Group ired by Dukakis' turn-down

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — American GI Forum leaders say it will be a "tremendous insult" if Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis turns down an invitation to speak at the group's convention.

"This could well decide whether they carry the election in Texas," said GI Forum founder Dr. Hector Garcia, who said Monday he has twice personally invited Dukakis to the group's convention this week in Corpus Christi.

"We will not be too happy about it," Garcia told the Corpus Christi Caller. "His staff is really rocking things because they don't understand the importance of our organization in relation to elected officials."

"Any time you give your word, you should keep your word," said GI Forum Chairman Mario Diaz of Garden City, Kan. "It is a tremendous insult to, number one, our founder, it is a slight to GI Forum members, to Corpus Christi and to all Hispanics."

The 40th annual national convention of the GI Forum, a Hispanic veterans' and civil rights group, opened Monday in Corpus Christi and will continue through Sunday.

About 4,000 people, including 800 delegates from 37 states, are expected to attend the convention.

Vice President George Bush will be among political leaders to speak at the convention.

Garcia said he spoke with Dukakis earlier this year in Houston and again last week in McAllen, and personally extended an invitation to attend the convention.

"I got the impression that he was going to attend; I didn't get a firm commitment," Garcia said. "He said he would try to come."

State Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, co-chairman of the Dukakis campaign of Texas, said no firm commitment was made by the candidate or his staff, and he should not be perceived as backing out.

Truan said he spoke Monday afternoon with Jose Villarreal, the Southwest coordinator for the Dukakis campaign, who told him a Corpus Christi appearance was unlikely.

"Every attempt has been made to change his schedule, but right now the chances of him coming are slim," Truan said. "This should not be used as an excuse to criticize him. He has an extremely busy schedule."

Dukakis appeared in South Texas earlier this month, and that his running mate, vice presidential candidate Lloyd Bentsen, would speak to convention delegates Saturday, Truan noted.

Ruben Bonilla, who appeared on stage with Dukakis at the League of United Latin American Citizens convention earlier this month in Dallas, said an appearance before the GI Forum should be top priority for any presidential candidate.

Declining the invitation was "a somewhat arrogant error that must be corrected," Bonilla said.

"There is no question that this is a bad move," Bonilla said. "The Dukakis campaign must make amends quickly if they (See DUKAKIS, Page 2)

Warehouse burns at Holly

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

An A-frame pulp warehouse was destroyed Monday evening in a fire at Holly Sugar west of Hereford.

The value of the 60,000-square-foot warehouse could not be determined, said plant manager Dennis Printz, who also said the fire should not affect the upcoming sugarbeet harvest. "We may have to find a place to store some of our pulp for a while, but it shouldn't hurt our harvest operations at all," Printz said.

An unidentified Holly worker said that a crew had been cleaning inside the warehouse, but had left about 6 p.m. The fire was reported at 6:20 p.m.

By 7:30 p.m., the warehouse was destroyed. The only evidence of the wood-and-metal building was twisted metal leading from conveyors and catwalks to where the warehouse, one of three similar buildings, had been standing.

The Hereford Fire Department used all 42 available men and most of its equipment at the fire, leaving only enough at the station to cover in case of another fire or other emergency. The department also called in additional manpower and equipment from Walcott, Canyon, Dimmitt and Friona. 80 firefighters and 19 units responded to the fire.

Canyon brought a snorkel unit used late Monday. The fire was extinguished at about 10:30 p.m., four hours after it was reported.

Holly Sugar Road, Bradley Street, and South Greenwood were filled with traffic as Hereford residents drove west to see where the brown smoke, visible from all over the city, was coming from. Many of them parked their cars along Holly Sugar Road, north of the plant, and watched as the building seemed to melt as it was consumed by the fire.

Some didn't stay too long. "Boy, that stuff smells terrible," one fire-watcher said before getting back into her car and leaving, unable to take the smell of the smoke any longer. Just before the warehouse was consumed, the smoke's color changed from brown to gray-black. All the while, the building seemed to melt as the metal roof slowly fell into the building.

Despite the falling metal, there were no injuries reported.

Printz said the warehouse was empty. "It usually is empty this time of the year," he said. The building is used to store pulp, a by-product, from sugarbeets as they are processed following harvest. The harvest season usually runs from October through January, and that's when the warehouses are full.

Much of the pulp is used for cattle feed. The A-frame warehouse was part of the original plant built in 1964.

Most church congregations have some members who rarely attend. A Baptist preacher told one backslider that he should consider himself as a soldier in the army of the Lord.

"I do that," replied the man.

"Then why do we see you only at Christmas and Easter?" asked the preacher.

"I'm in the secret service."

Shultz rebuffed in Nicaraguan denunciation

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — George P. Shultz and four Central American foreign ministers called for peace and democracy in the region in a watered-down declaration lacking the denunciation of Nicaragua the U.S. envoy had sought.

In fact, the document they issued Monday during the secretary of state's eight-hour stop did not even mention Nicaragua by name.

Only at a later news conference was the country named when Shultz expressed continued U.S. support for the Contra rebels, who after nearly seven years of war reached a preliminary cease-fire accord in March with Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government.

Shultz left immediately afterward for Argentina, the second stop of a nine-country tour of Latin America.

The final version of the declaration — signed by Shultz and the foreign ministers of El Salvador, Honduras, Guatemala and Costa Rica after a three-hour meeting — called for "peace, democracy, security, social justice and economic development" in the region.

In the statement, the parties "reaffirmed that authentic democracy requires, among other requisites, political pluralism, freedom of association, freedom of the press, an impartial justice system that guarantees due process, an apolitical armed forces, an honest and open electoral system and respect for human and individual rights."

The Sandinistas have been criticized for maintaining a political monopoly and suppressing dissent and talks with the Contras for forging a lasting peace have stalled.

Last week, President Reagan requested that Congress approve $27 million in humanitarian aid to the Contras and $28 million in stand-by military aid to be used only with express congressional authorization if peace efforts fail.

The last congressional appropriation for military aid ran out in February. It has not been renewed, largely pending the outcome of a year-old regional peace plan that has so far proved ineffective.

Shultz said the Contras "are an important element, expressing a strong desire for freedom and democracy in Nicaragua and we continue to support them."

Clements issues forecast update

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements, who previously predicted many Jesse Jackson supporters would "go fishing" rather than vote for Michael Dukakis, now says Jackson backers will vote for George Bush.

Clements' Election Day fishing forecasts began during the Democratic National Convention when he said Jackson backers upset by the Democrats' treatment of their candidate "will go fishing" instead of voting for Dukakis.

But Monday, baited by Jackson supporters who delivered cane fishing poles to his office, Clements issued an updated forecast.

"Instead of going fishing, I would think a lot of Texans who normally would have gone fishing are going to go to the polls, and they are going to vote for George Bush," the Republican governor said.

He said that group would include Jackson supporters.

But Rainbow Coalition members who filed into Clements' Capitol reception room Monday to donate wooden fishing poles said they will vote for Democratic presidential nominee Dukakis.

Bill Harris of Austin, a coalition official, said "we'll be much too busy" on Election Day to go fishing.

"However, we would not want the governor or any of his friends to miss out on this fishing trip for lack of the proper equipment, so we are donating these poles in the hopes that the governor and other Republicans will catch their limit on Nov. 8," Harris said.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I didn't dislike seat belts, I detested them. All the usual reasons, plus since I am a busty 4-foot-11, the shoulder strap cut across me in all the wrong places.

Last year I married a man who never orders me to do anything except fasten my seat belt. Three weeks ago we were in a god-awful accident. The car flipped over two and a half times and landed upside down. Miraculously, we crawled out on our own, with nothing but minor injuries. The car was totaled. There isn't a shred of doubt in our minds: Those seat belts saved our lives.

Ann, we were driving within the speed limit, and the accident wasn't our fault. Some fool who must have been going 90 miles an hour crowded us off the road and there was no place to go but the ditch.

May I pass on a very important message to your readers? Please put it in big type. THE ONLY PEOPLE WHO DON'T NEED TO WEAR SEAT BELTS ARE THOSE WHO ARE NEVER GOING TO BE IN AN ACCIDENT. And, brother, if you think that's you, you are dead wrong. Sign me — Almost Mangled in

DEAR ALMOST MANGLED: Thousands (maybe millions) of people have had a similar experience. I hope every person who reads this will take your letter seriously. How foolish not to take that simple precaution. It can mean the difference between life and death.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I can't wait to comment on those letters from your correspondents who deny that the women's movement had anything to do with the competitiveness and rancor that exists between the sexes.

It is now clear that women's lib is indeed responsible for many of the problems we face today. I'm talking about unemployed family men, marital infidelity, the high divorce rate and messed-up kids who were (and continue to be) dumped in crummy day-care centers or left with moronic baby-sitters.

The women you should want to hear from are those, like me, who were victims of that feminist claptrap. I now know that women's lib is baloney. And baloney is baloney no matter how you slice it. Meanwhile, I hope Phyllis Schlafly won't assume from this letter that I have defected to her side. I wouldn't free myself from one bunch of goofy broads to join another group of lunatics. You can just—Count Me Out in O. City

DEAR O. CITY: You may want to be counted out but a surprising number of readers wanted to be included. The response to those columns was staggering.

Many who wrote pointed out that women's lib opened many doors to females. It also made many businesses pay women what they are worth. Those who rallied against the movement made the same points that you made, and there is no denying that they have some validity.

On balance I would say that the greatest achievement of the women's liberation movement was legislation that made discrimination on the basis of sex illegal. Not every female wants to be a truck driver or a heart surgeon, but those who want to should not be denied the opportunity.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please settle a longstanding argument. Who goes through a revolving door first, the man or the woman?—Gary, Ind.

DEAR G.: The man should go first and push the door for his lady. Nine out of 10 men don't know this and the women is the one who does the pushing.

Prepare your child for first day of school

Whether your child is a veteran of daycare and pre-school or has never attended any school before, starting kindergarten is an experience that requires some preparation.

"Children sense the different expectations that come with kindergarten. Suddenly school isn't just for fun; it's serious business," said Dr. Sarah L. Anderson, a family life specialist.

A child without older siblings will have only fuzzy mental images of what school will be like. If he does have older siblings, the child may think of school as a place where the "big kids" go and where everyone already reads and writes, she said.

Some children may have fearful, stress-inducing feelings about facing this unfamiliar world, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

"It's important for parents and children to plan their parting experiences and share feelings about them," said Anderson.

She suggests parents and youngsters make several trips to the school, play on the playground and visit the classroom if possible.

"Reading children's books about the first day of school will also help a youngster get a more realistic picture of the school environment," said the specialist.

"But the most important thing about visits or reading books is that it gives you a vehicle for talking with your child and letting him know that it's o.k. to feel scared," she said.

According to the specialist, researchers have noted that separation experiences can affect children's behavior. Brief periods of agitation, tantrums, withdrawal or changes in eating and sleeping patterns may occur if the child is anxious during those first few days or weeks of school.

Some kindergarteners may need a "gradual start," with a parent present in the classroom for decreasing periods of time until the child can stay on his or her own, Anderson said.

"Although a working parent may have to use vacation days, sick leave or personal leave to do it, taking off a half day or an hour as needed to help the child adjust can help him get off to a better start in school."

"After a couple of weeks parents should also follow up with the teacher to check on how well their child is doing in the school environment," she said. "Many children love school from the first day and others will need some time, but eventually most all children adjust."

Betty Crocker's Cooking Tips

Q. What causes the milk sauce for my scalloped potatoes to curdle? P.H., Minneapolis, MN

A. Chemical interaction of potatoes and milk tends to cause milk to curdle. Some experts say you can minimize the possibility of heating the milk (don't boil) and then adding to potatoes.

Q. What causes cake mix to be lumpy? J. McN., Graysville, TN

A. If cake mix is stored in a humid area, it may become lumpy. Slow beating will help break up lumps. While some small lumps may be visible in batter when a cake has been mixed according to package directions, they will disappear during baking.

Q. How can I prevent my banana or date bread from having a sticky top after storage? M.W., boyden, IA

A. For storage cool bread completely on a rack before covering. If weather is humid, almost all quick breads become sticky and little can be done to prevent it.

Five local teachers attend conference

Five Hereford teachers were among the nearly 600 participants who attended the annual Leadership Conference of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association in Austin July 29-30. They included Nan Coneway, Judy Bullard, Wanda Nall, Teddie Poindexter and Catherine Cortez.

TCTA is an organization representing 25,000 teachers with headquarters in Austin. Its annual Leadership Conference provides participants with an opportunity to become better informed regarding current education issues and with their roles and responsibilities as leaders at the local level.

Participants heard state treasurer Ann Richards give one of her first major addresses since being the keynote speaker at the Democratic National Convention in Atlanta. In her address to the teachers, she stated that classroom teachers are being asked to almost perform miracles. She also said that after teachers take care of discipline problems, drug problems, AIDS, and numerous other problems, they are still expected to teach the basics and then they are blamed for not being competent enough to do so.

Richards, a former junior high school teacher, is now the highest ranking elected female officeholder in Texas and one of the most powerful women in the state. Her address at the Democratic Convention thrust her into the national limelight, enhancing her chances as a possible gubernatorial candidate in 1990.

Teachers attending the conference also attended training sessions on AIDS and the rights of teachers TEAMS teting, and the upcoming legislative session.

Prior to the conference, new officers were installed at the July meeting of the TCTA Board of Directors. Heading the new slate is President Susan Crocker, a high school teacher from Grand Prairie.

Cholesterol tests in malls can indicate high levels

Shopping is not the only thing happening in malls today—they have also become popular places for cholesterol testing.

Although a screening test can show if a person's cholesterol level is high, a Texas Christian University nutrition and dietetics professor says the basic test given in most malls is just an indicator and not a correct reading of a person's cholesterol level.

"To get a true reading, you have to be without food for a period of time," Dr. Nell Robinson said. "A laboratory test is necessary for a true reading."

Generally, an adult's cholesterol level should not exceed 200. "If an adult's level runs above 200, a physician should be consulted. In some cases, however, the cholesterol level of an older person can be above 200 without it being as dangerous as it is for a younger person," she said.

Once a person's cholesterol level has been determined, Robinson said, the person should consult a physician to find out what proportion of the cholesterol is high-density lipoprotein (HDL) and what proportion is low-density lipoprotein (LDL) because a high amount of HDL is sometimes normal for certain individuals.

Robinson cited several factors that can cause high cholesterol, including stress, smoking, drinking, heredity and eating a diet that is high in saturated fat.

"The level of cholesterol in the blood is based on the amount of saturated fat in the diet, so basically saturated fat has more influence in raising cholesterol levels than even the cholesterol content of the food a person eats," she said.

In 1849, Elizabeth Blackwell was the first American woman to become a doctor.

Athletic Supply scholarship is presented to Young

A Hereford High School graduate who will study at Texas Tech University was awarded the Athletic Supply Co. Scholarship at the Texas State High School Coaches Association Coaches School last week in Houston.

Lee Young, a starting linebacker his senior season for the Hereford Whitefaces, plans to major in computer science at Texas Tech. A two-year letterman in varsity football, he will be a walk-on in college football.

Athletic Supply Co. is located in Odessa, Abilene and Dallas. The scholarship award, $1,000, was based on athletic excellence, academic excellence, and character.

Young, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Young of Hereford, has also received some academic scholarships and was awarded the Casey Smith Memorial Scholarship.

There were eight finalists for the Athletic Supply Co. Scholarship, each from a different region in the state.

In his senior season, the Herd linebacker was team captain and led the team with 107 tackles, including seven for losses. His other statistics included one interception, four passes knocked down, two hurried passes, one quarterback sack, one fumble caused, and one fumble recovery.

Young played at the defensive tackle position in his junior year, when the Whitefaces advanced to the state class 4A semifinals. He was second on the team with 90 tackles, and led the team with five fumbles caused.

He had six tackles for losses, three fumble recoveries, three passes knocked down, and two quarterback sacks.

Young served as president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes chapter at Hereford High School his junior and senior years. He was also in the Key Club and National Honor Society three years.

LEE YOUNG

A three-year band member, Young played the trombone. He was all-region in his ninth grade and sophomore years.

In 1986, Young served as a summer missionary in Haiti for the Church of the Nazarene. His service included helping build a school.

In addition to football, Young's other athletic competition in high school was track and field his senior year.

Loerwald named head grid coach at Dickinson High

A Hereford High School and Sul Ross State University graduate, Jim Loerwald, has been named head football coach and athletic director at Dickinson High School in Dickinson, Texas.

Loerwald, who also has a master's degree in education from the University of Houston, Clear Lake campus, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S.T. Loerwald of Hereford.

Loerwald began his football coaching career as a student assistant for one year at Sul Ross State. He was an assistant coach at John Marshall High School in San Antonio for four years, and an assistant coach at Dickinson High School for nine years before his appointment as head coach.

An athlete in high school and college, Loerwald played at the center position for three HHS varsity seasons and four seasons at Sul Ross State. He studied at Sul Ross State on a full football scholarship, and graduated with a degree in science and physical education.

Loerwald also played baseball in high school, including two varsity seasons and one junior varsity season.

He is married to Kae De Pree, who is from San Antonio, and they are the parents of two children, Lance, 10, and Laci, 6.

7th grade football players are urged to get physicals

All boys who will be in the seventh grade in the 1988-89 school year and plan on playing football need to get their physicals before school starts on Sept. 1. Coach James Salinas notes that athletes will not be issued any equipment without having a physical. Salinas urges students to make appointments now, because of the difficulty of getting appointments just before school starts.

Hereford Maroon will play "A" and "B" games at home on Sept. 16, with the "A" game first at 5 p.m. Those games will be played on the field just south of the Hereford High School Fieldhouse.

The Hereford White "A" and "B" teams play home games on Sept. 17, vs. Plainview Blue starting at 1 p.m. with the "A" game — also on the junior high field by the fieldhouse.

Athletes with any questions regarding physicals may contact Salinas as 364-5872.

The seventh grade football season for Hereford Junior High School teams begins on Sept. 16 and 17.

Hammaker leads Giants over Astros

By ERIC PREWITT
AP Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Atlee Hammaker, a disappointed No. 6 finisher in the competition for five starting jobs this spring, is now the No. 2 man in the San Francisco Giants' rotation. He's moved up mostly because of attrition. "Our pitchers keep dropping like flies. In the three years I've been here, the staff has been injury-plagued," said Will Clark, who drove in two runs with a double and home run in support of Hammaker's five-hitter as the Giants beat the Houston Astros and Nolan Ryan 4-1 Monday night. The National League West rivals went into the game tied for second place. The Giants, winning a sixth straight game and for the ninth time in 11 games, came out of it 3½ games behind the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers. The Astros remained 4½ back. Hammaker, 5-3, got his first victory in six starts this season and pitched his first complete game since last August. Houston's lineup, weakened by the absence of injured Glenn Davis, managed only five singles and the only run was unearned.

"We're not going to use being without Davis as an excuse — the Dodgers and Giants have had injuries, too — but we definitely miss him. He was hitting well," Manager Hal Lanier said of his 22-homer, 74-RBI first baseman sidelined because of a sore hamstring. Rick Reuschel, the 14-game winner facing Houston's Bob Knepper tonight, and Kelly Downs are the only members of the Giants' season-opening rotation on the roster now, but Downs is skipping his scheduled Wednesday start because of shoulder stiffness. Dave Dravecky, Mike Krukow and Mike LaCoss are on the disabled list.

on the roster. Ryan, 8-8, had 11 strikeouts in the seven innings he worked, topping 10 strikeouts in a game for the 179th time in his career.

"I stayed with Ryan (through seven) because he'd won his last two games, and in the first inning our center fielder fell down and cost him a run," Lanier said, alluding to Clark's blooper which went for an RBI double.

There was nothing cheap about Clark's homer, his 23rd, in the third. He pounded a Ryan fastball deep into the right field seats.

"A fastball hitter against a fastball pitcher is always a great matchup. Any time I face Nolan Ryan, throwing 96 or 97 miles an hour, I have to be a little extra pumped up," said Clark, whose homers off Ryan also include one in his first big league at-bat.

"He's improved as a hitter, and he's hot now," Ryan said. "He's the type of hitter you can't make a mistake against."

Giants Manager Roger Craig said, "I don't know if Will loves hitting against Ryan, but he does it pretty well. Ryan's a (future) Hall of Famer. Will knows he's a great pitcher. Will thinks he's a great hitter, and he loves that kind of competition."

Ticks Can Carry Lyme Disease

Summer is the season for ticks in Texas. And anyone working or playing outdoors, should be alert that some ticks, and the corkscrew-shaped organism they carry, can inflict serious arthritic misery.

People can contract Lyme disease after being bitten by an infected tick carrying bacteria called spirochetes. Lyme disease is named for the Connecticut town where it was first recognized in the U.S. in 1975.

The first symptom is often a red circular rash that enlarges. Victims seem to have a flu-like illness with fever, headache, chills, a stiff neck, and extreme fatigue.

Later, other health problems may include arthritis, and disorders of the heart and nervous system lasting months or years. The disease can be passed from a pregnant woman to her unborn child.

Lyme disease was detected in Texas by microbiologist Julie Rawlings at the Texas Department of Health's (THD) Bureau of Laboratories in Austin. Suspecting the presence of the disorder, she began looking for it while examining lab specimens submitted for Rocky Mountain spotted fever. Today, health professionals at TDH's laboratories use a blood test to detect the disease.

"If a doctor begins treatment soon after infection, consequences such as long term joint problems can often be prevented, Rawlings explained. "If you have Lyme disease symptoms and a known tick bite, you should go see your doctor."

She added that Lyme disease is not a life-threatening health hazard, but can cause long-lasting discomforts.

In 1987, a total of 33 cases of Lyme disease were confirmed in Texas, compared to nine cases the previous year. Most of the cases occurred in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, but other cases also occurred in the Panhandle, and in Central, East and South Texas.

"We have found the spirochete in six kinds of ticks in Texas," Rawlings said. These are the Lone Star Tick, the American dog tick, the brown dog tick, two types of rabbit ticks, and the Txdodes tick.

"The disease is reported most during the summer months, and a good preventive measure is to check yourself and your pets for ticks after being outside," Rawlings said.

To remove a tick, she said, gently grasp it with tweezers close to the skin, and slowly pull it loose. Avoid crushing the tick with your fingers.

Rawlings said that Texans needing more information about the disease can contact the Southwest Division of the National Lyme Disease Foundation. The leader of the support group is Judith Williams, at 214/796-2806.

'TEXAS' to play until Aug. 27 in Palo Duro

Three "Aunt Anna's" outlasted 12 "Uncle Henry's" during 23 seasons of "TEXAS," the musical drama that plays to 100,000 people each summer beneath the enormous cliffs of Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo.

Each "Aunt Anna" brought strength to the part, and molded the "TEXAS" matriarch into the memorable character that she is today.

All three had the opportunity to work with "TEXAS" author Paul Green, the Pulitzer Prize winning author who dubbed this show as his "happiest."

Loris Clifford of St. Louis won hearts as the first "Aunt Anna" from 1966 through 1968, followed by Jane Lipscomb of Amarillo who gentled the lady for another seven years.

The current "Aunt Anna," Lois Hull, has continued to endear audiences with her portrayal for thirteen years.

"TEXAS" is the story of the settling of the Panhandle. Centered around eight principal players, "TEXAS" reveals how the eventual collaboration between the ranchers ("Uncle Henry" and "Aunt Anna") and the farmers ("Calvin Armstrong") brings the railroad and new town to the frontier.

A love triangle between "Calvin," and ranch foreman, "Dave," develops when both vie for the affections of "Elsie," the niece of "Uncle Henry" and "Aunt Anna." Further distraction is provided by the old prospector "Tuck," his love "Kate," and "Parmalee Flynn."

A cast of 80 works with these lead characters to unwind this tale of drought and plenty, sorrow and joy, using spectacular song and dance mixed with the latest sound and light technology.

To all who have seen "TEXAS," Aunt Anna provides a tenacity found in early pioneer women. However, all the "Aunt Anna's" agree that the character has changed throughout the years.

Clifford said when author Paul Green first wrote for Aunt Anna, he included a scene that used Clifford's then knee length long hair.

Clifford also remembers the first script as much longer. "Paul Green said it was too long a show and he had to cut," she said. "Originally (before produced), Aunt Anna had a much bigger part."

Lipscomb remembers "Aunt Anna" as an old witch and asked Paul Green to make her softer. "I thought that since 'Aunt Anna' and 'Uncle Henry' had no children of their own, she should baby him," she said. "She had not a thing to do but dote on 'Uncle Henry' and 'Elsie.'"

Hull sees "Aunt Anna" as a helpmate to Uncle Henry. "She is determined to help his ventures, as one who sees things must change and is excited as time goes on to see progress."

In all their descriptions of "Aunt Anna," Clifford, Lipscomb and Hull used the words "strong" and "capable."

"Circumstances forced her to make decisions, to do what was needed with what was available," Clifford said, "and above all was her faith in God."

Humorous incidents occurred often during these 23 years. Clifford recalls wearing basketball knee pads to avoid calluses caused by kneeling.

"And one time following the dream scene, I spotted a scorpion coming toward me," Clifford said. "There I was trying to remember my place, lines and when the lights would go out where that scorpion would be."

Lipscomb's favorite humorous incident occurred with Pinkie Floyd as

"Uncle Henry."

"At the end of the dream scene, I would tell him what I had fixed," she remembers. "My recipes were authentic and researched and one night I said, 'Come on precious, I'll fix you some mesquite bean jelly on toast.'"

"He always responded," she said. "We had great rapport."

Hull recalls one night when the "Uncle Henry" went to open the door on the ranch house door, and ended up with the handle in his hand.

"I also remember during the party scene when 'Chief Quannah Parker' played by Alan Shankles put a lace through his foot and never lost his composure."

A challenge all faced was outdoor theatre. Clifford reminisces on the nights when there was little moonlight. "When it was dark, it was dark," she said. "I always carried a pen flashlight in my dress."

Clifford also remembers no restrooms or dressing rooms. "There wasn't even a paved parking lot or a cast house," she said.

Lipscomb recalls, "the cement didn't get any softer," and she eventually retired when her knees did.

A major challenge, according to Hull, is keeping the character fresh for 62 shows a season. "You must continue to keep the intensity of the character every night, but maintain the excitement and energy."

Clifford and Lipscomb agreed the dream scene conjured their best memories. Hull likes the socialism scene, when "Calvin" names the town, HENRIANNA.

Hours have stayed much the same. Each recalls the strenuous month prior to opening when ten hour days were not uncommon. Once the show opens, however, all left about five to arrive around six. Curtain time remains 8:30 p.m.

Clifford contacted founder Margaret Harper when she heard about "TEXAS." Founding Director Bill Moore convinced Lipscomb and Hull to take the part. All have semi-professional theatre experience and great singing voices.

Clifford currently resides in St. Louis, where she is a professional volunteer in the arts.

Lipscomb is a native of Amarillo. She also is active in the arts.

Hull gives her summers to "TEXAS." The remainder of the year is spent with her nine grandchildren who "all know the songs to 'TEXAS.'"

The cast of 80 in "TEXAS" comes from 14 states and one foreign country in 1988. They perform before near full houses of an average 1,650 persons from all over the world each night.

"TEXAS" plays through Aug. 27 every night except Sundays at 8:30 p.m. in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

Reservations are encouraged and can be obtained by calling the "TEXAS" office at 806-655-2181 or writing Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015. Tickets are $9, $7 and $5 for adults and $9, $3.50 and $2.50 for children.

A chuckwagon barbecue dinner is served by Su'phen's of Amarillo prior to each performance for $5 from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Swimming party set for 4-H'ers

The 4-H Parent-Leaders Association will sponsor a 4-H swimming party from 8-10 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 16, at Green Acres swimming pool. Those attending are asked to bring homemade cookies or ice cream.

George Clinton, the fourth vice president of the United States, died in Washington in 1812. He was 73. Clinton was the first vice president to die while in office.

ASK DR. LAMB

Which Blood Pressure Medicines Work Best? BY LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Are you familiar with the drug Vasotec used to treat high blood pressure? What are the side effects in taking this drug? I take two daily, also one Dyazide daily. What is your advice?

DEAR READER: Your doctor has to determine how much of which of the various medicines used to control blood pressure work best in your individual case. Vasotec is a rather new medicine and has many attractive features. It works by preventing the formation of angiotensin, a substance our bodies normally produce. Blood pressure is usually elevated because the small arteries constrict. There are many causes for the constriction. Some causes are chemical and others are through nerve reflex actions. One of the chemicals that cause constriction of small arteries is angiotensin.

In contrast, the popular beta blocker medicines such as Inderal and Tenormin neutralize the action of adrenaline. That may decrease some patients' energy levels because the adrenaline hormone is our "fight or flight" hormone that has a broad role in our total energy system. Dyazide is a diuretic and eliminates sodium, which decreases your water retention and lowers blood pressure.

No medicine, or even food, is without side effects in everybody. Vasotec has a variety of possible complications similar to many other medicines, including effects on blood formation. It may also affect kidney function. These can be monitored by your doctor. The most important, and rare, complication that you need to be aware of is that in some patients Vasotec causes swelling of the throat area, which in severe cases may obstruct breathing. If you have not had this problem at the beginning of taking the medicine it is not likely that you will.

I am sending you Special Report 72, Controlling Your Blood Pressure, for more information on managing your problem, other than just medicine. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/72, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Dyazide may prevent the loss of potassium that occurs with many diuretics. Vasotec may cause the retention of potassium. That means you need to avoid consuming too many potassium-rich foods such as fruits and fruit juice, and your doctor may need to monitor your potassium levels rather carefully. If it is a problem, he can give you a different diuretic.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I was hospitalized for status asthmaticus—respiratory arrest. I stopped breathing and had to be put on a ventilator for three days. Each time my doctor visited me, he would feel each of my legs and ask if I had any pain. After two weeks at home my left leg began to swell and was very painful. The doctor said I had a blood clot and I was hospitalized again.

I would like to know if there are any side effects from respiratory arrest.

DEAR READER: Since you had assisted respiration you were getting the oxygen you needed. In other circumstances, when a person is not breathing, after four to six minutes there is a danger of brain damage. I would doubt you will have any side effects from your respiratory arrest and respiratory support.

The thrombophlebitis is another matter. There is always a danger that a person who is forced to be in bed will develop a clot in a leg. That is one reason why surgeons like to get their patients out of bed and walking as soon as possible after an operation. Having had the clot form, you may need pressure gradient stockings to prevent swelling of your left leg.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: I recently had a baby, and was it ever hectic for a while! There seemed to be more things to do and less time to accomplish them. My first concern above care for the baby was sending out thank-you cards to family and friends who had sent gifts.

I decided to compile a list of the items that different families bought the baby. Then I got the camera out and took pictures of the baby with each gift.

Many relatives sent clothes, so I would dress the baby in the items they sent and take a picture and send it to them. If the family sent a toy, then I took a picture of the baby with the toy and sent it to them.

This turned out to be a great way to show everyone that I really appreciated their thoughts and gifts. — Kate Johnson, Durango, Colo.

What a nice personal touch. I'm sure your family and friends really appreciated the photo. — Heloise

POTLUCK DINNERS
Dear Heloise: Love your hints! I have one that is very healthy.

When I go to a potluck dinner, I always write the ingredients on an index card. This is helpful to people with food allergies and you don't have people always asking "What's in it?"

Also, making a few index cards with the recipe to put beside your dish is a nice way to share good food. — Kelly Turnao, Clovis, N.M.

TOMATO SOUP
Dear Heloise: This has been a money-saver for me.

As a lover of tomato soup, I have found this way to reduce the price per can. Tomato sauce is generally available at stores as a leading staple. An 8-ounce can is often on sale for as low as eight cents for $1.

Simply add one 8-ounce can of water to the 8-ounce can of tomato sauce and you have a delicious tomato soup. It is thicker and tastier in my opinion and cuts the cost considerably. — Robert C. Oberle, Apache Junction, Ariz.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — Texans have become much more aware of the state budget during the last five years, thanks to a slumping economy that left the state with several severe revenue shortfalls.

People, for instance, are more aware that 52 percent of our budget goes to education, and that another 30 to 35 percent goes to highway construction, law enforcement and maintenance-level social services. And, we know the budget funds important programs in the 31st District, like education in our public schools and at a major university and four fine junior colleges.

But, what many people may not know is how the budget gets written. Specifically, they probably aren't aware of the power of the Legislative Budget Board.

The LBB is a 10-person committee comprised of the lieutenant governor, the speaker of the House, four senators and four representatives. It is the LBB that prepares the budget recommendations from which the Legislature's appropriations bill is written.

Work for the LBB begins well before a legislative session begins. While the Legislature isn't scheduled to meet again until January, the budget-writing process already is underway.

LBB staff members have been reviewing current agency budgets, the efficiency of those agencies and the funding requests submitted by the agencies for the 1990-91 biennium. Already, LBB staff members have been conducting hearings with representatives of individual agencies, giving them a chance to explain and defend budget requests.

Later in the year, the staff and the board itself will meet and issue a series of final recommendations for the 1990-91 biennium. Those recommendations will be incorporated completely into the appropriations bill that will be filed at the beginning of the next legislative session.

Of course, that is not the end of the process. The House Appropriations and Senate Finance committees will conduct hearings on the bill, and some changes will be made in the committee process. There also is a chance a few additional changes will be made on the House floor (the Senate, by custom, allows no floor amendments to the appropriations bill).

Any changes, though, will be relatively minor. They will amount to less than 10 percent of the total budget. The budget submitted to the governor for final approval will bear more than a passing resemblance to the final report issued later this year by the LBB.

What was the reason for investing so much power in the LBB? Primarily, it was to provide for an orderly budget process. Rather than have a variety of appropriations bills introduced at the beginning of each session, we see only a single bill offered, and it is a bill that reflects an in-depth knowledge of the state's operations and needs.

Are there any drawbacks to the system? Potentially, the system could be used to circumvent the democratic process and to allow a single 10-person committee to have complete power in the budget process. Fortunately, the existing LBB has not allowed that to happen. All reasonable suggestions for change are accepted during a legislative session.

Also, the LBB's expertise has been known on occasion to encourage laziness on the part of others involved in the budget process. For example, last year when the governor's budget office suggested the governor line-item veto half of the Panhandle-Plains Museum's budget without really investigating independently the financial structure of the museum.

But, on the whole, the LBB system is a sound one that will serve the state well for years to come.

If you have any questions about the state's budget process, or other issues, please write us at P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711.

BABY BOOM

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — William Carter Co. says it has been licensed by Campbell Soup to market a line of baby clothing featuring the Campbell Kids logos.

The babywear maker says the infants wear industry is a $16 billion business. It says we are in the middle of a baby boom, with nearly 4 million babies expected to be born in 1988 in the United States.

Use pesticides safely in home

For most of us, pesticides are commonplace in the home or apartment. At the first sign of insects or other types of critters, we reach for whatever is handy to get rid of the pests.

"This kind of familiarity with pesticides can lead to carelessness and potential problems," said Dr. Phil Hamman, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"There are so many different products on the market today, all aimed at taking care of specific problems, such as home pests, lawn and garden pests, and plant diseases. Use of pesticides has become quite complicated over the years, and that's where the danger lies," Hamman said.

"With specific products for specific pest problems, safety with pesticides is all the more important today," said the entomologist. "There are hosts of potential risks associated with the use of all of these products as well as specific risks with certain ones."

"That's why it's so important to read the label of a particular product before buying it to make sure it's what you need to handle your specific situation. Then, before using that product, read the label again to make sure you are applying the pesticide properly and using the necessary precautions."

A label on a pesticide container is a legal document, so make sure it's in place at all times, Hamman said. That means storing the pesticide in an area protected from the weather so that neither the product nor the label will deteriorate. Never store leftover pesticides in an unmarked container. Of course, always store such products out of the reach of children; it's best to keep pesticides in a locked area.

Two major problems in using pesticides are breathing fumes and absorption through unprotected skin, said Hamman. Exposure to pesticides in these two ways can cause definite problems.

Always mix pesticides in an open area where there is plenty of fresh air. Wear gloves and other protective clothing. If you accidentally spill pesticide on your skin, wash immediately. If chemicals get into your eyes, flush them with water for 15 minutes and get medical attention immediately. If clothes get contaminated, take them off as soon as possible and wash your skin with soap and water. Wash contaminated clothing twice, separately, in a strong detergent.
