Iranians To Boycott U.N. Council Meeting

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran announced today it will boycott a U.N. Security Council meeting on the American Embassy takeover, further darkening prospects for an early resolution of the dangerous showdown with the United States. A U.N. spokesman said the meeting would go on nevertheless.

Hundreds of thousands of Iranian demonstrators surrounded the embassy today, the 27th day of captivity there for 50 American hostages, but there was no violence.

Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, the man newly named by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini as acting foreign minister, announced at a news conference. "According to the decision made by the Revolutionary Council, we are not attending the Security Council meeting tomorrow."

He reiterated Khomeini's contention that the Security Council is under the thumb of the United States and said any Council decision "is not binding and we don't accept it."

The United States is seeking a council resolution calling for release of the hostages. But Iran wanted the council to take up its allegations against the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and its demand that the United States surrender him to the Iranians before release of the hostages can be considered. Iran says the shah must be put on trial on charges of mass murder and looting the country's wealth.

Ghotbzadeh said Iran would "keep our contacts" with the Security Council for possible further discussions.

In New York, Rudolf Stajduhar, spokesman for U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, said the meeting would go on as planned, but it might be rescheduled from Saturday night to Saturday morning or afternoon.

Ghotbzadeh also said he welcomed the decision of the Mexican government Thursday to bar re-entry to the shah, who has been told by his doctors he is able to leave his New York hospital bed. Egypt's President Anwar Sadat today repeated his offer to the shah to establish a permanent residence in Egypt.

America's U.N. ambassador, Donald McHenry, told NBC-TV there was a possibility the Council might adopt sanctions against Iran. "We have to take some kind of effective measures to pressure Iran," he said. On Thursday, the U.S. government urged the International Court of Justice in the Netherlands to order the release of the hostages.

Legions of demonstrators surrounded the U.S. Embassy today, the holiest and most emotionally charged day of the Shiite Moslem calendar, but dispersed peacefully after six hours of prayers. Thousands more joined another prayer meeting at Tehran University.

Rogers Named C-C Head Again

Ken Rogers was re-elected as president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce when directors named officers for 1980 at a regular monthly meeting Thursday afternoon.

Tom Burdett, who will be a new member of the board in January, was elected as vice president. Joan Coupe, who has two more years on the board, was selected as treasurer. The new officers will be installed early in January and presented at the annual C of C Banquet Jan. 31.

Rogers will be the first president to serve two consecutive years since Earnest Langley (1968-69). The board has been without a vice president this year since Jake Webb resigned several months ago to move to Lubbock. Dr. Milton Adams is the current treasurer.

New directors recently elected to the board are Burdett, Bill Johnson, Bob Gentry and Bill Reinauer. Directors whose terms expire in January are Paul Abalos, Jonny Cloud, Raymond Schlabs and Speedy Nieman. Holdover directors are Jerry Payne, Dave Hopper, Butch White, Rogers, Adams, Earl Brookhart, Coupe and James Hull.

In other business Thursday afternoon, the board heard committee progress reports from executive vice president Mike Carr, heard an industrial development report from Rogers, and a report of Women's Division activities from president Mary Herring.

Mrs. Herring also introduced Frances Berry, who will be installed as the Women Division president in January. Three of the chamber's new directors—Bob Gentry, Bill Johnson and Tom Burdett—were also present at the meeting.

Carr reported the chamber conducted a very successful Follies this year, with the net proceeds from the show expected to be approximately $3,500. He also reported that the chamber had paid the final payment on a bank loan and was out of debt.

Carr expressed appreciation to the directors who worked with the Follies' project. He also announced that the sports committee was sponsoring the annual Hereford Basketball Tournament this weekend, with 16 teams entered in two divisions—boys and girls.

The C of C Fun Breakfast was held Thursday morning, and Carr reported that 212 people attended the event. He praised merchants for their displays at the breakfast. Rogers announced that an industrial prospect was to visit Hereford in the near future, and that the chamber was pursuing several other prospects for small industries.

Higher Defense Spending Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is likely to yield somewhat to demands for higher defense spending as a price for support of the SALT II treaty, Senate sources report.

But it remains to be seen whether the move can rescue the embattled treaty.

A solid majority of the Senate Armed Services Committee is reported to be pressing for a vote next week to recommend that the Senate not ratify SALT II unless the pact is drastically revised.

And Frank Moore, the administration's chief lobbyist on Capitol Hill, acknowledged that there is no chance the Senate will be able to complete work on the treaty this year.

Thus, the matter will be swept into the uncertain political currents of 1980 with its eventual ratification becoming less and less likely as time passes.

An aide to one of the Senate critics of the treaty said there is little chance debate will be permitted to begin this year at all because opposition forces plan to filibuster any motion to begin consideration of the agreement.

Senate sources said the administration has made it known in Congress it is considering calling for real growth — after inflation — in military spending of 4 percent to 5 percent in its five-year plan with a real growth increase of 5 percent to 7 percent in the defense budget for fiscal 1981. Fiscal 1981 starts Oct. 1, 1980.

The plan is said to contain proposals for new Navy ships and for new air and sea lift capability in a spending proposal that would add billions of dollars to budgetary outlays.

But Republican critics indicated they believe the plan includes no significant initiatives in the field of strategic nuclear weaponry of the type they say is essential to offset growing Soviet military might.

The treaty sets ceilings on the numbers of long-range missiles and bombers of the two superpowers through 1985. It also would require that by the end of 1981 the Soviets destroy some aging missiles and that the United States destroy some B-52 bombers. Other provisions of the 73-page text outline development of new weapons systems.

Meanwhile, aides to Senate Armed Services Committee members critical of SALT II made it clear that an attempt will be made early next week to force a vote to approve a majority report concluding the

Senators of Oil States Willing To Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil-state senators appear willing to accept a $22.5 billion boost in the "windfall-profits" tax if they can win assurance no other increase will be approved.

Some senators who are sponsoring other amendments that would add an additional $60 billion or so to the tax have indicated support for the bargain.

But no agreement is in hand yet and, as a result, Senate action on the bill is being blocked for the third day.

Following a day of closed-door negotiations Thursday, Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd took the tax bill off this morning's agenda to allow time for more bargaining. He said he is optimistic the stalemate can be broken later in the day.

At the heart of the impasse is an amendment by Sens. John Chafee, R-

Hance, 6 Others Call for Release Deadline

By SOLL SUSSMAN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven Texas congressmen are calling for President Carter to set a deadline for military action if peaceful efforts do not secure the release of American hostages in Iran.

Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas, stressed that his signature on a proposed resolution sponsored by 54 congressmen was not intended as criticism of the president's actions so far.

"I firmly and thoroughly support the president in his handling of this difficult matter," Stenholm said. "The president is the man that's carrying the mail."

The proposal was introduced by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., on Thursday. It calls the Iranian action "an act of war" and urges the president to set a deadline for "increasingly severe" military operations if the hostages are not released.

The other six Texas co-sponsors were Democratic Reps. Marvin Leath of Marlin, Sam Hall of Marshall, Kent Hance of Lubbock, Joe Wyatt of Victoria and Richard White of El Paso and Republican Rep. Jim Collins of Dallas.

Stenholm, of Stamford, said the resolution did not suggest a time or place, or even urge that Carter resort to military action.

"We stand behind that action, but we leave it up to him to put the numbers in," Stenholm said.

The resolution attracted a cool reaction from the House leadership, including Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth who said that it might be harmful "at this particular time."

Leath said he signed "because in my judgment it strengthens the president's position to negotiate. It illustrates very clearly to the whole world that the people, through their Congress, back up whatever action the president might have to take."

He added, however, that he was "in total agreement" with Carter's apparent intent to explore all peaceful options first.

Collins said a specific deadline might not be appropriate now, but he would support a move for a more specific resolution in 10 days. He was confident that the crisis would be resolved by then.

"I think part of the problem has been that Iran has thought they were on a one-way street ... and they never realized the serious implications of what they'd done," Collins said.

"I do think they need to realize it's not just one person (the president) over here. This matter is considered most seriously by the entire country, and the Congress is the voice of the country."

Hance said he considered the resolution a way to tell Carter there would be congressional support if the president decided it was necessary to take military steps.

"It's not meant to be critical at all," Hance said.

White said the resolution since it would be signed by a minority of congressmen would be able to express a more militant stand than would be possible for the president to state.

"I think it's really reflective of a lot of the people, of a lot of our constituents. Many people in this country are wanting to see some kind of action," he said.

The El Paso congressman added that he would have liked to have seen other alternatives, such as economic ones, laid out in the proposed resolution.

"We have a lot of options still left much short of military action," he said.

Watt and Hall were not available immediately for comment.

The measure was referred to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Its chairman, Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., said he had no plans to act on it.

Mrs. Manning Services Set

Services for Mrs. Earline D. Manning, 70, of 327 Ave. B will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home with the Rev. Clarence Powell, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, and Ed Warren of Hereford officiating. Burial will be in Rest Lawn Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Manning died yesterday in Deaf Smith General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Manning was born in Hereford. She married Roy G. Manning in 128 in Hereford and was a member of Trinity Baptist Church, Rebekah Lodge, and was a homemaker.

Survivors include her husband; five sons, Harold Manning, Bob Manning, Roy Dale Manning and Jim Manning, all of Hereford, and Glen Earl Manning of Dalhart; a sister, Mrs. Susie Mae Curtisinger of Hereford; 17 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Carter's Mother Would Kill Ruler

BOW, N.H. (AP) - Lillian Carter said if she had enough money she would pay someone to kill the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. The audience at the Bow Men's Club stood and cheered.

At the White House, a spokesman said late Thursday: "I am sure Miss Lillian did not expect anyone to take that comment seriously."

The president's mother was asked during a lengthy question-and-answer session Thursday night, how she would "handle fanatics" like the religious leader of Iran if she were president.

"If I had a million dollars to spare, I'd look for someone to kill him," she responded, to much applause.

Mrs. Carter, 81, defended her son's position in the crisis in which 50 Americans are being held hostage at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran to press Iran's demand that the deposed shah be returned from the United States to stand trial.

"How can you send the shah back to a sword? To certain death?" she asked.

Mexico Says No To Deposed Shah

MEXICO CITY (AP) - Mexico turned its back on the shah and jarred his U.S. hosts, declaring it will not renew the deposed monarch's tourist visa because his presence "would be contrary to the best interests of the country." There was speculation the shah might seek sanctuary in Egypt or the Caribbean.

In Washington, the state Department said Mexico's announcement Thursday night would not change the Carter administration's position on the shah's stay in the United States.

"We have said all along that it is up to him to make his decisions about travel, both as to time and destination," said spokesman Walter Ramsay.

Asked if the Mexican decision had come as a surprise, one U.S. official, who insisted on remaining anonymous, replied: "Yes, you're damn right."

Mexican Foreign Minister Jorge Castaneda announced his government's decision in a statement read to reporters. Saying the situation involving the shah "had changed radically," Castaneda said it would make "no sense for him to return to Mexico." The foreign minister refused to answer questions.

U.S. Steel Raises

Prices after Closings

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Two days after announcing the closing of 16 plants, U.S. Steel Corp. said it would raise prices on two-thirds of its steel products.

But the boosts, effective Jan. 1, are not enough to offset steeply rising costs, the nation's largest steelmaker said Thursday. The increases amount to about 2.6 percent when averaged over the entire steel product line.

"The increases are within the president's voluntary anti-inflation guidelines but are insufficient to recover the continuing inflationary cost increases being experienced," the company said.

On Tuesday, U.S. Steel said it would shut 16 plants employing 13,000 people because they were no longer profitable. One of the reasons offered for the move was an inadequate cost-price relationship.

Some major steelmakers said they were studying U.S. Steel's price move. Others had no comment.

But if past practice is followed, other producers will match the new prices because U.S. Steel dominates the marketplace and because all steel companies are feeling the same cost pressures.

Among the products affected are steel sheets, used heavily in consumer goods like automobiles and appliances.

Gold Up, Buck Down

In Midst of Rumors

LONDON (AP) - Gold prices soared as much as $5 an ounce in Europe today while the dollar fell against most major European currencies for the third straight day.

Unconfirmed rumors that at least one of some 50 American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran had been killed surfaced in Far East and European markets, but were denied by a student militant at the embassy, who was reached by telephone.

One currency trader in Frankfurt, West Germany said the rumor had "confused" the market there, but did not appear to significantly alter rates.

As the rumor spread in Brussels, the dollar slumped quickly to 28.17 Belgian francs down from 28.42 francs on Thursday.

The dollar's decline on most European markets appeared to reflect continuing concern over the stalemated embassy siege.

In London, the dollar fell nearly 2 cents against the British pound which was quoted at $2.2018, from $2.1840 late Thursday.

Crash Scene Witnessed

EDITOR'S NOTE - Paul Cavanagh, a New Zealand journalist, was among a team of officials and crash investigators who reached the site of the Air New Zealand DC-10 which crashed into an Antarctic volcano Wednesday, killing all 257 persons aboard. Here is his pool dispatch.

By PAUL CAVANAGH
MOUNT EREBUS, Antarctica (AP) - Smoke from Antarctica's only active volcano meanders slowly skyward. A few hundred yards away, one of the few recognizable pieces of wreckage from an Air New Zealand DC-10 offers mute testimony to one of aviation's history's worst disasters.

This is the scene on the slopes of 12,400-foot Mount Erebus, where the jetliner crashed and exploded Wednesday on a sightseeing trip, killing all 257 persons aboard, including 21 Americans.

Rescue workers, mountaineers and Air New Zealand officials today began the task of recovering and identifying bodies and establishing the cause of the crash.

So searing was the heat of the explosion that surrounding snow has been glazed solid. At the time of the crash the aircraft was estimated to have still had two-thirds of its load unused.

Part of the aircraft, a couple of wheels, a large section containing one or five windows, part of a wing and an intact hot food container are among the blackened remains of the giant aircraft.

At the 2,000-foot mark on the steep snow-swept northern slopes of the mountain, a vertical black stripe marks clearly the spot where the DC-10 came to a fiery end.

Early estimates are that only between 50 and 70 bodies will be recoverable. The fiery blast was so intense that some bodies have been located hundreds of yards away from the main wreckage.

Some of these have clothing intact - an indication that death came from the blast of the explosion rather than from the fire itself.

A team from New Zealand's Scott Base, 25 miles away, has set up a 20-man camp at the crash site. A key to the cause of the crash will be the recovery of the plane's "black box" flight recorder.

The area has been roped, and dangerous crevasses marked. The northern slope of Erebus is pockmarked with crevasses.

According to Scott Base personnel, the three previous DC10 sightseeing flights to the Scott Base area this season, all came in at varying heights.

The first was not seen from the ground because of low clouds; the second flew past so high that a telephoto lens was required to capture it on film, while the third swept much lower over the New Zealand and American bases.

The fourth flight never got as far as Scott Base. It was due at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday and the alert was raised shortly after 2 p.m. when the aircraft had not been sighted and when radio calls to the plane, which had been acknowledged on its approach to Ross Island, went unanswered.

Store Thefts Reported

Police investigated two shoplifting incidents Thursday, arresting a 10-year-old female at TG&Y in one.

The girl was referred to juvenile authorities.

Allsup's, 910 E. Park, reported that two white males entered the store, walked around for a short time then left, with one of them carrying a container of beef jerky valued at $16. Police are planning arrests in connection with the theft.

Johnnie Ingram, Blue Water Garden Apts. No. 115, reported that someone entered her apartment through a bedroom window sometime in the last week and stole clothing and jewelry.

Officers issued 11 traffic citations and investigated three minor traffic accidents Tuesday.

Iran

carried religious and political banners and stood with their backs to the main gates, facing the direction of the Moslem holy city of Mecca, more than 1,000 miles to the southwest in Saudi Arabia.

Many of the demonstrators rallied first at the university campus, where rows upon rows of women were seated on the ground and dressed in the traditional black head-to-toe veil. Ranks of men, also in black, carried chain whips on their shoulders to signify Islam's fight against evil.

"Everybody's going to the espionage center," said one marcher in his 20s as the procession to the embassy began. He referred to Khomeini's claim that the American mission in Tehran was a "spy nest."

Khomeini, who is orchestrating his country's holy war against America, called on Iran's Shiite Moslem majority to use the Ashura holy day, a time of ritual mass mourning for the founder of the Moslem sect, to vent their fury against the United States.

Tens of thousands turned up outside the embassy Thursday night, chanting prayers and shouting the Islamic watchword: "Allahu Akbar!" - "God is Great!"

The Iranians are threatening to put the embassy hostages on trial as alleged. But to kill the amendment, and the 58-39 vote indicated it was likely to pass. But Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., and other oil-state members began talking against the proposal and blocked a vote on it.

After a round of negotiations, Dole said Thursday that he and his allies might give in and take the Chafee-Bradley amendment if they could be assured other proposals for toughening the tax would be dropped.

Chafee agreed but said he could speak for no other senator on his side.

Byrd was pressing hardest for an end to the stalemate, but he said the Senate would deserve the scorn of Americans if it failed to toughen the "windfall-profits"

tax. "I've never been one...to use the oil companies as a whipping boy...but this institution has a duty to raise the revenues in this bill," Byrd said. "The American people expect the Senate to do that."

If the Senate failed, it would become the target of justifiable criticism, Byrd added.

The Carter administration also is urging that the tax be increased and is supporting three pending amendments that would add an estimated $60 billion to the 11-year total.

Those amendments would impose a 20 percent tax on various types of oil that the Senate Finance Committee voted to exempt, subject oil owned by the states to the tax and make a part of the tax permanent.

It is those three amendments Dole and his allies want to see junked before they agree to accept the $22.5 billion increase sponsored by Chafee and Bradley.

Pressure to approve the Chafee-Bradley amendment increased after the Senate voted earlier in the week to cut the tax to help independent operators. Independents are not associated with major oil companies but drill about 90 percent of the nation's exploratory wells.

treaty is unfair, unverifiable and "not in the national security interests of the United States" as it now stands.

Some of these aides - who like all of the Senate sources asked not to be identified by name - said they can count at least 11 votes for that position and only 6 votes against it. They said that includes all of the committee's Republicans and at least four Democrats.

meeting included Rogers, Adams, Nieman, Cloud, Hull, Coupe, Earl Brookham and Raymond Schlabs. Absent were Jerry Payne, Butch White, Paul Abalos and Dave Hopper.

SALT II supporters disputed that claim, saying the margin is far narrower. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted 9-6 to recommend Senate approval of the pact.

Police Seeking Suspect

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas police recoiling from the monumental embarrassment associated with the accidental release of an accused killer say they will not rest until the fugitive is caught.

"We'll find him. It may take three years, but we'll find him," vowed Sgt. John T. Williams.

Police say they know what kind of beer Fred Baker drinks, what color clothes he prefers and that he is right-handed. What they don't know is where to find him.

Baker is charged with the slaying of Dallas Morning News photographer Larry Provart.

He was released earlier this month because of an error in departmental paperwork. Dallas police have assigned Williams to the manhunt on a full-time basis until the missing fugitive is captured.

"Here's my card. If you see him, call me, day or night. We've got some money for you if it's him," he tells pimps, prostitutes, barflies, bartenders, pool players and by-standers in the South Dallas neighborhood where Baker, 23, grew up.

Williams, a 16-year police department veteran, says he rarely sleeps without being interrupted by the phone. Informants told him last week Baker was holed up in a tenement apartment.

Officers with a search warrant raided the place, but found only a man who looked like Baker. "Last week he was seen in four places at one time," said Williams.

The detective says he has gotten to "know" Baker from his search so far. He drinks Er-langer beer, has acne scars on his right cheek, is right-handed and likes gold and purple clothes.

But Williams says he is not confident of finding Baker soon. For one thing, police think Baker is also the target of an underworld manhunt, because he is suspected of killing the wife of a known dope dealer in an argument over a narcotics transaction.

"That hampers our operation, because now Baker is staying away from known

Tellico Dam Battle Ends with Lake

LENOIR CITY, Tenn. (AP) - The 43-year battle over the Tellico Dam ended with the Little Tennessee River gurgling a few last bubbles as floodgates dropped to turn it into a 16,000-acre lake.

"I'm glad to see it filled finally," retired Tennessee Valley Authority Chairman Aubrey Wagner said while watching a crane lower the last two gates into place Thursday. "It's potentially the best hydro project TVA ever built."

In 1936, Wagner, then a young engineer fresh out of college, helped conceive plans for the dam. Three decades later, as head of the seven-state federal agency born out of Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal, he convinced Congress to take the $130 million project off the shelf.

The last gate of six seven-ton gates fell into place at 11:23 a.m. ending a fight in which TVA at one time or another beat back attacks of farmers, trout fishermen and conservationists in addition to Cherokee Indians and the 3-inch snail darter.

The Cherokee, whose burial grounds are being covered by the lake, reacted with bitterness.

"I cannot find words strong enough to convey my contempt for the lack of honor to be found among TVA and federal officials," John A. Crowe, principal chief of Cherokee's Eastern Band, said Thursday.

TVA said it will rebury the Indian remains, which have been stored for two years at the University of Tennessee, at a site above the high-water mark.

Robert Stivers, the tribe's attorney, said the Cherokee still intend to press a federal suit to have the lake turned back into a river on the claim that their religious freedom has been violated.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
I would like to thank all the people of Hereford for being so kind and loving. I would especially thank the guys at The Barber Shop and KPAN, also my many friends.

Due to unfortunate circumstances, I will have to leave Hereford with a lot of regrets, but there are others I have to consider. If the whole world was like the people here in Hereford, there would be no conflicts or hatred.

Again, thanks one and all. May God bless you and keep you.

Dear Editor:
Once again we come to the close of another football season. This one, was much better than the last five or six seasons. A .500 season to a lot of people would be like kissing your sister, but to people of Hereford, it was great.

Hereford might have been 7 and 3 if it hadn't been for the scoreboard clock having not enough time or too much time left in the fourth quarter. The team and the coaching staff need a pat on the back for the job they did this season. The class and character they showed all season should be commended.

However, there is another part of the football program in Hereford that seems to have been forgotten by some people and most of all by the Hereford Brand. The junior varsity and sophomore teams are the other part I am talking about. It's strange to me and a lot of other people why the Brand's sports editor can't seem to find time to cover either of these two teams.

Maybe some people in Hereford don't realize just what a fine season these teams have had this year because of the Brand's neglect.

The junior varsity, for example, went 9-1 with six shutouts. It seems that the Brand didn't give these kids any ink the whole season. The Brand didn't realize that these two teams spend as much time and effort in practice and getting ready as the varsity team. These are the kids which are going to make Hereford a state champion in the next couple of years, but I guess the sports editor can't see that.

Maybe it would be a good idea to do a story on the junior varsity and the sophomore teams. It's late, but better than never - HUH!

Sincerely,

Ann Landers

Degree Received

DEAR ANN LANDERS:

Twelve years ago I wrote to you expressing my feelings about being an adopted child. Now that I have completed my master's degree, I am writing again, and I hope you will publish this letter to my "natural" mother.

"Dear Mom": "I now have completed my master's degree in education, and I'm not sure where the future will take me—but I do know that I will make it in this world.

"Twenty-four years ago you had the strength and courage to put yourself out of my life. You gave me the opportunity to grow up with a wonderful, loving family. How lucky I was to be placed in that particular home. I have been reared with discipline, love and understanding.

"With every birthday, I know you are out there somewhere wondering if I'm happy, if I'm safe and what kind of a person I became. Mom, I'm just fine. My life is great. I have met so many loving people. As a teacher, I have been blessed with some wonderful experiences. I think that being an adopted child gave me special insight into the emotional needs of all humans.

"There is a recent craze for adopted children to seek out their natural parents and confront them. Please don't worry about me doing such a thing. Your secret is safe. I wonder if these children realize how much heartache they can cause.

"You are a wonderful person for having given me the chance to have such a beautiful start in life, Mom.

"When you are walking down the street and happen to glance at a brown-haired young woman who looks a little like you—or maybe my father, whoever he may be—just smile, knowing that I am truly happy and that you have a special place in my heart."—Your Daughter

DEAR DAUGHTER: What a lovely tribute to every mother who gave up her child for adoption. Bless you for writing that beautiful letter.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Once again the season of "worthy causes" is upon us and I am deluged with stuff I did not order, cannot use and do not want.

I have received key chains, neckties, boxes of stationery, religious articles, paperweights, and personalized items (with my initials...). You would not believe the junk that has come to this house. Some of the merchandise carries a price tag. Other items have come with a note saying, "Send what you can afford."

I've been told that once you get on a sucker list you can never get off because one outfit sells its list of names to another. It's endless.

I am tired of paying postage to send back items I did not order. A woman I work with says I am under no obligation to return anything. What about, Ann?—Super Yokel

DEAR S.Y.: You are under no obligation to return merchandise you did not order. Throw it out.

CONFIDENTIAL to Drowning in Debt and Need to Know How to Get Out and Stay Out: Welcome to the club. Write to the National Foundation for Consumer Credit, Suite 510, 1819 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006. You will be put in touch with Consumer Credit Counseling, a free service for people with credit difficulty. They also have a terrific consumer education program.

Fur Show Benefit Slated at Lubbock

Soroptimist International of Lubbock presents its third annual fur show benefit, "Christmas Dreams In Fur". The buffet dinner and show will take place on Monday, December 3, at 7 p.m., at the Koko Palace, 52nd and Avenue Q, Lubbock.

Ms. Gene Gragg, owner of Gragg Furrs Inc., is the only woman Golden Guild Furrier in the world. She will be showing her furs and commenting the benefit.

Admission is $7 with all proceeds going to Soroptimist service projects. These projects include grants to women medical students, youth citizenship awards, and funds to Camp Wigwam for handicapped children.

Holiday Party Planned By West Hereford Club

Plans for a Christmas party and gift exchange were discussed recently by members of West Hereford Extension Homemakers Club during a meeting in the home of Alemda Penman.

The meeting was opened by Nettie Boyd, who led a word quiz game for four other members present. It was announced that the club will assist Westway EH Chapter with their Country Christmas Bazaar on Dec. 8 at the Community Center.

The club's next meeting will be the Christmas party Dec. 11 at 2:30 p.m. in Nettie Boyd's home. Each guest is to bring a gift.

After the business session, refreshments were served to Evelyn Bell, Nettie Boyd, Artie Frost and Mrs. Penman.

Disco Dance To Be Held For Teens

A disco dance sponsored by Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority is to be held Saturday night at the Community Center from 8 p.m. until 12 midnight. Admission will cost $3 for singles and $5 per couple.

The disco music show will be presented by Andy from KHBJ Radio in Amarillo.

YES, VIRGINIA...
By Joan Dwyer

There really is a Santa Claus. This time of year always produce article upon article concerning pros and cons regarding harmful effects of Santa Claus!

Each Christmas at our house we bake a cake, have a party, and sing Happy Birthday to Jesus. Consequently even a two-year-old could tell you what Christmas is all about.

Because Christmas represents the Gift of Love, it seems logical that Santa Claus, who represents the spirit of giving and love, has a place in our celebration.

I do believe some families have a tendency to overplay Santa, and even use him as a threat. (Remember switches and coal? And that list he checks?)

But the elements of surprise, excitement, and love far outweigh any harmful effect that the "myth" might conjure up.

Besides, I do believe in the spirit of love and giving. Yes, Virginia...

New Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin LaFleur of Plainview are the parents of a son, Kenneth Daniel, born Nov. 22 in Lubbock. The infant weighed 7 lbs. 8 1/2 oz. He has a one-year-old brother, Kevin Michael. Grandparents of the baby are Mr. and Mrs. David LaFleur of Wichita, Kans. and Frank Bezner, a former Hereford resident who now lives in Amarillo.

Holiday Dinner Planned by Moms

The Aggie Moms have devised a new idea for their annual holiday dinner. Since the club itself and the numbers attending the dinner have continually increased, the Moms decided to work less and serve a catered dinner this year.

On Dec. 27 at 7 p.m., Savage's Hickory Pit will serve a barbecue meal at the Community Center to all those purchasing tickets ahead of time. The event will be open for the first time to anyone wishing to join with the students, former students, parents and other friends of Texas A&M University.

The tickets, costing $4 each, will be on sale at Clark's Draperies in Sugarland Mall, The Vogue downtown and Nutrition Services Associates offices in Park Plaza. The deadline for ticket sales will be early on Dec. 26.

Each year the Aggie Mothers Club treat their A&M students and other family members with the dinner and social. High school seniors interested in attending Texas A&M University are invited to come to get acquainted with the local "Aggies".

At Tuesday's meeting, the Aggie Moms elected several officers who will take up their duties in January. Helen Eades will become vice president in charge of projects and will be assisted by two new members, Opal Blakely and Merle Clark. Elizabeth Brown of Adrian now holds that office. Katie Wright of Dimmitt will succeed Lois Beavers as corresponding secretary. Linda Hicks will pass the treasurer's books on to Teresa Arthro. Betty Koelzer was re-elected to serve as reporter.

Barbara Hardin, Norma Hendon and Mary Lou Aven served as the nominating committee. The remaining officers will be elected in November 1980.

Charmayne Klett, president, announced that the Hereford club will host the District 10 meeting in 1980. Amarillo and Lubbock join Hereford as members of District 10, which is affiliated with the state's Aggie Mothers Club. Receiving the certificate for the largest representation at the Oct. 27 meeting in Lubbock were Barbara Hardin, Margaret Ann Durham, Mary Lyles, Sue Hollingsworth and Pat Clark.

Elizabeth Brown commended the club for conducting the most successful bake sale in the club's history. More than $600 was netted Nov. 10 for the club's scholarship fund.

Bake Sales Scheduled Saturday

Two bake sales are planned tomorrow at Sugarland Mall as Young Mother's Club and St. Anthony's Women's Organization conduct separate fund-raising projects.

The public is invited to attend both activities. The Young Mothers will be selling decorated cookies, other baked goods and Christmas bell ornaments all day in the Mall. Baked goods will be offered to Christmas shoppers in the Mall from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. by the St. Anthony's Women.

Girls Win, Boys Lose to Canyon

The Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce tournament opened yesterday with games going on all day at the La Plata Gymnasium.

In the girls division, Hereford, Clovis, Borger and New Deal will advance to the semi-finals while Pampa, Monterey, Amarillo, and Canyon will advance in the boys division.

The first game of day, saw the Hereford girls junior varsity lose to Clovis 63-14. In the second game Pampa dumped Dunbar 55-38, the second girls game pitted Amarillo against New Deal with New Deal coming out on top 49-35. Monterey defeated Dimmitt to advance, while the Pampa girls lost to Borger 54-37. Amarillo downed Morton by four and the Hereford Varsity boys dropped its game to Canyon 63-51.

The Hereford Girls won its second game of the year when they downed Dunbar 53-20.

The Whitefaces girls jumped out to a 16-9 lead at the end of the first quarter behind an 11 points in three quarters of basketball, two in the second period, four in the third period and five in the final period of play.

Hereford held a 28-11 halftime lead and came out of the locker room and continued to build on its lead increasing the margin to 22 by the end of the third period.

The final quarter of the game brought Beverly Nixon off the bench and she continued where she left off scoring eight points in the final period to help the Herd increase its lead and whiz by Dunbar by a final score of 53-20.

Hereford opened the game in a man to man full court press and gave the Eagles a hard time all night long moving the ball down the court. Canyon jumped on the scoreboard first but pressure was being put on throughout the entire first quarter of play.

The Eagles held the lead until late in the first quarter when Hereford took the lead—briefly 13-12. Canyon jumped right back out in front to lead the game 15-14 and the end of the period.

The Herd closed in on the Eagles in the final period of play cutting into the lead chunks at a time and narrowing it down to 11 points. Canyon managed to hold off the rest of the surge and won the game 63-51.

Jody Richardson, Canyon Head Coach said "Someone forgot to tell Hereford to quit. You get a team down by 23 and they are suppose to lose some momentum, but they didn't."

Coach Bobby Decker of Hereford commented "We had a lull in the third quarter and we still aren't shooting well enough to win ball games."

Hereford had three men in double figures. Norman Hill had 10, Joe Walker 11 and Darrell Polk was high point man for the Whiteface with 14. The Eagles also placed three men in double figures with Kendall Walling leading all scores with 18 points, Bill Grubkey and 15 and Butch Beardon dumped in 10.

Hereford will meet Morton today, while Canyon will play Amarillo High tonight at 7:30.

Magic is Gone, But Michigan Goes On

AP Sports Writer
The defending NCAA basketball champions would appear to be somewhat defenseless this year.

"I suppose I should retire now," says Michigan State Coach Jud Heathcote jokingly in what must seem like a half-truth to some observers.

With Earvin "Magic" Johnson and Greg Kelsey gone, Heathcote's once-high and mighty team is back down on earth and will be just another one of the boys in the Big Ten.

In fact, Michigan State—which opens its season tonight against Princeton in the Lapchick Tournament in New York—will probably have to take a back seat in perhaps the nation's strongest conference.

"The Big Ten is better than last year," Heathcote says of a league that produced both the NCAA champion and the NIT winner (Indiana) in 1979. "We have great balance in our league, a number of really good teams, and it seems that two of them are head and shoulders above the rest of us: Indiana and Ohio State."

As for Michigan State specifically, Heathcote feels: "We'll have a decent club. We'll do the best we can with the personnel we have. We're not very big and that's liable to catch up to us in the meat grinder of this talented league. We didn't recruit any superstars, either."

The benefits of winning the NCAA championship, as Heathcote underscores, usually come the second year after a team wins, not the first. That's because by March the players have generally made up their minds where they want to go.

"Look at Kentucky—they won the NCAA title in 1978 and look at the recruiting year they had this season, one of the best ever," said Heathcote in reference to four fine players recruited by Joe Hall: Sam Bowie, Derrick Hord, Charles Hurt and Dirk Minniefield.

Michigan State will engage Princeton in the second game of an opening-night doubleheader in the Lapchick tourney. Host St. John's, ranked No. 16 in the nation, will face Oral Roberts in the opener.

"They play tough defense, and what I call a 'team control offense,'" Heathcote says of Princeton. "They're very seldom out of a game."

In other games tonight involving the ranked teams, No. 2 Kentucky and No. 14 Texas A&M will play in the Great Alaskan Shootout Tournament; No. 3 Duke and No. 6 North Carolina will be in the Big Four Tourney; No. 8 UCLA faces Idaho State; No. 11 Purdue plays Colorado State; No. 13 Virginia takes on Johns Hopkins; No. 15 BYU meets Illinois; No. 17 Oregon State plays Eastern Washington and No. 19 Georgetown faces Bowie State.

In Saturday's games, it's No. 1 Indiana vs. Miami of Ohio; No. 4 Ohio State against Ohio; No. 5 Notre Dame playing Valparaiso; No. 7 LSU vs. Florida; No. 10 Louisville against South Alabama; No. 12 Syracuse vs. Cornell; No. 18 Marquette vs. Eastern Montana and No. 20 Kansas against Nevada-Reno. No. 9 DePaul opens Dec. 5 against Wisconsin.

Hereford To Host Tournament

The Hereford bowling alley will be the host of a PBA tournament this weekend with competition going on Saturday and Sunday.

The total purse for the tournament will be $7,000 with $1500 going to the winner of the tournament.

Some of the people competing in the tournament will be Garry Dickinson who is a six time national champion and won the $70,000 Amarillo open last July. Also competing will be two time national champion Henry Gonzales, John Denton, Bobby Cooper and J.B. Blaylock.

The tournament will open Saturday morning at 9:00 a.m. Two squads each of 32 will each bowl a 12 game qualifying set. The first squad will bowl eight games at 9:00 Saturday and the second squad at 1:00 p.m. The bowlers will then return Sunday morning to bowl the final four games at 8:00 and 10:00 a.m.

The top 12 contenders will then bowl a round robin to determine the champion.

The tournament is open to the public at no charge.

Metzger May Still Play

HOUSTON (AP)—Shortstop Roger Metzger of the San Francisco Giants, severed parts of four fingers on his right hand with a power saw while building a storage cabinet, according to Giant officials and a family friend.

Metzger was working on the cabinet in the garage of his off-season home in Brenham, Texas, about 60 miles northwest of Houston, when the saw hit a knot in the wood.

Doctors refused to speculate about how the injury would affect Metzger's baseball career but indicated there was "better than a 50 percent chance he could swing a bat and grip a ball."

In 1976 Metzger played 59 consecutive errorless games, setting a major league record for shortstops.

SURPRISING SCORE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Call it an unexpected dividend: Ted McKnight of the Kansas City Chiefs ran 70 yards for a touchdown against the Baltimore Colts in the opening game of the season. All he was trying to do was make the one yard needed for a first down.

Cowboy, Giants to Play In Dallas

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

There was a time when a National Football League team in need would welcome the sight of the New York Giants showing up on the schedule.

The Giants were like the NFL's Salvation Army, offering tender loving care to the needy. But lately, this team has turned ornery, winning six of its last eight games and salvaging the season. Can they still find some sympathy and solace for the staggering Dallas Cowboy's?

If ever a team needed understanding it is the Cowboys, who've slipped one game back of Philadelphia in the NFC East race. Depend on the Giants. They'll come through for a Dallas club that badly needs a soft shoulder.

The Pro Picker feels the same way. "Another tough week wound up 7-7, leaving the season's mark at 111-69, .617.

The picks:
DALLAS 24, N.Y. GIANTS 17: Roger Staubach won't let the Cowboys lose again, now that they absolutely must win.

HOUSTON 31, CLEVELAND 27: Until realignment, the Browns are doomed to keep on chasing Pittsburgh and Houston in the AFC Central.

PITTSBURGH 30, CINCINNATI 10: Lost in the excitement of the World Series was the Bengals' embarrassment of the Steelers in their first game. Chuck Noll remembers, though.

LOS ANGELES 21, MINNESOTA 10: Vince Ferragamo gives a pretty good imitation of Pat Haden, doesn't he?

OAKLAND 34, NEW ORLEANS 21 (Monday night): It is written in the good book of football picks, thou shalt not pick an NFC team to beat an AFC team...

SAN DIEGO 27, ATLANTA 7: ... especially if the Falcons are the NFC team involved.

DENVER 20, BUFFALO 17: A bounce-back week after losing to Oakland. Joe Ferguson will need some fancy play-calls to beat the Broncos' defense.

TAMPA BAY 17, CHICAGO 13: See the Buc win their first title. See John McKay smile, just like when the Bucs were losing.

PHILADELPHIA 21, DETROIT 13: Ron Jaworski and the Eagles like that first place feeling.

WASHINGTON 16, GREEN BAY 7: The Redskins are tough at home and they'd better be at this stage.

SEATTLE 27, KANSAS CITY 14: Fourth-and-whatever and the Seahawks go for it. This team knows how to put fun back into football.

ST. LOUIS 24, SAN FRANCISCO 21: The 49ers are in one of those win-by-losing situations and the No. 1 draft choice is out there, waiting for them to keep on losing.

BALTIMORE 14, N.Y. JETS 10: The Jets are on a treadmill, going nowhere in a hurry. The Colts can tell them all about it. They've been there.

Sports Shorts

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Outfielder Garry Maddox of the Philadelphia Phillies won his fifth National League Gold Glove, as the 1979 winners were announced by The Sporting News.

Other N.L. recipients, chosen by managers and coaches, were outfielder Dave Winfield of the San Diego Padres; pitcher Phil Niekro of the Atlanta Braves; second baseman Manny Trillo, third baseman Mike Schmidt and catcher Bob Boone of the Phillies; outfielder Dave Parker, Pittsburgh Pirates; first baseman Keith Hernandez, St. Louis Cardinals, and shortstop Dave Concepcion, Cincinnati Reds.

In the American League, the winners were: outfielder Sixto Lezcano; first baseman Cecil Cooper; Milwaukee Brewers; third baseman Buddy Bell, Texas Rangers; shortstop Rick Burleson and outfielders Fred Lynn and Dwight Evans of the Boston Red Sox; second baseman Frank White, Kansas City Royals; catcher Jim Sundberg, Texas; and pitcher Jim Palmer, Baltimore Orioles.

TENNIS

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Sweden's Bjorn Borg survived a shaky start and went on to defeat John McEnroe 1-6, 6-1, 6-4 in the finals of the Masters Tennis Tournament.

Guillermo Vilas of Argentina downed Italy's Adriano Panatta, 6-4, 6-4 to take third place. Vitas Gerulaitis downed Peter Fleming 6-1, 6-1 to place fifth, and Roscoe Tanner served 13 aces to rout Italy's Corrado Barazzutti 6-2, 6-2 in other runner-up competition.

Confusion Will Be Cleared

By The Associated Press

The confusion about which teams will get the remaining bowl berths will be cleared Saturday, the final day of a regular college football season that began Sept. 1.

Both spots in the Sugar Bowl hinge on the outcome of the game between top-ranked and undefeated Alabama and Auburn, and two games in the Southwest Conference, Texas at Texas A&M and Houston versus Rice.

Those SWC games will determine whether Arkansas, which has completed its season, or Houston will be the host team for the Cotton Bowl.

"We think we've got a heck of a chance," said Auburn Coach Doug Barefield as his Tigers prepared for their trip to Birmingham, and an opportunity to spoil Alabama's perfect record, its bid for another Southeastern Conference championship and the trip to the Sugar Bowl.

Even though Alabama is a three-touchdown favorite, Barefield gets no argument from Bear Bryant, 'Bama's coach, who insists that Auburn "is the best team we have played this season."

The game will pit Alabama's defense, No. 1 in the nation, against the college football's best one-two running punch—James Brooks and Joe Cribbs. Brooks has gained 1,153 yards and Cribbs 1,027 to become the first two SEC backs from the same team to go over 1,000 yards in a season.

"There's a way to stop them," Bryant said. "With all pros on defense."

Alabama's defense may come close to that description. It has allowed only 40 points in its 10 games and has shut out five teams.

Should the Crimson Tide be upset, Bryant will probably take his team to the Fiesta Bowl.

On the more likely possibility that 'Bama will go to the Sugar Bowl, its opponent will be Arkansas or Texas. Arkansas will get the Sugar Bowl bid if Texas loses and Houston wins Saturday. Texas will be a Sugar Bowl team if it beats Texas A&M.

Houston and Texas go into Saturday's games with a chance to tie Arkansas for the SWC title. If both Texas and Houston win, or if both lose, Arkansas will be the Cotton Bowl host against Nebraska.

Houston will get the Cotton Bowl berth if it wins while Texas loses.

Thrown in there among the complicated possibilities is a Sun Bowl berth. Washington will play Texas or Houston in that game.

No bowl berth is involved in the meeting between Pitt and Penn State—both have accepted postseason invitations—but that intrastate rivalry does have added significance. The winner likely will win the Lambert Trophy, symbolic of the major Eastern college-football championship.

GOD'S WONDERS ARE REVEALED, NOT HIDDEN, BY AN ECLIPSE

An eclipse of the sun or moon, be it partial, total or whatever, is an exciting celestial event to most people in the part of the world where it will be visible. No matter how many of them we have already seen, they always promise a spectacular new behind-the-scenes look at the mechanics of the universe, right from our terrestrial vantage point, free and available to all. Much of our knowledge of the heavens has come as a result of these alignments of the sun, moon and earth, and they provide an even greater insight into the magnitude of God's creation. So look to the sky, enjoy the show, and on your return to earth go to the Church of your choice, where you will learn how you and this magnificent world you live in came into being.

"For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen..."

Judge Death Unsolved

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — No arrests appear imminent in the puzzling assassination here of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood despite the FBI's biggest investigation since the Jimmy Hoffa case, the FBI director said Thursday, exactly six months after Wood's death.

But the massive investigation has retained its momentum and the FBI is still optimistic it will solve the assassination, William Webster told reporters.

"I'm not prepared to make any announcement of any breakthroughs, I don't think an arrest is imminent," said Webster, a former federal judge. "It's a very complicated case. This is a slow, tedious, meticulous investigation, as is often the case in planned assassinations."

"There have been very recent indications of activity, which I can't talk about, that convince me the investigation has retained its momentum," he added. "The FBI is committed to the solution of the murder."

A sniper hidden outside Wood's townhouse the morning of May 29 fired a single .243-caliber bullet into Wood's spine as the judge climbed into his car to leave for work. It was the first assassination of a federal judge in more than a century.

Wood, 63, was known as "Maximum John" for his stiff sentences in drug cases.

U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd has said he believes the Wood assassination and the 1978 attempted assassination of then Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr were the work of drug smugglers who felt threatened by Wood and Kerr.

The Wood slaying was a very professional job, Boyd has said. There have been no arrests in either case despite massive investigations involving dozens of federal agents and prosecutors and several grand jury sessions.

Webster compared the investigation to the FBI attempts to solve the 1975 disappearance of Teamsters union leader Hoffa.

"We have interviewed several thousand people, probably more than we have interviewed in the Hoffa case," Webster said of the Wood investigation.

Asked if the Wood slaying might remain unsolved like the Hoffa case, Webster replied, "That's always a possibility. But there's nothing to indicate we've run out of steam."

Webster said his appearance in San Antonio on the six-month anniversary of Wood's death was merely a coincidence. "It was just a convenient time for me to be here," he said.

Webster said such a widespread investigation is producing information that will lead to other charges and convictions.

Federal grand jury investigations into narcotics trafficking and the Kerr and Wood assaults have centered on the Bandidos Motorcycle Club. Several Bandidos have been arrested in the past year on a variety of federal and state charges.

"We've learned a great deal about that organization and the individuals in that organization," Webster said. "The fallout from this investigation will serve the people of Texas."

According to court documents, Kerr identified members of the Bandidos in a police lineup as his assailants. An FBI agent has testified in court that a former Bandido recently sentenced to prison on a federal firearms violation is "a prime suspect" in that case.

Kerr, who has since left the state, escaped a hail of bullets by ducking behind the dashboard of his car. He suffered only minor injuries.

Kerr received constant protection from U.S. marshals after the attempt on his life. Wood was also given such protection, but ordered it removed three weeks later.

The remaining judges and some prosecutors in the Western District of Texas are still guarded constantly by the armed marshals.

Freighters Limp Back to Shipyard

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Two freighters that collided with unmanned offshore oil platforms in the Gulf of Mexico within a 24-hour period limped into port to repair damages.

Meanwhile, black smoke and fire continued today to pour from the charred hull of the tanker Burmah Agate, which collided with the freighter Mimosa a month ago.

The bodies of 17 crewmen, one from the freighter and 16 from the tanker, have been recovered, but 15 tanker crewmen remain missing.

Coast Guard Lt. Don Zelazny said Thursday that the Algerian freighter Babor sailed to a shipyard at the Port of Galveston. He said one man was killed when the Babor collided with a platform about 85 miles east-southeast of Galveston, about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

"Zelazny said the ship's bridge received extensive damages in the collision.

A Tenneco Oil Co. spokesman made no damage estimate, but said the collision caused no pollution from the platform.

In a similar pre-dawn incident Wednesday, the Greek freighter Skymnos collided with a unmanned oil protector platform six miles east of Galveston and three miles east of the Burmah Agate.

The Skymnos, which had a large hole in its starboard side but reported no injuries in the accident, sailed to the Port of Houston Thursday, Zelazny said.

Occidental Oil Corp. said no pollution resulted from the collision, and damage to the platform probably was less than $100,000.

Zelazny said the captains of both the Skymnos and the Babor reported the platforms' had no navigation lights. Occidental said, however, that the lights on its platform were working normally and were observed by personnel on another platform two miles away at the time of the Skymnos collision.

"We will pursue this aspect, whether the lights were working," said Cmdr. Stewart Walker of the Coast Guard's marine safety office at Port Arthur, Texas.

High seas continued to wash small amounts of crude out of the tanks of the Burmah Agate Thursday, Zelazny said, but the thin streamers of oil dissipated after traveling about 4 1/2 miles from the ship.

Strong north winds continued Thursday, driving the tanker oil away from Galveston's beaches, he said.

Rachel Jackson, wife of President Andrew Jackson, at the advice of her doctor relieved her bronchial condition by smoking a corncob pipe.

Mistrial Sought in Tyler Over Jury's Exposure to Reports

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Claiming the jury had been exposed to prejudicial news accounts, defense attorneys for one of the five Gregg County defendants in a federal racketeering trial filed a motion for mistrial.

Attorney R. L. Whitehead of Longview filed the motion late Thursday with the U.S. District Clerk's office on behalf of Peace Justice Charles Cashell.

He is being tried along with Sheriff Tom Welch, County Commissioner Bill Satterwhite, and former deputies Jim Cochran and Bill Roach.

A federal grand jury indicted them Aug. 3, charging them with racketeering and facilitating illegal gambling. In addition, Satterwhite, Welch and Cochran were indicted on charges of murder-conspiracy.

Before Whitehead filed his motion for mistrial, U.S. District Judge William Steger denied a defense motion to instruct the unsequestered jury to ignore news accounts of the trial.

The motion contended the jury had been exposed to prejudicial publicity regarding Cashell's part in the trial.

During testimony Thursday, FBI agent William Hinshaw testified Texas Rangers had conducted gambling raids on two Longview-area establishments without notifying Welch ahead of time.

"You didn't contact the sheriff because you had information in your file that he was involved in the gambling, didn't you?" asked Assistant U.S. Attorney Jeff Baynham.

"Yes, sir," Hinshaw answered.

He testified the FBI had information the sheriff was getting as much as $200 a night to protect the gambling operations.

Undercover FBI agent Larry Wansley also testified Thursday. He said Welch asked to meet with him in December 1978 to discuss opening a Las Vegas-style casino near the Gregg County airport.

Wansley said he had been discussing the idea with Longview's criminal element before he heard from Welch.

On cross examination Wansley stuck by his story, repeating earlier testimony that Welch told him if anyone were killed for causing trouble at the proposed casino, "he wanted the bodies dumped across the county line."

"He told me the FBI would investigate the game if I wasn't careful and he said he wanted nothing to interfere with his upcoming re election efforts in 1980."

Wansley also said he was nervous when he went to the meeting.

"I was uncomfortable because ... I would have been arrested immediately if the man had been totally honest," he said.

$1 Million in Diamonds Stolen from Salesman

DALLAS (AP) — A bearded gunman staged what may be the biggest robbery in city's history, taking a $1 million in gems from a diamond salesman who says he moved to Dallas to escape the high crime rate of Chicago.

Victor Katz, 40, told police he was leaving his North Dallas business, Universal Pacific Diamond Co., when accosted by the bearded gunman.

After he put a briefcase containing $1 million worth of unmounted diamonds in the back seat of his car, the gunman barged in from the passenger side, pointed a snub-nose pistol at him and ordered him to drive away, Katz told police.

He said the man ordered him not to look back because they were being followed. He told Katz to drive into a nearby alley where, Katz reported, the man took his wallet and forced Katz out of the car.

Katz said he asked the man not to take his car, but said the gunman responded, "You'll get it back, don't worry."

"He had the diamonds in clear plastic packages which he was carrying in the briefcase," said police officer Bob Worth.

"He had them wrapped in some sort of order, so that there were from one to 80 carats in each bag."

Katz went to a nearby business to call police. He said the gunman was about 31 years old, with medium-dark hair and a beard. Police said Katz also reported a jeweler's scale and microscope were taken in the robbery.

An investigating officer at the scene told reporters he thought Katz' loss was the biggest theft in Dallas history.

Police spokesman Ed Spencer said there are no records to prove that, "but it would be safe to say it's among the biggest," he said.

Security Stressed At Ft. Worth Meet

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The day-to-day security of 635 young athletes competing in the 1979 World Gymnastics Championships next week will fall squarely on the shoulders of hundreds of Fort Worth police officers.

The FBI and other agencies are available for consultation, said Fort Worth Police Chief H.F. Hopkins, but "It's all ours."

Although the department won't release exact figures, one officer estimated at least 50 extra officers will be on duty at any given time. Another officer estimated security during the Dec. 2-9 competition will reach cost the department about $156,000.

"The one thing we want, we want to be as low key as possible," Hogue said. "We don't want to look like an armed camp in Fort Worth."

"Another Munich is our worst fear," said Capt. C.E. Hogue, coordinator of the security effort. "Our primary concern is terrorism. This being the first ever of its type in the U.S. There are a lot of questions."

Eleven Israeli athletes and coaches were killed in 1972 during a terrorist raid the Olympic compound in Munich, Germany.

"What it amounts to is we have all the right numbers to call if something happens," said Sam Bailie, security liaison for the U.S. Gymnastics Federation.

Teams from 33 countries, including the Soviet Union, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Romania, China and Yugoslavia, have been working out at the Tarrant County Convention Center this week. Although some teams have provided their own security, Fort Worth officers are stationed throughout the practice area and the team hotels.

The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce has been working hand-in-hand with the federation on the competition.

"I've heard that some of us may have been a little overzealous, but that's not the intent of the organizing committee," said chamber president Bill Shelton. "If it's been over-restrictive, they've just been trying to do a job."

"We have to keep them free from as much physical and mental harassment as we can," Shelton said. "Realizing that we don't have a Roger Staubach or a Harvey Martin here but mostly 14-, 15- and 16-year-old gymnasts."

Employees at the hotels where the teams are staying have been instructed not to talk about their guests. But one employee at the 17-story Blackstone Hotel said the athletes caused only minor problems.

Only team members are allowed to use the hotel elevators, the employee said. "The rest of us have to use the stairs."

Office Buildings To Head Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The big real estate investment money in 1980 will be going into well-situated, well-designed office buildings whose rents are relatively low and whose leases are ready to expire.

That's the assessment of John R. White, whose views are sought by major domestic investors, by foreign pension funds, and by blue chip corporations thinking of relocating, redesigning or expanding.

The market for office space is tight, and rents are rising. Since 1977 some buildings have added 75 percent to their gross income, and more increases are likely. Thus the desirability of expiring leases.

In addition, White observes, indexing is gradually being worked into leases, assuring some landlords that tenants will share in the added operating expenses, including those resulting from higher fuel costs.

"Owners have to cope more effectively with ongoing inflation," said White, president and chief executive officer of Landaur Associates, an international firm that advises on all aspects of real estate.

White, whose firm is capable of handling all aspects of site choice, design, contracting and the like, but which purposely avoids taking a brokerage roll, is bullish on real estate.

For 1980, he is telling clients that investments in central city hotels in major metropolitan areas will be "outstanding."

He senses a growing respect for the patina of the past, which often is gracefully displayed by older hotels. More important, they stand to benefit from international tourism, conventions and commercial travel.

Lest his advice be misunderstood, he stresses "major metropolitan areas," which he defines as cities involved in world business, known throughout the world, and possessing important cultural attractions.

"A return to the central city area by the commercial traveler is evident," White observes. "And increased international tourism has brought added revenue to the urban hotels."

The elegant hotels built in the 1910s and 1920s, he believes, have reattracted customers once lost to newer structures because they have been refurbished, offer larger rooms and a more gracious decor.

Next on White's list, dropped from first place to third, is the shopping center. "Still an excellent investment," he says, but not quite what is used to be because of increased competition for renters.

Another reason for "a slight cooling of interest" is the prospect of further gasoline shortages. And a third: "The incredibly high prices now being paid in expectation of future rent increases."

Another 1980 favorite is the light industry warehouse in a planned industrial park atmosphere. That park atmosphere is important, White believes, for the environmental stability it offers.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have trouble with my eyes. I have spells when about one-fourth of my vision is fuzzy. Things are bright and fuzzy like a heat wave. This lasts for about 30 minutes and then it goes away. Then my hands get numb, my lips and sometimes my nose. I also have trouble with my speech. This also lasts about 30 minutes.

Sometimes I have a real bad headache. It's a bad experience and it usually takes two or three days to get back to feeling normal. I have been to several doctors and they say I have a migraine headache. I have had my blood checked for sugar and many other tests and all were normal. My head has been X-rayed and everything is all right.

I've had these for eight years now. They don't come at any certain time. Sometimes I have them in the night and they wake me up. I went for a year once without one and sometimes I have two in one week. My aunt's three girls all have them so it may be something that's inherited.

I can take muscle relaxers and they help me some. I'm 29 years old and have two children. I am overweight but I also had these headaches when I wasn't. I would like to know if this is my nerves. How should I cope with them? What can I do to keep from having one? Someone said it was a lack of oxygen getting to the brain. What can I do to prevent this? Is there any exercise I can do or help from certain foods? I sure would like some answers.

DEAR READER — Your description certainly fits with migraine headaches. The typical migraine is associated with changes in circulation to the brain. The arteries to the brain may constrict and then dilate. Recent studies show that there may be very severe constriction of arteries through parts of the brain that affects the circulation before the headache starts. Then the arteries dilate and it's the stretching of the artery walls on the nerves that seems to produce the severe headache.

I know you've seen many doctors but you might want to see a neurologist who specializes in disorders of the brain, including migraine headaches. There are new medicines available which help to control the attack and some can be used to prevent the attacks. One of these, Propranolol (Inderal) is relatively safe and there are others that your doctor might wish to use instead.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 2-9, Headache: Man's Most Common Pain. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Anybody who has unexplained hair loss should see a physician to first determine what the cause is. That's essential to proper treatment.

The hair follicles on the side of the head are less likely to produce the kind of male hormone that's associated with loss of the hair shaft. That's why when a hair transplant is done and the follicles from the side of the head are moved to the bald areas that they will survive and grow where the original hair follicles failed.

There have been some results in stopping hair loss in women who have hereditary baldness related to the type of hormone produced by the follicle itself.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For years I have worried about my daughter. When she was in her 20s she began throwing up her food. She is in her middle 40s now and the problem still exists. She's very thin. She probably weighs less than 100 pounds. She doesn't think she has a problem as she's afraid of getting fat. At least this was her attitude at first. Even I was tell her's suffering from malnutrition. I'm afraid she'll die. Can you tell us what to do?

DEAR READER — You're a wise mother and if you can possibly get your daughter to see a doctor, she should. Of course, it won't help unless the doctor knows her problem is so she'll have to tell him about her habit.

Your story sounds very much like, she may have anorexia nervosa. This problem occurs particularly in teen-aged girls and young women. It can persist into older age groups.

These people have a faulty self image of their body. They think they're fat when they're really aren't. There are important psychological factors involved. That's why they keep on starving themselves or even throwing up food, in spite of the fact that they are thin and need food.

The probabilities are that your daughter needs professional counseling directed at the psychological factors that may be involved, but the proper place to start is with the family doctor. I would recommend that she discuss with him the possibility of her having anorexia nervosa.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer
Wood stains carpet

DEAR POLLY — I need help. I just moved the chifonier in my bedroom and where one leg has been there is a large mahogany stain on my new pale green rug. I rubbed it with a warm damp cloth and a bit of pure soap but that did not help. Any suggestions? — ETHEL

DEAR ETHEL — Sorry, but all I have is rather discouraging news. A bulletin put out by one rug cleaning institute says spots from wood dyes and stains from the bottoms of chairs and table legs are difficult or impossible to remove and should only be attempted by a professional rug cleaner. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I used to always wake up with a headache, so would like to pass my "cure" on to the other readers. Change pillows. If you are using a feather pillow change to foam. If that is too thin, use two. — D.P.

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Mrs. R.W. who has trouble with water deposits on her faucets. I use a vinegar-soaked cloth or strips of cloth wrapped around the faucets. If possible pour the vinegar directly on the deposit build-up. After an hour or so I brush the accumulation with a soft brush or dry cloth. The crusty lime deposit is gone and the faucets are shining. Rub dry. — Janet

DEAR POLLY — Marie asked for ways to use leftover coffee and I would like to pass on my recipe for coffee tapioca. It calls for two cups of percolated coffee, one-fourth cup quick-cooking tapioca and one-fourth cup sugar. Cook for 15 minutes and then mold and chill. Serve with either plain or whipped cream. — DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY — Before using my outdoor grill I spray it with that popular vegetable cooking spray and then the cleaning job is really easy. — MRS. J.L.

Hems were glued in

DEAR POLLY — A friend gave me a pair of dark green slacks with a matching blazer but the hems in the slacks were glued in. I sent them to the cleaners but the white glue remains and is so rough that it scratches my nose. Could you help me? — MARY V.

DEAR MARY V. — If your slacks are washable try soaking them in warm water and then apply some household ammonia to the glue spots, rub between the fingers and rinse out with clear water. Rub dry with a cloth. Another method you might try is to scrape off any excess glue with a dull knife, sponge with cleaning fluid and rinse. If all else fails why not face the hems with a matching color fabric and hide the glue lines. This will eliminate the scratching. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I have a faster and easier way for Betty who wants to start a pineapple plant. Select one that has a nice top, twist off the top and peel several leaves from the bottom. Plant directly in all purpose potting soil and keep moist but not soggy. The center shoots may die but do not worry as new shoots will grow in no time. I have started three plants this way. — DORIS

DEAR POLLY — Our front door has a long narrow window in it so I covered it with adhesive backed paper. Near the bottom, at one corner, I put two sticky sides together to make a small flap that I can lift up to see who is outside before opening the door.

The head and arm throws on our recliner chair were always falling off until I placed one of those clothes dryer foam sheets under each of them. Now they stay where they belong. — ELLA

DEAR POLLY — I keep a set of magnetic hooks on the side of my refrigerator and hang my measuring cups and spoons on them. You would never believe how handy this is. — IRENE

DEAR POLLY — When traveling with my husband I conserve suitcase space by packing my shoes inside of his shoes. — FRANCES

DEAR POLLY — It saves a mess if you roll a pie crust on a damp dish towel.

Before peeling vegetables I firmly tape a paper bag to my kitchen counter and drop the peels in — very neat.

When taking toddlers out I always take a damp washcloth in a plastic bag in my purse. I also carry along small safety pins, a needle, spool of thread and some bandages. — SUSAN

Mormons May Excommunicate ERA Advocate

STERLING, Va. (AP) — Sonia Johnson is a Mormon. She grew up in an orthodox home in Logan, Utah — prayer in the morning, prayer in the evening, prayer at the table, prayer when ill, prayer over boyfriend trouble and prayer when an exam was looming.

Now the suburban mother of four sits on a couch in her sunny living room, curls one leg under another and worries what it will be like if she is excommunicated on Saturday night.

"Mother fasted half her life away for me," she says. "Father would bless us with oil.

When you are Mormon, you're always conscious that you are Mormon. It is the thing you're most proud of. It's a large loyal family, as long as you don't break any taboos."

But Mrs. Johnson, 43, slim, dark-haired and lively, has broken a taboo. She is president of Mormons for ERA. The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints opposes the proposed Equal Rights Amendment.

She will be tried Saturday by a bishop's court — three men — in her local church in this town 30 miles from Washington, D.C. She says she is accused of knowingly preaching false doctrine, hurting the church's missionary effort and undermining the authority of Spencer Kimball, president of the church.

But Mrs. Johnson, a fifth-generation Mormon, says her activity is political, and of no churchly interest.

Her offense, she says, was in giving talks on "how to oppose the Mormon political machine" and exposing the "reprehensible" Mormon practice of sending women to campaign against the ERA without identifying themselves as Mormons.

In Salt Lake City, Utah, church spokesman Don LeFevre declines to discuss Mrs. Johnson's case. "It is a matter that is before the bishop's court and only the bishop's court has the facts," he says.

Jeff Willis, a CIA personnel officer and the bishop of Mrs. Johnson's church, will officiate at the trial. He says he will not comment on the case, even to his congregation and even when the case ends.

Willis refuses to list the charges or the potential penalties but said his court's decision could be appealed to higher church authority.

He says Mrs. Johnson is not on trial merely for advocating ERA.

Mrs. Johnson discussed her dilemma in an interview in a living room big enough to easily accommodate both a grand piano and an electric organ.

Photographs of African village life hung on a wall; some of the furniture was handcarved, mementos from years the Johnsons spent in Malaysia, Somalia and Kenya. Her husband, Richard, was a researcher and she taught at the local universities.

Richard Johnson, a professor and former Baptist, credits his wife for his conversion to Mormonism. He supports her stand.

Her brother does not. When he learned of her activities on behalf of the ERA last year, he proposed her excommunication to church authorities in Utah, Mrs. Johnson says.

Her elderly mother is here to testify on her behalf.

"Mom is pro-ERA but she's quiet about it. She sees the uselessness of fighting the church on this," Mrs. Johnson says. "She's more realistic than me."

"Father is in great stress. He believes implicitly in the leaders. His solution is for me to crawl on my knees and beg forgiveness."

"The kids (two sons and two daughters aged 5-16) all support me — you know, 'Mom can do no wrong.'"

Her congregation is divided. One member whispered in her ear last Sunday, "I spent six hours last night arguing for you."

She says she used to be a political innocent — barely aware of the names of candidates in elections, ignorant about the women's movement.

Then she went to a church meeting to hear a letter read explaining the church's opposition to the ERA.

"I became a feminist on the spot. It hit me like a sledgehammer."

She was radicalized at a Senate subcommittee hearing on extending the ERA ratification deadline. When testifying, she got into a bristling dispute with Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, who complained she had insulted his wife by implying that Mormon women who oppose ERA are ignorant.

Mrs. Johnson eventually quit her job teaching college-level English to devote her time to campaigning for the ERA.

One night two weeks ago, she was notified to appear the next morning and stand trial. After five hours in the church court, she persuaded Willis to postpone the trial to give her time to prepare a defense.

She was not permitted to bring either a witness or a tape recorder into the proceeding, she says: "It was to be my word against the word of men."

Mormons believe church couples are bound forever. Excommunication would eternally separate her from her family in heaven.

If excommunicated, she could repent and be rebaptized, but she says she has "nothing to repent of."

Mrs. Johnson plays the organ in her church. To the surprise of many worshippers, she showed up last Sunday to play. "I wanted one last fling," she says.

Kids Pressure Santa

DALLAS (AP) — Children sending Santa Claus lists of toys they want are also asking for some answers.

This letter from Benny Harris of Dallas covered most of the main points.

"How many elfs ya got? And how much to you waigh? How small are your elfs? Whate in the word do you eat? Is there really a 'Mrs. Santa Clause'? How long is your sleigh? How big is your bag? Do you really watch through a snowball? Well, anyway, have fun."

It was the most inquisitive received so far by postal officials here who are collecting the usual avalanche this Christmas season and attempting to write each child back.

"We've had more this year than ever before so early in the season," said Carol Keeley of the post office's customer service department. She is in charge of processing the letters and sending replies.

"We'll get 4,000 to 5,000 letters before it's all over," she said, sitting at a desk piled high with handwritten letters.

Lynn Thomas of Dallas wasted no words. "Dear Santa, round thing that slides and a long thing that slides, Love, Lynn."

Most were addressed simply "Santa Claus, North Pole," and came from the North Central Texas area with a few reaching here from Kansas, Alaska, New York and other faraway places, Miss Keeley said.

One was addressed: "tace this to the north pole. Sa-tooclos."

Another had this message on the envelope: "Please send this to Santa. It means a lot to me."

Most children bragged on how good they were, but a letter signed "Dicy T." said "I am sorry for the things I do each day."

Roxanne Norman of Irving wrote, "I have been really good and I want to tell you what I want for Christmas. I don't want to barg in so fast but I'm so anxious to tell you what I want OK let me tell you. A TEN SPEED Oh please give me one I'll get down on my knees, but please give me one. Oh if you do oh please do give me one that's fit for an eight in half years old girl."

Gerald Adams of Dallas wrote "I hope you and your reindeers don't get caught by some space men and they take you for slavery if they do some body will come and save you and they will bring you back to earth and Miss Santa will take you back to the North Pole and I hope it will not happen Again."

Christina Graham of Dallas listed the toys she expected and wrote, "I really can't think of anything else now, but how about you suprising me. I love you very much: oh I love you."

Monica Cone of Desoto avoided the issue by writing simply "I am going to listen in class and mind my mother and daddy."

Chris Knowlton of Mesquite asked Santa to "Tell Wendy to quit bothering me."

"I love you and tell your reindeers I love them too. Give them a kiss," wrote Tara Boyer, 8, of Irving.

A few letters were written in a different spirit.

"I am writing to see if you can help me and my little brother and sister get some Christmas presents. Also our lights has been turned off... and we can't have any lights on our Christmas tree."

Lisa Crawford of Garland wrote, "My name is Lisa and I'm 10 years old. My Mom and Dad tell me you are a 'Spirit of Love.' It's nice to believe in love."

Form letters from Santa were prepared with the help of students at Dallas Baptist College, and Miss Keeley said she tries to put a P.S. on each one, referring to something in the child's letter.

"That way they know Santa got it," she said.

Spending to Stay, Says Credit Boss

DALLAS, Texas (AP) — A top credit reporting executive says that consumers are not likely to stop spending their money soon, despite a current economic slowdown.

J.E.R. Chilton III of the Chilton Corp. in Dallas heads one of the largest computerized credit reporting companies in the nation.

His company deals in reports sold to banks and stores, detailing credit histories for potential customers who want to buy merchandise on time.

"Report volume has always been a strong early warning signal of consumer spending patterns," Chilton said. "Today, our report sales tell us that people have no immediate plans to give up the store counters in favor of their savings accounts."

Chilton said installment credit figures and retail sales point to a big Christmas for retailers.

He said explaining the projected spending is not easy. "We can look to the fact that consumer credit has virtually doubled since 1975, that debt ratios are at record highs and that savings rates are at their lowest point in nearly three decades, and still, nobody can accurately predict the consequences."

Chilton had a ready reason for the apparent spending boom, though.

"We know from our records that the established presence of the working woman, whether married or single, has produced a significant psychological — if not real — lift for the debt ceiling people feel they can live with."

"Second, both women and men may be concerned with every other aspect of the economy, yet, so long as they're not terribly worried about their jobs, then they're not reluctant to assume new debt."

Chilton said inflation hedges are best-sellers at the moment.

"Today, they're buying energy-efficient goods in vast quantities, from radial tires to ceiling fans," he said. "They're also actually investing in such consumer goods as fine rugs, artwork and even expensive automobiles, on the fairly good assumption that these items will only become more costly in the future."

Chilton said readiness to go into debt poses a marketing challenge for banks and other saving institutions.

Chilton Corp. was the first credit reporting company to adapt computers to its work, and it serves clients nationwide from its Dallas base.
