Santa Fe Free Pick-Up Begins Next Thursday

From notices this week announce the beginning of the pickup freight service of the Santa Fe railway for Thursday of next week, October 1. While it is not yet clear just what the service will include, its purpose is to furnish free delivery of freight received or to pick up free any freight shipment to be sent.

Distances, classification of freight, and weight of shipment will be the determining factors in fixing the cost of the service where it is not entirely free, according to the reports.

BRUMLEY ANNOUNCES BIG HOG SALE FOR OCTOBER 6

W. Brumley and Son will next week be telling Deaf Smith county and the entire Plains region the particulars of a public auction of fine hogs and dairy cattle. The Brumleys have had these hogs for some time getting them ready for this sale, between 250 and 300 head to be offered. Fifty or 60 head of Jersey dairy cattle and probably other incidental items will be included in the sale.

The Brumleys have long been associated with the hog market over the Plains and any announcement they make is sure to be one of interest to the industry. This sale will be one to make history. Mr. Brumley is conceded to be responsible for the creation of a market for hogs extending over the entire Panhandle.

PRESS DAY BANQUET HONORS DR. J. E. NUNN

Wednesday evening of this week, newspaper, church, school and business men from over the Panhandle assembled in Amarillo to pay tribute to Dr. J. E. Nunn of Amarillo, who for many years has been a worker in those lines of endeavor over the Plains country. Over 200 people who have been closely associated with Dr. Nunn attended a banquet in honor of his 80th birthday Wednesday to wish him many more years of happiness and the joy of accomplishment of well-loved tasks.

Joe L. Pope, for many years editor of the Amarillo Daily News when Dr. Nunn was associated with the ownership, attended from Hereford.

MRS. H. CLIMER WINS CANNING HONORS AT TRI-STATE

Mrs. H. Climer, north of Hereford, was a consistent winner of awards in the canned goods department of the Tri-State fair this week, according to published reports. Among the articles for which she received prizes were:

Second on canned beets, second on green tomato minicane, second on mixed vegetable pickles, second on peach preserves, first on strawberry preserves, second on watermelon rind preserves, second on apple preserves, second on other fruit preserves, first in apple butter, second in peach butter, second on watermelon preserves, first on canned rhubarb, second on English peas, first on pickled onions.

METHODISTS PLAN GREAT SALES DAY SATURDAY

The sale day idea of the Missionary Society has grown during the past week until the leaders, Mrs. M. L. Steele and Mrs. J. F. Ward, have been obliged to change its location so there will be sufficient room to hold the event.

As now planned, it will be held next Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2:30, September 26, in the north part of L. W. Carlyle's Hereford Wholesale Grocery, and Ray Barber will do the auctioneering. A number of miscellaneous articles have been contributed to the sale, nearly all of them brand new merchandise. Negotiations are under way for an automobile and a calf to be auctioned, and other items on the complete scale of household and home necessities. Thirty bushels of contributed wheat will be sold as flour, thirty gallons of gasoline, live and dressed poultry, a live pig, a variety of canned goods, ready-to-wear, silk hose, cosmetics, paints, shoes, auto accessories, etc., practically every merchant in the city contributing from his stock of new merchandise, beside that donated by individual citizens.

CAFETERIA SERVES HOT LUNCHES AT SCHOOLS

The Parent-Teacher Association is again operating a cafeteria to serve hot lunches to the scholars of both Central and high school this year. Miss Bonnie Elliston and her mother are conducting the cafeteria in a very capable manner. The cafeteria as supported by the Parent-Teacher organization, started last year with a deficit, paid it out and will support itself this year.

The menus are made out by Miss Nell Hall, county health nurse, who takes her meals at the cafeteria each day. Miss Edith Shields, principal of Central school, is cashier.

The high school lunches are prepared at Central school, taken to the high school in special containers and kept hot in steam tables until serving time, where Miss Beas Westbrook, home economics teacher, assists in arranging the food and acts as cashier.

A complete lunch for a scholar will cost between 10 and 15 cents, to include a meat, vegetable, salad and dessert. Once a week a picnic lunch is served. Children who prefer may bring their lunches from home with them, and add to it with some hot dish or a bottle of milk. All lunches are served at absolute cost of production.

LIONS CLUB IN NEW LUNCHEON LOCATION

The Hereford Lions club met Wednesday noon for its weekly luncheon at the dining room of the Presbyterian church, whose ladies' auxiliary will supply the meals for the organization in the future.

It was a happy bunch that got together for the first time in several months where club business could be discussed and the joviality usually attending a Lion club luncheon was allowed full sway. D. H. Alexander was in charge of the program and it is probably a question with Dave whether he was running the program or it was running him. Serious subjects assigned for discussion took a turn for fun as members on opposite sides of the table talked of swimming pools, diversified farming, depressions, clean-up campaigns, sign boards, etc.

Special numbers of entertainment were furnished by Mrs. E. F. Gieser, who sang "The Gypsy Trail", accompanied by Miss Mary Broadwell at the piano; and Miss Martha Duncan convulsed the Lions with a negro reading of one with a husband named Alexander. Evin Nation, brother-in-law of J. Wallace Robinson, was his guest.

Mont Baker will attempt to run the program next Wednesday, and he will do a good job of it if the members will properly conduct themselves. It was good to hear the Lions roar in an endeavor to sing Wednesday, as it was their first opportunity to have a piano for quite a while.

Legion and Auxiliary Elect New Officers

The following officers of the Hereford Post of the American Legion were elected Thursday night of last week, to serve for the ensuing year: George LeGrand, post commander; C. O. Wilkins, first vice commander; A. C. Hales, second vice commander; Jewell Murchison, adjutant; B. E. Dixon, assistant adjutant; Dr. D. K. Robinson, liaison officer; L. H. Foster, finance officer; Travis Dameron, judge advocate; Mace Whitman, service officer; Jas. W. Robinson, sergeant-at-arms.

Auxiliary Elects.
The Legion Auxiliary met Thursday night and elected officers for the coming year, among them being: Mrs. A. C. Hales, president; Mrs. B. E. Dixon, first vice president; Mrs. W. J. Smith, second vice president; Mrs. Glenn Weir, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. D. K. Robinson, historian.

Watermelon Feast.
After their elections the members of the Legion and Auxiliary journeyed to Lake Park where plenty of fine watermelons were cut and their contents enjoyed to the fullest possible extent.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed H. Scott of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wiltshire of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Neill and daughter, Nancy, of Clovis, New Mexico, were week end visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Wiltshire.

THE MASTERPIECE OF A. W. GREGG IN HEREFORD

Gregg Park, named after its founder, A. W. Gregg, who for years has worked to make Hereford more beautiful with landscaped designs of grass, flowers, shrubbery and trees. He set and cared for the park for several years before the city took it over, and named it for him.

Good Rains Fall Over Deaf Smith During Week

Rainfall of an inch or over has fallen in Hereford this week, the first precipitation coming Sunday night with slightly over one-half inch, and a heavy rain Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by some hail west of town, added smiles to the faces of those with wheat sown.

MRS. WRIGHT MADE HOSTESS OF TEXAS WOMAN'S COLLEGE

Mrs. Clyde Wright, of Silverton, daughter of A. W. Gregg, has been appointed as one of the hostesses for Texas Woman's College in Fort Worth this year. She accompanied her daughter, Miss Elva, to T. W. C. this week, where she will begin her second year. She is specializing in art.

SPROWLS-CRONIN GIVE PRIZES FOR TACKLES

J. T. Cronin, manager of Sprows-Cronin, has announced the giving of prizes to the member of the Whiteface football team who makes the most tackles in each of the games played at home this season, and larger prizes for the boy who makes the best all-year record at tackling.

In the recent Vega game Jack Russell, quarter back, Brunell Climer, right end, tied each other for honors and each received a pair of silk hose. In the game Friday against Clovis here, the one making the most tackles will be given his choice of any tie at Sprows-Cronin's.

The prizes for the best season's record at tackling will be in three awards, first, a fine dress hat; second, a $2.00 shirt or gloves, and third, a $1.50 shirt.

It is probable other merchants will give prizes for other accomplishments by members of the Whitefaces.

County Winner In Poultry At Tri-State Fair

Unofficial reports from the Tri-State fair regarding the Wednesday judging of the poultry say that the large number of entries and the winning of many prizes were determining factors in bringing the county championship in poultry to Deaf Smith county this year.

One-fourth of the birds exhibited at the fair were from this county, and many ribbons will come back with them to testify to the excellence of the birds and breeds shown.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell McCurdy of Crosbyton spent Saturday and Sunday in Hereford visiting his brother, Dave McCurdy, manager of the West Texas Gas Company.

Dimmitt Hi Fights Hard But Loses To Hereford, 45-0

It was a much improved Whiteface football team that faced Dimmitt at the Castro county capital last Friday, and against stiffer competition than Vega put up the week before, took the high school eleven to a 45-0 cleaning. The line showed much better blocking and tackling which gave the back field more opportunity to execute plays and make the whole team appear to far greater advantage. Hereford presents one of teams were offside. Gaining but 7 yards in 3 tries, Hereford punted to Dimmitt's 45.

Dimmitt punted on the fourth down with 3 still to go, and Hereford was downed on its 35 yard line. Russell made 15 yards in two tries for a first down. Collins made 2 at right tackle, Russell failed to gain, Hereford penalized 5 for off-side, and Climer went around left end for 28 yards to Dimmitt's 25.

Dimmitt recovered Russell's fumble and Hereford recovered another fumble by Dimmitt immediately afterwards. Stone made 3 at center, Collins hit the same place for 4, Stone's smash again left but a foot to go for a first down, and Russell tore off 17 yards to put the ball on the 11 yard line. Stone made 2, Russell 8, Stone failed to go the one yard to the goal, and Russell put it over. Stone failed to place kick goal. Score 6-0.

Hereford returned Dimmitt's kick-off to the 27. Stone made 3 at right tackle, Bartley made 3, and Collins went to the 45 yard line for a first down at the close of the quarter.

Second Quarter.
Bartley went around right end for 20 yards on the first play, Collins around left for 6, and a fumble gave Dimmitt the ball. Their punt on the second down was recovered by Bartley on Dimmitt's 19 yard line. Russell made 4, Stone made 4, then 6 for a first down, putting the ball on the 5 yard line. Russell failed to gain, Collins made 2, Russell carried it over, and Stone place-kicked goal, making the score 13-0.

Dimmitt returned the kick-off to their 34. Stagner went through center for 5, then again for 1. Marlor was held for no gain, and their punt was blocked and recovered

A. W. GREGG TURNS ANOTHER MILESTONE WITH PARTY

A. W. Gregg celebrated his 80th birthday Tuesday of last week when a group of friends came in upon him as he was enjoying a family dinner at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. E. Dameron. As a mark of esteem and appreciation from a circle of warm friends, E. B. Black presented him with a package of 26 new dollar bills.

Mr. Gregg has for years been venerated in Hereford for the beauty he has brought to the city, and the pleasure afforded its citizens and many thousands of visitors. The parks with their lovely trees, the countless green lawns, myriads of flowers and beautiful landscapes over the city testify to the influence Mr. Gregg has had in Hereford. Years of faithful work and untiring efforts on his part to interest folks in the beautification of their homes and premises has made Hereford one of the most attractive towns on the Plains. Each year as his birthday comes, friends who have known his steadfast devotion to the cultivation of growing things, gather to wish him well, and express their appreciation of his efforts.

Gregg Park, a three-cornered plot in West Hereford, stands as a monument to the zeal and love of beautiful growing plants, and attests to what can be done with vegetation here.

FANS ORGANIZE AGAINST ODD FELLOWS TEAM

It seems nothing can wrest baseball honors in Hereford away from the Odd Fellows team. Last Thursday the Masons were in line for a severe drubbing until a last inning rally brought in seven runs to make the score 9-7 for the Odd Fellows.

Tuesday afternoon of this week a group of All-Stars went out to make the Odd Fellows take a back seat, but the rain storm stopped the game in the third inning with the score 5-4 for the Odd Fellows. The All-Stars say there is nothing peculiar about the Odd Fellows way of playing ball except it takes something like a high-powered fire department to put them out.

Anyway, both teams have squarred away and are waiting until Tuesday afternoon of next week to resume hostilities. The game promises to be hot. But in the meantime, if anyone wants a ball game, the Odd Fellows will take them on—everybody looks alike to them.

W. C. MEHARG WILL HOLD SALE NEXT TUESDAY

W. C. Meharg, 2 1/2 miles northwest of Summerfield, will sell at public auction his complete farming equipment next Tuesday, September 29. Twenty-six head of dairy cattle are included in the sale which begins at 1:30.

Lester Galley Dairy Silver Medal Winner

Lester Galley, 11 miles northeast of Hereford, was awarded a silver medal in the master dairy farmers contest conducted each year by the Amarillo News-Globe. Mr. Galley's farm was the only entry from Deaf Smith county, and the winning of any one of the ten prizes offered is a distinct honor and source of pride to the individual winning it and to the community and county wherein he resides.

These prizes are marks of progress and must be worked for diligently the year around to receive any rating in the judging. The score of Mr. Galley's farm was 879 out of a possible 1000 points, as compared with the gold medal winner's score of 987.

85 ATTEND HEREFORD DAY AT TRI-STATE FAIR

The Amarillo News of today says 85 people of Hereford were at the Tri-State fair yesterday to represent Deaf Smith county. The high school band, headed by its director, Ralph Smith, furnished music during the day, including broadcasting over the radio.

A. O. Thompson was spokesman for Hereford folks, Elmer Dameron, president of the chamber of commerce, and John Patton, helping out as representative leaders of the Hereford delegation.

Clovis Will Be Here Friday for Football Game

Football fans are promised the best game yet this season when the Clovis Wildcats come over tomorrow to play the high school Whitefaces here.

The Hereford boys have one of the best defensive backfields this year the fans have seen in some time, and should the line develop as it has in the past two weeks there should be plenty of action in the game tomorrow.

Clovis dropped its game last Friday, but they were picking on a rather husky aggregation when they tied into the Lubbock class A bunch.

Three of Hereford's players are out of commission this week, Carl Kropff because home duties prevented regular attendance, Jack Cartwright because of ill health, and Floyd Collins because a rattlesnake chose to bite him last Sunday. None of the disqualifications will keep them out of later games, however much they will be missed tomorrow.

The game will be called at 3:30 at Whiteface Field. Friday of next week Hereford will go to Portales to play and the boys will have another hot non-conference game on their hands there.

TWINS BORN TO MR. AND MRS. W. HUNTER

Twin girls, Frank Dall and Cora Gall, weighing 4 1/2 pounds each, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Wellman Hunter of the Jumbo community, Wednesday, September 23rd.

MRS. E. C. EUBANKS WINS HONORS AT TRI-STATE

In a field of 297 entries in five events in literature competing for prizes at the Tri-State fair, Mrs. E. C. Eubanks of Hereford won second place in the historical division. The title of her story is "The First Black Republic."

Entries in the contest came from 25 states and British Columbia, and of the 15 prizes, 10 went to Panhandle writers.

GOLFERS GET GOING AND TAKE HAPPY IN

The twelve ranking players of the Hereford golf club who represented the locals in meeting the Happy club on the local links last Sunday, took their old stride and swing, to win a 9 to 3 victory. This was the final game for Hereford in the Wheatland Golf League and this coming week end all members are eligible to enter the league 36-hole play for individual honors to be held at Plainview.

The home of Mrs. M. Howard, North B Street, was entered between 7:00 and 10:00 o'clock Saturday night while the family was away. A ten dollar bill is the only thing of value that was taken. City officers here have a clue to work on.

STAR FISH CACTUS IS OPEN AT STREU HARDWARE

The Star Fish Cactus mentioned in last week's Brand as being on exhibition at Streu Hardware, has an opened blossom this week. It has one of the most peculiar shaped blooms known to plants, closely resembling the star fish found along the sea shore. The design is very intricate, the five pointed petals being reflected in smaller shapes set within them, gradually reducing in size toward the center.

JACK WRIGHT OPERATED ON FOR APPENDICITIS

Jack Wright, partner in the West Texas Feed and Seed Company, was operated on for appendicitis in the Deaf Smith county hospital Wednesday, and at last reports was recovering as well as could be expected.

There's a fine youth wants to go to school in Hereford but can't afford it unless he can find a little work to do. This week school authorities have been trying to locate a place for him where he may earn enough to pay his board and lodging. He wants to do odd jobs and chores, knows farm work and its attendant duties, and a little extra cash will let him get an education.

If anyone has or knows of a place he can get some work that will give him his school hours for study, telephone the high school and let them know.

A conversation on the street several weeks ago brought up a question Hereford folks can and should give their consideration, and with the least bit of cooperation bring to a successful conclusion.

Everyone who has lived in Hereford for a period of years says that the fish in the Tierra Blanca get fewer and fewer, and instead of the fine ones formerly caught, the usual fisherman's luck is to get little fish hardly big enough to pay to clean.

While it is true that many more folks come from far greater distances now than in former years, the fishing critics here say the fishing in the creek has been nearly ruined by the tremendous number of turtles that infest it. They eat the fish eggs and great numbers of the young fish.

Cattle men whose pastures are along the creek have told me the dead turtles that fishermen have caught and left dead along the creek (also dead rabbits used for bait and left there) sometimes make the air and water so foul the stock won't drink from the creek pools.

A little mutual pulling together among Hereford folks could result in building turtle traps and cleaning those pests out of the Tierra Blanca. Sam Ferguson, former game warden of this district, used to catch them by the thousands over at Canyon. Why can't we clean those turtles out of the creek and thus guarantee for ourselves and our visitors for the years to come the pleasure of real fishing again as well as the pleasant places to picnic? It won't take much effort and the returns will be enormous in the preservation of one of the finest of nature's beauty spots in the Panhandle—a source of pride and joy to Hereford and Deaf Smith county.

It was a much snappier football team the Whitefaces presented to the fans who accompanied them to Dimmitt Friday. The score indicates weaker opposition that faced the Hereford boys in the game with Vega the week before, but such was not the case. Those Dimmitt boys were in Friday's game to win and the way they would tackle was a caution. Hereford showed up as a far better team than in the first game.

Clovis will be here tomorrow and one of the best games of the season is promised. The two teams usually play to a very close score, and although a non-conference game, each anticipates its game with the other as an excellent test of the calibre of its own prowess.

Just how many are observing the proclamation of the mayor,

Nineteen Years Ago In Hereford

(From the Files of The Brand if September 27, 1912.)

A group of London, England, men who owned Deaf Smith county land had written inquiring more about the practical value of irrigation projects here.

Cole's show had visited Hereford and a considerable bit of the local money had left with it.

The Santa Fe Railway agricultural demonstrator was urging farmers to go through their fields and select the heads of maize, kafir and other row crop grains for seed the following year. Thus a more nearly true type of variety was assured for the next year's planting. (This practice has become so usual these days that hardly a progressive farmer does not resort to this method to select his next year's seed.)

which was seconded by practically every social and civic organization in town, to make this a clean-up week for Hereford? If it is being observed, then every week is also clean-up week, for no greater activity along that line is noticeable so far this week than almost another week of the year. Let's get busy!

Mrs. Clarence Smith, who lives south of the creek, brought in some more seedling peaches Monday, and not to be outdone she brought in both clings and free-stones. Undoubtedly, seedling peaches grow to larger sizes here than any I have ever seen. Their flavor is truly wonderful, and cannot be compared to the shipped-in peaches from commercial orchards. Of the two varieties Mrs. Smith brought in, one tree had grown up from the roots of a dead tree, and the other had grown up from under the front porch of her home where someone had thrown away a seed. Each was but three years old. More of our folks here need to be putting out these trees; beside beautifying the premises, it takes but a few years for them to produce fruit in quantities sufficient to supply all home needs, and of a quality uncomparable with shipped-in peaches. Of course peach trees die after a number of years of production, but they die in other places, too, and what is to keep folks from putting out new trees in time to take the places of the ones that die? No kind of tree is everlasting, but who quits on that account?

Such a number of folks have asked the amount of taxes the county agent was costing Deaf Smith county that an attempt will be made to estimate them. Taking our probable tax valuation of $9,000,000 the cost to the individual tax payer would be a little over one cent for each $100 valuation, or less than 12 cents for each $1000 valuation. That is the price we must pay to keep a county agent working here. We are paying state and federal taxes for the other two-thirds of a county agent's salary, whether we have one or not.

We are also paying for state and federal highway projects, whether or not we pave or hard surface any roads in Deaf Smith county.

Dr. A. P. McElroy of Friena, tells this story to illustrate the changes possible in some folks' attitude on depression:
It seems a nicely dressed man was going along a highway about his business when he was stopped by a frog in a nearby marsh. "Come and help me out," said the frog. "This mud is so heavy and sticky I can't pull myself out and will die if someone doesn't help me."
"I'm sorry," answered the man, "but I am all dressed for an important engagement and can't stop now. I will come back soon,

Interesting Sidelights On Early Deaf Smith County Are Recalled

B. JOHN OGLESBY.
The following article was taken from the Amarillo News-Globe of last Sunday. Material for the article was obtained from the public records of Deaf Smith County.

The days when La Plata was the capital of Deaf Smith County; when court was called off because everybody was out fighting prairie fires and when official action had to be taken because of a smallpox epidemic, are recalled in the following excerpts from the early records of Deaf Smith County.

Deaf Smith county was created August 21, 1876: "Beginning at the southwest corner of Oldham county on the 103rd meridian; thence east about 47 miles to the southeast corner of Oldham county and southwest corner of Potter county; thence south 30 miles; thence west about 47 miles to the 103rd meridian; thence north 30 miles to beginning."

Seen On the Screen at the Star

Manager J. C. Parker of the Star Theatre is going a little farther with his announced 1-cent sale for the last showing of "Everything's Rosie", featuring Robert Woolsey, tonight, when he decided to let in old maids at the bargain rate of "six for a quarter."

Because last week's Nancy Carroll picture was not up to the standard Mr. Parker demands of his pictures at the Star, he is this Friday night running another Nancy Carroll picture in "Personal Maid", and showing it absolutely free of charge to his patrons.

Saturday's picture will star a favorite with theatre goers, Robert Montgomery, who plays in "Shipmates" for both a matinee and night performance.

Monday and Tuesday will present the heaviest program of drama for the week, with Sylvia Sidney and Phillips Holmes starring in "American Tragedy," a story whose author attempted to prohibit the picture's exhibition, but which screen critics pronounced superior to the author's version.

Wednesday and Thursday of next week will bring Norma Shearer again to delight her admirers in "Free Soul," which will also feature the management's weekly one-cent sale.

By A PUPIL

All classes from 5th to 9th inclusive seem busy on history.

The 8th and 9th find plenty of work in Algebra, the eighth having made an excellent start. The 7th seems lonesome, but studious. The 6th grade boys in arithmetic have learned to make blue print drawings for the purpose of dividing a cake into five equal parts. The 6th grade girls know how to cook the cake and the teachers know how to eat the cake and the melon. The 6th grade keep themselves studiously employed without any unusual help from the teachers.

Ten pupils are enrolled in all the grades, 5th to 9th.

The boys and girls are playing games with instruments of luck and the girls say they like to chase silver dollars.

There are a number of new pupils enrolled in the primary department, Linda Bell and Della Mae and Archie Conatser and Nancy Olsen and Fiorella Baskin.

A total of 15 pupils are enrolled in the primary room and all the little folks seem happy to be in school and show a great deal of enthusiasm in their work.

Several parents, including one trustee, were present on the opening day of school, and the school will be glad to welcome them again.

FOUR BIG DAYS!

The Joys of Home Canning

By MRS. BOB WILSON

The canning period for fruits and vegetables is rapidly drawing to a close and the drying and storing of these products claims our attention. It is impossible to give much help here in the drying and care of various fruits and vegetables, but those of you who desire any assistance may call for help and it will be gladly given.

Chickens.

I have had numerous calls for help in canning chicken, and a few suggestions are given. Surplus cockerels and pullets not true enough to type to be retained in the poultry stock may be canned. Hens culled out in the late summer and fall when poultry prices are often low may be canned for home use or for market. In order to retain the delicate flavor of poultry care must be taken that the meat is not overcooked. All chickens should be thoroughly chilled before canning.

The younger birds may be fried in the usual way until the pieces are thoroughly browned, but not done. When carefully packed in a No. 3 can will hold a frying size chicken. As much liquid for gravy may be added as you desire. Some housewives prefer to pack the choice pieces in separate cans, using the breast, thighs and drumsticks in this way and packing the meat from the more honey pieces for salads or sandwiches. The livers should never be packed with the rest of the chicken because its flavor will penetrate every piece in the cans. Process No. 2 cans 40 minutes and No. 3 cans 50 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.

Flaked or Diced Chicken.

The older birds may be boned by splitting the flesh down the back and removing it from the skeleton, using a sharp knife. A more common method is to prepare the chicken as for baking and cook in pressure cooker from 25 to 35 minutes, according to age of chicken at 10 to 15 pounds pressure, or until the meat can be removed from the bones. The large white pieces may be packed in hot sterilized cans for diced chicken, the smaller broken pieces and dark meat used for flaked chicken. The scraps and trimmings from the bones may be ground and mixed with some of the broth and make pressed chicken.

Pack the chicken while hot in sterilized cans and pour the broth over the product (as much as you desire). Salt and seasoning may be added when you cook the chicken from the bones in the pressure cooker. Process No. 2 cans at 15 pounds pressure 40 to 45 minutes; No. 3 cans at 15 pounds pressure from 50 to 55 minutes. Canned chicken is best served in combination dishes, such as stews, creamed chicken, croquettes, chicken à la king, salads or sandwiches. Containers larger than No. 3 cans should never be used for the canning of meats of any kind as you are sure to overcook

Comparative Yields of Wheat Varieties In Dunkle Letter

E. O. Dunkle, county agent, has gathered the evidence of tests of new varieties of wheat tried out in Dear Smith county this year and from ten other Panhandle counties and has submitted the results of his investigations and findings to farmers interested.

His letter which was sent to those who participated in the tests is published in full so others may take advantage of the information gained, and shows the bushels per acre each variety made this year.

Hereford, September 12, 1931.

Dear Sir:

I am sending you the results of wheat variety tests in the county this year:

G. C. Hartman: Kanred 34.46, Blackhull 30.71, Certified Turkey 29.49, Native Turkey 25.46.

J. M. Chapman, Kanred 14.70, Blackhull 18.30, Certified Turkey 13.6, Native Turkey.

Ky. Lawrence: Kanred, 18.06; Blackhull 18.51, Tenmarq 22.47, Turkey C 17.70, Turkey Vaughn's 21.42, Kellehor's Russian 17.73, Denton 16.47.

On the Lonivan farm in the Progressive community wheat was planted in 36 inch rows to compare it with planting in 12 inch drills. Samples were taken along the edge where the two methods were side by side. The wheat in the 36 inch rows yielded 15.23 bushels per acre, while that in the 12 inch drills yielded 25.05 bushels per acre.

In eleven Panhandle counties where these wheat variety tests were conducted, Tenmarq, a new variety produced by the Kansas Experiment Station, produced the highest average yield. It ranked first in six tests and second in two tests. Blackhull produced the second highest average yield and ranked first in four tests and second in five tests. Kanred wheat was at a disadvantage in most tests because of poor stands.

Wheat planted in 28 inch rows on the J. T. Corders farm produced yields equal to the same variety planted in 16 inch drills. Wheat planted in 36 inch drills however produced much lower yields than in 12 inch drills.

These are only single tests and more work is necessary before recommendations can be made regarding methods of planting.

The reports of tests made in the ten other Panhandle counties are on file in Mr. Dunkle's office and may be read by all who wish to see what the comparative results were and how the yields varied with production here.

DAIRY COWS ARE A PROFITABLE INVESTMENT

Reports from the Red Cross divisional headquarters in Saint Louis show that a smaller percentage of farmers milking cows applied for help during the past year than any other class. As an economic measure, every farmer should have one or more cows to provide milk, cream and butter for his family. It is a necessary food.

Good dairy cows are more capable of taking raw feedstuffs and converting them into valuable finished products than any other domestic animal.

The dairy cow should have a place on every farm, if only in numbers sufficient to supply home needs, and for making more profitable the poultry flock and the hogs to be produced for home consumption. This applies to farmers who are probably better fitted for feeding lambs or beef animals. It is a foregone conclusion that the only logical way to reduce wheat acreage is to grow foods and feeds, and that the only profitable market for feedstuffs is thru livestock. In this, the dairy cow should be given a prominent place.

FOR THE BEST ANSWERS EXPLAINING THE MYSTERY of the "HIDDEN QUART"

AND TELLING HOW THIS QUART BENEFITS MOTORISTS

Fact No. 1—Thousands of motorists and service station men have observed that after a car has been given its first fill of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and is driven 200 to 350 miles, a look at the crankcase gauge shows that about one quart of oil is apparently missing... but

Fact No. 2—These same people have noticed that on the second and later fillings with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, scarcely a drop of oil will disappear during the first 350 miles, and practically none at 500 and up to 1,000 miles!

The above facts have been checked by actual tests with cars that use six quarts of oil for the crankcase, cars in good mechanical condition and driven at ordinary rates of speed. These facts will also prove true for your car, in proportion to the amount of oil your crankcase usually holds, your car's mechanical condition and the speeds at which you drive.

What becomes of the "hidden quart"? The answer is easy if you study the Facts given above and keep in mind the things that only Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil can do. The explanation of the whereabouts of the "hidden quart" is simple—no technical knowledge of motors or oil is necessary.

Remember—The "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil does not escape through leakage... does not burn up, wear out nor evaporate. It is "present but unaccounted for." Fact No. 2, given above, proves all this.

After you've found where the "hidden quart" goes, you can easily see the special benefits it gives the motorist—advantages that no other oil can give.

Ask at any Conoco Station or Conoco Dealer for free Entry Blank which contains information about Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil that may help you win. Conoco Station and Dealer employees will gladly answer your questions. Remember, you do not have to buy anything to enter this contest. See Rules of Contest for complete details.

THE QUESTION

"What becomes of the 'hidden quart' and how does this quart benefit the motorist?"

COMPLETE RULES OF CONTEST

- Answers may be any length not exceeding 200 words; length of answer will not determine winners. Write answers on Official Contest Entry Blank preferably, or on plain white paper. Conoco Stations and Dealers will give you an Official Contest Entry Blank free. Elaborate presentations of answers will not count in your favor.
- Write your answer in plain, simple language. Technical terms or special scientific knowledge will not influence the judges.
- Contest closes midnight, September 28, 1931, and no entries bearing postmarks after midnight, September 28, 1931, will be accepted.
- Contest open to everybody except employees and executives of the Continental Oil Company, Conoco Stations, Conoco Dealers and the Company's advertising agency, and their families.
- In case of tie, both contestants will receive full amount of prize tied for.
- You do not have to use or purchase Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil or other Conoco products to compete for prizes.
- All entries submitted, whether or not they win prizes, become the property of the Continental Oil Company and may be used in advertising without payment, and none can be returned to senders.

Many enjoyable games were played and delicious peach ice cream and angel food cake were served to Mrs. Clark, Lovelady, Hussey, Grady, Renfro, Sowell, Major, Massey, Le Grand, Loyd, Speegle, Alexander, Lance, Easter and McCullough.

ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF SON AND GUEST

Autumn flowers in many shades were an added attraction in the rooms where the guests were seated.

Three tables were placed for bridge. A refreshment course of seed watermelon and cake was served to Misses Kay Clausen, Emma Jean Donald and Eunice Guthrie; Messrs. Bruce Guthrie, Wilson Gyles and Lyle Woodford, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Posey, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Dameron and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seed.

FRIONA PICNIC

In spite of the fact that a heavy rain fell over the Friona territory and much adjacent country on the night before the Wheat Growers Picnic, there was an immense crowd here, variously estimated at from two to three thousand people.

The beef and bread committee were strictly on the job and were right there with the goods when dinner time arrived and fully succeeded in allaying the pangs of hunger for this large crowd of people. Ten large heaves were slaughtered and barbecued and a truck load of bread and about 100 gallons of coffee were before the crowd before they were ready to say "enough."

Following the dinner a program of speaking was put on at the Texan theatre, which we have reported in another column. A rodeo which was on the day's program, was in full swing at three o'clock at the south side of town, while a football game between the Friona and Vega school teams was in progress from three until four o'clock on the north side of town. In this game the Friona boys won by a margin of 18 to 6, this game is also reported elsewhere in this issue.

In addition to the rodeo, the football game, the mighty good music by the Friona band, two large airplanes were almost continuously zooming around overhead, landing at intervals only long enough to allow one load of passengers to disembark and another load to get in, then away again—all of which gave to the day a truly festive appearance and sound.

The mud which made things rather disagreeable during the fore part of the day was almost dried out by noon, and Friona people are truly glad the rain came, for they now have had a good rain, which was being needed, and at the same time they have had one of the best picnics they have ever had. It appeared there was amusement in a variety to please everybody and all seemed happy and in the most cheerful mood. At this writing, 5:45, no rough or disorderly conduct had been reported.—Friona Star.

Butter Long Preserved

When cutting turf on a mountain bog on top of Cruckrooskey hill, Glengannon, Cardonagh, Ireland, a party of men found two kegs of "bog" butter. The staves of the two kegs crumbled to pieces on removal, but the butter was in a wonderful state of preservation, although buried for several hundred years.

Immortal Writer of Tales

Hans Christian Andersen was born in 1805 and died in 1875. He was thirty years old and had written plays and novels before he began to set down his fairy tales. He had been in the habit of entertaining groups of children with them, and as adults joined the groups he adapted them to the understanding of both.

Not Adapted to English

No less than eight Hebrew words are translated river in our English Bible. All have different shades of meaning, ranging from water-courses only occasionally bearing water (Nachal), to rivers likely at times to be in overflow flood (Zoer). These delicate degrees of meaning are incapable of being reproduced in our more prosaic language.

Eggs Made to Bounce

Eggs are bounced about recklessly at the Empire marketing board's "Paradise Zoo" near Slough, England. Here an egg-bouncing machine, used to detect insect parasites, has been installed. Insect eggs are rolled down a tin plate at the bottom. Eggs which have become infested have lost the bouncing capacity of healthy ones.

By the Camera

Certain diseases are diagnosed in a very early stage by the camera. For instance, a rash, invisible to the eye, is easily shown up by the lens.

Indian Mutiny Tragedy

Of the 148 English thrust into the Black Hole of Calcutta during the Indian mutiny there were but 23 survivors. The prisoners were confined only overnight, but it was in June, the heat was intense, and the room was only 18 by 14 feet 10 inches, with but two small windows for ventilation.

Italian Death Notices

Death notices in Italy are not always printed by newspapers, but relatives or friends pay for advertisements similar to them on outdoor boards. A prominent man may have a dozen of these with glaring black type.

Rouge

Rouge is prepared from the safflower. It is a modern preparation, but women, for thousands of years, have reddened their cheeks and lips artificially. Hollow bones filled with red earth, have been found in the ancient dwellings of the cavemen.

Four Good Habits

There are four good habits—punctuality, accuracy, steadiness and despatch. Without the first of these time is wasted; without the second, mistakes the most hurtful to our own credit and interest, and that of others, may be committed; without the third nothing can be well done; and without the fourth opportunities of great advantage are lost, which it is impossible to recall.

Relic of Old Rome

A Roman milestone bearing the name of Caesar Augustus was discovered in Italy at Levante di Diana Marina, along the ancient Via Aurelia not far from the frontier station of Ventimiglia. The milestone marked the 553d mile from Rome, and has this number cut on it in Roman numerals. Experts say the milestone belonged to the old military road which ran from Rome to Gaul.

Charleston's History

Charleston, S. C., formerly Charleston, was founded as an English city in 1670, and by 1775 was the third city of importance in America. It was incorporated as a city in 1783, under the Constitution, and until 1790 was the capital of the state. In 1786 the South Carolina legislature ordered Columbia to be laid out as a capital city on account of its more central position, and in January, 1790, the state legislature met in Columbia for the first time.

Report of Investigators Questions Motives of Audubon Society Critics

Scientists Characterize Critics of Wild Life Organization as "Self-Appointed" Group

NEW YORK.—Critics of the policies of the National Association of Audubon Societies, and of Dr. T. Gilbert Pearson, President of that organization, are denounced as "a small, self-appointed group representing nothing but certain personal interests," in a report based upon nearly a year of investigation, just made public by Dr. Thomas Barbour, Director of the Museum of Comparative Zoology, Harvard University, and Chauncey J. Hamlin, President of the Buffalo Museum of Science. Although unable to serve on the Committee, because of press of official duties, Dr. Alexander Grant Ruthven, President of the University of Michigan, states that "I am entirely out of sympathy with the attacks being made on the National Association of Audubon Societies."

Charges that the National Association had indulged in practices foreign to the purpose for which it was formed were made more than a year ago in two pamphlets widely circulated by an anonymous "Emergency Conservation Committee," and at the annual meeting of the Association in October, 1930, United States Senator Frederic C. Walcott, of Connecticut, as a member, suggested that a committee examine into the charges and undertake such other investigations of the Association as it saw fit. One of the pamphlets containing charges against Dr. Pearson and the Association was captioned, "A Crisis in Conservation," and was signed by two employees of the American Museum of Natural History and a third person described by the Committee as one "completely unknown to fame" who when he visited the Association's headquarters "appeared under an assumed name and gave a false address."

A statement from George H. Sherwood, Director of the American Museum of Natural History, is quoted to the effect that Museum officials had not known that two of its employees were preparing such a pamphlet, which Mr. Sherwood decries with the statement that "The Museum is, therefore, of the opinion that the alleged 'Crisis in Conservation' exists largely in the minds of the authors of this pamphlet." Commenting upon this phase of the charges, Dr. Barbour and Mr. Hamlin observe that "it does not seem worth-while to go into the various details which show that this committee—so-called—is simply a small, self-appointed group representing nothing but personal interests; and there is little point in attempting to analyze the motives of the persons hostile to the Association who have used this method of attack."

To the charge that Dr. Pearson had cooperated with "the killers," the Committee finds that most of the material presented "is familiar to everyone who has dealt with the activities of the 'zoophile cults,' the zoophile being one whose arguments 'are always based on sentiment rather than reason,' who believes that if a forest is to be preserved no tree should ever be cut down and who thinks that no species of bird or animal can be protected if any individual of the species is ever killed."

The report of the Committee, after sifting all charges made by the "Emergency Conservation Committee," concludes:

"We believe that the Association has served a most creditable purpose. We believe that it has accomplished great ends—and that the funds entrusted to it have been well expended. When people join its membership but a few days before an annual meeting—some who have vilified it for years and are simply actuated by a desire to stir up strife, to attack the good name of its officers, and to belittle its adequacy—one can understand how such an association may well wish to be examined impartially and also to engage in self-examination. After a full investigation we feel that the Society may be proud of a great record."

most of them men, are registered each year for correspondence courses; that another million are in evening high schools, continuation schools and other part-time institutions; that there are 150,000 in university extension groups and 30,000 are enrolled in labor colleges.

"The fact that many men, after leaving school, come back to take these courses indicates that they have come to a realization of some lack in their equipment, and are seeking to fill in the gaps in their training. They have discovered that it pays to be well informed."

"There are many men who are not able to register in night schools or elsewhere, because of pressure of work or lack of regular periods of leisure or for other reasons. These men can, however, make definite educational progress by means of systematic reading, provided they know exactly what they need and can get it when they want it."

"It is to these adult students, outside of formal organizations for study, that the public library offers a great service. Today libraries are better prepared than ever before to make suggestions to those who wish to read and study along some definite line."

"All that is required of the reader is a willingness to go to the library and frankly tell the librarian what type of book he wants to read or upon which subject he wishes to inform himself."

"William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, calls a public library a 'storehouse of the tools of education.' A public library is a necessary part of the educational equipment of every city. No matter what your job may be, someone else has worked at it before you, understands it more fully than you do, and has somewhere put in print suggestions which will help you in acquiring skill at your work."

"The public library is the most democratic of institutions. It serves alike people of all ages and nationalities, all faiths and all occupations. Not only the wage earner but all members of his family will find in the library good books from which they may choose whatever they like. For the children especially it offers one of the rarest opportunities. For the older boys and girls and for the grown-up, of whatever stage of educational development, it offers the means of self education through individual effort."

WHEN you buy a Ford there are two things you never have to worry about. One is reliability. The other is long life. Here's an interesting letter from a Ford owner in North Carolina:

"My Ford was purchased May 8, 1928, and has been run 121,767 miles. It has never stopped on the road for repairs of any kind whatsoever except punctures."

"The brakes were relined at 101,000 miles. My gas mileage averaged 21 miles to the gallon, and on tires, 19,000 miles per tire. I travel over all kinds of road conditions—mountainous and flat."

"I consider this a wonderful record and I assure you my next car will also be a Ford."

This is just one of many tributes to the reliability and long life of the Ford. A Ford owner in Iowa tells of driving his Ford 73,000 miles in a single year. Another writes of 120,000 miles of good service.

Think ahead when you are considering the purchase of an automobile and consider what it will be like after thousands of miles of driving. Will you still be satisfied? Will you still say "it's a great car"?

If it's a Ford, you know everything will be O. K. It will be taking you there and back in good style, just as it has always done. And you will have saved many important, worth-while dollars in cost of operation and up-keep and low yearly depreciation.

Review.

The twelve lessons of the last quarter are taken chiefly from the book of Acts. They relate to the growth and development of the early church, beginning with the ascension of the Lord Jesus, forty days after his resurrection, and including the account of the memorable council at Jerusalem. This council was called together to decide whether or not the Gentiles should be required to submit to circumcision in order to be true Christians. The council agreed with Paul in teaching that salvation is simply through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, and is for Jew and Gentile alike, and upon the same terms.

The Church in Jerusalem.

In obedience to Christ's command, 120 disciples returned to Jerusalem from Olivet after the ascension and waited in the upper room for the promised power. After ten days, on the day of Pentecost, the Holy Spirit descended upon them and they began to speak with tongues to the multitudes who came to them. Peter was the chief spokesman, and delivered that wonderful message recorded in Acts 2. Before the day closed 3000 had been converted and baptized. Day after day these new believers gathered with the apostles in glorious fellowship, and were constantly receiving others who were persuaded by the apostles' preaching. There was difficulty with the authorities of the Jews because "they taught the people and proclaimed in Jesus the resurrection of the dead." As the preaching continued, the number of men who believed soon reached 5000. Not even imprisonment could destroy the boldness and fervor of the apostles.

Philip.

Among those who were scattered abroad was Philip, who went to the city of Samaria, where he healed and preached the gospel to the Samaritans. Multitudes gave heed and the whole city was aroused. Now the Samaritans were not Jews, although akin to them, and there was some question about Philip's procedure in Jerusalem. But when Peter and John saw the joy and faith of the Samaritans they had no objection; and themselves on their way back to Jerusalem preached to "many villages of the Samaritans". This was the first step beyond the Jewish border.

Philip and the Eunuch.

From Samaria Philip was called by an angel of the Lord to go down to the desert road. No purpose was stated, but Philip, however perplexed he might have been, obeyed. The result was his meeting with the Ethiopian, who was seeking light from the Scriptures. He was reading the great Messianic prophecy in Isaiah 53, and Philip, sent forward by the Holy Spirit, found an open door for the gospel. Soon the Ethiopian was won to believe in Jesus Christ as the Son of God, and when they came to water Philip baptized him. Thus the second step across the Jewish border was taken.

Saul and Ananias in Damascus.

In other parts the gospel was on its way. Saul, the persecutor, found the matter of exterminating the new faith more difficult than he had supposed. News came to him of the presence of Christians in Damascus, the great trade center of Syria, and he set out at once to march them out and bring them as prisoners to Jerusalem. On the road Christ appeared to him and made him a new man. Blinded by the vision, he was led into the city where, after three days of prayer and fasting a disciple named Ananias came to him and opened his eyes, revealing to him also something of God's promise for his life.

Peter and Cornelius.

The golden text of Lesson 8 reads, "There is no distinction between Jew and Greek, for the same Lord is Lord of all, and is rich unto all that call upon him."

Such was the discovery that Peter made when in a vision at Joppa, where he was preaching, he was directed to go to Cornelius at Caesarea. Acts 10 gives the story of the vision; Acts 11 a condensed recital of the whole experience. Here is another distinct step in gospel history, in that one of the original apostles, himself a strict Jew in his habits and ideas up to that time, is led to preach the gospel to a Gentile and to enter into hearty fellowship with him; and in addition, to show to the apostles and brethren in Judaea that God made no distinction between Jew and Gentile in the matter of salvation.

Barnabas and Saul in Antioch.

Lesson 4 (closing verses) records that in Antioch certain disciples from Cyprus and Cyrene began to preach to the Greeks and that "a great number that believed turned to the Lord." The Jerusalem church sent a messenger, Barnabas, to look into this Gentile movement. But when Barnabas saw the genuineness of the Gentile faith and grace of God in those who believed, he went to Tarsus and found Saul, that he might come to Antioch to carry on the mission among the Greeks. For a whole year these two worked together, and saw the power of the gospel in that growing young church of Gentiles and Jews.

Themselves a fruit of "missions" the Antioch church became the center of a Gentile missionary movement. The Antioch church marks a distinct epoch in the progress of the gospel.

Paul's First Missionary Journey.

As the prophets and teachers in the church at Antioch worshipped, "the Holy Spirit said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them." Neither they, nor the church, nor the two brethren named were reluctant to obey, and accordingly Barnabas and Saul were soon on their way to Cyprus. They went with the message of a gospel for all men. At Salamis they preached in the Jewish synagogue, as indeed they did at every place where a synagogue was found. Passing on through the island they came to Paphos, where they encountered the opposition of Elymas, the Jewish sorcerer. With courage and power they triumphed over him, and won the procurator, Sergius Paulus, to Christ. This was the first recorded victory of their journey. Of great interest also is the fact that from this time Saul is called Paul.

In Asia Minor the missionary party, now consisting of Paul and Barnabas, John Mark having deserted them at Perga, visited, besides Perga, Antioch, Iconium, Lystra and Derbe.

At Lystra they were first acclaimed as gods on account of Paul's healing a cripple, but later when Jews from Antioch and Iconium appeared the crowds fell upon them with stones, and Paul was dragged out of the city as dead. He soon revived, however, and returned to the city. Next day he and Barnabas proceeded to Derbe. After a brief ministry there, they returned to the cities where they had been persecuted to encourage and strengthen the many who had believed. For let it not be forgotten that their labors were not in vain, and churches were established which would be strongholds of Christ and centers of gospel witness for many years.

The Council in Jerusalem.

Returning to Antioch in Syria, the missionaries told what great things the Lord had done with them among the Gentiles. The church was rejoicing in the new faith when there came from Jerusalem certain men who taught that they obeyed the Mosaic law in circumcision. Paul challenged the Judaizers, and under God's guidance had the church to appoint a committee to go to Jerusalem and have an understanding about the whole matter.

The outcome of that council marked a great victory for Christ-ianity. The church there stood with Paul. Christianity declared to be a world religion—a religion for Gentiles as well as for Jews, and upon the same terms.

right end for the extra point to make the score 20-0.

Dimmitt brought the kick-off back to their 42, and made a first down in three tries as the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter.

In four consecutive plays at right guard, Stagner, Dimmitt full-back, pounded through for another first down. Making no gain on the first play, both teams declared off-side, and on the second, Habermacher intercepted their pass on the third attempt and went 85 yards for a touchdown behind perfect interference. His place kick was short for the extra point, and the score was 32-0.

Dimmitt brought the kick-off back to their 18, and made three short gains before fumbling on the fourth down with Hereford recovering. After 3 tries and 1 yard from first down, Stone punted over the goal line to give Dimmitt the ball on their 20. Three small gains forced them to punt and Russell signaled a fair catch. Climer made 18 yards around left end, and consecutive gains by Russell and Stone put the ball on the 9 yard line. Stone made 5 in two tries and Russell cracked right guard for the touchdown. Stone's place kick was blocked and the score stood 38-0.

Hereford's kick-off was touched, went behind the goal line and Dimmitt was barely able to get it to the 2 yard line before being downed. Gaining but 5 yards in three plays, their punt was blocked and recovered by Hereford on the 9 yard line, and Russell circled left end for a touchdown as the last whistle sounded. Stone kicked goal to make the final score 45-0.
