

Reagan relinquishes spotlight to Bush

By MERRILL HARTSON
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — President Reagan, with a thanks-for-the-memories farewell to the Republican National Convention, ceded center stage to George Bush, voicing hope that history will find "we had a vision."

Tuesday

From the time he entered the cavernous Louisiana Superdome on Monday to take his seat in the presidential box until he left more than three hours later, he was showered with affection.

He returned the favor with a vintage speech extolling America's virtues.

Before passing the symbolic torch of Republican leadership today to his vice president at an airport ceremony and heading for his California ranch, Reagan exhorted Bush to "make it one more for the Gipper." He pledged to do all he could to make Bush his heir, while acknowledging that "this office is not mine to give."

Reagan's speech brought tears to longtime loyalists on the convention floor. It capped a day in which both he and his wife, Nancy, talked of relinquishing the political spotlight to Bush and his wife, Barbara.

"There are times to enter, times to stay and times to leave," Mrs. Reagan told friends at a luncheon given in her behalf.

"Today, the curtain begins to close on the Reagan era of the Republican Party," she said. "We've had a wonderful run. But the time has come for the Bushes to step into the political leading roles — and for the Reagans to step into the wings."

That same theme dominated Reagan's convention address, preceded by a documentary about the Reagan years and heralded by trumpets blaring "Hail To The Chief."

Standing before the 2,277 convention delegates and thousands of others in visitors' and alternates' seats, Reagan declared he still would be heard, even in retirement.

"When I pack up my bags in Washington, don't expect me to be happy to hear all this talk about the twilight of my life," said Reagan, 77. "Twilight? Not in America!"

But Reagan also made clear that he doesn't desire to command the party, saying, "I'll leave my phone number and address behind just in case you need a foot soldier."

Convention delegates frequently interrupted his speech with applause, waving banners and cheering. Reagan even got applause a few times for things he said in the filmed narration of the Reagan years.

The delegates stood for several minutes and clapped their hands as he arrived at the podium, and Reagan basked in the glory.

"Eight years ago, we gathered in Detroit in a troubled time for our beloved country," he said. "And we gathered solemnly to share our dreams."

"When our children turn the pages of our lives, I hope they'll see that we had a vision to pass forward a nation as nearly perfect as we could," he said.

Lubbock worshipers claim seeing apparitions in sky

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Thousands came to St. John Neumann Catholic Church hoping for a miracle and after a dramatic evening Mass, most weren't disappointed.

Shortly after Monday's mass began at 6 p.m., a few worshipers gasped and pointed skyward. Others looked and began shouting, "It's Jesus, look!"

As the excitement in the crowd brought the Mass came to a halt, scores of pilgrims cried and applauded, claiming to see apparitions of Jesus and the Virgin Mary.

"I knew there would be a miracle, I just knew it," said Mamie Fertitta of Beaumont, crying and pointing to the evening sky.

She said she saw the sun pulsating and then saw Jesus.

A dozen priests standing on a rooftop altar and 600 Eucharist ministers turned their backs to the crowd to look at the sky and wave. After minutes of silence, St. John Neumann pastor Monsignor Joseph James, facing the West where people were pointing, began to sing "Amazing Grace."

People in the audience whipped out cameras to photograph the clouds and light.

Paula Mitchell, 13, of Dallas said she saw both Jesus and Mary as the sun burst through the clouds.

Jesus "had a greyish white beard and he's got some kind of cape on. Mary's wearing a crown," she said.

Some people claimed to see different apparitions.

"I saw baby Jesus for an instant in the sky," said Koreth Vargahese of Houston.

For the estimated crowd of 12,000, the pilgrimage was prompted by reports that a miracle would occur on Monday's Feast of the Assumption, the day Catholics celebrate Mary's assumption into Heaven.

The charismatic parish has been the focus of national attention after three parishioners began reporting receiving messages of peace and hope from the Virgin Mary this spring.

While many cried and pointed skyward, not everyone saw an apparition in the sky.

Wuerfleins ask city to drop suit

By ANDREA HOOTEN
Staff Writer

The Ed Wuerfleins family is using its recently built entertainment center at 136 Oak St. despite the city's lawsuit claiming that the addition violates a zoning ordinance.

At the Hereford City Commission meeting Monday night, Wuerfleins appealed to the commission to drop the lawsuit which was filed in July of 1987 "in order to get this thing resolved as soon as possible."

"I just didn't know the importance of all the details," said Wuerfleins in reference to the specifications established in the zoning ordinance. "And since there have been mistakes on my and the city's part, I would like to have this suit dropped."

In the civil suit filed in 222nd District Court, the city contends that the addition violated rear yard rules for a single family dwelling district and violated the accessory building regulations which states that the building must be three feet from the residence. The Wuerfleins attached their addition.

"Defendants have willfully misrepresented their intentions in their application for permits...or they have willfully failed to carry out their expressed intentions," states the lawsuit.

Wuerfleins said, "I know I've made a lot of mistakes (in building the addition) but when I got the permit for the first time, it wasn't specific enough and our patchup jobs have gotten us deeper in trouble."

Mayor Wes Fisher said that he and the city commission would not comment on the lawsuit in open meeting.

The commission voted to buy equipment for the Economic Development Council to help establish the office.

The $3,830 (to be deducted from the $48,000 the city agreed to pay in support of the council) will be used to buy two computers, relocating computers, a telephone deposit, incorporation fee for the council and one month's salary for the council's office manager.

Another $3,500 for office furniture will not be forwarded to the council until the council receives non-profit status which, according to city attorney Earnest Langley, should take two weeks.

The city's representative to the council, Commissioner Tom LeGate, said the city was asked to pay for the items because of its solid financial situation and because the Economic Development Council is located inside City Hall.

"Plus, the city's budget year starts in April whereas the school's and county's budgets begin in October. That way, the city can give funds to start the council and the city and school can finish it out," LeGate said.

In other action, the commission OK'd preparing specifications for a half-ton pickup for the Street Department and authorized preparing specifications for buying 25 garbage dumpsters.

MIRACLE

"I didn't see anything, but some of the other priests did," said Deacon Joe Richard.

Father Albert Meyer, a Benedictine monk from Pecos, N.M., also saw nothing in the skies except clouds and the sun.

"I'm positive that others saw something and they took photographs," he said, adding that his deep faith is still strong.

Some of the apparition reports told of the sun "dancing" in the sky, a commonly reported part of phenomena associated with the Virgin Mary.

Similar reports have come from Medjugorje, Yugoslavia, where six youths have claimed to see apparitions of Mary.

"I went to Medjugorje and I didn't see this," said Mrs. Fertitta. "It was just so beautiful you can't even explain it."

Before the Mass, thousands streamed onto the church grounds despite temperatures in the high 90s as busloads brought pilgrims from around the country.

Many of the worshipers were handicapped, who came seeking healing. Rosaries were said throughout the day in Spanish, English, French, Portuguese and Vietnamese, by a group of more than 50 Vietnamese immigrants from Houston.

While the reports of the messages from Mary drew many of the pilgrims, no messages were received during Monday's numerous rosaries.

James said Mary had told the parishioners earlier that no messages would come that day. Lubbock Bishop Michael Sheehan had originally planned to preside over the feast day Mass, but decided not to following the publicity about the messages.

Horton's team stood in second place after the first round.

7th grade grid players urged to get physicals

All boys who will be in the seventh grade in the 1988-89 school year and plan on playing football are asked to get their physicals before school starts on Sept. 1, Coach James Salinas said.

Athletes will not be issued any equipment without having a physical, said Salinas, who urges students to make appointments now, because of the difficulty of getting appointments just before school starts.

Athletes with any questions regarding physicals may contact Salinas at 364-5872.

A cowgirl from Hereford, Debbie White, placed fifth in barrel racing.

Along with the All-Girl Rodeo, a team penning competition was held at the Riders Club Arena Saturday afternoon, and during Sunday's rodeo performance, and a calf scramble for boys and girls ages 12 and under was held Sunday.

Amarillo runner wins women's division

Plainview man defends 10-K run title

Plainview runner Wilson Kigen won the Greg Black Memorial 10-Kilometer Run for the second straight year, turning in a time of 33:58 Saturday in the event organized by the Hereford and Vicinity YM-C.A.

Kigen's winning time in 1987 was 33:48. Those two winning times are the third and fourth best in the history of the race in Hereford. Kigen ran in the men's 30-39 division.

The overall winner among women's division entrants was Stephanie Stuart of Amarillo, with a time of 45:53. Stuart set a division record in the women's 13 and under division, breaking the old record of 46:50 set by Mica Chamales of Claude in 1984.

Corky Fritch of Amarillo set a record for the men's 40-49 division. His time was 36:33, knocking three minutes exactly off the old record set by Larry Higgins of Hereford in 1986.

Other 10-kilometer division winners were: Jeremy Herberson of Hereford, men's 13 and under; Joshua Bostick of Amarillo, men's 14-19; Kirby Soderberg of Canyon, men's 20-29; Harold Ritchey of Amarillo, men's 50 and older; Helen Moreno of Amarillo, women's 20-29; Bea Strouse of Amarillo, women's 30-39; and Barbara Townsend of Hereford, women's 40-49.

The Two-Mile Fun Run and the Two-Mile Walk were other events Saturday. Raymond Guzman of Hereford won the men's division in the two-mile run in 12:16, and Nancy Garza of Hereford was the women's division winner in 13:13.

Guzman was declared a race champion after two other runners were disqualified for not running part of the course in the last half of the race.

In the Two-Mile Walk, Jerry Whitten of Amarillo won the men's division with a time of 22:05. Three women — Dianne Hall and Mildred Betzen of Hereford, and Gay Snider of Olton — reached the finish line at just about the same moment, all with an official time of 25:48.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is a reply to my 10-year-old son's question, "Why does Daddy keep trying to hurt my feelings?" and an open letter to my husband and other parents who say thoughtless and unkind things to their children.

"Are you blind?"
"Yes, Daddy, I'm blind to your love when you talk to me that way."

"Can't you hear?"
"No, Daddy, I can't hear any caring in your voice when you make me feel like something is wrong with me."

"Haven't I told you a thousand times?"

"Yes, Daddy, a thousand times, at least. I guess you don't think I'm worth the time to say something more than once. (I wish you were a little bit more patient.)"

"Can't you do anything right?"
"I guess I can't, if you don't think so, because you know everything. You're my dad."

"What's the matter with you, anyway?"

"Gee, I don't know. Maybe I'm just bad or dumb. I sure hope you love me anyway, Daddy, because if you don't no one else will."

I have tried to help my husband see what he is doing. Maybe reading this will open his eyes.—concerned Mom

DEAR MOM: I hope every father who reads your letter will ask himself how many times in the last week he has put those same questions to his son.

If only you dads knew how much your sons idolize you and how it crushes their spirits to be spoken to in a belittling way, you'd never do it again.

Please, please, if you see yourself in this column today, vow to turn over a new leaf. No child can grow up emotionally healthy and loving unless he feels valued. Parental love is at the heart of self-esteem.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing in response to a letter and your answer that appeared in the Ithaca Journal recently.

There is absolutely no truth to the belief that rice (even instant) can kill birds. This rumor received publicity because of a bill introduced into the Connecticut legislature in 1985 by Mae Schmide.

This wild story resulted in frightening thousands of brides into putting birdseed in little tulle and chiffon bags so the guests wouldn't throw rice and "kill the birds."

Rice is no threat to birds. It must be boiled before it will expand. Furthermore all the food that birds swallow is ground up by powerful muscles and grit in their gizzards. Many birds love rice, as any frustrated rice farmer will tell you.

I hope you will print this information in your column and put an end to this myth. In the meantime, keep throwing rice, folks. Tradition will be served and the birds will eat well and be healthy.—Steven C. Sibley, Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology, Ithaca, N.Y.

DEAR STEVEN SIBLEY: Your letter proves once again that if a story is repeated often enough, people will believe it, even though it is false and defies logic.

We checked with an authority in the Bird House at Lincoln Park Zoo in Chicago, and she verified your statement. Shame on me for going along with that crock. I feel like a birdbrain.

How much do you know about pot, cocaine, LSD, PCP, crack, speed and downers? Think you can handle them? For up-to-the minute information on drugs, write for Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." Send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Military Muster

Cadet Alfonso Limas Jr., son of Irene Limas of 403 Ave. H, Hereford, has completed a U.S. Air Force ROTC field training encampment at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Field training, attended by cadets normally between their second and third year of college, gives an opportunity to evaluate each student's potential as an officer, according to an Air Force spokesman.

The summer's curriculum consists of orientations on jet aircraft, career opportunities, human relations education and equal opportunity training. Physical fitness and survival training is also emphasized.

The field training is four weeks, but cadets in the two-year ROTC program receive an additional two weeks of instruction in the development of air power and the contemporary Air Force.

Limas is a student at Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

At least 500 people died in 1947 in a series of fires and explosions in Texas City, Texas, after a French freighter in the harbor blew up.

Cal Farley's Boys Ranch Rodeo scheduled Sept. 4-5

Young cowboys will exhibit Old West skills at the nationally famous Carl Farley's Boys Ranch Rodeo on Labor Day weekend, Sept. 4-5.

Performances for the 44th annual rodeo will be at 2:30 p.m. Sunday and Monday with barbecue lunches available at noon both days.

Some of the Ranch's 400 boys will compete on broncs, bulls, calves and stick horses, while others display their talents in the wild steer race, chute-dogging or as daring rodeo clowns. They will compete for trophy buckles, the titles of Junior and Senior All-Around Cowboys and the applause of more than 5,000 rodeo fans each afternoon.

All of the Ranch's boys will take part in the rodeo through the competition, entertaining in the Boys Ranch Band, assisting with refreshments or helping visitors. Girls from Gristown, U.S.A., along with area riding clubs, will appear in the Grand Entries. The girls will also participate in the stick horse races and a special "girls-only" event.

Tickets are still available for both performances. Reservations and information are available in Amarillo at the Boys Ranch office, 600 West 11th, or by calling 372-2341. General admission tickets are $2.50 may be purchased at the rodeo arena or the Ranch office.

As Miss Texas-USA USA

Fort Worth woman crowned Sunday

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Now that Gretchen Polhemus has landed the Miss Texas-USA crown, her next quest is nailing down the four-times successful GuyRex style that has made her predecessors national competition winners.

The 5-10, 122-pound brunette from Fort Worth was crowned Miss Texas-USA of 1989 Sunday night, winning $90,000 in cash and prizes from the nation's richest state pageant.

Miss Polhemus was crowned by last year's winner also from Fort Worth, Courtney Gibbs, who like three others before her went on to become Miss USA.

All four — Miss Gibbs; Michelle Royer, 1987; Chisty Fitchner, 1986; and Laura Martinez-Herring, 1985 — were guided to the national pageant crown by Richard Guy and Rex Holt, owners of El Paso-based GuyRex and Associates.

Another winner coached by GuyRex, Kim Tomes Dutton, Miss USA and Miss Texas USA in 1977, was co-host of the pageant with TV gameshow host Bob Eubanks.

Holt and Guy will spend the months between now and February grooming Miss Polhemus. Their formula for success, they claim, is refining each winner's individual style, rather than molding her into a stereotypical beauty queen. That refinement includes consulting with specialists in nutrition, exercise, makeup, fashion and hair styles.

But the key, they say, is teaching her how to think and to express herself. "Miss Texas has to be stronger," Guy said last week. "A better interview is the only way she can win. Pretty girls are a dime a dozen."

Miss Polhemus bested 102 other contestants Sunday night including her roommate during the pageant, Miss Fort Bend County, Stephanie Kuehne. Miss Kuehne, 20, was first runnerup.

Miss Spring, Sherry Kay Krantz, 23, was second runnerup; Miss Harris County, Melissa Joyce Buchanan, was third runnerup; and Miss Houston, Melissa Lynn Proctor, was fourth runnerup.

For emerging victor, Miss Polhemus was a cash scholarship worth about $20,000, a 1989 automobile, a full-length mink coat, a complete wardrobe, jewelry, and trips to London and Mexico.

The contestants in the 15th annual Miss Texas-USA Pageant were judged on poise and appearance in swimsuit and evening gown competitions and on personal interviews with each of the 10 judges.

The field was trimmed to 13 semifinalists at the top of Sunday night's presentation at Municipal Auditorium, which was telecast live by 19 major television stations around the state. The field was reduced to four finalists and then narrowed to one.

Miss Polhemus was wearing a white evening gown with a rhinestone bodice when she was crowned. Her new white full-length mink coat was placed around her shoulders, and she was handed the keys of a red 1989 Subaru that was driven onto the stage.

During Eubanks' brief interview with her during Sunday night's proceedings, she told of an exciting moment in her life — a modeling assignment she had on the Amazon River.

"I was in South America, and we were doing a river scene. We got about 15 miles out, and our boat went out. All we had was one oar and two fishing rods and a bathing suit scarf that we tied together to make a sail. After about 18 hours we finally made our way back to shore," she said.

"We tied the scarf together on either side of the pole to make a sail. There were anacondas and piranha in the water, so we couldn't cool off. And we couldn't go to the shore because of alligators and wild monkeys. So it was kind of a life-threatening situation."

Having a good time

A large crowd turned out for the festivities Saturday at Jubilee Junction in Dameron Park following the annual Town 'n' Country Jubilee Celebration Parade. Numerous food and entertainment booths were featured at the park including the Pie in the Eye booth manned by members of the Hereford Young Homemakers Club.

Proceeds from the project will go towards a scholarship to the organization's little sister to be selected during the 1988-89 school year. Connie Matthews looks as though she's having a terrific time "feeding" Terry Sparks a whipped cream pie.

Examine homeowner's coverage

Before packing a child off to college this fall, parents may find it worthwhile to determine whether their homeowner's insurance coverage extends to the student's possessions while away at school.

According to consumer economics specialist Bonnie Piernot, a dependent child's belongings often will be covered on their parents' policy so long as the student lives in an organized living unit, such as a dormitory or fraternity/sorority house.

"When the student lives in an apartment, mobile home or rented house, it's less likely that the parents' coverage will apply," said the Texas Agricultural Extension Service home economist. "Since policies vary, parents should contact their insurance agent."

If the student's belongings are not covered on the parents' policy, tenants insurance is one solution, Piernot said.

"In case of fire or theft, tenants insurance is important, because a landlord's policy does not cover a renter's personal property," she said.

The peanut is not a nut—it's a legume.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: I want to tell your readers of an expensive lesson I learned.

We recently bought a new home and wanted to put a privacy fence in the backyard. My husband and a couple of his buddies began to dig the holes for the posts. They had only one more hole to dig, and when they pushed the post-hole digger into the ground and lifted it back up, a bunch of wires were on it.

We had to call our local utility company and have them come fix it. We are very lucky no one was hurt. The man from the utility company told us that we should always call them before digging. Believe me, we will next time! — Louise Silvas, San Antonio, Texas

You are so right. Always check with your local utility company before digging!

Underground electric lines can be buried as shallow as 18 inches; natural gas lines may be buried as shallow as 30 inches. The danger of accidentally digging into these utilities is always possible. So is the risk of electric shock, fire explosion, disruption of service, property damage and loss of time and money.

Please take the time for a phone call. — Heloise

THOUGHTFUL PARENT
Dear Heloise: When my children from out of town send flowers, I take a picture of them.

I send the picture along with the thank-you note. That way they get to see what they paid for. — JaAnne Greene, Albert Lea, Minn.

PEACH TREE
Dear Heloise: My beautiful little peach tree died. So I planted a package of morning glory seeds around it and used it as a trellis. It looks very pretty, now that it is covered with leaves and flowers.

ASK DR. LAMB

Impotence BY LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I cannot think of a time in my life when I have been more discouraged than I am today. In November 1986, I had a vasectomy. I was in good health then. Today, at age 58, I would say I'm in excellent physical condition. My wife was 43 at the time of the vasectomy. For a number of years she did not ovulate because she was anorectic. When the anorexia was corrected, she again began to ovulate and birth control became a problem.

I decided a vasectomy would be the way to go. Since that was done, I have been unable to achieve much of an erection and I cannot maintain it until ejaculation occurs. I have taken one shot of testosterone and this resolved the problem for about five weeks. This really concerns me because it's depressing for me to believe sex is over without testosterone for the rest of my life.

DEAR READER: There is no reason why a properly done vasectomy would cause impotence — unless it is a psychological response to having had the operation. Tying off the little tube that transports the sperm cells has nothing to do with the part of the testicles that produces testosterone. It is the testosterone that stimulates the sex drive.

The cells that produce testosterone are located between the folded tubes that produce sperm cells. Testosterone levels do not fall after a properly done vasectomy. Low testosterone levels from any cause are seldom the reason for impotence. You need to search for another cause. You need a complete endocrine evaluation to see what is happening to your hormones. You could be diabetic. You could have some other endocrine abnormality, including a small tumor of the pituitary gland — although that is rare. You could have low testosterone levels because of some abnormality.

Your response to testosterone could be an indication that you do have an endocrine abnormality that results in a low level. Or it could mean that the shot gave you so much confidence that your impotence was resolved. Many substances work only because a man has confidence that they will, if the cause is psychological.

If no medical disorder is found, you may profit from seeing a psychiatrist. Depression is a common cause for impotence and I note you say you are discouraged. Correcting the depression may correct impotence caused by the depression.

To help you sort this out, I'm sending you Special Report 70, Doing Something About Impotence. Show it to your doctor if you wish and ask him to help you get all the needed tests if you have not had them already. Others who want this issue can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/70, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

You don't mention your habits, but if you happen to use alcohol, don't. Alcohol does not improve sexual performance except for those who need to get their courage from the bottle. Actually, alcohol decreases the active testosterone level, and if used regularly may cause impotence. Testosterone may help relieve the impotence, but stopping alcohol is the real answer. Circulatory problems are also a cause for impotence. Some medicines, such as some used to treat high blood pressure, may cause it. Many of the medical causes for impotence can be corrected, but first you have to find out what the underlying cause is. Impotence is often a symptom and is even useful in alerting a person to an underlying medical problem.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I was amazed to read in your column that the potential life span for humans was 115 years. If that is true, why don't more people live past 100? The life expectancy, even for women, is far less than that. Just what are people dying of if it is not from age? Why are so many people feeble long before age 100? What can I do to live to 115?

DEAR READER: The potential life span means what could be expected if everything were just right. The first just right, is being born with a set of genes that calls for your life span to be 115 years. About 15 years ago, the potential life span was thought to be 100, but new information has led the scientists who study aging to increase that to 115 years.

Most people die from disease, not age. As people get older, they are more susceptible to various diseases, including heart attacks, strokes and cancer. These are not strictly diseases of aging, though. Just think of all the young men who die of heart attacks before age 65.

You can do a lot to help increase your chances of living your potential life span. As an example, the leading cause of cancer deaths in both men and women is lung cancer, and over 80 percent of these deaths would not occur if people did not smoke. You can follow recommendations to decrease your risk of heart attacks and strokes. That includes your diet and exercise. I have always been intrigued by the fact that the first seven presidents after George Washington had an average life span of 81 years, well in excess of today's male in the U.S. The difference is that they ate a diet low in fat, they exercised and they did not have cigarettes.

The feeble state of many older people is a result of disuse that has allowed the body to become feeble. Much of this can be prevented by a proper physical fitness program that is a regular and continuing effort. You can also exercise your mind to help keep it in shape.

I'm sending you a free copy of THE HEALTH LETTER 30-12, The Age Question, which will update you on the current thinking about aging and what can be done to prevent changes that occur with aging. Others who want this issue can send $1 and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope to THE HEALTH LETTER/30-12, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

MORE MEN SEEKING COSMETIC DENTAL WORK
CHICAGO (AP) — The four most common cosmetic dental procedures for adult men and women, according to the Academy of General Dentistry, are tooth bleaching, bonding, porcelain laminate veneers and orthodontics.
A man is as likely to have a cosmetic dental procedure these days as a woman, says Dr. Jonathan Scharf.

Betty Crocker's Cooking Tips

Q. Which cakes can you freeze and which ones can you leave at room temperature? J.C., Payson, Az.

A. Refrigerate cakes topped with cream cheese or whipped cream frosting and those with a custard filling or topping. Other cakes can be stored 2 or 3 days at room temperature. After that they become dry. For longer cake storage, wrap unfrosted, unfilled cakes carefully and freeze.

Q. What causes bread to be crumbly? J.V., Danville, PA

A. Too much flour is the usual cause of crumbly bread. Aim to have dough as soft as possible while still holding its shape.

Q. What will prevent a runny cream filling in my custard pie? B.H., Mt. Vernon, IN

A. Boil mixture for a full minute, timing carefully. Too little cooking prevents starch from reaching its full thickening power. Overcooking breaks down the starch. Add acid-type flavorings, such as lemon juice, after mixture has thickened. Acid can inhibit thickening.

Do you have a question? Write Dear Betty Crocker, Box 1113, Dept. Betty, Minneapolis, MN 55440.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — Texas' War on Drugs escalated a little last week when several prominent Texans began suggesting vastly tougher penalties for major drug dealers, a move that could have a significant impact on the state's overall efforts to eradicate substance abuse.

Charles Terrell of Dallas, chairman of the Governor's Criminal Justice Task Force, said the state should begin requiring a mandatory life-without-parole sentence for all major pushers. Terrell said such a penalty will make drug dealers reconsider whether their trade is worth spending the remainder of their lives behind bars.

Seconding Terrell's comments was Dallas County District Attorney John Vance. Vance said he would ask the next Legislature to approve mandatory life imprisonment for first-time offenders convicted of possessing 100 grams or more of cocaine or 50 pounds or more of marijuana.

Also joining in the chorus was the Dallas-based Associated Texans Against Crime (ATAC), which said drug dealers are barely being punished under current law. ATAC members cited statistics indicating more than 5,500 people convicted of drug-related offenses were released last year from the Texas Department of Corrections after spending less than one year in prison.

Some questioned whether a life-without-parole sentence would place too great a burden on the state's already overcrowded prison system. Terrell did not deny the plan would be costly, but said the added expense would be worth it. Statistics from the National Institute of Justice, he said, indicate it costs the public $430,000 per year now to deal with repeat drug offenders. In the long run, Terrell said, the tougher penalties might save the state money.

While we would agree penalties need to be stiffened for drug dealers, we would suggest such sentences are only part of the solution for Texas. To win the War on Drugs, Texas must not only reduce the supply of drugs in the state, it also must reduce the demand for those drugs.

Now, we'll also concede that reducing that demand is going to be a long and tedious process. It can be achieved only through an increased long-term commitment to drug abuse treatment and education. And on those two counts, Texas' efforts have been sorely lacking.

When we first came to the Senate, Texas ranked 50th among the states in per capita expenditures on substance abuse treatment. The situation today is only marginally better, but it is improving.

In 1985, we authored the legislation that combined virtually all of Texas' substance abuse treatment programs into one agency — the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse. The agency has done a great job of maximizing the impact of the dollars Texas spends on substance abuse treatment, and that's a good start.

But, the Legislature needs to do more. It needs to work with both the federal government and local governments to improve treatment services.

The federal government has increased its budget for fighting drug abuse from $1.2 billion to nearly $4 billion in the last six years, yet only 10 percent of that new money has gone to treatment. The Legislature needs to bring political pressure to bear on Congress to improve the percentage of money that goes to treatment. Local governments, meanwhile, need assurances from the Legislature that it is committed to improving treatment services at the point of delivery.

So, yes, let's get tough on the pushers and on other repeat drug offenders. But, let's not forget treatment. It won't do us any good to cut down on the number of drugs on the streets if thousands of Texans still crave those drugs.

If you have any questions about Texas' efforts to battle drug abuse, or other issues, please contact us at P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711.
