Highlights Of Past 12 Months

HEADLINES FROM BRAND RECORD HAPPENINGS PAST 12 MONTHS

While the world faced news of floods, possible war, persecution of the Jews, and America saw a year of heated politics, Deaf Smith County and the Hereford territory, often excited over world events, saw among its greatest developments the coming of electricity to its farm homes during the past 12 months.

Realized after a campaign of several years, REA power became a reality for irrigation and domestic use. Equally important was the fact that wind erosion was reported to have been partially curbed through conservation methods—and scores of Washington officials visited this area to view the accomplishment. Another point of encouragement came with the allocation of $75,000 for a post office building in Hereford.

Politics, state and county, also demanded considerable interest during 1938, recording the election of five new county officials—and hundreds of persons viewed and heard President Roosevelt when he appeared in Amarillo.

Just as a merchant takes inventory at the end of the year, the following headlines have been taken from the files of The Brand in order that residents of this community may view a few of the happenings. Mingled with the good news will be found glimpses of sad occasions, the passing of pioneers and friends. Some of the happenings are recorded in the following chronology of 1938:

JANUARY

All previous records on postal receipts reported smashed with $17,175.92 reported here for 1937. Agents' office busy tabulating 1,000 applications for farm benefit payments.

David Walser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Walser, was born Jan. 3, being the first 1938 baby born in this county.

Irrigation envelopes, picturing advantages offered by this country, were being distributed; the final quantity reached 50,000.

A. R. Papp was named chairman of Roosevelt's annual birthday party.

The Band Parents' Association published a City Directory for Hereford and the trade territory.

Deaf Smith County joined in a West Texas-Eastern New Mexico police radio chain.

The L. R. Brudly home place, a historic point, was sold to Jack Frost of Happy.

Lions Club members, a protest of brothers, ceased throwing biscuits and started a club sewing circle.

A survey showed that 42,296 books were loaned through the (Continued on Page 10)

The couple came to Texas in 1900, and in 1905 moved to the Panhandle, locating near Memphis in Hall County, where they engaged in farming for 23 years until they moved to Hereford in 1929.

Since that time they have made their home here, Mr. Moore being engaged in the oil business and operating a tourist camp on the outskirts of Hereford.

On July 21, Mr. and Mrs. Moore observed the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary (which occurred Nov. 22, 1938) because all of their children and their wives and husbands were present.

J. H. Wilson Funeral Held Here Jan. 4

PIONEER RESIDENT AND JUSTICE OF PEACE DIES TUESDAY

Funeral services for J. H. Wilson, 77-year-old Deaf Smith pioneer and veteran Justice of the Peace, were held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 4, from the First Christian Church in Hereford, conducted by Rev. Roy C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Christian Church in Amarillo.

"Uncle Henry," as he was popularly known over the entire community, died suddenly at his home in Hereford as the result of a heart attack Tuesday morning. He came to town Tuesday morning and was "feeling fine," but about 9:30 returned to his home and complained of being weak. His death occurred around 10:30 o'clock.

His death came within 24 hours after he had taken the oath of office, beginning his 17th consecutive year as Justice of the Peace. He was born Dec. 9, 1861, in Collin County, Texas, and on Dec. 3, 1938, observed the occasion of his 77th birthday and his 57th wedding anniversary, having married on his birthday.

In 1902, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson moved from Collin County to Deaf Smith County and operated a ranch four miles north of Hereford for three years before moving to Hereford. Mr. Wilson was always interested in cattle and continued dealing in livestock even after he moved to town. He served for several years as Hide and Animal Inspector.

In December, 1922, he took the oath of office as Justice of the Peace, and has held the office consecutively for the past 16 years. He was again elected to the post in 1938 and took the oath of office Monday—less than 24 hours prior to his death—starting his 17th consecutive term.

To enumerate "Uncle Henry's" friends would be to practically name the citizenship of the county, for despite his age he was active until the time of his death and was probably as widely known as any man in this section. His popularity is attested by the fact that he was elected to office so many consecutive times, and his friends were found in all walks of life, young and old.

"Uncle Henry" was a devout member of the First Christian Church of Hereford, having joined the church when he was a young man. He was an early member of the local church and was active (Continued on Page 7)

Irrigation Farmers To Discuss Crops At Saturday Meet

Roberson Dies Here Thursday

PIONEER RESIDENT OF THIS COUNTY BURIED HERE SATURDAY

Funeral services for J. P. Roberson, 78-year-old pioneer of Deaf Smith County, were held from the First Baptist Church in Hereford, at 8 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Dec. 31, conducted by Rev. W. E. Barnes, pastor.

Mr. Roberson died at his home here Thursday night, Dec. 29, following an illness of three days, and at the time of his death was 78 years and eight months of age.

Although Mr. Roberson has resided in the outskirts of Hereford since 1914, the greater part of his residence in Deaf Smith County was spent in Summerfield, and the history of the Roberson family is parallel with that of the Summerfield community. J. P. Roberson was born April 19, 1860, in Mississippi, and came with his parents to Texas in 1869. On Dec. 4, 1884, he married Miss Mollie King in Ellis County.

In 1901, J. P. Roberson, with the T. W. Roberson (his father) family, moved to the Summerfield community, located in Deaf Smith County adjoining the Farmer County line.

His arrival in this area came shortly after Hereford was founded, and about the time the county seat was being removed from Old LaPlata to Hereford. Much of the land in this area at that time belonged to the XIT outfit, and few fences marked the landscape. The story of his life in this area is typical of the pioneer families which came west and saw virgin grass lands become cultivated as small homesteads grew into thriving business centers. There were privations, extreme cold, prairie fires and other hardships which had to be overcome.

Among other things, Mr. Roberson held the contract for plowing the railroad fire guard from Farwell to Amarillo, and during his entire residence in this county has been considered a staunch citizen. He was in a large measure responsible for the founding and growth (Continued on Page 10)

EXCHANGE OF METHODS, IDEAS AND PROFITS TO BE DISCUSSED

Discussion of common problems, possibility of new crops and the exchange of ideas on irrigation farming methods will form the chief points of discussion at a meeting of all irrigation farmers of this area when they gather in the district courtroom here Saturday afternoon, Jan. 7, at 2:30 o'clock.

"The meeting has been called upon general demand of farmers of this section, who believe that by exchanging ideas and comparing results they can benefit their incomes from irrigated farming," said A. R. Bateman, county agent. "I merely sent out notices of the meeting as a duty of the local office, and I am glad to see the farmers take the lead in this movement."

Mr. Bateman pointed out that any accomplishments through the meeting will be due to the local farmers, but said that his office and the Hereford Chamber of Commerce will co-operate with the movement and will offer all possible assistance.

To Get Speakers
Following the meeting next Saturday, it is hoped to determine what crops the farmers of this area are most interested in and to later invite speakers who have had actual experience in growing the proposed crops.

Immediate ideas are also expected to come from the meeting. For instance, one farmer may have successfully irrigated potatoes, pop corn or tomatoes, while another secured poor yields from the same crops. By meeting and talking over methods, it is hoped that farmers (Continued on Page 7)

Dr. Hendrix Has Modern Clinic On Sixth Street

Dr. J. W. Hendrix' Chiropractic Clinic, located at 301 West Sixth Street, is the outgrowth of 13 consecutive years in Hereford and is today recognized as one of the most modern and complete clinics of its type between here and Los Angeles, Calif.

After graduating from Carver Chiropractic College, Dr. Hendrix practiced in Abilene, Texas, for more than a year, and in 1925 established his offices in Hereford. Since that time his practice has increased from year to year.

Dr. Hendrix bases his practice upon two distinct theories, one of which is continued study and post graduate work. Through this means, he keeps abreast with advancement in his line and learns of scientific achievements which aids in diagnosis and elimination of different ailments. His other theory is that he does not take patients, unless he feels that he can benefit them—and frequently he refers certain types of cases, which need different attention, to the physician or the M. D.

During recent years, Dr. Hendrix has done post-graduate work in Denver, New York City, Oklahoma City and under special instructors from St. Louis, Mo. Through his general training and post-graduate work Dr. Hendrix has surrounded himself with new types of scientific equipment to assist in his work—and resulting in the establishment of his present clinic.

The clinic is located in a modern eight-room house, offering complete facilities of reception room, dressing rooms, offices and consulting rooms for different ailments. Included in his equipment at the present time is a large X-Ray machine, which makes from small dental plates to complete spine-length pictures; this machine is used chiefly for diagnosis. The Terpezone machine is of the inhaler type and is used for respiratory ailments by use of a detoxifier. The short-wave machine is used to stimulate nerves, relax muscles and result in better circulation. The sine wave machine is designed for eye, ear, nose and throat complications, and for rectal disorders. Infra-Red or heat lamps are employed to secure quick relaxation of superficial tissue, and colon therapy is designed to restore general health.

Assisting in the clinic are Miss Elnora Zinke, graduate nurse, and Mrs. N. L. Cress, receptionist.

"Pete" Goes To Town

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

While back Walter Peterson of Justin, Texas, was asked by the local vocational teacher to tell the local F. F. A. class something about his experience. "Pete" has regularly topped the Christmas beef market in Fort Worth for a good many years, which is "going to town" in a big way. He and his brother raise Shorthorns and feed them out on their own oats, corn, sorghums, etc., and cottonseed meal for which they "swap" their own cottonseed.

These figures are quoted from memory and may not be exact, but are accurate enough for practical purposes. "Pete" read from his records without any oratorical frills, about as follows: For ten years he has fattened an average of seven-and-a-half calves per year, they weighed an average of 900 pounds, and sold for an average of ten cents, or $90 a head. Prices in that ten years ranged from as low as six to as high as fourteen cents.

Several valuable points are implied if not expressed. First, Walter and his brother kept good cattle, raised good calves and fattened some every year regardless of price. Second, fat cattle could always be sold for some price, carrying a great deal of grass and feed that either could not have been sold at all or would have sold cheaply at harvest time.

Third, the price variation was as wide as even cotton or wheat, but they did not go in and out on its ups and downs. Result, an average for the ten years shows a good market for the feed they ate. Fourth, they are not "big" farmers or "big" feeders. A good many people think less than a carload of beef is too little to monkey with. The Peterson boys don't; a truck-load a year has brought them an average of about $675 more net than ten bales of cotton would have averaged for the same period.

Assuming that they had the average number and the average weight in the six-cent year, "Pete" had only $405 to show, or $54 a head. Doubtless he "lost money" according to a strict book keeping account; but he sold some feed and some time that would have otherwise brought nothing, and

Born in U. S., No Longer a Citizen

Returning to the United States from Siberia, Mrs. Pauline Kim, a Jewish woman born in Brooklyn and former teacher at Staten Island, learned from immigration authorities that she and her four-year-old son can stay here only six months. Eight years ago she married Herbert Kim, a Korean student at Columbia university, and lost her citizenship. He took her to China, and then to Siberia. He is being held in a Russian concentration camp as an "economic spy." Mrs. Kim is now a Chinese citizen.

$405 is more than ten bales of cotton is bringing now. In the good year, however his returns for the same weight in beef would have been $945 the equivalent of more than a dozen bales of cotton at 15 cents.

Many a Southwestern farm this year has enough feed to fatten from one to ten calves or yearlings, and it is more profitable to feed two or three right than to merely warm up a carload. Few will make the profits or get the prices the Petersons do, for they are old hands at the game and don't have to buy the calves to feed, but if Southwestern farmers whose cotton or wheat acreage has been reduced go into the raising and feeding of livestock and poultry with as much interest and stick to it with as much persistence as they have shown in planting cash crops regardless of price variations, they will find that feed crops properly used in a long-time rotation system pay as much per acre and per hour of time as cotton.

No expert in Washington or at the State College of Agriculture, much less the author of these periodical comments, is competent to set up a detailed program for any particular farm or farmer. But the principles of good farm management are universal, and in their final analysis may be reduced to intelligent and complete utilization of labor and land. Bulletins on farm organization and planning may be had on request from State colleges of agriculture and the U. S. D. A., and will be helpful, but at last the farmer himself per baps with the assistance of his county agent, vocational teacher, or the farm management specialist from his State Extension Service, must work out the reorganization of his farm right on the ground. It is not too late to begin.

Joe Shay, Refugio county ranchman, took out a $5,000 fire insurance policy on his 300 acre field of corn, which is located near a pasture along the highway. The 60 day coverage cost $16.

PLAX — What is it?

Off The Dole, on the Payroll

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

Last week we discussed the folly of keeping livestock and poultry "on the dole" — just enough feed to keep them alive. Everyone will agree that they don't pay until they are on the payroll, which means placing them on a producing ration. Thinking of the farm as a factory turning raw materials into the livestock may be considered both as machines and as labor. As machines they transform materials into new forms; as labor they do part of the work for themselves.

As machines they must have all the raw materials for which they have the capacity; as labor they must work regularly at the job if they are to pay a manufacturing profit to the owner. It is the owner's job to see that the raw material is supplied as needed in the proper combinations, in productive quantities, and at regular hours so that there will be no idle time for the machines and laborers.

If it takes twenty-five pounds of feed daily to keep a cow giving a gallon of milk she must have more feed to produce two gallons, and still more for three gallons. Authorities estimate that twenty five-pound hens can get along on seven pounds of digestible nutrients a day, but it will require nine pounds for the same twenty hens in full laying. Since no feed is totally digestible this means that allowance must be made for the indigestible waste materials in the feed, which varies widely in different feeding materials. Production for sale, whether of eggs or milk, comes from the surplus of feed above a living ration.

The substance of this theme is to take the animals and fowls off the dole and put them on the payroll. The quicker the feed is turned into a saleable product the better the chance of profits — always with the reservation that the ration is properly balanced for the purpose it is intended, and that it shall be supplied at the rate at which it will be most efficiently utilized.

It is a common saying that "a fat hen won't lay," but it is certain that a poor one can't lay. The fat hen theory is putting the cart before the horse — the hen gets fat because she isn't laying, and therefore turns her food into fat instead of into eggs. This may be her own fault (lack of laying capacity) but it is just as likely to be because the feed she gets is better adapted to fattening than to egg production.

Now is a good time to start the light-weight turkeys on full feed for the Christmas market. Ross M. Sherwood, Chief of the Poultry Husbandry Division, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, quotes a man who has handled a great many turkeys as saying that "my records show that the profit in turkey raising is almost in direct proportion to the size of the birds."

In other words — costs about the same to raise a small framed turkey to the finishing period as a large one, and the latter has a larger capacity for putting on edible meat. Since a pound of turkey is practically always worth more than the several pounds of feed required to make it, the bird which will use the most feed in the finishing period is the best market for the feed.

Whatever the size of the skeleton, it is only the fat turkey which will bring the top market price.

DINNER PARTY IS NEW YEAR CELEBRATION

A lovely dinner party as a New Year celebration proved a happy combination for L. A. E. Club members, when husbands entertained in their honor Monday night at Foster's Cafe.

The menu for the quail dinner featured the rewards in a recent hunt participated in by Mr. Dean. The long table lighted by tall blue tapers, was centered by a mirror placque, which reflected smaller blue tapers and silver bells and balls that suggested the seasonal celebration.

Place cards depicted flying birds against a grey sky background with blue lakes in the distance. The club colors, pink and white, were carried out in ice cream squares which completed the three-course dinner.

After the dinner, those attending were guests of Mr. John Roberts to see "The Valley of the Giants" at the Star Theatre.

Guests included Mesdames and Mesdames Jim Lipscomb, Robert Veigel, Wiley Robertson, Jack Dean, T. P. McCollister, Jim Higgins, Bob Higgins, Bill Hutson and Arlie Dean.

BANKING LOOKS AHEAD!

THERE IS NO
More Human Place
THAN A BANK!

In spite of the large amount of business it much complete in a day, and in spite of its usual marble and metal, brick or stone appearance, the average bank is an exceedingly human place.

Bank accounts are storehouses of hopes, ambitions and safeguards. Checking facilities are more than conveniences — necessities, in fact — to going businesses and to those individuals whose health or occupation makes it impossible for them to get around to pay bills in person. Safe deposit boxes alone could tell a powerful story of treasured keepsakes, memories, homes protected by insurance.

All in all, a bank is closely mingled with the lives of the men and women who make it their financial home. This bank is one where you are as welcome as in your own home.
