

Quiet covers Beirut

By G.G. LABELLE
Associated Press Writer
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U.S. military helicopters flew civilians from Beirut to warships off the coast today, and Moslem militiamen skirmished with Lebanese army soldiers across the "green line" dividing east and west Beirut.

But except for scattered shooting, Beirut was relatively quiet after a week of heavy fighting that saw Moslem militias take over west Beirut and defeat the Lebanese army. And on Wednesday, shells from the huge guns of the battleship New Jersey thundered over the city as the American ships pounded rebel-held hills beyond the capital.

With the government of President Amin Gemayel weakened by the fighting, efforts were underway to evacuate British civilians and South Korea ordered the immediate evacuation of its embassy.

Civilians transported

Syrian-supported opposition leaders consulted in Damascus with Syrian President Hafez Assad as continued to maintain public silence.

The 1,400 U.S. Marines at Beirut airport, buoyed by President Reagan's announcement Tuesday that they will gradually be redeployed to American ships offshore, remained at their posts.

"We're hanging in here, awaiting orders," said Marine spokesman Maj. Dennis Brooks.

The U.S. Navy sent reconnaissance flights over the capital and neighboring hills at daybreak, apparently to survey damage from Wednesday's shelling — the heaviest American naval bombardment of targets in Lebanon — Beirut radio stations said.

Navy ship off the coast. Italy ordered a gradual withdrawal of its 1,400 troops assigned to the multinational force, while the 1,240 French soldiers in Lebanon dug in at their positions and halted patrols of their area.

Although order appeared to be returning to west Beirut, four U.S. helicopters were seen soaring off from the barricaded seafront boulevard in front of U.S. and British embassy offices with groups of civilians, including some children.

The number of the evacuees could not be determined, and U.S. Embassy press secretary John Stewart refused to talk to reporters. About 90 American civilians were evacuated to U.S. warships off Beirut during the two previous days and then flown to Cyprus.

Assad, the Soviet Union's closest Middle East ally, today met in Damascus with former Lebanese President Suleiman Franjeh.

Polishing the Act

Hereford High School students rehearsed this week for the all-school musical presentation of "Heidi", set for 7:30 p.m. Saturday and 2:00 p.m. Sunday at HHS Auditorium. Going over the picnic scene are (from left) Kim Claypool, who plays Guscha; Karen Friemel, Clara; Alan Morris, Peter; Chris Crowley, Herr Franz; and Becky Ruland, who portrays Heidi.

Food security program described

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

A National Food and Fiber Security Program developed by the Grain Sorghum Producers Association was presented to area board members during a noon meeting Wednesday in Hereford.

Executive Director Elbert Harp of Abernathy told a group of about 20 local farmers and agribusinessmen that the program is being outlined at district meetings in Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico to give members a chance to comment before the program is introduced to legislators this year. The GSPA will be represented when the 1985 Farm Bill is developed.

At sorghum conference

The association is asking that a national production goal be established by the Secretary of Agriculture for each basic food and fiber commodity each year. Harp explained that goal would be the estimated consumption (domestic and export), plus a national security reserve, with any carryover from the previous years subtracted from that amount.

The plan also suggests establishing a normal cropland acreage, which would be determined for each farm and on a national level by taking a five-year average of basic crop average, including PIK and ARP acreage.

A farm commodity base acreage to remain constant except when exchanged by the farmer for another commodity base acreage was also suggested, along with a national commodity quota and national commodity security prices.

Under terms of the suggested commodity security prices outline, purchases or sales of farm commodities would not be permitted at prices below the security price determined for a particular region by the USDA. Exceptions would be made for grades below normal trading quality.

The association is also calling for commodity loans to be made to producers in a fashion that would eliminate administration costs by the government and enable farmers to follow an orderly marketing program.

In conclusion, the National Food and Fiber Security Program presented Wednesday says that export of agricultural products is essential to the balance of trade and the general economy of the United States.

Hearing to commence today

A hearing was scheduled to begin today concerning a suit filed more than three years ago by migrant and seasonal farm workers against Barrett-Fisher Company of Hereford.

Plaintiffs claim the vegetable packing and shipping company violated two farm labor acts and did not pay contracted wages. They felt Barrett-Fisher acted as a farm labor contractor when the workers were recruited, hired and furnished for a fee by the firm.

Barrett-Fisher, in response, said it had not acted as a farm labor contractor as defined by the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act (FLCRA).

The case is to be heard in U.S. District Court in Amarillo.

Firemen answer 24 alarms

Hereford Volunteer Firemen responded to 24 alarms last month, one fewer than they handled the previous month and six more than in January, 1983.

There were also 19 inspections conducted, eight of which were in homes and the rest in businesses. Only nine inspections were made in December.

Of the 24 alarms, 14 originated within city limits. Only one of the other 10 did not come from Deaf Smith County. Four of the five house fires resulted in significant damage.

Hospital entering home care business

Prompted by failure of state agency

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

When the Home Health Agency of Texas, Inc. suddenly went out of business late last year, Deaf Smith General Hospital rallied to form its own treatment service for homebound elders in need of health care.

Licensed just last week by the Texas Department of Health, the DSGH agency already has five full-time staffers along with two therapists on call. Its director projected 50 visits would be made this week to care for 11 to 13 individuals. Doris Morgan also said the service "will be entirely self-supporting" thanks to 90-95 percent reimbursement from Medicare.

She explained problems with Medicare payments were what caused the HHA, centered in Seymour, to shut down operations Dec. 23. Hereford had served as one of four regional offices, handling 13 counties. Combined, it and the Amarillo office provided home health care for the entire Panhandle.

HHA offices were not informed of the surprise closing until Dec. 21, Morgan said, which gave them just 48 hours notice. Home care director of DSGH, she immediately contacted Hospital Administrator James Bullard. A staff meeting the following day resulted in tentative approval for DSGH to provide its own health care services.

Morgan was placed in charge of the project, designed to primarily serve those on Medicare. It is also accepting other insurance and private payments. She anticipates Medicaid reimbursements will soon be approved, too.

The main requirements for patients are they be homebound and need only intermittent care. Frequently, Morgan explained, they will have recently checked out of the hospital. They must also be under the care of a physician who has approved home health care treatment.

Morgan and Donna Gerber-Charanza head the five-person, full-time agency staff as registered nurses (RNs). Among other things, they handle initial visits, do intravenous therapy, draw blood for laboratory tests and teach new diabetes patients how to give themselves injections.

Lucille Lindeman, as a licensed vocational nurse (LVN), gives some medicine, teaches and provides some observation and evaluation data. The home health aid, Lou Morrison does bathing and other personal services. Kay HanSard serves as admissions clerk.

Speech and physical therapists are on call for assistance, while a respiratory therapist is available for consultation and emergency treatment. Within a week, the agency should add a medical-social worker to its ranks, Morgan said.

"This is certainly not a program that replaces physicians' care in any way," Morgan said. "A lot of our patients have closer relationships with doctors than with other people."

Five counties are served by the agency, including Castro, Deaf Smith, Oldham and Parmer. "I think probably the only difference in the care," said Morgan, trying to explain how her new service compares with the defunct HHA, "will be a greater continuity because of our relationship with the hospital." Access to the DSGH staff, she said, should be a big bonus.

The old Hereford HHA office had 15 employees, including the five now on Deaf Smith Health Care Service. Additional staff members may be needed, Morgan said, should the program grow to have an anticipated 50 patients and 100 weekly visits.

Home Care Recipient

Cecil Williams, a former Hereford Brand staff member, is one of several local people receiving care from the recently-formed Deaf Smith Health Care Service. She described the agency, headquartered at Deaf Smith General Hospital, as "the best thing that ever happened to Hereford...I don't know how I'd get along without it."

Oil important for Mexico

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Mexico needs to start capitalizing on the "liquidity" of its lucrative oil resources if the country is to survive its long-term economic crisis, an economist says.

Continued sacrifices by the country's working class and an infusion of foreign capital also could straighten out Mexico's financial tailspin, said Dr. Edmundo Flores.

"Having oil means liquidity, credit and a chance for recovery," said Flores, who served as economic adviser to former Mexico president Luis Echeverria.

"In our case, there is hope," he said Wednesday. "I don't think there is hope for some other countries."

Flores addressed a special seminar of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association that concerned relations between Mexico and the United States.

Cop killer gets death sentence

RICHMOND, Texas (AP) — Eliseo Moreno, sentenced to death for killing a state trooper, will have the decision appealed as a matter of routine and still may face capital murder charges for the slaying of a College Station couple, the prosecutor who won the conviction says.

Moreno, 24, from Donna in the Rio Grande Valley, was sent to the Texas death row on Wednesday by a Fort Bend County jury which deliberated less than 90 minutes. The same jury took 2½ hours Monday before finding him guilty of capital murder in the Oct. 11 slaying of rookie Department of Public Safety Officer Russell Boyd.

Boyd, 25, was one of six people allegedly killed by Moreno in a 160-mile crime spree that night across southeast Texas.

Defense ready to start case

GEORGETOWN, Texas (AP) — It's the defense's turn in the Gene Jones murder trial, but her lawyers won't give any hints about how they'll try to show jurors that the nurse is not the baby-killer the state says she is.

"The only thing we've got on our side is the element of surprise," said Patty Jones, an aide to court-appointed defense lawyer Jim Brookshire.

The trial was to resume today after a one-day break intended to let the defense prepare its response to the state's 14-day, 44-witness case.

Ms. Jones is charged in the Sept. 17, 1982, death of Chelsea McClellan, a 15-month-old girl who went limp and died after two injections from the nurse at a Kerrville doctor's office.

Recession warnings sounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recession warnings are suddenly being sounded by the government's top economic officials, scarcely a week after President Reagan presented his new budget forecasting years of prosperity.

No imminent dangers, the officials said in congressional testimony on Wednesday. But their talk of deficits and a new national downturn was a far cry from the words of revival the administration had been emphasizing only days earlier.

The new talk, coupled with renewed strife in Lebanon, was scary enough to wrench the stock market to its steepest dive in 15 months.

The day's first alarm came from Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volcker, who told the Senate Banking Committee that failing to reduce government red ink from the $180 billion or more a year forecast by the administration was like playing "Russian roulette."

Executives want common sense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon should use common sense, rather than a long list of specific guidelines, in deciding how to deal with the media on future military operations, according to three news organizations who complained about the blackout on the Grenada invasion.

A Pentagon panel that will recommend a media policy to the Joint Chiefs of Staff was told Wednesday by The New York Times, The Washington Post, and The Associated Press that the pre-Grenada policy of permitting reporters to accompany U.S. troops should be reinstated.

Seymour Topping, managing editor of The New York Times, told the panel that "in general, we have not had great problems with the Pentagon" before Grenada.

Benjamin Bradlee, executive editor of The Washington Post, agreed. "The pre-Grenada rules worked well," he said.

Keith Fuller, president and general manager of The Associated Press, told the panel that "we didn't have any difficulties with the military before Grenada."

Steel believed not dangerous

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The level of radioactivity in tons of contaminated steel manufactured by a Chihuahua steel plant and shipped to the United States poses no danger to people, the Mexican Nuclear Safety Commission says.

Even so, the steelmakers still are concerned about the effects of the radioactive isotope cobalt 60 contamination and Mexican Customs officials are holding up steel shipments from the Chihuahua area to the United States until contamination effects are determined.

The Mexican officials said Wednesday that one of the reasons for halting the shipments is that U.S. Customs agents are being extremely stringent in their examinations of steel shipments coming from the Chihuahua area.

Gunmen take over air office

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Masked gunmen today stormed the main offices of Turkey's national airline in central Athens, trapping employees inside, police said.

There was no immediate word of how many gunmen or employees were in the offices of the airline Turk Hava Yolari, nor was it known what the gunmen wanted.

Earlier, three bombs shook downtown Athens and a nearby suburb, destroying a public telephone booth and a newspaper stand. Police said two people were injured by flying debris.

It was not known if the explosions and the storming of the airline office were connected.

The telephone booth and the newspaper stand were close to the National Museum, which houses some of the rarest treasures of the ancient Greek world.

Paul Harvey News

We are seeing an increasing number of ads in magazines offering Asian women as brides for American men.

Mail order marriages are not new. During America's frontier days, before the Civil War, settlers in remote outposts chose brides sight-unseen from professional marriage brokers.

The practice waned in popularity after that — until the women's liberation movement of the 1960s.

Suddenly there were a dozen different services offering long-distance courtship.

Today there are fifty rival services.

With all of the beautiful young women in the United States, why would any man look elsewhere for a bride?

The Wall Street Journal asked around and found "an increasing number of American men feel that American women are too competitive and are not likely to fulfill the role of wife and mother."

A high percentage of the men who seek Asian brides are middle-aged or older, disillusioned and divorced.

A few younger men confess feeling ill-at-ease with assertive Western women.

The one place in the world where subservient women are available is the Philippines. The catalogues of available Asian women list mostly Filipino girls and women, ages 15 to 60.

The Journal finds statistics inconclusive. While the number of visas issued to Asians coming to the United States has multiplied in recent years, there is no accurate count of how many are responding to a mail-order courtship.

K-1 visas specifically require marriage to an American within 90 days. Last year 3,428 of those were issued, a hundred times more than ten years ago.

Subscribers to one of these matchmaking services may pay as little as $5 for a single referral to as much as $360. The latter contract gets the client's name and likeness listed in Asian newspapers and brings him names and snapshots of women from all over Asia.

Some of the catalogues are cheaply produced, tawdry, containing thinly-veiled enticement.

Quote: "My name mean yellow fruit which taste very sweet."

There's no way to backtrack on how many unions are exploitative.

The Journal found one Filipino professional woman arrived in the United States to discover her husband-to-be was a California podiatrist; already married and planning to keep her as a mistress.

A retired patent attorney from Virginia explained his interest: "American women put themselves on a pedestal, are neglecting us men. It's the same thing as when Detroit keeps turning out bad products; you turn to the Japanese."

End quote.

Pentagon closes probe of bombing

By TIM AHERN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has closed its investigation of the Oct. 23 suicide attack on Marine headquarters in Beirut without strong criticism of any military commanders, although some officers will receive mild disciplinary letters.

"Non-punitive letters of instruction" will go to an unspecified number of officers whose names won't be made public because of the federal Privacy Act, Navy Secretary John Lehman said in a statement issued Wednesday.

A special Defense Department commission that investigated the attack issued a report on Dec. 28 that singled out two Marine officers — Col. Timothy Geraghty and Lt. Col. Larry Gerlach.

Geraghty commanded the Marine unit which was bombed and Gerlach was its battalion landing team commander. A total of 241 U.S. servicemen died in the massacre.

No officers in the higher levels of the command chain will be punished, according to the Pentagon statement issued Wednesday evening.

The earlier commission report had faulted the entire chain of command in addition to singling out the two Marines.

The Pentagon statement also promised to study ways to better protect troops against terrorists, improve intelligence and review medical care. All three steps also had been urged by the commission.

The non-punitive letters are among the mildest options open to Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger after President Reagan ruled out legal action Dec. 27.

"I do not believe ... men who have already suffered quite enough should be punished for not fully" being aware of the threat from terrorists, Reagan said.

The letters will not remain permanently in the career files of the men who receive them, said Pentagon officials who spoke only on condition they remain anonymous. Stern disciplinary letters could have damaged, or ended, the careers of their recipients.

The October attack prompted widespread calls for withdrawal of the Marines from the Beirut airport, where they were part of a multinational peacekeeping force to support the Lebanese government. A phased withdrawal of the Marines was announced Tuesday by Reagan.

The earlier commission, headed by retired Adm. Robert L.J. Long, had strongly criticized the entire U.S. chain of command, which it said "shares in the responsibility" for security lapses that it said opened the way for the attack.

The Pentagon statement said Weinberger ordered Lehman "to issue appropriate administrative letters to bring the conclusions of the commission to the attention of the commanders" responsible for U.S. servicemen.

In its statement, the Pentagon said Weinberger concluded that the Long commission's criticism of the command chain "does not represent a determination that specific commanders ... were negligent in their duties."

Instead, Weinberger ordered commanders "to ensure that lessons learned from this experience will be used to protect better our service members in the future."

"To establish itself as a reliable and stable trader," says the GSPA, "the U.S. should announce to the world that we will maintain our recent average share of the total world export market and our share of any increase in world consumption."

Harp also gave a review of GSPA programs and projects during the past year, emphasizing systems such as phasing market developments in Mexico, the Mid-East and Asia. He told members that sorghum is being promoted heavily as a livestock feed, especially in Mexico.

Pointers on cutting sorghum production costs were given by Dr. Frank Petr, extension agronomist from Amarillo. Innovative irrigating systems such as Lepa and low-pressure pivots and minimum tillage were two methods he suggested for saving on production expense.

Donald Hicks and Bobby Veigel were re-elected as Deaf Smith County directors.

During a question and answer session following the program, those in attendance said they generally agreed with the food and fiber proposal as written. "Just keep it simple," one farmer cautioned. "We just wish" the programs could be announced sooner and kept longer," said another.

Harp announced that similar programs have been adopted by the Farm Bureau, Farmer's Union and on Monday in Dimmitt by the Texas Corn Growers.

TROUBLE

down a stiff-legged man, upside down, in a white suit, silhouetted against a brilliant blue background of sky and Earth.

"This is really neat," he said. Over the United States, he said he could "see cities passing by like a great, great constellation."

Minutes later, with the world slipping past at four miles a second, he said he saw Florida and Cuba.

Bundled in white pressure suits and wearing bubble helmets, the spacewalkers unlatched an airlock door and floated with ease into the open, 60-foot-long cargo bay. They were attached to a shuttle guidewire by 50-foot cords, which they were to wear as a safety measure when not using the backpack.

McCandless noticed that a bracket that held one of the slide wires was loose and he put it back in place.

"That was a little startling," he commented. Mission control said that in the loose position the bracket could have interfered with the closing of the cargo doors just before the end of the mission. Officials said the slide wire itself was not loose.

McCandless then moved to a station where his jet-pack called a Manned Maneuvering Unit was stored. He began checking it out for the day's work.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,
I am writing this letter out of gratitude. Last Sunday evening, our truck stalled and I pulled into the Pizza Mill and Sub Factory around 10:00 (closing time). I went in to use the phone and a fellow I only know as Jim soon came out to help.

I'm presuming he was the owner or co-owner. Anyway, he brought his tool box out and proceeded to work on our truck. Our four children were in the truck, getting colder, and Jim was not slow in trying to discover what was wrong with it.

My whole point in writing this letter is to ask the question, "How far should we go to help a stranger?" Jim not only took out the fuel pump, took the air filter off, and several different sundries, of which I don't know the name, but then he offered to go to the parts store in the morning and repair the truck.

Being from California, where people pass you by as you stand helpless on the freeway, I stood in amazement at the example of kindness being shown to me and my family. Being stranded gives a very helpless feeling, and I wish to thank Jim for his assistance. Now I'm not advertising his mechanical abilities, because the man is in the pizza business; but I am grateful for his willingness to help and the valuable lesson he taught me.

So many times in our busy lives we help someone just enough so that we can get them out of the way, and continue on our merry way with as little delay in our own schedule as possible. Jim showed me that real kindness is stopping to help until there is no more to do, or no more than can be done. THANKS, JIM!

P.S. We love your homemade pizzas!

Now You're Cooking

By LINDA CAUDLE
Lifestyles Editor

"We've really enjoyed this year. We've seen a lot of personal growth together — deciding where we had been and where we were going," noted Becky Sanderson. She and her husband, Doug, are the parents of three children.

"We took a series of 'successful living' classes and got so much out of it," she continued. "It was something we did together each week and it was very special."

"There are so many things we just take for granted. Home and family have become more important to us. It's so easy to get caught up in just being busy all the time. We enjoy staying at home and playing games, or going out to eat and to a show."

"Most of our activities center around our children," she smiled. All three are students at St. Anthony's School.

Russell, age 10, is in the fifth grade; Richard, 9, is a third grader; and Megan, 6, is in the first grade.

Both boys are involved in Cub Scouts, and Becky takes turns with the other mothers in leading the group for a month at a time. Russell and Megan take piano lessons, Megan takes dance, and Richard is active in sports.

"This is the first time they've all been at school all day," stated Becky. "The first six weeks I didn't know what to do with myself. I've adjusted now, but I'm still ready for them to come home after school."

Becky has done substitute teaching at St. Anthony's, and has worked with students at each grade level. She was also involved with the special activities during Catholic Schools Week recently.

"We are pleased to have our children grow up here, and we really like the school," she said.

Becky has lived in Hereford all of her life, except for a few years in California while she was growing up. Her husband came here in 1969. He was born in Amarillo and raised in New Mexico. The couple has resided in Hereford since their marriage.

Doug has owned Kustom Koach Kraft, a local body shop, for seven years and is currently in the process of moving the business to a downtown location. "We are doing the remodeling ourselves," said Becky. "I think we will really enjoy it."

She plans to work at the shop when they are finished moving. She has worked in the office off and on in the past.

She recently started taking an accounting class. "It had been awhile since I had been in the classroom, but it looks like this will be enjoyable," she commented.

Becky was employed in a beauty shop for five years after she finished high school, and then she quit work when the children were small.

The Sandersons attend St. Anthony's Catholic Church, where she is involved in St. Anthony's Women's Organization. She is also a member of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Doug enjoys restoring old cars and is interested in model trains, according to Becky. "He and the boys would like to make a train that would run around the new shop," she said. "He has trains from when he was little and has a set of brass engines."

Becky enjoys oil painting, and took lessons for several years. She also likes to work in the yard and enjoys house plants.

When it comes to cooking, she likes simple recipes and dishes that can be put in the oven so she can go on to something else. "I like to have supper in the oven when the kids get home so I can spend time doing things with them," she said.

The green chile round steak takes little preparation and the puff oven pancakes can also be put in the oven and forgotten until they are ready. "I hate to give the kids cereal for breakfast, and they love these pancakes. I've also made them for supper," she commented. "The fruit can be varied according to your own personal preference."

GREEN CHILE ROUND STEAK

Dredge two round steaks in:

- 1/2 c. flour

PUFF OVEN PANCAKES

- 4 Tbsp. butter
- 4 eggs
- Two-thirds c. milk
- Two-thirds c. pancake mix (see recipe below)
- Fiesta fruit topping (see recipe below)

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Put two tablespoons butter each in two 9-inch pie plates. Melt in oven.

In blender, combine eggs, milk, and pancake mix. Pour batter in pie plates. Bake 18 minutes, until puffy and browned. DO NOT open oven while pancakes are cooking.

Top with fiesta fruit topping. Makes two large pancakes.

PANCAKE MIX

- 5 c. flour
- 1 1/4 c. instant nonfat dry milk
- 1/4 c. sugar
- 2 Tbsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My thyroid scan showed I had a colloid cyst. What causes this? Is it inherited? Can it be treated medically? Is surgery indicated? How serious is it?

My sister had surgery for the same thing last year. She's on some kind of medication for the rest of her life. I'd like to avoid medication if possible. I'm 51 and take no medicines.

DEAR READER — I suspect that your doctor was trying to tell you that you have an enlargement of the thyroid. The normal thyroid gland consists of little lobules filled with a gelatinous material called colloid. These can enlarge and cause a colloid goiter.

When they're small and the thyroid function is normal, the doctor may elect to do nothing. It really depends on the rest of his studies. If there's an indication of thyroid overactivity, he may wish to treat it medically or he may recommend surgery.

Speaking of Sports

By STAN GODEK
Sports Editor

They say all things must come to an end. Hereford's girls varsity basketball team will conclude its season in Lubbock against Coronado High School Friday night (the HHS boys still have three games left).

The Whiteface girls need a win to finish the season at an even .500 record. That would put HHS at 8-8 in District 3-5A competition and 11-11 overall. It would be an improvement over last year's 9-11 season won-lost record.

It will be the last hurrah for several seniors as far as basketball goes. One senior in particular, center Cathy Bartels, will certainly be missed when the season concludes.

Bartels, according to HHS girls varsity coach Larry Sowers, "is not the biggest, fastest or best jumper" in the district, but by working hard and giving 100 percent effort on the court, she is one of the leading rebounders and scorers in the district.

Bartels is coming off a superb performance from the recent Monterey games. She hit nine of 10 field goals and two free throws against the Plainsmen's Julie Embry.

Embry, an Amazon, at 6-foot-2 and upwards of 180 pounds, intimidates most pivots in the district. But Bartels, at 5-foot-10 and some 40 or 50 pounds lighter, kept up with Embry, point for point and rebound for rebound.

Hereford has never beaten a Monterey girls varsity basketball squad. After Tuesday's 59-49 loss, Sowers reflected back on Bartels' play and remarked, "Maybe we should have tried to get the ball to her more often."

Well, the Monterey game is history and I'm sure besides Bartels, seniors Teresa Phibbs, Jan Harwell, Angela Richburg, and Marty Valdez would like nothing better than to finish the season on a winning note at Coronado.

The girls walloped Coronado by 34 points in Hereford earlier in the season, 77-43. The Mustangs probably resent the beating and may be out for blood. Well, maybe not blood, but CHS also wants to end the season on a winning note.

By all means, the game ought to be an interesting and sentimental battle. Girls, win or lose, congratulations on your season.

One final note—the HHS boys, though it is not their final game of the year, also have a vendetta for Friday's game at Coronado.

The Mustangs pulled the rug from beneath the Herd last month, winning in overtime 81-79. A tipped basket at the regulation buzzer by the Mustangs' 6-foot-4 center Robert Brashear put the game into overtime.

The Herd has been plagued by some bad luck recently, maybe it can change the tide tomorrow.

East Germany and Finland win first gold medals in Games

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — The first Winter Olympic gold medals went to a powerful East German speedskater and a Finnish cross-country skier today, while the U.S. ice hockey team had to duel one of the world's top teams in order to stay alive for medal contention.

Meanwhile, high winds and blowing snow forced the postponement of the men's downhill ski event at Bjelasnica, where American Bill Johnson was one of the favorites. The event was rescheduled for Friday.

East Germany's Karin Enke, a 22-year-old student, set a world record in the 1,500-meter speed skating event with a time of 2 minutes, 3.42 seconds and shattered the Olympic record by more than seven seconds.

She clipped almost a second off the previous world record of 2:04.4 set last year by Natalya Petrusheva of the Soviet Union. Nine skaters broke the previous Olympic record of 2:10.95 set by Annie Borckink of the Netherlands in 1980.

The silver medal went to teammate Andrea Schoene, who was two seconds behind at 2:05.29. Petrusheva was third at 2:05.78.

As expected, Marja-Liisa Hamalainen of Finland ran away with the women's 10-kilometer cross-country ski race, winning by a commanding 18 seconds. The defending World Cup overall champion, she was timed in 31:44.2. With the victory, her first medal in the Olympics, Hamalainen denied Raisa Smetanina of the Soviet Union a fourth Olympic gold medal.

Of football recruits

UT, SMU and Texas A&M do best in SWC

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

Texas, Texas A&M, and Southern Methodist made the best Southwest Conference bluechip hauls of state schoolboy football talent on national signing day, but Texas Tech welcomed perhaps the best running back.

Notre Dame, Alabama, and Oklahoma State stole away with three of the best 15 players in Texas in a heavier than usual defection of local stars on Wednesday.

The three escapees, all members of the SWC

Coaches' bluechip list, were running back Tim Brown of Dallas Wilson who decided on the Fighting Irish; running back Thurman Thomas of Fort Bend Willowridge who signed with Oklahoma State; and defensive back John Norwood of West Brook, who joined Alabama.

Thomas was a Parade Magazine All-American who decided on OSU instead of Texas A&M.

Brown turned down SMU and Nebraska.

Texas Tech landed the leading rusher in Class 5A history in Converse Judson running back Chris Pryor plus teammate wide receiver Chip Lambert.

The 5-10, 195-pound Pryor scored four touchdowns and rushed for 203 yards in the Rockets' 25-21 State Class 5A championship victory over Midland Lee.

Pryor's 2,804 yards in his senior season broke the Class 5A record held by Craig James, who later played at SMU.

Tech Coach Jerry Moore said, "It excites us to get a player with the talents of Chris Pryor. He's accustomed to winning and we're looking for him to have a great future at Texas Tech."

SMU, stung by a bogus letter mailed to some recruits that said the school had been placed on NCAA probation, did well anyway.

SMU signed Parade Magazine's No. 1 player in the nation.

The Mustangs inked bluechip 6-5, 300-pound offensive tackle Dave Richards of Highland Park, who was on every bluechip list in the nation.

SMU also collected the signature of bluechip Galveston Ball linebacker Reginald Ballard, who almost went to Texas Christian but changed his mind.

"I'm very proud of this year's class," said SMU Coach Bobby Collins. "It was very good especially considering the circumstances we had to recruit under. It shows the strength of our program that quality kids continue to sign."

The Aggies did well, signing Tony Jones, a wide receiver from Houston Sam Houston, a dynamite receiver with near 10-second speed in the 100 meters, and bluechip defensive lineman Shane Dybala of Van Vleck, and Tony Thompson, a slick wide receiver from Houston Lamar, who was a member of Texas Football Magazine's Top Thirty.

Also, later in the day Coach Jackie Sherrill welcomed bluechip offensive lineman Calvin Whitfield of Dickinson, one of the top 15 players in the state.

The Aggies also got highly regarded defensive back Tim Landrum of Plano, and running back Melvin Collins of Temple.

"We recruited to our needs better this year than last," said Sherrill. "We have put together two excellent recruiting years back-to-back."

SWC champion Texas scored with blue chip center Bill Roden of Cleburne, All-American defensive back Charles Washington of Dallas Spruce, and Illinois All-State lineman Carter Hill of Naperville.

The Longhorn signing of bluechip offensive lineman Steve Llewellyn of Fort Worth Eastern Hills was to be a mere formality later Wednesday.

Texas Christian and Baylor did well, signing speed and skill players to fit their needs.

TCU Coach Jim Wacker was particularly proud of San Antonio Jay quarterback Scott Ankrom, one of the most highly sought players in the state at his position.

Houston Yates quarterback Charlie Lewis and Lake Highlands defensive back Rod Duffy made Baylor Coach Grant Teaff beam.

New Rice Coach Watson Brown went out of state to get defensive lineman Joel Giddens of Valdosta, Ga., and tight end Ted Humphreys of Albuquerque.

Senior Shooter

Senior Cathy Bartels lofts a jumpshot earlier in the season against Coronado in Whiteface gymnasium. The HHS girls varsity plays Coronado again Friday in its final game of the year. The Whiteface girls need a win to finish the season at .500. Carla Alford (32) watches Bartels effort. HHS won the game easily, 77-43.

Moves ahead of Wilt Chamberlain

Jabbar sets NBA field goal record

By The Associated Press

He is known for his sky-hook, a sweeping arc shot that has been deadly accurate over his 15 years in the National Basketball Association. Yet it was an unusual baseline drive with a reverse layup that made Kareem Abdul-Jabbar the NBA's all-time leader in field goals.

It was the Abdul-Jabbar's 12,682nd basket, moving the 37-year-old Los Angeles Laker star ahead of Wilt Chamberlain. And, if he can average about 19.7 points a game for the remainder of the season, he can surpass Chamberlain's league mark of 31,419 points.

"There's really no significance for me in the Chamberlain matchup," Abdul-Jabbar said following Wednesday night's 111-109 victory over the Boston Celtics. "I used to emulate him a bit when I was in high school, but I have my own goals to achieve in the NBA, and if I play long enough I'll probably achieve them."

"I was not really aware of this field goal mark. It popped up today for the first time."

In other NBA Wednesday, it was Chicago 114, New Jersey 110 in overtime; Philadelphia 118, Houston 107 as Elvin Hayes also set an NBA record; Cleveland 119, Golden State 108; Milwaukee 113, New York 103; Kansas City 118, San Antonio 110; Dallas 120, Denver 114, and Portland 114, San Diego 105.

"After 14 years, he's doing more than really can be expected, but he's an athlete 12 months a year," Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley said. "He's durable, in great condition. There's no way he could play the way he does if he didn't take care of himself."

"In the twilight of his career he's learning to appreciate what these goals and the game mean to him. He really seems to be enjoying everything more. He was touched by the applause."

Following his record-breaking basket, Abdul-

Jabbar retrieved the ball and held it aloft in acknowledging the cheers.

The 7-foot-2 Abdul-Jabbar finished with 27 points as the Lakers extended their winning streak to eight games, while snapping Boston's 11-game unbeaten home string. Jamaal Wilkes scored 25 points, Magic Johnson 20 and James Worthy 17.

The Celtics were led by Larry Bird with 29 points and Kevin McHale with 21.

Philadelphia, behind a 42-point performance by Julius Erving, snapped a three-game losing streak by handing Houston its fourth consecutive defeat.

Houston rookie center Ralph Sampson scored a career-high 41 points.

Erving scored 16 points in the third period as the defending NBA champions twice built 17-point leads. But Sampson scored 18 points in the third quarter, then added 14 in the final period as Houston sliced the 76ers lead to eight points, the closest the Rockets could get.

Houston's Hayes broke the NBA record by playing in his 1,271st regular-season game. That erased the mark of 1,270 set by John Havlicek of Boston from 1963 through 1978. Hayes has missed only eight games in his 16-year career.

Kings 118, Spurs 110

Mike Woodson scored 27 points to lead Kansas City as the Kings handed San Antonio its sixth straight loss.

With San Antonio guard George Gervin missing his third consecutive game with muscle spasms in his left shoulder, the Spurs were paced by forward Mike Mitchell, who scored 33 points and grabbed 11 rebounds.

Bucks 113, Knicks 103

Center Bob Lanier sank two key baskets and stole the ball in the final three minutes to help Milwaukee turn back New York. It was the Bucks' second straight victory and snapped the Knicks' six-

With the Bucks leading by three points, Lanier hit a short jumper, then stole a pass to set up another Milwaukee basket. His soft hook shot gave Milwaukee a 108-99 lead with 2:38 left and the Knicks could get no closer than 109-103.

Bulls 114, Nets 110

Quintin Dailey scored six of his game-high 34 points in overtime to lead Chicago over New Jersey, including a technical foul shot with 26 seconds remaining in the extra session to snap a 110-110 deadlock. The Nets had been called for an illegal defense.

Buck Williams led the Nets with 23 points, a career-high 24 rebounds and a career-high seven blocked shots.

Cavaliers 119, Warriors 108

Cliff Robinson scored 31 points and Geoff Huston tallied all of his 20 points in the second half as Cleveland posted its fourth straight home victory by downing Golden State.

The Warriors led 88-87 early in the fourth period before Robinson's basket put Cleveland ahead to stay. His three dunks and Huston's 12 points in the final quarter helped the Cavaliers widen the margin steadily.

Mavericks 120, Nuggets 114

Two key passes by Mark Aguirre, the No. 2 scorer in the NBA, helped lead Dallas past Denver.

With the score tied at 106 and 3:01 left, Pat Cummings hit a jumper and Brad Davis, off a dazzling pass from Aguirre, added a three-point play. Denver pulled to within three points before Aguirre found Kurt Nimphus alone under the basket for a slam dunk.

Three-point baskets by Rob Williams and Ken Derrard just five seconds apart almost got Denver back into the game, but the Mavericks sank foul shots in the closing seconds to pad their lead.

ABC Network coverage of Olympics adds show biz to keep viewers

An AP Sports Analysis By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Sports Writer

Sorry, sports fans, but judging from the first six hours of ABC's Olympic coverage, it's not exactly your average Monday Night Football game you'll be watching in prime time for the next 10 days.

It's more like a little show biz (John Denver, ice dancing, et al.), some history (Gavrilo Princip vs. Archduke Francis Ferdinand); and some sports, many of them unfamiliar or just plain alien to your average American.

Putting it another way, something like "International Superstars" meets "60 Minutes" at the Super Bowl pre-game show. Or, as Jim McKay remarked during Wednesday night's opening ceremonies: "It's a little like halftime."

The problem — if it is that — stems from the escalating costs of televising the Olympics.

Having paid $91.5 million for the rights to the Sarajevo games and spent more than that on production costs, the network had almost no choice but to put them on for 12 straight nights in prime time, with prime-time advertising rates to offset the costs.

But that means:

1. Drawing a prime-time-sized audience, which is attracted more by John Denver, figure skating and ice dancing than the prospects of a bunch of Europeans sliding down hills in sleds.

2. Putting the competition on tape, for showing eight to 12 hours after it has ended, making it difficult, if not impossible, for interested Americans to get through a full day without knowing what happened.

"People have called and written to say they don't want to know the score beforehand," McKay, resident in his new ABC baby blue blazer, said Tuesday night, explaining why he wouldn't give the score of U.S.-Canada until after the game.

Sure, but the U.S.-Canada

game had ended 10 hours earlier. It was all over the radio, all over the network news, in the headlines in late editions. Few fans, even if they wanted to, were able to get through the day without knowing the outcome.

In reality, McKay and ABC simply didn't want viewers to tune out when they discovered the U.S. had lost.

The three hours Tuesday were basically boring — there was just too little to show. So we got patriotism and history and nostalgia — the 1980 hockey team which, with the foreknowledge of Tuesday's loss only pointed up that the Miracle at Lake Placid truly was a miracle.

But even within that framework, ABC sloughed off legitimate stories.

44.6%* ON YOUR IRA?

LAST YEAR THE REGENCY FUND WAS ONLY FOR THE RICH. THIS YEAR IT'S ALSO FOR THOSE WHO HOPE TO BE.

Before this year, the Oppenheimer Regency Fund was only open to those who had $100,000 to invest.

But those who could invest and did on December 30, 1982, the Fund's first offering date, earned 44.6% on their investment.

What's more, the Fund's outstanding performance earned it the rank of Number 1 fund in 1983, according to Lipper Analytical Services' survey of more than 600 mutual funds.

This year the Regency Fund is available exclusively for IRAs and Keogh plans. So virtually everyone can invest up to $2,000 a year tax deferred (more for Keoghs) in a fund dedicated to maximizing the return on your investment over the long term.

Because the Regency Fund has this singular goal, it can endeavor to take full advantage of short-term gains whenever possible. Which makes it ideal for tax-deferred retirement funds where any gains can be consolidated and compounded over the years without being eroded by taxes. This is not to suggest that an investor may not incur a loss if he or she buys shares at one time and sells them at another, after equity prices have declined.

If you want your retirement funds invested ambitiously for your future and you're willing to assume the risks associated with potentially greater rewards, consider the Regency Fund.

If you hope to retire like a wealthy person, maybe you should consider investing like one.

Authorities unload tons of marijuana

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Federal officials began unloading 25 tons of marijuana this morning from the Lady Mar, an unregistered fishing vessel seized by the U.S. Coast Guard Sunday after a 22-hour chase.

The Lady Mar, hauling an estimated $20 million worth of marijuana, was towed into port by the Coast Guard cutter Durable Wednesday. The Durable captured the Lady Mar about 35 miles off the Yucatan Peninsula.

Coast Guard officials said they were surprised at the gumption of the small craft's crew who rammed their dilapidated 75-foot fishing boat against the bow of the 250-foot Durable.

"When you ask permission to come aboard, crews don't usually resist the way this one did," said Cmdr. Ned Kiley of the Durable. "This seizure was much more exciting than others."

A 10-inch, diamond-shaped patch was visible on the bow of the immaculate white cutter as it docked at the Coast Guard station about 10 a.m.

Officials from the Drug Enforcement Administration took into custody one man from Guiana and 13 Columbians. Ken Miley of the DEA in McAllen said there were no passengers and all 14 helped crew the boat.

"They were all sitting on top of it (the marijuana) on a small boat and charges will be filed on all of them," he said.

They will be charged this afternoon before a U.S. Magistrate in Brownsville,

Ann Landers Exhausted interns

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have just talked with my son by phone. Jay is an intern in a large, prestigious hospital — which will remain nameless because I believe the condition is the same in all hospitals. The fact that he is not at the top of his class is not due to laziness, lack of motivation or stupidity.

Jay is exhausted to the point of being unsure about everything, including his ability to make decisions. The 100-hour weeks, the 40-hour shifts and the constant stress and pressures of modern-day medicine are taking their toll not only on him, but most interns and residents.

Please ask your friends in the medical world the purpose of such training. Surely they can't believe that a doctor can be mentally alert when he is fatigued. I certainly would hate to have my life depend on a person who had gone without sleep for two days and a night.

And don't let them tell you it has always been done that way and if the old doctors could stand it, this generation can too. Medicine is much more complicated than it used to be.—Concerned Mother

DEAR MOTHER: I asked Dr. Norman Shumway, the distinguished chairman of the department of cardiovascular surgery at Stanford University School of Medicine, to respond to your question. Dr. Shumway said: "I believe 'Mother' should realize that rarely is a life-and-death decision made by an intern or a resident who has been without sleep for many hours. On the other side of the coin is the desire for most young doctors to gain as much clinical experience as possible, and most of them would rather take care of patients than either sleep or eat."

"While there is much to be said for balance in life, the real shakers and movers are those individuals with total commitment. It takes all kinds, and there is something for everyone — big things to do, and lesser things. Fortunately, there is always a choice."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a married woman with three children. Things are good now but we went through some rocky times when we fought constantly. During those terrible episodes I engaged in affairs with other men to "get even." I realize now how stupid it was, but one cannot undo the past.

The problem: The last affair went on for quite a while. I am not sure if the youngest child was fathered by my lover or my husband. I keep searching his face for a clue, but one day he looks like my husband and the next day he looks like the other man.

I am suffering from terrible guilt feelings but am afraid if I confess to my husband he will throw me out on the street with the boy and get custody of the other children.

I love my husband and will never stray again. Meanwhile, the guilt is unbearable. Please tell me what to do.—Mexico City Reader

DEAR READER: You must get this off your chest or it will be a source of continuing anxiety. Unload, in detail, on a clergyman or a professional therapist. Spare your husband, please. And for heaven's sake, don't confide in a friend.

What kind of wedding goes with today's new life styles? Does anything go? Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" tells what's right for today's weddings. For a copy, send $2.00, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (37 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

State banking commissioner to speak at WTSU Tuesday

The state banking commissioner of Texas, who is a graduate of West Texas State University, will speak to area bankers, students and faculty members at WTSU on Tuesday, Feb. 14.

"Banking Regulations and the General Financial Condition of Banks" will be the topic of James L. Sexton's presentation at 11 a.m. in Room 201 of the Classroom Center.

Sexton's visit is the first for the spring semester in the Free Enterprise series sponsored by the Center for Economic Education at WTSU.

The WTSU Center for Economic Education in the School of Business annually receives a grant of $3,000 from the Texas Council on Economic Education. The program grant funds speakers' campus visits and allows the Department of Business Analysis at WTSU to host a summer workshop for area economics teachers, said Dr. Allen Early, associate professor of economics and director of the WTSU Center for Economic Education.

Sexton, a native of Pampa, graduated from Memphis High School in 1957. He earned a bachelor of business administration degree at WTSU in 1965 and is also a graduate of the Stonier Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University and the American Banking Association National Commercial Lending Graduate School at the University of Oklahoma.

From 1965 to 1983, Sexton worked with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation as an assistant examiner, examiner, assistant regional director, regional director and director of supervision at Fort Worth, Dallas, Memphis, Tenn., Philadelphia and Washington, D.C. offices.

In November of 1983, he was appointed as banking commissioner for the State of Texas.

As FDIC director of supervision, Sexton served as the chief career bank regulator supervising 2,500 regulators and 9,500 state non-member banks.

The Texas banking com-

James L. Sexton

missioner is appointed to an open-ended term by the 12-member Texas Finance Commission. He is responsible for a staff of 100 and about 850 state chartered banks.

Sexton and his wife, Wilma Martin Sexton of Memphis, are the parents of two daughters.

Early said 47 presidents of state banks in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains areas have been invited to Sexton's presentation and to a noon luncheon.

Speakers in the Free Enterprise series also have been scheduled for March and April.

Holt discusses child abuse, neglect

Bill Holt, Children's Protective Services supervisor from Amarillo, addressed members of the Deaf Smith County Child Welfare Board Wednesday in the Commissioner's Courtroom.

He defined child abuse as non-accidental infliction of physical injury or emotional or mental damage to a child by another person, and child neglect as depriving a child of living conditions which provide the minimally needed physical and emotional requirements for life, growth and development.

Holt stated that 3,000 children die in the United States each year from child abuse, 60,000 are hospitalized, and 15,000 of these will have suffered permanent brain damage.

Alleged perpetrators are generally between the ages of 26 and 35 with income below $14,000 per year. Fifty-eight percent are female; 45 percent are unmarried; 52 percent are the natural mother and 26 percent are the natural father.

There were 1,560 reports of child abuse in Amarillo and Canyon in 1982, with 40 percent of these needing ongoing services and 53 percent involving children 6 years old and under.

During the business session conducted by Beverly Jayroe, it was announced that April 8-14 has been designated Child Abuse Prevention Week. Members discussed projects for the week including a public showing of the films "Speak Up, Say No" and "For Pete's Sake, No."

Avis White reported on a child welfare meeting she attended recently in Amarillo. She mentioned the current negotiation for a new emergency shelter for foster children, to serve a 25 county area.

Judy Baker, social services secretary, presented the financial statement.

Others in attendance were the Rev. Ron Cook, Lavon Nieman, Bill Johnson, and Kirk Merker, child placement worker.

A spectacular land rush in 1889 saw more than 20,000 pioneers pour into Oklahoma.

Marshall to lead enrichment services

The Rev. Peter J. Marshall Jr. will return to Hereford for the third consecutive year to lead a Christian enrichment seminar this weekend at the First Presbyterian Church, 610 N. Lee.

Services are scheduled Friday at 7:30 p.m., Saturday at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., and Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Marshall will be available for individual counseling at other times during the weekend.

Persons of all faiths are welcome at the services.

The seminar leader is the son of the late Dr. Peter Marshall, chaplain of the U.S. Senate from 1947 to 1949, and the late Catherine Marshall LeSourd, author of many best-selling inspirational books.

He is a graduate of Yale University and Princeton Theological Seminary, and he has co-authored a book entitled "The Light and the Glory" which deals with the founding of America and its subsequent settlement and war for independence from a Christian perspective.

Marshall pastored the East Dennis Community Church, Cape Cod, Mass., from 1967 to 1977 and is currently involved in a full-time teaching and preaching ministry. His particular emphasis is on what he feels is the urgent need for American Christians to press beyond shallowness and superficiality in their spiritual lives.

He resides with his wife and three children at Cape Cod, where they are members of the Community of Jesus.

Rev. Peter Marshall Jr.

14. Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS
I would like to extend my sincere thanks to all those who attended memorial services for my beloved wife, Hazel Rodriguez, and to all those who expressed their sympathy in many ways.
My wife left a sealed letter to be opened after death, and I would like to share some of her wishes with our friends.
"I am writing this so you will carry out my wishes. You tried and tried to get me to go to some other doctors, but I am in bad shape and feel like it is too late for that. You know how much I love you and want you to take care of yourself and our dog. I do not want any religious service of any kind. Just have me cremated and do what you wish with my ashes. Don't grieve for me, Ray. My last wish is for you to take care of yourself.—Your wife, Hazel."
Thanks again, for all your concern and sympathy.

Outcome of talks to determine progress

NEW YORK (AP) — This year promises to be a lively one in the endless tug of war between management and labor.

In many economists' view, much more than the size of workers' paychecks will be at stake when negotiators sit down to bargain in the months ahead.

The outcome of their talks will do much to determine whether progress against inflation can be sustained — and to set the mood of workers as they prepare to vote in the November election.

Edward Yardeni, economist at the Wall Street firm of Prudential-Bache Securities, notes that contracts are scheduled to expire in the construction industry in the spring and early summer, the railroad industry in June, and auto manufacturing and bituminous coal mining in September.

There will be negotiations, he adds, affecting 3 million of the 7.9 million workers in private industry covered by major labor contracts. The calendar is heavier than usual because bargainers tended toward shorter contracts during the recent recession and economic upheaval.

Now, the recession is over. Corporate profits are improving, and it will be only natural if workers press for a share of the increased prosperity.

But an acceleration in wage gains could pose the threat of revived inflation. That's the way it's often gone in the past.

However, Yardeni and other observers say there isn't likely to be a wage explosion in the immediate future, with both management and workers still recovering from the slump of 1981 and 1982.

"We believe that management will successfully resist wage increases that exceed productivity gains," Yardeni says. "There is still quite a bit of unemployed labor, which should temper union demands. Fierce foreign competition resulting from the strong foreign exchange value of the dollar will also increase the resolve of management to keep a lid on labor costs."

The Newspaper BIBLE

A GIFT IS FOR GIVING!

Let love be your greatest aim; nevertheless, ask also for the special abilities the Holy spirit gives, and especially the gift of prophecy, being able to preach the messages of God.

But if your gift is that of being able to "speak in tongues," that is, to speak in languages you haven't learned, you will be talking to God but not to others, since they won't be able to understand you. You will be speaking by the power of the Spirit but it will all be a secret.

But one who prophesies, preaching the messages of God, is helping others grow in the Lord, encouraging and comforting them.

So a person "speaking in tongues" helps himself grow spiritually, but one who prophesies, preaching messages from God, helps the entire church grow in holiness and happiness.

I wish you all had the gift of "speaking in tongues" but, even more, I wish you were all able to prophesy, preaching God's messages, for that is a greater and more useful power than to speak in unknown languages—unless, of course, you can tell everyone afterwards what you were saying, so that they can get some good out of it too.

Dear friends, even if I myself should come to you talking in some language you don't understand, how would that help you? But if I speak plainly what God has revealed to me, and tell you the things I know, and what is going to happen, and the great truths of God's Word—that is what you need; that is what will help you.

Even musical instruments—the flute, for instance, or the harp—are examples of the need for speaking in plain, simple English rather than in unknown languages. For no one will recognize the tune the flute is playing unless each note is sounded clearly.

And if the army bugler doesn't play the right notes, how will the soldiers know that they are being called to battle?

In the same way, if you talk to a person in some language he doesn't understand, how will he know what you mean? You might as well be talking in an empty room.

Mom's gift from babysitter

DEAR READERS — A thoughtful gift for working mothers leads off our Pointer roundup today. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I have been babysitting several months for a friend of mine who had her first baby last summer. I knew it was hard for her to leave her precious little boy every day for five days a week, so my husband and I decided to make a photo album for her of her little son. We try to take at least four pictures a week and we are putting them in an album to give her from the baby on Mother's Day. — THE BABYSITTER

DEAR BABYSITTER — What a lovely way to fill Mom in on those long hours when she's away. I'm sure she'll be delighted by your warm and thoughtful surprise. And I hope you'll enjoy your Pointer of the Week award, an autographed copy of "Polly's Pointers: 1081 Helpful Household Hints for Making Everything Last Longer." — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To easily tear a small article or coupon from the newspaper, draw around it with a ballpoint pen, pressing as hard as you can. Try to make the lines as straight as possible. Then carefully rip along the outline. In most cases, the paper will tear neatly along the lines. — HARRY

DEAR POLLY — We always cook up a gravy concoction with meat drippings, leftover gravy and table scraps for our pets. We add flour, salt and milk just as you would for human consumption (to thicken and enrich it), but for pets you can leave larger amounts of fat in the mixture. This makes a great cat and dog food extender and they love the warm morsels on a cold blustery day. Their wags and licks tell you so. — MRS. T.E.

DEAR MRS. T.E. AND READERS — A great use for leftovers and a nice treat for the pets. Don't, however, rely on this as your pet's main food. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To remove my makeup, I mix one-half cup of no-tears baby shampoo with one-half cup of water. I keep this in a bottle. To use, I moisten a cotton ball or washcloth with the solution, then gently wipe away my makeup. The makeup comes off perfectly and it won't irritate my eyes. — CAROLYN

DEAR POLLY — After all produce has been picked from your garden, run the lawnmower over the garden. This cuts up the old foliage and makes good mulch. It also leaves the garden looking neat and nice in a jiffy. — MRS. M.L.M.

Chocolate shortbread, rum balls and Irish cream wafers are just a few of the delicious treats you'll find in "Polly's Favorite Cookie Recipes." Send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1216, Cincinnati, Ohio 45201. Be sure to include the title.

Polly will send you a Polly Dollar ($1.00) if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write POLLY'S POINTERS in care of this newspaper.

Israeli analysts say

Syria is clear winner

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The defeat of Lebanese President Amin Gemayel's army by Syrian-backed militiamen has enhanced Syria's standing as a leader in the Arab world and could torpedo future peace efforts in the Middle East, Israeli analysts say.

"The Arabs are bound to be much more influenced by Syria. It's not a good omen for the peace process," said Yossi Olmert, one of Israel's most respected analysts of Mideast affairs.

"There's no doubt that the Syrians are winning the battle for Lebanon. It's just a question of time before the Syrians again become the dominant force in Lebanon," Olmert, head of the Syria-Lebanon desk at Tel Aviv University's Shiloah Center, said in an interview.

Olmert and other Israeli analysts said that if Gemayel, a Maronite Catholic, wants to finish the 4½ years remaining in his six-year term of office, he will probably succumb to Syrian pressure to abrogate the U.S.-sponsored Israel-Lebanon agreement for a phased withdrawal of Israeli troops from Lebanon.

This would be a major political setback for Israel because the 1983 troop withdrawal accord is only the second pact it has negotiated with an Arab state, following the 1979 peace treaty with Egypt.

The analysts doubted that the Syrians want a military confrontation with Israel over Lebanon.

"The Syrians are very, very careful not to provoke Israel," Olmert said. "They want Lebanon to demand that the Israelis leave unilaterally. That puts Syria in a more legitimate position to dominate the rest of Lebanon."

But the analysts said the routing of Lebanon's Christian-commanded army by Shiite Moslem and Islamic Druse militiamen will make it more difficult for Israel to move its forces in Lebanon back closer to the Israeli border.

Zvi Lanir, a strategist at Tel Aviv University's Dayan Center, said in an interview: "The government of Israel has already decided about the withdrawal from Lebanon. What is still open is the timing.... The important thing is not only what we are going to do, but how it's seen and assessed in terms of Israel's power and ability to use its forces."

Olmert concurred, saying Israel does not want any partial withdrawal from Lebanon to be interpreted as submission to Syrian pressure. He said an Israeli withdrawal "is coming, but not immediately, perhaps for psychological reasons, propaganda reasons."

The analysts also said an Israeli withdrawal could pave the way for extremist Shiites backed by Syria and Iran to expand their influence in south Lebanon near Israel's border.

The Israeli analysts said they expected Gemayel would remain as president, provided he heeds Syrian bidding like his predecessor, the ineffective Elias Sarkis who was installed with Damascus' approval in 1976 during the last civil war.

The oldest living trees on earth are believed to be a strand of Bristlecone Pine in California's Inyo National Park. They are estimated to be 4,600 years old.

Q: How do I re-whiten white-walls, and how much paint can I safely apply to keep the black walls black?

A: Answering the second part of your question first: Don't use paint on black walls! Use any of the polypenetrant reconditioners now on the market which are used for vinyl restoration. It'll amaze you! As far as whitewalls are concerned, use one of the all purpose household cleaners. Work the cleaner into deeper scuffs and gouges with a toothbrush. Then use the trusty old household scouring pad to gently rub the white-wall area until it becomes clean. Now, we're going to back off on the "don't use paint" just a little. For deep gouges in whitewalls, or if areas are chipped or frayed, use a little quick-drying flat paint to touch up the area. But, never apply paint to the entire tire surface area.
