Assault charge raised to murder

GARCIA

Joe Steve Garcia is to be arraigned by Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turrentine today for the murder of Antonio Madrid. Madrid died Tuesday at 12:34 p.m. in Northwest Texas Hospital after life support systems he had been on since admittance were turned off at noon.

Dr. Ralph Erdmann performed an autospsy which revealed numerous contusions to the brain which caused swelling. Madrid, 38, had been listed in serious condition since the night of the assault and had undergone brain surgery to relieve swelling.

Two witnesses to the assault said the men were arguing and alcohol consumption was involved in the incident. As a result of witness evidence Garcia, 31, was arrested and charged with aggravated assault with bond set at $50,000. He has remained in Deaf Smith County Jail,

Gerk named salutatorian

West is HHS valedictorian

Dale West is the Hereford High Class of 1987 valedictorian with a grade point average of 105.3889, and Shyla Gerk is the salutatorian with an average of 104.7. The announcement was made today at the annual Senior Awards

The averages are over 100 because of extra points given for honors classes. Only academic credits are averaged. West took 36 credits and Gerk had 30 in their high school careers.

West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe West, was named in April as a National Merit Scholar. This fall West will enter the honors program for liberal arts study at the University of Texas at Austin.

While at HHS, West was president of his junior and senior classes, an officer and competitor in Future Farmers of America and in Key Club. He was on the school physics academic team, was the DAR Good Citizen honoree and held membership in the National Honor Gerk, daughter of Ray Gerk and Carol Gerk, is an accomplished musician seated in all-state band and orchestra.

She has been active in the HHS Student Council and in the National Honor Society. She was the recipient of NHS scholarship and a UIL Scholar Award.

Other honor graduates were announced. The top eight listed have GPAs of over 100. They are ranked as follows:

Board revokes doctor's privileges at local hospital

By DEBE GRAVES Staff Writer

The executive board of Deaf Smith County Hospital District agreed with the Medical Staff Committee's recommendation and revoked hospital admitting privileges of Dr. William Benjamin on Tuesday.

Benjamin was given temporary privileges at a prior board meeting and placed on probationary guidelines due to problems arising from his non-availability in not attending his patients personally. Recent violations of those guidelines were listed as cause for the revocation of privileges.

Though the process of final revocation will be complicated, DSGH administrator James Bullard said today that Benjamin would not be allowed to admit patients to the hospital. In other business, the board, led by Frank Zinser in the absence of president Marjorie Ford, approved proposed pre-employment and employee health physicals which will include routine screenings and other tests as required and related to specific jobs in the hospital. Bullard reported on options open to the facility regarding bond financing and he and Dr. Nadir Khuri discussed plans to renovate the west end of the hospital, at Khuri's expense, for office space. Khuri practices general and vascular surgery. The addition of a voting representative of the High Plains Water District to the Waste Deposit Impact Committee unanimously.

Gramm tips financial scales, Bentsen's income drops

WASHINGTON (AP) Republican Sen. Phil Gramm tipped the financial scales significantly higher in 1986 while Democratic colleague Lloyd Bentsen's income fell a bit from the previous year.

The financial facts and figures of the state's two U.S. senators were released Tuesday.

Gramm, an economist and former college professor in the middle of his first term in the U.S. Senate. reported income for 1986 at between $131,911 and $178,100, up from the previous year's pay of between $114,304 and $145,800, which included his $75,100 annual Senate salary. This year's disclosure forms do not include salaries.

A $30,000 slice of Gramm's income came from 19 speeches given in Washington and Texas to a variety of groups including the National Association of Credit Unions, the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Institute for Research on the Economics of Taxation.

1985, in which Bentsen listed income of between $491,666 and $862,247. Members of Congress are required only to report ranges of income, assets and liabilities, with an openended top category of at least

$100,000 for income and $250,000 for assets and liabilities. Bentsen, who keeps homes in Washington, D.C., Starr County, Texas, and a 130-acre farm in Virginia, also listed income from rental property, interest, dividends and capital gains.

The bulk of Gramm's income came from rental property in Bryan-College Station with smaller amounts from dividends and retirement plans. Assets came to between $272,018 and $770,000 against liabilities of $45,003 to $150,000 - all tied to three mortgages.

The co-author of the Gramm-Rudman budget balancing act also listed receiving three gifts worth $100 or more, including a Cotton Bowl watch from his former employer, Texas A&M in January 1986.

Bentsen listed no gifts or honoraria in his disclosure form. He did show $24,750 in director's fees earned by his wife, B.A. Bentsen. Mrs. Bentsen is a director of Criterion Inc. of Houston, an umbrella mutual fund that oversees 13 other investment funds.

Gramm's wife, Wendy, earned a salary of $77,500 in her position as administrator in the Office of Management and Budget.

The Republican senator also listed 41 reimbursements for travel, most of which were trips to speak in behalf of fellow GOP members running for re-election. Gramm made ten such trips in support of Gov. Bill Clements.

Bentsen listed five reimbursable trips for the past year.

Areas ask for second SSC chance

AUSTIN (AP) - Four losers in the race to represent Texas in the national competition for the "super collider" are asking a state commission to take a second look at what they have to offer.

The Texas National Reserach Laboratory Commission received four appeals Tuesday from sites ruled out as possible locations for the giant atom smashing project.

The groups submitting appeals were the Sam Houston group which proposed a site in the Sam Houston National Forest, a Houston-Beaumont group proposing a site between the two cities, a far West Texas group proposing a site near El Paso and a Permian Basin group

Congress."

WASHINGTON (AP) - Robert W. Owen, a key operative in the clandestine U.S. aid program to the Nicaraguan Contras, says former CIA Director William J. Casey knew in detail about Lt. Col. Oliver L. North's activities and agreed that North would be the "fall guy" should the covert scheme become public.

Testifying Tuesday for 41/2 hours before a House-Senate committee, Owen also said he had heard complaints from Contra leaders that U.S. middlemen had taken heavy markups on the prices of weapons sold to the Contras — as much as 300 percent in one instance, according to one senator.

Those complaints were likely to be echoed today with Adolfo Calero, leader of the largest rebel fighting force, appearing at the witness table.

In a prepared opening statement, Calero compared the Contra movement to the American Revolution and said some of his exploits were not unlike those carried out by the founding fathers of the United States. "Yes, we set up front companies;

In a related development, Swiss authorities said that some records of bank accounts allegedly used to launder money from the arms sale would be turned over to independent counsel Lawrence E. Walsh. The documents should be made available within two weeks, Swiss Justice Department spokesman Juerg Kistler said.

Other banking records naming Iranian-American businessman Albert Hakim and Iranian arms dealer Manucher Ghorbanifar will be withheld pending their appeal of an April 15 order releasing the accounts, Kistler said.

Owen, under oath and with a grant of limited immunity from prosecution, told the committees investigating the secret sale of U.S. arms to Iran and the diversion of payments to the Contras that North spoke with Casey frequently. Owen hospital May 6.

said he met Casey at times coming and going from North's office in the White House complex.

When it became clear that Congress was going to cut off military aid to the Contras in 1984, Casey approached North, who was an aide at the National Security Council, and asked him to suggest someone who could be sent to Central America to help the rebels keep going, Owen said North told him.

"So I think that through those few times, and through some of the things that Colonel North said, including the fact that he would be a fall guy, and that Bill Casey agrees with that, that that was my assumption," Owen said.

In testimony last week, McFarlane said he believed North was taking orders from the former director.

WASHINGTON (AP) - William Webster, who as FBI director built good relations with Congress, takes over the CIA at a time when the spy agency's reputation on Capitol Hill has seldom been worse.

Webster was confirmed Tuesday by the Senate, 94-1, becoming the 14th director of the Central Intelligence Agency which has agents throughout the world and a corps of analysts at its Langley, Va., headquarters near Washington.

Webster promised in confirmation hearings last month that he would keep congressional oversight committees fully informed of the CIA's activities, which cost an estimated $3 billion last year.

His confirmation comes as the Iran-Contra hearings bring to light details of the CIA's role in covert U.S. arms sales to Iran and its involvement in assisting the Nicaraguan rebels under the late director William J. Casey.

Webster's confirmation is "important for the country and the administration," said President Reagan's chief spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater. "At this crucial juncture in world affairs, we need thoughtful and strong leadership at the CIA."

The search continues for a successor to Webster at the FBI. Former Pennsylvania Gov. Dick Thornburgh turned down the job two weeks ago. In late March, sources said five candidates were being considered.

Webster's nomination for the CIA post was delayed for three days earlier this month when Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., used a prerogative allowed any senator and put a "hold" on the nomination. Hollings demanded FBI investigation of civilians at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow in connection with espionage allegations against Marine Guards; Webster promised such an

Webster's promises to work with Congress helped him win a unanimous endorsement May 1 from the Senate Intelligence Committee. The panel's chairman, Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., on Tuesday called Webster "fully qualified in all respects."

Webster "is a man of extreme capability, dedication, idealism and integrity," added the intelligence committee's vice chairman, Sen. William Cohen, R-Maine.

Casey, who resigned 31/2 months ago following surgery for a cancerous brain tumor and died May 6, used his influence within the Reagan administration to support the covert sale of arms to Iran without informing Congress.

Webster, 63, was the second man to be nominated by President Reagan to replace Casey. Deputy CIA Director Robert Gates withdrew from consideration in March after questions were raised about his role in preparing Casey's congressional testimony on the Iran arms sales.

Phyllis Oakley said Tuesday the United States was willing to join with Iraq in a joint investigation of the attack.

"Both governments are determined not to allow a recurrence of such an error," she said. "We have not yet worked out the timing and the modalities of the (joint) investigation."

The mild U.S. reaction to the attack and the decision to protect ships from Kuwait, a non-belligerent Arab ally of Iraq, were signs of a growing American tilt toward Baghdad in its nearly 7-year-old conflict with Iran.

Senate Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas called for "a special, renewed examination" of the Kuwait deal. "That plan may still make sense, but at the least, in light of Sunday's tragedy, we need to take a new look," Dole said.

"Are we becoming a silent party to the Iran-Iraq war?" said Rep. Tom Lantos, D-Calif., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Europe and the Middle East.

But Richard Murphy, assistant secretary of state for Near East affairs, said the Soviet Union has leased three tankers to the Kuwaitis, putting them under the protection of its hammer-and-sickle banner. "We do not want the Soviet Union to obtain a strategic position from which it could threaten vital freeworld interests in the region," Murphy told Lantos' subcommittee. "We believe our arrangement will limit Soviet advances." In other developments:

-President Reagan, in an interview with newspapers in the Chattanooga, Tenn., area, said the administration is waiting to find out why the guided-missile frigate didn't return fire at the attacking Iraqi plane in the 60 seconds to 90 seconds during which such a response would have been possible.

And in a speech to 2,700 graduating high school seniors in the Chattanooga area, Reagan said U.S. military forces in the gulf had been told to "defend yourselves" against possible attacks spilling over from the Iran-Iraq war. "We're going to do what has to be done to keep the Persian Gulf open," Reagan said. "It's international waters. -Rear Adm. Harold J. Bernsen, speaking to reporters in the gulf state of Bahrain, said the Stark had about a minute's warning that the Iraqi warplane had turned on its weapons radar and had locked in on the frigate. But based on preliminary reports, the admiral said, there was "no indication" to the crew that a missile had actually been launched. Ann Landers Uncontrollable crying

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My problem has gotten so bad that I am busy making up excuses to stay home. Why? Becuase I am a crier, and it is becoming so embarrassing that I can't hold my head up.

Last week I cried at the opening of a K mart. I know this sounds ridiculous but I can't help it. Whenever I attend a wedding, baptism, bar mitzvah, retirement party, graduation or a funeral I am a mess. Most people can shed a few tears in a sad movie, mop their eyes and go back to the popcorn, but not me. I bawl my head off and go through half a box of paper tissues.

I have been this way as long as I can remember. Why can't I control my tears like most people? Can you suggest some literature to help me get over this? Please come to the rescue.-Cry Baby in Birmingham

DEAR BIRM: You are a sensitive person and I doubt that you can change, so I suggest that you look at your problem through the other end of the telescope.

Actually you are much better off than people who can't cry. Tears offer a healthy release. They allow you to express your grief or joy or sympathy or whatever you feel. This is truly a blessing. (P.S. If you cry when you get this letter, I don't want to hear about it.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am outraged by your statement, "It is better to hit an animal than to stop suddenly and risk getting rear-ended or swerve and hit another car." Don't you realize a statement like that gives people permission to kill a defenseless creature? When we become insensitive to animals we become insensitive to all living things. Peopl eneed to be more caring. Remarks like yours, if heeded, would turn us into a totally selfish society.-Fuming in Oklahoma

DEAR FUMING: Meet "Furious in Arizona." She wrote:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column this morning made me so angry I couldn't finish my breakfast. How can you say it is better to hit an animal than risk getting rear-ended? If I had to choose between hitting an animal or a human I would hit the human because I know that a great many people will rush to the aid of an injured person but they will let an injured animal lie there and die.

I don't expect you to print this letter but I had to have my say.-Furious in Arizona

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My fiance and I plan to marry in August and move to Europe. We are going to have a big wedding.

The problem: We do not want gifts. We want money. Gifts tend to be useless, and it would be difficult to lug them to Europe. Also, we would prefer to buy what we need. How can we request cash instead of gifts on the invitation without appearing to be crass? We need your assistance with this delicate matter.-Bride-to-Be in Montebello, Calif.

DEAR B.T.B.: Sorry, there's no genteel way to phrase a request for money on a wedding invitation. Your parents might pass the word to Grandma and Gramps and maybe an aunt or uncle who is close, but beyond that - my advice is to forget

What's the story on pot, cocaine, LSD, PCP, downers, speed? Can you handle the if you're careful? Send for Ann Landers' all-new booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." For each booklet ordered, send $2, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Arranging Centerpiece

There will be a variety of centerpieces (as shown above) and other table appointments used when competitors enter the annual Tour of Tables set from 2-5 p.m. June 7 at the Hereford Community Center. The event is open to everyone and will provide entrants the opportunity to set a table expressing their own individuality. Prizes will be awarded for different categories. The annual competition is sponsored by the St. Thomas Episcopal Church Women. Serving on the planning committee are (from left) Claudia McBrayer, Vicki Conger and Vera Threewit. BROKEN HOPES

By Bob Wear

We have many things in common, and 'broken hopes' compose part of this common experience. The disappointments, and sometimes the hurt, are not always easy to endure;

however, they can be endured. There is no basis for assuming that everything will work out as we wish. Therefore, we must condition ourselves for some 'broken hopes' and the feelings they produce in us. In fact, we must endeavor to let the 'broken hopes' be a source of strength uponw hich we can draw for the full course of living. Without them, we would likely lose our capacity for gratitude; and, in time, forget how to appreciate our bless-

The Unpleasant facts of disappointments are not easy to accept, and there is nothing which demands that we enjoy them. Even though some may turn out to be blessings in disguise, they still hurt. The sad people are those who seem to be determined to be forever crushed by the burden of 'broken hopes'. We must never let this happen to us. We do have the right to choose how we respond to them. We must not face them with despair, but with the understanding and strength of honest reality, and keep them in their rightful place in relationship to the whole of life. We are tested by 'broken hopes'. They eventually reveal us for what we are: victorious in living, or just victims of the realities of life "Disappointments are shafts sent to the very bottom of our souls, and whatever is there, whether gold or only copper, they bring it to the surface."-Edmund Garrett.

We must choose between refinement and remorse. 'Broken hopes' can cause either one; depending upon how we handle them. We make the choice, we decide. "As the tree is fed by its own broken branches and fallen leaves, and grows out of its own decay, so people and nations are bettered and improved by trial; and

Golf tourney is cut short by rain

Red Raider Club meeting held

Optimism about the athletic programs at Texas Tech University was expressed by coaches during a Hereford Red Raider Club meeting here Tuesday night at Hereford Country Club.

T. Jones, athletic director; Spike Dykes, head football coach, and Jim Wall, assistant basketball coach, gave a brief overview of the coming seasons. A football highlights film of the past season was shown, and an Ex-Students Association film about Tech was also viewed.

The Red Raider Cup, a golf tournament involving visiting coaches and Tech officials, was held Tuesday afternoon at Pitman Municipal Golf Course. The rain cut the tournament short with most foursomes playing about 14 to 16 holes.

Golf winners were determined by score on a number of holes played and by a scoreboard comparison on holes which all teams completed. Kelly Robinson, Tech assistant sports information director, led the first place team, also composed of Dorman Smith, Ike Stevens and Chuck Moore. The runnerup team was composed of Jess Stiles, assistant athletic director at Tech, and Cal Garrett, Tommy Moss, and Joe Soliz Jr.

Trophies for the winning teams were presented at the dinner by Dave Workman, golf tournament chairman. Dave Hopper was general chairman for the Red Raider Club day, assisted also by Tom LeGate, Cal Mitts and Speedy Nieman.

Diaz hits home run for Pittsburgh

Astros suffer 5-2 loss to Pirates

By ALAN ROBINSON AP Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) - All the Pittsburgh Pirates needed to heat the Houston Astros was Mike Diaz's long ball and Bobby Bonilla's short hop.

Diaz hit one of the Pirates' longest homers of the season and Bonilla's apparently routine ground ball scored what proved the winning run in the seventh inning as the Pirates defeated Houston 5-2 Tuesday night.

"This was an excellent, excellent win for us," Diaz said "We had key hits in clutch situations. We did the little things you have to do to win ball games, and it's important for us to keep doing those things if we're gonna be a winner."

Diaz's long homer into the third tier of Three Rivers Stadium's leftfield seats and Sid Bream's RBI single staked starter Brian Fisher to a 2-0 lead in the fifth inning - until the rains came. After a one-hour, 27-minute delay, Pittsburgh Manager Jim Leyland replaced Fisher with rookie John Smiley.

Smiley, 3-1, lost the lead by allowing Glenn Davis' solo homer in the sixth and another run in the seventh following Billy Hatcher's triple. But he still wound up the winning pitcher.

Dave Meads, 3-1, the Astros' third pitcher, got into immediate trouble in the seventh when he hit Rafael Belliard with a pitch, pinch hitter Bill Almon singled and Barry Bonds walked. Bonilla then grounded to second, but shortstop Dickie Thon dropped Bill Doran's throw for an error, allowing Belliard to score the goahead run. Johnny Ray followed with a sacrifice fly.

The Pirates thought Bonilla's ball was too slowly hit to be turned into an inning-ending double play, but Houston Manager Hal Lanier said, "It would have been close."

"Bonilla gets down the line pretty well for a big man and it wasn't really hit that hard but I still think it might have been close," he said. "If we had handled it cleanly, it might have been interesting."

It might not have been that big a play if the Astros had gotten to Fisher when they had the chance. Billy Hatcher walked and stole second to start the game, but never got any farther.

Houston then loaded the bases with none out in the second, but pitcher Jim Deshaies struck out and third baseman Jim Morrison turned Hatcher's well-hit line drive into a dou-

"This game was lost in the early innings," Lanier said. "We had good chances to score some runs and didn't come up with the base hit. We didn't do a lot of the little things we usually do well."

Leyland was glad the Pirates came back to win a game they easily could have squandered away.

"It's easy to get sluggish sitting around during a long rain delay and then all of a sudden you're not ahead anymore," he said.

Don Robinson pitched the final two innings for his seventh save. The Pirates also got an insurance run in the eighth on LaValliere's runscoring single.

Despite walking the leadoff man in four of the five innings he started, Fisher said he is becomingly increasingly more comfortable in the starting rotation.

Fisher was obtained by the Pirates from the New York Yankees last winter, presumably to team with Robinson in short relief, but was moved into the rotation after his ERA ballooned over 13.00.

He now has a win - and a near win - in his last two starts.

"When you're a reliever, you're expected to come in and bam, bam, bam, get guys out," Fisher said. "You have to pace yourself more as starter, develop a different rhythm. But I'm starting to like being a starter." Giants 6, Expos 2

The San Francisco Giants are doing it with mirrors and Manager Roger Craig thinks they look mighty good atop the National League West.

'We haven't played well, but the amazing thing is we're still in first lace," Craig said after the Giants beat the Montreal Expos 6-2 Tuesday night for only their second victory in the last eight games. But Cincinnati's 9-2 loss to Chicago not only allowed the Giants to move a half-game ahead of the Reds but also gave the Cubs a one-game lead in the NL East over St. Louis, which lost to

The Giants have played much of the season with three-fourths of their infield - second baseman Robby Thompson, shortstop Jose Uribe and third baseman Chris Brown - on the disabled list. And their starting pitchers may as well have been disabled; Mike LaCoss' seven-inning effort marked the first time in nine games a starter has lasted past the sixth in-

"I was thinking about it, especially when they loaded the bases in the first inning," said LaCoss, who got Tim Wallach to hit into a double play and escaped allowing only one run. "But we got a big lead pretty early and that always helps you pitch." San Francisco's Jeffrey Leonard hit a solo home run in the first inning and a two-run homer in the third as the Giants snapped Montreal's fourgame winning streak. They added three runs in the fourth on Bob Melvin's homer, Thompson's double, Matt Williams' RBI single, a stolen base and Mark Wasinger's single. Cubs 9, Reds 2

Rick Sutcliffe became the NL's first seven-game winner as the Cubs won their fifth in a row. Chicago rapped out 15 hits, including four singles by Andre Dawson and three by Jody Davis, and got two RBI apiece from Shawon Dunston, Keith Moreland and Jerry Mumphrey.

Sutcliffe went six innings-plus, giving up five hits and two runs. Dawson, Davis and Moreland each singled a run home in the first inning against Tom Browning. Leon Durham, Mumphrey and Dunston each had an RBI in the fifth and the Cubs added three more runs in the sixth.

The Cubs, who lead the league with 53 homers, settled for 14 singles and

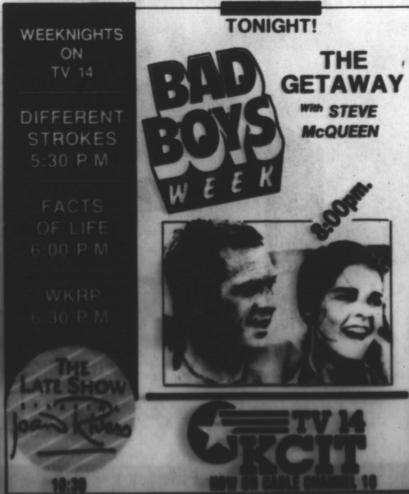

Braves 6, Cardinals 5

Dion James doubled with one out in the ninth inning off St. Louis relief ace Todd Worrell and scored on Ted Simmons' single. The Braves, who trailed 3-0 before they came to bat, tied the score 5-5 in the eighth on pinch hitter Graig Nettles' two-out, two-run single off Worrell. Mets 5, Padres 4

Howard Johnson's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the seventh inning broke a tie, but winning pitcher Roger McDowell almost gave the game away on a freak play.

The Padres loaded the bases with two out in the ninth on pinch hitter Marvell Wynne's single, a walk to pinch hitter James Steels and Stan Jefferson's infield hit, which McDowell failed to handle. Disgusted with himself, McDowell attempted to slam the ball into his glove - and missed.

The ball was heading for left field but third baseman Johnson took several quick steps to his left and made a lunging grab. McDowell then retired Joey Cora on a grounder for the final out.

Bi-district playoff game postponed

The first game of the class 4A bidistrict playoff series between Hereford High School and Andrews High School was just about to begin Tuesday night in Lubbock when a rainstorm hit the area.

As a result of the storm, which started about six minutes before the game time of 6:30 p.m., there was more than an hour delay before a decision was made to postpone game one of the best-of-three series until Friday.

It was said that no rain had fallen during the daytime in the west part of Lubbock.

Game one is now scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Friday at Chaparral Field at Lubbock Christian College. Game two will be played at 1 p.m. Friday and game three, if necessary, will be played right after game two.

just off the west loop in Lubbock. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Those who purchased tickets to Tuesday's game may present their tickets stubs for entrance into Chaparral Field on Friday night.

Hereford, 20-4 for the season, won the District 1-4 championship with a 13-1 record. Andrews tied with Pecos for the District 2-4A title, but lost a tiebreaker game 3-0 last Friday night to determine playoff spots. Andrews has a 16-10 season record, including a 9-3 mark in the regular district games.

Pecos will play Canyon, the District 1-4A runnerup, in a playoff series Friday and Saturday at O'Bannon Field in Lubbock.

Rangers come from behind for 10-8 win beauty is in the eye of the beholder, so, too, is the aesthetic quality of a baseball game.

Looking at Tuesday night's game from the winner's dugout, Texas Rangers manager Bobby Valentine called it "a heck of a ballgame and one hell of a comeback."

Shifting through the debris of his club's 10-8 loss in the Detroit clubhouse, Tigers manager Sparky Anderson called it "criminal, a circus."

"In my 18 years of managing in the major leagues," Anderson continued, "that's the worst baseball game I've ever seen."

Both managers had evidence to back their claims. Valentine's Rangers went into the fifth inning trailing 8-2 and rallied to win it on Larry Parrish' 2-out, 3-run home run in the bottom of the eighth.

Along the way, Texas relievers Ron Meridith and Dale Mohorcic combined for 5 1-3 innings of scoreless relief with Mohorcic, 3-1, picking up the victory.

Anderson's evaluation was flavored by the fact that his club made five errors, giving the Rangers four unearned runs, and his bullpen couldn't hold an 8-2 lead. Eric King, 2-3, served up the homer to Parrish.

Adding to the circus atmosphere was a bench-clearing scuffle in the fifth inning in which there was a lot dy Higuera took the loss.

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - If of milling around but no punches thrown, and only one ejection, that of Rangers left fielder Pete Incaviglia.

Incaviglia and Detroit catcher Mike Heath were the central figures in the scuffle that erupted while the Rangers were staging a 3-run rally to pull within 8-5.

In the eighth, Parrish came to the plate with two outs and two runners on and worked King to a 3-0 count before hitting a drive that traveled an estimates 450 feet, one of the longest ever hit at Arlington Stadium. It hit with enough impact to break a seat in the bleachers section.

"It went 450 feet, and that's where it broke the seat," said Valentine.

Bob Brower and Don Slaught also homered for the Rangers, and Alan Trammell and Darnell Coles connected for the Tigers, who saw a sixgame winning streak snapped.

White Sox 5, Brewers 1 This afternoon, the Milwaukee Brewers go for unlucky No. 13.

The Brewers, who started the season by tying the major-league record of 13 consecutive victories. lost their 12th straight Tuesday night, 5-1 to the Chicago White Sox.

Greg Walker also hit a two-run homer and Tim Hulett had a solo shot for the visiting White Sox.

"I hate to harp. We had some opportunities," Milwaukee Manager Tom Trebelhorn said after ace Ted-

The Brewers have fallen from first place to third in the American League East. Tonight, they can match a 13-game streak - this time going the wrong way -when Juan Nieves starts at home against Chicago's Joel Davis. It was Davis who ended Milaukee's seasonopening success.

Higuera, 4-3, remained winless since April 24, including three losses and two no-decisions, despite tying a personal high with 13 strikeouts. He gave up eight hits. Royals 4, Red Sox 1

Bret Saberhagen became the AL's first seven-game winner, pitching a six-hitter and Kansas City won its fifth straight game by beating

Steve Balboni hit RBI singles in the Kansas City fourth against Bob Stanley, 2-5.

Orioles 15, Mariners 4 Larry Sheets, Jim Dwyer and Ken Gerhart homered as Baltimore continued its long-ball binge in Seattle.

The Orioles, who set a majorleague record with 34 homers in their last 12 games, lead the majors with 63 home runs this season.

Sheets, who drove in four runs, hit a three-run homer during a six-run third inning. Gerhart, who also had an RBI triple, hit a two-run shot in the eighth.

Indians 4, Twins 3

Cory Snyder, benched at the start of the game because of a prolonged batting slump, hit a two-run homer with one out in the ninth inning, giving Cleveland its victory over visiting Minnesota.

Snyder began the night in a 6-for-67 slump and entered the game in the sixth as a pinch hitter, but grounded out with the bases loaded against Mark Portugal to end the threat.

But after Chris Bando opened the Indians' ninth with a single and Brett Butler struck out, Snyder hit his sixth home run off Portugal, 1-3. Cleveland ended its four-game losing streak and won for the third time in 15 games.

Angels 2, Blue Jays 1

Mark McLemore drove home both California runs, including the tiebreaker with an infield single in the eighth inning against visiting Toronto.

With runners on first and third and two outs, McLemore hit an apparently routine grounder to shortstop Tony Fernandez, but beat the throw in a close play. Blue Jays Manager Jimy Williams was ejected for arguing the

Rookie Mark McGwire hit his ALleading 13th home run and Jose Canseco also homered, leading host Oakland over New York.

Canseco, who hit 33 home runs as a rookie last year, hit his fifth in the first inning. He added an RBI single in the fourth.

McGwire hit a solo shot in the third off Dennis Rasmussen, 3-3.

Dennis Eckersley, 3-2, pitched twohit relief for 42-3 innings. Jay Howell worked the ninth for his seventh save, allowing a solo homer to Gary Ward.

Junior high golf round played in Hereford

A junior high school boys' ninehole golf round was played Monday in Hereford at the Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Three teams of boys from the junior high schools in Hereford competed, along with one team from Canyon and one from Valley View. Two girls and one boy from Hereford competed as individuals.

The next round that the Hereford junior high golfers will play is scheduled Friday at Hunsley Hills Golf Course in Canyon.

The Hereford Maroon team had a score of 185. The Hereford Grey team shot a 191, and the Hereford White team's total was 194. Here are the Hereford individual scores:

Hereford Maroon team: Jason

Los Angeles gains 2-0 lead

By JOHN NADEL

AP Sports Writer INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) Magic Johnson saved his best for what he calls winnin' time as the Los Angeles Lakers took a 2-0 lead over the Seattle SuperSonics in the NBA's Western Conference finals.

Tom Chambers, on the other hand, saved his best for the post-game interviews.

Johnson, selected Monday as the NBA's Most Valuable Player, scored 12 of his 20 points in the fourth quarter Tuesday night to lead the Lakers to a 112-104 victory over the Sonics.

"We've been there so many times before and we know what to do and who to look for," Johnson said of the game's final minutes. "They were doubling me all the time, but I don't worry about scoring, just winning.

"When I was finally able to break through at the end, the scoring just came into place."

Chambers, Seattle's high-scoring forward, was held to eight points, all in the first half. He made only four of his 12 field goal attempts.

Afterward, he was livid concerning the game's officiating.

"It was discouraging because I didn't play as well as I could have." Chambers said. "I think (referee) Eddie Middleton had a wager on the game. He stunk.

"It seemed like we always led them five fouls to one. And the refs gave them a few at the end of the quarter to make it even. I was going for a rebound and got hit on the head by an elbow. (Referee) Jake O'Donnell was right on top of it, but Eddie called a foul on me from midcourt."

The best-of-seven series now moves to Seattle for the third and fourth games Saturday and Monday. "I wouldn't have wanted to go up to Seattle having to win two even though I think we can get it done," Coach Pat Riley of the Lakers said. "They have to beat us four out of five

The Lakers did just that thanks mainly to Johnson and forward James Worthy, who had 25 of his 30 points in the first half.

The Lakers went ahead for good 60-59 on a sky hook by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar just 11/2 minutes into the third quarter. But two free throws by Dale Ellis with 3:06 left in the game pulled Seattle as close as 101-99 after Los Angeles led by as many as eight points early in the fourth quarter.

But a 3-point field goal by Michael Cooper with 2:42 left extended the Lakers' lead to 104-99, and the Sonics got no closer than four points after that.

ball team and they are supposed to win at home," Sonics Coach Bernie Bickerstaff said. "But we're going to give them a run for the money." Ellis led the Sonics with 22 points.

Xavier McDaniel added 18 points and eight rebounds and Nate McMillan and Eddie Johnson had 15 points Johnson made a foul shot with 2:05 each for Seattle.

BOSTON (AP) - It was an unbelievable game, but not because it was well played.

How could two of basketball's best players, Isiah Thomas and Larry Bird, miss 33 of 46 field-goal at-teams, the Detroit Pistons and Boston Celtics, perform with such mediocrity in the playoffs? And how could the NBA's defentry to make up in other areas." He wasn't the only superstar who couldn't find the hoop. Thomas had two points in the first half, when he made just one of 12 shots. He ended up leading Detroit with 18 points, but connected on only six of his 24 shots.

"I'll never shoot this way again," he said. "Next time I don't know if they'll leave me that open but if they do, they'll pay."

Next time is Thursday night, when the Celtics are home again for Game 2 of the best-of-seven series. They have won 33 of their last 34 games at Boston Garden, where the Pistons are 0-15 since winning on Dec. 19,

In the opener, both teams showed the effects of their previous series.

The Celtics had trouble mustering much intensity after ending their intense seven-game series with Milwaukee last Sunday. Detroit had trouble shaking off the cobwebs from five days on the sidelines since they eliminated Atlanta 4-1 last Wednesday night.

"We were a little rusty," Detroit forward Ricky Mahorn said. "I guess the layoff didn't help."

As for Boston, "the letdown was very much apparent out there," after the "championship-type series" with Milwaukee, Celtics' Coach K.C. Jones said.

Joe Dumars' seven-foot shot from the lane gave Detroit a 16-11 lead. But two baskets by Dennis Johnson and one by Jerry Sichting put Boston on top 17-16 with 3:30 left in the first quarter. Detroit never caught up.

The Pistons did cut a 44-40 halftime deficit to 48-47 on a basket by Adrian Dantley, who had 17 points. But a dunk by Parish on a pass from Bird launched a 26-14 run. Parish had 13 points in that stretch, which gave

The fast approach of summer is bringing sunbathers out in droves in search of the "golden tan." What these people may not know is that they may pay dearly for their now bronze skin when they get older.

University Texas A&M Agricultural Extension Service health education specialist Dr. Mary Ann Heussner says, "Frequent exposure to the sun's ultraviolet rays may lead to skin cancer. The earlier you are exposed to the sun and the more often you are in it, the greater your chances are of getting skin cancer."

Certain people are more predisposed to skin cancer, says Heussner. Those with fair skin and those who freckle easily are more likely to get

Look for any change of coloration or texture of your skin, or any raised surfaces. These may be the beginning of skin cancer and should be treated immediately."

Dallas farmer trying venture in Nigeria

DALLAS (AP) - A former presient of the Dallas County Farm Bureau is shutting down his 500-acre farming operation and ndertaking an agricultural venture n Nigeria instead.

Ken Watterson, 40, has been farmng in south Dallas County for the ast 15 years, but has concluded that arming no longer is profitable in the Inited States.

Watterson said the Nigerian government, as part of a year-old conomic program courting American investment, agreed to donate 20,000 acres of fertile farm and to a partnership he formed with a Dallas attorney and two Nigerian

Over a period of several years, the group plans to employ hundreds of Nigerians, to introduce new agricultural technology to help reverse that country's dependence on food imports, and eventually to turn over farming to its inhabitants while serving as middlemen for processing and marketing.

Watterson said he wouldn't have given such a grandiose plan serious thought if not for the depressed state of the U.S. farm economy.

He said it is a system that pays farmers to overproduce, with much of what they produce going into here. Don't kid yourself," Watterson

"Right now," he said, looking past his farmhouse and toward a field of golden wheat, almost ready for harvest, "I am producing for government grain bins, and I'm not making a whole lot for it. I'd much rather grow a product that is consumed by someone who needs it."

Every agricultural commodity produced in Nigeria goes to feed its own population. The remainder, some 70 percent of its food supply, must be imported.

In June 1986, Nigeria introduced an economic reform package called the "Farmers' days are numbered Structural Adjustment Program (SAP) that provided, among other things, incentives for foreign investment in agricultural development.

American investors involved in production or processing of agricultural products in Nigeria are exempt from paying taxes on dividends for a period of five years.

Watterson said the partnership hopes to begin planting corn, wheat, milo and vegetables by the end of the year, employ up to 2,000 workers within a year's time, and provide educational and financial assistance to Nigerians interested in starting their own farms.

Some modern poultry processing plants sit vacant in Nigeria because producers don't have the technology to grow needed feed grain, Watterson said.

Cattle and hogs are not grain-fed, so meat served at restaurants needs to be heavily marinated to enhance taste. Vegetables grown in Nigeria are substantially smaller than those found in the United States, he said.

Nigerian banks typically will not lend to native producers unless they are paired with foreign investors, Watterson said. Nigeria wants American dollars and technology.

For Watterson - a Vietnam veteran born in Lufkin and raised in just inside Dallas' city limits bordering Lancaster. He was county farm bureau president last year. Watterson owns 65 acres and rents another 1,500 for production of corn,

Grapevine - the Nigerian venture will be far removed from his home wheat, milo, hay and hogs. He plans to establish dual residences here and abroad, although his wife of 19 years, Lecelia, likely will stay behind while their two teen-age children complete government storage. Water district warns about illegal tailwater waste

As farmers water crops, they may wish to evaluate their land for potential irrigation tailwater runoff pro-

"Tailwater is not only costly in terms of water and energy, but it is against the law," says Ken Carver, assistant manager of the High Plains Underground Water District No. 1.

Both Water District rules and state law prohibit the waste of ground water.

Carver notes that there are several ways landowners may deal with tailwater runoff problems.

"For a number of years, the District has recommended construction of tailwater pits in an effort to contain the overflow,"he said. "Tailwater pits offer re-use of the runoff water and reduce extra irrigation costs."

Other methods available to the farmer are the installation and use of center pivot sprinklers and surge irrigation systems. Both apply water more efficiently and reduce the amount needed for irrigation. When tailwater runoff becomes a problem, the Water District is notified through complaints or through in-field observation by Water District personnel. When a complaint is received, the District investigates the site to confirm the

"We then send the owner or operator a letter advising him that he is in violation of District rules, as well as state law, by letting the water run off his property. He will then need to correct the problem," Carver

The High Plains Water District encourages each irrigator to make tailwater control an active part of his farm management program.

To report a tailwater problem, contact the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District at 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405,

DR. G01

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband ing homes and other institutions where people live close together.

A cure for the common cold is not Since being in the home he has had four or five colds, and they will not prescribe any medication for them. The nurses said medication was no good for a cold, only rest and drinking juices. Since all he does is rest, this obviously isn't the answer. Isn't there anything he can take?

DEAR READER — Colds are caused by viruses that usually are spread by hand-to-hand contact. This is the reason that epidemics of colds are more prevalent in schools, nursyet available. However, there are many remedies to help people cope with the symptoms of the ailment. Ask your husband's doctor to consider prescribing decongestant/antihistamine preparations and cough medicines when your husband is ill.

The nurse is right: Nothing cures a cold. However, the symptoms can be relieved.

To help you evaluate the care your husband is receiving, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report, a copy of this report should send $1 and their name and address to P.O.

Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I had a stroke in 1981 and a heart attack a year later. Now I stagger some when I walk. I've attributed the stagger to a weak left knee that has bothered me for years. What do you think this is?

DEAR READER - Your staggering could be due to a weak knee that preceded the stroke. On the other hand, you could be having difficulty
