AROUND TOWN

Deaf Smith County is in bad shape politically, according to R. B. Ireland, County Democratic Chairman. Mr. Ireland says that not a single candidate has filed this name with the county committee as yet, although several have announced through the press. He points out that names for county offices must be filed by June 18 in case some of the candidates may have overlooked the fact.

During 15 years C. H. Dillehay has served as superintendent of the Hereford Schools, a total of 624 diplomas have been issued. Of this number 541 were signed by G. M. Hudson, and 83 by Travis M. Dameron as principals. The largest graduating class during the time was 56 in 1933, as compared with 24 in the smallest, 1924.

Of general interest during recent days has been a giant ice cube on display at the Hereford Appliance Company. The cube weighed 50 pounds and stays frozen with the door of the box open. Lawrence Womble says it took only 48 hours to freeze the cube. He is also giving away free aprons to visitors who view the cube this week.

A story making the rounds this week is that Grant Fuller's son was pitching a nice ball game, and when he got his team about 10 runs in the lead, he said, "OK Daddy, you can pitch while now, I've got enough lead where they won't catch up."

Allen Bell of Adrian was in this week to report two inches of rain at Adrian Monday afternoon. He said as much as three inches fell three miles west of there, and it dwindled to around an inch in Vega. Water flooded Highway 66 in places, however, and considerable hail damage was seen in the vicinity, although he escaped serious damage on his place.

Of unusual interest is the toy airplane which the Star Theatre is using in front of the theatre to advertise "Test Pilot," which shows there Sunday and Monday. No one was more surprised at the display than employees of the theatre, who fully expected Manager John Roberts to have the plane worn out before time for the exhibit. The plane does loops, nose-dives, and a lot of other tricks.

Lions To Elect New Officers At Coming Session

Members of the Hereford Lions Club will next Wednesday elect officers for the ensuing year. It was announced at the meeting this week.

The nominations committee announced the following names for the election: president, Travis Dameron and H. A. Close; vice-president, John Roberts and R. B. Wills; secretary, John McLean and Leonard Foster; tall twister, F. W. James and Kellie Muse; Lion tamer, Ralph Smith and A. O. Thompson; directors (two to be elected), Fred Hood, Jimmie Gilliland, Gus Streu and A. B. Bateman.

Hopper Poison Put In Cemetery

Grasshopper poison has been spread over the cemetery, and will again be spread as many times as needed, was today announced by T. E. Seigler, president of the Cemetery Association. "Persons can go ahead and beautify lots and plant flowers with the assurance that the hoppers will be poisoned," he said. "Every effort is being made to make and keep the cemetery as beautiful as possible."

Hen Puts Nest Mate To Shame With Huge Egg

There are slacks even among our feathered friends, according to Mrs. Leo Cocconagher, who this week displayed the large and small of the egg situation. Both eggs were taken from the same nest. The small egg weighed less than one ounce, measured one and one-fourth inches around ends, and only three and one-half inches in circumference. Another hen, after viewing such a meager offering, evidently put her heart and soul into her work and beside the tiny egg, laid one of tremendous proportions; the second egg weighed four ounces, measured seven and seven-eighths inches around ends, and six and one-eighth inches in circumference.

More Bonds Are Retired By City

The City of Hereford this week retired an additional $2,000 principal in bonds held against the city water works and sewer pension, making a total of $5,500 retired during the first five months of 1938.

Hereford People Join Search For Drowning Victim

A large group of Hereford men assisted Sunday in searching for the body of Mrs. Ellen Pearl Renegar, 22-year-old Amarillo woman, who drowned while swimming at Buffalo Dam near Umbarger, Sunday afternoon.

The accident occurred when the woman stepped off a ledge while wading in the lake. Her body was under water 54 minutes before she was recovered. The first men to enter the water in search of the body were Herb Sindt, Glenn Witherspoon, Willard Witherspoon and Clarence Wright, all of whom were accompanied on the outing by their wives. Others who were at the lake and who assisted in the search were: Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mauk, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cogdell, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hutson, Mr. and Mrs. Rob Elliott and (Continued on Page 12)

James Gilliland Enters Race For County Attorney

James C. Gilliland this week authorized The Brand to announce his candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Deaf Smith County, subject to action of the Democratic primary.

Mr. Gilliland needs no introduction to the people of this county, having been born and reared here, and having practiced law in Hereford since December, 1934. He took his A. B. degree from Virginia Military Institute and studied law in the University of Texas. After studying in the office here for a year, he took the bar examination and was in 1934 admitted to the bar. In addition to his legal practice, he also boasts considerable experience in business and as a farmer in this area, and believes that through his experience here he will be able to serve the people of the community. He sums up his candidacy (Continued on Page 12)

Methodist Meet Holds Interest Here This Week

The evangelistic meeting which opened at the First Methodist Church here Sunday, is attracting wide interest, and will continue through Sunday, June 12, according to Rev. M. M. Beavers, pastor. Rev. E. D. Landreth of Clarendon is conducting the service and is finding a popular acceptance as an interesting and forceful speaker. Services are held at 10 o'clock each morning and at 8 o'clock each evening.

"Don't call it a Methodist meeting, call it Our Meeting," said Rev. Beavers, "for that is exactly what it is. Everyone who is interested in the matter of Christian life service, is invited to attend the meeting and to enjoy the messages which Rev. Landreth is bringing us."

Mrs. Sank Ramey and Mrs. Orpha Click were in Amarillo, Monday.

Progress Made On REA Project For This Area

CONTRACTORS RUSHING TO COMPLETE SERVICE HERE THIS SUMMER

With holes dug on approximately 10 miles of the remaining 90-mile rural electrification project, contractors today said that work of stringing lines of the project will progress rapidly. The digging machine started working Monday morning, and poles have already been placed in the right-of-way over a large portion of the strip.

Twenty-five men are now employed on the project, and are busy assembling cross-arms and making for permanent erection of the line. H. V. Hennen, project supervisor, said that application for 10 miles of extension, or feeder lines has been made with the government office, and that he hopes to secure approval in the near future.

No material has yet arrived for construction of the sub-station east of town, but contractors stated that the materials are now under construction and that this division of the project will also be rushed to completion as soon as supplies are available. Poles at the present time are being erected south from the sub-station into Castro county.

Previous announcements from the Washington office stated that the contract calls for both the lines and sub-station to be completed here "by the end of the summer."

Contractors said that work on the project will be rushed as rapidly as possible, and that with early arrival of transformers might result in completion of the project ahead of schedule.

The Texas-New Mexico Utilities Company this week received three large transformers, which will be placed at the local distribution station in order to facilitate service of wholesale power to the Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc.

Missionary Will Visit Christian Church Here

Young people of the Christian Church will have as their guest for the coming week Miss Vida Elliott, Young People's Missionary Secretary for the State of Texas, it was announced today.

Miss Elliott is a returned missionary from India, and is an interesting speaker and capable educator. She will meet with the Intermediate Endeavors next Sunday evening and group meetings for young people have been arranged throughout the week. All young people are urged to be present at the services and to get acquainted with Miss Elliott. Rev. H. M. Redford, pastor said.

Club Will Study "Modern Women"

That the Summerfield Study Club has placed $10 with the County Library for the purpose of purchasing books for their proposed study course on "Modern Women" was today announced by Miss Lillie Hostetter, county librarian.

ASPARAGUS PLANTED 29 YEARS AGO STILL PRODUCTIVE TODAY

With recent comment and numerous articles regarding the growth of asparagus in this section, Mrs. J. N. Messenger of the Messenger Community, relates the following: "We came to this country 29 years ago last March and I brought some seed with me and in May had my son spade up a bed four feet by 10 feet. We planted the asparagus seed, then hauled what little water it got. "The asparagus came up and

"The church delights to honor these men and women who have been in our midst so long," Rev. H. M. Redford, pastor, said. "It would be more interesting, if space would permit to mention the service record of these members, who along with many others, brought the present church building into existence. Many of them contributed heavily of their time and substance. The record shows that three men, T. E. Shirley, A. H. Elliston and F. H. Oberthier were the heaviest contributors to the building of the church."

Baptist Church To Open Bible School Monday

That a Vacation Bible School will start at the First Baptist Church here, Monday, June 6, was today announced by Rev. W. E. Barnes, pastor, who said that the school will continue through June 17.

"A good faculty has been selected and the departments will be the same as the Sunday School, running from beginners through the intermediate division," Rev. Barnes said. "A number of parents have already indicated that their children will be enrolled and we want every Baptist child between ages of 4 and 17; all other children not in Sunday School age also invited to attend."

The daily program will be made up of Bible study, missionary stories, study of great hymns, character stories, handwork and other things of interest to boys and girls. "We can teach as much Bible in two weeks of intensive study as in four or five months at Sunday School," Rev. Barnes declared. Let's put aside everything possible and send the children next Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

W. B. Beach Now Associated With Kerr Hardware

W. B. Beach, pioneer resident of this area, has recently become associated with the Kerr Hardware Company, and has moved here from Wichita Falls with his family, including Mrs. Beach, and a daughter, Mrs. Ida Bennett. Mr. Beach will be remembered by many old timers of this area. He first came to this county from Dimmitt in 1891, and operated a ranch; in 1906, he organized the First State Bank here and served as first president of the institution. In 1912, he moved to Wilbarger County and in 1917 to Burk-burnett just before the oil boom started there; the Beaches moved to Wichita Falls in 1918, and remained there until their recent removal to Hereford.

Hopper Fight Spreads Over This Section

MORE THAN 50 TONS OF POISON DISPERSED THROUGH STATION

With more than 100,000 pounds of poison mixture already distributed through the mixing station here, the front lines of Deaf Smith County's army of grasshopper fighters this week expanded by huge proportions.

A crew of sixteen men are working in shifts at the bull barn, where the poison mixing station is maintained, and County Agent A. R. Bateman today said that poison is available to all farmers of this area.

Notice from the State Highway Department stated that poison is being placed on the right-of-way of all state roads, and railway companies indicated that they will also spread poison over their right-of-way.

"Grasshoppers in this area are found more extensively in the northeast and central portions of the county," Bateman said. "However, we want to urge every farmer in all parts of this area to be on the lookout for hoppers and to take means toward poisoning them as soon as they show up."

Supplement the fight against the pests are special machines which are being purchased by most communities for spreading the poison. These machines are being constructed from rear ends out of old model T cars. Six of these machines were reported in the Dawn community, six at Fairview, three around Westway, and others at Daniel and near Hereford. In many cases farmers are pooling funds to purchase the spreaders, and in some instances extensive land holders are buying them individually.

Merchants of Hereford voluntarily expressed a desire to assist in the fight on hoppers, and offered to close stores and assist farmers in spreading the poison in this section if the situation becomes bad enough to merit such assistance. Mr. Bateman said that in case the hopper plague spreads more densely that an organized drive will be made and merchants will be recruited.

Because many farmers and ranchers are somewhat reluctant to poison grasshoppers on their (Continued on Page 12)

ENGINES WILL BE WORN LESS THIS SUMMER

But you want to know exactly why. You're leery of general statements that won't save you one piston ring or one quart of oil. So you want what the doctors call a specific. And that's what you get—a definite, substantial, physical protector that actually exists right in your engine as soon as you get it OIL-PLATED. Only patented Conoco Germ Processed oil from Your Mileage Merchant's station can give your engine OIL-PLATING. Other oils can't. No matter how much refining is claimed for them, they cannot surpass the correct refining of Conoco Germ Processed oil, but refining only takes things out. Going much farther, Germ Processing adds in the patented man-made substance that gives your engine OIL-PLATING. Only this addition by the Germ Process makes oil "join up" with the working parts, to keep them OIL-PLATED. All the while Germ Processed oil is used, OIL-PLATING is permanent. Like other plating, OIL-PLATING keeps wear from getting through. And like other plating, OIL-PLATING can't drain down at any time. Actually united to each surface, OIL-PLATING gives your engine lubrication that needn't wait for the oil pump . . . Before other oils could even begin to circulate, OIL-PLATING is ready to lubricate! Thus you know why the much-advertised harm of "dry starting" doesn't mean a thing with your engine OIL-PLATED. And you wouldn't expect any good plating to go flying off at Summer speeds, or to frizzle away in the Summer heat. Then expect the heat indicator to stay on the safe side, while the gauge-stick keeps saying, "Still full of Conoco Germ Processed oil!" That's why it's smart and thrifty today to have Your Mileage Merchant OIL PLATE YOUR ENGINE. Continental Oil Co.

Annual Home Coming Service Feature At Christian Church

Old Timers Are Honored Guests Here On Sunday

SPECIAL ENTERTAINMENT ENJOYED BY MEMBERS AND VISITORS

The annual home coming services were held at the Christian Church last Lord's Day. Following the regular Bible School and morning Worship Service, members and visitors assembled in the basement of the church to enjoy a basket dinner and to spend some time in fellowship.

The program was in charge of W. E. Dameron, Chairman of the Official Board. E. E. Ramsey called the roll of those members who in days gone by played a leading part in the life of the Church.

One of the most impressive features of the day was the Communion Service at which L. Gough and R. H. Norton served as elders. Their presence at the Lord's Table was a familiar scene to the older members of the congregation. The pastor preached on the theme, "A Colony of Heaven." A mixed quartet was composed of Mr. F. M. ### URGES DEFENSE

With war scares bobbing up all over the world, the United States must be assured a plentiful supply of "strategic minerals," Dr. John W. Finch, director of the bureau of mines, announced in a memorandum to the press. He urges a stockpiling program to help potential domestic industry to solve defense problems with respect to manganese (No. 1 "strategic mineral"), nickel, chromium, aluminum, antimony, tungsten, tin, mercury and mica.

ACE JUMPING FROG

"Zip," the prize hopping frog of 10-year-old Eddie Robinson of Jackson, Calif., showed plenty of zip at the historic Angels Camp Frog Jumping Jubilee in Calaveras county recently when it pounced out 10 feet 10 inches to set a new world's record. The jubilee honors Mark Twain, who wrote a story about a hopping frog and other figures of early days in the Mother Lode mining section.

Do You Get Your Share?

By T. C. Richardson, Secretary Texas Brooder-Feeder Ass'n. Americans eat an average of 189 pounds of meat per capita, both fresh and cured. Two-thirds of it is produced west of the Mississippi river and two-thirds of it is eaten east of the river. City people eat more fresh meat per capita than country people, and pay at retail something like three times the price per pound for which the producer sells it on foot. In other words, the farmer who raises meat can get it for about one-third the price of his city neighbor, yet eats less of it.

Fresh meat, milk and eggs are bone-and-muscle building foods, which are ready for human consumption where they are produced, without going to a factory for processing. By all the rules of reason producers might be expected to use them in the diet to the utmost extent of appetite and the demands of health. It is a queer mental quirk, therefore, which stints their use by those who produce them and they are looked upon mainly as something to sell, with which to buy less palatable and more expensive foods.

The other day, in a public meeting, a Texas man said there were 4,000 children in his county for whom milk, butter and cheese have to be imported. He might have added that the same children probably have fresh meat very seldom. The town children can have only what their parents are able to buy, at retail prices, but no farm child needs be denied these wholesome foods. On the average farm enough feed can be grown on a few acres to supply the family's meat and milk menu to repletion. On many farms enough grass goes to waste for want of animals to eat it at the right time to raise a flock of sheep or two or three beef animals.

The old-time "beef club" by which several families kept themselves in fresh meats the year round was an institution of the pioneer days, and is still used in some communities. Modern refrigeration permits a single family to kill a lamb or a calf at any time and use it as needed. The steam pressure canner has made it possible for any farm family to preserve meat at any time, after using as much as possible in fresh form.

The present crop plans call for the planting of more feed crops, and these feed crops must be fed to livestock. There is no restriction whatever on the production and use of all the dairy, meat and poultry products the family can use and many a cotton family has its first real opportunity to produce and use its full needs in these wholesome and delicious foods. There is no restriction on the sale of meat, poultry or eggs. These will be used to enhance the cash income.

If every farm family raised and ate its share of fresh meat the livestock population could be greatly increased without sending any more animals to market than are now sold annually. Let's get our share.

Safety Program Moves To Curb Road Accidents

"The Texas Highway Department has hit the safety trail in a well-planned program that promises to pay huge dividends as the years roll by," writes Charles E. Simons.

The program is something that was not gotten up overnight. Incidents already have occurred to prove the effectiveness of the plan along which the Department is working.

Passage by the legislature of a law authorizing the Highway Department to establish a system of workmen's compensation insurance for employees turned the spotlight on safety. It would be an unbalanced program, reasoned E. M. Belcher, director of the insurance division of the Highway Department, that did not give full recognition to preventing accidents through education.

"The insurance division is not motivated wholly by humanitarian principles. Safety is a matter of cold dollars and cents. An injured workman costs the Highway Department, and the taxpayers of the state, generally, money. Most of the men who work for the Department, including the county maintenance men, are skilled. In them the state has invested considerable money teaching them their jobs. If their services are denied the state through injuries, the state is losing its interest in this investment. In case of a fatal accident, this investment is wiped out. Experience in private industry has proved that a safe workman is an efficient workman and that if a man is working safely he also is working efficiently.

"The personnel safety program as outlined by Mr. Belcher has two prime objectives:

"1. The reduction of accident frequency and severity.

"2. Increase in the general efficiency of employees.

"To accomplish these objectives a plan has been developed with careful thought to make every employee of the Department, safety-conscious.

"Employees have entered wholeheartedly and enthusiastically on this program. Every department head in the Austin headquarters office, their assistants and key men have enrolled for the American Red Cross standard first aid course. Some of the division engineers have qualified as lay instructors in first aid and other division engineers are planning to take this course.

"The standard course in first aid has been made mandatory for all field employees and about one-half the field personnel already has taken the instructions. The remaining employees will be given the course as quickly as classes can be arranged and instructors obtained. When this work has been completed, the Department will have scattered throughout Texas more than 4,000 employees who know the rudiments of first aid and how to render emergency treatment. Classes are held at night and do not interfere with the normal routine of operations.

"These employees should be an important factor in reducing the horrible toll of life taken by the highways. Experts who have studied the safety question state that hundreds of lives are lost annually because of ignorance regarding the elements of emergency first aid. On the training and intelligence of the first person to arrive at a wreck often depends the lives of victims. If he is untrained he is apt to stand wringing his hands, or worse still, do something that harms, rather than helps.

drivers, when the instruction course has been completed, will be qualified to render first aid. In the normal course of operations, these vehicles travel thousands of miles annually. In the course of these travels, the operators will encounter many instances where they can render valuable assistance to a traveler who has been injured and who sorely needs first aid treatment. Thus will Highway Department employees become 'Good Samaritans of the Roads.'

"Two maintenance employees, G. T. Kellum and S. F. Salter, of Crane, were credited in official reports with saving a wreck victim's life after attending their first class. "Some private citizens, at their own request, have been permitted to participate in first aid instruction. If sufficient interest is manifested and the request made, the Department will provide lay instructors to teach first aid courses to the general public.

"If you can, arrange to attend one of these courses. One cannot help but be impressed. It is, however, a grim business. But death on the Highway also is a grim business and must be fought as such. The average citizen attending a first aid course is certain to become more safety-conscious, to realize the necessity of enlisting ing in the war against needless death and suffering. He also will obtain a knowledge that may save his own life or the life of some unfortunate victim. He also may become a 'Samaritan of the Highways.'

"More Than All The Gold Mines In The World"

"CREDIT" said Daniel Webster, "has done a thousand times more to enrich mankind than all the gold mines in the world."

Men, since the dawn of history, have endured privations, hardships and suffering in the feverish search for gold. Nations have fought for it.

Yet millions have found, through the proper use of credit, a quicker, surer means of advancement. For credit enables them to buy the things they need now, and to pay for them out of their earnings.

You may not be wealthy—but if you have a reputation for paying your bills promptly—you have something as valuable as gold itself!

"CREDIT" is worth more than Gold!

Development Of County Rests With People

GOOD, LIVE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CAN AID THIS SECTION

By Jimmie Gillentine
For a long time people in this country have been wanting to do something toward developing, advertising, and improving this area. Now it looks like we are going to get that chance. The Chamber of Commerce is planning big things for the coming year, and the first thing on the program is a general re-organization and expansion of the organization.

A big program is being planned, and the organization hopes to get farmers, clerks and business men in the C. of C. It is their belief that if the country is developed and advertised that land prices will rise, farmers will have better markets for their cream and other products — and that business will be more prosperous. If you favor forging ahead to the advantage of all, then join up with the C-C when the big drive opens.

A good example of what co-operation can do may be seen in the kinds of hats the manufacturers have the women of our country wearing today.

Hereford is no worse than the average small town, in fact, it is a lot better than most of them — in West Texas, at least. The basic trouble with a lot of small towns is that they get the idea they're licked before they get started good. It's the same thing that causes the small town newspaper editor to sit around and let people order their supplies from mail order houses that never saw and never want to see Hereford or any other small town.

There are a lot of things we need to do around Hereford. Yes Sir, a lot of things. For instance, there are 50 seniors graduating from our high school this year—29 girls and 21 boys. They are all fine, intelligent youngsters; boys and girls just brimming over with enthusiasm and pep. They all have a good high school education, and just about every single one of them would like to have a job this summer. To some of them, a job means college. To others it will mean a permanent means of livelihood.

As tax payers, we have made the education of these boys and girls possible. Maybe you feel that in this step you have done your part, but there is another way to look at this situation. If we let these boys and girls go into other towns or to cities, we are losing the possibility of getting greatest possible returns on the money we spent to educate them. In other words, we may be cheating them a little bit, but we are cheating ourselves a whole lot at the same time.

The other day a certain business man said that all of the graduates he talked to wanted to start at the top. It is only natural for youth to be ambitious, and I'll bet that every business man once had the same idea. Our graduates have to learn some time that it is better to start at the bottom and come up, than to start at the top and go down. That is one of the very reasons we should try to help them find work this summer.

Another pressing matter which we need to consider right now is Hereford's long-hoped-for federal building. Five other towns are working tooth-and-nail to be designated for this building. You may think politics will govern the designation of this federal building—and you are more or less right. The thing we need to do is get next to the thing which governs politics—and that is votes. There isn't an office holder in the country who won't pay some attention when the voters in his political division begin to clamor. Furthermore, congressmen, senators, and even presidents will prick up their ears when they begin to get penciled letters from farmers and working men.

Politicians expect letters from certain types of people, including newspapers and Chambers of Commerce. If 500 farmers and business men, would sit down and write about two letters, it would put Hereford in a mighty fine light for a post office building.

Then comes the subject of grasshoppers. I am getting mighty tired of hearing the word, and I guess a lot of other people are too, but if we don't get together and do something about these hoppers, we are going to hear a lot more

FOR FAMILY ALBUM?

Possession of a camera by a foreigner in Japan is almost tantamount to conviction of espionage, but things are different in United States possessions, as may be judged by this photograph which shows an official Japanese naval photographer shooting everything at sight during a visit of his ship to the harbor of Honolulu, Hawaii. He is using an efficient camera in a slightly fortified area, but maybe he just wants some snapshots for his family album.

ORCHIDS FOR MARION

Marion Talley, dainty star of the opera and radio, is planning to use her spare time to raise orchids at her home near Hollywood, Calif. It takes seven years to grow the costly flowers from seeds to blossoms, the price of which ranges from $4 upward. A full-grown orchid plant costs from $45 to $5,000, depending on the variety. Marion is shown examining an orchid, one of the variety she may have in her collection.

and get a lot, lot more troubled over the word. I believe the entire town of Hereford would close up for a whole day and go out and help the farmers fight these hoppers.

Ezra Norton is an old timer around here and has seen a lot of grasshoppers in his day, but I am willing to make him a bet. I'll personally bet Ezra a year's subscription to The Brand against a Buick that I can kill more hoppers than he will if the firms all close up, and wage a systematic war on these pests.

Poultry men had also better be thinking about the hoppers. Old timers say that back in '33 the country had a bumper crop of grasshoppers. The chickens had their fill of hoppers to such an extent that hens could hardly move around. This succulent diet increased egg production, too, but when the eggs were cooked it was found that the hopper taste and odor was in the eggs, rendering them useless for eating.

There are a lot of other things a good Chamber of Commerce could do for this county and town. Our cattle, agricultural products and our irrigation possibilities need to be publicized, and they need it in the worst way. This would make money for everyone from the farmer on down to the banker.

The above paragraphs may sound a little bit harsh to some of you, but they are not meant as criticism. We have one of the finest countries and little towns in America, and we need to boost it a little more. The Brand needs to be a little bit better newspaper, many of our merchants need to push a little bit more, and some of our farmers need to think and work a little bit harder.

Just think, here is this fine country with the only Rural Electrification lines in the entire Panhandle. Furthermore, here's a bit of news: the local REA office has applied for 33 miles of additional lines in the form of extensions, and prospects look mighty good for getting it. If the government has over $300,000 worth of faith in our country, we are bound to have something out here.

Fishing season officially opened Wednesday and a lot of people are down on the creek, taking advantage of another recreation which Hereford boasts—and one which should be publicized more.

Stop and think it over. Maybe we have a lot better country and a lot finer people out here than you ever before realized. Do you think we should do something about it? If you do, write The Brand office or tell Gus Streu or Harold Close or John Roberts, or some director of the Chamber of Commerce. They will be glad to have your suggestions, because they want to do what the people want most and need most.

Printing at Home
In a recent issue of The Shamrock Texan we read an article to the effect that the Wheeler County commissioners' court had voted to buy all their printing and office supplies from local firms. This order to buy all printing will mean some $2,500 to the two printing firms in the county—and who is more entitled to that printing than the local firms who are in a position to do more for their county than any other business in the county.

The columns in the newspapers reach and carry more weight than any other medium—local newspaper ers in the average small city say and do more towards urging people to trade at home than any other medium and a publisher is usually the first person to practice what he preaches.

Softball Holds Wide Interest In This Area

By Grant Fuller, Jr. May 25—Quelling a last-minute IOOF rally, the Sunday School took an 8 to 7 victory. The Sunday School was the first to score. They ran 2 runs across the plate in the third inning by virtue of four straight singles by Callahan, McCullough, Whitlow and R. Singletary. The IOOF took the lead in the fourth, however, when they scored 4 runs by taking advantage of the 8-8 moments of ragged playing. After scoring a lone tally in the fifth, the S-S rallied to bring in 5 runs. An error by Sowell in left field started the S-S off to their big inning. Covington and Boyer followed up with a single and triple, respectively. Ab Posey then singled to bring in Boyer. Renfro gained first base on a fielder's choice and both he and Posey came home on successive singles by McCullough and Whitlow to finish the scoring for the Sunday School. In the IOOF last chance, Young got on first by an error by Singletary and then went to third on the same play. Cockrell's long fly brought him in. Pearl Singletary pinch-hitting for Allison, flew out to first base. Arlie Dean, also pinch-hitting, singled and came on S-S errors. This rally was cut short when Foster flew out to Allred in left field.

May 31—A man on second and third, two men out, and three runs behind, but Callahan of the Sunday School flied to Cogdell in center field. Thus, the Lions came out on top of a 9 to 6 score over the S-S. The Lions led the Sunday School during the whole game. They scored 3 runs the first inning. Two errors each by Covington and Worley and singles by Emmons and Willoughby chased the three runs in. Four straight errors in the fifth inning gave the Lions another 3-run inning. The other scores were in the third and seventh. The S-S ran one across in the first and second, but their cluster of runs did not come till the last frame. Whitlow obtained first when Bateman missed his liner. Ab Posey gained a walk and then Covington singled to bring Whitlow, and advanced Posey to second. Jimmy Allred, next up, proceeded to drive one over the second baseman's head and between the left and center fielders, for a home run, driving in Posey and Covington before him. This ended the scoring for the Sunday School.

Texas Homes Are Improved With Better Kitchens

Kitchens have been made more attractive and housework has been made easier because of the improvements made by Northwest Texas Home Demonstration club members working under the supervision of county home demonstration agents.

A sink and running water have been installed in the kitchen of Mrs. R. Helms of Riverdale, Kent county—the first running water and sink ever to be installed in Riverdale. Mrs. Helms already had the 210-gallon metal tank which was placed on a platform just outside the kitchen wall. This filled from a cistern which is the only source of water. The waste water is run into a pit 18 inches deep, three feet wide, and six feet long. The pit is filled with gravel except for the top six inches which is sand.

"Remodeling my kitchen was hard work, but the inconvenience cannot compare with the pleasure of having a new kitchen to work in," says Mrs. J. V. Williams of Randall county. The room was made lighter by the addition of one window and the enlargement of another. A cabinet was built in, and water from the sink was piped out of the house. The kitchen was painted and papered and the linoleum was varnished and waxed. A new ice box was added, and other improvements were made.

Better ventilation was secured in the kitchen of Mrs. George Wesley of Foard county by moving the door from the north to the east wall and putting a window in the north wall. The kitchen woodwork and furnishings are being painted and further improvement is being made which will make the kitchen more attractive.

Water has been piped into the kitchen of Mrs. Clint Watts of Nolan county and a sink and built-in cabinets have been provided to modernize the room. The walls have been papered and the woodwork painted and new linoleum has been laid on the floor.

T-Anchor Boys Plan Reunion For August 25

CANYON—Plans for the annual Oldtime Cowpunchers Roundup of Each Other at the old T-Anchor ranch headquarters cabin near here on August 25, will be made at a committee meeting on the same date, June 16.

Judge L. Gough of Amarillo, who was here this week in conference with Prof. L. F. Sheffy, said the planning session would begin at 2:30 p. m. Among those who expected to be present are John Arnot and Harry Ingerton of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Christian of Claude, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Walker and J. W. Brady of Hereford, and Tom Dowlin, Ed Balrd and Isaiah Jenkins of Canyon.

The August roundup, which is restricted to oldtime cowboys and their families, will bring more than 200 persons back to the old T-Anchor range, which is a portion of the West Texas State College farm.

Athletes 5,000 Years Ago Found By Expedition

Today's athletes are still enjoying sports that were popular 5000 years ago, according to Dr. E. P. Speiser, leader of a University Museum of Pennsylvania expedition, which recently discovered Sumerian reliefs and bronze figurings showing wrestlers and boxers of that remote area.

The expedition spent one month at Khafaje, site of a Sumerian temple to the god of fertility, after devoting five months during the past season to continuing the excavation work at the mound of Tepe Gawra, 300 miles northwest of Khafaje in Mesopotamia.

With almost every spadeful of dirt removed from the Sumerian sites, Dr. Speiser declared on his return, these ancient people became more surprisingly "modern."

The most interesting "finds" at Khafaje this season, he said, are a stone relief of two boxers and an exquisitely cast bronze figurine of wrestlers, both found in the temple.

"Both objects are unusually well preserved and were discovered in a pit near the altar of the temple, thus indicating that the two sports formed an authorized part of religious ceremonies of that period," Dr. Speiser explained.

"Except for the fact that one of the men is bearded, there is little to show that the work was executed 5000 years ago. Both fighters are standing on their toes, with arms outstretched.

"In the figurine of the wrestlers the two contestants wear only narrow girdles around their waists. Their feet are planted firmly on the ground and the arms of each man encircle his opponents' waist as if an effort to force him out of position and bring him to the mat."

Messenger Club Enjoys Meeting

By Estelle Williams
"A parliamentarian does not rule until requested to do so by the president," quoted Mrs. J. T. Gunn, Council Delegate of the Messenger Home Demonstration Club, and then she must quote her authority—she never states an opinion.

"The evergreen windbreak at the Lubbock Experiment Station is twenty years old and twenty feet high. It had no more water than fell on the level plains but was cultivated so that no weeds ever competed with it for moisture. When possible contours and terraces can double the annual rainfall of a given plot," said the Home Demonstration agent. A club member mentioned the better growth of her elm trees below three cow trails to the water tank.

The Messenger Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Alta Wily on May 26.

Miss Estelle Williams was let alternate reporter, and Mrs. Louis Smith, parliamentarian. The Home Food Supply Demonstrator is Mrs. Alta Wily.

MODERN ANGLER COMPARED TO SPORTSMAN OF PREVIOUS YEARS

By Will J. Tucker
Executive Secretary, Game, Fish and Oyster Commission

When the first arc light was put in operation at the corner of the block in the small town where I grew to a realization of the wonders of the world, it was a signal of great progress and aroused much civic pride. It presaged the passing of the kerosene lamp. The light tender who scaled the high pole each morning to replace the carbon was a hero to all the boys of the community. He knew something about a mysterious new element. His morning round of pole climbing brought forth the neighborhood boys, eager to get the small pieces of carbon. He made a friend for life when he brought down the sometime slightly used carbon sticks, not trusting to breaking them by a throw to the ground, and with fine impartiality occasionally gave the smaller boys that which they could not have won in a wild scramble.

The lighted space provided by the arc light of forty years ago was the early evening rendezvous of the boys of the community. There were no automobiles and the street intersection was a fine place to play. It was the drill ground of our juvenile military company, imitating our elders who were getting ready for the Spanish-American War.

But I came to the arc light area many mornings for a purpose other than getting carbon sticks. I discovered that just about the time the dogwoods began to bloom the lights attracted a myriad of precious insects, many of which fell to the ground, and were there to be taken with little effort. It was there that I first began a serious study of practical entomology. I soon learned to gather only those bugs which fish liked best. The rarer ones I traded with those peculiar boys who were content with more bug collecting.

By this time you understand that the arc light was an important source of fish bait, and that in my estimation it was justified from that fact alone. It taught me early to know those bugs which the fish liked best. I developed into a "fly fisherman" without benefit of bamboo rod, or dressed line.

When the earlier electric development was in progress we did not see any other possible connection with fishing. But electricity is now so important in every day life that we are making every effort to provide it more cheaply. That is urging the erection of hydro-electric dams, and in many places these dams are capable of producing better fishing, if fish are given proper consideration as one of their important by-products. But I shall deal with that a little later.

Looking back over a life that had brought me to boyhood at the time the Maine was sunk, I find that I am inclined to view all progress in its bearing on wildlife. Perhaps that is as it should be. Too many are prone to forget that which makes life possible, pleasant or even endurable.

When I had to work in a printing office during vacations, the introduction of the Linotype was important in that it made it possible to get the paper out earlier, and thereby provided more time for fishing, swimming and hunting.

The first automobile appealed to me as a wonderful device for reaching the haunts of wildlife. All places in walking or horse distance had been explored long before there was any possibility of automobile ownership, so far as I was concerned. As a matter of fact, however, the first automobile in which I had a direct interest was purchased jointly by Harry Green and me. We pooled our financial resources and went into debt rather deeply so that we might explore some new hunting and fishing places—and get there while they were still good. We alarmingly foresaw that all good places soon would be completely exploited. Why, over some very bad pioneer roads (if you took along enough cold patches, spare parts, and extra inner tubes) one had reasonable assurance of getting as far away as a hundred miles in a couple of days. It was getting so you could purchase gasoline, if you had the money, in even some of the smaller towns.

We liked hunting and fishing, and we believed in the most up-to-date methods. Many years before I had seen the late Congressman Buchanan out with a casting rod and reel. Much to my surprise he was catching large-mouth black bass, which I then called trout, like most everybody else in the South. My silversides on a Sproat hook were doing fairly effective work. But immediately I liked the idea of moving about and going after the fish. It wasn't long before I had saved enough to buy a casting outfit and two lures. They were sure killers, maybe because fish didn't know much about lures in those days.

Finally we got out in the country of white waters, where you didn't see anybody in a day's fishing. We found that where the fish had been fished for least they struck or bit best. Most of the waters were good, unspoiled, but there were some places that were just naturally bad. Around the campfire of evenings we would speculate on the possibilities of reaching other fishing places on our next excursion—to beat the crowds there that were sure to come when more and more people bought automobiles. We did not even dream of the time when other pioneer anglers would try to find new fishing places from their airplanes. But that epoch in progress has long since been achieved.

Harry was down last week. He likes quiet lakes and streams. He thought I ought to know where to find such a place. We were willing to provide an automobile better than anyone dreamed of owning when we started fishing together. It didn't cost but about $800. You couldn't have bought one as good twenty years ago for $8,000, and it wouldn't have gone over the ruts of many roads of that time, even if one had owned such a grand automobile.

But I couldn't tell Harry about where to find any quiet lakes or streams, except a few private ones that after all have about them the atmosphere of artificiality. It was because almost everyone owns an automobile as good or better, and the State has spent millions of dollars building country roads better than our city sidewalks used to be.

Exploitation of fishing places no longer requires the endurance of pioneer hardships. You can buy your groceries on the banks of some of the favored fishing places, and if you have the habit of some fishermen, there you can get a few bottles of cold beer or the makings of a highball. You can sleep in screened enclosures, with all of the comforts of home, where we used to be content to sleep where the rattlesnakes and cottonmouths were not too numerous. If you are an early riser you can go a hundred miles before breakfast, put in a day fishing and return after supper and by normal bedtime.

But you won't catch as many fish as we used to catch in the same number of hours of fishing, even though you are aided and abetted by fishing tackle manufacturers who are thoroughly versed in fish psychology and by State and Federal fish culturists, who are trying to supplement the work of nature in keeping up with your demands.

But this is no apology for why it is so long between bites or strikes for the average fisherman. It is an effort to show what can be done to keep up with the reasonable demands of an increasing army of fishermen, if we use ordinary intelligence and pursue a course of good public policy.

If we are to provide better fishing we must consider all factors, and bring about such adjustments as are economically possible and that will be socially popular. It is a job that requires technical competency and the bulwark of public support that should come as a result of adequate information. We must approach this subject with an understanding that we are dealing with an important publicly controlled natural resource.

Perhaps we never will be able to bring all those conditions which my friend has enjoyed, but if you will follow through with me, we can provide him with a better fishing place before he joins Ike Walton and the other fishermen, where the wind is always from the South; where the fish are forever hungry; where the dogwood blooms at all seasons, and the waters are clear, cool and inviting during the perpetual twilight that casts its soft glow, in those regions of Heaven that are reserved for the most favored angels—the Anglers, who have never done worse than tell a fishing lie.

SIDELIGHTS

by MARVIN JONES
Member of Congress from Texas

In 1937, Texas and the other cotton states produced the largest cotton crop since cotton was first planted in America. The acreage was not the largest but the yield was uniformly high. As we already had a large carry-over of cotton, this situation presented a very grave problem.

Had it not been for the government 9-cent loan which was made available only on condition that a new program be formulated, last year's crop would perhaps have sold as low as 5 cents per pound. Some of the shorter staples might not have been saleable at all. Before the loan was broadened to include some of the shorter staple lengths, a bid of 3 1-2 cents per pound was made on a good bale of West Texas cotton. A day or two after the loan was broadened, this same cotton sold at 7 cents per pound.

Of course, no one could expect the government to make available a 9-cent loan on such a tremendous cotton crop unless some provision were made to protect the government.

Not only was the 9-cent loan made available, but an adjustment of 3 cents per pound on 65 per cent of the 1937 base production was also made available. Both of these, however, were conditioned on compliance with the 1938 program.

The new program contains some valuable provisions that are sometimes overlooked. Among them are the following:

1. A continuing soil conservation measure.
2. An effort to correct freight rate discriminations against agricultural products.
3. Added research provisions and the search for new uses and new markets for cotton both at home and abroad.
4. The use of a portion of the tariff collections on industrial commodities for the purpose of expanding and enlarging our export markets and widening the use and distribution of surplus commodities at home.

The 24-million bale supply of cotton which existed January 1, 1938, presented a problem that called for the best thought of everyone interested in cotton.

But for a program, not only would the 1937 crop probably have sold at a very low figure, but the 1938 crop might have sold for even less. This would mean utter ruin for the South. It would mean putting the cotton farmer in rags. It would practically destroy the business and industry of the South because the whole business fabric is woven around the cotton price. The truth is that the cotton farmer received much more for his 1937 crop and will receive much more for his 1938 crop than he would have received had no if, when allotments have been finally made, any farm is found to have been allotted less than 50 per cent of the acreage planted in 1937 plus 50 per cent of the acreage diverted in 1937 under the agricultural program, the allotment to such farm shall be automatically raised to such 50 per cent of the 1937 acreage plus the diverted acreage.

This simply forms a bottom so that any farmer may be assured an allotment not less than the percentage indicated in the above provision. In order to avoid abuses, it is provided that if a farmer plants in cotton more than forty per cent of all the land which he has in cultivation on his farm, he shall not have the advantage of this minimum.

While the new farm bill is not all that some of us desired, I believe it is a step in the right direction. Many of us are hoping that a better program may be fashioned in the light of experience and that improvements may be made as we go along.

The new program has been worked out with great difficulty and amid wide differences of opinion. Its success or failure will depend largely upon whether it has the backing and active support of those in whose interest it was enacted. It cannot succeed unless it has such support, no matter how much merit it may possess.

The farm movement is the most tremendous one in America. Its purpose is to place the farmer on an equality of income with other business. Whether the new Act will succeed can only be told by experience. But if it does not succeed, a new program must be adopted that will succeed. So long as we have a tariff, the farmer is entitled to a tariff equivalent. The movement must go on.

Diabetes Takes Annual Toll In Texas Past Year

AUSTIN, Texas—Diabetes, the price moderns pay for soft, luxurious living, took a toll of 600 lives in Texas last year, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"While the controllable diseases, such as typhoid fever, malaria, diphtheria and smallpox, are causing a smaller number of deaths each year in this country, diabetes, which was notably absent in the early pioneer days, is now taking a staggering number of lives," Doctor Cox said.

"Up until the highly mechanized age diabetes was not a health problem, but the disease became noticeable in direct ratio to the development of luxury living, soft eating, soft habits, and general disregard for basic hygienic laws evinced

WORKING WIVES

William J. Campbell, state director of the National Youth Administration for Illinois, who declared in a recent address that one-half of the 1,000,000 married women now working in the United States could give up their jobs without causing serious financial distress and provide a much-needed panacea for youth unemployment through the nation. Mr. Campbell explained that he was not referring to those married women who are the main wage earners of the family.

itself among the population. Diabetes is nature's back-slap at coddling and pampering the body," he said.

"Diabetes is a close disease, it appears. Certainly it seems to attack the indoor desk man more often than the outdoor person whose work is more vigorous or who takes more exercise. Whatever the actual cause of the development of the disease may be, vocation or economic conditions are factors, for those who can not indulge in luxurious living and whose occupation calls for physical effort are not frequently affected."

"There would be fewer victims of ravishing diabetes," Doctor Cox added, "if these who are indulging in soft, antinatural living would realize the folly of their ways. Especially middle aged persons and those beyond it should exercise care. Simple living, an annual physical examination, and, if already showing the results of indulgence, obtaining and abiding by the advice of the family physician, could drastically cut down the power of this disease and its threat to an alarming proportion of adult America."

During the last two months period, NYA youths assisting in the operation of the Nolan County Health Unit at Sweetwater have made health registration records for scholl children in the county, helped the county nurse in conducting vision tests in the public schools, and have recorded immunization test results.

Syphilis Cited As Texas Major Health Problem

AUSTIN, Texas—"The eradication of syphilis is today's major health problem and our children will hold us incompetent if we fail to control syphilis within this generation," said Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Since the inauguration of the national campaign, the public has been made aware of much of the truth about syphilis. While the vast importance of syphilis in general has been stressed, further emphasis needs to be placed on hereditary or prenatal syphilis, one of the most readily preventable types of the disease. Prenatal syphilis is an innocently contracted form, transmitted by an infected expectant mother to her unborn child. The disease in the child can be prevented in almost every instance, provided the mother receives proper treatment during pregnancy. Syphilis, in a sense, is chivalrous; it deals more kindly with woman than with men. The early signs of infection are usually not manifest in women; this is especially true during pregnancy. Blood tests, therefore, are all the more essential in the early recognition of syphilis in women.

It has been determined that syphilis affects approximately two to three and a half percent of the white children attending hospital clinics. People should appreciate also the fact that many cases of syphilis are contracted innocently, in marriage and before birth. Syphilis in itself, is not a disgrace. Disgrace lies rather in the failure of people to take advantage of modern medical science and in failure to assure an equal chance in the life for all of Texas' children.

To eradicate prenatal syphilis and thereby give the newborn child its rightful heritage of a sound mind and a sound body, health authorities urge observance of the following measures: (1) blood tests for syphilis, affecting both parties who contemplate marriage; (2) a blood test for syphilis on every expectant mother, and (3) through treatment if necessary for the benefit of both mother and child.

The tenth child of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Iantarelli of Harrison, N. Y., was registered in the office of the town clerk under the name of "Franklin Depression Iantarelli."

Gerald Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, sustained serious burns Sunday afternoon, when he spilled a pan of burning grease on his right arm. The accident occurred at the Smith home, while Mr. and Mrs. Smith were in Canyon. Gerald and Glenn, assisted by a group of neighborhood children, were frying doughnuts and decided to let the grease get extremely hot and then pour it on an ant bed. Gerald returned to the kitchen to find the grease blazing; he attempted to extinguish the fire and spilled the grease on his arm. His playmates carried him to the W. J. Smith home, from where he was rushed to the hospital. Although painful, his injuries were not considered critical.
