HISD sets .30 tax rate

After two months of "possibilities" and "what ifs," the Hereford school board adopted a tax rate of 30 cents in a brief meeting Thursday at the school administration building.

The board approved the rate in a 6-1 vote. Board President John Fuston voted against the rate.

The 30-cent rate, when added to the County Education District (CED) levy of 80.9 cents, will mean Hereford taxpayers will be facing a total school tax this year of $1.109 per $100 valuation.

Last year's school tax rate was 91.44 cents per $100. While most property owners will be facing an increase, the biggest brunt of the increase will be borne by business and industry. In a special election in August, Hereford Independent School District voters approved a 20 percent homestead exemption instead of the $5,000 exemption previously granted. That dropped $26 million in value from the tax roll, all in homestead, over 65 and disabled exemptions. The difference will be made up in the higher rate.

Another reason for the higher rate is that school districts were allowed to make up, in local taxes, for what they were "shorted" by the state in the last school year. The Hereford school district lost about $400,000 because of a shortage in state appropriations.

DSGH board okays auditor

Deaf Smith County Hospital District directors, in a split vote during a special noon meeting Tuesday, agreed to engage the firm of Durbin & Co. of Lubbock to conduct the audit and cost report for the district.

Four auditing firms submitted proposals, but the two local companies bid only on the audit. The other two submitted costs on both the audit and cost report. The Durbin & Co. bid was $14,500 for both ($11,000 on the audit, $3,500 for the cost report). A fee of $4,500 was quoted on the cost report alone.

Directors discussed the proposals at length, with representatives from Brown Graham & Co. and Gerhardt & Puckett present at the meeting. Brown Graham & Co. proposed a range of $9,425 to $9,950 for the audit, while Gerhardt & Puckett bid a range of $9,000 to $9,500. Peat Marwick & Co. of Amarillo bid $29,500 for the audit and $6,500 for the cost report.

Ron Rives, interim hospital administrator, recommended the Lubbock firm, citing the company's work with Methodist Hospital of Lubbock and its experience in the health care field.

Directors discussed the possibility of taking a local firm's audit report and getting the cost report from another firm. Based on the Durbin cost of $4,500 for a cost report and the high range of a local bid ($9,500), a director pointed out the total would have been $14,000 and the lowest proposal.

After a lengthy discussion, directors approved a motion to engage Durbin & Co. on a vote of 3 for, 2 against and 1 abstaining. Raymond Schroeder, Dr. Randal Vinther and Dr. Stan Fry Jr. voted for; Mal Manchee and Craig Smith voted against, and Boyd Foster abstained. John Perrin was absent.

Committee split on Thomas vote

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Joseph Biden announced today he will vote against the confirmation of Clarence Thomas to the Supreme Court.

Biden, a Delaware Democrat, made his announcement on the Senate floor an hour before the committee was to vote on whether to favorably recommend Thomas' elevation to the high court to fill the seat being vacated by Justice Thurgood Marshall.

Biden's announcement increased the likelihood that the committee would split 7-7 on the nomination.

Biden's decision to oppose Thomas came a day after a fellow committee Democrat, Alabama's Howell Heflin, came out against the 43-year-old federal judge picked by President Bush for the court.

"I will not vote to confirm Judge Thomas," Biden said. "It is not a decision I come to lightly. ... Every one of us was impressed by Judge Thomas' personal life story."

"As difficult as this decision has been to me, it is one that I make with firm conviction," Biden said. "For it is a vote that I cast with my head, not my heart. ... I acknowledge that this is a close call."

Biden said that Thomas, during confirmation hearings, failed to convince him that the nominee believed in protecting rights guaranteed by the Constitution, "even after repeated attempts by me to assuage my concerns and the concerns of others."

Heflin's announcement Thursday had prompted speculation that Biden would follow suit - a move that could create a 7-7 tie. A tie vote on the panel, which Democrats control by an 8-6 margin, would not defeat Thomas' nomination.

Biden said technically "you need eight votes" or "you need a majority" before legislation or a nomination is "physically sent to the floor of the United States Senate."

But he assured Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., Thomas' leading Senate backer, that he had "no intention" of thwarting a Senate floor vote on Thomas, even though he could in a 7-7 tie vote scenario.

Danforth, responding, said he hoped the Senate could take up the nomination by the middle of next week, no matter what the vote in today's Judiciary Committee meeting.

Bush will speak tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush will unveil a "turning point" in the nation's defense strategy in a televised address tonight. He will propose large cuts in U.S.-Soviet nuclear arsenals, an administration official said.

Bush told reporters his speech will have "major worldwide implications for world peace."

One administration official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the Bush is expected to propose mutual reductions in superpower nuclear arsenals, and will offer some unilateral cuts.

The official described the speech as "comprehensive and significant" and said it may refer to recent discussions within the Soviet Union about how to handle its nuclear arsenals.

Russian Republic President Boris Yeltsin has called for moving all Soviet nuclear weapons to Russia, and other leaders have sought to banish missiles from different republics within the Soviet Union.

The 20-minute address will be broadcast live from the Oval Office at 7 p.m. CDT.

The speech will focus on "a new path for peace" as well as the status of U.S. forces and changes in the Soviet Union, said Press Secretary Marlin Fitzwater. He said Bush will announce "a number of decisions related to our nuclear weapons program."

"He will discuss with the American people our thorough readiness to provide for the security of the United States in the new world order," Fitzwater told reporters in a formal announcement.

"It will mark a historic turning point in our national defense posture, pointing out a new path for peace," Fitzwater said. "The president will announce a number of decisions relating to our nuclear weapons program."

Fitzwater said Bush will deal with "long-term defense posture."

Bush told reporters during a photo session this morning that "We're living in a rapidly changing world. I think what I will be saying tonight will have major worldwide implications for world peace."

The administration source also said Bush will state a new strategy on sea-launched cruise missiles, a system in which the United States has an advantage over the Soviet Union.

The Washington Post said that move would be a concession on Bush's part to entice the Soviets to agree to other proposals, including a component on the Strategic Defense Initiative, popularly known as the Star Wars system.

Senior administration officials were quoted by the Post as saying Bush would propose reducing and eventually eliminating all U.S. and Soviet ballistic missiles equipped with multiple nuclear warheads.

Asked about the report, Fitzwater said, "The whole issue has been examined in preparation for this speech."

Woman struggles through poverty

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - Sheila Johnson is behind in her rent, has sometimes had to plug an extension cord into a neighbor's electrical outlet to turn on her lights and says her refrigerator recently held nothing but ice.

The 30-year-old mother of two is one of 33.6 million Americans - 13.5 percent of the population - the U.S. Census Bureau says live in poverty.

The number of poor Americans grew by 2.1 million between 1989 and 1990, the first increase since 1983, the Census Bureau reported Thursday. Some economists warned things may worsen as weak economic conditions continue.

Mrs. Johnson, who has just returned to work after months of unemployment, is hopeful things will improve for her.

"I have hope every day that I wake up that today is going to be better," she said.

The Census Bureau considers a family of four earning $13,359 or less to be poor. The definition does not include family owned property and some forms of assistance people may receive. It also does not reflect regional differences in the cost of living.

The bureau's findings, based on interviews with about 60,000 households, are the first to track poverty in America since the nation fell into recession last year. They showed that the number of poor Americans increased by 2.1 million between 1989 and '90.

Until last year, the poverty rate had fallen steadily since 1983, the year after the last recession ended.

The figures indicated that being black or Hispanic, a child, a city dweller, a Southerner or a member of a family headed by a woman meant a person was more likely to be poor.

One-fifth of the nation's children and nearly one-third of its blacks were considered poor.

Mrs. Johnson, meanwhile, expects a paycheck today for the first time in months. She recently began a job as a day-care worker, earning $4.35 an hour, the minimum wage. She had quit the same job in June when she couldn't find a baby sitter for her children.

This summer, she and the boys lived in a two-bedroom flat without utilities. She ran an extension cord from an adjoining apartment for lights and hauled pails of water from neighbors. She cleaned trash from yards for "extra change."

An understanding landlord recently allowed her to move into a three-bedroom house, forgoing the rent for now. Family and friends have paid for the water and lights.

Her application for food stamps was recently approved and her first $277 monthly allotment arrived this week.

She said her family income never exceeded $13,000, even when both she and her husband worked. She said he left three months ago.

"I'm trying not to give up, but it's a hurting feeling knowing that someday you might be in the streets," she said.

Bob Greenstein, director of the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, a Washington research group, said next year's poverty figures could be worse.

"Since poverty increased significantly from 1989 to 1990 with just a modest deterioration in the economy, it is likely poverty will increase to a greater extent in 1991, when the economy was in worse shape and unemployment rates rose much more," he said.

Donor funds search in crash area

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - A Houston company specializing in deep-water research will take part in the search for Amelia Earhart's plane after an anonymous donor solved an 11th-hour funding problem.

The donor has given $200,000 to the International Group for Historic Aircraft Recovery (TIGHAR), a non-profit foundation, for its expedition to the remote South Pacific island of Nikumaroro, TIGHAR spokesman Gary Quigg of Crawfordville said Thursday.

The uninhabited atoll, located 2,000 miles southwest of Hawaii, is believed to be the site where Earhart and navigator Fred Noonan crash-landed during their around-the-world flight on July 2, 1937.

Oceaneering International, Inc. has been involved in more than three dozen civilian and military undersea searches, including the space shuttle Challenger off the Florida coast, an Air India 747 off Ireland, and the United Airlines 747 cargo door off Hawaii.

TIGHAR had raised $200,000 for the expedition, but needed another $200,000 to fund Oceaneering International's role in the search. About 10 TIGHAR members, under the leadership of Richard E. Gillespie, will participate in the expedition. Their research vessel Acania will leave Honolulu on Monday, and is scheduled to return Nov. 2.

The TIGHAR team will search an area extending from the island's southeast shore to a lagoon a quarter-mile from the ocean, Quigg said. The island is four miles long and two miles wide.

Oceaneering International will use sonar and a remote camera to scan the ocean bottom at a depth of 2,000 feet off the island's coral shelf for the wreckage of Earhart's plane.

Researchers and history buffs who have delved into the disappearance of the pioneer aviator believe Earhart and Noonan crash-landed July 2, 1937, on a coral reef off the shore of Nikumaroro and later perished on the island.

During the massive search for Earhart, a plane from the battleship USS Colorado found signs of recent habitation on the island, which was supposedly uninhabited at the time.

Gilbert Island natives who later settled on the island also reported discovering bones and some personal

Drug cartel assassin is arrested at telephone booth in New York

NEW YORK (AP) - A man said to have killed at least 40 people as a Colombian drug cartel's "most trusted assassin" was seized on a New York street days after coming to this country on what authorities say was a murder mission.

Paul Daniel Munoz Mosquera was seized late Wednesday as he used a pay telephone in the city's Queens borough, said Robert A. Bryden, head of the New York office of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration.

Bryden said Munoz was the mastermind behind the Aug. 18, 1989, assassination of Colombian Sen. Luis Carlos Galan, who was then the leading candidate in his country's presidential campaign.

"We believe we have captured the single most trusted assassin of the Medellin cartel," Bryden said Thursday.

"The Colombian national police credit him with the murder of at least 40 Colombia national police officers, judges, public officials and innocent bystanders," he said.

Bryden said Munoz had been in this country a little more than a week before his arrest and had arrived in New York Saturday from Los Angeles.

He said authorities learned from confidential sources in Colombia that Munoz had come to the United States to carry out an assassination, but he said they didn't know who the target was.

He noted that Munoz came to New York just before the opening of the United Nations General Assembly and the arrival of President Bush earlier this week. "This man is of such stature in the cartel's activities ... that he would not have been sent to this country for anything less than what the Medellin cartel would consider a very important assignment," Bryden said.

The DEA said Munoz gave his age as 24 and his first name as Dandeny when he was taken into custody, but Colombian records, including fingerprints, confirmed his true identity and his age as 39.

Munoz wasn't armed and didn't resist when drug agents arrested him, Bryden said. He was being held without bail on charges of making false statements to a federal agent. He will likely be extradited to Colombia, the DEA said.

U.S. Magistrate John L. Caden ordered Munoz held pending a hearing next week in federal court.

Bryden said Colombia's national police were "ecstatic over the arrest," and Colombian Justice Minister Fernando Carrillo, reached in Bogota, said his government was pleased.

However, The New York Times, in today's editions, quoted an aide to Colombian President Cesar Gaviria Trujillo as saying Colombian officials did not want Munoz returned because he was a dangerous man who twice had escaped from Colombian prisons.

Munoz escaped from Bogota's Modelo prison last April 18.

Trial of alleged hitman stopped by U.S. judge

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) - A mistrial has been declared in the federal trial of an alleged hit man for a Mexican drug gang because of an accusation, apparently unfounded, that a juror was under the influence of marijuana.

U.S. District Judge James DeAnda declared the mistrial Thursday in the case against Miguel Lucio Botello.

Early Thursday, a courthouse security officer reported to DeAnda he had detected the odor of marijuana on a juror on two different occasions.

"I was looking at an accusation that a juror was habitually using marijuana while on jury service," DeAnda said.

Defense attorneys objected to replacing any juror, DeAnda said.

So the judge ordered federal officers guarding the courthouse to monitor the juror, DeAnda said if the rumor proved true, he would have disqualified the juror and used one of two alternates as a replacement.

But DeAnda said the officers confronted the juror prematurely and accused the panelist. The juror then told other jurors what happened,

Noriega received payoffs by pilot

MIAMI (AP) - A pilot convicted of drug trafficking testified that he paid Manuel Noriega $450,000 to ignore shipments of drugs through Panama and that he was told Noriega took $4 million more to protect Colombian drug barons.

Floyd Carlton, the government's star witness in Noriega's drug and racketeering trial, testified Thursday that he personally sent the deposed Panamanian leader a total of $450,000 to ignore drug flights in 1982 and 1983.

He also testified that Pablo Escobar, the Medellin drug cartel's reputed kingpin, told him the cartel paid Noriega $4 million to protect fleeing cartel leaders in Panama in 1984. The cartel leaders had fled Colombia after being blamed for assassinating that country's justice minister, Carlton said.

Carlton - whose grand jury testimony led to major portions of Noriega's February 1988 drug and racketeering indictment - is to take the stand again Monday. No trial testimony was scheduled today.

The government says Takiff's undercover role in a local judicial corruption sting didn't affect Noriega's case.

Carlton testified that Noriega angrily spurned the Medellin cartel's initial offer of $30,000 to $50,000 per 400-kilogram cocaine load flown into Panama en route to the United States.

He said he had passed on the offer to Noriega after meeting with cartel leaders Escobar and Gustavo Gaviria in Medellin in Colombia.

"He asked whether they were crazy or I was crazy," Carlton testified. "He would not allow that to happen for less than $100,000."

When the pilot took Noriega's demand back to the cartel leaders, they said they weren't surprised, Carlton told the court. They told him they had dealt with Noriega before, paying him $1 million to free a seized freighter carrying cocaine in coffee bags.

leaving DeAnda no choice, he says, but to grant a defense motion for a mistrial.

"I think (the officers) actually jumped the gun," he said. Botello, 33, is charged in the May 13 drive-by shooting of Gerardo Luis Quintanilla, killed while waiting at a stoplight in Brownsville.

Federal agents say the slaying is part of a turf war between rival drug gangs and was one of four killings that precipitated the bloody May 17 prison riot at Tamaulipas state prison that left 18 inmates dead.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Mark Patterson said prosecutors opposed the motion for a mistrial.

"We felt that the case was going our way," he said.

But, Patterson said he is not worried about retrying the case.

Defense attorneys left the courtroom before the judge called the jury in to announce the mistrial and were not available for comment.

DeAnda said he expects a new trial to start in three to six weeks.

The case was moved from Brownsville to Corpus Christi because of pre-trial publicity.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I enjoy reading your column in the Ft. Worth Star-Telegraph. I have a tip for growing and keeping plants healthy and long-lasting.

My mother had what we called a "green thumb." Her secret was to give the plant cold coffee or tea instead of water. — Mrs. N.L. Keith, Ft. Worth, Texas

My mother did the same thing! However, there are some plants that may get "sick" when fed coffee or tea, especially if it contains cream and sugar. If you're unsure about your favorite plant, it would be best to check with your local nursery and see if it's safe for you to share "tea time" with it.

Dear Heloise: I have a bad habit of hearing the snooze button on my alarm clock in the morning but sometimes I'd hit the wrong button which would turn on the radio. No extra snooze time!

To keep this from happening, I put a small self-gripping circle on the snooze button. Now there is no guesswork as to which button I push. — Casey Dixon, Seguin, Texas

Dear Heloise: I have another suggestion for storing out-of-season clothes. My suitcases were stored empty until I started using the empty space for my clothes. The best part is that it doesn't cost anything. — H. Stauble, Preston, Conn.

JV Herd destroys Frenship

The Hereford junior varsity football team routed Frenship Thursday 46-0, but they were the only one of the sub-varsity teams to win.

The JV Herd got two quick touchdowns from Chris Vallejo within the space of a few minutes in the first quarter. His first score was a 33-yarder, then soon after Cody Powell recovered a Frenship fumble on the Frenship 35 yard line, Vallejo scored on a 4-yard run. Shama Hernandez added the kick after each one to make it 14-0.

The Herd went into halftime leading 20-0 after an exciting play by Richard Wilbanks. As time ran out, Wilbanks, a receiver, got in front of his defender and jumped to catch a pass from Chad Carlile at the 2-yard line. He spun toward the goal line and fell across it as he was tackled.

Hereford's Ronnie Gomez started the second half out right by returning Frenship's kickoff 100 yards for a score. The kick failed and Hereford led 26-0.

From there on it was smooth sailing for the variety of running backs that offensive coach Craig Yenser put in the game. He credited the offensive line--Michael Melendez, Brent Flood, Matt Parker, Andrew Tijerina and Andy Montana--with a "great job of blocking."

Hereford got three more runs for scores: a 33-yarder by Gomez, a 37-yarder by Hernandez and a 4-yarder by Stephen Drake.

Defensive coach Ron Young said the defense did a good job in earning the shutout.

"Our forcing unit (front six) did a good job of stopping the run. We ask them to stop the run and let the secondary take care of the pass, and that's what we did.

Nowhere to run

Hereford junior varsity tailback Ronnie Gomez (80) was trapped here by the Frenship defense, but it was one of the few times. Gomez scored twice, including a 100-yard kickoff return, as the Herd JV pounded the Tigers 46-0 Thursday at Whiteface Stadium. Other Hereford players pictured are Mark Kuper (85), looking on, and Andy Montana (78) and Michael Melendrez (64), on the ground after throwing blocks.

"We really need to give credit to the offense. We weren't on the field very much," Young said.

Hereford's sophomore team host the junior varsity from Tulia and fell 14-0.

"We had a lot of turnovers," coach Oscar Rendon said. "I think we had six turnovers."

Rendon said that tailback Gabriel Medrano had a good game. "He stepped in there and ran real good."

The best result from the four ninth grade teams which played on the road Thursday was a tie by the White "B" team. They tied Dumas 6-6, getting a 65-yard touchdown run from Coy Laing.

In the White "B" game, Michael Brown ran 45 yards for a TD and ran for the two-point conversion. On the drive, coach Robert Gamboa said. Marc Haney made two receptions in crucial third-down situations.

Hereford's score made it 8-6 but Dumas scored three more unanswered touchdowns.

"We played pretty tough in the first half, then we got out of it. The kids played hard. (The first half) was probably the best half we've played all year," Gamboa said.

The Maroon team went to Amarillo to play Caprock, and apparently did not perform well.

"The score of the 'A' game was 52-0, the score to the 'B' game was 26-0, and that's about all I want to say," coach Curtis Cotten said.

Herd hits Dumas with confidence

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford volleyball team opens district play at 2 p.m. Saturday in Dumas against the three-time defending state champions. Most teams would go into this situation hoping to not lose too badly, but not the Lady Whitefaces. They expect to win.

"We used to think it was a near miracle to beat Dumas," Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said. "These kids now have it as an expectation--it's not a miracle."

One reason the Lady Whitefaces have this confidence is that they have played the Demonettes twice this season, and they have won both matches. In fact, Hereford is the only blemish on Dumas' 19-2 record.

Having beat Dumas twice this season breaks down a little of the awe a team would normally have for such a successful program, but it could have repercussions Saturday.

"We know Dumas will be up for us. We've made them mad as hornets by beating them twice," Reeh said.

If Hereford can get past Dumas this season, the next logical step would be the state tournament, maybe the state championship. After all, Dumas beat Hereford in last season's regional finals, then won two more matches with relative ease, and they were crowned champions. Could Hereford be that close to such lofty goals?

"I wouldn't be much of a coach if I didn't think we could (win state)," Reeh said. "I've got confidence in the kids. They've matured mentally and emotionally and their skills are improving every day."

"We've found that there's a whole new world out there--dealing with the pressure of being 15-1. They've handled winning very well, and they've handled losing Tuesday (to Amarillo High) very well and they came in very hungry Wednesday."

"As coach of these kids, I don't think there is a group of kids in Texas I'd rather coach. They've got everything it takes to win."

The team has a simple, step-by-step plan.

"We break the season down into three parts: win in pre-season, which they've already proved they can do; win district; and win in the playoffs," Reeh said.

Winning District 1-4A won't be easy. Besides the obvious barrier in Dumas, all the other teams in the district have winning records: Borger is 13-6, Pampa is 10-6, Caprock is 9-8 and Randall is 13-4.

Reeh especially considers Randall a threat. "Randall's done well. They've improved probably more than anybody in the district. They've been very young the last couple of years, and they've finally got juniors and seniors. They're certainly somebody we've got to be concerned with this year."

Reeh has a theory as to why the District 1-4A teams are better.

"Three years ago we were pushed to improve to the level of Dumas. I think what we're seeing is the other teams in the district have had to improve to catch us and Dumas."

Since the rest of the district has improved, there's the possibility that one of the upstarts could catch the Lady Whitefaces looking ahead to the next match with Dumas or beyond to the playoffs. Reeh said that won't happen.

"Our kids are smart. We're not going to look past anyone. We respect everyone in the district. If we do our jobs in the second phase of the season (district), we'll have a chance to have a third phase."

"It's everybody's goal to win a state championship. I don't think there's anybody better equipped than we are to win a state championship. We've got the desire, the talent and the skill. We've had a taste of what it's like to get close. It's only made us hungrier."

Herd goes to Wolfforth

The Hereford Whitefaces go for their fourth win of the season tonight against Frenship in Wolfforth. Kickoff is at 7:30.

Frenship has not won a game in three tries, but Hereford coach Danny Haney warns that they are the best 0-3 team he has seen.

The skiers in the downhill race in the 1968 Winter Olympics frequently competed in a blizzard, which injured a number of them.

A&M kicker's autopsy inconclusive

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Doctors are still trying to determine what caused Texas A&M kicker James Glenn to collapse on the field and die.

His teammates just want to know why.

"He could make friends easier than anyone I ever knew," said Aggie linebacker Reggie Graham, who was also Glenn's teammate at Clear Creek High School. "I woke up this morning and said to myself 'did it really happen?'"

James Glenn, 19, a walk-on freshman kicker from League City collapsed on the field before practice at Kyle Field on Wednesday. He was pronounced dead a short time later at a hospital.

"It's something that we can't explain or understand why," quarterback Bucky Richardson said. "We just have to pull together and go on."

The Aggies host Southwestern Louisiana Saturday and they will wear Glenn's number on the back of their helmets in honor of the walk-on who saw his only college action in last week's 35-34 loss to Tulsa.

Team physician Dr. Jesse Parr said Thursday results of the autopsy did not reveal a cause of death but further tests were being conducted.

"The gross autopsy is all the findings that we have at this time and that does not reveal the cause of death," Dr. Jesse Parr said. "There is nothing to the naked eye that would explain the death at this time."

Parr said the incident could have occurred anywhere.

"This incident that occurred with this athlete could have occurred walking across campus, in the dorm, at the movie or just as well on the football field," Parr said. "I'm confident that we will be able to determine the cause of death."

Parr said Glenn had a heart problem that was evaluated when he was in high school. Parr declined to identify Glenn's condition.

"Those underlying problems were not of a nature that would put him at risk of sudden death more than anyone in this room," Parr said. "We have the sudden death of an otherwise healthy young man and don't have a cause at the present."

Glenn, 5-foot-11 and 167 pounds, was an all-district selection as a junior and senior at Clear Creek High School and was invited to walk on with the Aggies.

"These things are terribly difficult for any of us to make sense out of, particularly when you are 18 or 19 years old and you don't think a whole lot about death," coach R.C. Slocum said. "To walk out on the field with a teammate and a short time later be told he's no longer alive is a shocking experience."

Glenn and other Aggies who died during the month of September will be honored Tuesday with the playing of silver taps.

Graham recalled how excited Glenn had been to play against Tulsa.

"I told him if he got in the game it would be a Creek player kicking off and a Creek player making the tackle," Graham said. "And it turned out that way. He was real excited about it because he wasn't supposed to play."

Slocum said he had not intended to use Glenn in the game, but took him on the trip in case one of the other kickers was injured.

"It's really eerie when you think back," Slocum said. "During the course of the game, for no reason, I had something come to me that I wanted James to make this kick."

Michigan vs. Florida St.: 1 vs. 2

By The Associated Press

A loss to Michigan five years ago convinced Florida State coach Bobby Bowden that his team could play with clubs like the Wolverines. The Seminoles have been proving it ever since.

Bowden said the last Michigan game, a 20-18 loss at Ann Arbor, persuaded him and his staff that his team could compete with the nation's best.

"The thing that surprised me most was that we were able to stay close with them," Bowden said of the 1986 loss. "Our boys hung in there real good."

After that defeat, the top-ranked Seminoles have not taken kindly to teams from up north, to teams from the Big Ten or, for that matter, to any team on their schedule.

Florida State is 5-0 against the Big Ten since then, not counting a win over the Conference's most recent addition, Penn State, in last year's Blockbuster Bowl.

Since the 1986 loss to Michigan, the Seminoles have won nine straight against northern teams and are 52-7 overall.

Florida State again travels to Ann Arbor to face No. 3 Michigan, on a Saturday when everyone in the Top 10 is in action.

In other games, it's No. 2 Miami at Tulsa; Kansas State at No. 4 Washington; No. 13 Auburn at No. 5 Tennessee; Virginia Tech at No. 6 Oklahoma; No. 19 Georgia Tech at No. 7 Clemson; No. 8 Notre Dame at Purdue; Northern Illinois at No. 9 Iowa; Boston College at No. 10 Penn State; and No. 10 Syracuse at Tulane.

Also, No. 12 Baylor at Southern Methodist; No. 21 Mississippi State vs. No. 14 Florida at Orlando, Fla.; No. 16 Nebraska at No. 24 Arizona State; No. 17 Colorado at Stanford; No. 18 Pittsburgh at Minnesota; No.

22 Alabama at Vanderbilt; and No. 23 North Carolina at North Carolina State.

No. 15 Ohio State, No. 20 California and No. 25 Illinois are idle. While Bowden knows his team is better since the last meeting, he's also higher on the Wolverines.

"I feel like Michigan has a better team now," Bowden said. "The '86 team had a couple more stars than this one, but this one looks like a better football team than that one."

One main reason is split end Desmond Howard, who has six of Michigan's seven offensive touchdowns. He ran for one, returned a kickoff 93 yards for one and caught four TD passes, including a heart-stopping finger-tip grab in Michigan's 24-14 win over Notre Dame.

Clemens can't save Sox by himself

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

There was Spahn and Sain for the Boston Braves in the late 1940s. There was Bunning and Short for the Phillies in 1964. And there was Viola and Blyleven for the Twins in 1987.

For the Boston Red Sox to win the AL East this year, maybe they should use a one-man rotation. Too bad, because Roger Clemens can't pitch every day.

The Red Sox missed a chance to move up on idle Toronto on Thursday and instead wound up exactly where they started - 2 1/2 games behind the Blue Jays - because of a disappointing doubleheader split in Baltimore.

Clemens did his part, winning the opener 2-1. But Boston then blew its chance to move up when the Orioles rallied for two runs with two outs in the ninth inning, capped by a bases-loaded walk to former Red Sox star Dwight Evans, for a 6-5 win.

"It's a whitewash. We're back at square one," Clemens said.

Clemens (18-8) kept alive his hopes for a fourth 20-win season and a third Cy Young Award with an impressive outing in the opener. He struck out 10, raising his total to 227, most in the majors, and lowered his ERA to 2.38, best in the league.

Clemens gave up seven hits and did not walk a batter.

Dave Johnson (4-7) retired the first two batters before Phil Plantier hit his eighth home run of the season. Jack Clark followed with his 26th homer, and that was enough for Clemens.

In the second game, the Red Sox took a 5-1 lead in the sixth inning. That, however, wasn't enough.

Cal Ripken's 32nd home run began Baltimore's comeback. The Orioles got within 5-4 in the seventh on Mike Devereaux's RBI single, but reliever Greg Harris escaped a bases-loaded jam later in the inning when Randy Milligan grounded into a double play.

In the ninth, Chris Hoiles singled with one out and took third on a two-out, bloop single by Devereaux. With relief ace Jeff Reardon unable to pitch because of a stiff neck, Harris stayed in the game and gave up Ripken's tying single, then walked Milligan, loading the bases.

That brought up Evans. Harris (11-12) walked him on four pitches, forcing home the winning run.

Athletics 10, Rangers 0
Jose Canseco hit his career-high 43rd home run and tied Cecil Fielder for the major league lead.

Canseco connected for a two-run shot in the fourth inning off Oil Can Boyd, surpassing the 42 homers he hit in 1988. Canseco has nine games left and Fielder, trying to repeat as baseball's home run champion, has 10 remaining.

Mike Moore (16-8) pitched a four-hitter. He struck out four and walked four.

Rickey Henderson and Dave Henderson hit consecutive home runs in the fifth off Boyd (2-6).

The loss officially eliminated Texas for the AL West race.

Tigers 6, Indians 5

The Tigers trailed 5-4 in the seventh inning when they loaded the bases with one out. Alan Trammell grounded into a force play, but Tony Phillips made a hard slide that took out second baseman Carlos Baerga. By the time the two players tangled, two runs scored.

Cleveland manager Mike Hargrove and coach Rich Dauer were ejected. They argued that second base umpire Chuck Meriweather should have called interference on Phillips.

John Cerutti (3-6) retired one batter for the victory and Mike Henneman got his 21st save. Dave Otto (1-8) is winless in his last eight starts, losing six.

Brewers 6, Yankees 2

Bill Wegman won his career-best 14th game, pitching a six-hitter.

Wegman (14-7) struck out five and walked one.

Wade Taylor (7-12) lost. New York left fielder Roberto Kelly didn't help, misplaying three fly balls into a pair of doubles and Paul Molitor's 13th triple and 200th hit, both league highs.

Royals 3, Angels 2
Jim Eisenreich's two-run single capped a three-run rally in the fifth inning.

Mark Gubicza (9-11) pitched five innings and won. Tom Gordon went 2 2-3 innings and Jeff Montgomery pitched 1 1-3 innings for his 32nd save.

Mike Fetters (2-4) walked five in 4 2-3 innings, including three during the Royals' comeback. With two outs, Kurt Stillwell hit an RBI single and after two walks loaded the bases, Eisenreich singled.

Jana Huston, a 1986 graduate of Hereford High School, is a member of the rodeo team at Eastern New Mexico University. Huston competes in barrel racing, breakaway roping and goat tying. The senior math major is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Johnson.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees had 15 or more home runs for 17 straight seasons, 1952-68.

Reds' Rijo sends Braves reeling

ATLANTA (AP) - Ron Gant insists the Atlanta Braves are not dead, although it appeared that way against Jose Rijo.

The Braves, with a chance to pick up ground on the idle Los Angeles Dodgers in the NL West race, instead gave up six unearned runs and Rijo held them scoreless for seven innings Thursday night in an 8-0 thrashing.

The loss, the fourth in five games for the Braves, dropped them two games behind the Dodgers with nine games remaining for both clubs.

Rijo (15-5) scattered eight hits, walked three and struck out seven. He was especially tough on Gant, who left eight runners stranded in going 0-for-4.

"He threw me good pitches," said Gant, who leads the Braves with 31 home runs and 99 RBIs. "He's a good pitcher and he's hot now."

"I made the best pitches of the night to Gant," Rijo said. "He's their toughest hitter and I respond better to the good hitters."

Despite the Braves' recent slump,

Gant remains optimistic about their chances of overtaking the Dodgers.

"It's just another loss. We've been coming back all year long," he said. "We'll be there at the end."

The Braves open a three-game series tonight in Houston while the Dodgers host San Francisco in the opener of a three-game set.

"Sure we have to win and the Dodgers have to lose some. That's obvious," Braves manager Bobby Cox said. "We're running out of games. What we need to do is put a little win streak together."

Atlanta starter Charlie Leibrandt (15-12) was locked in a scoreless game and had retired the first 10 Reds before the roof fell in. The left-hander, who had won his last six decisions, allowed a single to Barry Larkin and then a two-out walk to Eric Davis. Carmelo Martinez then drove in both runners with a double for a 2-0 lead.

Pirates 4, Mets 3
Mets 2, Pirates 1

Don Slaught doubled home the go-ahead run in the 15th inning of the opener as Pittsburgh won the longest game of the season for both teams.

The second game at Shea Stadium started at 10:04 p.m. and New York won on Howard Johnson's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning, his league-leading 112th RBI.

Barry Bonds singled to start the 15th and Slaught followed with a hit-and-run double off Wally Whitehurst (7-12). Both teams scored in the 14th, the Pirates on Lloyd McClendon's infield single and the Mets on pinch hitter Todd Hundley's first major league home run. Bill Landrum (3-4) was the winner.

The NL East champion Pirates rested all of their regulars except Steve Buechele and Jose Lind in the second game. Pittsburgh starter John Smiley, seeking his 19th win, left after five innings when he was hit by Gregg Jefferies' comebacker. Smiley sustained a bruise, which was not described as serious.

Talk with any serious fisherman and, depending on the moon phase, the tides on Venus and several even more mysterious factors, he might reveal some of his fish-catching secrets.

Said hawks can be bass, walleye, catfish, striped, trout, redfish or even slab crappie. The key to catching hawks is to cleverly reveal the "new" bait only to hawks and never give the little ones so much as a glimpse.

Now you know why real hawk-hunters don't want you using their secret baits. It is not the fear of a competitor catching the hawks, it the horror that in the hands of a novice, every fish in the lake will be educated.

If you will promise not to use the following secrets to educate all the little fish, then read on.

Haw tip No.1--Big baits catch big fish. That's fairly obvious, but the big baits must be worked in slow motion--so slow that few mortals possess the patience to spend an entire hour and make five casts.

Haw tip No.2--Show 'em something new. Ben Kirkpatrick of Post and a starting linebucker for Texas Tech, used a Slug-go to impersonate a quivering-unable-to-swim minnow. He won two Fun Tournaments at White River with nearly twice the weight caught by the second-place angler.

Frankly, it amazes me that tournament anglers can fish so s-l-o-w for so l-o-n-g. After fifteen minutes of hawk hunting, I grab either a rattletrap or a buzzbait and proceed to start educating those little fish.

The last scheduled 1991 Big Bass Tournament at Lake Baylor will be Saturday. The entry fee is $50 and this newspaper copy of my column will save you the $10 late fee.

It's officially fall, and as the water gets cooler the big fish will get more active. Crankbaits, crankbaits. Good hunting and good fishing. I love the fall.

For 12 consecutive seasons, 1903-14, Christy Mathewson of the N.Y. Giants won at least six more games than he lost.

Warren Moon of Houston passed for 527 yards in a 1990 game against Kansas City, but his team lost the game, 45-27.

'Robin Hood' robbin' Dallas kids

DALLAS (AP) - Student athletes in the Dallas Independent School District are going to have pay up before they dress out for sports.

It's being blamed on the new "Robin Hood" school finance plan that takes money from richer school district and gives it to the poorer district. The plan has forced the district to cut more than $800,000 from the athletic department budget.

The DISD school board voted Thursday to approve a $10-per-sport fee for all student athletes in the ninth through 12th grade and made it retroactive to sports now in progress such as football, volleyball and cross country.

Deputy Superintendent Chad Woolery said the process of collecting the fee will begin in the next 2 1/2 weeks. A collection plan is being worked out with district coaches, he said.

"It's come to the point where some investment on the part of the players is necessary," Woolery said. "The key issue is we want to keep as many sports as we can. We are wanting our kids to have a full range of athletic opportunities."

The district expects to raise $100,000 from the fees.

Steve Mainord, head football coach at Skyline High School and president of the Dallas Coaches Association, said the association is "totally opposed" to the $10 fee.

North Dallas High football coach Emo Black said his school has many families with more than one athlete and that the fee might cause some financial hardship.

"I'd definitely think it would have adverse affect on the total number of athletes participating as well as the image of the DISD," Black said.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

DANIEL AND THE IDOL BEL

AS PROMISED, HERE IS THE OTHER OLDEST "DETECTIVE" STORY FROM THE APOCRYPHA. CYRUS, THE KING, EACH DAY PROVIDED THE IDOL BEL WITH BUSHELS OF FINE FLOUR, MANY SHEEP, AND FIFTY GALLONS OF WINE, BECAUSE THIS WAS THE GOD CYRUS WORSHIPPED. WHEN THE KING ASKED DANIEL TO WORSHIP THE IDOL, DANIEL KNEW IT WAS HIGH TIME TO EXPOSE THE FAKE GOD AND THE SEVENTY PRIESTS WHO MADE A FINE LIVING AS THE REPRESENTATIVES OF BEL. CYRUS BELIEVED THAT BEL WAS REALLY A LIVING GOD BECAUSE ALL THE FOOD THAT WAS PROVIDED WAS ALWAYS CONSUMED OVERNIGHT. DANIEL KNEW DARN WELL THAT IT WAS THE PRIESTS AND THEIR FAMILIES WHO DID ALL THE EATING. BUT HOW TO EXPOSE THEM SO KING CYRUS WOULD KNOW THAT BEL WAS A FAKE GOD? WELL, DANIEL, IN TRUE DETECTIVE STORY STYLE, LAID A TRAP FOR THE PRIESTS AND PROVED CONCLUSIVELY TO KING CYRUS THAT THE IDOL WAS A FAKE AND THAT THE ONLY TRUE, LIVING GOD WAS THE LORD GOD WHOM DANIEL WORSHIPPED! HOW HE ACCOMPLISHED THIS FEAT IS DULY RECORDED IN THE BOOK OF APOCRYPHA AND IS WELL WORTH READING—IT CERTAINLY ESTABLISHES DANIEL AS A FIRST-GRADE DETECTIVE ALONG WITH THE BEST OF THEM! SO GO TO IT—READ IT AND SEE IF YOU DON'T AGREE!

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) - Actor Gene Wilder, who has spent much of the past two years helping in the fight against ovarian cancer, says it's about time he got on with the rest of his life. Wilder, whose wife Gilda Radner died of the disease in 1989, is to receive an award tonight from the Yale Cancer Center in New Haven. He said that he probably conclude much of his anti-cancer efforts.

"I'm going back to watercolor painting and acting and directing and I'm going to retire from medicine," said the star of such movies as "Stir Crazy," "The Woman in Red" and "Young Frankenstein."

It wasn't until after Radner's death, Wilder said, that he learned earlier detection of the disease might have saved her life.

Wilder, 56, remarried earlier this month. His wife, Karen Webb, is a hearing specialist. The two met when he was preparing for a role as a deaf person.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the woman whose husband dumped her after meeting an old classmate at their 20th high school reunion prompted me to write.

Eleven years ago, I walked out on a 12-year marriage. My wife was a good person, but for a long time she was under a lot of stress. Instead of helping her, I began an affair with her best friend. It was a disaster.

This is what I gave up:

1. Seeing my daughter grow up.
 2. The respect of many longtime friends.
 3. The enjoyment of living as a family.
 4. A wife who was loyal, was appreciative and tried very hard to make me happy.
- This is what I got:
1. Two stepchildren who treated me like dirt.
 2. A wife who didn't know how to make anything for dinner but reservations.
 3. A wife whose only interest in me was how much money she could get.
 4. A wife who made disparaging remarks about my family and ruined all my existing friendships.

5. Finally, the best thing I got was a bitter, expensive divorce.

Ann, tell your readers that anyone who is married and has his or her next mate all lined up is looking for trouble. People don't know what they are giving up until they no longer have it. Then it's too late.--Otis of Wisconsin

DEAR OTIS: Thanks for writing. 'Nuff said.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column from "Fed Up In Chicago" reminded me of an incident that occurred 20 years ago when I quit a good job because my boss asked me to wash the woodwork.

Actually, it was my fault. There were fingerprints on a cupboard door, and without thinking, I got busy with a cloth and hand soap and wiped it clean. My boss saw me do this. Soon after, he was going on a trip and gave us instructions on what to do in his absence. He pointed at me, looking right past the two attractive younger women, and said, "You can clean the woodwork over there."

I decided that minute to quit--and I did. But no one ever knew why. I simply mailed him the key to the office with a note saying I wouldn't be back. I realize now that I should have told him exactly why. He would have learned something--Still Mad in Madison

DEAR MAD: I strongly suspect that the boss knew exactly why you quit. I wonder if he ever asked any other office employee to wash the woodwork after you left. I'll bet not. Thanks for the bit of history.

Gem of the Day: Things worth remembering:

Race promotes drug awareness

The Amarillo Area Association of Life Underwriters is presenting the second annual Red Ribbon Race Oct. 12 in Amarillo.

The event, which offers bicycle rides of five different distances, was begun in 1990 to help promote drug awareness in conjunction with the Texas Panhandle Red Ribbon Campaign.

An easy 20-mile ride has been added to the line-up this year. The Red Ribbon Ride will begin in downtown Amarillo with the 100 mile, easy 20 mile and seven mile family riders starting off before a parade at 9 a.m.

The 50 and 25 mile cyclists will once again be started later along the 100 mile course. All rides finish downtown at the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce Building.

Businesses are invited to sponsor employee teams in the ride. Corporate riders and school children are encouraged to wear their business and school colors during the event.

Entry fees are $12 for the family oriented seven mile ride and $14 for the longer rides. T-shirts go to all riders and medals will be awarded to all cyclists who complete their rides.

A drawing for numerous prizes will be held at 4 p.m. at the downtown start-finish line. Among the prizes are six bikes, five round trip American Airlines tickets, and a ski week-end in Red River.

For further information and entry forms, write to the Red Ribbon Ride, P.O. Box 30696, Amarillo, Tx. 79120. Also Ed Tunnick and Louis McKnight are available at 806-358-1363.

Last year's initial event attracted over 270 cyclists who rode one of four different distances in and around the Amarillo area.

More than $18,000 was raised for drug awareness programs in the Texas Panhandle as a result of the 1990 ride. Experienced riders praised the first-time event for its uniqueness and organization.

Approximately 1,000 riders from around the Panhandle and beyond are expected for this year's event. Organizers believe the event will grow to believe the event will grow to several thousand participants in future years as word spreads of the unique ride for cyclists of all skill levels.

The annual Red Ribbon Campaign began in 1985 as a symbol of the nation's war on drugs following the murder of federal agent Enrique Camarena by drug traffickers.

History of corn use reviewed

NEW YORK (AP) - People who grow their own vegetables often brag of putting a pot of water on to boil, then running out to pick ears of corn so the time between harvesting and eating is just as brief as possible.

But there are dozens of ways to prepare corn, and recently at the James Beard House, an entire dinner of corn dishes was served.

Food historian Betty Fussell and David Turk, owner of Indiana Market and Catering, guided diners from Carolina corn oysters, found in "cookbooks of the mid-19th century," to corn ice cream served with a caramel corn sauce.

All corn began in the Yucatan and was carried north and south from there, said Fussell, who wore corn-shaped earrings. Europeans who learned of it from American Indians brought corn back home. It has been cooked on the cob for 4,000 years in the Western Hemisphere, she said.

"There's nothing you can do with corn that hasn't been thought of by somebody over the intervening centuries," she said.

While there are thousands of varieties, she said, most people eat just two basic types - yellow or white corn.

The "Celebration of Sweet Corn" dinner included: blue and white corn cups with corn salsa, steamed corn on the cob served with chipotle butter, grilled corn on the cob served with poblano pepper coulis, Peruvian corn tamales, Southern-style shrimp and green corn souffle, Zuni summer succotash, a corn fungus sauteed with goat cheese and corn sauce, fresh corn sticks, corn ice cream and Pueblo corn and pinon cookies.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have had restless legs for 25 years. They gradually got so bad that I was getting only two or three hours of sleep a night and was experiencing the same crawling sensation in my upper arms and across my shoulders. Trying to get medical advice was always a disheartening experience. Most everybody I saw had never heard of the ailment and it was a real experience trying to explain the problem. When my doctor told me there was no known treatment, I was never sure whether that meant the entire medical profession had no known cure or whether he just didn't know.

Then I read one person's experience with taking iron supplements as a remedy for voracious ice chewing and discovering that not only did she have no need to chew ice, but her restless legs also improved dramatically.

I recalled that almost every time I had gone to donate blood I was turned away because of a low iron count, and on occasions over the years, a doctor would tell me I needed to take iron. I began taking a 65 mg iron tablet twice a day. After three weeks, I no longer needed to chew ice and I sleep soundly though the night for the first time in years. That has been a year and a half ago.

Recently I read there is a danger of getting too much iron -- iron poisoning.

Am I exchanging one discomfort for a worse one? If I cut down on the iron supplements, the restless legs start up again. I don't want to do irreparable damage to my body, but I don't want to go crazy with restless legs either.

DEAR READER: You are a very clever woman. In recent times it has been recognized that some people who have a problem with the restless-leg syndrome, do have an iron deficiency. And in those cases iron therapy may correct the problem. Every patient who has the restless-leg syndrome should have his or her iron level checked. Don't fault your doctor, because at the time he was seeing you, this was not recognized.

An iron deficiency will also cause a craving for ice and in some people will result in such bizarre behavior as eating laundry starch or clay. Here, again, iron replacement will eliminate the need to do this. Ice-cravers with restless legs are very likely individuals with an iron deficiency.

There are other measures that may also help with restless legs. I have discussed these in my new Special Report 117, Help for Leg Cramps, which I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/119, P.O.

Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. As you know restless legs and leg cramps are not the same thing.

No, I'm not worried that you will get too much iron from your two iron tablets a day. Some people with liver disease or alcoholics may have a risk, otherwise adults can consume a lot of iron without risk. Iron tablets should be kept out of the reach of children.

Iron is poorly absorbed from the small intestine and if your body already contains enough iron, the small intestine will greatly decrease the amount that is absorbed into the circulation. I don't know what kind of tablet you are taking, but it is not uncommon to prescribe a 300 mg tablet of ferrous sulfate three times a day for iron deficient patients. Each tablet contains only 60 mg of iron. A 300 mg tablet of ferrous gluconate contains only about 37 mg of iron and a 325 mg tablet of ferrous fumarate contains 108 mg of iron. Incidentally, the iron in red meat is more easily absorbed. Meat is a good source of iron.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

A bunch of badgers is called a cete.

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP) - A man who claims he lost his hearing in one ear after a Meat Loaf rock concert has filed a lawsuit against the star in state court here.

James Simone, 23, of Hazlet alleges he suffered the hearing loss after an Oct. 14, 1989, concert at the Monmouth College gymnasium in West Long Branch.

The lawsuit also names the college, the makers of the loudspeaker and just about everyone else involved in the production. Under New Jersey law, no dollar amount is specified when a lawsuit is filed.

Meat Loaf - whose real name is Marvin Aday - is best known for his album "Bat Out of Hell," and the single "Paradise by the Dashboard Light."

He could not immediately be reached for comment. Simone's lawyer, Lawrence P. DeBello of Jersey City, said he didn't know where the singer or his agents could be reached, and there were no telephone listings for him in New York or Los Angeles.
