State back in court over education

For local schools, business-as-usual after court rulings

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Public schools in Hereford and Walcott, and others across the state, will continue operations-as-normal despite a veto of a state education funding bill.

Gov. Bill Clements has vetoed the Texas Legislature's bill that would fund education with a new half-cent on the state's sales tax. The bill would have increased the state's share of the sales tax to 6.5 percent.

However, a state judge today ruled that nearly $500 million in state education aid can't be paid to local school districts as scheduled on May 25.

State District Judge Scott McCown said he would hear arguments later in the day on delaying his order.

State officials asked for a 50-day delay to give lawmakers and Gov. Bill Clements more time to work out a school finance reform plan.

No other school spending, including local funds and federal aid, boost the sales tax levy from 6 cents to 6 1/2 cents on the dollar.

The current funding method relies on a combination of state and federal aid and local property taxes. The Legislature's proposal would pump more money to the poorer districts.

Clements, a Republican, says money is available elsewhere in the current budget to fund a less expensive plan, and he vows to veto the tax increase as soon as it reaches his desk, possibly later today.

However, he said, he didn't think failure to enact a school finance plan by today's deadline would have any immediate impact on the state's 1,100 school districts.

More than $400 million in April state aid payments went to schools last Wednesday and the next aid payment was that scheduled for May 25.

"We don't really have a problem," the governor insisted. "We have ample funds, and the funds are in hand to pay the teachers until, I believe, it's the last two days of the school year."

The Legislature and governor have had seven months to deal with the problem. The Supreme Court ruled on Oct. 2, 1989, but Clements didn't call the Legislature into session to consider it until Feb. 27. Lawmakers have met non-stop since.

The Hereford school district has a reserve of about $4.5 million that has been built up over the years in case of an emergency. The reserve usually isn't so big, but the district has not made any "unnecessary purchases" since April 1, according to Superintendent Charles Greenawalt, anticipating the state would not have a funding plan in place.

The district's next big expenditure will be the regular pay day on May 20. Hereford schools are ready to cover the payroll because the regular monthly payment from the state would not be made until May 25 in any case.

Greenawalt said the school district will continue business as usual until it hears something different from state officials.

"I don't expect them to shut us down," Greenawalt said Monday. "Of course, the judge could say that these guys (legislators) have been messing around since February and decide to shut everything down."

(Education Commissioner William) Kirby told us some time ago not to shut down unless we heard from him to do so, so we'll keep going until they tell us not to."

Dr. Bill McLaughlin, superintendent of the Walcott Independent School District, said his district will have to borrow money to meet its May payroll because the district pays teacher bonuses in May.

"We just don't quite have enough," McLaughlin said. The district would have enough if the Texas Education Agency pays the $100,000 it owes the district. "They're way behind on us," McLaughlin said. "If we had that it would have gotten us through the summer just fine."

McLaughlin said banks should be glad to loan schools necessary operating money because the interest is tax-free for banks. "It's just like municipal bonds for them, and they know they will get their money back," he said. "I don't see any problem with that."

"If this went on long enough everyone might have to borrow," McLaughlin said. "We plan to stay open for business and we plan to meet all of our contractual obligations. We will pay our teachers and pay our bills."

The Associated Press contributed to this report.

Teachers wearing armbands

Elsa Montes, right, looks on as Nan Coneway adjusts the black armband on Judy Bullard's sleeve. The three are teachers at Aikman Primary School in Hereford and are wearing the armbands to protest the state's lack of action on education financing reforms.

Local teachers on the job

While some teachers from across the state were picketing the governor's mansion to protest his veto, Hereford teachers were on the job today. Most Hereford teachers are wearing black armbands today in a symbolic gesture over the lack of action by the legislature and Gov. Clements in getting a bill out that would properly fund public education in Texas.

Judy Bullard, president of the Deaf Smith County Classroom Teachers Association, said the failure of the governor and the legislature to resolve the issue has effectively made Texas education and teachers political hostages.

"Our children shouldn't have to worry if their schools will be open and educators should not have to fear that they won't be paid," said Mrs. Bullard, a second grade teacher at Aikman Primary School. "It's time we let our elected leaders know that we're not going to just stand by while a hardship is inflicted on us and our schools. We ask all Texas to join us in protesting how long this has been prolonged."

Mrs. Bullard urged the public to join teachers in wearing black armbands and to "call the governor and our legislators to demand that they do what's right for Texas education." She said some schools may have to close this month if there is no quick resolution of the funding crisis because of little or no reserve funds in poorer school districts. Some teacher may go without paychecks this month and in the summer for already-owned salaries.

Mrs. Bullard and Marge Bell, president of the Hereford Educators Association, said they will not walk off their jobs like more than 20,000 Oklahoma teachers did last month in a similar squabble. The teachers plan to report for work as scheduled, and hope the doors will be open when they show up for work.

"We can best serve the people of Texas by staying where we belong, in the classroom teaching our students," Mrs. Bullard said. "Teacher walkouts hurt children and parents more than politicians. There are ways to make our voices heard without abandoning our responsibilities."

Sen. Bivins ready for another session

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

State Sen. Teel Bivins (R-Amarillo) was biding his time in his Capitol office this morning, waiting for word from State District Judge Scott McCown on the immediate future of public education finance and reform.

Bivins, like the other 30 state senators and the 150 state representatives, have spent the last two months working on bills that would address education funding inequities. The two houses finally passed a bill last week, but Gov. Bill Clements vetoed it.

Bivins said Judge McCown had several options today, including enforcing the injunction handed down earlier by Judge Harley Clark that ordered that no more state funds be paid after May 1.

"The irony of doing that is that it hurts most those school districts the lawsuit is trying to help," Bivins said this morning in a telephone interview. "If the May funds are shut off they will be forced to borrow money to complete the school year."

Bivins said he was disappointed Monday when the Senate failed to consider a bill, passed by the House, that would have forced State Comptroller Bob Bullock to make the payments usually made in May on April 30. Bivins explained that a four-fifths vote of the Senate would have been required, but at least six of the 31 senators were going to vote against the bill so it was never brought to the floor.

Bivins said another option Judge McCown might take is to give the legislature an extension on the May 1 deadline.

"He might be tempted to say the legislature tried, the legislature acted, but the governor didn't sign the bill," Bivins said. "He may say 'May 1 is an arbitrary date that if imposed would result in several hardships for some schools to complete the school year. Let's give 'em 30 more days.'"

Bivins said that if school districts are forced to borrow money to complete the school year, the state should consider paying the interest costs.

"The legislature ought to shoulder the interest. The emergency bill would have done that," Bivins said. "If we would have made the May payments in April it would have transferred the time cost of the money to the state."

Bivins said there are new financing plans for legislators to consider beginning Wednesday, when a third special session begins. "They are both far more realistic than what was voted out last time," Bivins said.

is affected by McCown's ruling. State officials have said they believe schools can remain open at least until late May, when the $500 million monthly aid payment was due to go out.

The judge also said the state can pay the $2.7 million payroll for Texas Education Agency employees that had been held up pending his ruling.

Education Commissioner William Kirby said districts are expected hold school as normal. Kirby said his agency will initiate immediate sanctions against any district that does not hold school and that Attorney General Jim Mattox will file legal action against any district that shuts down.

Today's hearing was held after the Legislature and Clements deadlocked over a reform plan, which was ordered in a 9-0 Texas Supreme Court ruling last year.

The high court said the $13.5 billion-a-year system is unfair to property-poor school districts and ordered that a reform plan be enacted by today.

James Vasquez, superintendent of the Edgewood Independent School District which filed the lawsuit that started the reform case, said he was disappointed that no plan had been enacted.

"I'm severely disappointed, very much so. After a 9-0 court decision, one supposes that's a clear mandate for change," Vasquez said. "The Legislature did its foot-dragging and now the governor is doing his foot-dragging. So this could go on ad nauseam."

The Democratic-controlled Legislature proposed a $555 million reform plan and a half-cent sales tax increase to fund it. That plan would

County reeling from comp

Rising worker's compensation rates are hitting Deaf Smith County in the pocketbook. For the 1990 budget year, Deaf Smith County will spend $20,000 to $25,000 more for worker's compensation than the county budgeted, according to County Auditor Alex Schroeter.

The issue came up at Monday's budget workshop held by the Commissioner's Court. According to County Treasurer Vesta Mae Nunley, the county's worker's compensation rates will jump around 25 percent again in the upcoming year.

Worker's compensation is funded both from the county's general fund and each precinct, since each precinct has employees. Because the county did not account for the dramatic jump in worker's compensation rates this year, Precinct 1's budget may be too low.

Commissioner John Stribling said, "There's work I need to do on a paved road. Is that money in the budget? There's a paved road out there that won't be paved by next fall if we

Chamber will have answers for voters

As a public service, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is providing information on Proposition 1 to interested voters this week.

Mike Carr, executive vice president, said he or another chamber official would be at the office to answer questions from individuals who come by from 9 to 10 a.m. and 2 to 3 p.m. each day through Friday.

He explained that the service is intended to be a non-partisan effort to help educate voters on Proposition 1, which will be on the city ballot in the May 5th election. Voters will be deciding whether or not to increase the city sales tax by 1/2 of 1 percent to fund economic development.

"Anyone who does not fully understand what is involved in the proposition is invited to come by and ask questions," said Carr. "We want to give them a place to go and ask questions, regardless of what they be."

Barrett to be honored by WT

Frank Barrett of Hereford, West Texas State University regent from 1979 to 1985, and Weldon Trice, WTSU dean of men from 1969 to 1980, will be honored Thursday as co-recipients of this year's Distinguished Alumnus Award.

The awards will be presented at the WT Ex-Students Association's Phoenix Club banquet Thursday beginning at 6:30 p.m. in WT's south dining hall. Tickets are $9 a plate for Phoenix Club members and $12 for the general public. Reservation deadline is 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Barrett, WT class of 1961, is co-owner of Barrett-Fisher Produce in Hereford. Trice is from the WT class of 1950. The alumnus awards is presented annually to WT graduates who have distinguished themselves both professionally and personally and who have shown significant support for WT and the Ex-Students Association.

The University Excellence Award, recognizing a WT faculty or staff member for outstanding achievement and service, will be presented to Jim Owens, a professor of finance.

The keynote address at the banquet will be delivered by Gary Moore, area representative to the Panhandle of Texas for the Texas A&M University Association of Former Students and past president of the Amarillo A&M Club.

Stribling had thought enough money was in Precinct 1's budget to fix the road but had not accounted for higher worker's compensation rates. The other commissioners agreed that one of them would look at the road, see how badly it needs repair, and report back.

"In the overall county, we have missed the hospital insurance budget by about $50,000," Schroeter told the Court. The county self-insures health insurance for employees.

The county plans to fund the Noxious Weed District for about $80,000 for the 1991 budget year. "If anybody else has a better idea, I'd be glad to hear it," Stribling said. "I think the first year or two, it needs a higher budget until we start getting some of it sprayed and under control. Guess what I'm saying is we should budget a little more money to finish out the weeds and get the program off the ground." Stribling is chairman of the Noxious Weed District board.

At the end of the workshop, County Judge Tom Simons told Schroeter to have projected revenues and expenses figured for the 1991 budget year for the court's next meeting on May 14. The court hopes to have 1991's projected budget ready by its last meeting in May.

Letter to the Editor

Dear editor,
I apologize for my typo in the letter Sunday. "If we do not secure new business" should have been "do secure."

The most frightening aspect of the Proposition One tax proposal is the thought of lending tax funds for business expansion.

Local lending institutions have ample funds for any expansion that can meet reasonable expectations of repayment. Who can't borrow more than they can pay back? Do we want to be taxed for lending to poor risks?

Has the federal government's failure to collect loans to poor risks taught us so little that we must duplicate with local taxes the mistakes that have bankrupted the federal government?

Special recognition given

During National Camp Fire Volunteer Week, which just concluded, several local citizens were given special recognition. Cassie Dowell, a resident of Westgate Nursing Home, was honored as Camp Fire's first volunteer, having been the guardian of the Weco-Con-Waste group organized in 1928. Helen Langley, center, served as the first woman president of the Hereford Camp Fire Council and is still an active council member. She is chairman of Zone 12 and serves on the National Camp Fire Board of Directors. She was also the guardian for her four daughters. Nancy Hayes represents one of the 20 girls who were in Mrs. Dowell's Camp Fire group.

Plant presented to resident

On behalf of the Hereford Camp Fire board of directors, the fourth grade Adventure Camp Fire girls presented Cassie Dowell with a plant. Mrs. Dowell, a resident of Westgate Nursing Home, was honored Wednesday during Camp Fire's National Volunteer Recognition Day. Observing the presentation were adults, from left, Helen Langley, Ann Cummings, Patricia Lange and Nancy Hayes, far right. Adventure members are Misti Davison, Angie Williams, Trisha Spain, Jerilyn Rule, Tara Cash, Elizabeth Cooper, Pamela Lange and Cristin Leasure. Horizon Club members who assist with the group are Tammy Holmes and Stacey Cochran.

Students listed on honor roll

More than 2,000 Texas Tech University students qualified for the academic honors lists at the end of the 1989 fall semester.

Students on the President's Honor List earned a perfect 4.0 (A) grade point average while enrolled in 12 or more semester hours of class work. Students finishing 12 or more hours with a grade point average of 3.5 to 3.9 qualified for the Dean's Honor List.

Hereford students on the Dean's List were Etelvina Acosta, Keith Wayne Anderson, Mark Andrew Arho, Carol Jeanette Watson Calkins, Denise Diane Detten, Beth Elaine Rohrbach, and Misty Kay Stokes.

Those on the President's List included Kristen Jill Cassels, Charlynn Annette Hunter, Carolyn Suzanne Kalka and Tina Frances Watson.

JOBBS?

In the risky arena of economic development, there are no guarantees that a community will succeed, no matter how big the budget. The proposed sales tax could be paid for years without attracting new industry.

Jobs are being promised to local voters.

The only jobs that can be guaranteed through Proposition 1 are these two -- a professional economic development director and a secretary.

Camp Fire

Camp Fire's National Volunteer Recognition Day was observed Wednesday, April 25.

The Hereford Council of Camp Fire honored Mrs. Hubert (Cassie) Dowell as its honoree. Mrs. Dowell is a resident of Westgate Nursing Home.

While living in Crosbyton, Mrs. Dowell read an article in the Ladies Home Journal telling about Camp Fire Girls. She sent her name in and organized her first group of girls. Following her marriage, she and her husband moved to Hereford where she again organized a Camp Fire group in 1928.

The honoree has kept up with "her girls" and feels as though they are her family. Her group has built the Camp Fire showcase that holds her own ceremonial gown and other memorabilia from her group. Recently, Mrs. Dowell donated some beautiful scenes of America depicting the song "America the Beautiful" that she secured from the Franklin Mint. These are framed and grace the walls of the Hereford Camp Fire Lodge.

Mrs. Dowell lived in California for many years and continued to give support to the Camp Fire organization. She was the one to be honored as the first Honorary Member of the Hereford Camp Fire Council. She was Camp Fire's first volunteer.

After a fall that has kept Mrs. Dowell in a wheelchair, she moved to Westgate. Her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bartley Dowell, see to her needs. She continues her correspondence with friends and keeps up with her Camp Fire girls. She is active and very excited about the ideals of Camp Fire and quoted her philosophy to the Blue Birds. Horizon Club leaders and the mother guardians say, "A stone thrown in the pond sends the circling waves beyond."

Mrs. Dowell attended the dedication of the new Camp Fire Lodge in 1968.

The Camp Fire Board of Directors hosted a hamburger cookout Wednesday at the Camp Fire Lodge and Camp Fire youths have placed signs in volunteers' yards to recognize their service to Camp Fire and the community.

Report made of donations

L'Allegra Study Club members recently met at the Deaf Smith County Library and a committee was elected to nominate new club officers for the 1990-91 club year.

The treasurer reported that Deaf Smith General Hospital has received the automatic blood pressure machine which was donated by L'Allegra from funds generated by Project Christmas Card. A check for $2,000 was made to pay for the machine. L'Allegra had also made a total contribution of $2,984.15 to D.S.G. Hospital fund from funds generated from the same project.

Proceeds from the gerranium sale will benefit the local chapter of the Domestic Violence Rape Crisis Center.

Members present were Margaret Carnahan, Kay Lynn Caviness, Carmen Flood, Priscilla Ham, Patsy Hoffman, Sylvia Khuri, Joyce Lomas, Mary Kay McQuigg, Karen Payne, Susanne Smith, Dee Ann Trotter, Ella Marie Viegel, Jan Weishaar, and Diane Hoelscher.

Jellico featured artist at Cowgirl Hall of Fame

The feature artist for May at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center, 515 Ave B, is Nancy R. Jellico of Littleton, Colo.

A special reception hosted by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, featuring Jellico's work will be held Saturday, May 5, at 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The public is urged to attend.

A native of Georgia, Jellico shows exceptional talent in art and a fascination for the Old West of dusty trails and hard-working cowhands.

The paintings capture the action and spirit of the West in a lively and creative style. Her work poses no intellectual demands, it is unpretentious narration. Jellico's drawing skill is clearly seen in the naturalness and vitality of the subject matter while the paint quality shows vibrant light and depth.

With the casting of her first bronze in 1983, Jellico's sculptures possess the same naturalness and narrative quality of her paintings. The animation of figures, the attention to detail, but with looseness in the surface treatment, the sculptures are entertaining and give the viewer a feeling of suspended movement.

Jellico has studied under John Jellico, well-known teacher and writer, and Charles Dye, a founding member of the Cowboy Artists of America.

Herd drops Lobos, 15-7

By SAM W. WALLER
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces used a seven-run, one-hit inning Saturday to take a 15-7 win over the Levelland Lobos at Whiteface Field.

"It's about time we had an at bat like that," Herd coach T.R. Sartor said of the big inning. "We've given up that kind of inning two or three times."

"I just wish we had been able to do that all year. It's a shame that we're just now starting to get it together."

The Herd scored at least once in every inning Saturday, the first such performance of the season. Brett Confer and Russell Backus posted three RBI each while Jim Andrews and Chad Brummett both drove in two runs. Andrews and Confer managed their production without a hit in the game as both grounded out with a runner on third in the fourth inning and were hit by a pitch with the bases loaded in the sixth. Confer also had a bases-loaded walk in the first to force in a run.

Andrews and Confer were part of a string of three consecutive batters to get hit in the sixth as five Herd batters in the inning and seven in the game took one for the team. Andrews and George Jowell were both hit twice in the contest, with Jowell taking two in the helmet, as four Levelland pitchers had trouble putting the ball over the plate instead of in the batters' box.

Backus (3-3) pitched his second complete game in a row for the win, allowing seven runs on 11 hits and three walks while striking out five.

Steven Ochoa took the loss for the Lobos, giving up 10 runs (including five unearned in the sixth) on six hits, four walks and three hit batsmen in three-and-two-thirds innings of relief.

The game started out as a slugfest with four lead changes and three ties through five innings.

Ochoa greeted Backus by sending the first pitch of the game off the leftfield wall for a triple and scored Brooks Broussard's sacrifice bunt.

The Herd got the run back in its half of the inning with two walks, a single and a hit batter off starter Max Ladesma.

Herd went ahead in the second with a double by Jim Anima and a single by Brummett, but the Lobos came back with a three-run third.

Backus worked himself into a jam with walks to Ochoa and Broussard. Israel Diaz singled and Craig

Hurry up and get here

Louis Mungia of the Hereford Whitefaces steams into third base Saturday during the Herd's 15-7 win over Levelland at Whiteface Field as Coach T.R. Sartor signals the runner to hold up at the bag.

Schonerstedt followed with a double to score the runs.

Ladesma walked the Herd back into contention to start the bottom of the third, putting Confer on in five pitches and going 3-0 to Cody Page before being lifted in favor of Ochoa. Ochoa struck out the next two batters after finishing the walk to Page, but a balk and a passed ball scored a run and Brummett singled home another to tie the game at 4-4.

The teams each added a pair of runs in the fourth before the Herd moved in front to stay with two more in the fifth.

Herd blew the game open in the sixth when pinch hitter Louis Mungia led off with a fly to right that Schonerstedt dropped for a two-base error. Coby Kilpatrick worked a full-count walk after fouling off three pitches and Brummett took a pitch in the back to load the bases.

Ochoa was on the verge of escaping the inning without any damage after a pair of strikeouts, but Backus lined the first pitch to left scoring two runs.

Then the ball started hitting the batters instead of vice-versa. Ochoa beamed Jowell for the second time and was replaced on the mound by Jerry Palmer, who plunked Andrews and Confer to force in two runs and threw a wild pitch to Mungia to score another run.

Nash Rendon was summoned to the mound and finished walking Mungia. Rendon's error on an attempted pickoff allowed the seventh run of the inning across before he could retire the side.

The Lobos touched Backus for three straight singles to lead off the seventh and score a run, but the senior righthander set down the next three batters to end the game.

The win gives the Herd a 4-9 mark in District 1-4A and 5-16 overall while Levelland drops to 4-8-1 in district and 7-12-2 on the year.

The Herd will host Frenship at 4:30 p.m. today in the 1990 home finale before finishing the season with games at Randall and Estacado.

Gonzales, Roddy, 800 relay team bound for state

The Hereford Whiteface and Lady Whiteface track and field teams each qualified one individual Saturday for the Class 4A state meet while the Lady Whiteface 800-meter relay team also earned a trip to Austin by placing in the top two at the Region 1-4A meet in San Angelo.

Sprinter Daphne Roddy earned her second trip to state when she won the 200-meter dash in 25.30 seconds while shot putter Benny Gonzales finished second with a toss of 54 feet, 11 3/4 inches.

The 800 relay unit of Minerva Salazar, Teresa Castillo, Jill West and Roddy ran its fastest time of the season, clocking 1 minute, 45.08 seconds to finish behind Wichita Falls Hirschi.

"This is really an accomplishment for these young ladies," Lady Whiteface coach Martha Emerson said. "This is the first time Hereford has ever qualified a girls relay team for state. They've worked hard for this all season."

"Daphne's been to state before," Emerson added, "but she missed all of last year with an injury and has had shin splints all year this season. She's done an outstanding job of running with the pain."

Among the other Hereford athletes competing at the meet, the girls' 1,600 relay team finished fifth in 4:08.09 while Lisa Zepeda was eighth in the 800 in 2:33.70. Phillip Betzen finished seventh in the discus with a throw of 137-4 while pole vaulter Brad Mason failed to clear the opening height of 12-6.

"We're just real proud of all of these guys," Herd coach Ron Young said. "Benny was the one we expected to do well and he did. He didn't like finishing second at all because he knows he can beat the fellow that won (Pflugerville's Brian Tighe). But he qualified for state and that's the main thing. He still has a real good chance to medal at Austin."

"This is an achievement for Benny," Young added. "He's the first state qualifier since Paul Bell back in 1977."

"Phillip did a great job of competing in the discus," Young said. "He made the finals, which is something we've never had in that event. The way the wind was blowing, though, you had to have a lot of strength to get any distance."

Young said that Mason was a victim of a bad day at the worst possible time.

"They put the opening height way up there at 12-6, but Brad had cleared 14-0 during the week. He just had a rough time out there."

Gonzales will compete at a state qualifiers meet Saturday before heading to Austin for the state meet May 11-12.

Amarillo team wins Two-Man Scramble

Amarillo teams swept the Championship flight of the Two-Man Scramble held Saturday and Sunday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course, and out-of-towners combined to take nine of the 12 places for the tournament.

Randy Richerson and Rick Haggard won the Championship Flight with a two-day score of 134 while the teams of Gene Klein-Chris Jefferson and Malcolm Rea-Joe Burgin tied for second at 135.

Carlos Mendez and Robert Aguirre won the First Flight at 144 while four teams, including Hereford's Shorry Roark and Ken Roberts, were tied for second at 145.

Dan Gadry and John Hoover of Amarillo teamed to win the Second Flight at 145.

Herd JV wins three

The Hereford Whiteface junior varsity put together a three-game winning streak over the weekend, sweeping a shortened doubleheader from Levelland on Saturday Whiteface Field and dropping Canyon for the second time in four days Monday on the road.

After splitting a twinbill with the Eagles on Friday, the Herd JV bounced back to beat the Lobos 12-2 in a game called in the fifth inning by the 10-run rule and 4-3 in a game shortened to four innings because of Saturday's varsity game. On Monday, the Herd JV visited the Eagles and came away with a 6-4 win.

Herd JV 12, Levelland JV 2

Richard Rodriguez ended the game when he slapped a bases-loaded triple to left and scored on a throwing error on the play.

Hereford jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first off Levelland starter Nash Rendon and upped the margin to 7-0 in the second as Rene Cano, Henry Gallardo and Andy Kalka scored twice each.

The Lobos got to Sammy Casarez for two runs in the fourth, but that was all the lefthander allowed as he went the distance for the win.

Gallardo led the Herd with a double and a triple while scoring three runs while Cano and Kalka added two singles each.

Herd JV 4, Levelland JV 3

Rodriguez scored the winning run for the second time of the day when he drew a one-out walk, stole second and came around when the throw went into centerfield.

Rodriguez, who also went the distance on the mound for the win, put the Herd in front in the first when he doubled and scored on Jerry Rincon's single.

Hereford picked up two more runs in the second off Levelland starter Jeff Farquhar as Chris Brummett and Jamie Galan scored.

Levelland tied the game with three runs in the third as the Herd suffered two errors, a wild pitch and a hit batter to go along with two singles and a double.

Herd JV 6, Canyon JV 4

Rincon got off to a rough start in Monday's game when he walked the first three batters he faced and allowed all three to score without a hit.

The Herd JV settled down to score six straight runs over the next three innings to take control of the game.

Michael Melendrez drove in the first run with a second-inning single. Cano singled and scored on a double by Rodriguez and Michael Campos tied the game with an RBI single in the third.

The Herd moved in front in the fourth when Kyle Hansen led off with a double, Vince Castillo followed with a single and Rincon added another double.

The Herd JV will finish the season at 4 p.m. Friday when the Dumas Demon JV visits Whiteface Field.

HHS rodeo team has successful weekend run

Hereford's Regina Lewis, Burt Noland and Mickey Gomez all picked up event wins over the weekend in Tri-State High School Rodeo action.

In Friday's event at Stinnett, Lewis won the barrel racing and goat tying while Gomez paired with Marty Nicholson of Canadian to win the team roping. Gomez also took fifth in the team competition with Channing's Jerry Don Thompson.

Noland took second in the steer wrestling at Stinnett while Lewis added a fourth place in pole bending and seventh in breakaway roping.

The action moved to Amarillo for Saturday, where Noland won the steer wrestling with Gomez placing fifth.

Gomez and Nicholson finished second in team roping while Cameron Burrus and Jason McCloy of Hereford paired for eighth place.

Lewis picked up a win in pole bending and third in goat tying while Sammy Winters picked up two places, finishing fourth in breakaway roping and eighth in goat tying.

They throw at batters in Toronto, too

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer
 When Mitch Webster singled in the first inning, Toronto's Todd Stottlemyre decided the Cleveland outfielder wouldn't get a toe hold in the batter's box the next time up.
 So Stottlemyre hit Webster in the back in the third, touching off a bench-clearing incident that has been building since a rash of hit batsmen last week in Toronto.
 "His first time up, he was very comfortable at the plate," Stottlemyre said after the Blue Jays bombed the Indians 10-4 Monday night. "We had the lead, and I'm not stupid. I threw a pitch inside and it hit him."
 Chris James, who replaced

Webster when the latter was ejected for charging Stottlemyre, said he had seen enough.
 "We're by no means going to be the (wimps) of the league," said James, one of the more active participants in the melee. "We've got pride in ourselves."
 The Cleveland-Toronto matchups this season have featured considerable "protection."
 Last week, Toronto pitchers hit Cleveland's Candy Maldonado twice and almost got him a third time. The Indians' Greg Swindell hit Toronto's Tony Fernandez with the first pitch of a game last Tuesday.
 Elsewhere in the American League, it was Oakland 6, New York 0; Milwaukee 6, Detroit 1; Boston 11, Seattle 0; Baltimore 2, California 1 in 12 innings and Chicago 5, Texas 4 in 13 innings.

 George Bell doubled in a four-run first inning and hit one of four Toronto home runs as the Blue Jays handed the Indians their first loss in eight home games.
 Pat Borders had four of 19 hits for Toronto, which broke a four-game losing streak. Toronto has hit 13 homers in five games against Cleveland, which had won four straight games.
Athletics 6, Yankees 0
 Bob Welch pitched a six-hitter, Rickey Henderson hit two home runs and Jose Canseco and Mark McGwire also connected for Oakland.

Welch (3-1) walked none and struck out four in Oakland's second consecutive shutout. It was his 26th career shutout, first complete game since last May 29, and Oakland's first of the season.
 Welch retired 12 straight batters in the middle innings and allowed only two hits until the seventh.
Brewers 6, Tigers 1
 Mark Knudson came within an out of extending Milwaukee's major league lead in shutouts, and Robin Yount and Greg Brock homered.
 Cecil Fielder hit his seventh homer, off Knudson with two out in the ninth inning. Knudson (2-0) allowed eight hits, struck out three and walked two before giving way to Chuck Crim for the final out.

Red Sox 11, Mariners 0
 Mike Boddicker and two relievers combined on a six-hitter and Tony Pena had a three-run homer among his three hits as Boston won for the fourth time in five games.
 Boddicker (2-3) ended a personal three-game losing streak by allowing six hits over seven innings in a game delayed 66 minutes by rain in the last of the seventh.
Orioles 2, Angels 1
 Brady Anderson's pinch-hit single off reliever Mike Witt (0-3) in the bottom of the 12th inning gave Baltimore only its second victory in seven games.
 Anderson, hitting for Sam Horn in a bunting situation, slapped a one-hopper that went off the glove of first baseman Wally Joyner and into right field. It scored Joe Orsulak from second to make a winner of Brian Holton (1-0).

White Sox 5, Rangers 4
 Lance Johnson singled with one out in the 13th inning following a two-base error by Texas second baseman Julio Franco, giving Chicago its fourth straight victory.
 Sammy Sosa reached second on a throwing error by Franco. Johnson followed with a single to right field off Jamie Moyer (0-3) and Sosa beat Ruben Sierra's throw to the plate. Reliever Bobby Thigpen (1-1) pitched three hitless innings for the White Sox.

Braves sneak past Cone, Mets for win

By The Associated Press
 David Cone picked the wrong time to have a discussion with umpire Charlie Williams over a call.
 While the pitcher had his back to the infield arguing with Williams over a safe call at first base, Atlanta scored two runs for a 4-1 lead.
 The runs proved costly as the Braves went on for a 7-4 victory Monday night, sending the New York Mets to their third straight loss.
 "I'm human," Cone said. "I'm emotional. I snapped. It cost us the game. I accept the responsibility."
 Cone didn't ask for time to argue his case when Williams called Mark Lemke safe on what would have been a third-out grounder to second baseman Gregg Jefferies.
 Cone (0-2) went to cover the base, but Williams ruled he missed the bag.
 Dale Murphy and Ernie Whit both scored during the argument, with Jefferies trying to turn Cone around to home plate to see what was happening.
 "Charlie missed the play all right," Mets manager Davey Johnson said. "I could see he hit the bag from where I was. But that's no excuse."
 "It happened the way it happened and, right or wrong, Cone should have recognized that's the way it was and got back after them, not blowing his stack."
 Elsewhere in the National League, it was Cincinnati 6, Philadelphia 2; Houston 4, Montreal 2 and San Francisco 8, Los Angeles 4.
 It was the second victory in a row for the Braves, who beat the visiting Mets for the first time since July 16, snapping a six-game losing streak against New York. Atlanta is only 4-13 for the season.

"If they're going to give us two runs like that, we ought to win the game," Atlanta manager Russ Nixon said.
 Oddibe McDowell and Jeff Treadway each hit two-run homers off Cone, who allowed five hits and six runs in five innings.
 John Smoltz (1-2) pitched seven innings, allowing six hits and four runs, and Joe Boever got the last three outs for his first save.
Reds 6, Phillies 2
 Paul O'Neill's two-run single in the first inning helped Jose Rijo gain his first victory since last June as Cincinnati beat Philadelphia at Riverfront Stadium. The Reds have won 13 of their first 16 games.
 Rijo (1-1) allowed four hits and struck out six in seven innings for his first victory in his last seven starts. Rob Dibble pitched 1 1/3 innings for his third save, fanning three.
 Rijo's last victory was June 23 over Los Angeles. Lower back spasms limited him to just four more starts last year.
Astros 4, Expos 2
 Glenn Davis tied the score with his second homer of the game and Rafael Ramirez put Houston ahead with a two-run single as the Astros rallied for three runs in the eighth inning to beat Montreal at Olympic Stadium. The Astros have won three straight.
 Dennis Martinez (2-1) carried a six-hitter and a 2-1 lead into the eighth when he allowed Davis' 150th career home run with two out. The Astros loaded the bases on singles by Glenn Wilson and Eric Anthony and a walk to pinch-hitter Bill Doran before Ramirez's single.
Giants 8, Dodgers 4
 John Burkett earned his first major league victory by allowing two runs in seven innings, leading San Francisco past Los Angeles at Dodger Stadium.
 Will Clark sparked a four-run fourth inning off John Wetteland (1-2) with his third homer, Kevin Mitchell hit his fourth home run in the eighth and Matt Williams drove in three runs for the Giants.
 Burkett allowed seven hits, struck out three and walked one in his first major-league start. Jeff Brantley pitched the final two innings, allowing two runs.

H-SU cager picks UCLA

ABILENE (AP) - Mike Lanier, the nation's tallest college basketball player at 7-foot-6, said the chance to play center for the school where Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Bill Walton once dominated was too great to pass up.
 "It's great that I will be able to play at the same school they played at," Lanier said Monday after announcing he would transfer from Hardin-Simmons to UCLA.
 "Hopefully I will work my way into their ranks some day. It just makes you work harder, knowing about the tradition and trying to keep the image up."
 Lanier's announcement ended a six-month recruiting war that included Louisiana State, Hawaii, Washington, Washington State and some 20 other schools.

"I definitely want to play in the NBA, and you can get a whole lot of exposure from going to UCLA," Lanier said.
 Lanier, who weighs about 285 pounds, has two years of eligibility remaining but said he will sit out next year or "redshirt" to bulk up and "raise my level of play to UCLA's level."
 A native of Troy, Mich., Lanier averaged seven points and five rebounds a game last season as a sophomore at Hardin-Simmons, which plays in the Trans-American Athletic Conference.
 Despite starting 22 of 28 games last season, Lanier's lack of stamina held him to a playing average of 15 minutes per game.
 Coaches said Lanier could not sustain the pace of an up-tempo game and was often used only in a half-court offense.

 Lanier, 20, was not able to improve his upper-body strength at Hardin-Simmons because he could not physically fit on the weight machines, a coach said.
 "I don't see myself starting until I am a senior," Lanier said. "But I see myself getting maybe 10 minutes a game in my junior season."
 Lanier said "some problems" which forced him to cancel a Friday news conference announcing his transfer to UCLA have been "cleared up."
 "It's a personal matter, so I don't really have any comment about that," Lanier said Monday. "I had to check some things out, and everything turned out fine."

Dennis Harp, head basketball coach at Hardin-Simmons, said Lanier had been exposed to "negative recruiting" by some unnamed schools and needed a few extra days to be sure of his decision.
 Following a legacy of great centers, including Abdul-Jabbar and Walton, who helped UCLA win seven consecutive NCAA championships from 1967-73, will bring some pressure, Lanier said.
 "There is going to be pressure from the media (in Los Angeles) because they are going to expect a lot from me," Lanier said. "Most of the pressure will come from outside people, not from the coaching staff or me."
 Hardin-Simmons basketball players were able to transfer with full eligibility after the school announced last fall it was dropping athletic scholarships in a move from NCAA Division I to Division III at the end of this school year.
 "He has made so much improvement in one year," said Harp, who helped place most of his players in new programs. "I think he has the work ethic to really contribute at UCLA. I have had a pro scout tell me Mike is better off than Mark Eaton was at the same stage."
 Eaton is a 7-4 center who plays for the NBA's Utah Jazz.
 UCLA coach Jim Harrick, citing NCAA regulations, refused to immediately comment about Lanier's decision.
 "It was a very difficult decision," Lanier said. "Every school I looked at and visited had very good programs ... but you can only pick one."

It was WHAT!?!?!?

Brett Confer of the Hereford Whitefaces gets a shock as the umpire calls strike three instead of ball four during Saturday's 15-7 win over Levelland at Whiteface Field.

DON'T TOUCH THAT DIAL...
 But you do - don't you?
 You Know It!
 When the music stops, or there's a pause in the programming, you hit that button because that's not what you turned it on to listen to.
 Excellent Value. A quarter-page ad in the Hereford Brand Sunday reaches an estimated 13,500 individuals...LOCAL individuals, who spend their time and money HERE...for less than a penny a head!
 Better "Reception". Studies show that people "look forward" to newspaper ads more than they do all others combined...and they can absorb the information better, too.
 It's Your Choice. So flip the switch...then flip the page. WE'RE ready when YOU are!

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.80 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.14	2.80
2 days per word	.24	4.80
3 days per word	.34	6.80
4 days per word	.44	8.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $3.95 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are 14 cents per word first insertion, 10 cents per word for additional insertions.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Happy hunting.

It's garage sale season, the time when everyone is offering bargains or looking for bargains. Turn your unwanted goods into treasure with a Hereford Brand Classified Ad. If your garage sale is on Friday and Saturday, bring in your classified before 3 p.m. Wednesday so it will be in the Thursday and Friday issues of the Brand. Give it to Janey Allmon at the front desk. For a two-day, 20-word ad it costs just $4.80. Don't forget: if you live in the city of Hereford you must have a garage sale permit. You can get your permit at City Hall, then drive a half-block to the Brand and put in your classified ad. If you don't know how to word your ad, Janey can help you. She can help you have a very successful garage sale!

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Today I can think of nothing but what I learned yesterday. I have a 10-year-old niece (my sister's child) whom I am no longer allowed to contact. "Wendy" and I were very close. We spent weekends together. I took her to the park, and we had great times. I learned yesterday that my sister's boyfriend, who sexually abused Wendy for five years, is out of prison. He was sentenced to a year in the workhouse for abusing this child, and now my sister is taking that animal back in her home. She has told my niece not to worry, that everything will be OK. Wendy was not given any counseling when she was abused, because her mother said she was "just fine" and didn't need it.

I testified against the awful man, which is why my sister will not let me see or speak to the child. Wendy's father cannot see or speak to her either. Ann, we are not bad people. We only tried to intervene when there was trouble in my sister's home. As a result, my sister has shut us out of her life and deprived us of seeing that adorable child.

How can I get my niece out of that house? What are my rights? I fear that the abuser will pick up where he left off. I feel hopeless and scared for Wendy. Please tell me what to do. - No Way Out in Minneapolis

DEAR MPLS.: Alert the child's teacher, the neighbors, all family members, anyone who has any contact with Wendy. Urge them to get close to her, to ask questions and encourage her to let them know immediately if that man tries to get near her again.

What about the caseworker? What about the people who supplied the evidence to send that animal away? Contact the judge. Ask him (or her) how Wendy can be protected. What about the father? Has he considered getting a lawyer and trying for custody?

I beg you to be vigilant. Do everything within your power to protect that child. Good luck and keep me posted.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My brother who lives in another city was critically ill, and I knew his death was imminent. I thought hard and long about an appropriate final gift for that dear man and decided that a dozen long-stemmed white roses with some delicate fern and baby's breath in a milk-white vase would be beautiful.

When we received word that he passed away, I telephoned our local florist and gave him the order. I cannot describe how I felt when I walked into the mortuary and saw our flowers among the beautiful arrangements sent by others. They were in a vase that looked like a canning jar. The roses were short-stemmed and stuffed into that ugly vase with no greenery whatever.

Please, Ann, print this letter and tell me how to make sure this doesn't happen again. -- Still Upset in the Midwest

DEAR MIDWEST READER: I called Solly Hammer at Ronsley's Florist in Chicago, and this is what he said:

First-rate florists have connections all over the country. They will not take advantage of out-of-town customers and send junk on the assumption that the customer will never see the flowers.

I hope you will clip this column and send it to the local florist where you placed the order. You would be doing him a favor.

Annual dinner held

The Hereford Community Concert Association held its annual Workers Appreciation Dinner and meeting recently at the Hereford Country Club. The event, held in conjunction with the CCA membership drive, honored CCA volunteers. During the dinner, Dr. Duffy McBrayer, accompanied by Linda Gilbert, seated, performed several outstanding musical selections. The special guest speaker was Kay Nolan of San Antonio, who represents the Columbia Artists Association of New York. The theme of the dinner was "Thrill of Live Performance."

Country Club site of annual Workers Appreciation Dinner

Hereford Community Concert Association volunteers were given special recognition during the CCA's annual Workers Appreciation Dinner and meeting held recently at the Hereford Country Club.

President Earnest Langley presided at the meeting and the invocation was given by Father Charles Threewit. Ann Meyer gave a report on the CCA's current membership.

Special guest, Kay Nolan of San Antonio, who represents the Columbia Artists Association of New York, gave interesting details of the artists Hereford has selected for the coming season. Scheduled to appear in Hereford during 1990-91 are the Big Band Jamboree, Tony Sandler and Hector Olivera. Nolan also gave a report of current events and how they will affect the future of the arts.

Special musical selections were presented by Dr. Duffy McBrayer, accompanied by Linda Gilbert.

Jeri Bezner and Jan Weishaar, CCA board members, were in charge of the dinner. Baskets of red geraniums decorated individual tables.

Rock show May 5-6 in Amarillo

The Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club met recently at the Deaf Smith County Library. Wagonmaster Jack Nunley discussed rock hunting trips and reminded members of the Rock Show to be held in Amarillo May 5-6.

President Dale Henson presided over the business meeting. Appreciation was expressed by Crimestoppers member Nunley for the club's recent support in the fundraising event.

Bobbie Roberson won the door prize furnished by L.D. Combes.

Hostesses for the meeting were Baxter London, Thama Pearson, and Bub Newell.

There were 16 members present. A film on the ecology of Yellowstone Park was shown.

West Germany and Israel exchanged letters in 1965 which established diplomatic relations.
