Richards says special session likely for budget

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Legislature will be called into special session in early to mid-July to write the 1992-93 state budget, Gov. Ann Richards says.

In an interview, Richards said Thursday that she probably will convene the budget-writing special session in the second week of July. It's possible lawmakers could remain in session until the start of the new budget year on Sept. 1, she said.

"Nothing is more important to me than the budget and revenue," Richards said.

Lawmakers face a projected budget deficit of $4.6 billion to maintain current services during the next two years.

Richards and legislative leaders agreed this week to wait until summer to write the budget.

That will allow time for auditors to complete a comprehensive review of all state agency spending, Richards said. It also will allow a special tax committee headed by former Gov. John Connally to make recommendations on changes in the state tax system.

The governor said she hoped the House and Senate tax and budget committees would begin meeting in the third or fourth week of June to prepare for the special session.

Richards said she hoped lawmakers wouldn't have to remain in session until Sept. 1. "But I am trying to make my schedule to say at the outside that they would be here until Sept. 1," she said.

Crew stripes city streets

A road striping crew from Tyler "paints" new stripes at the crosswalk at U.S. Highway 385 and Moreman this week. The man at the right is applying a new type of paint that is actually a hot plastic with white pigment added to it. The man at right is throwing reflecting glass beads onto the plastic before it hardens to help the lines show up at night. The crew repainted all of the stripes along U.S. 385 and also repainted marking on U.S. Highway 60 east of town.

Census Bureau admits missing up to 500,000

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Census Bureau says it may have missed more than half a million Texans when it counted the state's population last year.

Officials say the Census Bureau's new numbers for Texas could swing millions of federal dollars into the state and shift substantial political power to minorities at city halls, county commissioners courts and legislative offices around the state.

The bureau said Thursday that it may have missed as few as 236,490 or as many as 632,490 Texans living in the state last April.

Texas officials said the figures validate their claims that thousands of people in the state were missed during the 1990 head count.

Rep. Martin Frost, D-Dallas, said the preliminary survey results reinforced his call for an adjustment in the 1990 census to account for thousands of blacks and Hispanics who were apparently overlooked.

"This is a pretty significant admission by the Census Bureau that they've missed a lot of people," Frost said.

The Census Bureau survey said its low estimate puts the Texas population at 17,223,000, while the high estimate shows the state may have had 17,619,000 residents last year.

Frost said the new numbers, if adopted and used to draw new political boundaries, could result in significant shifts in power to minorities at the local, county and state level.

"It's not just money but political power," said Frost. "There's a real prospect for a shift in power; of additional minorities elected to city councils, county commissioners courts and to the Legislature, all over the state."

White seats will get three congressional seats under the 1990 count, Frost and other officials said it's not clear whether an adjustment would give the state its 31st seat in the House.

El Paso Mayor Suzie Azar also called the new numbers encouraging. The city, which has joined the lawsuit seeking an adjustment, believes the census missed at least 18,000 residents.

US, Iraq discuss refugees

INCIRLIK AIR BASE, Turkey (AP) - U.S., British and French military commanders today sought Iraqi assurances that allied troops building refugee camps in northern Iraq will not be attacked by Saddam Hussein's army.

The U.S. commander of the relief effort, Lt. Gen. John M. Shalikashvili, left for Incirlik on a flight to Zakhu, eight miles south of the Turkish border, for a noon meeting with Iraqi commanders, said Capt. Ron Hahn, a U.S. military spokesman.

Shalikashvili was to be accompanied by British Vice Marshall Dick Johns and French Brig. Gen. Maurice LaPage for the talks aimed at avoiding hostilities between the allies and Iraq, said U.S. Air Force spokesman Philip Crowley.

Crowley cautioned, however, that as of this morning there was no confirmation of the Iraqi commanders would be in Zakhu.

U.S. military pilots, meanwhile, reported seeing Kurdish refugees moving toward Zakhu. Crowley said he believed they anticipated a U.S.-managed refugee settlement there.

House, Senate argue school finance figures

AUSTIN (AP) - House and Senate leaders are continuing their heated debate over the cost of the new school finance reform law.

Rep. Bruce Gibson, a Democrat from Cleburne who heads the House Government Organization Committee, accused Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock Thursday of promoting a political agenda with his cost estimate.

Bullock has released a Texas Education Agency projection that local school property taxes will increase $2.1 billion over the next two years under the law.

"He's trying to scare the property taxpayers by this state and over-panic everybody that they're going to have to see these enormous property tax increases and that an income tax would be better," Gibson said.

Bullock favors a state income tax to meet Texas' needs in education and other areas. He has said property tax relief is needed.

House leaders, armed with their own TEA estimate, put the new law's two-year local property tax increase at $992 million. Additional state aid is to be $1.3 billion over the next two years.

House Speaker Gib Lewis said numbers distributed by Bullock were "inflated to the worst scenario."

Bullock said Thursday he wouldn't have been surprised if some lawmakers in the House advocated charging public school students tuition, as long as it kept state costs down.

"Many members of the House, certainly not all, did prefer to lay the responsibility for paying for the bill on local school districts instead of rightfully assuming the responsibility ... and (letting) Texas pay its proportionate part," Bullock said.

Senate Education Committee Chairman Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said, "For people like Bruce Gibson, the buck stops anywhere but here."

Figures distributed by Lewis indicate school districts can meet the new law's requirements and maintain current funding levels by raising local property taxes a total of $2.3 billion over four years.

The four-year figure from Bullock for local property tax increases is $6.1 billion.

The main difference between the two estimates apparently is that Bullock's assumes school districts' tax rates will go up 5 percent a year to cover increased costs, said Rafe Greenlee, Bullock's press secretary.

Bullock said he did not suggest the 5 percent increase, but that it was based on historical data on school district tax rates.

Greenlee cited a letter to Bullock from Jim Oliver of the Legislative Budget Board calling the estimate Bullock released "the best possible effort at this time at projecting statewide state and local revenue requirements."

The school finance law will transfer hundreds of millions of dollars in local property tax revenue from wealthier to poorer school districts drawn largely along county lines.

The law was passed in response to a Texas Supreme Court order to even out funding to school districts.

The court has twice, unanimously, ruled unconstitutional the current $14 billion-a-year system, which relies on state aid, local property taxes and some federal money.

Local districts' reliance on their own property tax revenue currently results in huge funding disparities.

Critics mixed on Bush school plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - Educators and government leaders say they don't know where the money will come from to finance President Bush's proposed "revolution" in the U.S. educational system.

"If the plan is to succeed, it will require a major commitment in terms of resources and will," NAACP spokesman James Williams said Thursday after Bush unveiled his plan. "We question whether the financial resources that have been required are adequate to do the job."

The president called for top-to-bottom school reforms, including a voluntary nationwide exam system, federal aid pegged to academic results and $550 million in start-up funds for "a new generation of schools."

Bush said he will ask Congress for $690 million, mostly for $1 million seed grants to open a prototype "New American School" in each of the 435 congressional districts plus two others for each state by 1996.

He invited communities to vie for the grants to create the 535 non-traditional new schools, some of which may be operated by private businesses.

"I'm here to say America will move forward," Bush declared at a White House ceremony. "Our challenge amounts to nothing less than a revolution in American education, a battle for our future."

But critics voiced a common refrain: where will the money come from?

Albert Shanker, president of the American Federation of Teachers, said essential federal programs like Chapter One for disadvantaged youngsters, education of the handicapped and student financial aid all are operating at half strength. The new initiatives fail to provide additional money for the programs, he said.

Keith Geiger, president of the National Education Association, applauded the initiatives but said "there are hurdles we all must overcome."

"In state after state, massive cutbacks in education funding are overcrowding classroom and canceling imaginative programs," said Geiger. He added that his union's 2 million member teachers "are understandably cynical about moving ahead to a bright, new future when the present financial climate looks so threatening."

The plan, crafted by new Education Secretary Lamar Alexander in his first month on the job, calls for relatively little new federal spending. It relies instead upon states, governors, teachers, parents, students and communities to take steps to embrace the rigorous new education goals that Bush and the governors pronounced early last year.

Mississippi Gov. Ray Mabus said the education initiatives closely follow those enacted in 1990 by his state's legislature. But the Mississippi program is in limbo because lawmakers have not been able to fund its $138 million, three-year costs.

Bush has enlisted business leaders to raise at least $150 million to underwrite the costs of designing the new schools, which he said should "break the mold" and throw out the rule book for existing schools.

Johnson called insecure by author

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) - Lyndon B. Johnson was an insecure man who thought that acting like President John Kennedy would bring glamour to the White House and endear him to the American people, a Bowling Green State University history professor says. Though envious of Kennedy's alleged sexual exploits and war bravado, Johnson was vulgar in his attempts to imitate his predecessor, Paul Henggeler said in his newly released book, "In His Steps" - Lyndon Johnson and the Kennedy Mystique.

Henggeler called Johnson a "closet Kennedy."

"I think I show just how much Johnson sought to mimic himself after Kennedy after he became president. He constantly tried to pattern himself as an intellectual and, to some degree, to mimic Kennedy as terms of being stylish and a trend setter," Henggeler said Thursday. Johnson's efforts to imitate Kennedy's style made him seem oafish, the book said.

Henggeler pointed to the time

Johnson posed for the cover of Gentleman's Quarterly magazine. "When Johnson became president, he received a memo from press secretary Bill Moyers saying John Kennedy once posed on the cover of GQ in a business suit and it set a fashion trend for business suits. Moyers suggested to Johnson that he pose for the cover of GQ," Henggeler said.

"He liked the idea and it was suggested that he would be able to fashion himself by wearing Western garb on the LBJ ranch in Texas. But Johnson, when he shows up to have the picture taken on the front porch of his ranch, is not wearing Western garb but a business suit, much like the one John Kennedy wore. So it becomes a sort of comical appearance."

But Henggeler also paints a sympathetic picture of Johnson. "Other biographers have sort of one-dimensional perspective of Johnson. They see him largely as a political operator, one who is selfishly in pursuit of his own ambitions. The approach that I took was to see Johnson as a bit more sympathetic, particular in terms of how he was caught in the dilemma of the Kennedy mystique," Henggeler said.

The book said that Johnson prided himself as a ladies' man, but never achieved the level of Kennedy's reputed conquests. Instead, Henggeler said, Johnson kept detailed records of other politicians' affairs to use against them.

Henggeler and other authors have said that Johnson had extramarital affairs, swam nude in the White House and defecated in front of aides. Johnson also took some risks when it came to extramarital activity, the book said.

In the late 1930s and early 1940s, after his marriage to Lady Bird, Johnson had an affair with Alice Glass, the wife of Charles Marsh, a wealthy businessman who was instrumental to Johnson's career, the book said.

Henggeler said Mrs. Glass bore a resemblance to Jacqueline Kennedy, which may be why Johnson treated her with respect even though she often insulted and snubbed him.

Another new angle raised in the book is that Johnson gave up his powerful post as the Senate majority leader in 1960 to become a vice presidential candidate because he was told that Kennedy had cancer.

Henggeler said Johnson made several confidential telephone calls to Kennedy's father before he accepted the vice presidential nomination.

"I speculate Johnson may have accepted the position because Kennedy was dying of a concealed illness. There were rumors in late 1950s that Kennedy was dying of some kind of cancer - rumors Kennedy denied. And during the 1960 Democratic presidential primary, Johnson himself spread rumors about Kennedy's health," he said.

Another recent biography cast a more critical eye at L.B.J. Robert Caro has written two volumes of a promised four-part biography that so far has presented the former president as a self-centered, power-hungry politician willing to do anything, including stealing elections and risking his life, to advance his career.

Computerized gun sales likely

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Bush administration acknowledges that most states don't yet have the ability to conduct fully computerized "point-of-sale" records checks to prevent felons from purchasing handguns.

The administration favors such a program over a proposal that would establish a seven-day waiting period for handgun sales.

Attorney General Dick Thornburgh was unable to tell the Senate Judiciary Committee on Thursday how long it would take for federal and state governments to computerize criminal records to enable such "point-of-sale" checks.

"We are moving forward as vigorously as we can, that's all I can say," Thornburgh said.

But the attorney general said a computerized system was preferable to making handgun purchasers wait a week while local police check their records to ensure that would-be buyers are not felons.

The attorney general, however, signaled that the Bush administration was willing to accept two gun-control bills, including the waiting period, if Congress passed key elements of the president's crime package.

If President Bush won passage of his crime bill, he would also consider "much more favorably" a ban on semiautomatic weapons that the Senate passed last year.

The panel's chairman, Sen. Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del., told Thornburgh "your willingness to moderate the administration's position on gun control measures paves the way for passage of some tough legislation."

But Thornburgh made clear that a bill to set up a "point-of-purchase" system supported by the National Rifle Association "is the type that the president supports and is preferable to" the seven-day waiting period in the so-called Brady Bill.

Thornburgh's statements provoked an angry response from Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, one of the original sponsors of the Brady Bill.

"What possible harm could there be in passing the Brady Bill, having the president sign it, having the one-week delay in effect during the period while you are developing the point of sale" system, Metzenbaum said.

"I wouldn't rule that out if the Brady Bill came to the president in the context of an overall, comprehensive assault on violent crime," Thornburgh replied.

Thornburgh said only one in six guns used by convicted felons was purchased at a gun or sporting goods store, so the Brady Bill has only limited usefulness.

"The president is not going to take action that is only a partial solution," Thornburgh said. "He wants a comprehensive bill to deal with the problem of violent crime."

Thornburgh noted all the proposals before Congress, including the Brady Bill "are going to all depend on the integrity of the records."

The Brady Bill, named after former White House press secretary James S. Brady, is gaining support in Congress. Former President Reagan, who was wounded in 1981 by the same gunman who shot Brady in the head, last month gave the measure some added momentum by endorsing the bill.

The House Judiciary Committee is scheduled to vote on it next week.

Bush's crime bill contains several elements that liberal Democrats find objectionable. These include tighter restrictions on the ability of state prison death-row inmates to delay their executions by filing habeas corpus petitions in federal court.

Japanese rocket destroyed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - A rocket carrying a Japanese broadcasting satellite was blown up by remote control after apparent engine trouble sent the $100 million mass of metal tumbling toward Earth.

The Air Force sent self-destruct commands six minutes after liftoff Thursday. The two-engine Centaur guidance system - with the satellite still attached - was detonated over the Atlantic Ocean about 240 miles from the launch site.

Rocket builder General Dynamics Corp. called the incident "a great disappointment."

"There is a risk in every venture and, unfortunately, these risks sometimes result in failure," said

Allen Lovelace, chairman of General Dynamics Commercial Launch Services.

"It's clearly a disappointing event for us but also for our customer," Lovelace said.

The explosion was too far away to be seen from shore.

It was a devastating blow to General Dynamics, which endured heavy financial losses in its rocket program last year. It also was bitter news for GE Astro Space Division, which built the satellite for the Japan Broadcasting Corp.

The Atlas-Centaur flight began smoothly enough.

The 14-story rocket blasted into an overcast sky from Cape Canaveral

Air Force Station at 7:30 p.m. The launch was delayed 16 minutes because of high winds.

Lovelace said the problem occurred just after the 30-foot Centaur upper stage separated from the Atlas booster five minutes into the flight as planned. Early evidence indicates one of the Centaur's two liquid hydrogen and oxygen engines ignited, causing the Centaur to lose speed and veer out of control, he said.

Japan's national NHK television network ordered the satellite to replace one that was destroyed in the explosion of a European Ariane rocket in February 1990. The satellite lost Thursday, like the one demolished last year, was insured.

On Wednesday, April 24, Acolyte training will be held from 5-5:30 p.m. and officer elect training will be held at 7:30 p.m.

The guest speaker during the centennial celebration at the church is Dr. Andy Edington, who will be speaking Sunday and Monday, April 28-29. Dr. Edington is an uniquely gifted Bible storyteller. For 22 years, he taught a Sunday school class so well and with such unusual humor and insight that a beer distributor paid a radio station to broadcast the weekly lessons so he wouldn't have to go to church to hear them!

Maroon JV falls by tie-breaker

Caprock's junior varsity baseball team needed a tie-breaker to overcome Hereford's Maroon JV team in Thursday's opening round action at the Amarillo JV Tournament.

The two teams ended up tied at 7-7 after seven innings. Caprock was declared the winner because it advanced more runners to third base: 10-8, Hereford coach Bill Bridge said.

The Whitefaces took a 5-1 lead after scoring four in the second inning and one in the third, but Caprock plated two runs each in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings, tying the game at 5-5 after five. The Herd scored two runs in the top of the sixth to complete its scoring. Neither team scored in the seventh.

Richard Rodriguez started the game on the mound for the Whitefaces, and Ray Hastings relieved in the fifth inning.

Utah wins to stay in Midwest hunt

By JOHN KREISER
AP Sports Writer

Now that John Stockton has broken his own NBA single-season record for assists, he and the Utah Jazz can get on with the business of trying to overtake San Antonio for the Midwest Division title.

Stockton surpassed the mark of 1,134 assists he set last season when he handed off to Tony Brown with 9:16 left in Utah's 130-103 rout of the Seattle SuperSonics on Thursday night. He added one more assist, his 11th of the game, before getting the rest of the evening off.

Not that he was concerned about getting another line in the record book.

"It's not the style of our team or me to worry about records," he said. "All I really wanted to do was play. But I'm glad it's over with."

The victory kept Utah one game behind San Antonio, which won 102-95 at Houston, in the race for first place in the Midwest Division. Both teams have two games left.

Stockton's scoring, not his passing, hurt the visiting Sonics early in the third quarter. He had 8 of his 22 points in a 25-4 surge as Utah turned a 55-47 halftime lead into an 80-51 runaway.

Karl Malone led Utah with 28 points, 20 in the first half. Jeff Malone added 18.

In other NBA games, it was Philadelphia 122, Boston 97; New Jersey 108, Washington 103, and Sacramento 123, Denver 104.

Spurs 102, Rockets 95

The Rockets are coming back to earth at the wrong time. Houston fell for the fourth time in six games and lost any chance of finishing first in the Midwest as visiting San Antonio had all five starters score in double figures.

Terry Cummings led San Antonio with 21 points and David Robinson had 18 despite playing in foul trouble for much of the game.

Sleepy Floyd had 12 of his 19 points in a 2:45 span in the fourth quarter to lead a late rally. But the Rockets never got closer than three points.

Tonight's fighters like roles

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - Evander Holyfield looks like he should change clothes in a phone booth. George Foreman looks like he wouldn't fit into a phone booth.

That's exactly how both men want it.

The perfectly sculpted Holyfield defends his world heavyweight championship tonight against Foreman, the self-made man-mountain - mountains of chicken, burgers, ice cream. The champ will collect about $20 million, which can buy a whole lot of the finest new high-tech training equipment that gives Holyfield that Superman look. Foreman gets more than $12 million, which can buy, well, a whole lot more food.

"I'll take care of him, then I'll take care of my appetite," the 42-year-old Foreman said. "That money can do a whole bunch of things, but I'm going to walk away with something more important, with the title."

Foreman held the title 18 years ago. That was not just another era, it was another lifetime.

It was before he had a religious experience that made him quit boxing in 1977. Then, he was a mean-spirited former juvenile delinquent with little purpose outside the ring.

After losing to Jimmy Young, Foreman turned away from the sport that had taken him from the streets of Houston to an Olympic gold medal, an upset knockout of Joe Frazier for the heavyweight title and a humiliating defeat in Zaire to Muhammad Ali. He founded the non-denominational Church of the Lord Jesus Christ. He disappeared from the sporting spectrum.

"There was nothing left for me at that time," he said. "I didn't feel anything for being in the ring. It was over for me."

For 10 years, at least. Then, the new George Foreman, the preacher-standup comic with the 300-pound girth, launched what many considered an absurd comeback.

It was so absurd that, after all of Foreman's wisecracks about his weight, age and skills, and after 24 fights against carefully selected opponents with rankings in the neighborhood of George's poundage, here he stands. If Foreman beats the 28-year-old Holyfield, a 21-to-1 favorite, he will be the oldest champion in boxing history.

"For 20 years, I never looked at a television set," said Foreman, who weighed in at 257 pounds for this fight. "For 10 years, I would not allow my hands to make a fist. For 10 years, I didn't want to have anything to do with boxing."

Everything about this fight has been orchestrated by Foreman the Showman. The buildup, the "Battle of the Ages" theme, the likely killing on close-circuit and pay-per-view television, stems from and flourishes around him.

As he says, "There's a little bit of con man in everyone. That comes from the word confidence, and I have all the confidence in the world in myself. I like myself. I like being George Foreman."

And the public seems to like him. Or has been fooled by him. Foreman will go into the ring with Holyfield a shorter underdog than he was against Frazier in 1973.

The challenger has completely overshadowed the champion heading to this fight. With few exceptions since Foreman first retired - Mike Tyson vs. Trevor Berbick in Tyson's first title shot; Ali against Leon Spinks and Larry Holmes - that has been unheard of.

Holyfield, all business as usual, doesn't seem to mind. He just goes about his heavy-duty training regimen, fine-tuning his 208-pound physique, the best body the heavyweight ranks has seen since Ken Norton.

He laughs at Foreman's routines. He thanks Foreman for making such a payday possible. He even shows respect for his opponent, something predecessors Tyson and Buster Douglas didn't do.

"George deserves his chance," Holyfield said. "He's done something other fighters haven't, the way he's come back."

But does the 1984 Olympian (a controversial bronze medal) and onetime cruiserweight feel he gets his due?

"Respect is something you have to earn, and it will come if you do the things you are capable of doing," Holyfield said. "I can't control what people think or say about me. But I can do what I'm capable of doing."

Which, he says, is continue holding the belt he easily took from Douglas last October.

"I'll be ready for George," Holyfield said, and nobody disputes him. "I take anybody serious because anybody can beat you in that ring. But if I go into the fight in shape and give it my best, I'm not worried."

The West Texas Sportsman Show is coming to Lubbock May 10-12, and it promises to be great entertainment for the entire family. Former Dallas Cowboy All-Pro Randy White will be just one of the major attractions at the Lubbock Fairgrounds.

Fishing pros at the sportsman show include B.A.S.S. national champion and 1990 Sun Country Champion Ted Miller, who will share his winning strategies on UTE and P.K. Ted is one of only 40 anglers who qualified for the $100,000 Redman All-American.

Trout enthusiasts will enjoy noted author and expert angler Ti Piper, as he reveals where to go and what to use for successful fishing trips to New Mexico and Colorado.

This show will include boats, RV's, lake information, hunting/fishing seminars (at three casting tanks!) and even a gun and craft show.

Good news for local walleye fisherman: Joe Kraai, a biologist in West Texas for the Texas Parks and Wildlife department, reports that walleye in Lake Meredith are in great shape. The declining lake level is cause for some concern, and an old-fashioned rain dance soon may be required, but the number of keeper walleye (more than 16 inches) has never been better, Kraai said. He is the area's leading proponent of those toothy monsters which seem to disappear during prime summertime fishing. Perhaps this is the year to start catching the tasty walleye and give the bass a rest.

If and when Joe shares his how-to-catch-'em walleye secrets, you will read them first in this column. Catching walleye remains a mystery to all but a handful of anglers, and these experts keep their lips sealed and sneak around the lake on moonless nights.

As a Navy pilot raised on the high plains of Texas, I had two goals. One was to be an astronaut, and the other was to catch a limit of walleye. A call from NASA seems more likely than a livewell full of those yankee transplants, but this year just might be one for the record books.

Garrison hospitalized

HOUSTON (AP) - Third-seeded Zina Garrison remained hospitalized today after suffering dehydration during an evening upset by Gigi Fernandez in the $350,000 Virginia Slims of Houston tennis tournament.

Garrison was rushed to West Houston Hospital late Thursday after the Houston tennis star fell ill, forfeiting her doubles match. She suffered severe stomach and back cramps and had begun vomiting after her loss to Fernandez.

Fernandez of Aspen, Colo., defeated the 8th ranked Garrison 6-7, (5-7), 6-1, 7-5 in a second-round singles match.

Garrison went up 5-3 in the third and final set, but lost the next four games as she became visibly ill and tired, bending over between points to try to catch her breath.

"She got dehydrated tonight so we've admitted her and I'm going to pump a lot of fluids into her and she should be able to go home in the morning," Dr. Jim Sterling, tournament physician, said late Thursday.

Fernandez, who is ranked 82nd in the nation in singles and No. 2 in doubles, said she was shaken by Garrison's illness.

"It's probably the first and the last time in my career that we've played and she's tired and I'm not. She's one of the fittest players on the tour and she can outplay anybody," Fernandez said.

Garrison and Fernandez have played seven times previously with Garrison winning every match.

Pats find trade difficult

NEW YORK (AP) - Raghib "Rocket" Ismail is all but certain to be the No. 1 pick in Sunday's NFL draft. The only question is: Who wants him?

New England has the first pick, but the Patriots, 1-15 last season, would rather trade down and fill in some of their numerous holes. Most of Ismail's feats at Notre Dame were as a kick returner, and some scouts question his durability at 175 pounds and his hands as a pass receiver.

Overall, he is considered a player who would have a greater impact with a winning team than with New England. But the Patriots are having trouble finding anyone to meet their price.

Dallas was a possible suitor, but Cowboys owner Jerry Jones said Thursday night that his team has no plans to acquire the No. 1 pick after the Patriots apparently wanted more than Dallas was willing to give.

Atlanta, which has the third and 13 picks, also has expressed interest, and Sam Jankovich, the Patriots' chief executive officer, says two other clubs also have shown interest.

"This will probably move rather rapidly within the next day or two and ... some very hard decisions are going to have to be made," he said Thursday.

Tigers spoil Comiskey opening

By The Associated Press

The end of the Oakland A's seven-game winning streak was about the only positive thing that happened to the Chicago White Sox all day.

Rob Deer hit two home runs and Cecil Fielder and Tony Phillips added one homer each as the White Sox opened their $135 million ballpark Thursday by losing to the Detroit Tigers 16-0.

"Everybody will remember the first two touchdowns scored on opening day at the new park," White Sox manager Jeff Torborg said. "It was one of those days. Thank God it was only one loss. We couldn't stop it."

Before the White Sox (6-2) dropped their home opener, four other teams were shut out the first time they played in their current parks. Two of them lost the inaugural game to the California Angels, who beat Milwaukee 12-0 at County Stadium in 1970 and Seattle 7-0 at the Kingdome in 1977.

The Angels did some more damage as Gary Gaetti hit his first homer of the season to snap a tie and the Angels went on to beat the A's 7-1 at Anaheim.

Sutcliffe wins 1st since '89

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Rick Sutcliffe has never felt this way before at the start of a season. Doug Drabek and Barry Bonds hope they never do again.

Sutcliffe waited more than 18 months for a major league victory before getting one Thursday night, working six innings as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 for their sixth straight victory.

But the waiting still isn't over for Drabek, the 1990 National League Cy Young Award winner, and Bonds, the NL Most Valuable Player. They're both 0-for-1991.

"I'm real excited to be back. It's been a long time since there's been a 'W' beside my name," said Sutcliffe, who hadn't won since Oct. 1, 1989.

Sutcliffe, the 1984 Cy Young Award winner, pitched in only five games last season after requiring surgery on his right shoulder.

In the only other game played in the NL, San Diego beat Los Angeles 10-5. The St. Louis Cardinals' home opener against Philadelphia was postponed by rain.

Sutcliffe fell behind 2-0 on Bobby Bonilla's two-out, two-run single in the third before retiring the final 10 hitters he faced. Heath Slocumb got six in a row and Paul Assenmacher three straight in the ninth for his first save as the last 19 Pirates went down in order.

"If he keeps pitching like that, he'll win some more games," Cubs manager Don Zimmer said. "I'd have let him pitch another inning, except we had the chance to score some runs off Drabek."

That's been a more regular occurrence in 1991. Drabek led 2-0 into the sixth, but the Cubs tied it as Rync Sandberg ended an 0-for-19 slump with a single, Mark Grace tripled and George Bell singled.

In the seventh, Damon Berryhill walked, moved up on Jose Vizcaino's single and Gary Scott's sacrifice and scored on Doug Dascenzo's grounder.

Drabek is 0-3 with a 6.21 ERA after going 22-6 in 1990. He didn't lose his third game last year until June 23, his 14th start.

Padres 10, Dodgers 5

Jerald Clark hit a three-run homer and Tony Fernandez and Tony Gwynn hit consecutive two-run doubles - all with two outs in the fourth inning - to lead San Diego.

Clark's homer ended an 0-for-16 slump, Fernandez extended his hitting streak to 10 games and the Padres roughed up Kevin Gross.

Gaetti snapped a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning with his homer and rookie Scott Lewis gave up five hits and one run in seven innings.

"I knew I was going to pitch against Oakland, and for the past couple of days I thought about pitching against Jose (Canseco) and (Mark) McGwire and (Dave) Henderson and went through all that hype stuff. And then I said, 'Hey, I'm in the big leagues, too.' It kind of changed my outlook and it reflected on the way I went at it tonight."

Rangers 7, Indians 0

Bobby Witt (1-1) pitched a four-hitter as Texas beat Cleveland, the third time the Indians have been shut out in nine games.

Julio Franco drove in three runs with a homer and a single.

Greg Swindell (0-3) gave up six runs and six hits in 4 1-3 innings.

Red Sox 1, Royals 0

Roger Clemens extended his shutout streak to 23 innings as Boston beat Kansas City on an unearned run off Bret Saberhagen at Fenway Park.

Clemens (3-0) won the battle of two-time AL Cy Young Award winners by allowing three hits in eight innings. He walked one and struck out 10.

Saberhagen (1-2) gave up four hits, struck out five and walked one in seven innings, but was the victim of an error by left fielder Jim Eisenreich.

Brewers 4, Orioles 3

Robin Yount hit his second home run of the season with two outs in the 11th inning off Jose Bautista (0-1).

Edwin Nunez (1-0) got the victory with one inning of hitless relief. He followed Darren Holmes, who was perfect for 4 2-3 innings.

Nomination for Pioneer Woman set

The 63rd Pioneer Round-Up, scheduled for Saturday, May 18, will for the 32nd year, honor a pioneer woman of this area.

Deadline for nominations for the "Pioneer Woman of the Plains" has been set for May 10th, according to Nancy Fowler, chairman of the program committee. The Plainview Business and Professional Women's Club is the sponsoring organization of the Pioneer Round-Up.

Entry blanks for the "Pioneer Woman of the Plains" are available to civic clubs, individuals, women's clubs and organizations in Plainview and surrounding areas and may be secured from Mrs. Fowler. All entries must be signed by the organization or individual who is submitting the nomination and must state whether or not she would be able to attend the Round-Up, if selected. The nominee must have been a pioneer resident of the High Plains and be at least 80 years of age. Of most importance, this woman should be one of the early settlers to make her home on the Plains and have a true "pioneer" spirit. A short biography of the nominee must be submitted, including her outstanding contributions to the home, church, community and general welfare of her fellowman.

A panel of judges will select the winner based on information submitted. The number of times a person is nominated will have no effect on the selection of the honoree. All entries must be postmarked no later than May 10, 1991. Entry blanks and additional information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Fowler, 296-5531 or 296-7801.

Announcement of the "Pioneer Woman of the Plains" will be made at the evening activities of the 63rd Pioneer Round-Up during the program beginning at 8 p.m. at the Ollie Linder Center.

Alice Doyle, president of the Pioneer BPW Club, said other events of the year's Round-Up include the reception beginning at 10 a.m. honoring all pioneers; parade at 2:30 p.m.; the supper beginning at 6 p.m.; the program at 8 p.m. and the square dance following at 9 p.m., all in the Ollie Linder Center on the south edge of Plainview on Highway 87.

AC reports heard

Board members of the American Cancer Society Deaf Smith County Unit met recently at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

President Patsy Sparkman called the meeting to order and members approved the minutes to the last meeting.

Officers' reports were given and Patient Service Committee Chairman Betty Metcalf reported that the "Key to Service" pamphlets had arrived. They will be placed in doctors offices, Deaf Smith General Hospital, nursing homes, and at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center. The pamphlets will inform Hereford cancer patients of the services offered through the American Cancer Society.

Nicky Walser, chairman of the crusade committee, noted that everything was underway for the Annual American Cancer Society's residential crusade drive scheduled for Sunday. Residents will be given the information packets and will have the opportunity to donate to the ACS.

Host committees and board members for the Taste of the Southwest are urged to attend the Tuesday, May 7, meeting at 7 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

Gayla Sanders was welcomed as a new board member.

Wellness Week to begin Monday afternoon at AC

The lecture will be geared toward coaches, athletes and counselors. Heitzinger and Associates is a consultation firm specializing in issues of health and wellness with emphasis on substance abuse.

At noon Wednesday, April 24, Heitzinger will speak on "Wholeness" at the brown bag seminar.

On Thursday, Mary Blinderman with Southwestern Public Service Co., will present a program at 11:15 a.m. on "Healthy Snacks." At 12:30 p.m., Randall and Potter County extension offices will present

"Growing Old Gracefully."

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

MELCHIZEDEK -- MAN OF MYSTERY!

IF EVER THERE WAS A MYSTERY, A PUZZLE IN THE BIBLE, IT WOULD HAVE TO BE THE PRIEST-KING, MELCHIZEDEK, THE KING OF SALEM. IN THE ONE MEETING ABRAHAM HAD WITH MELCHIZEDEK, HE IMMEDIATELY RECOGNIZED HIM AS SUPERIOR TO HIMSELF IN THE EYES OF GOD! MELCHIZEDEK BROUGHT TO ABRAHAM BREAD AND WINE, AND BLESSED HIM, THROUGHOUT THE SCRIPTURES HE IS REFERRED TO AS THE HIGH PRIEST OF GOD, COMING NOT FROM A FATHER OR A MOTHER, HAVING NO END TO HIS LIFE AND NO BEGINNING. STUDENTS AND AUTHORITIES ON THE BIBLE HAVE SPECULATED ENDLESSLY ON THIS PRIEST-KING; SOME HAVE ARGUED THAT HE WAS A SURVIVOR OF THE FLOOD, THE PATRIARCH SHEM, OTHERS THAT HE WAS AN ANGEL OF GOD--ONE JEWISH TRADITION IS THAT HE WAS THE MESSIAH; SOME SAY THAT SALEM, WHERE HE RULED, LATER BECAME JERUSALEM--BUT ONE THING IS CERTAIN, WHOEVER MELCHIZEDEK WAS, HE CERTAINLY AROUSED THE CURIOSITY OF SCHOLARS DOWN THROUGH THE AGES!

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - A little help from Dad has gotten Donald Trump in trouble with casino regulators. Trump has agreed to a $30,000 fine for an illegal loan his Trump Castle Casino received by way of $3.5 million in chips bought by Trump's father. Fred Trump bought the chips in December through an attorney to help his son make an $18.4 million interest payment on the casino. He had no plans to gamble, Division of Gaming Enforcement spokesman Wayne Marin said Tuesday. Loans to casinos must be done aboveboard, with the knowledge of gaming regulators, and all financial backers must go through a background check. The safeguards were enacted to keep the mob out of Atlantic City. The elder Trump, a real estate magnate like his son, is undergoing a background check, Marin said. Donald Trump faces another interest payment on the struggling casino in June.

Here's An Idea That Can Strengthen Your Family

Tonight at the dinner table, read something out loud to your family. Tomorrow night, let another member read something. A news story. A Bible verse. A Robert Frost poem. A cereal box panel. History. Humor. Anything. Each night a different family member can read a selection. Imagine the wide range of subjects your family will read in 365 days. What a stimulating way to have your children develop good reading habits. We have 23 million illiterate adults in America. We wouldn't have one, if each of them had been served reading as part of their nightly diet. It's non-fattening, but enriching. And it doesn't cost a dime.
