DALLAS - Police reports paint a grim picture of the 14-year-old girl's life: sexually abusive parents, illicit drugs and a clinic visit at age 11 for birth control. The girl told police her stepfather raped her for years and her mother had her surgically fitted with Norplant rather than report the abuse.

IRVING - The National Football League's tight-knit system for marketing more than $3 billion a year in licensed merchandise and dividing profits could fall into anarchy as a result of a challenge from the owner of the Dallas Cowboys.

UNDATED - Carlos Valdez could have been a star. Valdez, the district attorney of Nueces County, Texas, was all but guaranteed a prominent role on national television as the prosecutor in the case against a woman accused of murdering Selena, the star of Tejano music. Instead, he is shunning the spotlight. Why? Blame O.J.

DALLAS - Children's medical providers and families with seriously ill kids are bracing for a proposed funding cap some fear will cost them millions of dollars in services and others suspect could mean a medical nightmare.

WASHINGTON - The Senate Ethics Committee will not investigate Sen. Bob Packwood's assertion, in a 1992 diary entry, that Sen. Phil Gramm intended to send Republican campaign money to Packwood in violation of contribution limits.

AUSTIN - Houston Democrat John Odum, who hopes to challenge Republican U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, wants federal authorities to investigate whether Gramm sought to funnel extra money to Oregon Sen. Bob Packwood's re-election campaign.

DALLAS - State regulators are scheduled to discuss next week a proposed surcharge on electric bills to help cover billions of dollars in losses generated by unprofitable power plants.

DALLAS - State House Speaker Pete Laney and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock have accused Attorney General Dan Morales of demanding funds from other state agencies in exchange for defending them in pending lawsuits.

CORPUS CHRISTI - James "Andy" Collins, chief of the Texas prison system, said he is resigning to take a job in private business.

HOUSTON - A man who worked occasionally as a clown to be near young girls has been sentenced to die for the 1992 knife slayings of two such youngsters.

World/Nation

WASHINGTON - The Senate agrees to increase federal spending on child care for the poor as part of an historic welfare bill, with a final vote set for Tuesday on a measure that replaces six decades of guaranteed federal support for the poor with block grants to states, work requirements for single mothers and a host of other reforms.

WASHINGTON - Timing can be everything. By waiting until the 11th hour to show their Medicare hand, Republicans deprived Democrats of a summer target and thwarted speculation about how $270 billion in money not spent might affect 37 million elderly and disabled people who depend on the federal health insurance program.

WASHINGTON - Pregnant women who stand for long hours or work in a noisy, stressful atmosphere for more than 40 hours a week can increase their risk of giving birth prematurely by about 70 percent, researchers say.

LOS ANGELES - Stain by bloody stain, scientific experts are seeking to dismantle the most provocative testimony of O.J. Simpson's key witness to wrap up the prosecution's rebuttal case. The defense, meanwhile, said in court papers that FBI Agent Frederic Whitehurst, a witness in the New York terrorist conspiracy trial, would testify that a Simpson prosecution witness committed "misconduct and improprieties" in the case.

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina - Bosnian Serb leaders agree to withdraw their heavy weapons from Sarajevo, prompting the United Nations to announce a three-day suspension of NATO airstrikes and advancing the beleaguered effort to bring 3-1/2 years of bloodshed in Bosnia to an end.

WASHINGTON - Retired Gen. Colin Powell, a little-known figure during the Iran-Contra scandal, writes in his memoir that he took a dim view of proposals to ship arms to Iran, and was furious that an independent counsel questioned his veracity on the matter.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. - In the beginning, there was no talent competition, no television, no tearful walk down the Convention Hall runway. On Sept. 6, 1921, eight young women competed in a bathing suit contest on the beach. When millions of viewers tune in Saturday for the 75th anniversary Miss America Pageant, the event they see will be almost nothing like the inter-city beauty pageant first won by 16-year-old marbles champion Margaret Gorman of Washington, D.C.

Shrimper nets unusual catch in Gulf of Mexico

PALACIOS, Texas (AP) - Shrimper Joe Perez wasn't going to let a little thing like a live, 500-pound bomb in his net stop his fishing expedition in the Gulf of Mexico.

Perez and the crew of his boat, the Lady Geneva, hauled the World War II bomb aboard in their nets on Aug. 30. Then, they carried it with them for two weeks until they finished their fishing expedition.

When the shrimpers finally pulled into port Wednesday with 3,600 pounds of jumbo shrimp and the bomb, ordinance experts from Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio carted the bomb to a remote spot at old Camp Hulsen and detonated it, rattling windows in houses for miles around.

The Lady Geneva had been at sea for three days and was in 240 feet of water about 60 miles off

Port O'Connor in an area Perez and other shrimpers have worked many times. That was when the four-foot-long, 18-inch-round surprise turned up.

Perez said he thought the extra weight was mud in the nets, so he increased the boat's speed to wash it out, but nothing changed.

"That tells you how the bottom changes. It had probably been buried all this time," he said.

Perez said he and his rig man, Raymond Garcia, didn't know anything about bombs and didn't think much about the unexpected cargo. But he said helper Victor Naranjo, a Vietnam War veteran, was worried enough to make them stop scraping at the quarter-inch of rust on the bomb.

The area from Matagorda Island offshore was used as a gunnery and bombing range during World War II.

Simpson defense points finger of corruption at FBI evidence

By MICHAEL FLEEMAN
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Stain by bloody stain, FBI scientific experts have pointed the finger at O.J. Simpson. And as the trial winds down, the defense is preparing to portray at least one of those experts as corrupt.

The defense said in court papers filed late Thursday that FBI agent Frederic Whitehurst will testify that a prosecution witness, agent Roger Martz, committed "misconduct and improprieties" in the Simpson case and others.

Granting a defense request, Judge Lance Ito declared Whitehurst a material witness and ordered him to be at the courthouse Tuesday with his notes and records. However, the judge did not rule whether his testimony will be admissible.

"Agent Martz is knowingly and intentionally carrying out FBI policy to suppress information which might be helpful to the defense and to produce results that will only help the prosecution," according to the defense papers.

Whitehurst also set up a sting operation against Martz in another case and caught Martz erroneously reporting the presence of an explosive compound that would have incriminated a defendant, the papers say.

Martz testified earlier in the trial that only scant traces of a preservative called EDTA were found on evidence in the Simpson case. He said EDTA is a common substance that can come from numerous sources.

The defense claims EDTA was present in significant amounts and had been used as a blood preservative in the Los Angeles police crime lab-suggesting Simpson's blood sample was preserved and planted to frame him.

Whitehurst was a witness in the New York terrorist conspiracy trial and testified last month that he was pressured to change a report about his investigation into the World Trade Center bombing to favor the prosecution.

protection against price swings or trade embargoes.

"Our job is to come up with a farm bill that can protect us into the next century, not that's just being written for tomorrow's budget battles," he told reporters.

The debate in many ways centers on what Congress will do after this debate ends.

Glickman, an 18-year veteran of Congress, says farmers will come back and demand relief if prices collapse. He noted that the price optimism surrounding debate over the 1977 farm bill was followed by the collapse of the farm economy in the 1980s.

Roberts, in a speech Thursday, said seven-year contracts between the government and farmers would immunize payments against further cuts.

Under cross-examination, Deedrick conceded one imprint could have been caused by a shoe and he couldn't tell if the imprints came from Goldman's clothes or someone else's clothes. In the end, Deedrick said all he could really be sure of was that Goldman was at the crime scene.

The agents' testimony came on what appeared to be the tail end of the prosecution's rebuttal case, which was drawing to a close even though the defense has yet to rest its case.

Simpson, 48, claims he is the victim of a police conspiracy in the June 12, 1994, knife slayings of Ms. Simpson and Goldman, and that overzealous prosecutors are intent on ignoring all evidence helpful to him.

The agreement worked out Thursday by Republican and Democratic negotiators was expected to pass today during votes on a string of amendments further refining the bill. A vote on final passage of the overall bill was planned on Tuesday.

After a day of backroom talks, Republicans agreed to add $3 billion to the $5 billion already authorized for child care aid for welfare mothers who would be required to get jobs under the legislation.

"It's a great victory for us, $8 billion over five years," said Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., leader in the push for the child care assistance.

The welfare legislation, written by Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., sends federal welfare, job training and child care programs to the states in block grants, curbs spending by $70 billion, and ends Aid to Families with Dependent Children and the federal guarantee of cash assistance.

Senators had hoped to wrap up the bill Thursday, but as the day dragged on weariness set in.

By late evening, so many senators still had amendments to offer that Dole put off until Tuesday the vote that would send the bill to a conference committee with the House.

"We are just wasting our time," said Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., as one amendment after another went down in defeat during time-consuming roll calls.

"Most of these amendments are going to be dead on arrival at conference," predicted Byrd, lamenting that his wife and "little dog Billy" were waiting for him at home.

At one point in the night's rush to complete action on the bill, Dole interrupted Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., to accept an amendment even before Bradley had finished describing the measure.

Later, Dole said Bradley's plan could create a new entitlement to

Defense fails in effort to have bombing trial moved from Oklahoma

By PAUL QUEARY
Associated Press Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - Lawyers for the two Oklahoma bombing suspects lost their bid to move the trial out of state and replace the assigned judge.

U.S. District Judge Wayne Alley on Thursday ordered the trial moved to Lawton, about 90 miles from Oklahoma City, near the Texas state line. Former Army buddies Timothy McVeigh and Terry Nichols will go on trial May 17, the judge ruled.

McVeigh's lawyer, Stephen Jones, said he was "deeply disturbed" by the judge's decision and may appeal. Nichols' lawyer, Michael Tigar, said he would appeal the ruling.

"No forum in Oklahoma appears to us to guarantee the kind of trial that the Constitution requires and the American people demand," Tigar said.

U.S. Attorney Patrick Ryan was out of the office and could not be reached for comment. Prosecutors wanted to keep the case in Oklahoma but were not against moving it out of Oklahoma City.

Alley said he chose to move the trial partly because the federal courthouse in Oklahoma City was across the street from the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building.

"Jury selection from a pool in the Oklahoma City area would be chancy," Alley said.

Lawton, he said, "is close enough to be convenient for local witnesses and for affected persons who want to be spectators. It is far enough to provide a trial setting appropriate for detached and dispassionate deliberation."

Lawton has a population of about 85,000, including about 20,000 soldiers at Fort Sill. "I have tried cases in Lawton and from those experiences have formed a high regard for the quality of jurors in that area," Alley said.

The defense had wanted Alley to remove himself, saying he could not remain impartial because the explosion damaged his chambers in the courthouse. Alley was not in the courthouse when the April 19 explosion ripped the face off the federal building and killed 169 people.

"The allegations of bias and the appearance of lack of impartiality presented by the defendants are lacking," Alley said. "Preparing for and trying this case will be a difficult task in the coming months, and I cannot merely ask another judge to shoulder the burden when the law does not require that."

Prosecutors had disagreed with a defense contention that Alley was too affected by the blast to remain impartial, but asked the judge to step aside anyway to avoid repeated court battles over the issue.

The defense had wanted a judge from outside the federal Western District of Oklahoma.

Also Thursday, McVeigh's lawyers filed papers seeking permission to witness any explosives tests conducted by the government.

A Sept. 6 test of an ammonium nitrate bomb was canceled. A 4,800-pound bomb made of ammonium nitrate fertilizer and fuel oil was used in the federal building bombing, investigators have said.

GOP, Democrats reach welfare compromise

By DIANE DUSTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senators agreed to pump billions more dollars into child care assistance for welfare mothers required to work under the nearly completed historic overhaul of the nation's welfare system.

The agreement worked out Thursday by Republican and Democratic negotiators was expected to pass today during votes on a string of amendments further refining the bill. A vote on final passage of the overall bill was planned on Tuesday.

After a day of backroom talks, Republicans agreed to add $3 billion to the $5 billion already authorized for child care aid for welfare mothers who would be required to get jobs under the legislation.

"It's a great victory for us, $8 billion over five years," said Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., leader in the push for the child care assistance.

The welfare legislation, written by Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., sends federal welfare, job training and child care programs to the states in block grants, curbs spending by $70 billion, and ends Aid to Families with Dependent Children and the federal guarantee of cash assistance.

Senators had hoped to wrap up the bill Thursday, but as the day dragged on weariness set in.

By late evening, so many senators still had amendments to offer that Dole put off until Tuesday the vote that would send the bill to a conference committee with the House.

"We are just wasting our time," said Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., as one amendment after another went down in defeat during time-consuming roll calls.

"Most of these amendments are going to be dead on arrival at conference," predicted Byrd, lamenting that his wife and "little dog Billy" were waiting for him at home.

At one point in the night's rush to complete action on the bill, Dole interrupted Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., to accept an amendment even before Bradley had finished describing the measure.

Later, Dole said Bradley's plan could create a new entitlement to welfare and he may want to strike it from the bill.

Bradley's plan would require states to set basic eligibility standards, define exceptions, and then follow the rules "by assisting everyone eligible under those state rules." One of the central tenets of the GOP bill is the provision ending the federal guarantee to welfare benefits.

Senators were just too tired to make intelligent decisions on any more amendments, said Dodd. "It was beginning to look like mackerel in the moonlight: stinks and shines at the same time," he said.

Senators from both parties predicted passage on Tuesday.

"It's much better than the present system," said Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo. "The present system has failed."

"I think the bill that will pass will be a much stronger welfare bill than the one that came out of the Finance Committee," said Sen. John Breaux, D-La.

He and others, however, were wary of the shape the measure would take in the conference when combined with the more far-reaching bill passed in March by the House.

Sen. James Jeffords, R-Vt., said he hoped for help from President Clinton during those negotiations. "I'm counting on him weighing in so we come out basically with the Senate bill," said Jeffords, a moderate Republican.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It came as no surprise to me when I read about the pregnant lady who was not offered a seat on the bus. Maybe she needs to look at it from the guy's side. After being attacked and verbally abused by feminist barracudas for holding doors open, offering a place to sit and a variety of other small courtesies, I have become a lot more cautious.

The men who remained seated on that bus are also fighting for equal rights. More to the point, they got there first and were rightfully entitled to a seat. They, too, probably had a hard day at work.

I am sorry the pregnant woman was inconvenienced, but these are the '90s, and the rules have changed. It's high time the feminists woke up to the fact that they can't have it both ways. -- John in Oregon

DEAR JOHN: I won't waste any time trying to educate a guy who thinks it's perfectly OK to remain seated on a bus while a pregnant woman hangs onto a strap and struggles to stay upright. You are utterly hopeless. Even though you are incapable of embarrassment, the next letter might interest you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your comments about giving up a bus seat prompt me to share this with you.

In 1949, I was attending the University of Miami in Coral Gables on the GI Bill while working as a part-time shipping clerk in downtown Miami for 75 cents an hour. A pretty young lady who worked in the same area was often on the same bus I took home in the evening. I usually stood because the bus was often crowded.

On one of the trips, I saw this girl get up and offer her seat to an elderly lady. I was impressed. That night, we both got off at the same stop, and as we walked toward our homes, I complimented her.

She was a little bashful, but from then on, I made an effort to catch the same bus she was on, and I would walk her to her house before going home to mine.

To make a long story short, we will celebrate our 45th wedding anniversary next October. -- Mal in Miami

DEAR MAL: What a sweet story. I have heard of dozens of married couples who met on buses, trains and planes. If anyone out there has a story with a special twist, I'd like to hear about it.

Have trouble sleeping at night and don't want to get involved in a novel? "A Collection of My Favorite Gems of the Day" is the perfect bed-stand mate. Herd netters host Borger in team tennis showdown Hereford will host an important District 1-4A tennis match when Borger comes to Whiteface Courts at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Borger, the defending district champion in team tennis, is one of the contenders for the 1995 district crown. Hereford, Canyon and Dumas are the others.

Hereford defeated Borger 9-7 last weekend in the Amarillo Team Tennis Tournament.

"They didn't have two of their top six girls," Hereford coach Ed Coplen said. "When they get those two girls back it could make a difference."

Hereford's cross country and volleyball teams also will be in action Saturday. The cross country team will run in a meet in Canyon, starting at 9 a.m.

The volleyball team will try to go to 2-0 in district against Pampa. The Lady Whitefaces (13-3) play the Lady Harvesters (1-0, 7-6) at 2 p.m.

The freshman volleyball team will play in a tournament in Borger Saturday, then return to Hereford to play Borger at 6 p.m. Monday in Whiteface Gym.

The junior high volleyball teams will host Valleyview Monday, starting at 5:30 p.m.

The freshman football team's B squad will go to Friona Saturday for a 9 a.m. game, which wasn't on the original schedule. Borger had to cancel Thursday's scheduled game.

2-pointers fail for JV, succeed for frosh

The Hereford junior varsity football team went for two to beat Palo Duro's JV Thursday in Amarillo, but the PD defense stopped the Herd inches short.

With Palo Duro leading 7-0, Hereford quarterback Manuel Reyna scored a touchdown with 20 seconds left in the game. Hereford went for two to win, with Reyna throwing to Nathan Gavina, but Gavina was stopped just short of the goal line.

Meanwhile, in Borger, the Herd freshman team won with a two-point conversion. Mark Rodriguez' two-point run gave the freshmen a 21-20 lead, capping a 14-point fourth quarter comeback.

In another game played Thursday, the Herd sophomores lost to the Friona JV 36-0 in Friona.

In the Hereford JV game, PD's touchdown was set up by a bad snap by Hereford on a punt attempt. That was in the fourth quarter. Hereford's score was also in the fourth quarter, set up by Richard Sierra's fumble recovery-and-return to the PD one-yard line.

The rest of the game was a defensive battle.

"(PD) didn't have a lot of yards," coach Chris Christopher said. "They had one 40-yard run and that was about it."

"Our defense had a goal line stand: four downs inside the five," Christopher said. PD was stopped inside the Hereford 5-yard line in the third quarter. "(The Hereford defense) did a great job."

Christopher praised the play of Sierra, as well as all the defensive tackles: Michael Hicks, Rocky Rocha, Zack Wall, Trank Garza and Brian Thomas.

Hereford also got its running game going. Tailback Stephen Cloud ran for "125-plus" yards, Christopher said, and Reyna and fullbacks Adam Jimenez and Heath Kirkeby also rushed well.

"The offensive line really put it together," Christopher said.

In the freshman game, Borger led early 6-0, but Hereford tied it up with a 25-yard pass from Chris Torres to Thomas Suarez. Cory Marsh's extra point kick gave Hereford a 7-6 lead.

Borger returned the opening kickoff of the second half for a TD and scored again to carry a 20-7 lead into the fourth quarter.

Hereford got closer with a 35-yard TD pass from Torres to Gilbert Martinez, but the run-conversion failed, leaving Borger ahead, 20-13.

Hereford got the ball back and drove again, finally scoring on a four-yard run by Suarez with 2:38 left in the game. Rodriguez' run proved the winning points.

The freshmen B team also was scheduled to play in Borger, but that game was canceled. A replacement game was scheduled: they'll play Friona's freshmen at 9 a.m. Saturday in Friona.

Pokes' Smith feels appreciated

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Cowboys running back Emmitt Smith says that when Jerry Jones solicited his input during negotiations to sign Deion Sanders, it was the first time the team's owner has made him feel wanted.

The team's flashy new cornerback, who appeared at the Cowboys' training complex and had an MRI on his left ankle Thursday, has replaced Smith as the second highest-paid Cowboy behind Troy Aikman. But Smith said he expects Jones to renegotiate his contract after this season.

"We haven't talked about renegotiation," Smith told The Dallas Morning News for today's editions. "But I would expect it."

Jones made Sanders the top-paid defensive player in football with a seven-year, $35 million contract that includes a nearly $13 million signing bonus.

Smith is in the third year of a four-year, $13.6 million contract.

While supportive of Sanders' deal, Smith believes that Jones should improve his contract a year before it is scheduled to lapse. Smith is scheduled to make $2.4 million this season and $2 million in 1996.

Smith is considered an important factor in team chemistry with Sanders on the payroll. So when informed of Smith's remarks Thursday, Jones responded carefully.

"Emmitt has told me he wants to be with the Dallas Cowboys for the rest of his career," Jones said. "I have told him that I am going to do everything I can for him to be here."

Smith concedes that no promises were made while Jones treated him with what he considers unprecedented respect in soliciting his input during the process of signing Sanders.

"This is the first time he has ever made me feel wanted, the first time my opinion mattered," Smith said.

Smith signed his current contract in 1993 after holding out all of preseason and the first two games of the regular season. The Cowboys got off to an 0-2 start before Jones gave in. Smith went on to win the NFL rushing championship again and lead

Dallas to its second straight Super Bowl.

Smith hopes his next contract will be the product of peaceful negotiations. But he seems reluctant to believe it.

"You can't always believe everything a person says until he shows you," he said. "Someday, I'll get mine."

Meanwhile, Smith and Michael Irvin joked with Sanders during his visit to Valley Ranch on Thursday - an off-day for the San Francisco Giants, for whom he plays baseball.

Sanders said last weekend that before reporting to the Cowboys he needs arthroscopic surgery on an ankle he injured while playing baseball.

Team spokesman Rich Dalrymple said Sanders underwent the magnetic resonance imaging procedure "to compare to previous images that have been taken of his ankle."

"We won't have any comment as to the results of the MRI," Dalrymple said.

NFL weekend features reunions

By BARRY WILNER
AP Football Writer

It's homecoming week for some and a chance to entertain old friends for other NFL players this week.

Miami tight end Eric Green gets to play host to his buddies from Pittsburgh - on national television, no less.

Jeff Lageman returns to the Meadowlands, where he spent six years as one of the most popular and accomplished New York Jets. He'll try to help the expansion Jacksonville Jaguars make history with their first victory.

Art Shell, who spent most of his adult life with the Raiders, faces them from the opposite side of the field for the first time as an assistant coach with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Dave Krieg led the Lions to the playoffs in 1994. Now he's with the Arizona Cardinals, who visit Detroit.

And Morten Andersen, a hero for so many seasons in New Orleans, will try to beat the Saints as a member of the Atlanta Falcons.

"It's going to be exciting going against my old team," Andersen said. "It'll be a little weird, but exciting. It's going to be fun going back to a place where I grew up as a professional football player. I'm excited, I'm focused, I'm looking forward to it."

For 13 years, Andersen set Saints records for points with 1,318, field goals with 302, consecutive games scoring at 174, and kicked 20 game-winners.

He was active in area charities and raised hundreds of thousands of dollars for Children's Hospital with his "Kicks for Kids" program.

But the Saints let him go in a salary-cap move, and the Falcons quickly signed him to a three-year, $2.4 million contract that included a $750,000 signing bonus.

And what if Andersen kicks the winner this week?

"We better not lose by a field goal," Saints quarterback Jim Everett said. "If we do, we'll never hear the end of it."

In other games Sunday, it will be San Diego at Philadelphia; Indianapolis at Buffalo; Cleveland at Houston; St. Louis at Carolina; the New York Giants at Green Bay; New England at San Francisco; Cincinnati at Seattle; Washington at Denver; Chicago at Tampa Bay; and Dallas at Minnesota.

Green, the 6-foot-5, 280-pound tight end, has been drawing praise more for his blocking than his pass-catching in Miami. He hopes to knock over some Steelers and catch a few more balls Monday night.

But first, some fun.

"Those guys will probably come over and relax and get in the pool," Green said. "It's cool, because we're still friends."

Green signed a six-year, $12 million contract with the Dolphins.

"I'm taking it as just another game on the schedule," Green said. "I don't think I have anything to prove. I think I proved myself over a period of time, being established as probably the best tight end in the league. The Dolphins thought enough to make me the highest-paid tight end in the league."

Lageman was looking for a fresh start, so he joined a brand new team, accepting almost the same numbers the Jets offered.

Now, by leading the Jaguars to their first victory, he could create some ugliness in a stadium he used to call home.

NCA spikers beat Alamo

The Nazarene Christian Academy volleyball team defeated Alamo Catholic Middle School, 15-7, 15-8, Thursday in the NCA gym.

Lindsay Goforth served for 14 points, including four aces. Jessica Mendoza served up two aces. Tallie McDowell served for nine points and recorded two kills.

NCA will host Amarillo Christian on Monday.

Herd tabbed by 7 over PD

Hereford will be a seven-point favorite over Palo Duro, according to the Harris Rating System, when the two teams meet for a non-district football game at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Whiteface Stadium.

Hereford is ranked 81st in Class 4A with a power rating of 184. Palo Duro is ranked 184th in Class 5A with a rating of 177.

In other notable area games, Harris picks: Amarillo High by seven over Pampa; Borger by 12 over Tascosa; Odessa High by 10 over Coronado; Randall by three over Plainview; Wichita Falls by 15 over Caprock; Levelland by one over Canyon; River Road by 12 over Dumas; and Dimmitt by eight over Sanford-Fritch.

Harris does not rate the opponents of Vega (Lubbock Christian) or Friona (Tucumcari, N.M.).

Only one field goal was attempted in both the 1974 and 1990 Super Bowls.

In defeating Denver, 42-10, in the 1988 Super Bowl, the Washington Redskins set a record with 602 net yards gained.

Mets provide setback in Astros' wildcard chase

By CHRIS SHERIDAN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - With 2-1/2 weeks left in the season, the Houston Astros have settled on a wild-card strategy: Win two of every three games, try to stay close and make a big push in the final week.

On Thursday night, they veered from the script. The Astros lost 4-2 to the New York Mets on a night when they had a chance to gain a half-game on the idle Los Angeles Dodgers.

Houston's loss, combined with Philadelphia's 7-2 victory at Pittsburgh, left the Astros 2-1/2 games back in the wild-card race and just a half-game in front of the Phillies. Cincinnati beat San Diego 8-1 in the only other NL game.

"When there were 20 games left in the season, we told ourselves we had to win series, two of three, another two of three," Houston manager Terry Collins said.

"In the last week or so of the season, Los Angeles and Colorado play each other six times. There's no question that if we can stay within a game or two of them, we'll have a chance in that last week. But if we don't win when they're playing each other, it won't matter."

Of Houston's 63 losses, 33 have been by two runs or less.

The Astros, who dropped the final two games of the three-game series at New York, open a three-game set at Montreal tonight. They'll be trying to shake off a horrendous display of clutch hitting against the Mets.

After getting drubbed 10-5 Wednesday night, Houston went just 2-for-15 with runners on base Thursday night. The first three hitters, John Canglosi, Craig Biggio and Jeff Bagwell, were a combined 0-for-11, and Bagwell made the last out in three innings.

"Last night we stunk. Tonight we didn't get any big hits," Collins said. "Everybody makes it sound like you should walk right over teams like the Mets and the Expos, but that's not true. They still want to beat you, especially because you're in the playoff race."

Rico Brogna broke a 2-all tie with a two-run homer in the fifth inning, his team-leading 19th. The 420-foot line drive to straightaway center field also gave Brogna a team-high 61 RBIs.

Dave Mlicki (8-6) allowed only four hits in seven innings before Paul Byrd worked the eighth and John Franco pitched the ninth for his 23rd save.

Shane Reynolds (9-11) took the loss for Houston, allowing seven hits, four runs and three walks in five innings. The Astros have scored only 21 runs in his 11 losses.

"It's always hard to play catch-up, but that's what happens when I'm pitching. I never get to go out there and coast with a lead," said Reynolds, who is among the lead leaders in ERA (3.26), strikeouts (157) and fewest walks per nine innings (1.53) despite his losing record.

"I feel I've let the team down the last month - in fact the last couple of months. I kind of pride myself on control and hitting my spots, but the last five or six starts I've been erratic," Reynolds said.

The victory for New York, its 17th in 27 games, gave the Mets a split of the 12-game season series. Tim Bogar had two RBIs and Carl Everett, Todd Hundley and Ryan Thompson each had two hits. They open a three-game series against Philadelphia tonight, taking an 0-3 record this season against the Phils at Shea Stadium into the game.

Phillies 7, Pirates 2
At Pittsburgh, seven consecutive

Philadelphia hitters reached base in the fifth inning against Paul Wagner (4-15), the losingest pitcher in the league.

Andy Van Slyke singled in the first run in a three-run fifth inning and Charlie Hayes had a two-out, two-run single with the bases loaded.

Jim Eisenreich led off the Phillies' second with his eighth homer and his third this season against Pittsburgh. Eisenreich's groundout scored another run in the seventh.

Kevin Stocker's two-run triple in the ninth was the Phillies' 14th hit of the game.

Paul Quantrill (11-9) worked 5 1-3 innings, allowing seven hits and two runs and shaking off a straight steal of home in the first inning by Jacob Brumfield.

"It's got to be the right pitcher, the right situation and there always has to be two outs. Everything just seemed right. Charlie Hayes was playing back at third and (Quantrill) was in a wind-up, and he's not real quick to the plate to begin with," Brumfield said of the first steal of home by a Pirate (other than on a double steal) since 1987.

Reds 8, Padres 1
At Cincinnati, David Wells (5-3) allowed a triple and a double in the first inning, then allowed only two weak singles and a walk in throwing his third complete game since being acquired by the Reds on July 31. He struck out five.

"After the first inning, everything was working," Wells said. "I felt as strong in the eighth inning as I did early."

Eddie Taubensee drove in two runs with his eighth homer, Thomas Howard tripled in two and Jeff Branson homered, his 12th, as the Reds reduced their number for clinching the NL Central to five.

Willie Blair (6-4) took the loss for San Diego and stayed winless since Aug. 20.

Pettitte throws Yankees past Orioles

By The Associated Press

With all the veteran pitching the New York Yankees acquired this year, who would have thought that a rookie would be a key man in their drive for a playoff spot? Especially a rookie who struggled earlier in the season.

Andy Pettitte is that man right now.

"He doesn't look like pressure bothers him. He looks pretty cool," Baltimore manager Phil Regan said after Pettitte pitched the Yankees to a 5-4 victory over the Orioles on Thursday night. "I think he's going to be one of the top young left-handers in the league."

Suddenly, Pettitte has become as important as Jack McDowell, David Cone or John Wetteland on the Yankees' pitching staff.

"He was outstanding again," manager Buck Showalter said after Pettitte won his fourth straight, helping the Yankees tie the idle Seattle Mariners for the top spot in AL wild-card race.

Pettitte is 4-0 with a 2.38 ERA in his last four starts after going six straight outings without a victory. He won for only the third time in 10 road decisions, but his 10 wins are the most by a Yankee rookie since Ron Davis went 14-2 in 1979.

The Texas Rangers, meanwhile, pulled within one game of the wild-card leaders with a 6-1 victory over Toronto. Elsewhere in the AL, it was Cleveland 5, Boston 3; Kansas City 5, Oakland 4; and Milwaukee 6, Detroit 3.

Pettitte (10-8) allowed four runs and seven hits in 8 1-3 innings. The rookie came out in the bottom of the ninth after Rafael Palmeiro's two-run homer, and Wetteland finished for his 25th save.

Bernie Williams homered for the Yankees, who won for the eighth time in 10 games. The Yankees broke a 2-2 tie with two runs in the fourth against rookie Rick Krivda (2-5).

Rangers 6, Blue Jays 1

In Toronto, Bobby Witt pitched seven-hit ball and struck out 12 in eight-plus innings for Texas.

It was the fifth straight victory for the Rangers, while the Blue Jays lost their sixth in a row.

Witt (3-2), who struck out 12 in July as a member of the Florida Marlins, set a Rangers season-high with his strikeout total. Witt, who didn't walk a batter, left after giving up the Blue Jays' seventh hit starting the ninth. Dennis Cook finished up.

Juan Guzman (3-13) was the loser.

Indians 5, Red Sox 3

Orel Hershiser won for the seventh time in eight decisions and Manny Ramirez reached 100 RBIs as Cleveland beat struggling Boston.

The Indians, who rested several regulars, won for the 18th time in 22 games and recorded 90 victories in a season for the first time since they won 93 in 1955. They can become just the ninth team to play .700 ball for a season by winning 11 of their remaining 15 games.

The Red Sox, whose magic number remained at six for clinching the AL East over New York, lost for the sixth time in seven games. The Red Sox are 1-7 at Jacobs Field since the park opened last year.

Hershiser (14-6) continued a strong second half that has seen him go 9-2 in 12 starts since the All-Star break.

Royals 5, Athletics 4

Michael Tucker's two-run double off closer Dennis Eckersley in the ninth lifted Kansas City to victory at Oakland. The Royals remained fourth in the wild-card race, two games behind the leaders.

Eckersley (4-5), who has seven blown saves in 35 chances this year, walked pinch-hitter David Howard and Keith Lockhart to begin the ninth. It was the first time Eckersley walked consecutive batters this season.

Both runners advanced on Greg Gagne's long fly to center and scored on Tucker's shot over right fielder Jose Herrera.

Jim Converse (1-3) got four outs for the Royals. Jeff Montgomery pitched the ninth for his 29th save.

Brewers 6, Tigers 3

Rookie Steve Sparks struck out a season-high 10 and John Jaha and Fernando Vina homered as Milwaukee defeated Detroit for the Brewers' first win in six games at Tiger Stadium this season.

The Brewers, 5-1/2 games out of the wild-card lead, have won just three of their last 16 games.

Chris Gomez homered for the Tigers, who had their victory string snapped at five.

Sparks (8-9) allowed five hits and four walks in 7 1-3 innings. Mike Fetters pitched the ninth for his 22nd save. Sean Bergman (7-9) was the loser.

TCU fails to stop Jayhawks' ground attack in 38-20 loss

By DOUG TUCKER

AP Sports Writer
LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) - The Horned Frogs of TCU must wonder if all that talk about Kansas' new passing offense was just a trick.

Setting out to avenge last year's disappointing loss in Fort Worth, the Jayhawks reverted to form Thursday night and rolled up 364 yards on the ground. June Henley and L.T. Levine each went over 100 yards and scored two touchdowns in a 38-20 victory that puts Kansas 3-0 for the first time since 1992.

In their first two games this year, Kansas had averaged only 150 yards on the ground, nearly 100 yards below their 1994 production.

"This was not the same KU team we had seen on our films," said TCU coach Pat Sullivan.

"The rushing attack was the best I've seen since I've been here," said Kansas quarterback Mark Williams. "The line really stepped it up tonight. It's their best game that they've had all around."

Henley had 160 yards and touchdown jaunts of 43 yards in the second quarter and 59 in the fourth. Levine, fresh off a one-week suspension for violating team rules, chipped in 134 yards and scored on a 9-yard draw in the second quarter and a 43-yard sprint in the fourth.

The Jayhawks needed all the running they could get to overcome the prodigious passing of Max Knake, who engineered a fourth-quarter come back last year that resulted in a 31-21 defeat of Kansas.

This time, TCU's senior quarterback threw for 379 yards and two touchdowns and erased Sammy Baugh's school record with his 40th TD pass. His 41st went 11 yards to Ryan Tucker with 1:02 left.

"They were back healthy and this was a very emotional game for Kansas," said Sullivan. "I think they were more physical than us for the first quarter and a half."

Tucker had a career-best 14 catches for 171 yards. But when given an opportunity to get back in the game in the third quarter, the Horned Frogs had to settle for Michael Reeder field goals of 24 and 19 yards. Henley and Levine put it out of reach with their long fourth-quarter scores.

"It just wasn't clicking for us on offense," said Tucker. "It just wasn't there. We weren't in our game."

Henley hadn't had a 100-yard game since getting 113 against TCU last year.

"We came into the game knowing that we were going to dominate with the run," said Henley. "By running the ball effectively, we were able to determine the outcome."

"He was better than the old Henley tonight," said Kansas coach Glen Mason. "He got some great blocks and really did a super job. He was basically unstoppable."

Kansas had 183 yards rushing in the first half while mounting a 21-7 lead, but had minus-three yards on the ground in the third quarter as TCU temporarily took control of everything but the score.

After Henley's first touchdown gave the Jayhawks a 21-7 lead with 11:32 left in the half, Kansas went six straight possessions without a first down.

The crowd, announced at 34,000 but obviously much smaller, put up a sarcastic cheer when Williams hit Isaac Byrd on a 14-yard pass for a Kansas first down on the final play of the third quarter.

The TCU-Kansas game kicked off a full schedule of major games this weekend.

Jerry Jones challenging NFL with Pepsi, Nike deals

Cowboys owner seeks changes in league's marketing, revenue sharing system

By SUSAN HIGHTOWER
AP Business Writer
IRVING, Texas (AP) - The National Football League's tight-knit system for marketing more than $3 billion a year in licensed merchandise and dividing profits could fall into anarchy as a result of a challenge from the owner of the Dallas Cowboys.

In recent weeks, Cowboys owner Jerry Jones has defied the NFL - and gloated about it. Jones signed deals with PepsiCo Inc. and Nike Inc., which are competitors with official league soft drink Coca-Cola and NFL licensee Reebok International Ltd. Estimates have put the value of each deal around $2.5 million a year, Pepsi for 10 years, Nike for seven.

Asked whether more deals are in the works, such as a much-rumored alliance with American Express Co., Jones replied: "Stay tuned this week."

Jones apparently can skirt the league rules by making the Nike and Pepsi deals with Texas Stadium, which he also owns, and not with his team. He is one of only three NFL owners in that favorable position, along with Robert Kraft of the New England Patriots and Wayne Huizenga of the Miami Dolphins.

Some team owners have said publicly that Jones is hurting the league by putting his own interests first. The issue is sure to be raised at an owners' meeting Tuesday in Atlanta.

Unless the league regains control, analysts say they expect the marketing of pro football to change and fast.

"I think right now as we speak there's a lot of NFL teams going to the drawing board and looking to see what they can do," said Brandon Steiner, owner of New York-based Steiner Sports Marketing. "We may see more deals this season, and for sure next season."

Jones wants to change the league's revenue-sharing system, which dates back to the creation of NFL Properties in 1963. All 30 pro football teams run their equipment licensing through NFL Properties and split the royalties evenly - about $3.5 million per team a year.

The NFL is a marketing powerhouse, analysts say, with more licensed merchandise sales each year than baseball, basketball or hockey, according to the Licensing Letter, a publication which tracks licensing agreements.

"The NFL is the most well-oiled, well-run sports marketing machine in America today. It is consistent, it delivers a good product, it is effective and efficient," said Nye Lavelle, chairman and managing director of Dallas-based Sports Marketing Group. "This takes a big chunk out of their armor. It really puts a crack in the foundation of the NFL and what they offer sponsors and marketers."

Steiner said companies that don't want to sponsor the whole league - or those whose competitors do - now may start approaching individual teams instead. And that cuts into the exclusivity of the NFL, he said. "That is a nightmare when you're working from NFL Properties' standpoint," Steiner said.

Spokesmen for both Coke and Reebok say Jones' actions don't lessen the value of their NFL sponsorship, which comes from being able to use the logos of all 30 teams.

However, any hint of change in the revenue-sharing system raises fears that football could degenerate into the kind of mess that has enveloped baseball and create imbalances among the teams.

"So many other sports like baseball have turned into total anarchy, and that's what you want to prevent," Lavelle said.

Analysts also say fans likely would be turned off by deals that raise doubts about whether teams are trying to subvert the $37.1 million salary cap. Questions arose last week when, days after completing the deal with Nike, the Cowboys signed Deion Sanders - a major Nike client - to a contract that could be worth up to $35 million.

Under Jones' proposal, teams would continue to share gate and television revenues, which he says make up 95 percent of league revenue. But he wants them to stop sharing the other 5 percent and do their own marketing. Jones already has talked about quitting NFL Properties when the contract expires in 2003.

"These issues that I have aren't about the spirit, they aren't about the moral or the bond of the NFL. This is a very simple money issue," Jones said. "The 5 percent of the revenue that the league is sharing can be grown to a lot more money if they'll let the individual clubs go out and do it on their own."

The immediate benefit to Jones' team is obvious. Last year, the Cowboys accounted for nearly a quarter of the NFL Properties revenue, but the team still got only one-thirtieth in return.

However, the Cowboys made up only 3 percent of licensed sales in 1989 after a 1-15 season. Admits Jones, who has been working the phones wooing other owners: "Because we're right now as competitive as we are, I'm probably not a good messenger."

For its part, NFL Properties says its benefits to teams go far beyond the $3.5 million payout, including a new national advertising campaign and reassurances to retailers skittish because of the labor turmoil afflicting all other major pro sports.

Analysts say the league may split the difference between Jones' proposal and its traditional approach.

Jim Andrews, editorial director of the Chicago-based IEG Sponsorship

Report, said the NFL could decide to keep major sponsorship categories exclusive, share those revenues and let individual teams try for less important sponsorships. But he said any compromise would be hard-fought.

"What Jerry's done has probably brought it to a head a little bit quicker than it would have, but I think the issue was bound to come up - if not from the team owners saying we want to do this, you also get some pressure from the corporate sponsors themselves," Andrews said.

Cowboys lose in lawsuit on former player's injury

By PEGGY FIKAC
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys, who just agreed to pay $35 million to football star Deion Sanders, have lost a bid to stop a former wide receiver from getting a $26,500 worker's compensation settlement.

The Texas Supreme Court turned down an appeal Thursday from the Dallas Cowboys Football Club Ltd. in a case involving Scott Ankrom, whose knee was injured in a 1989 exhibition game against the Denver Broncos.

The Dallas Cowboys argued in court documents that the case "is a vitally important one to every sports franchise in the state of Texas and indeed every employer in the state of Texas."

The case arose after Ankrom, who left professional football before the beginning of the 1991 season, was awarded worker's compensation benefits by the state.

The Dallas Cowboys' worker's compensation carrier, Gulf Insurance Co., appealed the worker's compensation award in state district court in Dallas.

Ankrom and Gulf Insurance agreed to settle for $26,500. But the Cowboys intervened in the case, alleging that Ankrom had breached his contract.

The Supreme Court last month rejected the Cowboys' appeal of the 5th Court ruling. On Thursday, it reaffirmed that decision.

entitled to worker's compensation benefits was to be considered an advance payment of such benefits.

It said the Cowboys were to be reimbursed for such an advance payment through the later worker's compensation award.

The Cowboys said Ankrom played a little in 1989 and not at all in 1990, but that he was paid his full salary for both years.

The Dallas district court ruled for the Cowboys, awarding the club $26,500 plus more than $20,000 in attorney fees.

But the 5th Court of Appeals in Dallas reversed that decision in March, saying the Cowboys didn't properly file their claim with a state commission while Ankrom's case was being considered there.

It was reported at the time that the ruling could hurt a subsequent effort by Cowboys owner Jerry Jones to recover about $1 million awarded 16 other former players because of insurance settlements or worker's compensation claims.

"This pretty well brings all of that to a screeching halt. ... Prejudging what judges are going to do is a risky business, but I would not want to have their side of the case in light of the Supreme Court's ruling," said Dallas lawyer John Collins, representing Ankrom.

The Supreme Court last month rejected the Cowboys' appeal of the 5th Court ruling. On Thursday, it reaffirmed that decision.

Neither a Cowboys spokesman nor a lawyer representing the football club immediately returned telephone calls Thursday from The Associated Press.

Ankrom, now a San Antonio businesswoman, said he didn't want to comment on the matter until he received official notification from the Supreme Court.

In appealing to the Supreme Court, the Cowboys' lawyers said the 5th Court decision "would destroy basic contract rights between employers and employees as well as bind parties to an exclusive administrative remedy even when that remedy is patently inadequate, incomplete and insufficient."

The football club said if it had used administrative procedures, it only would have been able to get a fraction of what it believed it was due.

"In addition, the (Dallas) Court of Appeals would materially affect the contracts between the players and the clubs of every professional sports franchise in this state," the Cowboys said.

Ankrom's lawyer responded in court documents that it was untrue to say the administrative remedy was inadequate, and wrong to cast the matter as a breach-of-contract lawsuit rather than a worker's compensation case.

Ankrom's lawyer argued that the football team "in essence, confiscated" his worker's compensation benefits.

Cost is high for pro football team; benefits compensate for expense

By MARC RICE
AP Business Writer
ATLANTA (AP) - So you want to lure an NFL team to your town? Understand this: They're getting more expensive, insisting on more public financing, and they don't create a lot of jobs.

Yet there are good reasons why cities are feverishly trying to nab a franchise.

"The awarding of the Jaguars has bolstered our city's reputation as an up and comer, and the city has experienced an incredible psychological lift," said Frank Nero, senior economic development adviser to Jacksonville, Fla., Mayor John Delaney.

"In many ways the NFL is larger than life," Nero said Thursday at an economic conference, sponsored by the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta.

The NFL landscape is changing. The Raiders have moved back to Oakland, the Rams have left Los Angeles for St. Louis, and Nashville, Tenn., is wooing the Houston Oilers. And the league has new expansion teams this year in Charlotte, N.C., and Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, which built a $135 million stadium for the Jaguars, is already getting more attention from the media and business prospects, Nero said, and the team has provided a rallying point to bring residents together.

Such benefits - as well as the economic impact from residents and visitors buying tickets, eating at restaurants and staying in hotels on game days - are frequently cited among the top reasons for a city to go after an NFL franchise.

But other panelists said economic impact studies for prospective NFL cities often are conducted by people with a vested interest in landing a team. And ordinary citizens are increasingly isolated from the teams because they can't afford tickets in the age of luxury skyboxes, some speakers said.

"One of the important questions for Nashville or any city is, will the bulk of the population be able to participate?" said Andrew Zimbalist, an economics professor at Smith College in Northampton, Mass.

"The other important question is what kind of public funding there will be - certainly if you use sales taxes, are you going to be requiring non-fans to help finance the stadium?" Zimbalist said.

Zimbalist questioned whether economic impact should even be considered in the decision to seek a team.

The average annual revenue of an NFL team is $65 million, he said. That is a tiny fraction of the total "buying income" in most cities, he said.

Nero conceded that the Jaguars generated few jobs for Jacksonville. The team itself employs relatively few people, and many of the peripheral jobs - such as ticket takers and souvenir sellers - are part-time.

However, the team provides many benefits that cannot be measured on a balance sheet, he said.

"We think that the awarding of the NFL franchise, if nothing else, has changed Jacksonville's destiny forever," Nero said.

NEW YORK (AP) - Carol Burnett marched on stage to work the audience when a set malfunctioned during a dress rehearsal of "Moon Over Buffalo" - and Dom DeLuise and Bernadette Peters joined in the fun.

Burnett, who plays a Broadway actress fallen on hard times, began fielding questions from the audience as stagehands struggled to fix the set Tuesday night.

"How does it feel to be back home?" one fan yelled. Burnett beat her chest and let out her signature Tarzan yell. The crowd went wild.

"Can we get Julie Andrews to join you?" someone asked. Andrews is starring this fall in "Victor/Victoria."

Burnett scanned the house. "Is my old chum here?"

"No, but I'm here," offered Peters, blowing a kiss.

"I'm here, too," chimed in DeLuise, who then let out his Tarzan yell.

By Order of the Court, a class action has been conditionally certified for settlement purposes. On January 9, 1996, a fairness hearing will be held at the Courthouse, United States District Court, Southern District of Alabama, 113 St. Joseph Street, Mobile, Alabama, 36602, at 9 a.m. Central Time, so the Court can determine if the class action should be finally certified and if the Woodward Settlement, as summarized in this Notice, should be approved as fair, reasonable and adequate. Although participation in this settlement is voluntary, all Woodward Settlement Class Members who do not timely exclude themselves from the lawsuit will be bound by the Woodward Settlement if it is approved.

I. DEFINITION OF CLASS
Under the Woodward Settlement, Fundal® is defined as chlordimeform or any chlordimeform-containing product, either manufactured, formulated, packaged, distributed or sold by or on behalf of NOR-AM Chemical Company ("NOR-AM") or related parties, regardless of the trade name of the product, or any metabolite of Fundal®, including the substances known as 4-COT or 5-CAT. Galecron® has the same meaning as it did in the Price v. Ciba-Geigy Corp., Civ. No. 94-0647-CB-S (S.D. Ala. 1995). Settlement ("Price Settlement"), and is thus defined as chlordimeform or any chlordimeform-containing product, either manufactured, formulated, packaged, distributed or sold by or on behalf of Ciba-Geigy Corporation or related parties, regardless of the trade name of the product, or any metabolite of Galecron®, including the substances known as 4-COT or 5-CAT.

The Woodward Settlement Class is defined as:

(1) All persons who fall into one of the following categories, and who reside in the United States as of the date of filing of the Class Action Complaint, who have been exposed in the United States to Fundal® only, but not to Fundal® and Galecron® or to Galecron® only ("NOR-AM Exposed Persons"):

a. Formulators: An individual (whether or not employed by NOR-AM Chemical Company) who in the course of his or her employment was exposed to Fundal® while at a plant or site which was involved in mixing, blending, packaging, handling or otherwise formulating pesticides which contained, in whole or in part, Fundal®.

b. Applicators: An individual (whether or not employed by NOR-AM Chemical Company) who in the course of his or her employment, was exposed to Fundal® while involved in the application of pesticides which contained, in whole or in part, Fundal®, including, without limitation, aerial and land applicators, flagmen, mixers, blenders, handlers and other individuals who handled such pesticide prior to or during the application process; or

c. Other Covered Workers: (i) An individual employed by NOR-AM Chemical Company who, in the course of his or her employment, was exposed to Fundal®; (ii) an individual who worked at Empak, Inc. in Deer Park, Texas and/or Micro Chemical in Louisiana and who was exposed to Fundal® in the course of his or her employment; (iii) or an individual who worked in a testing or research laboratory and who was exposed to Fundal® in the course of his or her employment;

(2) The spouses, parents, children, other relatives, or legal representatives of the NOR-AM Exposed Persons described above.

(3) Other Covered Workers: (i) An individual employed by NOR-AM Chemical Company who, in the course of his or her employment, was exposed to Fundal® or Galecron® and Fundal® ("Ciba Exposed Persons"); and the spouses, parents, children, other relatives, or legal representatives of the Ciba Exposed Persons described above.

(Collectively "Woodward Settlement Class Members"). Note: If you are an NOR-AM Exposed Person or a Ciba Exposed Person, you are a Woodward Settlement Class Member whether or not you have been diagnosed with an illness. Spouses, parents, children, other relatives, and legal representatives are Woodward Settlement Class Members but the claims they are settling are limited to those arising from a NOR-AM Exposed Person or Ciba Exposed Person's exposure.

II. IMPORTANT MEDICAL NOTICE
To NOR-AM Exposed Persons and Ciba Exposed Persons (as defined above):
You may have an increased risk of developing bladder cancer if you had on-the-job exposure to Fundal® and/or Galecron®. Workers exposed to Fundal® and/or Galecron® should participate in a medical monitoring program because early detection of bladder cancer can result in more effective treatment.

If you had on-the-job exposure to Fundal® and/or Galecron®, it is recommended that you or your doctor call 1-800-211-6913 to learn how you can obtain further medical information or enroll in medical monitoring.

III. PROPOSED SETTLEMENT
The Woodward Settlement provides for the establishment by NOR-AM of two funds to provide medical benefits and compensation to eligible Woodward Settlement Class Members or their legal representatives. This settlement is intended, where applicable, to work as a complement to the Price Settlement.

The total package of benefits potentially available to a NOR-AM Exposed Person is the same as the total package of benefits potentially available to a Ciba Exposed Person. Thus, Woodward Settlement Class Members may be eligible for the same benefits whether they were occupationally exposed to Fundal® only, or to Fundal® and Galecron®, or to Galecron® only.

(1) The NOR-AM Medical Monitoring and Treatment Fund ("The NOR-AM MMT Fund"). If the Woodward Settlement is approved, NOR-AM will make an initial deposit of $3,500,000 into the NOR-AM MMT Fund, and will thereafter make additional deposits on an as-needed basis. There is no limit to the amount of money NOR-AM can be required to contribute over the life of the NOR-AM MMT Fund, which will last a minimum of 20 years.

NOR-AM Exposed Persons will be entitled to participate in the NOR-AM medical monitoring and treatment program; Ciba Exposed Persons may receive medical monitoring and treatment benefits only through the Price Settlement. The NOR-AM medical monitoring and treatment program and the medical monitoring and treatment program provided through the Price Settlement are identical. The NOR-AM MMT Fund will pay for a medical monitoring program designed to detect at an early stage the form of bladder cancer alleged to be associated with exposure to Fundal®; specifically, primary urothelial carcinoma of the urinary collecting system, i.e., renal pelvis, ureter, bladder and urethra. The NOR-AM MMT Fund also will pay for all medically necessary treatment for NOR-AM Exposed Persons.

(2) The NOR-AM Disease Compensation and Administration Fund ("The NOR-AM DCA Fund"). If the Woodward Settlement is approved, NOR-AM will also make an initial deposit of $21,000,000 into the NOR-AM DCA Fund, up to a required maximum of $30,000,000. The NOR-AM DCA Fund will make cash payments of up to $626,500 on behalf of a NOR-AM Exposed Person who, after exposure to Fundal® only, has developed or in the future develops the form of bladder cancer alleged to be associated with Fundal®. In addition, the NOR-AM DCA Fund will make cash supplements amounting to 40% of the amounts scheduled for and paid as compensatory payments pursuant to the Price Settlement, up to $179,000, on behalf of a Ciba Exposed Person who, after exposure to Fundal® and Galecron® or to Galecron® only, has developed or in the future develops the form of bladder cancer alleged to be associated with Fundal® and Galecron®. The NOR-AM DCA Fund will also pay for administrative costs and class counsel's and administrative costs counsel's attorney fees, costs and expenses.

as determined by the Court. The total attorney fee award to be requested will not exceed 20% of the benefit conferred upon the class. The benefits of the NOR-AM DCA Fund will continue as long as the NOR-AM MMT Fund continues, or until the NOR-AM DCA Fund is exhausted. If the NOR-AM DCA Fund is exhausted, NOR-AM may continue paying for compensable claims. If NOR-AM does not continue to pay for those compensable claims, Woodward Settlement Class Members will be able to opt-out of the NOR-AM DCA Fund and pursue any legal claims they may have, except for claims for medical monitoring, medical treatment, fear of illness or cancer, or increased risk of illness or cancer.

(3) Other Conditions. The Stipulation of Settlement presently provides for medical monitoring, treatment and compensation payments for certain medical conditions set forth in this Notice. In the event, however, that a Court-approved Epidemiology Panel determines to a reasonable medical certainty that any other medical condition is caused by Fundal® or Galecron® exposure, that condition will be deemed a compensable claim, and will be eligible for medical monitoring (if feasible), medical treatment, and cash payments.

(4) Release. Woodward Settlement Class Members who do not exclude themselves from the Woodward Settlement Class release all past, present and future claims (i) relating to the covered medical conditions listed above; and (ii) relating to a Woodward Settlement Class Member's exposure to Fundal® or Galecron®, including all claims alleged that any other cancers, personal injuries or risks are caused by exposure to Fundal® or Galecron®.

IV. CLASS REPRESENTATIVES AND CLASS COUNSEL

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

EXHORTING THE TROOPS TO ACTION!

ALL BIBLICAL LEADERS, BOTH GOOD AND BAD, SEEM TO HAVE SHARED ONE THING IN COMMON—THE ABILITY TO STIR THEIR ABLE-BODIED MEN TO ACTION WHEN IT WAS NECESSARY! MOSES HAD IT (NUM.31:2-6) AND JOSHUA, MANY TIMES OVER! (JOSH.4:14) WITH THE ISRAELITE LEADERS ONE SURE THING WAS TO REMIND THE MEN THAT GOD WAS ALWAYS WITH THEM! WHEN THE VILLAIN OF THE BOOK OF NEHEMIAH, SANBALLAT, WANTED TO STIR UP THE ENTIRE ARMY OF SAMARIA AGAINST THE JEWS, HE RESORTED TO VERY HEAVY IRONY AND SATIRE BEFORE HE URGED THEM ON TO DO BATTLE OVER THE WALLS OF JERUSALEM! (NEH.4:1-3) THE LEADERS HAD IT—OR THEY DIDN'T LEAD!!

THEREFORE, LET US GO NOW AND FIGHT WITH THEM! WE SHALL PUT A STOP TO IT!

SAVE THIS FOR YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL SCRAPBOOK.

Philosopher prominent in his chosen field

EDITOR'S NOTE - Willard Van Orman Quine, now 87, is as prominent in the world of 20th-century philosophy as he is obscure outside of it. Reading his philosophy is like sipping a fine scotch: The smooth style must be savored, the complexity explored.

By CARRIE FIGDOR
Associated Press Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - America's pre-eminent living philosopher dug a tunnel to Europe some 80 years ago.

At least, he started to. It's a long way from Akron, Ohio, to Europe, even for a curious little boy. And even a curious little boy named W.V. Quine can get desperately homesick. And he did. So he stopped digging - for the time being.

Although the tunnel of Quine's childhood was quickly abandoned, his impulse to link the unknown to the known never was. It just took a different turn.

"The idea of reducing the unfamiliar to the familiar - that's what we have in science," Quine, now 87, said recently.

For Quine, that means trying to put mysteries about our world and ourselves into terms we can understand. It means unearthing those mysteries in things we all take for granted, asking questions we don't usually ask.

"How is it possible that we, on the basis of just the triggering of our sense receptors, have developed this elaborate theory about the world all the way out to the distant constellations and down to the imperceptibly small?" he asks.

That question, in some form or other, has preoccupied Willard Van Orman Quine for a lifetime. Along the way he has become as prominent in the world of 20th-century philosophy as he is obscure outside of it.

But unknown to outside world required to explain what you want to. Like the urge to question, Quine's austerity crusade - both personal and philosophical - also began early. As an undergraduate at Oberlin College, he didn't know whether to major in Rene Descartes have felt that has to be proven.

Empiricists, including Carnap, started their proof with sense impressions - something "looking red" - and building a world from mathematics, linguistics or philosophy. He chose mathematics, with an honors reading in mathematical philosophy.

Attack on European's idea launched debate that still gets philosophers riled up.

Once the choice was made, the poker games, the stamp-collecting, chess, bridge - everything else fell by the wayside. The commitment was total.

As it turned out, the man was made to order for a particular era in philosophy.

Quine's 1932 Ph.D. dissertation at Harvard revised parts of Alfred North Whitehead and Bertrand Russell's "Principia Mathematica," which basically sought to rewrite the principles of mathematics into the terms of formal logic.

But it was during his visit to Europe - for real, on a post-doctoral fellowship from Harvard - that Quine had what he later spoke of as the most exciting moments of his philosophical career.

It was there that he met Rudolf Carnap, a "logical positivist" whose work he ultimately would spend 60 years undermining.

Quine spent months with Carnap in Prague, "being somewhat critical at the same time that I was being so absorptive." As an empiricist, Carnap believed all knowledge stemmed from sense experience. His project was to translate our claims about the world into terms of formal logic and sensory experience.

There. That was what Carnap's project was all about.

Quine started with visual, tactile and other stimuli. This meant assuming physical objects, since we had to have receptors to detect the stimuli.

But where do we go from there? Basically, Quine says, we can go anywhere.

That's because while science explains how we interact with the world, it's on the basis of those interactions that we build our science. We don't deduce our theory from bits of experience; we construct the bits and revise them as needed to keep our theory coherent.

Since the only objective "checkpoints" we have are the stimuli, we end up with a huge structure of science cantilevered on a tiny base of observations that might well have supported another theory.

"It's not a matter of getting a theory of the physical world down to something that is somehow more fundamental," he said. "We're getting it down to these observation sentences which themselves we're trusting because of our scientific theory."

It's a difficult doctrine to accept. We wanted to know what exists and how we know about it. If Quine is right, what's really real?

That question is meaningless, he says, even though our language makes us think it's not.

"When a discovery is made and a (scientific) law is changed, we don't say that the truth has changed - that it used to be true and now it's not. We say we thought it was true and it wasn't."

What's real, he says, are simply the objects and things, from stars to subatomic particles, that we all talk about. They're all part of our theory of the world. That's reality. It's what your mother always said it was.

The twist, of course, is that for Quine, if our theory were different, what's real would be different as well.

"If somehow, as people might imagine, the veil was lifted from reality and we could see what the world was really like and how does it match up - that, to me, is meaningless," he said. "Real" and "object" and "thing," these terms don't mean anything except as part of this network of concepts and

At age of 87, Willard Van Orman Quine is publishing his 21st book.

Some of the most vibrant debates in that world have been defined by Quine. If you're in that world you can agree or disagree, but you can't ignore him. If you're not, "Quiddities" (Harvard University Press), written for non-philosophers, could get you hooked. But be warned. Reading his philosophy is like sipping a fine scotch: The smooth style must be savored, the complexity explored.

Harvard University, where he spent his entire career before retiring in 1978, is publishing his 21st book, "From Stimulus to Science," in October. His previous books are available in 13 languages, his more than 150 scholarly articles in more. He's been awarded 16 honorary degrees from universities throughout Europe and the United States, and shared a Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences prize in 1993.

In conversation, it's clear that none of this went to his head; it was probably too full of ideas already. His back is bent with age and he has large bags under his eyes, but after a few minutes you forget he is approaching nine decades of life. His mind is energetic, his memory sharp, his smile quick. He doesn't wear his bifocals; he fiddles with them.

Quine hasn't had much to say about ethics or politics. His concern, broadly speaking, is science - our theory of the world.

He wonders about what there is, what we know and how we talk about it, and about how the way in which the way we talk shapes what there is and what we know. He asks: How do we build a tunnel from the "meager input" of our senses to the "torrential output" of our theories?

How do you even begin to answer a question like that? If you're like Quine, you begin by asking other questions. And you begin young.

As a boy he left the Congregationalist religion of his parents because he found its doctrines, especially life after death, "implausible."

"What kind of evidence could there be?" he said. "I was a little bit nervous - after all it was sinful to lose one's faith. But that didn't bother me much or long, because I thought, if this is all nonsense, then so in particular is that."

He also questioned the anti-Semitism "in the atmosphere" of Akron because of two boyhood friends who were Jewish. What could it mean to "be Jewish" beyond just being a boy who was classified as Jewish? Why think a Jewish boy had some mysterious property that non-Jewish boys didn't?

"Thinking back on that I can see the germs of a basic sort of philosophical slant that was going to influence my thinking about philosophy generally, and mathematics in particular - namely, extensionalism."

Extensionalism is to philosophy what asceticism is to religion. It's an approach, adopted from mathematics, that says: Control those speculative urges! In Quine's line of work that means limiting your claims about what exists to the bare minimum that's

Back at Harvard, Quine's first five books were logic texts. But philosophy and linguistics had not been forgotten.

In 1948 appeared "On What There Is," an early statement of his view that what exists is what our best theory says exists.

Quine's most influential attack on Carnap, and other logical positivists of the Vienna Circle whom he had met on that first trip to Europe, came in "Two Dogmas of Empiricism" (1950). It launched a debate that still gets philosophers all riled up.

A traditional approach was to draw a distinction between statements that seem true no matter what - like, "All bachelors are unmarried" - and those that are true because of the way things happen to be - like, "All the coins in my pocket are dimes." Following Immanuel Kant, the former were dubbed analytic, the latter synthetic.

The logical positivists, led by Carnap, used the distinction to debunk traditional metaphysics. If an analytic statement is true no matter what the world is like, they argued, it is meaningless in helping us understand the world. It is true merely by virtue of what its words mean.

Quine argued that there are no analytic truths, no statements that are true by virtue of their meaning alone. Any statement can be held true no matter what - just revise whatever other statement contradicts it.

And not only that. The meaning of a sentence, analytic or otherwise, cannot be isolated from the rest of the language, he claimed.

"If we could find at its most primitive the Vienna Circle's notion of every meaningful empirical sentence being translatable into something purely about immediate experience, it would be great, but it can't," he said in the interview.

So as far as Quine was concerned, Carnap and Co. would not be able to build the tunnel between the unknown and the known, between how we transform what our senses detect today into reliable ways of predicting what they'll detect tomorrow.

After "Two Dogmas," Quine took another route.

In his single most influential book, "Word and Object" (1960), he expanded on the theme of how the way we think about things - how what they are, to us - is shaped by the way we talk about them.

With many twists and turns in the philosophies of language, science and logic, that view fed into what Quine came to call naturalized epistemology, which "accepts science as given and is asking, how do we get at it?"

Epistemology is the study of knowledge - how we know, what we know, and, for skeptics, whether we can ever be said to know anything at all.

Anyone who's not a philosopher takes it for granted that there's a world out there. Philosophers since
