The Governor's race moves rapidly to its close. There can be little doubt that Governor Sterling has been gaining steadily, but inasmuch as he must increase his vote by more than 60 per cent in order to win, it is not possible to say with any degree of certainty whether he has passed the danger point at this writing. A very vigorous campaign is being waged, with a large number of speakers on the stump in addition to the Governor himself, and if the result could be accurately judged on this basis there would be no doubt about Governor Sterling's re-election. It might be said, as we said of the second primary two years ago, that whenever the forces that are combined in support of Sterling get together behind any candidate victory is certain. United these forces always win elections in Texas. They have never failed to date. They were divided in 1924, and that is why the Fergusons were elected that year. They united against the Fergusons in 1926 and the Fergusons were retired from office. They were united against the Fergusons again in the second primary two years ago, and the result was a Ferguson defeat. And now they are united against the Fergusons again this year. However, conditions are different this year from those of any previous election year and the result is not so certain as it was two years ago. In any event, everything is being done to get out a big vote for Sterling, and between now and election day there probably will be as many speakers on the stump against the return of proxy government as in any single campaign of recent years. Indeed, so many speakers are campaigning for Sterling that the campaign has become a little unwieldy. It seems to us, for example, to be a waste of valuable time to charge that James E. Ferguson has served as a lobbyist before the Legislature, or that he is "on the payroll" of this or that corporation, when there are still people who do not realize the government of this state is a proxy government. Mr. Ferguson is saying in effect that his record and that of his wife will compare favorably with the Sterling record of the past two years, and leaving the inference that there was nothing inimicable to the interests of the people in his serving as Governor in his wife's name. And he is getting that over with some people. One thing which he is saying is that Governor Sterling pardoned more convicts than his wife did, and the people are believing it. One of the most effective speakers of the campaign, by the way, is Secretary of State Jane Y. McCallum, who is reciting the record of the two administrations from the files of her office. If enough people could hear her, and if more speakers would use the facts she cites, more headway would be made in arousing the people to the real menace which the candidacy of the Fergusons presents. Let us forget the record of the two years of proxy government ought to be told in detail from every stump in Texas. That record and now part of the history of Texas, and it does not constitute a page of which we may be especially proud. It is to be found recorded for all time in many history of past centuries and unknown in any other county in the world today. The American school is at once the inspiration and the despair of aspiring democracies throughout the world. It is the one distinctively American institution; it is the greatest step yet made toward the ideal of "equal opportunities for all and special privileges for none".

The following lines from the New York Times during 1926 when Texas was in a bitter political struggle to defeat Miriam Ferguson as governor, gives an impression of what the nation and the world thought of the highest delegated authority in Texas: The Governor of Texas, A dauntless one are they. Though frenzied foes assail her, He never shows dismay. For erring folk in prison, Her tender spirit grieves; But let them go to college, Then see him roll his sleeves! Amid the envious clamor Of those that seek her crown, The Governor of Texas Are not a bit cast down.

Next week, the issue of September 1st, the Brand will carry a cooperative message from the merchants of Hereford to many thousands of readers who live within the trade area of the city. Extra copies of the paper will be mailed out next week, as well as the ones mailed this week, to every known resident living within fifty miles of Hereford.

The advertising of next week will feature special prices on all lines of merchandise incidental to the use of schools, and will cover practically all the lines of business in Hereford. The prices quoted will be a special inducement for trading in Hereford on Friday and Saturday of next week.

The articles given special attention will be appropriate for school room use or school wear, most of them will be items of necessity, and the prices at which they will be sold will make trading for school supplies in Hereford a distinct advantage to the shopper.

This is the regular monthly MERIT MERCHANTS trade feature sponsored by the Hereford Brand, and is actively supported by the following firms, who deserve their name of MERIT MERCHANTS because of their continuous efforts to merit at all times the trade relationships they enjoy with the citizens over the area served by Hereford.

Your Best Interests Are Served Right Here In Hereford!

Commissioners' Court Makes Statement 7 Years Finances

We feel that the public in general would be interested in a statement of some facts as they actually exist at the present time and as the public records of the county show.

On account of the falling off of the tax receipts and the inability of the tax payers to pay we have not created any new debts and issued any warrants against the county since 1930. We have made an honest effort to comply with the wishes and wants of the people whom we have served and at the same time have kept the indebtedness down. The possible indebtedness of the county under the law and based upon the real estate valuations could be one and one-half million dollars. The average assessed valuation of land per acre in Deaf Smith county is $6.20, in Castro county $8.00, in Parmer county $8.82, in Randall county where there are many canyons and cheap land $6.75. As you will note Deaf Smith county has kept valuations well under that of surrounding counties and well under the legal limit.

During the period from January 1st, 1925, to December 31st, 1931, the county has built steel and concrete bridges costing $18,046.00; road machinery of all kinds has been purchased, costing $29,075.82; the agricultural building at a cost of $6,108.50. The annual revenues on this building has at all times more than cared for the upkeep, leaving the building free to the county for its use as a road machinery warehouse and for its annual county fair building. A hospital has been built and equipped at a cost of $55,005.90. The county has during this period opened and graded about 400 miles of public roads. All the old La Platta Court House and Jail warrants have been retired and all the indebtedness of the present Court House and Jail have been paid, leaving a net indebtedness against the County at the present time for all the above items of $74,324.70. All the above improvements have been made without increasing the indebtedness of the county. In fact, the indebtedness has been decreased materially.

The warrant and bonded indebtedness of Deaf Smith County was $123,904.00 on January 1st, 1925. This amount has been reduced to $74,324.70 as of December 31st, 1931. This last figure includes the $50,000.00 hospital bonds against which there has been established a sinking fund amounting to $16,759.57, leaving a net indebtedness of $58,565.13. This is a reduction of indebtedness of over 52 per cent during this period. This makes the per capita indebtedness of Deaf Smith county of just a few cents more than $10.00 which compared very favorably with surrounding counties: Randall approximately $82.00; Osham, $47.50; Swisher, $70.00. The per capita indebtedness is slightly less in Castro and Parmer Counties where no county hospital has been established. In some of the counties having extensive road building programs the average indebtedness per person runs as high as $200.00.

No financial statement of the county is of record prior to that of December 31, 1925. Comparing this statement with one three years later, that of December 31st, 1931, we find that during this period the indebtedness decreased $15,558.13, while the value of improvements increased $74,901.57, and other assets $27,801.31, or a total increase in the present worth of property owned by the county of $118,276.00. In other words, the taxes paid in to the county has not all been used on operating expenses but a goodly portion has been put into buildings, machinery, roads, bridges, and paying for the debts that were here when the present management began.

There are now delinquent taxes amounting to $48,596 due the county for the years 1931 and all prior years. Of this amount $39,491.00 are 1930-31 taxes.

A Last Appeal...

Having been your County and District Clerk for the past five and one-half years, I feel that at this particular time especially, the experience gained is of inestimable value to one seeking this position, and in asking you for another term, I do so upon my record and qualifications and not on the shortcomings, if any, of my opponent. I am only human and have possibly made many mistakes, but investigation will show that these mistakes have not cost the county nor the tax payers one red cent.

One little statement that is somewhat misleading, but which I am sure was not intentional, was made by my opponent in his advertisement in The Hereford Brand of last week. He stated: "I am trying to conduct a clean, fair race and if you feel 13 years of service in the court house is long enough for the present clerk, please give my candidacy due consideration."

I call attention to this for the reason that it might cause some who do not happen to know the facts in the case to think I had served in my present position for the past 13 years, which, as most of you know, is not the case. Up until the time I was elected Clerk five and one-half years ago, I worked solely as a wage earner in the capacity of deputy in the office of Tax Collector, for six years, and the records will show that these wages were very meager. Then for one year I served under Mrs. Ward who was appointed County Treasurer to fill out the unexpired term of her husband, and for this service I received the magnificent salary of less than $25.00 a month. As for the remaining few months that go to make up the thirteen years, I worked in the office of the then County and District Clerk, Mr. Berry Orr.

On the basis of the above facts and strictly upon my qualifications I am again making the race for County and District Clerk and respectfully ask that you seriously consider my candidacy on August 27th.

Your Electric Power Supply Must Be Flexible

Electric Power, to serve any community adequately, must be flexible. It must meet all requirements, large of small—from a huge factory to a small household—at any time and at any place.

Small plants serving single communities lack this flexibility... they lack the variety of volume and demand which enables a larger system, serving a wide area by transmission lines, to operate efficiently.

The transmission line delivers larger amounts of power AT ONCE without the delay of installing additional equipment. Thus it clears the way for a rapid and permanently expanding industrial growth.

The present day industrial progress of small communities is based in a large measure on the ample and economical power supply which resulted when transmission systems replaced small plants throughout the Nation.

The Texas Utilities Company, through its widespread 1000-mile transmission line connecting network, makes available about 60,000 horsepower of electric energy—ready at the turn of a switch.

Home Demonstration News

LULA MAE MARTIN, AGENT.

The wardrobe school conducted by Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, clothing specialist from A. & M. College, Thursday and Friday of last week was a success for those who attended. Mrs. Barnes gave instructions in making foundation patterns and each woman who attended made a foundation pattern for herself. These women are to help other women in their clubs make foundation patterns. The one goal in our wardrobe work for this year is a foundation pattern for each club woman. This will mean a lot of work for us, but we expect to accomplish it. If your club has not selected its wardrobe demonstrator, it should do so at once so she can start her year's work now.

Council met Saturday with representatives from ten clubs present. Some of them were present for the first time. We certainly are proud that they are coming to the council meetings. The following clubs had representatives present: Dean, Dawn, Fairview, North Hereford, Sims, Summerfield, Westway, West Hereford, Wyche, Only Ward and Blipus were not represented. West Hereford reported 577 containers of food and 40 garments made. Westway 437 containers of food for home use and 3000 for market besides all the other things they had done. Summerfield reported 223 garments and 1,028 containers for home use. Other club reports will be made next week.

Tuesday was spent canning corn. A demonstration was given at the J. A. Hart home west of Messenger school. The North Hereford club met with Mrs. Brown Tuesday afternoon for a corn canning demonstration.

Wednesday was spent in the Fairview club, at the home of Mrs. Will Moore. Vegetable canning demonstrations were given.

Do not forget the encampment Thursday and Friday at the Bradley Ranch. Everyone come to have a good time.

Mrs. J. T. Allred of Plainview is Plainview is visiting her sons, J. C. and R. M. Allred, this week.

Seen On the Screen at the Star

Showing for the last time tonight is the finest story the Star theatre has brought to Hereford in many a day, one that nearly everyone will enjoy seeing, and will remember for a long time as a clean-cut, pleasure-giving program of good wholesome entertainment. The same story ran in magazine form as "Scotch Valley" several years ago, and now appears under the title of "Amateur Daddy," with Warner Baxter and Marion Nixon playing the leading roles. In addition to its other inducements, it is a one-cent picture, that is, two persons are admitted for one cent more than the price of one.

For tomorrow, Friday only, Lewis Stone plays an important part in "Strictly Dishonorable," a story that has been featured as a leading attraction by big theatres this year.

Saturday's matinee and night programs will present special attractions in the nature of 15 rounds of the Sharkey-Schmelling world heavy weight championship prize fight, in addition to one of the best race track stories put in picture for a long time, "Fast Companions," specially designed for those who love thoroughbred horses and delight in their feats of racing. Sunday's matinee and Monday and Tuesday evening shows will bring what threatens to be the laughing sensation of the coming week, with Jimmie "Schnozle" Durante and sad-faced Buster Keaton in "Speak Easily," put together simply for laughing purposes and guaranteed to relieve all thoughts of the depression or what-have-you.

Mrs. L. H. Davis and family of Amarillo, sister of Mrs. Edna Rutherford, were visitors in Hereford Wednesday. They were accompanied here by Glenn Finner, her nephew, and a friend from Westfield, Illinois, who have been visiting in Amarillo.

TO THE VOTERS

We want to call your attention to the record of Charley Paddock as Commissioner. He has been the hardest-working Commissioner this County has had for ten years. He is now better informed as to County affairs than any other. He knows more about roads and road costs and upkeep than probably any other man in the County. He has tried consistently to keep down County expenses and taxes, and now when we are all clamoring for lower taxes and greater economy, we think it would be bad business to swap off this faithful and efficient public servant when we need him so badly. We especially need him for the next two years. Please vote for and support Mr. Paddock.

GIFTS FOR BUILDING THE TABERNACLE

Exodus 25:21-29.

21. And they came, every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing, and brought Jehovah's offering, for the work of the tent of meeting, and for all the service thereof, and for the holy garments.

22. And they came, both men and women, as many as were willing-hearted, and brought brooches, and ear-rings, and signet-rings, and armlets, all jewels of gold; even every man that offered an offering of gold unto Jehovah.

23. And every man, with whom was found blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen, and goats' hair, and rams' skins dyed red, and sealings, brought them.

24. Every one that did offer an offering of silver and brass brought Jehovah's offering; and every man, in whom was found acacia wood, for any work of the service, brought it.

25. And all the women that were wise-hearted did spin with their hands, and brought that which they had spun, the blue, and the purple, the scarlet, and the fine linen.

26. And all the women whose heart stirred them up in wisdom spun the goats' hair.

27. And the rulers brought the onyx stones, and the stones to be set for the ephod, and for the breastplate:

28. And the spice, and the oil for the light, and for the anointing oil, and for the sweet incense.

29. The children of Israel brought a freewill-offering unto Jehovah; every man and woman, whose heart made them willing to bring for all the work, which Jehovah had commanded to be made by Moses.

Golden Text: Honor Jehovah with thy substances, and with the first-fruits of all thine increase. Proverbs 3:9.

Time: B. C. 1498.
Place: At Mt. Sinai.

Introduction.

The tabernacle or tent of meeting was the origin of Solomon's temple and its successors and of our own modern cathedrals and churches. Therefore, everything connected with it is of supreme interest to us. The plan of the tabernacle and all its particulars was revealed to Moses by Jehovah himself, who bade Moses to make it all "after their pattern, which hath been showed thee in the mount." (Ex. 25:9, 40) and so all parts of it were sacred.

As was fitted to the times and to the necessity of transportation, this pioneer cathedral was simple, light and transient. "The tabernacle as a whole, was a tent, in its essential features like the tent of the nomads of the desert of that day and this, but glorified in its materials and workmanship; the nearly flat tent-roof enlarged and multiplied, its walls made higher and more solid, and its partition richer in fabric, in colors, and embroidery."—G. Woodworth Cotton. The tabernacle was for nearly three centuries the central home of Jewish monotheistic worship.

Structure of the Tabernacle.
The tabernacle structure was an oblong, measuring thirty cubits long by ten broad, the cubit being roughly speaking, about half a yard long. The entrance to the tabernacle, as to the temple, was toward the east, and the eastern and western sides were the short ones. The entrance occupied the entire front, but the rear and the two sides were of boards, forty-eight in number, twenty being on the north and south sides and eight on the west. These boards (necessarily formed of smaller boards fastened together as there were no large trees in the region) were each ten cubits long and one and a half cubits broad, all being overlaid with gold—a gorgeous enclosure. The house was made by setting these boards on end, side by side, each board having at its base to tenons sunk in silver sockets, the boards being held together by five rows of traverse bars of acacia wood, placed on the outside, and run through rings fastened to each plank. The entrance consisted of five pillars overlaid with gold sunk in brass sockets and thus held upright, a curtain being stretched between them shutting off the interior from common view.

Interior of the Tabernacle.
The tabernacle was divided into two parts, called the Holy Place and the Most Holy Place, the two together constituting "the sanctuary." The Holy Place was a rectangle, twenty cubits long and ten broad. To it the priests were admitted for the performance of a few daily rites, but no laymen. The Most Holy Place, or Holy of Holies, was a perfect cube, ten cubits in all dimensions. This was the special abode of Deity, and only the high priest entered it, and he only once a year, on the great Day of Atonement. Between it and the Holy Place was a great curtain, called "the veil," which hung from four pillars overlaid with gold and resting in silver sockets. This veil was of extraordinary thickness and weight, was woven of blue, purple and scarlet, and embroidered with figures of cherubim who were supposed to be perpetually worshipping the Deity within.

Symbolism of the Tabernacle.
Symbolically the Tabernacle was at the center of every Hebrew worship, and for that reason it was erected in the center of the camp. It represented the presence of God with his people. It was the place of worship. All its appointments, the plan of construction, the arrangement and nature of its services, the regulations for priest and people, all spoke to Israel of the solemn meaning of the Divine presence.

"In the innermost sanctuary, or the Most Holy Place, was the ark of the covenant, containing the tables of the law. Above the ark was the mercy seat, on which, once a year, the high priest sprinkled blood; and on the mercy seat knelt face to face, the golden cherubim with outspread wings; denoting that through the appointed propitiation the holy God now held blessed intercourse with his creatures.

"In the outer sanctuary, or Holy Place, separated by a curtain from the inner, stood the altar of incense, the table of show bread, the golden candlestick; and here, day by day the priest came to offer incense with the daily sacrifice."

The Offering of a Willing Heart.
For the erection of the sanctuary, the people were commanded to bring their offerings, but only as they were of a willing heart (Ex. 35:5). There was no assessment, or compulsion. In an impressive call (Ex. 35:4-19) Moses told them the various kinds of gifts that were needed and then sent them away to their tents to get what their hearts stirred them up to give.

Soon they were returning. "They came, every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing." It was wholly voluntary, the command was from within, the voice of understanding and devotion and conscience. That is the best kind of giving, being spiritual rather than legal, giving in which duty is glorified by desire. That reaches the plane of the Christian motive. It is not what one does under the compulsion of law, but what one chooses to do that reveals his heart, that is, himself.

A Gift From Everyone.
The men, women and rulers all participated. It was a congregational movement. Those who had little and those who had much were equally interested. In many of our churches today it is the large gifts that are sought. We have heard of some ministers who are not in favor of a general appeal to every member canvass, utterly neglectful or ignorant of the meaning of participation in a great enterprise to the spiritual life of boys and girls and those who have little. Moses did not call together the leaders and urge them to assume the whole burden; he spoke to all the people. And we can readily imagine the joy that came to those who had perhaps one golden trinket or one rich piece of purple in the privilege of sharing in the holy work of building a sanctuary to their God. "Upon the first day of the week let each one of you lay by him in store as he may prosper." As the circle of giving is enlarged, the joy and fellowship of the church are increased.

Should a Christian Give Less Than a Tenth?
"What ought we to give? You know that Jacob, in his vow to God, said, 'Of all that thou givest me, I will surely give back the tenth unto thee.' That was the rule of Moses in the Jewish legislation. It is still kept by all faithful Jews, and kept so strictly that they do not regard this tenth as belonging to themselves at all. Their charities begin where the tenth ends. Now, the gospel lays down no hard-and-fast rule. It only bids each man give 'as God prospered him,' according as he is disposed in his heart, cheerfully, with a willing mind. But is Christianity meant to make us more free at the cost of making us more selfish? Should not we give as much as the ancient Jews?"—F. W. Farrar.

Special Lesson.
"We commonly think of giving as a duty, that which is due or owed, and this carries with it the unpleasant implications of a debt. But we should rise far above this conception and view, not simply as a duty and debt, but as a privilege and delight. The Hebrew worshippers, as the smoke of their offerings rose from the altar, blew their silver trumpets as an expression of the gladness with which they rendered this sacrifice and service. We, having passed in to the life of the Spirit, should worship God with our offerings with even greater joy."—Snowden.

NOTICE!

It has come to my attention that a rumor is being whispered around connecting W. Frank Ball with the burning of an automobile that belonged to the Brumley Chevrolet Company, Inc., to collect the insurance.

I bought all the assets of Brumley Chevrolet Company, Inc., and collected the insurance on the car in question. Frank Ball never receiving one penny of the insurance money, and I consider such a report unfair and unjust.

I don't believe in mud-slinging.

Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum Tells Women of Texas First-Hand Facts of Ferguson Record

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 20.—Disavowing being swayed by her personal political interests, inasmuch as she has announced definitely she will not again next term accept the office she now holds, Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, spoke here last night, urging the re-election of Gov. Ross S. Sterling. Mrs. McCallum is completing her third term of secretary of state, having been the first person ever to have served in that capacity for more than two terms.

"I have come from Central Texas—Austin—to make this contact with the women of North Texas, not as a state official," Mrs. McCallum said, "but as woman to woman, as mother to mother and as a Texan to Texan, proud, and jealous of the honor and reputation of my native state.

"I come to you because of the conviction that if a woman armed as I am with first hand facts, obtained during 29 years' residence in your state capital and ten years' participation in public affairs, did not during this terrible period of misrepresentation and vilification, do all in her power to bring these facts before other women, that she would be just as much of a coward and a traitor to her state as an armed soldier would be were he to slink away at the approach of an invading army.

State Paying Warrants.
"Speakers and writers of unimpeachable integrity tell you daily how false, how without any foundation in fact, are the scandalous charges being made against Gov. Ross Sterling. I know nearly all of these men personally; I thank God for them, and I'd risk my life on the integrity of most of them.

"The charges, for instance, about the state being in the red are so ridiculous. The state does get behind at times, probably will again. What person, firm, corporation, city, county or state or nation isn't behind during these unprecedented times and what would Jim Ferguson do but make matters worse? But the state certainly was not behind when I presented my little $166.66 warrant for payment for the months of June and July because I received exactly that amount each time, and the June and July warrants of every person in my office were cashed without being discounted—I know that.

"However, most questions asked me concerned the pardon records of the Ferguson as compared with Governor Sterling's. These records are public documents on file in my office and open to any one for inspection. In this connection let me impress upon you the vast difference between a furlough, a parole and a pardon. When a prisoner is granted a furlough, it is for a limited time and practically always for an emergency such as severe illness or death in his family. Texas has a parole law, and when a prisoner is paroled it is in compliance with this law and upon the condition of good behavior; and he knows that for the very first violation of the condition he will be brought back to the penitentiary to serve out his term. The parole law is generally accepted as one of the most effective measures for reform ever devised, and Governor Sterling is to be congratulated upon his sensible, successful administering of this law.

Sterling Pardons Sixteen.

"But when a man is pardoned, he is, as you know, as free as if never incarcerated. Jim Ferguson stated in his publication of July 21 (you may verify this almost anywhere, as this sheet litters nearly everybody's yard) under a typically Fergusonian caption that I do not care to quote that "... the number of pardon proclamations issued by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson during her entire administration was 3224; by Gov. Sterling in 18 months of his administration, 3441."

"Men and women of Texas, the fact is that Gov. Sterling during his 19 months in the governor's chair, has issued only 16 pardons (Tabulations made Aug. 9, 1932). "Please get this exactly. I pledge you my word both as a woman who believes in fair play and officially as your secretary of state, that all of these records are in my office and that Gov. Ross Sterling has during his 19 months as governor of your state granted only 15 full and one conditional pardon to persons convicted of crime. He has not nullified the acts of our courts.

Ferguson Assails Women.
"Miriam Ferguson has never represented even a very small portion of the patriotic, intelligent womanhood of this state. This is evidenced in Ferguson's own statement on July 15, 1926, in his Forum. Among other uplifting things he wrote: "... mark what I tell you. From this time on the prestige of this high-brow, silk-stocking woman brigade will begin to wane and their inhuman treatment of Governor Ferguson, whom they should have supported, will keep them from exercising influence in elections. No high-brow, self-important club-woman who has heretofore posed as the savior of the republic ought ever to be allowed the ballot hereafter when she goes and votes to turn this state over to such an inexperienced and unworthy man as Dan Moody! Do not be misled; rural women were, just as aroused as city women, and worked shoulder to shoulder, but Ferguson always attempts to array city and country against each other.

"Why have women long realized that Mrs. Ferguson never has and never can cause them aught but shame and humiliation? A multiplicity of reasons are obvious, but let's select one or two from the files, and in giving you these facts from the records of 1925 of the Thirty-Ninth Legislature.

Mrs. Ferguson's Vetoes.
"For one thing, Miriam Ferguson vetoed—after it has passed both House and Senate of course—the appropriation of $1800 for a maternity home enforcement officer, and with a stroke of the same pen she approved an appropriation of $2500 for an assistant supervisor of fish hatcheries.

"Practically the first thought, if not the first words of every informed young mother when she regains consciousness after descending into the valley of the shadow of death that a little life may come into the world is, 'Did they put the drops in my baby's eyes?' She knows that 90 per cent of blindness at birth can be prevented by silver nitrate or similar drops.

"So imperative is this treatment considered that the legislature passed a law requiring the Board of Health to furnish such silver nitrate solution or other prophylactic drops free of cost to the poor of the State."

"In 1925, Miriam Ferguson vetoed this appropriation of $500, and at the same time approved a yearly appropriation of $4000 for the cultivation of oysters and improving oyster reefs.

"Did she represent you, the women of this state, when she blue-penciled this pitiful sum that would have brought peace of mind to thousands of impoverished mothers and surely have saved the sight of some little unfortunate? Did she? "Was Miriam Ferguson representing women of Texas when she vetoed the salaries of two nurses, totaling $3000 a year and at the same time approved a yearly appropriation of $5,263.82 for veterinarian science, including a study of the disease of cattle?"

"By way of comparison of the two administrations, Gov. Sterling vetoed $2,621,997—saved the taxpayers this amount of hard cash. Nevertheless, he restored not only the maternity home inspector and the nurses, but he was largely responsible for the division devoted to child welfare and approved an appropriation of $1200 per annum or a total of $2400 for silver nitrate. (See sessions laws, 42d, Pages 685-6.)

Mrs. Ferguson's Pardons.
"I have referred before to this woman governor's pardon record. I certified it first two years ago, and have since done so over and over again as on file in my office and no one has attempted to dispute the facts. I reiterate and declare lest you forget that Miriam A. Ferguson, for whom some parties are trying to arouse sympathy among the women of the state, did, between the date of Dec. 16, 1926, and Jan. 15, 1927, grant full, unconditional pardons to 124 robbers, 127 liquor law violators, 133 murderers and 39 rapists; that on the three days of Jan. 15, 16 and 17, 1927, she granted clemency to 100 cases, including full pardons to 35 violators of liquor laws, 40 robbers, 22 murderers and 10 rapists. Not paroles nor furloughs; mind you, but pardons.

"Knowing these facts, can you, true and intelligent women, fail to resent to the utmost even the implication that this woman represents you? Can you fail to exert every ounce of your strength and influence and to cast your vote against this self-acknowledged tool of a discredited husband, who is one of the worst enemies women ever had? I wish I had time to tell you the full true story of Jim Ferguson's fight against organized women.

"The only state-wide record of woman's participation in politics in Texas was made in 1918. The revelations of the impeachment of James E. Ferguson were fresh in their minds and following the placing of his name on the ballot by the State Executive Committee (and delays caused by certain litigation) the women had only 17 days in which to register (in lieu of paying a poll tax) in order to vote in the primaries for the first time in the history of our state.

"Were they overawed by Ferguson's boasts or too timid or indifferent to vote? "No, they marched as an army to the 250 court houses over Texas and registered as the statute required in their own hands and when the surprised and overwhelmed county officials tabulated the returns they found a total of 385,000; and even Ferguson admitted in his Forum of Aug. 1, 1918, that he lost the woman vote 10 to 1—and how he did rave.

"And I know in my heart that women of today will not betray their trust—that you will surpass the march of the 385,000 of 14 years ago in voting for the continuance in office of a man who has stood foresquare and given you a courageous, honest, economical administration during the most trying period in the history of our state and nation."

The Solution of Puzzling Business Affairs

It is often difficult for a man to detach himself from his immediate pressing problems sufficiently to view them as a whole.

UNEQUAL REGULATION IN TRANSPORTATION CAUSES DISORDER AND CONFUSION

● The instability, confusion and disorder which unrestrained truck transportation has brought about is responsible in large measure for much of the distress in which all business finds itself today. Texas has moved to find a remedy and all concerned in the welfare of this state and its institutions should cooperate in the effort to restore stability and order to our transportation systems.

The Texas Railroads, in these advertisements, have endeavored to place before the people of this state some of the reasons why the existing laws, regulating motor transportation, should be upheld and enforced.

1. The railroads are necessary for the successful marketing of the enormous production of this state, which is used and consumed in every other state in the union.

Uniform, published, non-discriminatory transportation service rates are essential to the orderly conduct and welfare of business.

Unregulated truck transportation inevitably results in discriminatory charges and practices, rebating, unfair and unbusinesslike competitive methods, bringing about losses and commercial insecurity.

The wholesaler, retailer and local merchant suffer from the unfair competition of truckers and peddlers who, for the most part, are non-residents, pay no taxes and contribute nothing to the community welfare.

The farmer and agricultural producer must have at his command facilities adequate to transport crops and produce which move long distances in large volume, at low cost, by rail.

2. The railroads build and maintain their own roadways, pay heavy taxes for the support of state and municipal governments and institutions, and expend millions of dollars for payroll, materials and supplies. Railroad workers are substantial citizens, home owners, and valued members of their communities.

3. Rail transportation is the most efficient and economical in existence for the movement of traffic in volume by land.

4. Texas highways belong to the people and are built and maintained at heavy cost. Their use for commercial purposes is a privilege, not a right. They should be kept safe for general use and not prematurely destroyed by heavy trucks.

5. The stability, security and orderly conduct of business require reasonable control and regulation of all transportation agencies.
