Around Town

Sights and Faces Seen

Coleman Wright, the postman, comes to the Brand Office to buy stamps. We hasten to add that the Brand is not cutting prices on Uncle Sam's business--the stamp desired was a rubber stamp.

The rains this week have turned up more raincoats than anyone would have believed existed a couple of months ago. Latest thing in rain protection was a new, waterproof handkerchief used by Mrs. Buford Farmer to cover her head.

Connie Robinson, former employee of the Star Theatre, is in town this week. Evidently, he likes the place--he thought enough of it to come back home to be married.

Forrest Hill and Dexter Schofield left today for Fort Bliss to enter the army.

The announcement of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel of his candidacy for the senate this week, reminded Mrs. Joe Sheppard of seeing the governor in action at a community sing in East Texas last summer. The governor's technique, according to (Continued on page 12)

Russell Signs With Philadelphia Eagles

L. B. Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Russell, and a star backfield man on the Hardin-Simmons football team for three years, last week signed a contract to play professional football with the Philadelphia Eagles next fall.

L. B. was one of the "Touchdown Twins" on Hardin-Simmons undefeated team last year, and his college record carried on a football tradition begun when he attended Hereford High School.

Commencement Speaker Quota Vote Is Urged On Every Wheat Grower

Wes Izzard, Amarillo newspaper man and radio commentator, who will deliver the commencement address at Hereford High School on May 30. Because of his large radio following and because of his reputation as one of the Panhandle's leading authorities on foreign affairs, Mr. Izzard is much in demand for speaking engagements.

Predicting that wheat prices will drop to 20 cents a bushel unless the proposed wheat marketing quota referendum is passed, A. R. Bateman, county agent, Wednesday night told a group of local farmers that every available vote in this territory will be needed if this community is to protect wheat prices. Voting will take place on Saturday, May 31, at four places in Deaf Smith County: Court House at Hereford, Dawn School, Ford School and Bippus Church. Voting will continue from 8:00 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday, May 31. "Every person whose name appears on a worksheet is entitled to vote," Mr. Bateman said. "The wheat grower does not have to be taking part in the government program. He merely has to be growing wheat on a tract of 15 or more acres with an estimated production of 200 bushels or more for 1941." Included in material presented was a map showing the number of wheat farmers east of the Mississippi River as compared with the growers west of the river. Ohio, for instance was listed with 126,000 wheat growers, while Texas had only 32,000 and Kansas, largest wheat producing state, had only 89,000 producers. "Present information indicates that 60 per cent of the growers east of the Mississippi will vote against the referendum," Mr. Bateman declared, pointing out that the small growers were interested in feeding their wheat and did not realize the importance to the farmers in the western areas. "This means that our farmers must vote around 95 per cent strong if (Continued on page 12)

Senior President

Hereford High Seniors Start Commencement Programs -- To Have Baccalaureate Sunday

Softball Starts Monday -- New Set Up Is Complete

Plans for the Hereford Softball League were completed at a meeting Wednesday afternoon, which carried-out plans started at the meeting of all softball players last Friday night. Play will start Monday night, May 26, promptly at nine o'clock, with the High School playing the Fireboys. The schedule until harvest time has been worked out; and at that time there will probably be a two week skip in the softball program, after which the schedule for the rest of the summer will be worked out by the managers and officers.

About 43 Hereford High School Seniors Sunday will start the round of commencement activities which will culminate with their graduation Friday night. Programs will include the Baccalaureate Sermon, Sunday night at 8:30 o'clock at the high school auditorium, with Rev. James Aiken, Jr., giving the address; a class night program organized by the students and scheduled for Thursday night at 8 o'clock and the commencement exercises which will be held at 8:30 o'clock Friday night.

Officers are the same as last year--H. A. Close, president, Onias Carroll, vice-president, and Kellar Mase, treasurer. Four teams will play in the league this year. They are the High School, Summerfield, Sinclair and the Hereford Fire Department. The Lions Club this year is sponsoring the High School.

Seventh Grade Graduation To Be Thursday

Seventh grade graduation exercises will be held at the high school auditorium, Thursday morning, May 29, at ten o'clock, it was announced this week by Knox Kinard, superintendent of the Hereford schools, Glenn Allison, principal of the grade school and A. J. Schepeter, county superintendent. There will be about 75 graduates from the Hereford schools and seven from the county schools to receive diplomas. The program will be as follows: Invocation by Rev. James Aiken, Jr.; "Springtime"--Rubenstein, by the class; "La Golondrina"--Serradell, Charles Cooper; "Twenty Years From Now"--Lonidene Martin; "Warming Up March"--Weber, Seventh Grade Band; "We Sail the Ocean Blue"--Gilbert and Sullivan, Seventh Grade Boys Chorus; address by Judge A. J. Schroeter; presentation of diplomas and special awards by L. L. LeGrand and benediction by Rev. James Aiken, Jr.

Haile Drug Has Installed New Display System

Haile Drug this week completed installation of a new "Super-Structure" display system throughout the entire store. The new displays, which are just now being adopted by stores in the nation's larger cities, feature open-face display of thousands of items above counter height. Attractive in appearance, the new display system covers the entire store, including the food department. It affords many advantages to the customer, according to Meade Haile, owner, who points out: "Through these modern displays the customer can see clearly and plainly the items which he wishes to purchase. We can make more effective use of our space, and thus can carry an even larger stock of merchandise than ever before--and because merchandise is plainly marked, along with quality labels, the customer can easily and quickly see our current prices. Also, our merchandise is more conveniently arranged, allowing us to serve customers quicker."

Wes Izzard of Amarillo, writer on the Amarillo News and radio commentator popular with Panhandle audiences, will deliver the commencement address. Mr. Izzard's subject has not been announced, but he will probably talk on some phase of the world situation as it may affect the lives of the high school graduates.

HONOR STUDENTS

Honor students of the class of 1941 are Wilma Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Higgins of Progressive, valedictorian and June Dameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dameron, salutatorian. The ranking students are chosen from the first five highest in the class, based on scholarship and work in extra-curricular activities. Both Miss Higgins and Miss Dameron have excellent scholastic records and both have been active in FMT work. Miss Higgins was also on this year's debate team for the high school.

CLASS OFFICERS

Most of the officers of this year's senior class are the same students who were class officers of the group in their junior year in high school, Nell Spradley, president; June Dameron and Calvin Brunley representatives to the student council and Maggie Miller, business manager, all held similar positions in the junior class last year. Vesta Mae Landers is the class secretary.

Miss Spradley has been drum major of the Whiteface Band for three years and has played tennis in the interscholastic league meets. She was voted this spring as the "Best All-Around Girl" in Hereford High School, and was chosen to represent the school in the citizenship contest (Continued on Page 12)

Rains Of Nearly Six Inches Have Fallen In May

Rain totaling 2.91 inches had fallen in Hereford this week, bringing the total for the month to 5.65 inches. Reports from the rural communities including only rain which had fallen by early Tuesday morning, were as follows: Summerfield, 1.4 inches; Westway, 1.1-4; Dawn, 1; Friona, 1; Wyche, 2; Progressive, 1. As these reports were about the same as Hereford's rainfall (1.06 inches) on Tuesday morning, and as indications are that the rains have been general (Continued on page 12)

State Fire Chief Conducts Program Tuesday Night

Firemen of Hereford, together with visitors from the Dimmitt and Friona Fire Departments, Tuesday night met at the club house for a meeting under the direction of State Fire Chief Frank Williams.

Mr. Williams travels over Texas each year, showing moving pictures which are made each summer at the school for volunteer firemen held at College Station. He also gives a lecture in explanation of the film.

John Patton, local fire chief, said that the meeting Tuesday night emphasized the work done at College Station in the testing of chemicals, hose connections, motor pumps and other types of fire fighting equipment.

Refreshments were served to the firemen and the Dimmitt and Friona visitors.

Free Show Postponed Till Saturday Morning

Because the picnic for rural school children has been postponed as a result of the rains, Manager Speck Lunaford of the Star Theatre announces that the free show for kids, previously scheduled for Friday morning will now be held on Saturday Morning. Time will be 10:30 o'clock.

Vogue To Feature New Sports Clothes

Mrs. C. W. Seed and E. D. Fox of the Vogue have returned this week from Dallas, where they have been attending market. The market at this season of the year features sports clothes, slacks and play suits almost exclusively, and Mrs. Seed bought a number of attractive lines which are now on display at her store.

Report On Crop Prospect Is Optimistic

The Hereford Territory is looking forward to a good year as far as crops are concerned--and this despite the fact that winds in the early spring threatened to destroy the wheat crop. At present, reports from rural communities indicate that wheat yields will be much higher on an average than any for the past several years and that the row crop this year will be larger than any this territory has seen in recent times. Also, the potato acreage is much larger than last year, and crops new to commercial raising in this territory will be grown.

Quotations from the Brand's rural correspondents carry out this optimistic note almost uniformly. From Jumbo, Mrs. Uilman Hunter writes that "the community has the best prospects for crops of all kinds in years." Mrs. C. W. Wimberley of Dawn reports that crop prospects are "considered very fine," and Mrs. Merlin Paul of Westway says that row crop prospects are splendid and that wheat yields over the entire community will probably average six bushels an acre. Mrs. Jim Clark of Summerfield finds that crop prospects are the best in several years and goes on to report one farmer, L. L. Cannon, as saying that "Wheat prospects are the best in over 20 years" and that "grass is the best I have ever seen in this section."

In most sections, farmers admit the damage from wind to have been heavy but point out that good yields on harvested wheat will help to counteract this damage. At Summerfield, E. A. Atchley seems to express the general opinion, when he estimates a yield of about 20 bushels per acre on wheat that will harvest, with about 50 per cent of the acreage damaged by wind.

At Westway, the wheat harvest will be spotted, with estimates ranging from 25 bushels down. Best dry land wheat at Westway is at the Buren Sowell farm, which received a rain last fall which did not extend over much of the rest of the community. E. M. Houser also has good dry land wheat, which was not sowed until after the ice storm in November. Irrigated wheat is good at the farms of Clarence Morrison, Lloyd Bourne, Grady Wilson, John Kolka and Jack Earp.

At Dawn, individual estimates of crops blown out ranged from 10 to 30 per cent, with an average of perhaps 15 per cent. The average yield estimated is about 25 bushels. A. T. Frye, secretary of the Pure Seed Growers Association at Dawn, reports a total of 371 acres of certified wheat.

H. H. Miller of Dawn thinks that crops "taking everything in general look better at this date than at any time since 1926." Mr. Miller estimates that his wheat will make 25 bushels. Carl Luke reports worm damage to his crop, as slight and estimates a harvest of 20 to 25 bushels. Reporting wheat conditions on the Troy Womble farms, Baker Womble says, "Our wheat will yield 25 bushels on an average."

At Jumbo, Clem Gilliam and Burgess have an excellent wheat crop which may yield as much as 40 to 50 bushels an acre. There has been some hail damage; J. Wilder and E. E. Leasure report a loss of 35 per cent of their crops, and M. L. Simpson reporting some damage. So good are the dry land crops in this community that there is no distinction between them and the irrigated ones--in fact, in most cases, the dry land acreage is better.

Row Crops Best Yet

Rains in most parts of this territory early Tuesday morning improved an already fine row crop prospect, coming as they did after many farmers had put out their crops and improving moisture for others. In most communities, the estimates run on a row crop acreage somewhat higher than last year's because other crops have been planted on land where the wheat blew out. From Dawn comes the word that "row crop acreage will range considerably higher south of the railroad, where the wheat is practically all blown out" and L. A. Smith expressed a general opinion when he says that row crop conditions "are perfect." Lester Galley reports about the same acreage to row crop as he had last year, as does H. H. Miller, Jim White has 700 acres of row crop and 450 acres of barley and oats. Mr. White thinks that there will be "more row crop and less sudan" this year. A. T. Frye has 130 acres of barley. From Jumbo it is reported that nearly all farms have crops of alfalfa which are almost ready for cutting.

Potato Industry Growing

With an estimated 5000 acres planted in potatoes over the entire county, information from many communities tells of development in this industry. At Dawn, there are 221 acres of potatoes. New potato growers in that community this year are Sewell Cox of Claude, Ernest Hardeman and H. C. Wahl (Idaho men who are working with the Wombles and G. Aubrey Wimberley). Potatoes are being grown again this year on the Wimberley farms, with a total of 190 acres reported by William, Carl and C. Aubrey Wimberley.

Potato growers at Jumbo are Bob Peak, F. J. Axe, Clyde and Lee Renfro, Edwin Mauk and Severance. Most farmers in this community look forward to good potato yields and good prices. At Summerfield Idaho men on some of the Joe Evans land have about 800 acres in potatoes; and Shorty Upton is experimenting with 150 acres of dry land potatoes.

New Crops

Onions are being grown commercially on a much more extensive scale than they were last year, and from Dawn comes interesting information about the experimental planting of 120 acres of beans and an acre of carrots on the Womble farms. This development, though not yet a proved benefit, may point the way to further diversification in the Hereford shallow water belt.

From all communities news emphasizes the expectation of fine gardens and fruit yields, and though early damage by winds and some present threat by worms and rust keep the wheat prospects from being uniformly bright, the harvest at Hereford this year, considering row crops, potatoes and other crops gives promise of being the best in many years.

Methodist Church Sets Church School Date

The annual vacation church school will be held at the Methodist church beginning June 9 and continuing for two weeks, and all children six to fifteen years of age are invited.

Mrs. Henry Williamson, superintendent, in announcing the school, explained that departments for beginners, primaries, Juniors and intermediates will be offered. She recalled that last year a number of children from other churches attended the school and hopes that they will continue to be interested this year. A good corps of workers is being enlisted, and every provision is being made to make this one of the most attractive schools ever conducted by the local church.

Rev. M. B. Norwood, Methodist pastor, points out the advantage of the vacation church school in giving much more intensive training than is possible in the regular church school and requests the cooperation of parents in the movement.

SMALLEST MOTOR

Three thousand revolutions per minute and a consumption of five one-thousandth watt are attained by the smallest electrical motor in the world, no bigger than a match head, recently exhibited in Zurich, Switzerland.

Let's Cook Something

Here is an old family recipe, and a most delightful variation of the usual rhubarb desserts. It's high in favor and rich in flavor, and a whole meal may be planned around its substantial goodness. Just remember that vegetables, especially green leafy ones, play an important role in the main course of meals planned around the dessert.

Mrs. Carl Mountz gives you this recipe for Rhubarb Shortcake, and, aside from its palatability, the fact that it is easily and simply prepared should recommend the dish for trial. Here it is:

RHUBARB SHORTCAKE

- 1 1-2 cups flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1-2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 eggs (well beaten)
- 2-3 cup milk
- 1-2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1-3 cup melted butter

Combine the dry ingredients and add to the milk, butter and eggs which have already been blended together. Bake in layers in moderate oven.

Rhubarb Mixture

- 3 cups diced, fresh rhubarb (do not peel)
- 6 tablespoons water
- 1 1-2 cups sugar
- 1 1-2 tablespoons flour
- Pinch of salt
- 3-tablespoons butter.

Pour the water over the rhubarb and allow to come to a boil. Add the rest of the ingredients except the butter and cook until thickened. Just before removing from the fire add the butter.

Place the rhubarb mixture between the layers of the shortcake and cut in squares, then top each serving with a mound of whipped cream.

SEEDS of ADVICE

from The Garden Club

"How To Fill In Gaps in the Border and Flowerbed" Written For The Garden Club by Mrs. R. E. McCullough.

In many gardens there is just one thing which stands in the way of all-summer effectiveness and that is the lack of space for masses of summer and later-blooming flowers. This is true because an unreasonable amount of room has been taken up with early blooming material. To correct this some of the spring flowers must be removed to make room for the later flowers but a definite plan of action must be followed if the desired results are obtained. Just as a leading lady of the stage must have adequate support, just so in the orchestra of the garden many plants must play minor parts. Some for the color combinations, some—just as fill-ins and some for the successive bloom of the season.

Each actor carefully limits the hours of service and few contribute more than two weeks to the great show of the hardy border. Therefore it is just as important for the gardener as it is for the author to plan his characters, his scenes, the arranging of scenery, costumes etc. to forestall any weak moment. The gardener must forestall any lag of bloom to keep gaps out of the garden. Dozens of ways can be planned for keeping blooms going and by keeping in mind the few principles which underlie all the arts of design and color, the garden will suggest a finished canvas rather than a plant museum.

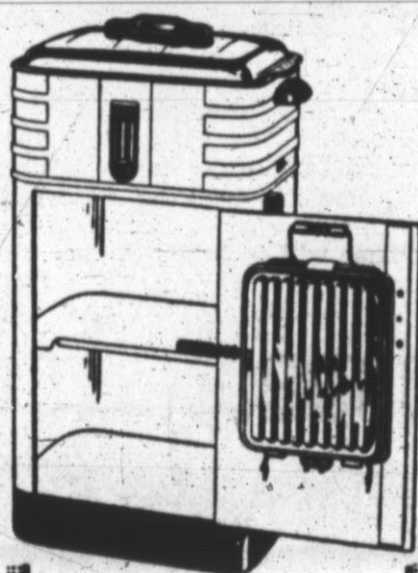

Choice among these filler-ins are the annual phlox in multi-colors, either in beds or borders, and the perennial phlox in varied colors. Use plenty of day lilies and Japanese Iris. They are at their best when planted in masses but a few groups in the border will pep up late June when the tall Bearded Iris and Siberian Iris have passed. With Japanese anemone planted just behind the lovely statice, backed by Artemisia Silver King, there's little left to be desired in the way of color. Quantities of English daisies and the hardy yellow aster, and blue salvia in the midst of white daisies, should not be overlooked as replenishers. Foxglove and Canterbury Bells are excellent replenishers too and they thrive best when set in permanent places in September. If Foxglove is banked up in late fall or tied up like heads of lettuce so that moisture cannot get into the crown, the plants will come on rapidly in the spring and be on hand to tide over an otherwise difficult gap. Nothing can take the place of Blue Delphinium and last but not least the hardy chrysanthemum must not be overlooked with the Amellamum as a starter for the Chrysanthemum season.

For the gaps that come through disease of inferior plants, try white phlox in a bed of day lilies or the white daisy with a few clumps of blue salvia. In filling gaps with different kinds of flowers use clove that will harmonize rather than those that will take away from the color effect. And as the garden's general appearance all season long depends on the health of the plants, it is not possible to emphasize too strongly the necessity of healthy foliage to each plant in order to carry on effectively the processes of growth. Don't wait until things begin to look wrong before taking precaution methods of preventing disease. With the advance of summer insects become more numerous and disease spores begin to float seeking new hosts. Don't spray for insects unless they are there but the rule for disease is to spray before it arrives.

Tech Student Keeps Lady Resident In His Dormitory Room

LUBBOCK—It may be surprising, but Charles Aves of Houston, sophomore geology student at Texas Tech, keeps a lady resident in his room at one of the men's dorms. Her name is Agnes.

Agnes is only a seven-foot garter snake, who was sent from the swamplands of Florida.

"She's as gentle as a house cat," he declares. Charlie and his roommate state that her propensity for learning new tricks is amazing. They have taught her to sleep in a box and to go walking on a leash.

Affectionately wrapping her seven feet of glistening coils around her owner, she curls up complacently with her head on his shoulder, flicking her long forked tongue constantly. She is allowed the freedom of the whole room, but her favorite location is on a sunny window sill where she can lie and bask in warm spring sunshine.

Only three times has Agnes had a flare of temper, states Aves. Once while curled up amid the springs of her owner's bed for a quiet snooze, she was sat upon by an unsuspecting caller—but not for long. Agnes has aspirations to become a hermit, her owner believes. Once she tried to "get away from it all" by crawling between a bookshelf and the wall. Not responding to gentle tugs on her tail, she seized the wall with her scales and held fast. Finally she was hauled out, tearing her scales badly and was very spiteful and irritated young lady for several days.

The reptile's natural habitat is a wet, marshy swamp, and during the past rainy season, she was allowed the freedom of splashing around in a pool behind the dormitory. She liked the mud so well that Aves had quite a difficult time catching her when it was time to bring her in, and when he did it was under vigorous protest.

The tragedy of the situation is that Agnes is destined to be pickled. Not the kind of pickling sometimes seen on college campuses, but preserved in formaldehyde and put on display in West Texas museum.

ONE BULLET EQUALS TWO DEER

P. B. Gerhart, a mechanic of Canadian, Texas, saved plenty of ammunition during the last hunting season, according to a belated report reaching the Texas Game Department. Mr. Gerhart and Sheriff Rathjain went hunting on December 16. Gerhart got out of the car at a persimmon patch on the Hartage Ranch near Canadian. When he was within 100 yards of the thicket he saw a large buck looking at him. He fired. Imagine his surprise when he reached the buck, a seven-pointer, to see another buck stretched out just a few feet from the one at which he had aimed. Gerhart had seen only one buck, yet he had gotten his season's legal limit with one shot. The seven-pointer had been shot through the neck and the four-pointer through the head. The hunter was using a 30-0-6. The bullet nearly tore the head off the second deer it hit.

Reporter Misses Out On A Lot Of "Reasons" -- Decides, Too Late, That Movies Are Your Best Entertainment

And the moral to this story is—the picture show is your best entertainment. As some ghouls are sure to tell you if you happen to be the poor unfortunate whose name is called for a lot of "reasons"—and you are spending a quiet evening at home with a good book. And who ever said anything good about reading anyway? It's a nasty habit, to be discouraged in children and a cause for strong measures when indulged in by adults.

Of course, after your name is called your friends and well-wishers will let you know. In my personal experience, they were kind enough to let the poor fool get one more happy night's rest, but I have been told by others who suffered the same fate, that kind persons kept calling up to tell them the happy news. There are three main types of commenters on your bad luck. There are the "grim accusers", who fix you with a baleful eye and ask why weren't you there—just as though you were engaged in un-speakable practices when the lucky number was called. Then there are the sincere sympathizers who mean well and make you feel even more unhappy about the whole thing. And then, there are also the oafs who treat the situation as the ultimate in good clean fun. This is the same type who would howl with laughter if granny fell into the fire and burned to death by degrees. They bring up thoughts of arsenic without old lace to the mind of the mildest victim.

Of course, you can hide and skulk down alleys and avoid some of the sympathizers, but sooner or later you will meet them and will have to grin philosophically at their condolences.

And the worst part of it is, no matter how fed up you get with the human race generally, you are still convinced that you, in person, are the prize dope of the human race. There was a poem in American literature about "Miniver Cheevy", who wept that he was ever born—and he had reasons! Well as the literature comes back to me now, Miniver was a lazy guy and his fate, which he was bemoaning so loudly, was his own darn fault—but here are you a blameless

MRS. ULLMAN HUNTER

School closed Friday and in the evening at the school building the children with the help of their teacher, Mr. Thruston, presented a program in the form of a radio presentation. The microphone was lettered JBC, Jumbo's Broadcasting Company, and the program came from Jumbo's Radio City, with Charles Wilder as master of ceremonies and Mr. Thruston director of the company. The school children were the radio stars, and each contributed a part to the program. Three "stars", James Layman, LaRue Hicks and Norma Hunter were awarded diplomas by their director, Mr. Thruston, for their seven years of satisfactory work with the company. Norma Hunter, as Madame I. Q. gave pieces of candy to various ones in the audience who answered her questions on Texas History correctly. Her assistants were Sammie Lane Hunter, Beulah Layman, Lila Merle Gage. The pupils in Mrs. Frazier's room gave a separate program appropriate to Mother's Day and vacation time.

citizen, leading a quiet life, not bothering anybody—and fate—or something—hauls off and hits you a dirty blow like this. And you begin to wonder how you would look in a cute little ensemble of sack cloth and ashes.

And were you the guy who used to think that Longfellow was a lousy poet when he said that "life is real and life is earnest?" Well, the poetry may have been putrid, but boy, was it true—How true, how sad, etc.

So I have lost my girlish laughter—and I never did have a happy disposition anyway. I may look normal, I may even smile again, but my sweet childish faith is gone forever, and my theme song from here on out is "Everything Happens to Me."

Each Day's Weather Is Individual Package

Ohio's weather detectives in the Muskingum Climatic Research Laboratory at New Philadelphia said that amateurs here been making wrong weather predictions for 4,000 years.

The New Philadelphia weather research staff say that each day's weather is an individual package that has no effect on any succeeding day or group of days.

The weather reports made through the centuries were based on observations in small areas without any checks by instruments and without written records that would permit comparisons from year to year. The result was that all the weather lore handed down from generation to generation was about 50 per cent wrong and 50 per cent right, as would have been the case if the prophets had made plain guesses.

The moon has lost all its magic as a weather control since instruments and records have permitted accurate appraisals of its effect on climatic conditions. However, hundreds of thousands of people still consider the moon changes as a decisive factor to be considered in planting crops.

The old-timer who wrote, "When the dew is on the grass, rain will never come to pass," hit the target right near the center. Dew forms under conditions which are unfavorable for the formulation of rain clouds so umbrellas can be left home safely.

TEXAS OUT-O-DOORS

AUSTIN. — Beaver planted in East Texas after being trapped in West Texas are doing well, so well, in fact, that it is possible that should the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission be able to continue trapping and transplanting those busy little dam beavers it may be possible to have an open season on them within five years, according to a report from a game manager to the executive secretary of the Department there.

Beaver are fairly abundant in parts of West Texas, but there is not sufficient suitable habitat for them there. The Game Department and the wildlife research unit at College Station, a Game Department co-operative agency, trapped a few beavers two years ago. Last season the Game Department trapped more and plan additional activities next winter.

ILLEGAL SEINERS HARD HIT

Fishermen using illegal nets, seines and fishtraps have been hard hit by the Texas Game Department wardens of late, reports reaching the executive secretary here indicate. One group of wardens in East Texas traveled almost the entire length of a river and took out more than 100 illegal seines and raps. Another group found a trap constructed of poultry wire placed in a large bayou. It was so large that no fish were able to travel past it. Illegal catching of fish in seines, traps and nets destroy tens of thousands of which would make excellent sport for the man with a rod and reel or pole and line.

HAWK WAS VERY HUNGRY

A hawk which was so hungry it would not give up its prey, a mocking bird it had killed, until it had been fired at three times by a state game warden using a shotgun, is reported to the Austin office from South Texas. The warden and his captain were patrolling when they saw the hawk flying into an oak mott with a bird in its talons. The warden captain walked into the mott, fired two shots at the hawk. One was a hit, but the hawk flew to another mott. The captain followed, peppered the hawk with another load of shot and it was only then that the hawk gave up its prey. The hawk was a sharpshinned.

Most hawks are considered beneficial, killing many rodents. However, four hawks are not protected by state laws in Texas. They are Cooper hawk or blue darter, sharpshinned, goshawk and duck-hawk.

GADGET GUESSES WEATHER

If an ultra-modern device, now in use by the United States weather bureau, comes up to expectations, the word, "probably" in weather forecasts will become almost extinct and weather conditions for a week ahead will be forecast with accuracy. The new gadget is called "radiosonde." It was developed by the bureau of standards, weighs two pounds and is attached to a balloon from five to six feet in diameter. The device can reach an elevation of 70,000 feet. In the air, the machine transmits radio signals picked up at weather bureau stations on the ground and from these signals, men who listen, can tell by their sound and frequency just what the air pressure, temperature and humidity is at the altitude from which the automatic device is broadcasting.

THE RECORD Facts That Concern You No. 29 of a Series

It's always the SORE thumb that sticks out...

Odd, isn't it—the way everybody notices the sore thumb?

It's the same way with the retailing of beer. Everybody knows about the one undesirable place...everybody seems to forget about the thousands of worthwhile retailers who operate clean, decent, law-abiding establishments.

To protect the good name of beer, we of the beer industry want the few... but noticeable... "black sheep" retailers eliminated.

That's not all. Such retailers endanger an industry that brings important economic benefits to the community. Right here in Texas beer provides employment for 31,165 persons, supports an annual payroll of $22,076,182 and contributed $2,273,968.64 last year in state taxes.

This state, too, has an important stake in the beer industry—purchases—for materials, equipment, and services—from more than 100 other industries.

You can help us protect these benefits in two ways—by (1) patronizing only the law-abiding places where beer is sold and (2) by reporting any irregularities you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

Oklahoma Woman, 110, Has Been "Bit By Snakes and Mad Dogs" Married Six Times--Admits She's Tough

SAPULA, Okla.—If "Aunt Lizzie" Deever wasn't in bed with influenza, she'd be celebrating her one hundred tenth birthday on Thursday by walking down a church aisle—a bride for the tenth time.

The bright-eyed, witty little Sapulan, feeling "fresh as a flapper" and itching to be up and about, admitted she was in love again, this time with John Knight, a 77-year-old neighbor.

"I'm just a fast-steppin', giddy girl," she said. "We're goin' to get married soon as I'm able to get up and cook."

Aunt Lizzie's father was full-blood Cherokee Indian. Her mother was Irish and Dutch.

"That's the meanest mixture they is," she commented. "That's why I'm so tough. Man, I've been snake bit six times, been bit by a mad dog once, had nine husbands and I'm still here."

She walked with the Cherokees over the "Trail of Tears" to Oklahoma and is still mad at the palefaces because "they wouldn't let us stop and bury my poor old grandmother" who died on the trail.

She smokes a pipe and uses snuff but when offered a cigaret, she shook her head.

"No sir, I don't smoke them things, and I don't like to see any women do that at all. Me, I like snuff and I don't just dip it, I eat it."

She lives in a three-room home at the edge of town with her son, Henry Pinkman, who will be eligible for an old age pension in two years. She hasn't heard from her 11 other children in many years.

Mention of the war in Europe makes Aunt Lizzie's eyes blaze.

"They're comin' over here, shore as shootin'," she said. "When they get to Sapula, I'm agoin' to git in it. Why, I could shoot the hat off your head and never touch you."

Aunt Lizzie doesn't believe in divorce. She outlived all her husbands and expects to live longer than her father, who died at 115.

Wood Carving Is Hung In Local Post Office

A large wood carving, titled "On the Range," and depicting a group of cowhands resting at the end of the day's work, was hung over the door to the postmaster's office at the Hereford Post Office last Friday.

In the foreground, the figure on the left is playing a guitar while the man on the right plays a mouth organ. Two other figures are listening to the music, one lying on the ground, his arm rested on a saddle, and the other leaning against his horse. At the far right, a whiteface cow lowers its head toward a water hole and at the right background is a tall cactus, typical of the west, though not of this particular section.

The carving is done in white pine and is painted with water colors, over which polish has been applied, and is an effective representative of the woodcarver's art.

Miss Enid Bell, the artist, is an Englishwoman who has spent most of her life in this country and who has studied in both England and America. Since 1929 she has been a teacher of art. She is the author of a book, published last year, entitled, "Practical Wood Carving Projects." Miss Bell now lives in Santa Fe, N. M., and is working on western themes.

Quota Vote

we are to offset the eastern vote and keep the wheat loan," Mr. Bateman continued.

He also gave several examples showing where farmer income in this area will fall below half of that at the present time if the program is not continued. "Silent Partners" were urged to get their names on worksheets, along with listed producers, since every person whose name appears on a worksheet is entitled to vote.

Full realization of the importance of the proposed referendum has come to most persons in this area as a shock. As most persons already know, Congress has recently passed a bill which established the wheat value here at approximately 96 cents per bushel. If the new marketing quota does not pass, the government cannot make any loans to the world price of wheat, or below. The world price of wheat is now 40 cents a bushel and with the billion and one-half bushel carry-over in this country it would likely be much lower.

Wheat Marketing Quotas will not reduce the 1941 acreage allotment, or any future acreage allotment, to individual farmers. Because of the present high surplus of wheat, there will undoubtedly be a reduction in wheat acreage allotments for 1942, however, this reduction will have to be made regardless of whether wheat marketing quotas are passed or rejected. If Marketing Quotas are rejected, it is reasonable to expect that there will be a still greater reduction in the future allotments since here will be no control of production on non-co-operating farms without marketing quotas.

Every wheat farmer who planted wheat for 1941 and whose estimated production of wheat is in excess of 200 bushels has a vote in the coming referendum. It is highly important that every farmer who does have a vote go to the polls and vote.

defense industry, opposition to the retention of Mrs. Frances Perkins as secretary of labor, and favoring the lowering of the age limit for the draft. Mr. Roberts, in discussing the defense situation, compared our position to that of France, which lagged in industrial output until the Maginot Line had been crushed. Judge Nelson listed as the "Foundations of Civilization," the land, the home, education, the church, economics and politics. He pointed out the interplay of all these factors in making up the American system, and as the climax of his speech, emphasized that all these factors as we know them, are endangered by the new values which are sweeping the world under the title of "New Order."

About 250 persons heard Judge

Nelson's speech and praise was uniform for the skill and clarity with which he presented the issues and the choices facing America today.

Some Herefordites, who like their art realistic, are questioning the accuracy of that tall cactus at the right of the new plaque in the post office. That kind of cactus looks good in the picture, but it doesn't grow here; they say.

over the entire Panhandle, the reports from most of the communities by Thursday morning would probably be 2 inches or more.

Rainfall in Hereford is nearly 5.4 inches greater than the total for May at this time last year.

Tierra Blanca Creek was running Wednesday night, but had not run over its banks. However, indications were that Buffalo Lake, which filled to the halfway mark, with rains earlier in the month would probably rise higher than it has at any time since the construction of the dam.

Moisture slowed up the planting of row crops, but greatly improved the prospects for the biggest row crop in the history of Deaf Smith County. Some farmers fear rust damage to wheat, and the rains have brought hail to some parts of the Panhandle, but none has been reported in the Hereford territory.
