warfare.

British planes already have joined German munitions plant north of the Saar valley and longer hops across Germany to help the Poles on the eastern front are expected as operations expand.

The British government last night announced consolidation into a unified army force of its regular army, territorial army, conscripted militia and auxiliary units. Manpower is assured through a law providing for conscription of men from 18 to 41.

Formation of a ministry of home security with unannounced duties was disclosed last night.

Meanwhile Britain and France arranged today to give additional financial aid to Poland

Echoes On The War

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The ministry of information announced today Japan has informed Britain she does not intend to be involved in Europe's war.

The ministry said "a communication has been made to His Majesty's ambassador at Tokyo to the effect that the Japanese government does not intend to be involved in the war which has broken out in Europe."

CANNES, France, Sept. 7 (AP)—A spokesman for the Duke and Duchess originally decided to return to England last Saturday today they would leave tomorrow for London, ending almost three years of exile for the former king of England.

The exact time of the couple's departure and the route they will take will be kept secret, it was said.

The spokesman said the duke and duchess originally decided to return to England last Saturday and summoned a private pilot to fly them over, but adverse weather and outbreak of the European war interfered with their plans.

In the ensuing five days they have been seeking means of transportation.

Buying Rush Finds Many Firms Pressed To Meet Heavy Demand

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—A rush by consumers and manufacturers to stock shelves for war-time filled business books with large orders today and left firms in many lines struggling to meet the demand amid confusion over prices.

Foodstuffs, textiles, steel and numerous miscellaneous products felt the full force of the buying from raw materials to semi-finished and finished markets.

The outbreak of war caught business generally with reduced inventories after months of hesitant buying, although supplies of grains, cotton and numerous industrial materials were large.

This partly accounted for the violence of the upsurge in seasonal prices, some analysts said.

Processors and manufacturers in some lines have refrained from quoting prices to wholesalers until the basic markets settle. Hence the full effects of the buying sweep were not yet visible.

A survey of conditions showed the following highlights:

French Drive Deeper Into German Area

British Aid On Western Front Soon To Be In Position

PARIS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The French general staff reported tonight the Germans were rushing up reinforcements to meet the increasing French attack on the northern flank of the western front.

PARIS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The French army reported tonight it had fought its way into the German forest of Bienwald just north of Lauterbourg, French key to the western front.

British Reinforcements

PARIS, Sept. 7 (AP)—British reinforcements were moving up today to join French forces reported officially already to have advanced on German soil.

The French and British general staffs were in consultation to coordinate their forces.

(In Basle, Switzerland, border advances said German advance guards on the western front were withdrawing slowly into the main forts of the Siegfried line.

(The French had advanced as much as 15 kilometers—9 1/2 miles—in some places along the northern wing of the line, these reports said, but were moving cautiously).

Premier Daladier, who also is France's war minister, conferred today with General Maurice Gamelin, commander of all French forces and probable generalissimo of "combined British-French land forces."

This morning's communique No. 7 from the war ministry indicated the Germans were offering stiff resistance but that the French were pursuing action on the Western front to relieve Poland on the eastern front.

The French and British general staffs have been coordinating action since the start of the campaign Monday, an official announcement disclosed.

On that day, the announcement said, Maj. Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, chief of the British imperial general staff, and Air Chief Marshal Sir Cyril Newall, commander of the British air forces, conferred with Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin, French supreme commander of land, sea and air forces, and Gen. Joseph Vuillemin, chief of staff of the French air forces.

General Gamelin is slated to be generalissimo of the allied armies.

Premier Daladier meanwhile set about building a national union cabinet to prosecute the war.

A person close to him said the makeup of the war government would be announced in a day or two.

The military campaign remains

McNary said he agreed to the president's request that he do what he could to have only neutrality legislation considered during the session, and that the session "be of the shortest possible duration."

McNary made no comment on his stand on the president's request all belligerents be permitted to buy arms and ammunition on a cash and carry basis.

McNary pointed out that Sept. 18 was only a tentative date for the special session.

Let Your Bridge Luncheons Be Trumps This Year

Here's a dessert for a feast or a fine sweet for a bridge party—date and pecan pie.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE, A Feature Service Writer. It's about time to begin brushing up on your culinary tricks so you can spring some ace-high foods on the bridge club this fall.

Let's lead with salads—favorites with most club members because they are always refreshing and aren't so calorie-full as many other foods.

For a sparkling salad, mold peaches, pears and seeded white cherries in ginger ale, stiffened by gelatine. Pass cheese dressing. Spiced fruits—apricots, pears, peaches, plums—are delectable in lime gelatin and topped with mayonnaise.

Tuna becomes ultra-smart when made into a frozen salad. Put chopped ripe olives, capers and green peppers into a highly seasoned tuna salad. Freeze four hours. Serve on cream and cover with mayonnaise or salad dressing blended with a little catsup.

If you prefer something hot for luncheon, bake some cheese, vegetable or chicken soufflé—in individual molds or one large one—and serve it surrounded by a creole or tomato sauce.

Meat or fish Imperial is an extra good entrée. Make a heavy, highly seasoned white sauce, add equal quantities of cooked meat or fish and browned mushrooms. Pour into a buttered shallow baking dish.

DATE AND PECAN PIE 1-1/2 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk 2 eggs 1-1/2 pound (1-2 cup) pitted dates 1-2 cup chopped pecans 1 teaspoon vanilla Few grains salt Unbaked pie shell (8 inch) Blend sweetened condensed milk, egg yolks, finely-chopped dates, chopped pecan, vanilla and salt. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 300 degrees F. and bake 20 minutes longer, or until filling is set.

dish and cover generously with buttered crumbs and grated cheese. Bake long enough to heat—about 20 minutes. Pass a relish tray filled with crisp carrot strips, pickled melon rind and currant jam. Since the calories are carried in the main course, top off with lemon or lime sherbet.

You'll impress your bridge group if you bake a chicken, ham or salmon loaf in ring shape. Unmold and fill with buttered asparagus (canned). Surround with celery, pimiento sauce and accompany by pineapple or apricot salad.

Corn or rice-stuffed tomatoes, sauced with creamed green beans, are economical. A tart fruit salad and French dressing helps this out. Have the dessert angel or sponge cake with hot caramel sauce.

If your club craves just dessert and coffee here's something—Bake your best devil's food cake in a ring mold. Cool, split and put in a pineapple-nut filling. Cover with whipped cream. Or frost it with chocolate icing, fill with vanilla ice cream and surround with peaches.

Practicing for drill work following the business session, Firemen Ladies met Wednesday at the W. O. W. hall with Mrs. Minnie Skalkley presiding.

Mrs. Jewell Williams won the attendance contest for the day. Attending were Mrs. Velma Baker, Mrs. Minnie Barbee, Mrs. Edna Casey, Mrs. Gladys Slusser, Mrs. Annie Wilson, Mrs. John Anna Stephens.

Chamberlain Promises War On U-Boats

LONDON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told commons today Britain might "rest assured" its navy would increasingly bring under control the raiding activities of German submarines.

In a general statement to the house of the state of Britain's war activities and preparation, Chamberlain asserted also Royal Air force planes had scored "at least two hits" on a German pocket battleship in their spectacular raid last Monday on the Kiel canal.

In discussing the submarine peril he acknowledged "a certain percentage of weekly losses (to shipping) must be expected."

Recalling the sinking of the Athenis, he denounced it as a German torpede which has profoundly shocked and horrified the world."

And, he said, "no details or inventions on the part of Germany will convince the public of German innocence."

The prime minister also said Poland was "contesting every yard of the German advance."

Chamberlain told commons: "Apart from the Athenis there have been attacks on other British merchant ships by German U-boats and three or four ships have been sunk. Steps are being taken to establish a convoy system at the earliest possible moment."

"Against overwhelming superiority in the air, outnumbered and out-gunned, he (the Pole) is contesting every yard of the German advance."

Chamberlain and Lord Stanhope, lord president of the council, made similar statements in the houses of commons and lords, respectively on the general war situation.

They were the first since the day the war started—last Sunday.

Meteor Explosion Near San Antonio Is Reported

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 7 (AP)—A meteor which was reported to have flashed across the sky within plain sight of San Antonio in the early morning hours, and to have exploded with a crash like thunder was the subject of interested investigation today on the part of local meteorologists and amateur astronomers.

Among those who saw the phenomenon was C. A. Anderson of the meteorological staff of the U. S. weather bureau's station at Stinson Field. He was watching a weather balloon through a theodolite when he saw the "ball of fire" flash through the sky in the east at 2:32 a. m. It "burst like a rocket," he said, and five minutes later, he heard what sounded like a thunderclap. This five-minute interval would indicate that the meteor was about 300 miles east of here, on the basis of sound traveling approximately a mile a second.

P. F. Hemphill, also with the Stinson Field weather station, said that he and his wife were awakened by a loud report at about that time of the morning at their home at 502 Vanderbilt avenue in Highland Park.

The bureau now is seeking to contact others who saw the meteor in the hope of being able to fix its approximate position.

NO CONFIRMATION OF SUB REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The commanders' office of the United States coast guard headquarters here today said there was "absolutely no comment" on a report from Mobile that three submarines had been sighted in the Gulf of Mexico near Mobile.

The Mobile report added it was understood coast guard planes had been sent out to search for the reported undersea craft, but there could not be obtained any confirmation of this here.

Polish Defenders Continue To Hold Munitions Base

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 7 (AP)—Although the former Free City of Danzig has been reunited with the German reich since last Friday, artillery fire still was echoing through the city's streets when I left there.

Outside, on the edge of Danzig bay, a determined garrison of what the Germans estimated could be no more than 100 men continued to hold the Polish munitions depot of Westerplatte late Tuesday.

Though machine-guns and small arms are believed to be their only armament, they have held out amid the wreckage of the depot against bombardment from the air, shell fire from the cruiser Schleswig-Holstein which opened the war's hostilities at 4:48 a. m. on Sept. 1, and landing parties sent from the cruiser.

Under strict supervision by the German army, Gestapo (secret police) and civilian authorities, complete censorship and rationing of foodstuffs and other necessities have been put into effect; free travel is prohibited, with foreigners needing the Gestapo's sanction before being able to leave, and export and import business is at a standstill.

All this, combined with the Polish stand at Westerplatte, has tended to take the edge off the enthusiasm with which Danzigers hailed Albert Forster's announcement of their return to the reich last Friday.

Not So Costly As War

The former naval officer who suggests that a fund be raised to buy up all the disputed areas in Europe and dispose of them in such a way as will eliminate all questions of oppressed minorities, probably does not expect his plan to be followed. The world isn't ready for that kind of economy. Yet if all the territory in question were bought at $500 per acre, and the expense of moving families in or out were included in the transaction, the final cost would be chicken feed in comparison with the bloodier method Europe is adopting. If we arbitrarily added 10 billion dollars as the sum that would be needed, the nations involved could raise and pay it much more easily than they finance a war whose thin never quit coming in.

If the slavery question in this country had been settled by buying all the slaves at $1,000 each and providing them with farms of their own at $100 per acre, the cost would have been heavy, in one sense; but it would have been a pittance in comparison with the price that was paid—and that is still being paid.

When Germany annexed Austria a problem was created as to certain Italian families in the annexed area. Germany and Italy being on good terms with one another, a plan was worked out for moving German families from Italian soil and Italian families from German soil. It was cruel, of course, to move a family from the home that it had used for so long; but not nearly as cruel as bombing that home, or putting its occupants in trenches. The scars of the removals will heal quickly enough, far more quickly than those of other methods of settling such problems.

The naval officer said that his idea was of the seafaring variety. We wonder.—Wichita Times

George Tucker Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—This is a good place to be in moments of a European or an international crisis. Above the skyscrapers the air crackles with a thousand messages, all enciphered. If you could reach out and pluck them out of the air they wouldn't mean anything to you, because they are in code, and the codes are changed every hour, or every half-hour, by the clock. These messages are springing from Warsaw and London, and Budapest, and Paris, and Berlin, and Moscow.

New York takes its crises very seriously. It means, they take them as they do world series games, or big prize-fights by running a fever. In this office I am within 20 feet of great trunk wires from which messages are pouring in from every part of the country. Across the street are great radio studios, where short-wave messages pour in endlessly from every part of the globe. Every taxicab in New York has a radio that pours out a constant stream of information. Every taxicab's seat is piled high with newspapers. It would not be an exaggeration to say that the New York hacksters are the best informed chauffeurs on earth. For naturally we have no censorship. Everyone says and writes as he pleases. And so ALL of the news is available to everybody all the time.

This afternoon I walked a few steps across from my desk to talk with a man who has spent most of his life as a correspondent in Europe. I asked him why he wasn't in Europe this time. "Well," he said, "if I were in London I would have only the London point of view. If I were in Paris I would have only what the French wanted me to have. But here in New York the thousand and one fragments that make up the whole of the European picture are dumped on this desk. From these fragments I am able to piece together the whole story. This is the only way I can write a daily, accurate column that gives a clear, comprehensive picture of the European situation. It is like a soldier at the front. You may be a very high ranking officer, but the observer 50 miles behind the lines has a better idea of the general front than is possible for you to have. All you know is what takes place in your immediate sector."

I watched him for a moment, with the latest reports from Berlin and Warsaw and Paris and from every point on the continent of Europe spread before him. He was a man trained in the essentials of reading out to be seen. The significance of those messages seemed to pour through his finger-tips and come out on paper in clear, comprehensive angles that would never occur to me. But then back of him his 20 years' experience in parsing and analyzing world-shaking events. Through the welter of puzzling, reticent dispatches his own story ran like a pure, silken thread of hard common sense. He knows Europe as you know the street on which you live. He knows London and Paris and Vienna and Shanghai as I will never know New York. His name, by the way, is DuWitt McKean. It might be a good one for you to remember.

It looks as if this Paris degree of corsets for womanhood will stand, unless someone obtains a stay in the proceedings.—Amarillo News.

After A Man's Heart

Chapter Three
Returns Engagement

"Buff Carroll," Buff told the young man, "is the hardest boiled proposition you'll meet west of the Mississippi. For example, she hasn't the remotest intention of letting Atkins—G. E.—get away with this sort of thing. Whatever you said him will be refunded to you. And Atkins loses his job. Pronto!"

That brought him upright as she had intended.

"Don't tell me you're the Carroll girl! The one who climbs the highest peaks, rides the meanest horses, bosses her poor parents within an inch of their lives!"

She winced but said valorously: "It's true 'tis pity, and pity 'tis 'tis true."

He finished it for her with mournful relish: "And that he is mad, 'tis true. I must have been mad to believe a cowboy and a ranch owner could be named Atkins. An English butler in a play, yet; or even a Cockney clerk in something by Walpole; but never a Colorado rancher." He sighed. "I thought you Carrolls were safely in Chicago. You're a restless lot, aren't you? I suppose your father will be along tomorrow—"

"No. I came alone. To—to shut up the house, and one thing, another. Now I suppose I've got to go to the bother of finding a new foreman. Damn Atkins!"

He slumped back once more in the long chair. "Your profanity, my dear child, does not shock me—if such was your intention. It bores me. But then everything bores me at the present moment. Most of all, the terrible silence of this place."

Her brown eyes studied him closely. He looked ill, she thought; ill and unhappy. His clothes hung loose on his big frame, there were deep lines plowed on each side of his mouth. Her fingers itched to sketch that mouth. It was at once cynical and sensitive, though she was confident it had been made for laughter. She wondered what had set it in its present grim lines.

"I like the silence," she offered. "You will too when you've stayed long enough."

"Stay? But I can't. Didn't you just offer to refund my money? Anyhow I couldn't stay now if I wanted to."

This aroused her natural perversity. "I don't see why not! There is certainly room enough for us both. If you're afraid I'll ask you to climb or ride, or—do any of the strenuous things you mention a while ago—"

"The conventions," he interrupted curtly.

"Pooh! Who cares about 'em out here? Anyway, there's Mrs. Webb. She's chambermaid enough for a dozen people—if one weighs the conventions," she added for her own private amusement.

He turned a lack luster eye in her direction. "I remember now—you've written some one-act plays and skits for smart magazines. I don't think I'm strong enough to bear up under that sort of thing. Take it all in, you don't seem to be what the doctor ordered. I'll be on my way as soon as I can pack."

"Do!" she said cordially. "And you may have noticed that the sun goes down with a bang up here, especially this time of year. I don't want to hurry you." The screen door slammed on his retreating back.

Pat Mrs. Webb scolded delighted greetings to Buff with regrets over losing the latest tenant of the ranch.

"I'd promised myself, Miss Buff, to put a little meet on these bones of mine before he left," she said earnestly. "If you ask me, he's a sick man—or will be, if he don't take care of himself. You send him off!"

Buff shook her head.

"As a matter of fact, I asked him to stay. But he didn't seem to care for my looks, or style of conversation, or something. What's his name, by the way?"

"Corliss. Timothy Corliss, his mail's addressed. From Boulder. He ain't leaving without his supper, I hope?"

"Depends on your powers of persuasion, I should think. I'm going now to freshen up a bit for a meal of my own. I'm starved. Biscuits, Webby? With fresh butter and strawberry jam?"

"I'm off."

When she came down twenty minutes later, Tim Corliss awaited her, his bag at his feet.

"I'm off," he announced. "As you pointed out, it's getting late and that road of yours is pretty awful. Goodby, Miss Carroll! So happy to have met you."

"What money?"

"The rent you paid Atkins. You can't go without letting me refund it. You haven't had value received, you know. Why," she demanded crossly, "can't you be sensible and stay over till morning at least? Then you could get a good start—if you're perfectly certain you want to go."

He eyed her a bit uncertainly; not as though she figured at all in his plans, she realized, but as though he were turning some vague idea over in his mind. He seemed like a man to whom nothing was of any great importance at the moment, at least.

"No," he said finally. "Might as well get along now. I've got started. That's the worst of feeling like this: the initial impulse is dimmed, if you know what I mean. Getting up steam's about the hardest thing I have to do." He shook hands ceremoniously with her, with Mrs. Webb who appeared promptly in the hall. Buff caught a glimpse of a greenback changing possession in the latter act, and again she reminded him of his rental money.

"I'll write you about it from Boulder. Got to be going now!"

He hurried out of the front door, circled the house to the garage and presently drove out a small car which, Buff knew at a glance, had been long service. It chugged away purposefully, seemed to leap as it sped the first boulders of the road, then disappeared from sight.

Buff was somewhat pensively consuming her fourth biscuit when she heard it returning; or at all events heard a car approaching the house.

"Atkins," Mrs. Webb said, appearing at the dining room door. "And late enough, too! It's almost dark. My goodness gracious sake, little girl, she said. "He's got Mr. Corliss with him!"

"Or possibly," Buff said with a touch of grimace. "Mr. Corliss has Atkins with him! There's a little matter of renting this ranch—"

She broke off abruptly and ran out on the porch, followed by the portly manseigneur. Atkins was supporting the late tenant of the ranch, who limped and put a hand occasionally to his forehead.

Approximately 16,000,000 school children each year are receiving some form of traffic education.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—We have taken up with the National Institute of Public Health the problem of whether a strawberry-flavored football team will gain more parades than a lemon-flavored team. While we get no final conclusions, we do get lots of information.

The thing grew up out of the fact that energetic scientists discovered that gelatine, taken in fairly large quantities under certain conditions, would enable a man to do more work before surrendering to that tired feeling.

The football season is approaching. We asked the Institute of Health and also the Public Health Service what would happen if a coach fed his team on gelatine to help the boys beat the Terrytown Muckduds in that big Thanksgiving day game, November 23 or November 26.

Three learned savants of the two institutions agreed that experiments "tended" to prove that gelatine, taken in sufficient quantities, would permit a man to do a lot more work before fatigue set in.

IT MIGHT BE HARMFUL.

Here, for instance, is a recent experiment reported in the proceedings of the Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine. G. E. Ray, J. R. Johnson and M. M. Taylor of the Long Island College of Medicine announced that men to whom they fed gelatine over a period of 49 days gradually built up resistance to a point where they could do 37 to 240 per cent more work before fatigue set in. When the gelatine was taken away, the man's work capacity gradually went down.

What happens? we asked. Would a group of high school boys be permanently injured if they were gelatined up to a point where they could double-duty into a football game? Would the heart be hurt, even though the muscles were willing?

Views differed. One nutrition authority said he could foresee no harm if the gelatine did not substitute for other food. It should not replace, eggs, liver or other protein sources carrying all the essential amino acids.

HOW IT WORKS.

The thing works this way. Gelatine contains 25 per cent of glycine. Glycine is associated with the generation of creatine in the muscles. And creatine seems to be the phosphate compound in muscles which prolongs energy. The more creatine in the muscles, the more work before fatigue sets in.

Other foods contain glycine, but gelatine contains it in large quantities and can be taken readily. The Long Island experimenters gave their subjects 60 cubic centimeters daily—about a half tumblerful, dissolved in water and flavored with lemon or orange. We were informed that the flavor doesn't matter.

We must add a discouraging word for the women. Experiments indicate that it doesn't work with gelatin. They get tired just about as fast, gelatine or no gelatine.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—It's a little early to predict a reform cycle, but that man over there, in the black doublet-and-hose, is none other than "old Crook-back," otherwise Richard III of England, otherwise (as he's known about town) one Basil Rathbone.

While Charles Laughton agonizes through his burdensome role as "Hunchback of Notre Dame," Rathbone is scarcely bothered by his new character's "crook"—achieved by a noticeable but not too prominent bit of padding around the left shoulder. His charter in "Tower of London" requires him to wear a red wig—with bangs.

Rathbone has been spending a good part of this summer in and about the Tower of London on movie sets. His role in "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" kept him on 20th's reproduction of the "Tower" in its more modern aspect; his part in "Tower of London" places him in the Tower in the days it served a grimmer purpose.

The Universal duplication of the old London landmark is, naturally, more cheerful than the 20th effort, which went in for "age" and "gloom" effects, complete with fog. Universal's decorator, Jack Otterson, swept back the centuries and revealed the prison apartment of King Henry VI (Miles Mander) as a cold stone jail, warmed somewhat by pale tints of green and red on the flags, equipped with an old but comfortable-looking bed for his majesty's rest while Richard went about his task of clearing his own road to the throne. (There were five people in the way, you may recall—and villain William Richard-Rathbone disposes of each in turn before meeting his own violent end.)

Queen Elizabeth of the piece (not the same Queen Bess portrayed by Bette Davis) is played by Barbara O'Neil, who all of a sudden—since she did that mental case wife in "When Tomorrow Comes"—has become the Bette Davis of the "U" lot. This Queen Bess, which they're spelling Elizabeth to avoid confusion with Bette's Queen Bess, is the wife of King Edward IV (Ian Hunter) and the mother of the two princes whose murder is one of the screenplay's highlights.

Some days Rathbone plays the husband of Sigrid Gurie in the modern tale of "Rio," and other days he works in the Tower.

While, as Richard, he pursues his dirty work, Miss Gurie, on the "Rio" stage nearby, seems to have stepped at last into her rightful position as a glamor queen. "Rio," tailored to Danielle Darrieux's measure and given to Gurie when the French girl couldn't make the trip to Hollywood, is letting Gurie show the old exotic appeal. She's a cabaret entertainer, singing throaty love songs a la Dietrich albeit through courtesy of a voice double, and she's wearing attention-arresting gowns.

Just now, back to "Tower of London," comes further evidence that the "deformity cycle" may yet materialize. There's friend Boris Karloff, in his make-up as chief executioner—a role important in the study as in any goings-in in Ye Merrie Englands of old. Karloff is no monster here, but a second cousin to one—his ears taped back, his face no flower of beauty, one of his legs "clubbed."

War, invasion, terror, bloodshed—those were the good old days. Now a dictator is coercing his subjects by deaying them worried cream.—Longview News.

King, Johnson Appointments Are Lauded

(Herald Austin Bureau)
AUSTIN, Sept. 7—When the W. Lee O'Daniel administration has faded into history and bespectacled scholars come to write of its achievements, they should not overlook two of its most praiseworthy acts—

1. The reappointment of Tom King of Dallas as state auditor.
2. The selection of Adam Johnson of Austin as director of the public welfare board.

The Hillbillie Administration thus added to its numbers two outstanding men who will rank with any in the nation for their independence of mind, their ability, and their industry. Even those who oppose O'Daniel must bitterly admit that these two appointments were made on the merit basis.

Tom King, who was first named state auditor by James V. Allred, is the "biggest" man in state government. He towers six feet, six inches in height, and he is man enough to fill out his height. He is one of the most popular officials in Austin because of his frankness, his friendliness and the outstanding record he has made as state auditor.

He is a close student of Texas history, being a descendant of Aaron King who died for Texas independence in 1836. He is a lawyer, auditor and certified public accountant.

As boss of the state's social security program, the new public welfare board, which was named by Governor O'Daniel, chose Adam R. Johnson of Austin.

There will be some who do not like Adam Johnson. They will say that he is "too tough." They will assert that he is too strict as an administrator. They will say that he "cracks down" on friend and foe alike.

What they are saying is that through a cash loan of $500,000 pounds (approximately $840,000).

Indicative of Britain's determination to see the war through to a finish was the manner in which reports were received from Rome that Hitler's axis partner, Premier Mussolini, was still attempting to arrange a settlement of the European dispute that would avert further war.

The authoritative London Times, which frequently reflects government opinion, commented:

"If and when the German armies have completed a considerable advance, Herr Hitler would naturally be expected to make an offer of peace x x x of this tactical move it is sufficient to say with the prime minister that the survival of Hitlerism would only mean that the world would continue to pass from one crisis to another, and that it must therefore be ended."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—A spokesman for the National Maritime Union said today the union would prevent the sailing of the S. S. Manhattan "until the government stipulates what are war zone areas."

Stephen Harvey, legislative agent for the N.M.U., said so far, the state department and the maritime commission had refused to delimit such areas, a preliminary the N. M. U. wants in its campaign for war risk bonuses.

The union has asked $250 per sailor per trip as a bonus for entering danger zones.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Housewives of the United States today felt the European war in rising prices of food.

They complained, and mayors, state and national officials rushed to promise protection against "profiteering," "hoarding" and "speculation raising the price in necessities."

Some wholesalers and store executives said most of the price rises had been caused by the housewives themselves—a sudden rush to buy more than normal requirements because of the fear of price increases.

Some cities reported long lines of housewives waiting to buy, and a temporary shortage in some staples, especially sugar.

GALWAY, Ireland, Sept. 7 (AP)—It was estimated today that, including the survivors from the torpedoed British liner Athenia, there now are 3,000 Americans in Ireland awaiting an opportunity to return home.

Reservations Urged For Goodwill Event At Center Point

An appeal for reservations for the Center Point good will dinner on September 14 went out Thursday from the chamber of commerce.

The dinner is to mark the resumption on a popular series which ran during the first half of the year and paused for the summer following the Richland affair in June.

As under previous arrangements, Big Spring business and professional men will be asked to make reservations, purchasing a dollar ticket which cares for their own meal and that of a resident of the host community.

Charles Frost, chairman of the good will committee, planned to convene his group into session to complete program plans for the affair. Meanwhile, those desiring to participate in the event may contact the chamber of commerce office.

allowable increase in East Texas fields at the expense of other fields in Texas, including West Texas, to meet the production quota set by the bureau of mines. This in effect will be 15 per cent reduction in allowable plus 15 per cent extra to comply with the bureau of mines standard.

"I am not in favor of this cut at all, and I want to say that the name of Jerry Sadler will not be found on this order due to be issued September 12th," Sadler said.

Sadler discussed the problems of the Gulf Coast area, saying that that area had an advantage over the West Texas fields, in that it had more market demand for oil.

"Only recently," he said, "I signed an order reducing the amount of oil sold under contract to Germany, and I am not in favor of the Gulf Coast section fulfilling contracts with Germany under existing conditions."

Sadler expressed particular interest in all suggestions of the local delegation, recently in Austin, for keeping down unemployment and for keeping the refineries in Big Spring in operation.

Both Sadler and Col. Ernest Thompson only recently executed an order lifting the Saturday and Sunday shutdown for the month of September in the Howard-Glasscock, Istan-East Howard and Snyder fields, in order that the Big Spring refineries and other West Texas refineries may meet the market demands.

Sadler expressed his appreciation for the invitation to come to Big Spring, and he was glad at any time to do all he can for the interests of this area. He extended a cordial invitation to every one to call on him at any time for any assistance to cope with the problems confronting the oil industry.

In conclusion, Mr. Sadler pointed out that he realized the importance of oil production in this area to serve refineries, which all along have shown a considerable market demand, and he assured those of the oil industry that he would lend every assistance possible to keep the allowables up to the point where they could operate without curtailment of employees and plant facilities.

Club's Dinner Honoring Barons Fails To Bring Win At Lubbock

Lone club members couldn't understand it Thursday.

They thought when they tendered the Big Spring baseball squad a farewell dinner Wednesday before its departure for Lubbock and the opening of the Shaughnessy play-off that it was all in the bag. That's why the $1 score for Lubbock mystified the Lions.

However, it did not detract from the program which was built around a number of records compiled by the local club and its members.

Tony Rego, manager, after voicing the belief that his "youngsters" could defeat Lubbock three out of five, pointed out that Jodie Marek, pitcher, held the new league record with 23 games won, the club held the record for most home runs in a season and most double plays in a game and during the season.

Marek explained his success as "just throwing the ball and hoping." The double play combination of Walton, Decker and Loyd tossed bouquets back and forth, but when Rego got down to the strikeout and most base on balls record, more explanations were in order.

Edson Bahr, holder of the base on balls records, shyly admitted that "I guess I must have just shut my eyes and thrown." Tex Walton, "the strikeout king," added that "I didn't shut my eyes when I swung, but it didn't do any good anyhow."

Willard Hamstead, pitcher, was in a quandary. "They can't get me out of the league and I can't get out," Pat Stacey, slugger of the team, looked forward to another season and Billy Capps, star third baseman, and Al Berndt, catcher, didn't have a lot to say.

Rego predicted that three or four of his boys would "go up" at the end of the season, and "would stick." He modestly gave credit for the team's successes to the players.

Dr. P. W. Malone lauded the team for advertising the town and for creating a community spirit during the "summer slump."

Jake Douglass was inducted into the club as a new member. Schley Riley, program chairman, said that it was planned to have Max Baer in the future attraction for the Sept. 18 meeting.

The Saar Basin, between the Rhine and the Moselle, was the target of the French.

The best summary of action yet available said French troops, under cover of several hours' artillery preparation, began the war Monday by occupying the ground between the Maginot Line and the frontier. Tuesday night they penetrated into German territory at several points.

Yesterday French forces cleaned out several German "pockets" and machine-gun nests to gain a foothold for further thrusts into the enemy fortifications.

The depth of these spearheads varied but they were said to be scattered all along a 100-mile front.

The French strategy is understood to be aimed at breaking several gaps in the Siegfried line to permit smashing flank attacks.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of these gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking surplus acids and poisons waste out of the body. They help most people pass about 8 quarts of urine a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. This waste matter may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 12 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Notice To Our Customers

Because of the European war situation, markets have been advancing daily for the past 10 days... advancing so rapidly that prices can not be guaranteed on any item from one day to the next—at least, right at present. Just how long such condition will exist in these markets we are unable to say, but for your own protection we urge you to buy enough NOW to last for weeks to come in such lines as FLOUR, SUGAR, BEANS, SHORTENING and others.

As you know, it is the policy of your neighborhood grocer to offer at all times top brands in highest quality foods at the lowest possible prices. This we have done daily since our opening. And now that a war has hiked quotations tremendously on nearly all items, upped to such extent that prices can not be obtained from wholesalers on dozens of necessities, we still are offering our entire food stock at the closest possible margin.

Prices are not quoted here for this week end because, as we said before, they can not be guaranteed from one day to the next. We want to assure you though that your needs may be found here at prices as low as those available anywhere else... and again we urge you to shop NOW for all supplies you'll need for weeks to come.

We want to take this opportunity to thank our many friends and customers for the splendid patronage we have received since opening our new store in Big Spring. We shall strive to please you at all times, and trust that this patronage may continue.

Always Good!

Will Ramsdell To Try To Even Count With Lubbock Hubs

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

J. C. Wallace, the local scrapper who won the district Golden Gloves middleweight title here two years ago but who did not compete in last season's meeting, has gone into training for a bout on the Maxie Baer-Babe Ritchie Sept. 18 card in Lubbock.

His opponent will be none other than Delmar Koch, the Amarilloan who captured the state Golden Gloves light-heavyweight title last February and represented Texas in the national tournaments at Chicago.

Jimmy Koenig, one of the promoters of the big mix, wired for Wallace's services when it was found that Billy Colbert, the Houston youth who was beaten by Koch in the state meeting, could not appear for the scrap.

Wallace had challenged Koch before it was known that Colbert was interested.

The encounter will be for four rounds or less and will serve as the semi-windup on the attractive card.

Incidentally, Noah Valdez, San Angelo's rugged featherweight has also been booked to appear in one of the supporting bouts. Valdez since donning the gloves has won 35 decisions in 40 fights.

The question over a referee suitable to both Baer and Ritchie has not been worked out. Jack Dempsey, who may make an appearance in Dallas along about that time; George Blake, a very prominent coast arbitrator, and Benny Leonard, the former lightweight champion, are all possibilities, all excellent drawing cards.

These pastboards Pup Thomas placed on sale at Cunningham & Philips No. 1 drug store here go off sale after Saturday night. It would be wise for all fans who intend to see the scrap to make their purchases before going to the fight center. It might be quite difficult to find a seat. A crowd of 25,000 has been predicted to look on.

Ray Ogden, a local insurance man who undoubtedly is Big Spring's champion sport fan, has brought out his annual fall football schedule blotters which do a good job in publicizing the local high school team's lineup of games.

In predicting the outcome of all frays Ray's lineup runs something in this manner: Big Spring 12, Mineral Wells 0. Big Spring 13, Colorado City 6. Big Spring 14, Lubbock 20. Big Spring 15, Odessa 7. Big Spring 16, Austin (El Paso) 4.

Big Spring 20, Lamesa 7. Big Spring 7, Midland 7. Big Spring 13, San Angelo 21. Big Spring 7, Abilene 20. Big Spring 14, Sweetwater 14.

Always a supporter of the first rank, Ray seems particularly optimistic when he is asked to forecast last year's Bovine record and looks for seven victories in ten starts. We only hope he knows something.

Six-Man Grid Drills Begin In Sector

Six man football drills in five District 15 camps got underway this week.

First round games are scheduled for Friday, Sept. 15, with Westbrook invading Forsan and Garden City tangling with Water Valley.

Brady Nix's Forsan Buffs looked as good a bet as any to gain the title honors. Nix lost a great back in Hollis Parker but is coming up with plenty of material.

At Garden City Herschel Wheeler looks to a better season than in 1938 when the Bearkats were able to win but two games.

George Sullivan, Sterling City mentor, will be assisted this year by Floyd Burnett, formerly of Gardner.

G. G. Parsons will handle the coaching reins at Water Valley. Garden City in Westbrook. The schedule:

Sept. 15—Sterling City by Westbrook in Forsan. Garden City in Water Valley.

Sept. 22—Westbrook by Water Valley in Sterling City. Forsan in Garden City.

Sept. 29—Water Valley by Garden City in Westbrook. Sterling City in Forsan.

Oct. 6—Garden City by Forsan at Water Valley. Westbrook in Sterling City.

Oct. 13—Forsan by Sterling City in Garden City. Water Valley in Westbrook.

Oct. 20—Sterling City by Forsan in Westbrook. Water Valley in Garden City.

Oct. 27—Westbrook by Sterling City in Water Valley. Garden City in Forsan.

Nov. 3—Water Valley by Westbrook in Garden City. Forsan in Sterling City.

Nov. 10—Garden City by Water Valley in Forsan. Sterling City in Westbrook.

Nov. 17—Forsan by Garden City in Sterling City. Westbrook in Water Valley.

Germany... They may have to send a destroyer to convey Vince Fisher's... Washington sports writer, out of California... In an unguarded moment he said: "The Washington Redskins would beat the best team you have here on the coast 99-0 when they hit mid-season form"...

Ouch! The Detroit News relays this one... When an irreverent Dodger heard that a street in Frankfort, Ky., had been named after Umpire Charlie Moran, he snorted: "It's probably a blind alley."

Sports cocktail: Ed Barrow says it's 50 to 1 Babe Dahlgren first bases for the Yanks next year... Allice Marble, the warbling tennis star, goes on "Information Please" next week.

MIDLAND AND LAMESA GRID MACHINES OPEN SCHEDULES

District 3—Sweetwater, with Abilene and Odessa meet in line. District 4—El Paso High, with stiff competition from Bowie (El Paso).

District 7—Poly and Riverside rated about even, with the usual threat from Masonic Home. District 8—Woodrow Wilson, with Adair next in line.

District 9—Breckenridge, facing trouble aplenty from Brownwood. District 10—Corpus Christi ranked first; Cleburne, Waco and Bryan offering chief competition.

District 11—Tyler and Longview due to fight it out for the title, Texasiana and Gladewater offering trouble.

District 12—Lufkin hands down favorite. District 13—Austin of Houston; San Jacinto (Houston) and Conroe packing trouble.

Champs Gain 8-1 Victory In Opener

Al Carr Homers With Bases Loaded; Decker Scores BS Run

LUBBOCK, Sept. 7.—Featuring a fourth inning out-break in which Al Carr hit a home run with the bases loaded, the Lubbock Hubbers defeated the Big Spring Barons, 8-1, to take an early lead in their Shaughnessy playoff test here Wednesday evening.

The champions counted all their runs in that one big round, slapping the combined offerings of Pat Patterson and Louis Jantek all over the lot before Ed Bahr came to the rescue.

The Barons scored their only run in the eighth round when Bobby Decker doubled and romped home on a single by Tex Walton.

Clovis Bridwell, toting the slab for the Hubbers, limited the invaders to five blows and pitched hit-

Marshall Upsets Henderson, 4-3

By The Associated Press

Henderson's Oilers and Kilgore's Boomers, who finished first and second respectively in the East Texas League's regular season, will attempt tonight to make up for defeats suffered in opening games of the Shaughnessy playoff.

John Simontacchi's home run and the Marshall Tigers—the regular season's fourth-place team—a 4-3 victory over the Oilers.

Third-place Palestine downed the Boomers, 7-6, led by Jiggs Ingalls' timely hits in the ninth and tenth innings.

Tonight, Henderson plays at Marshall and Kilgore plays at Palestine, a reversal of last night's stands.

Heat Keeps F'ball Squad From Heavy Scrimmage

As long as old Sol refuses to accept the fact that summer is almost over and it's time for cooler temperatures, the heavy scrimmage work in the local high school football camp is a thing which can only be talked about.

The local gridder have been out in uniform since last Friday but thus far the hot weather has limited their drills to passing and punting and work on plays. With no sign as to when the elements will relent, there is little way of knowing when Mentor Pat Murphy will feel safe in cracking down.

Murphy, assisted by Herschel Stockton and Johnny Daniel, had the squad out for two drills Wednesday.

With the opening game but ten days away the mentors dedicated Wednesday toward new plays and new formations.

The entire squad is showing interesting enthusiasm. Some of the youths, notably Harold Bethell and Bobby Martin, have been handicapped by blistered feet but none of the youngsters have yet been forced into idleness.

Martin apparently has won the signal barking post hands down. The nife has gained but little weight since last year but should be prepared to step into Alton Bostick's shoes.

Continued improvement is being noted in D. E. Gurtman, expected to open in the Bloss secondary along with Bethell, Martin and Johnny Miller.

The coaches still find they have tackle problems but hope to have that ironed out by the time the locals line up against Mineral Wells here Sept. 15.

Grabek Tames Midland, 10-6

PAMPA, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Pampa Oilers won the opening game of the West Texas-New Mexico League playoff series here tonight, downing the Midland Cowboys 10-6.

The Oilers were without the services of Gordon Nell of Hollis, Okla., the league home run king, who left the team last night following differences with the club management.

Jerry Jordan led the Pampa attack with two singles, a double and a triple in five times at bat. Kirby Jordan homered for Midland.

This meant the men's division was left without a real gate attraction, barring, possibly, Bobby Riggs.

Padres, Rebels Clinch Spots In Playoff

By the Associated Press

Three Texas league teams have won spots in the Shaughnessy playoff series and the fourth berth is practically settled.

Houston's leading Buffs downed Shreveport last night, 8 to 6, and practically eliminated the Sports from the playoff by dropping them a game and a half behind the fourth-place Fort Worth Cats with only two more nights to play.

Dallas' Rebels and the San Antonio Missions are deadlocked in second position.

Pinch-hitter Phil Seghi singled home the winning run in the 10th inning as the Rebels defeated Tulsas' Oilers, 6 to 5.

A walk and a two-bagger by Scharenz was good for the winning Mission tally as they edged out Beaumont, 4 to 2.

The Cats thumped Oklahoma City's Indians, 6 to 2.

More than anyone else, House has made Casa Manana the most famous name in the realm of entertainment in America; brought "Old Rip," the Eastland horned frog, to the attention of the world; has written a book, "Were You in Banger?" and two Saturday Evening Post articles on Texas oil booms.

PRISON PHYSICIAN ABDUCTED AS TWO CONVICTS ESCAPE

HOUSTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—State and county officers searched highways near here today for two convicts who kidnaped but later released Dr. M. E. Curtis, Eastham prison farm physician.

It was brought out that Moore community had about 40 signers out of an approximate allotment of 60.

At least three other communities not on the original project have shown a distinct desire to obtain electric service through the proposed project.

Sheppard stated that he felt that chances for getting the project over were good.

Policeman George Martin was dispatched to the plaza at 1 o'clock this morning when a three-way automobile collision was reported there.

PENSION ROLLS UP, FUNDS ARE LOWER

AUSTIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—A pension roll increase of 2,152 over last month and the prospect of dwindling funds with which to pay grants next month greeted the newly-created state public welfare board here today.

Johnson said the pensions increase brought the rolls to a total of 121,196 and that the average payment had moved up five cents to $14.24. The director indicated he anticipated no trouble in obtaining federal matching funds for the September payments.

SUTHERLAND SALUTES GRID GAME GOODBYE TONIGHT

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Dr. John Halm Sutherland and his Pittsburgh pounders of '38 take a final fling together tonight.

Before a crowd expected to reach 50,000 or more, Dr. Sutherland—Jock to the boys—his Panther provokers of last fall and various other eastern "all stars" tangle with the New York Professional Giants, champions of the National league, in the fourth annual Herald Tribune Fresh Air fund game.

For Sutherland, who "abdicated" as football emperor at Pitt after last fall's campaign, it means the end of the parade up the gridiron glory road for some time, if not for keeps.

The chances are Jock will bow out with an "all star" starting lineup consisting of nine of his Pittsburgh greats of last season and two other guys from Carnegie Tech.

Such a lineup, preponderantly heavy with men who played as a unit on one fine college team, is something new to these all-star collections, and figures to make it somewhat hotter than luke warm for the Giants, who have been installed favorites at odds of some-thing like 3-5 off their 9-0 victory over the National All-Stars in Chicago last week.

The Giants, fresh from their three-field-goal victory, the all-star lineup doesn't make much difference. Still, if Sutherland sends his Pitt team to the wars intact, as now seems certain, the cash-and-carry boys are going to need more than just the accurate kicking toes of Ken Strong and Ward Cuff.

Bell Laments SMU Squad Is Too Light

By the Associated Press

If Southwest conference football coaches are worried over expanded waist lines among their squadmen, they shouldn't need be concerned much longer.

Nature, in the form of a blazing sun, along with tough scrimmages sessions for such an early period, ought to cut a ton or so of beef from the prospects before the week is out.

However, what to do about Matty Bell, Southern Methodist mentor, is another matter. Matty is lamenting that his squad is too light, pointing out the starting team won't average over 150 pounds.

Bell was not the only coach doing the morning. At Fort Worth the Texas Christian university mentors worried over a lack of reserve strength in the line, made even more acute by loss of Bob Cook, senior tackle, who may be out all season because of an injury.

Big Jack Wilson was the talk of the Baylor training camp. The Paris youngster has been shooting passes in Billy Patterson manner.

Only one man was absent from the Texas Aggie ballclub. He was Pete Henry, sophomore guard, who hasn't yet recovered from an attack of malaria.

University of Texas coaches appeared confident the Longhorns would pull out of the cellar this season and waxed enthusiastic over the showing of backfielders R. B. Patrick and Raymond (Wild Horse) Mays and guard V. D. Bassy, a trio of sophomores.

At Rice institute, Coach Jimmie Kitta announced scrimmage under game conditions would come up by the middle of next week.

As Mediator

ROME, Sept. 7 (AP)—A speedy German conquest of Poland, followed by peace overtures in which Premier Mussolini would take the initiative, was predicted today in Italy.

Some Italian quarters expected Mussolini would make the first move in the pacification program by renewing his proposals for a conference of the powers on the general settlement of the political and economic ills of Europe.

They felt the German drive into Poland shortly would place a large part of that country under German occupation and that the time then would be ripe for the new move.

Such a proposal would be made with German victory in Poland an accomplished fact and, coming from Mussolini, would be in line with his ideas for a repartition of world wealth to give Germany and Italy political and economic parity with Great Britain and France, informed quarters said.

Some fascists thought the British and French might accept a conference rather than go ahead with the war.

British and French quarters here were of a different mind. They said the war would go on to a finish unless Hitler met the condition imposed by their countries for peaceful settlement when Mussolini last week made his first proposal for a conference—recall of German troops from Poland.

NEW STAR TO BE AT RITZ

Pictured above are Linda Darnell (left) Dallas girl who shot to screen fame overnight; and Elsa Maxwell, bon-vivant of safe society who is world famous for her parties. Both appear in "Hotel For Women," which plays Friday and Saturday at the Ritz theatre. Many Big Spring folk will be interested in seeing Miss Darnell on the screen, after having been treated to glimpse of her beauty and charm when she made a "personal appearance" stop here recently. Miss Darnell greeted a crowd at the railway station while en route from Dallas, where "Hotel For Women" had a premiere, back to Hollywood.

ENTERTAINMENT BILL IS INTRODUCED IN SMITH'S TRIAL

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7 (AP)—Evidence was introduced at the government's first "political scandal" trial here to show that Dr. James Monroe Smith, former Louisiana State university president, ran up an entertainment bill of nearly $1,000 at the Roosevelt hotel in December, 1936, and January, 1937.

Dr. Smith and Seymour Weiss, former Huey Long lieutenant and head of the Roosevelt hotel, are among the five men now on trial for mail fraud in the $75,000 sale of Bienville hotel furnishings to L.S.U. The government said the school bought furnishings it already owned.

Dr. Smith's "entertainment" bill was disclosed in a Roosevelt hotel ledger sheet which was introduced in evidence. District Attorney Rene A. Viosea said the bill was paid when an L.S.U. check for an insurance payment was diverted to Smith's account.

Dr. Smith's coats at the Roosevelt hotel were incurred during the season his daughter, the former Marjorie Smith, made her debut to society.

QUEEN MARY GETS CAMOUFLAGE PAINT

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—A swarm of workmen dabbed gray camouflage paint over red and black stacks of the British liner Queen Mary today, giving rise to a belief she is being readied for a dash through the submarine-infested Atlantic to a home port. Officials of the Cunard White Star line said the world's largest ship is not scheduled to sail, but added the Queen Mary was under direct orders of the British admiralty. They said they did not know what was planned.

Nazi Aide Resigns From Frisco Club

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Embarrassed directors of the Olympic club today held the resignation of Nazi Consul General Fritz Wiedemann while mystery surrounded the sending of a telegram to Adolf Hitler's World war captain politely urging his withdrawal from the exclusive organization for men.

Frank J. Foran, club secretary and member of the board of directors, called the telegram a "rank forgery." It was signed with his name.

"So far as the board is concerned," Foran declared, "we did not ask for the resignation and we did not even intimate to Captain Wiedemann any such thing. The resignation is very unfortunate."

The consulate revealed Wiedemann promptly sent in his resignation when he received the telegram, which read:

"Our board of directors is in receipt of a formal demand signed by 165 members, giving us the alternative of asking for your immediate resignation or else accepting theirs.

"While regretting the action indicated and assuring you that this is not personal to yourself, it is requested that you favor us with your reply as soon as convenient."

Foran declared he hated to think any Olympic club member would do "a thing like that," but indicated he did not plan to contact Captain Wiedemann.

"Any move is up to him, I suppose," said Foran. "After all, neither the club nor I take any responsibility for that wire."

The consul general, one of Hitler's three "personal adjutants" before being sent here several months ago, said he would not withdraw his resignation.

French Maneuvers Awaited On 25th Anniversary Of Marne
Battle, When Huns Repulsed

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Twenty-five years ago today the first battle of the Marne—one of the great turning points of history—approached its climax.

In a few hours a most amazing military maneuver was to begin. A fleet of 1,100 high-bodied, creaky, old-fashioned French taxicabs would roar out of the eastern gates of Paris with fresh troops to save that city from the first serious threat made upon it during the World war.

Parisians have been fleeing to the provinces these past few days but not so many as a quarter of a century ago when the German hordes were within 15 miles of the capital and the French government had fled to Bordeaux.

Again a German army is pushing on in the hope of snatching "lightning" victory. But the big push this time is eastward into Poland. Fate, however, seems to have decreed that if Germany is to be halted—if Poland is to be saved as Paris was in 1914—the French army must strike. And on this anniversary, dispatches from Paris say the populace is impatient for news of a major French offensive.

Historians say today that if Germany had won the first battle of the Marne, the former Kaiser would now be the overlord of Europe instead of an exile in Holland. They say it crushed Germany's chances of winning the first World war.

The battle began on September 8 on a line from the outskirts of Paris eastward to the impregnable French fortress of Verdun. The Germans, in a pell-mell rush over northern France, had dangerously stretched their communication and supply lines. But there were 34 German divisions facing only 20 for the allies. These included French, Belgians and only four British divisions—"the old contemptibles."

It was then that Gen. Alexander von Kluck, the commander of the first German army who died five years ago at the age of 88, left his flanks exposed by pushing far southward toward Troyes. His army was nearest Paris and the shrewd military governor of that city, Gen. Joseph Gallieni, conceived the idea of the surprising taxicab maneuver.

Early on September 8 the cabs began pouring out of the city to Nanteuil. They carried five men each and many cabs were reported to have made two trips.

Von Kluck's army was hit on both flanks and on September 9 a general retreat was under way and the first battle of the Marne was over.

Loss Of River Defenses Would Hurt Poland More Than Fall
Of Warsaw, The Capital City

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—A major battle for possession of Warsaw developed today just north of the great capital as a highly mechanized and powerful German war machine thrust southward from East Prussia against the hard-pressed defenders.

This likely is one of the decisive engagements of the German-Polish conflict.

The loss of their capital naturally would represent a tragedy to the Poles. But this would be more because of sentimental reasons and the effect on the public morale, than because of the military aspect.

Of far greater importance is the security of the main Polish defenses which lie along the Vistula and Bug rivers near their juncture only 15 miles north of Warsaw.

Loss of these to the enemy would represent a grave defeat.

Along the western European front the Germans were reported to be withdrawing slowly into the main forts of their powerful Siegfried Line before the advancing French.

This movement merely means the French are feeling their way forward cautiously with the idea of setting into position for an attack.

The British are reported as having landed their first contingent of 100,000 troops in France.

Another vital development of the day has been the official announcement of Japan that she "does not intend to be involved" in Europe's war. This will be a relief to the Anglo-French allies who have been concerned over the possibility that Japan might throw her weight to Germany.

It is generally understood throughout Europe that Herr Hitler is prepared to enter a peace conference as soon as he has finished the conquest of Poland. He definitely doesn't want war with England and France.

The idea that peace might come under such condition is a forlorn hope if words still have any meaning. The Anglo-French brotherhood has pledged itself up to the hilt to defend Poland, and if that pledge is fulfilled it means war until Poland is again free.

What is perhaps more to the point, Britain has sworn to destroy nazism, quite apart from the Polish issue.
