ESTIMATED TOTAL 4000 MILK COWS HERE, WITH 2200 BEING MILKED; CENSUS INCOMPLETE

Committee Cordially Met Everywhere; Farmers Show Interest in Proposed Creamery, and Number of Them Express Willingness to Aid the Project. "Dairy Mindedness" Is Rapidly Progressing Throughout Territory. Great Results Expected.

Although incomplete, the dairy cow census conducted last week under auspices of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce revealed some very interesting figures. Only six of the eleven districts are complete. Inasmuch as the five remaining districts are rather heavy dairy communities, it is estimated the final figures will double the amount gleaned by the census takers so far.

District One, where the census was conducted by County Agent Dunkle and John Olson, manager of Rockwell Bros. Lumber Co., led in the number of cows being milked in any particular district, although total cows found in a district goes to District Six, which was covered by J. M. Gilliland, of the E. R. Black Furniture Co., and H. M. Tankersley, prominent dairyman.

A resume of figures compiled of the six districts gives the following: Number milk cow owners, 158; number milk cows owned, 1,355; number cows being milked, 959; number heifers or young she stock, 700; number men contemplating buying more cows, fifty; number now selling cream, 118; number selling whole milk, six; number willing to sell to creamery located in Hereford, 125; number interested in taking stock in local creamery, fifty-two.

From the above figures it will be noted that the total of milk cows owned and young heifers to milk reaches 2,055. A complete census of the county and other districts which will be taken this week will probably show 4,000 head of she milk stock with between 2,000 and 2,300 cows actually being milked. The results of the census thus far are very

LOCAL DAIRYMEN ENTER NEWS CONTEST; FIVE ON HONOR ROLL IN TESTING

Four Deaf Smith county members of the Deaf Smith-Randall County Cow Testing Association have entered the dairy contest inaugurated by the Amarillo News-Globe, which started November 1, and extends over a period of ten months. The four men are J. L. Lookingbill, of Summerfield; L. A. Smith, Dawn, and S. O. Wilson and Lester Galley of Hereford.

A competent judging committee has been appointed, who will visit the contestants at the start of the campaign and at intervals thereafter. Members will keep accurate data, and awards will be made by the News-Globe for the winners at the end of ten months.

This is all in the interest of better cows in the Panhandle. The four local men entered will not have much trouble keeping these records, as the Cow Testing work enables them to have their figures at their finger tips at all times.

Cow Testing Report.

County Agent Dunkle has the report of Carl Marsh, official tester, for the month of September, covering the activities of the testing association members. It shows that five Deaf Smith county members were on the high honor roll. S. O. Wilson has a grade Jersey cow that produced 996 pounds of milk, with 5.3 percent of fat and total of 52.6 pounds of fat for the month. J. L. Lookingbill won the honors with a pure bred Jersey, producing 873 pounds of milk, 5.5 percent of fat and a total of 48.0 pounds for the month. W. P. Carraway's grade Jersey showed 741 pounds of milk, 5.6 percent of fat and total pounds of 41.5. L. A. Smith's grade Jersey had 759 pounds milk, 5.3 fat, total pounds 40.2. Lester Galley's grade Holstein totaled 1,008 pounds milk, 2.3 fat, 23.2 pounds of fat.

gratifying to those interested in establishing a creamery in Hereford, and from data received from other points where creameries are located, Deaf Smith county now has considerably larger production than will be necessary to support a good sized creamery or even a creamery and cheese factory combined.

Quite interesting also are the figures which reveal that of the 158 farmers interviewed who are milking cows, 124 are selling cream or milk or butter. It will be noted from the figures that practically the entire number at this time are selling cream rather than whole milk. Of the 124 who are selling dairy products only one farmer stated his unwillingness to sell to a local creamery and the fact that fifty-two of these cow owners signified their willingness to take stock in a creamery speaks well for the consummation of the creamery planned at this time. Another very pleasing feature of this census, according to the enumerators, was the willingness of farmers to give the information asked for and the consensus of opinion of the entire group which took the census is that Deaf Smith county is fast becoming "dairy minded" and bids fair to become one of the leading dairy counties of the Panhandle. Chamber of Commerce officials say the remaining districts will be covered this week and that a general dairy meeting will be called soon, at which plans will be presented for the organization of a creamery. The movement has gained considerable force and interested dairymen from several states indicate a willingness to become interested in the Deaf Smith county project.

New Residences and Improvements Keep Coming On

The steady improvement in the business houses and homes of Hereford continues on through from month to month. J. J. Clark, druggist, is now engaged in remodeling the rear of his store, making room for an ice cream parlor. He has rearranged his space so as to do this and still leave room for his office and pharmacy.

The Mrs. G. R. Ward residence on Fifth Street has been purchased by Alvin C. Thompson of the Panhandle Lumber Company, who is moving the house to the north corner of the lot. It is understood that Mr. Thompson will soon begin the erection of a home for himself on this place, and possibly another house to rent as well. W. F. Karr has purchased a sixty foot strip east and west from Mrs. F. H. Britain next door north of her home and is erecting a neat modern home for his use. The house is rapidly nearing completion. J. H. Head, county treasurer, is building a small rent house on his lot adjoining his home place, which will soon be ready for occupancy.

Organ Recital at Methodist Church Christens New Organ

Music lovers were given a great treat Sunday night at the First Methodist church when the new pipe organ, recently installed, was formally dedicated with a musical program at the evening hour. Mrs. C. R. Hooten, organist of the Polk Street Methodist church, Amarillo, one of the most widely known organists in West Texas, was chosen for the honor of rendering the organ recital, and the large auditorium was crowded to overflowing with many standing in the aisles.

Rev. C. R. Wooten, musical director of the Amarillo church, sang several numbers which were greatly enjoyed by all present. A tenor of very pleasing tone, Mr. Hooten charmed with his rendition of "The Holy City," as well as other scriptural interpretations. A cowboy spiritual song sung by Mr. Hooten was especially pleasing, as was a medley of "southern melodies" rendered by Mrs. Hooten on the organ.

Several numbers were also sung by the choir with Mrs. Hooten at the instrument, and a duet, "Lead Kindly Light," by Mr. and Mrs. Hooten, with Mrs. G. A. F. Parker at the piano. Mrs. Parker, who for a number of years has been director of music at the church, will be regular organist and will perform on the instrument each Sunday, Rev. Bowen announced.

The organ, which is one of the finest put out by the company, was recently purchased by the Women's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church, and the opening Sunday night was attended by members of the other congregations who dismissed their regular services for the evening hour.

Contract Let for Frio School Work; Ready by January 1

It is announced that the contract has been let to J. O. Howard for a new face brick and tile school building in the Frio school district. The building will cost approximately $8,000, and will be 40x60, three rooms and modern in every way. Work has already been begun and Mr. Howard says he will have the building ready for occupancy by the first of the year.

MUSICAL TREAT TO BE GIVEN BY CLUB MEMBERS.

A musical farce, "The Ladies Aid," will be given in the near future by members of the Music Club. It promises to be unusually entertaining. Watch for the date.

Charlie Bennett Resigns; Buys the Carroll Restaurant

Hereford has lost a City Marshall and acquired a new restaurant owner. Charlie Bennett, City Marshall for several years, resigned this place, effective November 1, and has purchased the Carroll Cafe from J. C. Carroll. Mr. Bennett is having the building repainted and redecorated inside and expects to be open for business next Saturday morning under the name of the Sunshine Cafe. Mr. Carroll will devote his entire time to the direction of the Savoy Hotel.

No successor to Marshall Bennett has as yet been selected, state city officials.

HEAVY VOTE EXPECTED IN EVERY STATE

The hottest and most perplexing national political campaign in the memory of the oldest inhabitant will finally come to an end next Tuesday, November 6, when the people of the United States go to the polls and decide whether it shall be Smith or Hoover for president. For weeks past the orators have held forth, the radio has been rendered almost useless except for political adherents, and the newspapers of the land have been crammed with political bunk from all sides. To even the most ardent supporters of either candidate it will be a welcome day when November 6 rolls around.

This campaign has been characterized by such cross currents of prejudices on both sides that it would take a political Houdini to forecast the result in any state or as a whole. Locally, both Smith and anti-Smith followers have held one meeting each, although the people of the county as a whole have not, perhaps, become as excited over the campaign as in most other localities.

Tuesday night, October 30, Hon. J. W. Crudgington, chairman of the anti-Smith forces at Amarillo, and the Rev. L. N. Stuckey, also of Amarillo, addressed a fair-sized audience at the court house in opposition to the candidacy of Governor Smith. The standard line of arguments used all over the country the past few weeks were emphasized and the split ballot explained.

Indications are that the heaviest vote in the history of the Nation will be polled next Tuesday. Local election judges are preparing to handle the heaviest vote ever recorded here.

LUNCHEON TALKS HEARD BY CROWD

Over Fifty at Chamber of Commerce Meeting Monday. Interesting Speeches Made by Both Members and Visitors.

Wet, cold weather failed to dampen the ardor of more than fifty business men who attended the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the First Presbyterian church. The meeting was presided over by T. E. Selgier, who has been absent from the city for more than a month. Mr. Selgier commended the members of the body for carrying on the work during the past month and referred especially to the united effort put forth in furthering the dairy cow industry in the county and taking the Chamber to get markets for the large feed crop raised in the county. Many local visitors were presented to the body and several out of town visitors were also introduced.

A. J. Fisher, Santa Fe, New Mexico, former secretary of the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce, and now member of the New Mexico Highway Commission, was presented and made an interesting talk on highway building in the sister state. He was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Eubanks, Mrs. Eubanks having been formerly connected with the commercial organization of Santa Fe.

Tom Roberts, District Boy Scout Executive of Plainview, was introduced and made a short talk on the progress of scouting in this area. Hereford has been added to the new district which comprises seven South Plains counties since the dissolution of the old Panhandle Council which embraced twenty-four counties in Texas and three in Oklahoma, with headquarters in Amarillo. Mr. Roberts stated that progress in the new district was exceeding expectations, and active

Local School Board Favors Educational Amendments

Strong approval of the proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State affecting educational institutions and educational affairs, to be voted on at the general election next Tuesday, was given by the trustees of the Hereford Independent School District at a meeting held early this week. The endorsement is especially strong as regards the third and fourth proposed amendments. The third amendment provides that school officers, including boards of institutions of higher education shall serve for a term not exceeding six years. The fourth amendment provides for the appointment of a state board of education.

These amendments have been endorsed by practically all the leading educators of the state and the trustees of the leading schools and educational institutions of Texas. These recommendations were embodied in the report of the educational survey board appointed several years ago to make a complete recommendation covering educational requirements for Texas under their approval.

It is realized that the voters as a rule are loath to approve amendments to the Constitution, and many worthy measures fall of passage because of lack of understanding of the merits of a proposition submitted.

It is the hope of the local trustees and school officials that the people of Deaf Smith county will vote for these amendments, as it is believed they will be of material aid in advancing the cause of education in the State of Texas.

Many Interested in Helping Harris Find Relatives

The story in The Brand of last week wherein Rex Harris, of Roche Harbor, Washington, was seeking to locate his relatives, stirred up quite a bit of local interest, and several residents phoned in saying that they remembered the family. Mrs. Russell Carroll phoned that she understood the family had removed to Amarillo, and Carl Mounitz also communicated the same fact. Mr. Mounitz has friends in Amarillo who are now on the lookout for the missing Harris family and the Brand hopes to give Rex the information he seeks within a short time.

Camp Fire Girls Entertained at Home of Guardian

The Camp Fire Girls were entertained at a Halloween party at the home of their Guardian, Mrs. W. H. Dowell, last Friday afternoon. Each girl brought their guests and games, stunts, refreshments, etc. were enjoyed.

work will be undertaken in Hereford very shortly.

Carl Marsh, official cow tester of Deaf Smith county, made an interesting talk and gave figures on tests being conducted on the Dr. Heard farm. He stressed the importance of proper feeding and showed by figures that some of the cows in this herd, while producing milk, were not showing the net profit of lesser producers on account of feed consumed. Many dairymen and farmers are joining with Mr. Marsh in the cow testing association and in all probability his work for another year will be confined solely to this county. County Agent Dunkle has been actively co-operating with Mr. Marsh in this work, which has been growing steadily since its organization four months ago.

Only a partial result of the row census being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce was given by Secretary Arnold, the statement being made that several of the districts had not yet been completed. Results generally were very pleasing, he stated. Attention was called to the annual football game between Hereford and Canyon which will be played at Canyon next Friday, November 2. Assurances were given at the luncheon that a large attendance from Hereford will be present at the game.

Luncheon will be served next Monday, November 5, by the Presbyterian ladies at the Presbyterian church.

Big Turnout of Pupils and Local Fans Expected to Accompany Team to Neighboring City. Whitefaces Defeat Tulia Here Last Friday 37 to 0. Galloping Horsemen Too Much For Visitors. Substitutes Show Unexpected Proficiency in Game.

LOCAL BOY SCOUT WORK WILL BE REORGANIZED; NAME COUNCIL MEMBERS

At a conference between citizens Monday afternoon and District Scout Executive Roberts, of Plainview, local organization officers were appointed. Scouting activities of Hereford for the coming year will be mapped out, and plans made for reorganization of possibly three or four troops of Boy Scouts.

Hereford has recently been assigned to the new South Plains district which embraces Deaf Smith, Hale, Swisher, Floyd, Briscoe, Cottle and Lubbock counties.

This district, with several others, is a result of dividing the old Panhandle Council Boy Scouts of America, embracing twenty-nine counties in Texas and Oklahoma, into several smaller districts or area councils, with Scout executives located in each of the districts.

Under the new plan the work promises to be carried on to better advantage, the districts not being so large and unwieldy, and of such size that the Scout executive can personally have direct contact with local organizations in each of the towns in the district.

Officers appointed for the Hereford Council include Alex O. Thompson, general chairman; E. S. Ireland, financial chairman; Court of Honor Chairmen, Jas. T. Ross, secretary; J. W. Boultinghouse, treasurer, Harold Hicks.

Chairman Thompson states that a meeting of this body with Executive Roberts will be held in the near future and all details including raising finances for the years work will be worked out. He further states that the Boy Scout work will be given more local administration during the year than has been the case in the past.

Bad Weather and Delay in Getting Pipe Holds Up Play

Bad weather caught the West Texas Gas Company's construction pipe line crew just short of the mark. The ditch is only a short way east of the stockyards, but the pipe is several miles back. There has been a delay in arrival of pipe and for the past two days no progress whatever has been made on the line. Gas officials here are having plenty of troubles, of course, but are smiling through it all and state they are doing their best and will have the line hooked up and ready for use in the very shortest possible space of time.

Meanwhile those who sold their old coal stoves are shivering about electric and oil heaters, and those who were lucky enough to retain their old stoves have them going full blast.

Schultz Herd of Fine Dairy Cows Will Be Auctioned

A dairy auction sale of unusual interest is announced for November 20, when the fine herd of A. B. Schultz will be put up at public sale.

This herd has been supplying the citizens of Hereford with milk for many years, is one of the highest bred collections of fine cows in this section, and is too well known to need extended introduction. Mr. Schultz is retiring from the milk business, which has been taken over by O. L. Rutherford, and may interest himself in the proposed creamery for Hereford.

New Shoe Shop Is Opened Here by Man from Farwell

The Star Shoe Shop, C. G. Ball proprietor, has opened for business on Main Street just across from the post office.

Mr. Ball is an experienced man in his line and comes here from Farwell, Texas. He asks a share of the patronage of the people of the city.

A football team, however alert and determined, has small chance of winning a game when they cannot locate the ball. Tulla discovered this simple fundamental when they lost to the Whitefaces here last Friday afternoon, 37 to 0.

A comment by a spectator perhaps best illustrates the character of the battle. Said this critic: "After Babe Russell had disappeared with the ball a few times Tulla quit watching the ball and watched Babe. Next play they all piled onto him—but Babe didn't have the ball! Then they tried a new stunt. They grabbed ten Hereford boys, threw them down,

CANYON FRIDAY!

The big football event of the year, the annual struggle with the Canyon Eagles—is billed for Canyon this week, beginning at 3:30 o'clock Friday. Weather permitting, a huge crowd is expected to accompany the team and cheer them on to victory. The high school will close at 1:45. Stickers and tags for automobiles will be on hand at the City Drug Store. The price of admission will be fifty cents for students and $1.00 for others.

This game should be a heart-act. Canyon has a heavy, formidable outfit. Hereford has a lighter, faster, more elusive eleven. Both are grimly determined to win. The weather may decide it. If it clears the fast Whitefaces figure to win. If the field is wet and slippery Canyon's weight may tell. One thing is certain—it will be worth the money, whoever wins. Better go!

searched them thoroughly—and darned if the eleventh guy didn't bob up behind the line of scrimmage and amble off for a touchdown!"

The deceptive Hereford backfield play, behind a fighting, stonewall line, was simply too much for the game boys from Swisher county.

Quarterback Glennin, working his passes and running attacks coolly and smoothly, bewildered them throughout. Babe Russell sprinted around about as he pleased. George Jewell backed up the line

Cold and Rainy Weather Has Now Arrived

The beautiful fall weather which has prevailed in this section for weeks and weeks came to a sudden end last Sunday night, following a gloomy Sabbath day of chill and light fog. A steady rain, totaling about an inch, fell Sunday night and Monday morning. Reports from over the Panhandle show it to have been of a general nature. It was of immense benefit to the wheat farmers and insures a good stand for the thousands of acres of wheat now in the ground.

Monday was cold and during the early part of that night the thermometer hovered dangerously close to the freezing point. Tuesday was not warm by any means, and was cloudy and threatening. Tuesday night it started raining again, and up to noon Wednesday the total rainfall since Sunday amounted to one and seventy-fifths of an inch. Prospects Wednesday afternoon, when this story was written, were good for more weather of uncertain hue.

Cowmen are ordering in their cake, farmers are figuring on how to get in their unharvested row crops and cotton, while the wheat met are sitting on top of the world and figuring the profits in the spring of 1929.

Firemen Fight Bad Fire in Icy Downpour

Fire of uncertain origin destroyed the frame residence belonging to Johnny McDonald, corner of Fifth and Lawton Avenue, formerly known as the W. D. Kelleher home, about 2:30 o'clock Monday morning. The McDonald family is now in Amarillo and the house was occupied as bachelor quarters by three young men, Johnny and Ike McClelland and Gerald Herrod. The boys state the first they knew of the blaze was when the roof began to fall in on them. As they had no telephone two of them began removing their personal effects while the other jumped into a car and drove to the fire station. Rain was coming down in steady fashion all the while.

It was difficult and dangerous work the fire boys faced in the freezing drizzle and with the headway the flames had secured. But three lines of hose were soon pouring water into the building and the boys worked in spite of difficulties. Hack Runion, always in the forefront at a fire, was overcome by fumes in the bath room of the burning house and was dragged out insensible by his comrades. He was rushed to the hospital and emergency measures applied by Fire Chief Mercer and other firemen and by the staff of nurses. The Chief says he was terribly worried until Hack opened one eye and demanded: "Gimme a cigarette!"

This nonchalant attitude characterized the work of all the boys during the bitter battle, and next day several more of them were confined to their homes from chill and exposure.

The occupants of the house saved some of their personal effects, but the loss as to the house was total.

Dimmitt was shocked and saddened Sunday when word was received of the death of W. T. (Dubs) Fuller, who died in a Plainview hospital Sunday morning after an operation on his leg which was bruised when he fell during a ball game. Dubs was the eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Fuller, and has an older brother, Winfred, and sister, Christine. Funeral services were held in the school auditorium at 2:00 o'clock Monday afternoon, the Baptist pastor, assisted by Rev. Saxon, of Hereford, an old friend of Mr. Fuller's, and the Methodist pastor, Rev. Naugle, conducting the services. Buddy Fuller of Rogers, brother of Mr. Fuller, sang in a very beautiful manner a solo, "He Is the One." Dubs was a member of the sixth grade class in Dimmitt school and being too young to be a member of the Boy Scouts, was mascot of this organization. The floral offerings were beautiful and showed the esteem in which he was held by his friends.

Dubs was of a cheerful, happy disposition and all who knew him loved him. Dimmitt and all the surrounding community extend sympathy to the heart-broken family in this the saddest hour of their lives. Out of town relatives who attended the funeral were Gerald Fuller, Midland; Buddy Fuller, Rogers; Oscar Fuller, Waco; Auzie and Carl Fuller, Prairie Hill; Mrs. W. T. CORNS

No—Not any of the distillates, so plentiful nowadays. I mean the other thing—those pests, often agonizing—that find lodgement on the tops of and between the toes.

In these highly specialized days, most everybody has a chiropodist. The fellow who don't know just what a chiropodist is—and hasn't one—he's the one I'm talking to; the one who is willing to do most anything for a bit of relief.

Of course you know those corns are all your own fault; they could not help appearing; you invited them yourself. Corns never intrude themselves into polite society—they are always invited guests that stay longer than they are wanted once their character becomes known.

If your feet need soaking, soak them. But it doesn't help corns—much. As soon as you put that heated shoe on again the corns begin to speak up. Pull that shoe off again; if you throw it away, so much the better. Take a small wisp of long-fibre absorbent cotton and wrap it snugly around the toe—as you'd spread it around a lead pencil—snugly—so it will stay when you draw on your stocking, then saturate the cotton above the corn with any sort of good, refined lubricating oil. Olive oil is excellent; sperm oil is very good; if you haven't either, seize your wife's can of sewing machine oil. I've used it myself and cured my corns too! Dress the toe in this manner morning and night and wear low heels. Your stocking will get oil on them of course, but what of it? If you are extra careful shave the callous thin before applying the dressing. If you'd rather have corns, keep the fool heels and narrow toes.

TRAVEL STUDY CLUB

Those who read the "funnies" remember the trip to Africa by Freckles and his uncle a few months ago. Here is what Freckles said at one point of their ocean voyage. "Well there's St. Helena—I expected to see a yellow island like's printed in my geography." And how many grown folks can accurately describe the interesting and important places in other parts of the world?

By means of a very unusual method of third-dimension photography it has become possible to show with reality and correctness any important place in the far corners of the earth in just the way we would see those places in person. Several Hereford parents already have arranged to enroll their children in a Travel Study Club that will make them familiar with the actual appearance of the Pyramids of Egypt, the huge volcano in eruption as seen in the Dutch East Indies, with the jungle of Africa, and with the children of the Laplanders, in their primitive hut of the Arctic. An interesting contest is to be staged among the fortunate young folks and certificates of merit or prizes will be issued to the children who use this Travel Study Club as a means of obtaining a higher standing in the school work, according to Walter W. Smith who recently called at the Brand office.

HEREFORD TRIMS TULLIA.

In his usual efficient way, while Bill Mitchell ripped the Tullia lines to shreds with his plunges, and tackled viciously on the defense. Every man in the line got down low and hit them hard. Sherman, who took the crippled Longbottom's place at end, turned in a neat, steady game.

A new prospect for a backfield star appeared in the person of "Sandy" Jowell, reserve back. This young man gave an amazing exhibition of line smashing during the time he was in the game and looks like a real find for the backfield of 1929.

Tullia had the short pass done to perfection and gained nearly all its ground with this weapon. They could do little with the line or ends, however, and could not connect up enough passes to score.

Hereford scored three touchdowns in the first quarter, and one each in the remaining three quarters. Only one goal was kicked, however, that coming in the second quarter. The Hereford Pep Squad pulled off its trick football game between halves, to the delight of the crowd. Following the game the girls served refreshments to the visitors at the high school and sent them home in good spirits, even though in defeat.

The line-up: Hereford, Cogdell, J. Gregory, J. Drake, G. Seed, Ricketts, G. Higgins, R. Sherman, C. Clennin, G. Mitchell, R. Kussell, C. H. George, Jowell, Tullia, Wilkins, E. Curry, R. Ramsey, G. Gurley, C. Neal, G. Sadler, R. Starnes, R. Wilson, G. Swartz, R. Reagan, H. Stallings, G. Substitutions, Hereford: W. Roberson, G. Gilliland, Stone, Bowen, Brumley, Heard, G. MUSIC CLUB MEETS.

The Music Club met in regular session Monday, October 29, with Mrs. H. H. Hawkins and Miss Carey Estee as hostesses. A large percent of the membership was present.

A very interesting talk, led by Miss Swisher of Canyon on "Primitive, Oriental and Medieval Wind Instruments," was enjoyed by all. Chorus practice on the musical farce, "The Ladies Aid," was enthusiastically taken up under direction of Miss Swisher, club choral leader.

WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY

Romans 13:1-10, 13, 14

BY REV. SAMUEL D. PRICE, World's Sunday School Association

This quarterly Temperance Lesson comes on World's Temperance Sunday, just before the national election. Scientific temperance teaching is a part of the curriculum in the public schools in every state in the Union. By all these means the growing youth of every generation are taught that alcohol is a poison and should not be used for beverage purposes. Such education is a world matter, for right is absolute and not relative. The nations of the earth are looking to the U. S. A. to note the outcome of the greatest experiment in opposing the organized liquor traffic that has ever been tried in the world.

A quarter of a century ago temperance was a decidedly unpopular subject. Today it is about the biggest item of interest in the country. This letter to the Romans was written from Corinth, a most licentious city where liquor was used most freely to help the bandon in immoralities. Corinth was the playground for the Romans and there they sought to outdo the worst in the imperial city. With all that in mind Paul calls attention to the high place that rulers should have in the estimation of the people. Their office was always to be respected for all power, in the last analysis, was derived from God. Taxes, though excessive, were not to be thought of as extortions but as their just obligation in helping to provide for their own benefits as well as for the common good. If only they would purpose to keep the law they would have no ill will toward either the law or those who were enforcing it. They could think back to what Jesus had said: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's."

The law of God was held very definitely before them. Anything that tended to hurt their neighbor must be avoided. This is finely stated for every age in the injunction: "Owe no man anything, save to love one another." The very opposite of this is the result when any one makes use of alcohol as a beverage. Alcohol is inherently a poison and its reaction is uniform. Personal liberty ceases always ceases as an argument when our neighbor is hurt by what we give or sell him. Society is injured when one, claiming independence of action, causes damage or even danger to those who have a right to live in safety.

That part of the Ten Commandments which deals with neighborly relationships is brought in review. Then all is summarized in "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Having lived at least two years in Corinth on his previous missionary journey and now again for three months, Paul is necessarily familiar with causes of evil. From his sad experience he tells them about conduct that is so hurtful as he says: "Let us walk becomingly, as in the day; not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and jealousy." The Corinthians had been making provision for the flesh only to its destruction but also the loss of spiritual life itself. Morals are improved, business advances, money saved, life protected just in proportion as alcoholic beverages are given up. The statistician continuously proves this. The development of the automobile industry is a good field of research for anyone who doubts these facts.

CONSTANT EXPANSION

—to serve Chevrolet owners better

SINCE January 1st more than a million new Chevrolets have been delivered to owners—making the Chevrolet Motor Company the world's largest builder of automobiles!

This outstanding achievement has been attained not only because of the quality and value of Chevrolet cars—but also because there has been a constant expansion of Chevrolet service facilities.

In order to bring these mammoth facilities of the Chevrolet factories to Chevrolet dealers and owners everywhere, there have been erected 26 huge parts warehouses in the principal centers of distribution. This expansion program is continually going on—for four great additional warehouses will be in operation by January first and seven more by the summer of 1929.

Into the service departments of all Chevrolet dealers, Chevrolet has brought special tools and shop equipment—designed under the supervision of Chevrolet engineers. This equipment definitely assures maximum speed and precision and the lowest possible cost in the performance of every Chevrolet service and repair operation which are checked on a flat rate basis.

Furthermore, all of these tremendous facilities have been made available to 15,000 authorized service stations manned by skilled mechanics, over 25,000 of whom have been factory trained to efficiently handle every repair operation on a Chevrolet car. In addition, there are over 4,000 other points where genuine Chevrolet parts may be obtained.

Uniformly efficient, uniformly reliable and within easy reach of everybody everywhere—this great service organization is maintaining at peak efficiency the fine performance for which Chevrolet cars have always been renowned.

We cordially invite you to come in and see how our service facilities reflect the influence of this great national service program.

Paul Whiteman Will Be In Amarillo November 7

Paul Whiteman and his famous orchestra of thirty-two pieces will appear in the Amarillo auditorium in two performances on November 7, matinee and night, under auspices of Emil F. Myers of the Amarillo College of Music.

Whiteman is a pioneer in the field of jazz and it is said that the members of his orchestra are specialists who draw the highest fee for their services of any orchestra players in the world. They have given over 600 concerts in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, France, Germany, Holland and Belgium in the last three years. After a long tour of the Paramount picture theatres on which occasion he received the highest price ever paid to an attraction, Mr. Whiteman and his orchestra returned to the concert field. In their Amarillo appearances they will feature an entirely new program, including many specially written for the unique combination of instruments as well as a generous number of popular pieces done in the inimitable Whiteman manner.

Many times have been composed and many hands have come and gone since Whiteman's famous concert on February 12, 1924, in New York City, when he gave his program of American music and was accepted by the first line New York critics as the man in whom the destiny of our American music rests. For in the composition of his orchestra, its unique combination of instruments, its rhythms, its tone color and the tunes and harmonies which it plays, this orchestra is surely indigenous to the soil.

Whiteman seeks to give expression to the solitary musical impulse which may be said to have originated on this continent, jazz. This much maligned word carries with it no approbrium and is very frankly worshipped by millions. It expresses in four letters the vital energetic, rhythmic, pulsating beat of American life, and when Paul Whiteman was hailed in Berlin as the "Jazz King" (jazz king) this was meant as a compliment of the highest order.

The announcement that Paul Whiteman himself with his famous orchestra, will give one of his sensational concert entertainments in the Panhandle is one of the features of the musical season, for no artist on the concert platform today draws such a wide public as this famous leader whose phonograph records, radio, movie, theatrical and concert appearances have made his name known to millions throughout the world.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

The Parent-Teacher Association was called to order by the president, Mrs. A. M. Jones, at 3:30 p. m., Thursday, October 25, in the music room of the high school building.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Mrs. A. M. Jones, president; Miss Shields, vice president; Mrs. C. R. Smith, second vice president; Mrs. Edith Hughes, third vice president; Miss Bell, treasurer; Miss Fagg, recording secretary; Mrs. C. S. Jacobsen, co-responding secretary; Mrs. C. C. Bowman, reporter. Mrs. A. M. Jones was elected as delegate to the Amarillo state convention, on November 12-15. Membership Committee's Report.

The room having the most mothers present is to receive the banner. The room obtaining the most members is to get $5.00.

Report of Finance Committee.

Money is to be raised by helping Ralph Smith advertise a play and selling tickets, by sponsoring the play, "Funny Paper Wedding." Mr. Dillehay made a short talk on the amendments to be voted on at the coming election regarding education.

A very interesting and instructive program in charge of Mr. Dillehay was rendered by the faculty. Miss Baker gave a solo, "Awake," and responded to the applause with an encore, "Daddy's Sweetheart."

Mr. Smith gave a cornet number, with Miss Baker at the piano. Miss Westbrook discussed "Failures due to physical causes," urging the proper diet for the school child.

Mr. Kerr talked on "Failures due to outside causes," giving as an illustration the lack of co-operation between the teacher and parent.

"Causes dealing with Mental ailments" was discussed by Miss Crawford in a very interesting manner—worry being given as the chief hindrance to achievement.

"Community causes of failure" by Mr. Hudson revealed some astonishing facts about the financial value of a student.

Following this program, Miss Westbrook and her domestic science girls served refreshments of tea and wafers to more than 100 guests.

Miss Tallie Bell's room won the banner for having the most mothers present.

Spooks and Goblins Give Senior Members Big Scare

The Evil Eye, Halloween's famed black cats and witches, Jack o'lanterns and even stars galore, brought a thrill of terror to the hearts of Seniors of Herford high school last Friday evening at the monthly senior entertainment being sponsored by the mothers of the Senior class. The evening's entertainment was held at the Arnold residence on East Fifth Street and more than fifty seniors and faculty members attended the affair.

The Seniors were robed and masked in Halloween costumes and were met at the side walk by two spooks who escorted them around the entire distance of the lawn and marched through heavy shrubbery where unseen horrors lurked.

At the front entrance they were greeted by a witch who compelled each guest to jump over the proverbial broomstick and upon entering the hall they were immediately greeted by the Evil Eye. From here they were conducted to the Bright Star where each made a wish and then the assemblage proceeded up the winding stairs to where the various chambers of horror prevailed.

The chamber of the thirteenth chair and the attendant corpse brought shivers up the spinal columns of the unsophisticated seniors who gazed upon the last remains of the "Senior Who Failed."

The fortune telling witch over the boiling pot was another feature of the evening's entertainment.

The games, which were in charge of Mrs. Alex O. Thompson, proved a ribaldry of glee and merriment and the hours were quickly whittled away.

The house was decorated with pumpkin jack o'lanterns, corn shocks, black cats, witches and festoons of Halloween decorations in colors of orange and black, which are likewise the high school colors.

After the games, the guests were escorted down stairs for refreshments consisting of sandwiches, ginger bread and hot chocolate and toasted almonds. Black cat favors were served. After refreshments a sing-song was indulged in and several special numbers were rendered by the "Fearless Four," a male quartet of the senior class.

Mothers having charge of the evening's entertainment for the Seniors included Mrs. A. A. Foster, chairman; Mrs. I. S. Hamilton, Mrs. L. N. Wolfe, Mrs. Cooper Morgan, Mrs. Jas. H. Miller, Mrs. W. F. Orr and Mrs. Roy Arnold. Fathers of the Seniors present included A. O. Thompson, Leo N. Wolfe, J. S. Hamilton, W. E. Orr, Superintendent and Mrs. Dillehay, together with other members of the faculty were also present.

THE TIGER TRAIL

By Edison Marshall

I don't know where my thoughts were that long afternoon. I tried to read for awhile. It wasn't a success. I knew that my stay at Southley Downs, so often threatened, was at its end at last. Tomorrow we would all cross the marsh to testify at the coroner's inquest; and I wouldn't return to Southley Downs ever again. The mystery and the charm would go out of my life to stay, as the swamp water glided beneath the boat.

It was after nine when I saw the flash of a lantern across the water. Thin clouds were in the sky and the moon had not yet risen. The whole wilderness world was blotted out by the shadow, and the soft light over the water brought a queer flood of thoughts. I welcomed its approach. At the moment it seemed only the reminder that life still existed about this great, bleak estate of the Southleys. Without it, it might have seemed a realm of death where human beings never came. And besides the great Alexander Pierce was returning from his expedition and I did not know but that this gleam across the wastes was the breaking of the light of truth in the darkness.

I heard a step behind me. It was Inspector Freeman.

"I see he's coming just at the time he promised," he said with a note of wonder.

The boat drew up to the shore, and the colored man got out to make it fast. The lantern light was dim, and I could not see plainly. It seemed to me that something was huddled in the bottom of the boat—something rather big—but I could not see what it was because a rubber tarpaulin had been thrown over it. But I did see Alexander's face. He held the lantern up to look at us, and it showed his features plainly. He seemed curiously intent.

We walked up the path and three shadows made black streaks across the light that the lantern threw.

They were of the three Southleys who had come out of the house to meet us. They also seemed grave and determined. Something gleamed in the old man's hand. As Alexander held the lantern high I saw what it was. It was a pistol.

"What's this?" Alexander asked. "Vilas' pistol," Southley replied. "You told me to get it."

"How did you do it without arousing suspicion?"

"Took it from the drawer in the library table. He keeps it there in the daytime. Usually carries it at night. Ernest and I left him with the excuse that we had to talk to some of the colored laborers at their cottages. Josephine just slipped away."

Alexander turned to Ernest: "How about the candles?"

"Two burning in the library. All the others have been misplaced, as you directed?"

"And the servants?"

"No one in the house but Ahmad."

The inspector suddenly gasped. "But I tell you that isn't safe," he cried. "He'll be there when we get to the house."

"I promised I'd see that he didn't run away," Alexander answered, wearily. "He'll be there when we come. Don't fear, inspector." He turned to the others. "Then everything is ready. Miss Southley—if you will go with Inspector Freeman. His arm is strong and his aim sure. Southley, you and Ernest can take the south windows. You Long, will be an unprejudiced witness. But you've got to know how to walk silently."

"I know how. I've stalked deer in the West."

"Good. Then you'll come with me. And now—out goes the light."

He lifted the lantern and turned down the wick. Then he blew out the flame. Of course I understood. In our present position at the base of the hill it would not be visible from the windows of the house. It would be visible as we approached the house.

And just as the shadows fell a hand touched mine. It was a warm hand, and soft, and toe fingers rested a single fluttering instant in my palm. It was a little hand, too, and I had in a single instant of never-to-be-forgotten knowledge of its power to soothe and hold and a tenderness beyond all reckoning. And I knew whose hand it was.

"Maybe you can understand after this," she whispered. "Perhaps you won't condemn me so."

Then like a squad deploying in battle we started climbing up the slope of the hill.

We soon left the others in the darkness. Alexander and I crept to the postern door.

"One sound will spoil the play," he whispered to me in the instant that we waited at its threshold. "Keep your ears and eyes open."

Then we crept through into the little hall. The door into the library was open, but scarcely any light came through. So deep was the shadow that Alexander was at once invisible.

We lay down on the opposite sides of the hall so that we could look through into the library. But we left the passage open as Alexander had instructed. The reason was simply that he thought the man we had come to watch might want to make an escape through the doorway and it would have spoiled the plan for him to see us on the way out. Lying close to the walls it was likely he would pass us by. But after one glance through the doorway I felt sure that no such attempt would be made. The darkness of the hillside where Hayward had died would in this man's mind seem more terrible than the room itself.

The library at Southley Downs was tremendously long. It had rows of windows at one end and the other opened into the hall. The tapestries and furnishings were rather dark, after the manner of Victorian libraries. At one side was built a great fireplace now cheerless and cold. There were rather many curtains that waved when the wind blew. The wind was now blowing. We could feel it, damp and strange from the marsh as it struck across our faces.

When I say that Vilas Hayward sat alone I do not mean that there was no other occupants in the room. There was one other, and it is true that at first I didn't see him at all. He kept at the very edge of the candlelight, and he moved so softly, so unobtrusively that it was very easy to ignore his presence. It was Ahmad Das.

A white face is always comparatively visible in the dim light. That is why soldiers going out to No Man's Land at night darkened their faces with lamp black. But Ahmad's face was naturally dark and it blurred in our sight. Sometimes I saw the whites of his eyes when the candlelight shone on them. Vilas Hayward was not trying to read, and the fact that the light was too dim for easy reading had nothing really to do with it. He was watching Ahmad Das out of the corner of his eyes.

The lighting effect was one in which a great artist would have rejoiced. It was yellow and dim, of course, and perhaps it had a quality of unreality. The atmosphere of candles at any time is distinctly medieval. Then, there was the graduation of shadows—dusky close to the fireplace but shading to a deep intense black. The light from the two candles met at the very extremities, leaving a dusky path between. Vilas' head and shoulders cast a distinct shadow on the wall, blurred however by the effect of a candle across the room. The shadow was thrown by Ahmad was one against the curtains of the window gliding and dusky and dim.

Every purchaser of a new Ford is entitled to Free Inspection Service for the first 1500 miles

THE modern automobile is a finely built piece of machinery and it will stand a lot of abuse. Considering the work it does, it gives surprisingly little trouble. But there isn't a car made that will not run better and longer if given proper care.

The first few hundred miles are especially important because that is when the mechanism of your car is being broken in.

Proper attention during this period will lengthen its life and prevent unnecessary trouble later on.

We are particularly interested in this matter because we believe it is our duty not only to make a good automobile, but to help the owner get the greatest possible use over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.

With this in view, the entire Ford dealer organization has been specially trained and equipped to service the new Model A car.

Furthermore, we have instructed every Ford dealer to give the following Free Inspection Service at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles:

- Check battery
- Check generator charging rate
- Check distributor adjustment
- Check carburetor adjustment
- Check lights
- Check brakes
- Check shock absorber adjustment
- Check tire inflation
- Check steering gear
- Change engine oil
- Lubricate chassis

No charge is made for labor or materials incidental to this service, except, of course, where repairs are necessary through accident, misuse or neglect. The only charge is for new oil.

See your Ford dealer, therefore, and get this Free Inspection of your new car at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. Find out, too, how little it will cost to have your car given a thorough going-over at regular periods thereafter.

A checking-up by experienced mechanics, together with oiling and greasing every 500 miles, will add months and years to the life of your car and mean more economical and pleasurable motoring every mile you drive.

Older Folks Need SMAX

It Builds Energy and Health

SMAX, the All Wheat Cereal, is the ideal food for older folks. It contains all the Bran, nature's laxative, as well as the strength and energy giving parts of the wheat and is easily assimilated. Easy to prepare—cooks in 3 minutes—and is so delicious.

We should all be thankful that scientific evaporating makes it possible for us to have "dried" fruits which retain the excellent, matured flavors. In fact many dried fruits are better than the fresh fruits, because they are picked RIPE from the trees and shipped to us dried instead of being picked GREEN.

Drying fruits reduces the weight and freight and enables us to sell them reasonably. Come see the many kinds we have.
