Gina Alley was crowned 1990 Miss Hereford Saturday night at the annual 1990 Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant.

The pageant, sponsored by the Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, was held in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Gina, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Alley of 545 Westhaven Drive and will be a senior this fall at HHS. She was crowned by 1989 Miss Hereford Wendy Connolly.

JeriAnn Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Parker of Dawn, was chosen first runner-up. Jill West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe West, was named second runner-up.

The Miss Congeniality Award was given to Shanae Wilson. Mary Varner, who sang "Amazing Grace," was the winner of the talent competition.

The new Miss Hereford will receive a wardrobe scholarship, courtesy of The Pants Cage, The Vogue, ETCetera, Class Act, Gaston's, J.C. Penney's, and Little's. She may select a scholarship from either West Texas State University, South Plains College, Frank Phillips College or Clarendon Junior College. Each of the two runners-up will receive wardrobe scholarships and can choose a scholarship from South Plains College or Clarendon Junior College.

Alley will compete in the Palo Duro Area Pageant on August 4 in Spearman.

The pageant's theme was "Putin' On The Ritz." The 14 contestants dressed "tuxedo style" in black shorts, white T-shirts, black bow ties, black top hats, and carried canes for the opening number. Contestants were accompanied by dance partners during the opening musical.

Special entertainment was a skating routine presented by Rona and Brooks Dykes of Friona.

The talent portion of the pageant featured Parker, who sang "I Dreamed a Dream"; Wilson twirled a flag to "Peek a Boo"; Emerick played the French horn; McMorries performed "Tambourine" on the piccolo; Reinauer played "Hava Nagila" on the piano; DeBord twirled knives and danced to Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony";

West sang "Blue Moon"; Souter performed a dance routine to "New York, New York"; Chavez sang "My Father's Eyes"; Alley presented a humorous twirling routine to "Guitarzan"; Nichols danced to "Witchcraft"; Malamen played "Chariots of Fire" on the piano; and Culpepper presented, on piano, "Last Date".

Pageant entrants included Alley, Parker, West, Wilson, Varner, Wendy Emerick, Robin McMorries, Brenna Reinauer, Dawn DeBord, Laynie Souter, Tanya Chavez, Wendy Nichols, Kari Malamen and Stacy Culpepper.

County okays budget, turns down YMCA

By CINDY POTTORFF
Staff Writer

The Deaf Smith County Commissioner's Court adopted a $4.3 million budget for 1990-91 at its Monday morning meeting, and turned down a funding request by the Hereford YMCA.

The 1990-91 budget is for $4,324,184, up from the $4,308,184 for the 1990 fiscal year which will end Oct. 1. No changes have been made in the budget since it was tentatively adopted on May 29.

Taxes were not raised to cover the projected $220,006 shortfall in FY 1991's budget. The shortfall will be taken out of the year-end balances in this year's budget.

By this time next year, the county plans to have the jail paid off.

"The only way to make the budget work next year (for 1991-92) is to use the money after the jail is paid off," Commissioner John Stribling said.

Technically, that will be a tax increase, Commissioner Troy Don Moore said. However, the amount that taxpayers in Deaf Smith County actually pay will not go up. Taxes will simply remain at the same level instead of being lowered after the jail is paid off.

After the budget was approved, the county turned down the YMCA's request for $20,000.

After commending the YMCA's programs, Moore said, "The city has participated through a contingency fund they have but the county doesn't have that option."

County Judge Tom Simons told YMCA members present that the county had already approved the 1990-91 budget and no provisions were made for helping fund the YMCA in that budget. Simons also mentioned the county's $220,006 projected budget shortfall.

Echoing Moore's sentiments, all the commissioners agreed that the YMCA is a good program.

"We sure don't have the money," Commissioner Austin Rose said.

"The county is not, at this time, in a position to support the YMCA," Moore said, moving not to fund the YMCA.

"It's a good program and we owe it to our kids because there's not much here for them," YMCA Vice President Dave Hopper said. "It gets harder to struggle every time."

"Contact me in February or early March," Simons said. He said that next February or early March will be a good time to bring up the YMCA's request because the county will be in the process of formulating its 1991-92 budget.

"On an upbeat, I don't want any more money," Deaf Smith County Museum Director Donna Brockman told commissioners. Brockman presented the annual report for the museum and said that all is going well. She also said that Deaf Smith County will be celebrating its 100th anniversary on Oct. 6 of this year. A museum day will be held on Oct. 6, with activities such as churning butter featured to help give the anniversary a realistic atmosphere.

The High Plains Food Bank in Amarillo's request for $1,000 was approved by commissioners.

"We have a number of people here in Deaf Smith County who use the food bank," Simons said. The county has made donations to the food bank for several years.

American Business Equipment of Amarillo was granted a one year, $950 maintenance contract for a copier located in Tax Assessor-collector Margaret Perez's office.

County Auditor Alex Schroeter told commissioners that only one bid, from Palmer Painting Company, Inc., was submitted to paint the courthouse. Since only one bid was submitted, Schroeter asked for permission to readvertise for bids in two weeks. Commissioners told Schroeter to go ahead and re-advertise the bids.

ENCORE's request to put a cardboard collection receptacle at the Red Cross office on South Main was approved. The cardboard will be recycled. A definite date when the receptacle will be installed has not yet been set.

Tanker remains ablaze in Gulf

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - Coast Guard officials today boarded the fire-ravaged supertanker Mega Borg in the Gulf of Mexico to determine if it has cooled enough to be sprayed with flame-smothering foam.

The Coast Guard also backed off its earlier reports that the Mega Borg, carrying 38 million gallons of oil, had begun buckling.

"There is no evidence at all of any structural damage," said Coast Guard Chief Petty officer Gene Maestas.

The fire that has engulfed the ship since an explosion on board Saturday seemed to be diminishing this morning, Maestas said.

He said a probe team boarded the vessel early today to determine when foam could safely be used on the Norwegian tanker. He did not know how many people were on board.

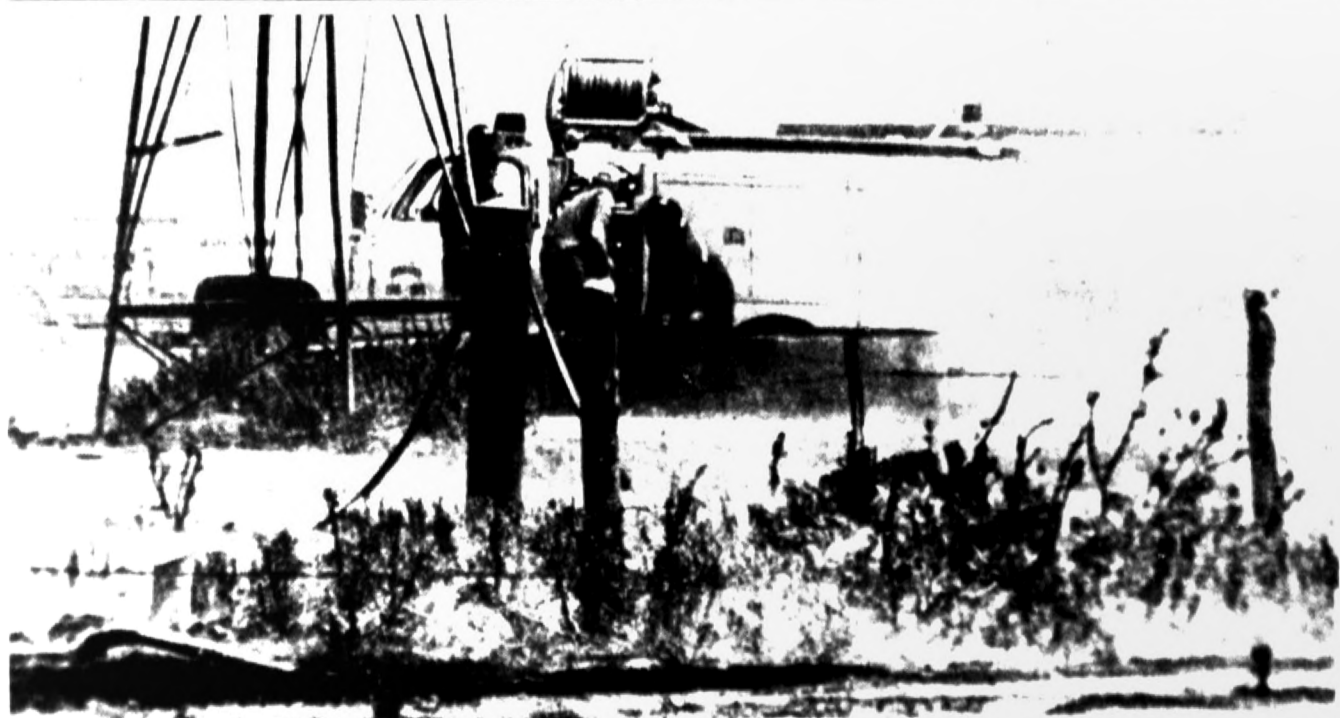

Crews at the scene reported no signs of major structural damage to the ship, Maestas said.

Earlier, Coast Guard Petty Officer Howard Holmes had said part of the vessel showed signs of buckling because of the intense 900-degree blaze, the shifting cargo and the continuous stream of water being poured on the hulk.

Maestas said the firefighters aboard will try to determine the temperature on the Mega Borg to see if the foam can be used without causing further explosions because of the heat.

Spraying flame smothering foam on the fire was delayed Monday because six fireboats spraying water couldn't keep the tanker's deck cool enough to prevent a flash fire or new explosions. Fireboats continued pouring water on the hulk today.

Firefighters applying foam through a hose would have to get close to the ship and eventually board it.

Fill 'er up

Hereford volunteer firefighters refill their truck from a stock tank while fighting a grass fire on Sunday afternoon near Frio. Over 100 acres of grassland burned in the fire, which burned up the north bank of Frio Draw. Volunteers from Castro County helped control the fire, while Walcott volunteers stood by in Hereford in case of another call. Firefighters have will likely stay busy until the area receives appreciable rainfall.

Poindexter convicted of lying to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former national security adviser John M. Poindexter received a six-month sentence and a stern lecture from a judge who said he undermined democracy by lying to Congress about the Iran-Contra affair.

Poindexter became the first of seven people convicted in the scandal to receive a prison term when he was sentenced Monday by U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene.

The judge said Poindexter, who plans to appeal, deserved incarceration as the "decision-making head of the Iran-Contra operation."

Probation "would be tantamount to a statement that a scheme to lie (to) and obstruct Congress is of no great moment," Greene said.

Poindexter, who served as President Reagan's national security adviser from late 1985 until the Iran-Contra scandal forced his resignation in November 1986, was convicted of conspiracy, making false statements to Congress and obstructing lawmakers' inquiries into the Iran-Contra affair.

Greene said Poindexter, former White House aide Oliver L. North and others usurped political power from Congress when they set up a covert operation to arm the Contra rebels in Nicaragua in defiance of a congressional ban on such aid.

"When Admiral Poindexter and his associates obstructed the Congress, what were they seeking to accomplish?" the judge asked. "In a word it was to nullify the decision that body had made on the issue of supplies to the Congress."

Poindexter was found guilty of conspiring to thwart attempts by Congress in 1986 to verify reports that North was coordinating the secret resupply operation for the rebels. He was also convicted of lying and destroying documents to conceal the U.S. role in a 1985 shipment of Hawk anti-aircraft missiles to Iran.

The judge did not impose any fine, saying Poindexter had already amassed large legal bills. The former national security adviser was allowed to remain free pending appeal of his conviction.

Congress heats up over flag burning ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress is bracing itself for hard-core politics in an election-year renewal of the flag-burning issue now that the Supreme Court overturned a flag protection law.

Congressional Democratic leaders strongly oppose amending the Constitution to ban flag burning. But votes were being scheduled around such symbolic days as the Fourth of July and Flag Day, June 14.

House Speaker Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., promised Monday that the House would vote on a proposed amendment by July 4.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., chairman of the House Judiciary subcommittee on the Constitution and a leading House opponent of an amendment, predicted an amendment would fail again.

With flag burning no longer a federal crime since the court's action, some said a vote for a constitutional ban would be politically irresistible just a few months before the fall congressional elections. Republicans hoped so. Democrats were aware of the political pitfalls the issue poses for them, recalling how George Bush exploited the flag's patriotic values at Michael Dukakis's expense in his 1988 campaign.

"It will be very tempting to play politics with it, with the Fourth of July," said Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., a fierce opponent of a constitutional change.

Democratic National Chairman Ron Brown warned his potential candidates away from turning the fall campaign into a contest for patriotism. He urged all Democratic candidates "not to seek any political gain by challenging their opponents' patriotism or position on the flag amendment."

Brown said the flag and Bill of Rights were "more important than any political tug of war."

But some backers of a flag-burning ban acknowledged public support for the issue may have dropped since the dispute was temporarily defused last

The next regular meeting of Hereford Chapter No. 312 is set for Tuesday, July 12, at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Hall. Reports from the Junior Past Matron and the chapter secretary, summarizing the chapter's work for the past year, will be heard. All members of the chapter are urged to be present.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Allen Ginsberg wants a parents' group to apologize for requesting that high school students have restricted access to an anthology of his poems.

The group, Coalition of Concerned Minority Parents, also criticized the lack of black authors in the library of North Central High School.

"If my work were taken out of libraries, censors would have excuses to take out many other basic texts of early black cultures," Ginsberg wrote May 17 in a letter to Mmoja Ajabu, a group spokesman.

Ginsberg, 64, said the group owed him an apology or at least an acknowledgment that his work is not in opposition to their ideas.

Ajabu said he intends to reply to Ginsberg but not apologize. He said since the book described homosexual activity, "We felt it should be under the instruction of an adult who is aware that it is not the norm."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are a typical upper class couple. "Bruce" holds a responsible managerial position in a large corporation. We own a lovely home and have two children, two cars and a dog. We are well known and respected in the community. I do my share of volunteer work and we are both active in our church. Sounds like the American dream? Well, not quite. My husband is infected with the AIDS virus.

A few years ago Bruce had major surgery that required a blood transfusion. Recently we were informed that the blood may have been tainted.

Our worst fears were confirmed last week when Bruce tested positive. We live in constant fear of the future. What will happen if someone who works in the lab or the doctor's office leaks this information? What will happen when Bruce gets sick and we can no longer hide the truth? How will our friends and neighbors react? What about our brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles and cousins? Will they stand by us? Will they let their children play with our children? Will they believe us when we explain how this illness was contacted? Will our friends come to our house? Will we be invited to theirs? Am I going to get AIDS?

We'd like to know what you think, Ann. Please print this letter even though I dare not sign my name. -- A New Kind of Hell in New York

DEAR NEW YORK: We have learned a great deal about AIDS since the virus was discovered in the early 1980s. More than a million and a half people in the United States are infected at this time and in spite of massive efforts to educate people about this dreaded disease, ignorance still abounds. For answers to your specific medical questions, you and Bruce should have a session with his physician.

The pharmaceutical industry has developed some excellent drugs that have made it possible for AIDS sufferers to be functional for many more months and even years. Your husband's illness may not be obvious for a long time.

As for how your family, friends and members of the community will react if the word gets out, let's hope they will be compassionate and kind. Ryan White, that courageous and winning lad from Indiana, taught millions of people that AIDS is just another illness. May the example he set be a model for all of us.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I didn't care much for a recent "Gem of the Day" sent in by Cindy Michaelson of Evanston, Ill.

To refresh your memory, it went like this: "It will be a great day when our schools have all the money they need and the Air Force has to hold a bake sale to buy another bomber."

Don't you realize, Ann, a strong military is vital to the survival of our nation? The best way to prevent another war is to be prepared for it. Costly, yes, but in the long run, a lot cheaper than being taken by surprise. -- Beaumont, Texas

DEAR TEXAS: A strong military is indeed vital to our nation's security, but as communism collapses around the world, both Republicans and Democrats have called for Defense Department cuts.

However, the hard work, dedication and sacrifices made by the men and women in the armed services deserve a salute. They are the best in the world and they helped end the Cold War.

That Gem of the Day was a call for education and peace. How about a "Gem" in praise of the individuals who have been willing to lay down their lives for our freedom -- the men and women of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines?

DEAR READERS: Recommended reading: "Terry Savage Talks Money," an excellent guide for people who want to know more about money -- how to save it, how to spend it or how to invest it. Price: $22.95. Publisher: Dearborn Financial.

Do you have questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teen-Ager," is frank and to the point. NoNoNolan gets No. 6

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Nolan Ryan called the pitching conditions almost perfect - as in almost as perfect as Nolan Ryan.

The Oakland Athletics, baseball's world champions, called the 43-year-old Texan simply awesome after Ryan made more pitching history Monday night by recording the sixth no-hitter of his 23-year major league career.

Ryan, who came off the Texas Rangers' disabled list last week after resting a sore back, struck out 14 batters and walked only two in posting the 5-0 victory.

No one else has more than four no-hitters, and Ryan now stands as the oldest pitcher ever to throw one. Cy Young was the previous oldest, 41 when he achieved the feat in 1908 with the Boston Red Sox.

"The air was cool tonight, and the ball was heavy. The ball Willie Randolph hit in the fourth, I thought would be a home run," Ryan said. "I think if we had been in our ballpark. The way the ball travels there, it probably would have been."

Pete Incaviglia ran down Randolph's drive in deep left field, and there were only a few scares for Ryan and the Rangers after that. Shortstop Jeff Huson made a tough play for the next-to-last out of the game, charging a slow grounder by Ricky Henderson and throwing him out.

When Randolph fled out to right fielder Ruben Sierra in foul territory to end the game, Texas players mobbed Ryan and carried him from the field. Ryan's wife, Ruth, and two of his children were also on hand to congratulate him, and a bottle of champagne was delivered to the pitcher before he reached the clubhouse.

"Amazing is the only way to describe him. Forty-three years old and he's throwing 93 and 94 mile-an-hour fastballs - in the eighth and ninth innings," said Carney Lansford, who pinch hit in the eighth inning and returned to the A's bench as one of Ryan's strikeout victims.

"The key to the game, I think, was that I had good command of the fastball and made good pitches with it, and I had a good changeup," Ryan said. "Oakland is a free-swinging ballclub, and because of that they were swinging at changeups even when they were out of the strike zone."

The A's top two power hitters, Jose Canseco and Mark McGwire, were out of the lineup, Canseco because of a bad back.

But Ryan was throwing to a catcher, John Russell, he'd never worked with before, and his back was giving him some trouble.

"I was giving my back time to respond," he said later, explaining why he took so much time between pitches, especially late in the game. "I threw 130 pitches, and that was about my limit."

The Rangers took a 2-0 lead in the first on Julio Franco's two-run homer off Scott Sanderson (7-3). Russell homered in the second, Franco hit another two-run homer in the fifth, and over the last few innings the Oakland crowd of 33,436 was cheering "Nolan, Nolan."

Ryan pitched four no-hitters with the California Angels, tying Sandy Koufax's all-time major league record, in a three-year period (1973-75) early in his career. He got No. 5 in 1981 as a member of the Houston Astros, in a 5-0 decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I just missed a couple last year, and that makes this extra special," Ryan said, referring to the five times in 1989 that he went through seven innings without allowing a hit. Three of those no-hit bids were broken up in the eighth, two in the ninth.

"It certainly has a special place, up there with the fifth one, because it comes so late in my career," added Ryan, who is 5-3 this season and 294-266 for his career with 59 shutouts and 5,152 strikeouts.

Last season, he became the first pitcher to reach the 5,000 strikeout mark. Henderson of the A's was victim No. 5,000.

"Nothing impresses me more than longevity," Oakland manager Tony La Russa said. "Obviously, I pull for the A's more than for Nolan Ryan, but you have to respect him."

Ryan has pitched 12 one-hitters, including one on April 26 this season against Chicago. His 18 low-hit games - no-hitters and one-hitters - is another big league record, and he has had numerous no-hit bids end in the eighth inning or later.

"I've been there before and know the disappointment," he said. "When the ninth started tonight, my attitude was to just go out there and throw good pitches. If they got a hit, they were going to get it on a good pitch."

One of the few curves he threw late in the game, he said, was the pitch that Henderson grounded to shortstop in the ninth, "and I had to give it a lot of thought before throwing it."

Ryan insisted that he gave almost no thought to the possibility of a no-hitter until the eighth inning.

His teammates, following baseball tradition, never mentioned it at all.

"In a game like that, the further you go, the further away from you everybody sits in the dugout," he said.

Elsewhere in the American League, it was Milwaukee 4, Toronto 1; Cleveland 4, Boston 3 in 12 innings; California 3, Kansas City 2, and Chicago 3, Seattle 1.

Brewers 4, Blue Jays 1
Bill Krueger pitched 5 1-3 hitless innings in a rare start as Milwaukee broke a five-game losing streak.

Krueger (3-3) allowed two hits, walked one and struck out five in eight innings.

Krueger, a reliever making his first start since last June 24, gave up a one-out single to Mookie Wilson in the sixth. Wilson scored on a two-out single by Tony Fernandez to end the shutout bid.

The Brewers scored four runs in the fourth against Willie Blair (0-3). Greg Brock, Greg Vaughn and Gary Sheffield had run-scoring hits.

Indians 4, Red Sox 3
Tom Brookens lined a two-out single to score Jerry Browne from second base in the 12th inning.

Rudy Seanez, a 21-year-old rookie reliever, earned his first major league victory and Doug Jones got his 20th save.

Browne began the 12th with a ground single to center against Dennis Lamp (0-2) and took second on Mitch Webster's sacrifice. Chris James grounded out before Brookens, who entered the game in the 10th, lined a 1-2 pitch to left field.

White Sox 3, Mariners 1
Melido Perez pitched seven shutout innings and Carlton Fisk hit the 341st homer of his career.

Perez (6-4) allowed four hits in seven innings.

Fisk gave the White Sox a 1-0 lead when he led off the second with a homer off Matt Young (1-7).

Angels 3, Royals 2
Lance Parrish homered with two outs in the ninth inning to give Bert Blyleven and California the victory.

Reliever Mark Davis (1-3) struck out the first two men in the ninth before Parrish connected for his 10th homer on a 1-1 pitch.

Blyleven (6-3) pitched a complete game, allowing eight hits, striking out four and walking three.

Ageless wonder keeps on going

By JIM DONAGHY
AP Baseball Writer

After 24 seasons in the major leagues, Nolan Ryan's future is just as interesting as his past.

How many more no-hitters? How many more strikeouts? How many more victories?

Ryan, 43, answered one of those questions Monday night when he pitched his sixth no-hitter to beat Oakland 5-0 for career shutout No. 59. He has two more no-hitters than Sandy Koufax had and three more than Bob Feller.

Want more? Ryan has pitched 12 one-hitters and 19 three-hitters.

"I haven't gotten bored with no-hitters, yet," Ryan said. "I don't know how many more chances I'm going to get, but the way I've been throwing, it's certainly not out of the question that I'll get another shot."

Ryan opened the season on April 9 with five no-hit innings against Toronto. He pitched a one-hitter and struck out 16 White Sox on April 26.

Watching Ryan pitch a baseball game is like going to a museum to see a Van Gogh, or to the concert hall to hear a Mozart symphony. First, Ryan catches your senses and then your breath.

When Ryan is on the mound, history is right there with him.

He has pitched in four decades, and each of his 45 major league records seem to have a story to tell.

Of his six no-hitters, none may have been his best game.

"I still think one of the best games I ever pitched was against Boston," Ryan said in his slow Texas drawl.

"I retired the last 26 hitters in a row. I led the game off with a walk, struck somebody out, and then Carl Yastrzemski hit a ground ball through the hole between short and third."

Ryan drops names such as Yastrzemski, Reggie Jackson, Hank Aaron and Willie Mays like friends trying to get together a softball game in Central Park.

He has struck out 44 MVP winners and 19 Hall of Famers, with more to come. Ryan has also fanned Bobby and Barry Bonds and Ken Griffey and Ken Jr. He also struck out brothers Jesus, Felipe and Matty Alou.

He is the all-time strikeout leader with 5,152 and six wins short of the magic 300 mark. Next on the strikeout list is Steve Carlton with 4,136.

To put it in perspective, for a pitcher starting out to reach Ryan's totals, he would have to average 20 wins and 343 strikeouts for 15 seasons.

Like Van Gogh and Mozart, Ryan had flaws in his youth, too.

The word of Ryan's 99-mph heat hit in the summer of 1966 when he struck out 272 batters in 183 innings while going 17-2 for Greenville, a New York Mets farm club.

But he couldn't find his control with the Mets, walking 344 in 510 innings over parts of five seasons, and kept putting his blistered fingers in pickle brine. But Ryan did save a game in the 1969 World Series against Baltimore, his only championship ring.

The Mets traded him to California in 1971 along with three minor leaguers for aging infielder Jim Fregosi, and Ryan started his journey to Cooperstown while Fregosi prepared for retirement. Fregosi played his last game in 1978 and has already been hired and fired as a major league manager three times.

Despite his many records, Ryan's critics until recently said he was just a .500 pitcher (294-266).

"I think it's the nature of the teams I've played on," Ryan said in defense of his record.

After eight seasons and four no-hitters in California, Ryan spent nine years in Houston before signing as a free agent with the Rangers prior to the 1989 season.

At 42, Ryan was 16-10 with a major league high 301 strikeouts for the Rangers last year. Five times he carried a no-hitter into the eighth inning. Five times it didn't seem possible last season, either.

"He's amazing," Oakland manager Tony La Russa said. "Obviously, I pull for the A's more than I do for Nolan Ryan, but you just have to respect him. He had good stuff with a lot of movement. The guy is something special, and there is honor in defeat sometimes."

Performance thrills family, teammates

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Nolan Ryan is at an age when he likes to spend a little more time with his family.

And, like any other 43-year-old, he thought it would be nice to take them on a summer vacation. Monday night's journey wasn't to Yellowstone Park, the Grand Canyon, Disneyland or Mount Rushmore.

Ryan brought his family to the Oakland Coliseum and they saw dad make history again as he pitched the sixth no-hitter of his career.

Ryan's 14-year-old son, Reese, was in the dugout, and it's "not that often" that he is, Rangers manager Bobby Valentine said. "We might make it a different policy."

"I looked down there after the seventh, and there was his son, rubbing his back, talking to him," Valentine said. "It was some sight, one wonderful sight."

"I've never been happier in my professional life."

Ryan's wife, Ruth, was lifted out of the crowd and was on the top step of the dugout waiting for interviews to be over with her husband. She flew in from Texas and got to the bus just as he was leaving for the ballpark.

Non-family members were pretty excited, too.

John Russell, on baseball's scrap heap in April after being released by Atlanta, earned a niche in history by catching Nolan Ryan's latest no-hitter. Russell was picked up on waivers by the Texas Rangers in April and hadn't caught Ryan until Monday night.

"I just told him before the game it was an honor and I was looking forward to catching him," Russell said. "I hit against him before, but I never caught him."

It proved quite an experience. "I can't even talk about it. How can you explain it, you know, catching a Nolan Ryan no-hitter? It's the first time I've caught him, and that was a big enough thrill. And then he throws a no-hitter. It's unbelievable. I don't know what to say.

"It was like I was in a coma," Russell said. "I had no feeling whatsoever. I was numb. I just wanted to see it keep going."

"I've never seen a look in a guy's eyes like I saw in his eyes tonight."

It's a look some baseball veterans have seen before.

"It was Nolan as pretty much Nolan," said Oakland's Willie Randolph, whose foul fly to right ended the game. "He's a Hall of Famer, and tonight he had his stuff going."

"I'm happy for him in one way," added Oakland's Carney Lansford, "because I played with him on the Angels ... but I never had the displeasure of facing him in a no-hitter."

"There's not much you can do. It was a masterpiece in the Nolan Ryan style. He works slowly and you just can't go out there and tell him to speed it up."

"I could see from the on-deck circle that his fastball was just taking off."

"Obviously," Oakland manager Tony LaRussa said, "I pull for the A's more than I do for Nolan Ryan, but you just have to respect him. He had good stuff with a lot of movement."

"The guy is something special, and there is honor in defeat sometimes."

At 43, Ryan is the oldest pitcher ever to throw a no-hitter. He beat Cy Young's record by two years.

"The amazing thing is, I caught two innings in an old-timers game yesterday and I'm as stiff as a board," A's broadcaster and former player Ray Fosse said. "He's the same age as I am, and he goes out and pitches a no-hitter."

Lewis wins all-around

Four local competitors qualify for THSRA finals

Hereford's Regina Lewis wrapped up the season all-around title Saturday at the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association finals in Dumas as four Hereford competitors qualified for the Texas High School Finals Rodeo being held this week in Abilene.

Lewis qualified for the state finals in all four girls' events, scoring five event wins in three go-rounds over the weekend to hold off Channing's Amy Hill for the all-around title.

Lewis' wins included Saturday's pole bending to claim the season title in the event by one-half point over Hill. Lewis added another season crown in goat tying and was third for the year in barrel racing. In the average standings for the three days, Lewis was first in the poles, goat tying and all-around.

Burt Noland qualified for the state finals in calf roping, steer wrestling and team roping. The senior placed seventh in team roping Thursday with Jake Monroe of Dumas and was eighth in calf roping in the opening go-round. On Friday Noland finished seventh in both calf roping and steer wrestling. Noland ended the season in third place in steer wrestling and added a fourth-place finish in the average in calf roping.

Mickey Gomez started the weekend by taking second place Thursday in steer wrestling and team roping with partner Jerry Don Thompson of Channing. The performance put Gomez in second place in the day's all-around standings. Gomez and Thompson added a fifth-place finish in Friday's team roping to finish second in the average. Gomez ended the year second in team roping and qualified for the state finals in team roping and steer wrestling.

Also attending the state finals is Jeri McConnell, who qualified in barrel racing and the cutting horse competition.

Entries remain for KCIT

Entries are being taken for the KCIT-TV Golf Challenge, which will visit Pitman Municipal Golf Course on June 29.

The contest provides golfers with three shots at a hole-in-one, according to Pitman Head Pro Brent Warner.

"This is something that we can get a lot of people involved in and have fun with," Warner said. "It's going to provide a lot of publicity for our course and for Hereford."

"Part of the show will be a preview of the next week's course and KCIT will have a crew out here sometime in June to film that."

KCIT, which broadcasts on channel 14, is carried on cable channel 13 in Hereford.

Each round of the contest will be taped by KCIT for airing at 10 p.m. the following Sunday. Each week's half-hour show will feature highlights and golf tips from the resident professional of that week's course.

Entry fee for the contest is $10 for three balls. Warner said the Pitman GC date will be held on the par-3 sixth hole from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Players will have 50 seconds to hit all three balls. If time expires, any remaining balls are forfeited.

Entries will be limited to 70 players each week with entries being taken on a first-come, first-serve basis. If there are not 70 participants for a round, players may enter a second time until all slots are filled.

The top three finishers each week will be awarded cash prizes and gift certificates and qualify for the Playoff Challenge to be held at Ross Rogers GC in Amarillo at the end of the series. Once a player has qualified, he cannot play in additional rounds. Payoff for the Playoff Challenge will be a $500 grand prize with a new car being offered for a hole-in-one.

Among the courses being used for the Challenge are Ross Rogers East and West, Comanche Trails and Southwest in Amarillo, Palo Duro Creek and Canyon Country Club in Canyon, Borger's Huber GC, Dumas

Country Club, Pampa Country Club, Clarendon Country Club and Dalhart Country Club.

Warner has also announced the Hereford Men's City Championship has been scheduled for July 7-8 at Pitman GC.

Entry fee for the tourney is $30 per player plus cart and green fees.

Entries will be flighted by handicap with prizes being awarded in both low gross and low net standings for each flight.

For more information about the KCIT Challenge or the city championship, contact Warner at 364-2782.

Giants not out of race just yet

By JIM DONAGHY
AP Baseball Writer
Don't count the San Francisco Giants out just yet.

Only a week ago, the defending National League champs seemed destined for oblivion in the West.

San Francisco won for the ninth time in 10 games Monday with an 8-3 victory over Atlanta to move within nine games of first-place Cincinnati.

Nine games may seem a lot, but it was only a little more than a week ago the Giants trailed the Reds by 14 games.

The Giants have a team batting average of .333 (130-for-390) for the 10 games they've played in June, a month that began with the team 10 games under .500.

"You can't ask more from the offense than that," said Brett Butler, who snapped a 3-3 game in the seventh with a run-scoring double.

The Giants won three of four from the Braves, scoring 43 runs on 62 hits in the series, to move within two games of the .500 mark. San Francisco has won five of seven from Atlanta this season, averaging 9.6 runs a game.

"It's nice to be playing well going into San Diego," Giants manager Roger Craig said. "Everybody thinks they're the only club that can catch Cincinnati. We'll wait and see."

The Giants struggled through the first two months of the season as starters Rick Reuschel, Don Robinson, Kelly Downs and Mike LaCoss all landed on the disabled list.

Elsewhere in the NL, it was Chicago 8, New York 5; Houston 5, Los Angeles 3; Pittsburgh 8, St. Louis 7; and Montreal swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 5-0 and 3-2.

Robby Thompson started the Giants' seventh with a one-out single off John Smoltz (3-5) and Butler doubled with two outs to put the Giants ahead.

Expos 5, Phillies 0
Expos 3, Phillies 2

Lenny Dykstra, leading the major leagues in batting, went hitless in consecutive games for the first time this season and had his hitting streak stopped at 23.

Dykstra went 0-for-3 with a walk against Kevin Gross in the first game and 0-for-5 in the second. His average dipped from .407 to .392, and he finished tied for the fourth-longest streak in modern Phillies history.

Mike Fitzgerald homered and drove in three runs in the opener, then hit an RBI single in the nightcap.

Cubs 8, Mets 5

Ryne Sandberg had four hits, including a home run, and red-hot Mark Grace added three hits.

In his last 11 games, Grace has reached base safely 22 times in 39 plate appearances (16 hits and six walks) to raise his average from .258 to .292.

Astros 5, Dodgers 3

Utilityman Casey Candaele drove in the game-winning hit, for the second straight game with his third career homer.

Rafael Ramirez singled to start the seventh inning off starter Mike Morgan (6-5), and after Rich Gedman sacrificed Ramirez to second, Candaele homered.

Pirates 8, Cardinals 7

Doug Drabek failed to protect a 6-0 lead, but Jeff King snapped an eighth-inning tie with a run-scoring single.

Jose Lind doubled leading off the eighth against reliever Tom Niedenfuer (0-1) and advanced on a groundout before King drove him home with his third hit of the game to make it 7-6. Jay Bell followed with his second RBI triple of the night.

Riley leaving LA Lakers

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - Stylish Pat Riley, the impeccably dressed director of Showtime the last nine years, has decided to take his act elsewhere, probably to the tube.

Mike Dunleavy, Riley's successor with the Los Angeles Lakers, will have a tough act to follow, both as a head coach and fashion plate.

Riley, who coached the Lakers to four NBA championships since taking over the team early in the 1981-82 season, had tears in his eyes as he bowed out of his job Monday at a news conference.

"It's just time for me at age 45 to move on," he said. "There are other things to do. There isn't anything specific I can say right now. I had a choice to make, a decision to make, as a person."

Accompanied by his wife, Chris, who also teared up, Riley said he was neither "fed up" nor "burned out" - just ready for a change.

"The last 10 years have been the greatest experience of my life," he said. "It was a wonderful decade of memorable experiences I've had. Basketball has been my life. I've been 20 years in this game."

"There are other things I want to do in my life. I don't want to be an old timer before I do them."

Riley, who still has two years left on his contract, is reportedly in line for a broadcasting job with NBC, which becomes the NBA's prime network next season. His decision to leave the Lakers confirmed rumors which circulated for several weeks.

Dunleavy, 36, an assistant coach for the Milwaukee Bucks the last three seasons, becomes the second-youngest head coach in the NBA.

Coincidentally, Riley was 36 when the Lakers hired him as head coach on Nov. 19, 1981, to succeed the fired Paul Westhead.

Riley guided the Lakers to an NBA-best 63-19 record this season and was named NBA Coach of the Year for the first time in his career. But Los Angeles was eliminated by Phoenix in five games in the Western Conference semifinals - the first time the Lakers didn't reach the conference finals since 1981, their final season under Westhead.

Under Riley, the Lakers went 533-194, a .733 winning percentage. They also went 102-47 in playoff games, the most playoff wins by one coach in NBA history.

Riley declined to comment on reports he was returning to the broadcast booth. NBC said it would have no comment on its NBA lineup until the finals conclude.

Riley worked as a color commentator with broadcaster Chick Hearn for two seasons before being hired as an assistant to Westhead in November 1979. When Westhead was fired 11 games into the 1981-82 season, Riley took over and guided the team to the NBA championship that season.

Three more championships followed - 1985, 1987 and 1988. Riley promised after the 1987 season that the Lakers would repeat. When they did, they became the first team to do so since Boston in 1969.

After the Lakers were eliminated by the Suns, reports surfaced of rifts between Riley and general manager Jerry West and between Riley and some of his players.

Riley, however, denied there were problems.

Riley said he had been thinking about leaving the Lakers for about five months and made his final decision to leave about 10 days ago. But he said he kept it quiet so the Lakers could look for a replacement without a lot of fanfare, and then make just one announcement.

Blazers try to rebound

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Having lost their homecourt advantage and their defense, the Portland Trail Blazers are perilously close to losing the NBA Finals.

A loss at home tonight to Detroit would put them down 3-1. No team has survived that deficit in a championship series, and two of the possible three remaining games would be at the Pistons' home in Auburn Hills, Mich.

Guard Joe Dumars, whose father died Sunday after a long illness, was expected to play for Detroit. Pistons forward Dennis Rodman, who missed Sunday's 121-106 Detroit win with a sprained left ankle, felt better and might play.

Physically, the Blazers are healthy. Their defense, though, was ailing in Game 3 when Detroit had its biggest offensive output of the playoffs to move two wins away from a second consecutive championship.

"It's pretty critical," Portland center Kevin Duckworth said of tonight's game. "We at least have to tie" the series.

Game 5 is scheduled for Thursday night in Portland, where the Blazers had two home winning streaks snapped Sunday - 20 games against Detroit and nine games in this year's playoffs. The loss cost them the homecourt advantage they gained with a 106-105 overtime win in Auburn Hills in Game 2.

"There's always pressure on the home team to win," Detroit's Isiah Thomas said. "It compounds the pressure when you lose at home."

"Once you get to this level, there's not really a homecourt advantage," Vinnie Johnson said. "Sometimes I play better on the road because everything's against you and your concentration level is that much higher."

Johnson did Sunday. He made 9 of 13 shots and scored 21 points after hitting 1-of-10 for four points in the first two games.

Dumars led Detroit with 33 points and Thomas had 21 as Portland gave the Pistons numerous open outside shots.

"We remain confident," Portland's Jerome Kersey said. "We just have to pay more attention to the defensive end of our game. They were running where they wanted to and getting open shots."

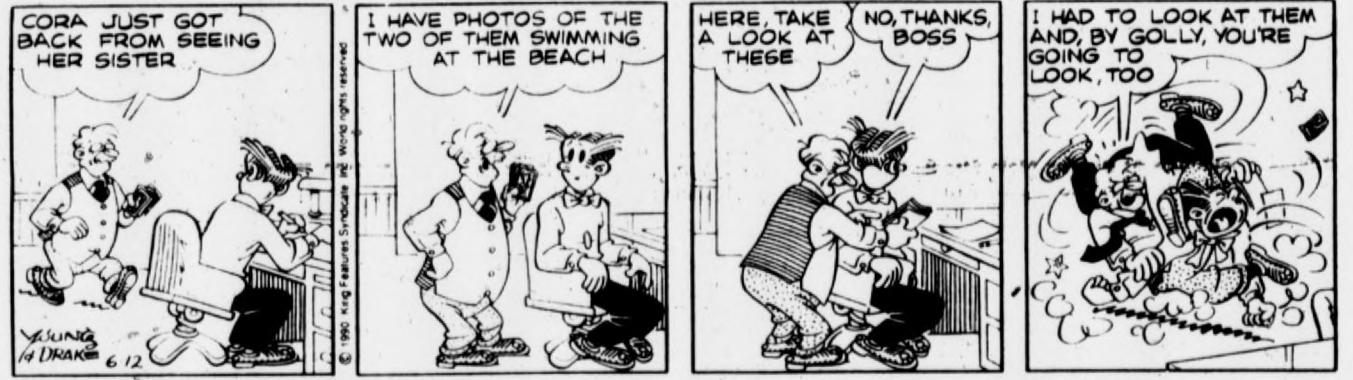

"We've got to start getting some hands up on defense," Terry Porter said.

Portland coach Rick Adelman was upset with his team's halfcourt defense. Detroit had only six fastbreak points. The fact the Pistons shot well - 53.1 percent of their shots - meant the Blazers couldn't grab defensive rebounds and run on offense.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: Regarding your column on controlling muscle cramps, over 15 years ago I read a Canadian medical research paper which recommended using vitamin E to control cramps. I used it and for these 15 years have successfully controlled leg and hand cramps — cramps mainly at night. I take vitamin E and selenium. I can prevent cramps by taking this formulation in advance of bedtime. Why don't athletic coaches use this? When I do hard work on my tree farm I know I will get cramps at night, so this prevention is great.

DEAR READER: Vitamin E has been used for years to control leg cramps. It is included in the list of medicines I have mentioned to control leg cramps in Special Report 62, Leg Cramps, Jerks and Restless Legs, which I'm sending you. If it works, fine, but I'm less than enthusiastic about taking selenium because not so much is known about its toxic effects. It has actions in the body that are similar or the same as vitamin E but there is a greater risk of toxicity. Some people obtain relief from additional calcium. In others the quinine group including Quinidine and Quinamm are used.

But before taking medicines, I prefer for people to use other methods. One of these is stretching. A good stretching routine before going to bed, particularly for leg cramps, often helps. In your case I think you should also do a good job of stretching after that hard day of work on your tree farm.

Also important is keeping the feet and legs sufficiently warm at night.

Although electric blankets are fine and work for some, the legs are the coolest part of the body and need extra warmth. That is why a good pair of long warm socks, preferably wool socks, or the bottoms of thermal underwear with socks often help. Keep the feet warm.

Even sleeping position as applied to the feet is important because if the toe is pointed down, the calf muscles are already partially contracted and cramps are more likely to occur.

I have discussed these things you can do in the Special Report I'm sending you. Others who want this report can send $2 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER 62, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

DEAR DR. LAMB: A recent bout with a virus, which made me very weak and tired, leads me to ask: exactly where does one's strength go when one loses it? What is strength? Is it a chemical in our body or what? I assume most of our strength goes to fight the invading microbes.

DEAR READER: An illness can cause you to lose body fluid — become dehydrated — particularly if you must be at bed rest. This can cause you to feel faint when you stand. Even after you have restored your body fluids, you may have an increased tendency to feel weak or faint on standing. I studied many young pilots after viral illnesses to be sure they could return to the stresses of pulling G forces in high performance aircraft. It was sometimes two or three months before their normal circulatory adjustments were regained.

Muscle strength is also lost if you can't exercise at the same level. Even healthy persons will start losing their level of fitness if more than a week passes without engaging in the same level of activity. This can affect both your skeletal and heart muscle.

There are cell changes, fluid changes and chemical changes as well as changes in reflex mechanisms. Not one, but many factors are involved in regaining your strength after an illness.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) - James Michener wrote a plea to three young men who pleaded guilty to anti-Semitic vandalism: "Get off that doomed train right now."

A judge had given the men an unusual sentence: learn about the Nazi Holocaust. Part of the assignment was to read a chapter from the author's book "Poland" on a concentration camp.

After learning of the sentence, Michener wrote to the men through the judge, John Carey, who said Wednesday he was moved by the author's interest.

"Fellows, what you're doing is wrong," Michener wrote. "You will stain yourselves if you follow that route. Get off that doomed train right now."

Michael Morano, 18, Michael Venturino, 18, and Neville Anthony Mason, 20, pleaded guilty to defacing a high school a year ago.

"Picnic!" provides basics for all outdoor meals

NEW YORK (AP) — "Picnic!" by Edith Stovel offers more than 25 picnic menus, from potluck picnics, store-bought picnics, romantic picnics and picnics in a park.

Each menu contains an entree, side dishes and dessert. Each recipe generally serves eight, and includes preparation and cooking times.

For example, Stovel's menu for a "Family Celebration Picnic in the Backyard" includes recipes for Taco Salad, Barbecued Chicken, Eight Bean Salad, Corn on the Cob and Garden Lettuce Tossed Salad and Grandma Bea's Strawberry Shortcake.

Special storage and packing tips, and rainy day alternatives, are included.

In a "note for the environment," Stovel says: "Care for the land on which you have your picnic and abide by the back country rule that you leave nothing but your footprints."

Stovel says picnickers should avoid excessive use of disposable plastics and plastic foam, and bring their own garbage bag for trash collection.

"If you plan to picnic frequently," she writes, "it will benefit both you and the environment to invest in some permanent picnic ware."

Stovel, who lives in Williamstown, Mass., created and operated her own summer picnic and catering business. She is the author of "Salt Free Herb Cookery."

GRILLED SALMON FILLETS WITH MUSTARD DILL SAUCE

Preparation time: 20 minutes
4 pounds salmon

For the sauce:
1/2 cup plain yogurt
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/4 cup Dijon mustard
1 tablespoon minced fresh dill
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dill sprigs for garnish

Rinse the salmon in cold water and remove any visible bones. Place the salmon in a low-sided baking dish, skin side down.

Combine the remaining ingredients, except dill sprigs, in a small bowl. Whisk until well blended. Brush the salmon lightly with the sauce and let it reach room temperature while preparing the grill.

Preheat a gas grill at high heat and then turn down to low, or build a medium charcoal fire. Grill the salmon for 7 to 10 minutes on a side, or until the flesh is flaky.

Arrange the salmon on a serving plate and spoon the remaining sauce over the pieces. Garnish with dill sprigs. Makes 8 servings.
