Rodriguez named '91 FP queen

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Isabel Rodriguez was named the 1991 Fiestas Patrias queen at a special competition Saturday at San Jose Catholic Church in Hereford.

Rodriguez, 16, daughter of Gilbert and Gloria Rodriguez of Hereford, will be crowned on Sept. 14 as part of the annual Fiestas Patrias celebration in Hereford. She will be the 39th queen crowned here.

The runner-up is Teresa Castillo, 18, daughter of Maria and Arnulfo Castillo of Hereford.

The new queen will be crowned during ceremonies commemorating Mexico's initial cry for independence on Sept. 16, 1810. The special events the weekend of Sept. 13-15 will include cultural demonstrations on Sept. 13 at the Hereford Community Center, a parade, the coronation and a dance on Sept. 14, and special events the afternoon of Sept. 15.

The candidates were ranked by a panel of six out-of-town judges on their written presentation and on the program they presented Saturday to a crowd of about 200 persons in the church hall at San Jose. Rodriguez focused on the past, present and future of the traditional quinceaneras celebration, while Castillo chose the past, present and future of Mexico's independence.

Rodriguez, combining her oral presentation with several live actors and videotape, reviewed the history of quinceaneras, which is celebrated by many Hispanic girls on their 15th birthday. The event commemorates the girls' passage from childhood into adulthood. The celebration usually includes a special Mass, a presentation of the young lady and a dance.

Rodriguez said the celebration goes back to the Mayans, Toltecs and Incas of Mexico and Central America.

Rodriguez is 1991 queen

Isabel Rodriguez, left, was named the 1991 queen of Fiestas Patrias at a special competition Saturday at San Jose Catholic Church in Hereford. At right is Teresa Castillo, the 1991 runner-up. They are flanking Rachel Alaniz, the 1990 queen who will crown Rodriguez during special ceremonies in mid-September.

The celebration in earlier times was for both boys and girls, and was usually around age 12. The event included a special ceremony to cast out evil spirits.

When Mexico was "discovered" by Spain in 1519, missionaries added to the event and converted it into a religious celebration. In time, the event became less important for boys, and the age was established at 15.

In quinceaneras in the United States, the girl is usually represented by 14 boys and 14 girls (one for every year of her age), with the girl's grandparents and godparents taking a very important role. There is a special Mass for the girl, where she re-emphasizes her religious beliefs.

In most quinceaneras in Mexico, Rodriguez said, the girl is usually accompanied only by 14 boys, with the girl representing the 15th member of the group.

Rodriguez said church officials, including Bishop Leroy Mattheisen of Amarillo, have looked at ways to make the quinceaneras more special for all children, including a revival of the event for boys.

Castillo recounted the cry for independence first raised by Father Hidalgo, a small village priest who combined action by secret groups into a national cry for independence.

Hidalgo's followers soon mounted a force of 50,000. The undermanned force, armed mainly with clubs, knives and machetes, had a modicum of success before being defeated.

The movement continue to grow, however, until Mexico's independence was finally granted in 1821.

Since, Mexico has gone through some changes, Castillo said, but has established a steady, progressive government which has attempted to maintain the culture of the past while looking toward future improvement. Mexico has also, Castillo, capitalized on the many skills, inventiveness and independence of the citizens of Mexico.

The Fiestas Patrias events are chaired by a committee including Virginia Artho, Janie Alejandre and Teresa Munoz.

County will buy house for offices

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County commissioners voted Monday to buy, for $25,000, a house and lot in the 200 block of E. Fifth for the county juvenile probation department.

After a brief executive session, the commissioners voted to buy the house from the estate of the late Viola Giles. The juvenile probation department will be moved into the building in a few weeks.

The house, with 1,450 square feet of space, will provide office space for the chief juvenile probation officer, the intensive supervision officer and a secretary.

County Judge Tom Simons said the building will require no remodeling although some air conditioning equipment will be installed. He estimates the county will spend less than $2,000 to get it ready for the offices. Funds for the purchase will come from the county's general fund, Simons said.

The juvenile probation department now is housed in rented space in a downtown office building.

Commissioners, after hearing about another county housing problem, authorized the judge to convert two offices on the ground floor for use by Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turrentine. She told commissioners about action of the 72nd Texas Legislature that is expected to have considerable impact on her office.

"Since my court now has jurisdiction in cases up to $5,000, I will need a courtroom," Judge Turrentine said. "By the time we get two lawyers, plaintiff, defendant and witnesses in my office, it's pretty crowded."

Judge Turrentine reviewed changes in court costs affecting justice of the peace courts, as enacted by the Texas Legislature.

County Clerk David Ruland reviewed new fees, also mandated by the legislature, for county courts to charge defendants.

The new fees include stiffer fines for persons driving without liability insurance or other proof of financial responsibility. A first offender will pay $175 to $350 in fines, plus other court costs. The total cost for a first conviction could be $455. A second offense carries a fine of $350 to $1,000, plus court costs, and the driver's vehicle could be impounded (at $15 a day) for up to 180 days upon conviction for a second offense.

Additional court costs will also be levied for driving while intoxicated. Added to court costs are a $25 fee going to a state rehabilitation fund and a $30 fee for breath alcohol testing. Ruland said $22.50 of the $30 fee could stay in the county if there is certified breathalyzer supervision.

Court costs for DWI defendants will be $217, before the fine is tacked on.

An extra $2.50 has been added by the state for all defendants in county court cases. That fee will go in the state's general fund.

In other business, the commission took no action on purchase of a new photocopy machine for the tax assessor's office after hearing from Margaret Perez, county tax assessor. She told commissioners that the equipment is working satisfactorily and may not need replacing.

Gorby faces uphill battle

MOSCOW (AP) - President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, facing pressure from all sides to dissolve the once-mighty Soviet empire, is trying to hold onto his ebbing power and preserve some sort of union.

The Soviet Union is without a national government, the national legislature has stripped its chairman of his post and the increasingly assertive republics are paying scant attention to Gorbachev's proposals for keeping them together.

At Monday's session of the national Supreme Soviet legislature, President Nursultan Nazarbayev of Kazakhstan declared: "The moment of truth has come today." He proposed that "independence be granted at once" to the Baltics and other republics seeking to secede.

The all-union Supreme Soviet, which was silent last week during the three days of uncertainty before the coup collapsed, was scheduled to convene for a second day of debate today.

After lawmakers voted Monday to examine how various government officials and agencies behaved in the face of the coup attempt, Gorbachev tried to seize the initiative.

He offered early presidential elections and said negotiations could begin immediately on independence for any republics that refuse to sign the treaty on preserving the union that he has long been pushing.

He also proposed strong civilian control of the military and the KGB and pledged to accelerate economic reform.

Gorbachev, long criticized by reformers for delaying meaningful reform, told legislators Monday that he is a changed man in a changed land.

He said there would be no more hesitation in implementing reform. But public leaders told him he was too late.

Indeed, the Union Treaty that was to have been signed last week no longer appeared viable in any form.

"The Supreme Soviet has failed to understand that the whole of the center has completely outlived itself. It is dead. It committed suicide," Armenian President Levon Ter-Petrosian told the national legislature.

Western nations began forging diplomatic ties with the Baltic republics of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, which were forcibly annexed in 1940.

In the Latvian capital of Riga, residents gathered up the few Danish flags they could find and mobbed the arriving Danish envoy, Otto Borch, the first ambassador to the Baltics in a half-century.

President Bush, speaking in Maine, said Washington was close to recognizing Baltic independence.

A deputy from the Moldavian republic, Deputy Konstantin Oborok, announced that his republic would vote on independence today.

Moldavia would be the seventh of the 15 republics to declare independence. Ukraine and Byelorussia, which with Russia, comprise the country's Slavic heartland, did so over the weekend.

Georgia and the Baltics had previously declared independence and have for months moved deliberately toward secession.

Uzbekistan's president, Islam Karimov, on Monday ordered the drafting of a declaration of independence and decreed that Soviet Interior Ministry troops and the KGB in the republic be transferred to his control.

Armenia is to vote on independence on Sept. 21. Even Gorbachev shifted sharply toward letting the Baltic republics go free. "Immediately after the Union Treaty is signed, negotiations must be started with those who wish to leave the union," Gorbachev said.

The Russian prime minister, Ivan Silayev, was nominated Saturday to head a task force to nominate a new Cabinet.

County eligible for home loans

Deaf Smith County residents who meet certain eligibility requirements have access to new home loans that carry interest rates about 1.5 percent lower than other types of loans.

The Panhandle Regional Housing Finance Corporation has issued $11 million in bonds to provide loan money in 19 counties and four cities in the Texas Panhandle. Deaf Smith County residents are eligible to apply.

Mike Carr, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, explained the program to Deaf Smith County commissioners court Monday.

Loans are made through participating lenders to individuals or families who have not owned their home for the past three years, Carr told the commission.

The PRHFC has reserved $3 million of the initial $11 million for "rural" areas, outside Amarillo, Carr said. The corporation may issue another $6 million in bonds later, he said.

"The loans carry an interest rate of 7.99 percent, compared with the current rate of 9.5 percent," Carr said. The fixed rate interest is applied to the 30-year mortgages.

Buyers may finance, in some cases, up to 97 percent of the purchase price. Traditional closing costs will be charged along with an application fee of $250 not charged for other types of loans.

"There is a lot of paperwork with these loans, which accounts for the $250," Carr said.

Eligibility for loans is based on gross income and family size.

Carr said further information about the program may be obtained in the Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main.

Salmonella stings cantaloupe growers

COYANOSA, Texas (AP) - Benny Hall's cantaloupe crop had endured hail and heavy rain and was fighting a fungus, but it couldn't overcome consumer fears that cantaloupe could give them food poisoning.

So with only about half of his crop harvested, and much of it still sitting in a warehouse cooler, Hall abandoned hundreds of cantaloupe growing in his field and promising to bring him thousands of dollars.

"It's history," Hall said of his crop, grown on 120 acres in this town about 300 miles southeast of El Paso. "There's people starving to death and the problem is, I'm fixin' to be one of them."

This region of Texas is known for its flavorful cantaloupe. The fruit is celebrated every year in Pecos at the annual Cantaloupe Festival.

Hall and other Texas farmers have been hit hard since the federal Centers for Disease Control reported that more than 400 people in 23 states and Canada became ill from eating cantaloupes this summer, most in June and July.

"It was irresponsible reporting," Hall said of the salmonella reports. "These are people's livelihoods."

The CDC has since said that people who purchase cantaloupe for home consumption are not at risk. But the damage already is done.

"All of that affected everybody the same," said Red Martin, a foreman at Griffin & Brand in Pecos. "All of that ruined us. You call any grower or shipper or boxer and you'll get the same thing."

Martin said Griffin & Brand likely lost at least $200,000 from the salmonella scare.

Pecos Cantaloupe, one of the area's largest producers, usually harvests and ships through the end of

"There's no way to figure the monetary impact. One hundred hands were working, they're not working. Six to eight trucks were hauling the cantaloupe, the drivers aren't working." -Larry Boykin, a buyer-seller the month, but quit soon after the report.

Last Thursday, members of the Texas Department of Agriculture were in Pecos and Reeves counties collecting melon samples for laboratory testing.

"There's no way to figure the monetary impact," said Larry Boykin, a buyer and seller for Hall. "One hundred hands were working, they're not working. Six to eight trucks were hauling the cantaloupe, the drivers aren't working. Sixty to 75 hands were in the shed, the people boxing it, the trucks that take it into Pecos, none of them are working."

Jerry Walzel, vice president of government affairs for the Texas

Citrus and Vegetable Association in Harlingen, said last week ripe cantaloupes worth $1.5 million were sitting in the fields of the Pecos region because there have been no orders for the melons since the CDC report.

Bill Weeks, executive vice president of the Texas Citrus & Vegetable Association, said there is a chance that the cantaloupe market could bounce back.

"There's time if there's still a product out there ... it won't be a normal season, there's no way," Weeks said.

State workers will fight for 3% raise

AUSTIN (AP) - Some state employees have pledged to keep fighting for a 3 percent pay raise that state officials say cannot be funded from the $59 billion state budget approved earlier this month.

The Legislature passed the employee raise contingent on Comptroller John Sharp finding the money for it.

But Andy Welch, Sharp's spokesman, said the $584 million to fund the pay hike for the next two years isn't available.

"What the Legislature did was authorize a pay raise, but yet no funds were appropriated for it," Welch said. "We have scoured the budget, and we cannot find any money for it."

Nearly 100 state workers held a protest Monday at the Capitol, saying they are facing a "desperate situation" and a falling standard of living. State employees last received a raise Sept. 1, 1989, when they were given a 5 percent pay hike.

"The 3 percent pay raise mentioned in the appropriations bill is not enough, and it's an insult that now we are having to fight desperately for crumbs," said Sylvia Meyer, president of the Texas State Employees Union.

"Today, our message is this: We've earned a pay raise, we've fought for it, we want it - where is it?"

Workers and several lawmakers said they were angered because they thought money for the raise was included in the record state budget.

"We made all kinds of false promises, and in the final analysis, the very meager 3 percent pay raise that everybody thought we were giving state employees ended up being a hoax," said Rep. Glen Maxey, D-Austin.

But the Legislature ended its second special session of the year Sunday, and Gov. Ann Richards said she may not call lawmakers back to Austin before their next regular session in 1993.

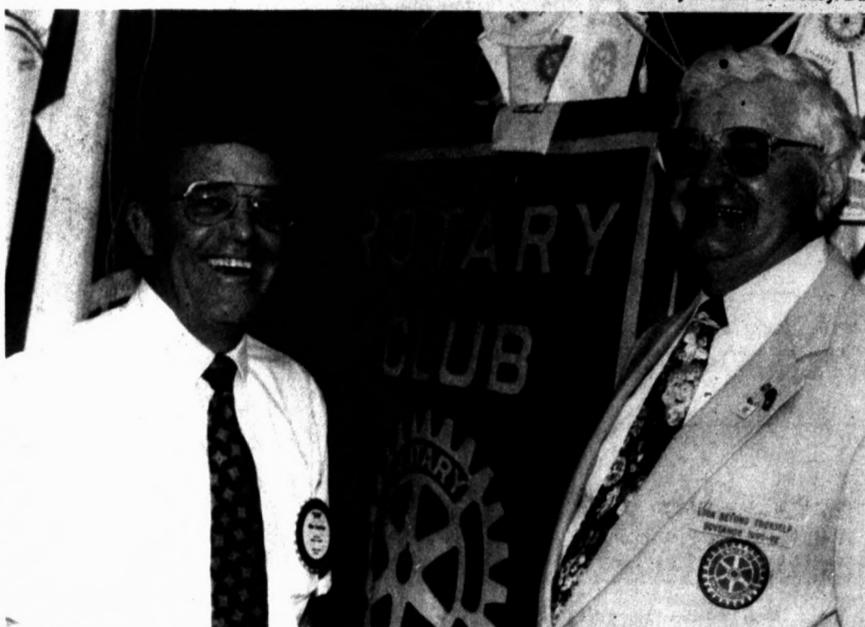

Bill Cryer, Richards' spokesman, said the governor has the power to veto certain budget items or shift funds to try to raise the money. But he said it was doubtful she could produce enough.

"That doesn't seem likely, that she could come up with the hundreds of millions of dollars that they're talking about," Cryer said.

However, Cryer said that if the economy improves, the state may collect more taxes than expected - enough for some sort of pay raise, if not the full 3 percent. He said legislators did fund increases in state employee insurance.

"It could be worse. The state employees did get their insurance covered, and that was one of their biggest demands," Cryer said. "We're sympathetic, but there is not a whole lot that they can ask (the governor) to do."

Bus line, creditors ask approval of bankruptcy reorganization

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) - Greyhound Lines Inc., the nation's only inter-city bus line, will become a public company again if a bankruptcy judge approves its $600 million reorganization plan.

Creditors have voted to support the plan, which goes before U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Richard Schmidt for final confirmation today.

Fred Currey took the company private in a 1987 leveraged buyout, payments for which became burdensome when they were added to costs of a drivers' strike that began in March 1990.

Creditors will hold 95 percent of the equity in the company when it emerges from bankruptcy. The company's plan also trims $171 million in debt and several subsidiaries.

The union representing the more than 6,300 drivers opposes the company's restructuring and pending emergence from Chapter 11. It is likely to appeal confirmation.

Last week, the Amalgamated Transit Union argued to Schmidt for delay of the confirmation hearing to give more time for a Dallas investment group to prepare a purchase offer for Greyhound.

The union and investment group, led by Richmond Corp. and former Greyhound chairman James Kerrigan, had struck an agreement to bring the strikers back to work.

In denying the union's request for a delay, Schmidt said the labor agreement was the only requirement of Dallas-based Greyhound's bankruptcy case met by the investors.

The company's reorganization plan places back-pay claims of striking drivers near the bottom of those against the company.

The union and National Labor Relations Board contend striking drivers are owed back pay of more than $120 million. But Schmidt has discounted the back-pay claim to $31.5 million.

In a related case, the union and NLRB have complained to a Milwaukee administrative law judge that Greyhound illegally forced the strike by declaring an impasse in contract talks. Hearings before that judge resume Sept. 10.

Greyhound filed bankruptcy in June 1990, citing costs from the strike that began three months earlier. The company has since hired replacement drivers and posted two profitable quarters.

Greyhound earned $8.96 million on revenue of $182 million during the second quarter. For the first half of the year, the company earned $1.2 million on revenue of $347.3 million. Bankruptcy-related costs to the company were $9.86 million during the six months.

BusLease Inc., a leasing affiliate of Greyhound, emerged from bankruptcy earlier this month. The company filed for Chapter 11 reorganization at the same time as its parent. Its $250 million debt reorganization involved many of the same creditors but was separated from Greyhound's in March.

Spikers take second at Lubbock tourney

The Hereford volleyball team took second place in the Lubbock Invitational volleyball tournament over the weekend, falling to tournament host Coronado 5-15, 15-4, 10-15 in the finals Saturday.

On the way to the finals, Hereford beat two teams from District 1-4A: Randall and defending state champion Dumas.

Though Hereford had little trouble with Randall, winning 15-1, 15-11, Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said the Lady Raiders had improved from last year.

"They're strides ahead of where they were at this time last year," she said.

Hereford breezed through with Brek Binder getting nine service points and Teresa Baker getting seven, including two aces. Shantel Cornelius had four kills and seven stuffs.

Hereford was able to beat Dumas, Reeh said, by doing a good job of moving the hitting around.

The Lady Whitefaces kept the Demonettes blocking off-guard by starting out hitting with Binder and Cornelius in the middle and, when the blockers tried to adjust, went to Jennifer Hicks, Lori Sanders and Kyanne Lindley outside. Binder finished with 14 kills, with Cornelius right behind at 13. Sanders added five kills, Hicks had four and Lindley had two.

"We did a good job of seeing the court. We didn't try to power the ball; we placed it," Reeh said.

"We went out there just glad we were getting to play a team the caliber of Dumas. We've been working on skills and trying to take the emotion out of it. We've had some heartbreaking games with Dumas, so it's hard to take the emotion out of it."

Baker led the defense with 10 passes to setter and seven digs, and Lindley added nine passes.

In the finals, Coronado and Hereford each won a one-sided game to start out. In the third game, Hereford led 9-6 at one point, but the Mustangs clawed back for the win.

"We started flat and played catch-up most of the way," Reeh said. "We allowed them to hit around our blocks. We had balls go into our backcourt and fall untouched. We can't do that and expect to win."

Cornelius had 10 kills in the finals, along with three stuffs. Binder added five kills, and Sanders and Hicks each had four. On defense, Lindley and Angie Jowell each had seven passes to setter, while Binder had 11 digs, Sanders had seven and Cornelius had six.

Herd wins Monday

The Lady Whitefaces went to Brownfield Monday and came away with a 15-3, 15-6 victory. Hereford's junior varsity and freshman teams also won in Brownfield Monday.

Varsity coach Brenda Reeh said the Cubettes had improved since the scrimmage between the two teams Aug. 19.

"They were much improved," Reeh said. "They played much stronger offensively and defensively."

Brek Binder led the Lady Whitefaces with 10 service points, including two aces, and Teresa Baker added nine points, including an ace.

Despite the problems in the finals, Reeh said she was pleased with the Lady Whitefaces' performance overall.

"My main objective was to play some tough teams," she said. "We're starting out the strongest we've been since I've been coaching here. We'll be pretty tough if we all do our jobs."

The rest of District 1-4A also did well in the tournament. Dumas went on to claim third place, beating Lamesa 15-11, 15-0.

Pampa won consolation, fighting past Lubbock Dunbar, Andrews and El Paso Bowie in the losers' bracket.

Randall and Borger both made the winners' bracket, but they had to face Hereford and Dumas, respectively, in the first round. Caprock was the district's only team which didn't go to Lubbock.

Binder had five kills, but Shantel Cornelius led with six. She also had two stuffs and two aces.

Jennifer Hicks chipped in four kills, Erin Bullard had two kills and Lori Sanders had a kill and an ace.

The junior varsity team overcame a slow start to win 6-15, 15-7, 15-11.

"They were passive at first. I had to get on 'em," JV coach Jill Harrison said. "Then they got rolling and it was a lot of fun."

The freshmen won 15-9, 15-6 under the direction of new coach Bret Stegall.

In the trenches

Two linemen go at it facemask-to-facemask during football drills Monday. The Herd is preparing for its scrimmage against Amarillo, which will be at 7 p.m. Friday at Randall High School. The same day, the freshmen will scrimmage in Hereford at 5 p.m. and the sophomores and junior varsity will scrimmage at Bonham Elementary School in Amarillo, also at 5.

Trio goes for track records

TOKYO (AP) - Michael Johnson, Merlene Ottey and Samuel Matete shared a common goal: a crack at both a gold medal and a world record in the World Track and Field Championships.

The three stars set out for both goals today as the championships moved into the fourth of eight days of competition.

Matete was closer to the target, having made it to the final of the men's 400-meter hurdles. The star from Zambia was the sensation of the season in the event with a best of 47.10 seconds, just off the world record of 47.02 by two-time Olympic champion Edwin Moses.

Matete says he can break 47 seconds, reviving Africa's tradition in the low hurdles 20 years after world record holder John Akii-Bua of Uganda. The Zambian hurdler has defeated the leading American, Danny Harris, in major track meets this season.

Johnson and Ottey faced two rounds of competition to reach the gold. So far, they have dominated their events in an impressive way.

Ottey set the fastest time in the first two rounds of the women's 100 meters, 10.89, although running under no pressure and looking around in her final strides.

The Jamaican sprinter holds a string of 56 wins in the 100 since 1987, in addition to another streak of 36 consecutive finals in the 200 since 1989.

Her ambitious goal is the world record of 10.49 by Florence Griffith-Joyner of the United States. If properly pushed by other competitors, she was given a fair chance of doing it.

Johnson coasted to an easy 20.05 win in the second round of the men's 200 meters, standing up and slowing down halfway down the homestretch. None of the other competitors has come near to that time.

Krickstein upsets Agassi

NEW YORK (AP) - Forget flamboyant and fancy, and by the way, Andre Agassi, as well, in the U.S. Open. Stuck instead with staid and sturdy, the Pete Sampras basic white look.

Sampras and Agassi, contrasting finalists in the Open a year ago, began this year's tournament Monday and continued heading in different directions.

Defending champion Sampras, a splash of color across the right breast of his otherwise traditional white outfit, defeated Christo van Rensburg 6-0, 6-3, 6-2.

Agassi, resplendent in trendy black and white with red piping and his customary hair band, lost 7-5, 7-6 (7-3), 6-2 to Aaron Krickstein. The sweep stretched Agassi's Open losing streak to six straight sets, three in a row for the title against Sampras and three more against Krickstein.

It marked the first time since 1986 that a previous year's finalist washed out in the first round the following year. John McEnroe was the victim that time.

McEnroe almost was a secondary casualty of Agassi's loss. Anticipating a long match between Krickstein and Agassi, McEnroe decided to get something to eat. The next thing he knew, Agassi was out and Mac was on center court against Glenn Layendecker, trailing 3-0.

Other seeded players advanced routinely in the first day of the two-week tournament. Defending women's champion Gabriela Sabatini, seeded No. 3, was down 4-1 in the first set against Nicole Provis before recovering for a 7-6, 6-3 victory.

No. 1 seed Steffi Graf opened with a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Andrea Temesvari, and No. 2 Monica Seles celebrated her return to Grand Slam tennis with a 6-2, 6-0 rout of Nicole Arendt.

Jennifer Capriati, seeded No. 7, opened with a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Eva Pfaff and summed up the feelings of the favorites. "There's more interest with first-round upsets," she said. "But I don't mind how it went today."

Saberhagen gets no-hitter

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

By now, almost all of us have seen the play that saved Bret Saberhagen's no-hitter. So was it a hit or an error?

Dan Pasqua thought he deserved a hit, and the scoreboard operator at Royals Stadium thought so, too. But Kirk Gibson thought he committed an error, and the official scorer, whose opinion was the only one that counted, agreed.

That resolved, sort of, Saberhagen went back to business. The two-time Cy Young winner finished the first no-hitter of his career and the seventh of the season, pitching the Royals past the White Sox 7-0.

"Now I know how Nolan (Ryan) feels like," Saberhagen said. "I realize what I've accomplished and it's something I'll always look back on."

In other games, the Blue Jays beat the Orioles 5-2 and the Tigers defeated the Angels 5-1, leaving the winners tied for first place in the AL East. And, the Twins beat the Indians 5-3 to take an eight-game lead in the AL West, their biggest edge of the season.

The White Sox lost their seventh straight game. Saberhagen, meanwhile, almost lost his no-hitter in the fifth inning.

With one out, Pasqua sliced a long liner over Gibson's head in left field. Gibson ran back toward the alley, jumped at the front edge of the warning track and the ball grazed off his glove as Pasqua pulled into second base.

Royals manager Hal McRae preferred not to talk about the play.

"It's something we shouldn't talk about. He pitched a no-hitter. The less said the better," he said.

Saberhagen (10-6) struck out five and walked two.

Todd Benzinger drove in three runs as the Royals beat Charlie Hough (7-8).

Red Sox 3, Athletics 0

Roger Clemens pitched a three-hitter and struck out 10, leading Boston over Oakland.

Clemens (13-8) walked one and won for just the second time in 10 starts since the All-Star break. He improved to 5-0 lifetime against Mike Moore (12-8).

The Red Sox had lost three in a row. The host Athletics have dropped four straight.

Tigers 5, Angels 1

Mark Leiter stretched Detroit's winning streak to seven games as the Tigers spoiled the managerial debut of the Angels' Buck Rodgers. In the afternoon, Rodgers took over when Doug Rader was fired.

Leiter (7-2) gave up seven hits in six innings and Dan Gakeler finished for his second save.

Lou Whitaker and Travis Fryman each had three hits for the Tigers. Joe Grahe (1-6) has lost all six starts this season.

Blue Jays 5, Orioles 2

Jimmy Key (13-9) got his 100th career victory in snapping a personal three-game losing streak. He gave up two runs in six innings and joined Dave Stieb and Jim Clancy as Blue Jays with 100 victories.

Reliever Mike Timlin struck out five in two innings and Tom Henke pitched the ninth for his 30th save.

Devon White homered off Dave Johnson (4-5) as Toronto won for the third time in four games.

Twins 5, Indians 3

Kevin Tapani (12-7) won his seventh straight decision as the Twins improved to 8-0 against the Indians this season.

Shane Mack, Brian Harper and Kirby Puckett homered for the Twins.

Tapani, who gave up two runs and six hits in eight innings, is 10-1 in his last 16 starts. Rick Aguilera pitched the ninth for his 34th save.

Dave Otto (1-4) allowed five runs and 10 hits in eight innings.

Rangers 10, Yankees 2

Rafael Palmeiro, Kevin Reimer, Geno Petralli and Julio Franco each homered as the Rangers won at Yankee Stadium.

Reimer hit a solo homer, Palmeiro and Franco hit two-run drives and Petralli added a three-run shot.

Kevin Brown (9-10) gave up five hits in eight innings. Eric Plunk (2-3) left after Petralli connected.

Mariners 5, Brewers 4

Greg Briley's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the 14th inning ended the Mariners' six-game losing streak and stopped the Brewers' five-game winning streak.

Dodgers, Braves rally to wins

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

With the Braves trailing the Expos 7-1, it was almost certain there would be no celebrating this night in the Atlanta clubhouse.

Then the Braves rallied and it appeared they would end a season-long quest for a share of the lead in the National League West. The front-running Dodgers were losing 3-0 at Chicago.

After the Braves had won 14-9 and the cheers died down, there was a buzz of anticipation as a small crowd of 12,889 filed out of Atlanta Fulton County Stadium realizing they were about to get good news.

But the Dodgers rallied for four runs at Chicago, precluding a party in the parking lot.

This is a pennant race.

"We'd have liked to see the Dodgers lose," said Jeff Blauser, whose first career grand slam keyed Atlanta's comeback from a six-run deficit in the fifth inning. "It would have been a great motivational factor, but it's still too early to worry about what the Dodgers do."

Dave Justice, getting warmed up after a long stay on the disabled list, agreed with that reasoning.

"But we've got lots of time left," said Justice, whose two-run homer in the sixth put the Braves ahead to stay.

Atlanta rookie Mark Wohlers (1-0) pitched two scoreless innings, allowing one hit while striking out two and walking two. Bill Sampen (6-4), who relieved Montreal starter Chris Haney following Blauser's slam, took the loss.

Elsewhere, it was Cincinnati 5, Philadelphia 4; San Diego 7, Pittsburgh 5 in 10 innings; St. Louis 7, San Francisco 6, and New York 6, Houston 4 in 10 innings.

Dodgers 4, Cubs 3

Juan Samuel had a decisive two-run double as the Dodgers did all their scoring in the ninth inning at Wrigley Field.

Mike Scioscia led off the inning with a single and advanced to second when Lenny Harris reached on a throwing error by third baseman Chico Walker. Pinch-hitter Dave Hansen grounded out to advance the runners and bring on Chuck McElroy (5-2) in relief of Rick Stultieff.

Reliever Jim Gott (3-3) pitched one-hit ball over two innings. Jay Howell got the final three batters for his 14th save.

Padres 7, Pirates 5

Tony Gwynn's two-run homer off Bob Kipper won the game in the 10th inning after Jack Howell's two-out pinch single tied it in the ninth.

Gwynn's homer followed Tony Fernandez's one-out single off Bill Landrum (1-4). Kipper then replaced Landrum and promptly allowed his sixth homer in 50 2-3 innings.

Craig Lefferts (1-5) pitched the final two innings for his first victory since Sept. 15, 1990.

Cardinals 7, Giants 6

Ozzie Smith's two-run homer keyed an early Cardinal burst, helping surging St. Louis withstand two homers and five RBIs by Will Clark.

Mets 6, Astros 4

Mackey Sasser had three hits, including a 10th-inning double that drove in the decisive run at the Astrodome.

John Franco (3-7) pitched two scoreless innings. Dwayne Henry (3-2) allowed the Mets' 10th-inning runs.

State champ

Delbert Davis shows off the saddle he won in Abilene for being the year-end steer-wrestling champion of the Texas Cowboys' Rodeo Association.

Steer wrestler Davis earns trip to El Paso

Delbert Davis of Hereford became the year-end champion steer wrestler of the Texas Cowboys' Rodeo Association after a fine performance at the year-end finals this past weekend in Abilene.

In addition to getting the state title and a trophy saddle, Davis gets to move on to the Coors World Finals in October in El Paso. Davis said that cowboys come from all over the nation and the world for this event.

"Every state (in the U.S.) sends their top three to it," Davis said. "They also come from Australia, Mexico and Canada."

Davis had accumulated enough prize money at various rodeos since April to put him in the running for the three available berths to the World Finals. He was among the top 15 money-winners who tested their skills in Abilene Taylor County Fairgrounds Coliseum.

For each of the 15, the prize money at the Abilene rodeo would be added on to the money accumulated during the rest of the season, and the three top money-winners would advance to El Paso.

In his first two tries in Abilene, Davis didn't do too well. He missed his first steer, then had a time of 4.8 seconds in the second go-round—good, but not good enough to place.

"It came down to where I had to win the last go-round to win it for the year," he said.

He did win, with a time of 4.2 seconds.

Two other Hereford cowboys placed in steer wrestling at Abilene, according to Davis.

Tom Fellhauer was second in the second go-round with a time of 4.1; fourth in the third go-round in 5.0; and second in average with a total of 13.9 on three steers.

Shawn McConnell won the first go-round with a 4.3 time. In addition, Davis said, McConnell's horse and Davis' horse were picked in a tie as the best steer wrestling horses by a vote of all the steer wrestlers.

In the first 115 runnings of the Kentucky Derby, the favorite in the betting finished last on five occasions.

The 1970 Kentucky Derby winner, Dust Commander, was bred in Illinois, the only Derby winner from that state.

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: I am on vacation, but I have left behind some of my favorite columns that you may have missed the first time around. I hope you enjoy them. — Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I don't want you to think we're a bunch of crazy kids, but seven of us -- 15 to 17 years of age -- were sitting around last night comparing our belly buttons.

Four of the guys had belly buttons that were recessed. One girl and two guys had belly buttons that stuck out. We all agreed that ones that stuck out were quite ugly. No one knew the reason for the difference and we were wondering if anything could be done to change a belly button once it was there. The girl with the ugly one said she might want to be a belly dancer and her "imperfection" could be an occupational hazard.

Will you please give us some information on this subject? -- Students of Anatomy

DEAR STUDENTS: Things must be pretty dull in your crowd if you have to sit around comparing belly buttons. But people have been contemplating their navels for quite some time and your questions sound like an honest search for information.

The belly button is what is left of the cord that linked you to your mother before you were born. The prettiest ones are neatly rounded and slightly sunken. The protruding kind somehow did not close deeply enough, but no harm was done.

It is possible to have a surgeon beautify a navel if a person wants to go through the expense, time and trouble, but it's hardly worth it -- even for an aspiring belly dancer.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband was first married when he was 17. After seven months, the marriage was annulled. The other night, on his 29th birthday, we were celebrating in a cocktail lounge with five other couples. Out of the blue my husband made this statement: "I have never loved any woman in all my life the way I loved the chick I first married. If she walked in here this minute and asked me to go with her, I would do it."

I was so shattered by that remark I dissolved into tears. My husband leaned toward me and said softly, "I love you very much, but there is something about a first love that never can be duplicated." He then added, "She is 2,200 miles away and I'll never see her again, so please don't cry."

His brother's wife tried to make me feel better by saying, "Forget it. He's on an ego trip." What do you think, Ann? -- Glad She's in Texas

DEAR GLAD: Your husband's remark under any circumstances was thoughtless and unkind. After how many martinis did he come up with that beaut? I suggest lemonade for your next celebration.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are a middle-class family with two children in college. Our third child will be attending within two years, which means we will be working almost exclusively to educate our children.

They've had summer jobs and saved money since they were 16. They also work on campus. They have partial scholarships, but still the transportation and extras keep us strapped.

Do you believe college tuition should be tax deductible? If you do, will you say so? -- Mr. and Mrs. USA

DEAR MR. AND MRS.: I do indeed believe college tuition should be tax deductible and I have no hesitation about saying so.

Is that Ann Landers column you clipped years ago yellow with age? For a copy of her most frequently requested poems and essays, send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.87.)

Supermarkets promote lunch items

Texas consumers will find special sales on foods for school lunches sandwiched among an array of September supermarket promotions.

Dr. Dick Edwards of College Station, a food marketing expert with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said food retailers will discount a number of foods suitable for school lunches, football season snacks and other fall activities.

"Advances in food technologies are changing the look and taste of school lunches," Edwards said. "Shelf-stable, microwavable foods that require no refrigeration are ideal for lunches. Increased production has resulted in lower prices and a greater variety."

Created especially for school lunches have been spaghetti, beef stew and chili food products. These will be featured as specials at less than $1 per unit, Edwards continued.

"Juices, packed in boxes, will be a companion school lunch sale item," he said. All ingredients will be on sale for the traditional school lunch of sandwiches, chips, cookies and fruit.

Besides sales on school lunch items, prices also will be slashed after mid-September on any remaining school supplies.

"Since children always need pencils, pens, papers and folders through the year, these items should be bought while on sale and doled out as they are needed," he recommended.

Produce will be in a transitional stage in September, with apples topping the list of newly harvested fruit arriving in large supply. Prices, Edwards said, will be lower than they have been for quite some time.

"Best buys will be on bags of apples weighing three and five pounds," Edwards said. "Although a bit small, these apples are excellent for school lunches."

Other items that will increase in supply during the month as harvests gain momentum are grapes, white potatoes and sweet potatoes. Also on special will be artichokes, avocados, broccoli, cantaloupes, cauliflower, plums and honey melons.

Edwards said a shift in merchandising patterns for red meat and poultry will occur in September.

"Beef prices, in general, will remain higher for consumers despite declining prices at the feedlot," he predicted. "But discounted items will shift from cuts of steaks to roasts and items used in stews and casseroles. Shoulder roasts, chuck roasts, stew meat and ground chuck will be on sale."

Edwards said pork products to be merchandised heavily are bacon, sausage and pork roasts.

"At the poultry counter, sales will continue to follow the advertisements seen all summer, with more frequent sales of whole birds," he said. "Consumption patterns show that households tend to prepare more fried and baked chicken in the fall."

An intense marketing effort using discounted prices will be made to increase purchases of turkey bacon, Edwards said.

As the weather gets cooler, people tend to eat more seafood. "Look for sales on fresh shrimp as the shrimping season advances," he said. "Prices will be best on shrimp of medium size. Retailers also will use canned tuna as an advertised item, and prices can be expected in the 49-cent range."

Prices on catfish fillets and whole fish will decline as catfish producers intensify efforts to increase their business, Edwards predicted.

For football enthusiasts, foods that can be consumed while watching games will be on special. Sales will focus on soft drinks, chips and dips, cheese, pizza and popcorn.

For celebrations of Rosh Hashanah, Jewish New Year, food items to be discounted include poultry, sausages and wieners.

It's believed the word brat meaning "child" comes from the Welsh breth meaning baby clothes.

CORRECTION

The Thursday feature "Now Your Cooking" in the Brand featured Mintie Hall. Two of Hall's recipes were incorrect. The Brand regrets the error and the inconvenience it may have caused. Below are the corrected recipes.

Rolls

- 2 cups water
- 1/2 cup crisco
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 5 1/2-6 cups flour
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 packages of yeast

Take 1/2 cup of water and set aside and dissolve the yeast in it. Next beat the eggs and water, salt, sugar and crisco to yeast. Slowly add three cups of flour and stir well. Add two more cups of flour to the mixture and stir well. Use the remaining flour on the dough board. Put the mixture in a greased pan and let rise for 30 minutes. After the mixture has risen, place it in the refrigerator over night. Work the dough down and roll it out on a dough board. Cut the dough in 3/4 inch slices and use a cutter to make the rolls. Place in greased pan and let rise for three hours and bake in a 400 degree oven until brown.

The instructions for the Chess Pie recipe were also incorrect. The cake is done when a knife inserted into the middle comes out clean. The recipe also calls for 3/4 cup oleo, not 1 3/4 cup.

Shenandoah concert set

Shenandoah will appear in concert at the 1991 Amarillo Tri State Fair on Sept. 18 at 8 p.m.

In a short amount of time the five-man group, Shenandoah, has earned the reputation as the "hardest working band in country music," due to the 300 plus days spent on the road last year.

Their hard work paid off when the Nashville Network Viewers Choice Awards voted them Favorite Newcomers, and Cashbox readers named them as Country Vocal Group of the Year.

Shenandoah's second album, "The Road Not Taken," yielded a Top 10, two Top Fives and three number one singles with such hits as "Mama Knows," "Church on Cumberland Road," "Sunday in the South," "Two Dozen Roses" and "See If I Care." More recent Top 10 releases are "Next to You, Next to Me," and

"Moon Over Georgia."

Reserved box seats for Shenandoah are $12.50 and general admission tickets are priced at $10. Purchase tickets in advance for free admission to the fairgrounds on the day of the show. Mail orders are being accepted now and should be sent to Tri State Fair, P.O. Box 31087, Amarillo, Texas 79120-1087. Add $1 for postage and handling.

GOLDEN PLAINS CARE CENTER POLICY IN ACCORDANCE WITH TITLE VI OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

It is the policy of Golden Plains Care Center to admit and to treat all residents without regard to race, color, or national origin. The same requirements for admission are applied to all and residents are assigned without regard to race, color, or national origin. There is no distinction in eligibility for or in the manner of providing any resident service provided by the agency or by others in or outside of the agency. All facilities of the agency are available without distinction and rules of courtesy are uniformly applied to all regardless of race, color, or national origin. All persons or organizations having occasion either to refer residents for admission or to recommend Golden Plains Care Center must do so without regard to the resident's race, color, or national origin.

IN ACCORDANCE WITH SECTION 504 OF THE REHABILITATION ACT OF 1973 Golden Plains Care Center will not, directly or through contractual or other arrangements, discriminate on the basis of handicap in admissions, access, or treatment.
IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE AGE DISCRIMINATION ACT OF 1975 Golden Plains Care Center will not, directly, or through contractual or other arrangements, discriminate on the basis of age in the provision of services. Golden Plains Care Center is an Equal Opportunity and manages employment and employee relations practices without regard to race, color, national origin, sex, religion, or handicapped status.

Woman wanted both mother and daughter killed

HOUSTON (AP) - A Channelview woman angered that her daughter had twice missed out on being a cheerleader was willing to kill to get the girl on the high school squad, the woman's former brother-in-law said.

Terry Lynn Harper, who continues testifying today in the prosecution's case against Wanda Webb Holloway, says his former sister-in-law initially wanted both Verna Heath and her daughter, Amber Heath, killed. But Harper, who has been convicted of at least seven offenses, said he was unsure he could find anyone to kill the girl.

"I said I'd look into it for her, but I don't know anyone who would kill a 13-year-old girl," Harper testified Monday as the trial opened. "She said, 'There's car wrecks; houses burn down.' I said, 'Yeah, but not on purpose.'"

Mrs. Holloway, 37, is charged with trying to have Mrs. Heath, 38, kidnapped or murdered. Prosecutors say the plot was designed to make Amber Heath so distraught she would drop out of cheerleader competitions in February, giving Shanna Harper, Mrs. Holloway's daughter, a better shot at making the team.

"She kept saying, 'I hate this girl,'" Harper, 36, testified. "I hate her mother. I want to get rid of her, too. I want these people done away with."

Defense attorneys contend Harper joined Mrs. Holloway's ex-husband and his brother, Tony Harper, in a scam to gain custody of Shanna and her brother, Anthony Shane Harper.

"Why would Terry Harper do this? Because he was the black sheep in the family. His way to get back in the good graces of his brother was to call and say, 'I've got a way for you to get your children back,'" said defense attorney Troy McKinney.

1980. Since Mrs. Holloway's arrest on Jan. 30, Tony Harper has been awarded joint custody of the children.

Terry Lynn Harper, a key witness for the prosecution, said Mrs. Holloway first approached him about the plan last fall, but he began tape recording their conversations for police in January.

"She asked me what I would do. I said you could get one of these Colombian drug lords and have her taken to Colombia and have her sold into white slavery," Harper said as courtroom spectators giggled.

Harper said Holloway asked how much that would cost, and when she expressed surprise at his estimate of up to $20,000, he recalled telling her, "Lady, this ain't no five-and-dime burglary; this is a federal offense."

Harper testified he contacted police in the Houston suburb about the plot because "I wanted to cover me. If anything happened to this woman or little girl, I wanted them to have heard it from me, first."

Harris County Sheriff's Detective George Helton, who set up the meetings, testified that Harper and Mrs. Holloway met three times between Jan. 10 and Jan. 28. Helton said Harper gave him five tapes, a pair of diamond earrings valued at $2,200 and a savings account record from Mrs. Holloway's bank.

Verna Heath testified Monday that she was startled to hear about the murder-for-hire plot, but said Mrs. Holloway's jealousy did not surprise her. The families have been acquainted since the girls were in kindergarten.

"When they told me her name, I said, 'Does this have anything to do with cheerleading?' because it all kind of fell into place," Mrs. Heath said.

Amber Heath is on the Falcons' cheerleading squad this year. Shanna is not on the team.

Poverty rate up for children

WASHINGTON (AP) - Poverty rates among Latino children are growing faster than among other youngsters despite the fact that their parents are more likely to be married and working, the Children's Defense Fund says.

"There is this idea in this country that we could solve the problem of child poverty if only these single women would get married," said Letitia Miranda, an analyst for the fund and author of a report on the Latino poor.

"But what you see is that among many Latino families with children, they are married and they are still poor," Miranda said Monday. "So the idea that marriage will solve poverty is not true."

"The idea that the child poverty problem can be solved through a greater adherence to traditional family values ignores the reality of pervasive poverty among Latino married-couple families," Miranda said.

"Many Latino children are poor despite their parents' best efforts to pull their families out of poverty and despite the fact that they are 'playing by the rules,'" said Miranda. "Even more than non-Latino poor children, poor Latino children often have both parents in the home and at least one parent working fulltime year-round."

She said this is even more true of immigrant Latinos than of those born in the United States.

The fund, a private group that advocates increased government help for poor children, said 36.2 percent of Latino children were poor in 1989, the latest year for which data are available. It said the figures were 43.7 percent for blacks and 11.5 percent for non-Latino whites.

For a family of four in 1989, the government's poverty threshold was an annual income of $12,675. For a family of nine, it was $25,480. The Census Bureau adjusts the figures each year to account for inflation, and does not count non-cash benefits such as food stamps.

The report said more than half of poor Latino families with children had a head of household who worked at least part of the year.

It said the proportion of poor children living in married-couple families was 56.6 percent for Mexican-Americans, 48.3 percent for Latinos as a whole and 34.9 percent for all non-Latinos.

Other highlights of the report: -More than 1 million Latino children were added to the ranks of poor children in the United States between 1979 and 1989, making up nearly half of the total increase in the number of poor children.

-There are 7.2 million Latino children in the United States, representing 11 percent of the country's child population. By 1989, 2.6 million of them were poor.

-More than two-thirds of poor Latino heads of family do not have a high school diploma, compared with less than half of poor white and black family heads.

-The rate of labor force participation for Hispanic men is 84.1 percent, compared with 77.8 percent for non-Hispanic whites and 73.8 percent for blacks. However, just over half of married women in the Latino community worked in 1989, compared with 57 percent for whites and 64 percent for blacks.

Johnson: Cowboys may carry three QB's

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Jimmy Johnson says it would be "beneficial" if the Dallas Cowboys could carry three quarterbacks.

Which should be good news for Cliff Stoudt and Bill Musgrave, who were cut Monday.

With Sunday's trade for Steve Beuerlein as the primary backup quarterback for Troy Aikman, 12-year veteran Stoudt and rookie Bill Musgrave, a fourth-round draft pick from Oregon, were asked to clean out their lockers.

One of them could be back as insurance today, depending on waiver wire claims.

Under NFL rules, each club may identify one player (a 46th player) on its two-man inactive list who will dress for the game provided that the player is a quarterback and that the club has only two quarterbacks on its 45-player list. Coach Johnson could reinstate Stoudt or Musgrave to the inactive roster if they aren't claimed.

"I'm 36 and Beuerlein is 26 so you see a trend developing there," Stoudt said. "They had told me I was the backup. I'm not very happy."

Stoudt completed only 5 of 19 passes against Atlanta on Friday night to put his backup spot in jeopardy. On Sunday, the Cowboys obtained Beuerlein from the Los Angeles Raiders in exchange for what is expected to be a fourth-round pick in 1992.

Other veterans felt the knife. The Cowboys also cut safeties Vince Albritton, an eight-year veteran, and Stan Smagala, a 1990 fifth-round pick; kick returner and wide receiver James Dixon, a three-year veteran; and wide receiver Derrick Shepard, a four-year veteran. Dixon had been impressive in preseason return kickoffs.

Other cuts included fullback Reginald Warmley, a free agent; defensive back Odie Harris, a free agent; offensive linemen Freddie Childress, a free agent from Arkansas, and sixth-round draft pick Mike Sullivan of Miami; tight end Craig Hudson, a Plan B free agent from Green Bay; and guard James Richards, a third-round draft pick from California. Veteran defensive lineman Dean Hamel was placed on injured reserve and will be out for the season.

The Cowboys plan to bring several players back for the developmental squad if they pass through the league on waivers and Stoudt could be one of them.

"You never know," Stoudt said. "Everything is day to day in this league."

The youth-oriented Cowboys kept 11 rookies, led by defensive tackle Russell Maryland of Miami, the top pick in the draft.

Other rookies making the team included wide receiver Alvin Harper of Tennessee, a late first-round pick; running backs Curvin Richards of Pittsburgh, a fourth-round pick and Ricky Blake, a free agent who played for the San Antonio Riders of the World League of American Football; defensive back Larry Brown of Texas Christian, a 12th-round pick; linebackers Dixon Edwards of Michigan State, a second-round pick, Darrick Brownlow of Illinois, a fifth-round pick, and Godfrey Myles, a third-round pick from Florida; defensive end Tony Hill of Tennessee-Chattanooga, a fourth-round pick; offensive tackle Erik Williams of Central State (Ohio), a third-round pick, and Leon Lett of Emporia State, a defensive lineman who was a seventh-round selection. "We're going to be a young team this year and when a team is young and talented you have to be patient," Johnson said. "There are a lot of Sundays we'll be happy and some when we'll be disappointed."

It's not the most rookies ever kept in one year by the Cowboys. In 1975, coach Tom Landry kept 12 rookies, who were tabbed "The Dirty Dozen." The Cowboys eventually got to the Super Bowl that year but lost to Pittsburgh 21-17.

Kinard among waived Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) - Former starting safety Terry Kinard, who didn't want to take a pay cut if he lost his starting job, is no longer with the Houston Oilers.

Kinard was among the players cut by the Oilers Monday as the team reduced its roster to 47 players.

Others cut Monday included kick returner Gerald McNeil, reserve quarterback Reggie Slack center Eric Norgard, safety John Hagy and offensive linemen Scott Thomas and Joey Banes.

The seven cuts reduced the roster to 47 players, not counting unsigned starters, running back Lorenzo White, defensive end Sean Jones and punter Greg Montgomery.

That means nine of Houston's 13 selections in the April NFL draft remained on the team. A 10th draft pick, wide receiver Shawn Jefferson, went to San Diego in a trade that brought defensive lineman Lee Williams to the Oilers.

Kinard, a free agent signee from the New York Giants last season, walked out of training camp for two days in a dispute over his contract after balking over the pay cut proposal.

Bo Orlando was named the Oilers' starting free safety last week, putting Kinard in a reserve role and Mike Dumas, the second round draft pick from Indiana, will be his backup.

Running back Gary Brown, an eighth round pick from Penn State, was impressive throughout the preseason and apparently earned a spot on the team along with 12th round pick Alex Johnson, a wide receiver who was a backup running back for the Miami Hurricane last season.

Other rookies on the roster Monday were cornerbacks Darryll Lewis, Steve Jackson and Marcus Robertson; offensive linemen John Flannery and Kevin Donalley and defensive tackle David Rocker.

Norgard had been projected as a center but was sidelined most of training camp by an injury.

McNeil, disappointing as a kick returner last season, missed the last three preseason games because of an injury. McNeil's departure was hastened by the progress of Pat Coleman.

Starter Warren Moon and Cody Carlson are the remaining quarterbacks with the departure of Slack.

The Oilers open the season in the Astrodome Sunday against the Los Angeles Raiders.

Cardinals dump Manley

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

The Bucs tried during training camp to trade with the Cardinals for Dexter Manley.

Now that the Cardinals have cut the former All-Pro defensive end, who is trying to make a comeback after missing a year for a substance-abuse violation, will the Bucs sign him?

Who knows? It's part of the intrigue that surrounds the cutdown by NFL teams to the regular-season roster limit of 47.

"It's like playing poker," Denver coach Dan Reeves said after he made his cuts Monday. "You're trying not to show your hand. You've got to bluff somewhat."

In fact, the NFL's unkindest day can often be something of a ruse. Older big-name players are released for a day by teams knowing that other clubs won't pick up their big-time salaries. Younger players are released for a day by teams that hope it would take them too long to pick up a rival's system.

Then they come back - after the 47-man roster is set and players who need to be brought back are placed on injured reserve. If they're put on injured reserve Monday, they're out for the year.

"We'll take our shot and see what happens," said Redskins coach Joe Gibbs, who acknowledged he hopes to bring back 30-year-old Gerald Riggs, who was cut Monday. Gibbs acknowledged that he hoped that Riggs' $1 million-plus salary, his age and his injury history would work in Washington's favor.

"If Doug makes it through, we'll bring him back," coach John Robinson of the Rams said after releasing six-time Pro Bowl center Doug Smith.

A lot of veterans who went on Monday may not be back.

"The toughest decisions I have to make are always with veterans that have contributed to the success we've had in the past," said Miami coach Don Shula, who cut linebacker Barry Krauss and cornerback Paul Lankford, who have 22 years in the NFL between them.

For weaker teams, it's often a matter of waiting for other teams' cuts.

"I don't know if you can ever say this is the final 47," said coach Richard Williamson of the Bucs, who kept 13 rookies. "Obviously we're going to be looking to upgrade wherever we can."

Strong teams look at things the same way. The Super Bowl champion Giants kept 10 linebackers and nine defensive backs, but some of that group may go if holdouts Dave Meggett and William Roberts report as expected in the next few days.

One man who made it against the odds was Terry Long, the Pittsburgh guard, who underwent psychiatric treatment after telling police he attempted suicide following a positive test for steroids. Long, who started for 6 1/2 years, rejoined the Steelers last Tuesday and will begin the season as a backup to Carlton Haselrig.

Some big-name holdouts continued to trickle in, including San Diego running back Marion Butts and Buffalo linebacker Darryl Talley. Miami, which still leads the NFL with six players not in camp, signed guard Harry Galbreath.

TCU dreads November

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Jim Wacker says there's no dark mystery, voodoo shenanigans or celestial alignment of the stars behind Texas Christian's late season football fadeouts.

"It's who we play," he says, plain and simple.

The Horned Frogs haven't won one of their final four games since 1987 but it has nothing to do with the coaching staff's abilities or inabilities in November, Wacker said.

"People don't think I can coach in October and September either, so why worry about November?" he quipped.

Actually, he has a point. The Frogs traditionally close the season with perennial Southwest Conference bullies Texas, Texas A&M and Houston, a most formidable lineup.

It stands to reason, he says, that TCU won't win until it's as good as the November opposition. And 1991 is hardly encouraging.

All rank in the AP's preseason Top 25 and Wacker says they belong there, along with Baylor. And they're lurking again on TCU's November schedule.

"I like it being real tough at the end," Wacker told the Southwest Conference press tour Monday, explaining that he'd rather take on the SWC powers late than early.

TCU meets A&M Nov. 7 in a nationally televised game, then faces Texas and Houston in season finales.

"We've got to do exceptionally well early, come out of the blocks fast," Wacker said, "and get 'em believing in themselves even in the face of adversity."

"People with winning traditions go out there and expect to win."

He said he picked Texas as the conference favorite this year because the Longhorns think they can win and therefore play with great confidence.

"Once you whip 'em a time or two, your guys start believing," he said. "If we can do that, it's going to be a lot of fun in Fort Worth, Texas."

Wacker told the touring writers and broadcasters it would be unlikely but not inconceivable that the Frogs enter the November showdown with the Aggies sporting an 8-0 record.

That optimistic appraisal is based on the fact that quarterback Leon Clay and an all-star receiving cast strung together a 5-game winning streak last year before Clay broke his thumb in the Baylor game.

The Frogs went into a tailspin at that point, but all return this year.

Wacker obviously agrees with those experts who believe Stephen Shipley, Kelly Blackwell and Richard Woodley give TCU the premier receiving corps in the country.

What's more, if Clay gets injured, either Matt Vogler or Tim Schade would be a quality backup.

Finally, Wacker insists he is not among the doomsayers who maintain the TCU defense is inexperienced and suspect and the offensive line lost its heart and hulk to graduation.

"I think it's going to be a pretty good group," he said. "I think we have a chance to go to a bowl game ... I hope we can break into the Top 25, and if we do, we'll go to a bowl game."

UTEP athletes involved in Army post bar brawl

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Soon after resolving one athlete's legal problems, Texas-El Paso is faced with an investigation of several other athletes following a bar brawl on an Army post.

At least four athletes have been questioned about a fight at the All-Graders Club on Fort Bliss Sunday that escalated to gunfire and ended with five arrests, officials said Monday.

Tod Carter, a starting safety for the UTEP football team, and Roy Howard, a forward for the Miners' basketball team, were immediately suspended, football coach David Lee and basketball coach Don Haskins said in written statements.

Dwight Conley, a walk-on who won a scholarship after spring drills, was placed on probation, Lee said. A Proposition 48 basketball player who was not identified also was involved. Proposition 48 is the status given to student-athletes not yet academically eligible to play intercollegiate sports.

Lt. Col. Dennis Prevost, Fort Bliss public affairs officer, said five people were arrested Sunday when military police broke up the melee.

He would not confirm that the athletes suspended were among those arrested, but he said the arrested included civilians and military personnel. No one has been charged, but because the brawl occurred on post it will be handled by federal officials and various federal and state charges could be filed.
