Under The Dome

By GORDON K. SHEARER

At Austin.

AUSTIN—(UP)—Texas' most important court has the smallest attendances at its sittings. Three-fourths of the time when the state supreme court, which has the last word in Texas civil disputes, hands down its decisions, Halliff John Henry Johnson's "Oyez, O-Yez" is heard only by the judges, court clerks and a few newspaper men.

Not since former Governor Ross S. Sterling challenged the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson to succeed him, has the little court room been filled when a case was being argued. When the case was decided there were but a few present.

The supreme court sits on the third floor of the state capitol. Usually it meets on Wednesday. Uncertainty about the time when the nine judges may be expected to file into the court room and take their places behind its long desk may have something to do with the lack of attendance. Usually the sitting is at noon, after the judges have finished a conference in chambers on the week's grist.

Whatever the reason the court is almost entirely without what the movie magnates call BO (Box Office) appeal.

Across the hall, the state court audiences. It is a supreme court of criminal appeals has bigger audiences. It is a supreme court in cases involving crime. One reason for its greater attendance is that it combines hearing of arguments and announcement of decisions at the same session.

Of course the judges do not decide cases on the same day they are argued. The decisions are announced are those in cases that may have been argued a week or months before. Rulings are first announced, then a docket of arguments is called.

Frequently relatives of defendants attend to hear the arguments for new trials. Relatives seldom

Hard Luck Proves Very Good Luck

Buffalo, N. Y. (UP)—Ice jams which clogged main pipes in Buffalo's water supply system aided the water bureau in collecting delinquent taxes. The clogged pipes caused a slight water shortage in the city and hundreds of citizens flocked to the bureau to pay back taxes in the belief the water had been shut off for non-payment of levies.

W. H. Crenshaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Crenshaw, is ill with pneumonia.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson has appointed Henry C. Meyer, former mayor of Rockdale, for a full six-year term on the state board of control. Meyer already was serving on the board to fill out the unexpired term of Adrian Pool, El Paso, who resigned to become U. S. Collector of Customs.

James V. Allred is fast acquiring fame in a new role. He now is known as the rhyming official. Verses telling of the varied calls made upon a state attorney general have been written by Allred. He recently recited them to the entertainment of the San Marcos Kiwanis club.

Judge O. S. Lattimore of the state court of criminal appeals startled his friends with the announcement that he is 69 years old this month. He looks at least 10 years less. He can outwalk, outhunt, outgo and outwork most youngsters. "I never have done anything to injure my body," he said when asked his secret for continuing youth. He has never smoked and never tasted whisky. He has missed attendance at but one Baptist General Convention in Texas since the one held at Marshall in 1894. In public life he has risen from county attorney at Fort Worth to the bench in the state's highest court in criminal cases.

"A prophet is not without honor but in his own country." One of the big plums of the federal administration fell to a Texan so little known in Texas that half a dozen state officials couldn't place him. He was Wright Matthews of Palestine, appointed deputy commissioner of internal revenue by President Roosevelt.

Matthews has been living in Washington so long that his lack of fame here can be understood. He was acting assistant to Commissioner Guy T. Helvering at the time of his appointment. Miss Lois Johnson, a resident of Palestine, enlightened newspaper men about who Matthews is.

Lamesa Quint Very Strong

Locals Doped To Lose; Line-Up Is Altered For Scrap

Cochs George Brown sends his cagers into one of their stiffest battles of the season tonight when the local team tangles with the Golden Tornadoes at Lamesa. The Lamesa quintet is known as one of the strongest outfits in the state. They are doubly dangerous in their own gymnasium, which is far from being up to standard requirements.

FRANK CARIDEO - Perhaps the youngest head coach of a major eleven in the country, he has made up his mind to do something about the situation at the University of Missouri.

When the Bovines mix with Lamesa tonight they will likely be on the short end of the score. Of course we hope not, but few and far between are the teams that can outwrestle the Tornadoes in their own gymnasium.

How Cardui Helped Lady Get Stronger

"I was in a weak condition when I started to using Cardui," writes Mrs. Oscar West, of Dayton, Texas. "I found it helped me greatly. My appetite was poor and I had lost weight. It was an effort for me to do my work. I felt tired all the time. I read that other women took Cardui as a tonic, so I decided it would help me. It strengthened me and increased my appetite, and I felt better than I had in a long time. I think it is a great medicine for weak women."

Sports Parade

By HENRY McEMORE United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—Probably the greatest single indictment of the quality of American liquor is the fact that no one sea-serpent has been sighted in this country since repeal. In Scotland, on the other hand, where the Scotch is on the level and makes the highlanders fling, citizens have been beating the sea-serpents out of the bushes with commendable regularity.

SEEK A BALANCE

Good sportsmanship and considerate sanity exists in college football today, as always, but I do not think conditions were any more "lovable and inspiring" in Butterworth's playing days—the era of the flying wedge, the hurdle and free-for-all after the ball game—than they have been in recent years.

Students Of Nearly All Faiths Enrolled At Texas University

AUSTIN—One Quaker, one Spiritualist, one Adventist, and one member of the Nazarene faith were numbered among the 6,739 students who attended the University of Texas last year, according to the report of the registrar, E. J. Matthews. Of the total number of students, 5,637 listed themselves as actual members of the various churches, while 876 merely indicated their church preference, not affiliation. 81 did not give any information about their religious beliefs, and 155 stated that they had no church preference.

The largest number of adherents, both in actual membership and by preference, belonged to the Methodist church, the registrar's report indicated. A total of 1,735 students were members of this denomination, and an additional 245 gave it as their preference. The Baptist church had 1,161 members in the student body and 172 students who preferred it to other denominations. Presbyterians came next in order, with 738 actual members and 108 who preferred that church.

Other religious denominations represented in the student body were as follows: Catholic, 401 members, 24 by preference; Christian, 419, 63; Christian Science, 50, 49; Church of Christ, 136, 11; Congregational, 38, 9; Disciple of Christ, 3, none; Episcopal, 460, 73; Evangelical, 10, 5; Friends, 2, 1; Greek Orthodox, 7, 3; Jewish, 242, 70; Latter Day Saints, 3, none; Lutheran, 158, 28; Moravian Brethren, 4, 1; Unitarian, 4, 12.

Of the 4,479 men students enrolled, 3,845 belonged to some church and 633 expressed their church preference, while of the 2,260 women students enrolled, 1,982 held membership in some church and 223 expressed a preference for some denomination.

VFWA Group Expect Nat'l President

Cleveland Woman To Spend Week-End In City In Conference

The national president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mrs. Julia L. Pitcock, will be a guest of the local spouses officers of that organization.

Several meetings will be held in Mrs. Pitcock's honor, the programs of which will be announced later.

The record of Mrs. Julia L. Pitcock in the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, extends back to 1918, when she first became identified with the organization as a member of Cleveland Auxiliary No. 84, Cleveland, Ohio. Two years later, she attended the National Encampment at Washington, D. C. as a delegate and since then, has at-ended ten of the thirteen National Encampments held annually. Mrs. Pitcock has held an office in her local auxiliary every year since becoming a member. She served nine years as secretary and was also senior vice president and president. She assisted in the organization of the department of Ohio in 1925; became the first department secretary and was reappointed to that position twice; then was department president for two years.

In the national organization, Mrs. Pitcock likewise has been active. She was chairman of the national by-laws committee, in 1925, National Judge Advocate for two years and district council member for two years.

At Sacramento, Cal., in 1932, she was elected national senior vice president, which was followed with her election as national president at the 30th annual convention held in conjunction with the 1932 National Encampment, V. F. W. at Milwaukee.

Many civic interests have also claimed Mrs. Pitcock's attention in the past. During the world war she was one of 12 women chosen as four-minute speakers in Cleveland. She also served, alternately, as chairman and vice-chairman of every Liberty Loan drive in her district and was district chairman of food conservation work. During the entire period of the war, she worked untiringly in the American Red Cross.

The League of Women Voters, council of parent-teachers associations and Eastern Star also are among the organizations to which Mrs. Pitcock has devoted her time and attention in executive capacities.

Mrs. Pitcock's auxiliary services have been given, with the enthusiastic cooperation of her husband, Charles G. Pitcock, a member of Forest City Post No. 1911, V. F. W. Much of her attention and efforts also are devoted to their family, comprising two sons and one daughter.

Kiwanians Hear Members Tell Of Educational Side Of Club; W. Rance King Chairman For Day

Kiwanian W. Rance King was in charge of the program at the Thursday meeting of Kiwanis, and introduced an interesting group of speakers. The object of the program was to stress the educational side of Kiwanis and to bring out the benefits gained by membership.

George Gentry spoke on "What I Like Best About Kiwanis." The club soon found out that George likes everything about Kiwanis; and the work of the committee on vocational guidance is perhaps one of the very best things that Kiwanis does. The purpose of this vocational guidance is to help the boys of Big Spring and vicinity to determine what to choose for their life's work. Trained men in all lines will devote part of their valuable time to conferring with, and advising any boy or girl who may be interested in taking up work in the field in which he is engaged in serving the community. Oftentimes this series of conferences and the instruction given will help a boy or girl to decide what they should do in life, and the best way to do that work.

Joe Fisher made a touching talk on "What I Have Gotten Out of Kiwanis." Joe is one of the charter members and knows all of the good things that have been done, and in which he helped. His hobby is working with the committee on work for underprivileged children.

George White has enjoyed the contacts he has made with his fellow members; many of whom would have forever been strangers to him but for their having met in Kiwanis. He has found an indefinable good in these associations; and is greatly interested in the classification talks that are made from time to time.

Carl Blomsheld, past president, has decided to continue as a Kiwanian; because the fellows have stood by him in building up and strengthening the club, and in all the constructive things the club has done, and is planning to do. Carl made an illuminating talk on past accomplishments and on "pushing on."

L. A. Eubanks explained "Why Some Members Are Better Workers Than Others." He brought out that the interest of the worker determines the success of his work; and that when there is some work or each one to do, there will be an increase in the interest, and the effectiveness with which each man works. He is especially interested in the educational program of Kiwanis, and in encouraging the leaders in standing for the things that will develop each individual, and through him, all others with whom he associates.

Foreman Van Zanit spoke from the mechanical side of the question. H. Percy led the discussion along other lines. Superintendent A. E. Pi-tole also spoke.

A two-reel picture, the "Production of Gasoline," was shown. Dix told how water of this area affected fuel consumption. He showed a large pipe practically solid with mineral matter carried in water here. However, he produced another specimen to show that the present water was about as pure as they could get.

A sharp increase in petroleum prices almost drove the railroad back to coal, he revealed. He bemoaned the passing of his last coal mined the passing of his last coal mined during December when engines were run from Fort Worth to El Paso, he said.

Another meeting was to be held 2:30 p. m. Thursday before the fuel supervisor takes his car to another point.

"Listen," he said, "You've all got your finger in Old Dix's fuel pile. If everybody works to save here and there we will be able to make it."

So there will probably be at least five per cent less black smoke along the Rio Grande division in 1934.

From The Sidelines

Colorado has, after all these years, won its own basketball tournament, which is something it hasn't been able to do in the past. However, their victory wasn't as sweet as it could have been. It would have been much better, say the Wolf City fans, had it been the Steers that lost to Colorado instead of Wylie.

The followers of Jim Cantrell and his Wolves should, at least, get some satisfaction out of knowing that for one year the Bovines have come home without a major portion of the tournament medals and trophies. We hazard a guess that Coach Cantrell is muchly satisfied. It was rumored, prior to the past tourney, that Cantrell was very touchy on the subject of George Brown's Steers, especially in connection with the Colorado tournament.

Even though the Bovines did not go very far in the tourney, it created no little vengeance in the Steers. And who should happen to play the locals immediately after the meet but the winners? The proper time to take any and all spite out on Colorado. They did!

Reading above might give one the wrong impression; we'll remedy it in this manner: As you

Big Spring High Goes Out In 3rd Round Of Tourney

Playing ragged ball in all three games the Big Spring quintet went out in the third round of the Colorado invitational tourney, losing to Wylie 39-21. Thus the Steer cagers ingloriously shattered the record of their predecessors of not having lost a tournament for more than two years.

Despite their poor play, which was only spasmodic but the spasms occasionally lasting too long, Brown's basketballers mustered their court knowledge at intervals to display aggressive maple-wood tactics.

Such a game was the one with Divide. The Bovines led by Buck-ett Hare, who was the only local cager to turn in a consistent game, edged out the Divide team 20-19. In the closing seconds of the game, Hare in true Horatio Alger fashion, sank a gratis toss to give the Black and Golds a one point lead. Finch, Divide guard, immediately afterward had an opportunity to knot the score, but his aim went awry. Neel, diminutive Steer forward, who was given the tourney's sportsmanship award, was high point man for the locals with four field goals.

Win First Game

In their initial conflict Brown's Bovines defeated the Roian Yellow-hammers 29-20. During the first stanza only one goal was made—and that by Rotan. The next period saw the Steers come to life, tallying 13 points to 3 for their opponents. The third quarter was a repetition of the first while in the final period the Steers manifested a spark of life and topped 11 more points.

Wylie, unheralded and unsung, met the Steers in the third round to hand them a stinging 39-21 defeat; then proceeded to advance to the final rounds only to lose to the powerful Colorado quintet. At no time did the Bovines seriously threaten to overcome Wylie's substantial lead. The Steers were behind 16-1 at the first quarter, 19-5 at the half, and 29-16 at the end of the third period. A couple of Wylie forwards, Woods and Waldrop, who scored 17 and 12 points respectively, staged a successful goal shower from all parts of the court to carry their team to the finals.

A pass gate attendant at a hockey game in Tulsa, Oklahoma, was arrested on charges of "resisting an officer" when he refused to admit three plain clothes men without tickets.
