

TREND NOTED TOWARD MEDIATION OF DISPUTE

Road Program Is Placed On A County-Wide Basis

The system of administering the Howard county road program, in vogue since the county first had roads, was reorganized Wednesday by the commissioners court.

Instead of recognizing precinct boundaries, as has been the custom, the court will now administer the program on a county-wide basis under an engineer.

Chosen for the position as county engineer was Thurston Orenbaum, Roby, resident state highway engineer. Orenbaum is a native of Big Spring and worked several years with the highway department here. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Orenbaum, are long-time residents of the city.

County Judge Charles Sullivan, in announcing the revision of the system, said that Orenbaum would take over effective Sept. 1 and would be given full charge of the program of building and maintaining roads.

Judge Sullivan and Claud Wolf, auditor, were in Abilene Tuesday to gain release of the engineer from the division office of the state highway department. S. G. Treadaway, division engineer, expressed regret at losing Orenbaum.

Under the current system, each commissioner is in charge of the road program in his precinct. In turn, each commissioner has a superintendent. Each precinct has had the same amount of equipment regardless of the amount of roads to be maintained or built, and seldom could precinct bounds be transcended by another commissioner's crew.

Beginning next month Orenbaum will be in complete charge of machinery and men and will answer only to the commissioners court. He will move equipment and men where he thinks best and the position of precinct superintendents will be abolished.

French and Fruit were retained as consulting engineers when needed.

Judge Sullivan added that the hiring of Orenbaum as engineer would be the means of the county saving almost half the amount of his salary in engineer fees the first few months. He will face the task of doing engineering work on the five mile lateral road to the Moss Creek lake and possibly on the new Garden City road segment.

Sympathy For Mediation Is Expressed

Berlin Claims Lead Has Been Taken Toward Peaceful Solution

BERLIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—Hitler late today called in his leading military aides and several cabinet members for a conference while awaiting further word from London in his secret negotiations with the British government.

BERLIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—The German government "welcomes with extraordinary sympathy the offer of mediation by Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold," authoritative quarters said unreservedly today.

These persons said the offer of mediation was not extended to the German government but to Great Britain, France and Poland.

Members of the German cabinet assembled unexpectedly in Adolf Hitler's chancellery at 4:30 p. m. (9:30 a. m. CST).

Members of the reichstag, many of whom left the capital after their meeting with Hitler last Sunday, have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to return for a meeting at any moment.

(London and Paris have sent favorable replies to The Netherlands and Belgian sovereigns. Poland reiterated her reply to President Roosevelt on the desirability of mediation, but indicated further progress depended on the German attitude.)

An evidence of Germany's willingness to have the issues with Poland negotiated, German informed quarters pointed to the discussions now going on with the British government.

Authoritative sources said no time limit had been set on these negotiations. Both sides, they explained, recognized the necessity for speed, but every step would be taken with due care.

Germany's demand for the return of Danzig and the Polish corridor, however, they declared, remained unaltered.

Germany has taken the initiative toward a peaceful solution by Hitler's communication to Chamberlain, they said.

These persons added now the initiative must be taken by Great Britain to bring Poland to a state of readiness to deal with Germany always, of course, on the basis of Germany's irrevocable demands.

Informed persons continued to warn correspondents the situation was serious, but their own attitude was one of confidence things were coming Germany's way.

The possibility Foreign Minister Josef Beck of Poland might come to Berlin was neither affirmed nor denied.

Contents of the German answer to London were not disclosed here. Hitler was said to be standing pat on his demands for annexation of Danzig and Pomerania, the Polish corridor.

The press, echoing views of officials, declared Hitler's maneuvers had placed responsibility for preventing war on Britain and France. The corridor and Danzig, in any event, must be ceded to Germany, it insisted.

Despite a slightly more hopeful feeling a conflict might be avoided, Allgemeine Zeitung commented Prime Minister Chamberlain was justified in telling the house of commons yesterday it cannot be said "the danger of war has receded since the house met last Thursday."

The attacks on Poland continued without modification. Many columns were devoted to reports of alleged atrocities inflicted on Germans in Poland.

All cafes, restaurants, dance halls, theaters and other places of public entertainment were ordered to close at 11 p. m. beginning Sunday.

After that hour the city will be darkened except for the faint glow of blue anti-air raid lights. Beginning tonight, no outside electric signs of any sort may be lighted.

Sunday is the day set for the mobilization of two new military classes and the prohibition of all private automobile traffic.

THANKSGIVING MOVED UP IN 1940 ALSO

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt has decided to proclaim November 21 as Thanksgiving Day for 1940, it being the third instead of the usual fourth Thursday of the month.

This will correspond to the president's action in moving up this year's Thanksgiving from November 30 to November 23.

Following announcement of this year's change many governors, sports authorities and calendar makers protested and some governors have announced they will not follow the president's action.

Officials said the president was announcing next year's date this much in advance to permit calendar makers and football schedules arrangers to take action accordingly.

Il Duce Would Scrap Treaty

ROME, Aug. 30 (AP)—Scrapping of what is left of the treaty of Versailles as the first step toward banishing Europe's war fear was demanded today by Premier Mussolini's Milan newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia.

The paper's editorial, widely re-published in the Italian press, was reported reliably to have been inspired directly if not actually written by Mussolini.

The paper said 11th-hour appeal for Il Duce to save the peace were coming through "the international press."

It indicated the price of Mussolini's affirmative response would be a far-reaching formula on both "European and non-European" complaints which Mussolini had favored for years.

Observers generally interpreted the adjective "non-European" to mean redistribution in some manner of colonial raw materials.

Thousands of Italians abandoned cities for the countryside today on government advice.

The exodus was orderly. Those living in the islands of Sicily and Sardinia also were warned.

The country as a whole remained so calm newspapers urged Italians not to let the tranquility of the country lead them into imprudence, and stressed the seriousness of the general European situation.

All cafes, restaurants, dance halls, theaters and other places of public entertainment were ordered to close at 11 p. m. beginning Sunday.

After that hour the city will be darkened except for the faint glow of blue anti-air raid lights. Beginning tonight, no outside electric signs of any sort may be lighted.

Nation Continues Its Preparations For Emergency

PARIS, Aug. 30 (AP)—Premier Daladier's office announced tonight that effective immediately the entire French railway system, with all its supplies, employes and rolling stock, was requisitioned for military use.

The order means that henceforth commercial traffic may be suspended in whole or part if the military authorities consider it necessary.

(Since Jan. 1, 1938, the French railways have been operated as one nationalized system by a company in which the government owns 51 per cent of the stock. The prospective order means placing them under the war ministry.)

General Maxime Weygand, former chief of the army, who has flown dramatically to the Near East, was reported in military quarters to have been chosen as commander-in-chief of the eastern Mediterranean in case of war.

The 72-year-old but still active Weygand landed today in Beirut, Syria, by plane from Paris.

General Weygand retired as chief of the army general staff in 1932 and was succeeded by General Maurice Gustave Gamelin, now slated to be commander-in-chief of French, British and allied armies in the event of war.

General Weygand was called back from retirement to go to Ankara last April for negotiation of the French-Turkish mutual assistance pact.

The new mission, which took him in haste to Beirut, was at first cloaked in official secrecy. Military sources said, however, he had been designated to lead the allied forces in that area in case of necessity, and was already laying the groundwork.

Meanwhile, evacuation of nearly 50,000 Paris school children began as the threat of war still hung over Europe.

Premier Daladier, who declared "we will know where we stand today," summoned members of the important parliament committees, the army, air and finance emergency session.

By that time, the nation expected to know whether Adolf Hitler had made a bid for peace or war in his dispute with Poland. French leaders awaited news of the German leader's long note to London.

Daladier was reported ready to order general mobilization, depending on terms of Hitler's note to London.

OTHER BUYERS HIKE PRICE OF CRUDE

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 30 (AP)—Local producing and purchasing companies, keeping in close touch with the upward trend in the crude price situation, today reported four additional buyers had restored old postings in the East Texas field.

They are the Tidewater Associated Oil Company, retroactive to Aug. 11; Toronto Pipe Line Co., effective Aug. 29; Atlantic Refining Co., retroactive Aug. 11 and Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., effective Aug. 29.

NORMANDIE, BREMEN BOTH DUE TO SAIL FROM NEW YORK SOON

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—The French liner today revised an earlier statement the Normandie would be held here indefinitely and announced shortly before noon the ship would sail as soon as it received clearance papers.

First announcement said the liner was to be held on orders from Henri Candogard, managing director in Paris.

Meanwhile the liner, like the North German-Lloyd's Bremen, and two British ships, the Transylvania and the Aquitania, was searched by customs guards to see she carried no war contraband.

Shippers of all four were hopeful of sailing late today, but Gregory O'Keefe, assistant collector of customs, declined to say whether clearance papers would be forthcoming.

Still chafing under the delay imposed on him, Captain Adolf Ahrens, master of the Bremen, complained today the customs guards were "searching an empty swimming pool." The delay has already cost the line about $4,000, he said, and would cost another $2,000 by tonight. The state department announced from Washington that the

Another Note To Germany Is Planned

Britain Sees Willingness On Part Of Hitler For Negotiation

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Great Britain's reply to Adolf Hitler's latest message concerning his demands on Poland and the European crisis was said by informed quarters to have been sent to Berlin tonight.

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The British government was said in official circles today to be planning a further communication to Fuehrer Hitler while it also was reported in usually reliable diplomatic quarters that Germany's latest note contained an indication at least of a willingness now to negotiate directly with Poland.

Reply Today?

In these quarters there was a suggestion Germany might want a Polish minister plenipotentiary to be sent to Berlin, but whether this was definitely suggested in Hitler's note was not disclosed.

Sources close to the government said the British reply would be sent to Berlin later today. It was expected to be of such a nature that a further communication from Hitler would be likely.

The British government has insisted throughout that Germany and Poland negotiate directly on their differences — a condition which thus far has lacked support from Germany.

British officials maintained secrecy concerning the contents of Hitler's lengthy note, which was before the cabinet at an hour and a half session today.

Although any willingness by Germany to open negotiations directly with Poland concerning Hitler's claims for Danzig, the Polish corridor and other concessions would be welcomed in London, reliable quarters emphasized such a move could scarcely prove acceptable as a basis for discussion.

The disclosure, however, a further British communication to Germany was planned indicated the London government was anxious to keep conversations going as long as possible, both in the hope of finding a basis of settlement and also, as one diplomatic informant put it, to prolong the so-called "war of nerves" for its possible effect inside Germany.

The British government was reported in diplomatic quarters to be making inquiries in Berlin concerning what was said to have been a mention in Hitler's note of a period of time—some reports placed it at 24 hours—for the British reply.

In the conversation between Hitler and the British ambassador, Sir Neville Henderson, Hitler was reported here to have said this was not in the nature of an ultimatum, however.

The British were said to be asking whether it should be thus interpreted as only emphasizing that the question was one of urgency.

Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax studied Hitler's message until long after midnight.

Hitler reaffirmed his claims for the Free City of Danzig and Pomerania, the Polish corridor.

At the same time, it was said, he continued to express his desire for a British-German and a French-German understanding, provided Britain and France do not stand in the way of a "just settlement" of the German-Polish quarrel.

In some anti-appeasement quarters today, anxiety was expressed over the possibility the Hitler-Chamberlain exchange would lead toward "another Munich." Government quarters, however, dismissed this with references to Chamberlain's forthright promises to aid Poland and the formal British-Polish treaty.

Oil Wells Flowing Again; New Proration Order Soon

Annenberg Faces More Indictments

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP)—A federal grand jury returned today indictments accusing M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher; Charles W. Bidwell, owner of the Chicago Cardinals football club, and James M. Ragen, Sr., Annenberg associate, of using the mails in furtherance of a lottery scheme.

The jury returned seven indictments in all. Two charged Annenberg, Ragen and Bidwell, and three Annenberg companies, Nationwide News Service, Inc.; Illinois Nationwide News Service, Inc.; and Bentley-Norway and Company, with use of the mails to further the alleged lottery; conspiracy to use the mails for such purposes; carrying from state to state by leased wires "a list of prizes awarded by means of a lottery scheme"; conspiracy to carry such lists.

The third indictment accused Annenberg, Joseph E. Hagner, Fred W. Minicua, Ernest B. Fisher, Joseph Taylor, Ragen and the Min-Half Distributing corporation of conspiring Chicago, New York and Miami, "unlawfully to defraud" the government of income taxes of the Min-Half company totaling $14,874.99 for the years 1930 and 1936 inclusive.

In the fourth indictment Julius J. Smith, Milwaukee, in charge of the books of the M. L. A. Investment company, Milwaukee, was charged with making false statements under oath before the grand jury.

Arnold W. Kruse, a business associate of Annenberg and already indicted with the wealthy publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer in the largest personal income tax case in history, was charged in the fifth indictment with evasion of income taxes for the years 1933 to 1936.

In the sixth indictment, Ragen was charged with income tax evasion for the same years.

Kruse was charged with evasion of $103,312.09, including penalty and interest, for 1933 to 1936, inclusive. Ragen was charged with evasion of $469,254.99 in tax, penalty and interest for the same period.

The seventh indictment named Annenberg, Kruse, Hagner, Ragen and his son, James M. Jr., Herbert S. Kamin, Harry Friedman, Stanley Kahn, Jules Taylor, Bidwell, Aaron Trosch, head of the Milwaukee News company, a distributing agency, and Smith, also an auditor for the news concern, with attempting to aid and abet Annenberg in the evasion of income tax and conspiracy to aid and abet.

DEFECTIVE-CAR CHECK HELPING IN REDUCING HIGHWAY MISHAPS

Checking of automobiles against mechanical driving defects is playing its part in the reduction of highway mishaps and fatalities in Texas, Sgt. W. M. King, in charge of the state highway patrol safety lane here, told Lions club members at their meeting Wednesday.

Last year the number of automobile fatalities was cut by 25 per cent in Texas, he said, and indicated that in measure the safety lane program had a part in the reduction.

In Big Spring there is a noticeable number less defective cars this year than was the case last year.

Allowable Schedule To Be Released This Week; Texas Unexpectedly Lifts Shutdown, Other States Following

AUSTIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—The state railroad commission indicated today it would allow production of approximately 1,210,000 barrels of crude oil daily in Texas during September, a reduction of about 175,000 from the current allowable.

In a statement signed by all members, the commission also indicated it would boost the allowable of the great East Texas field more than 100,000 barrels daily to give it an output of 485,000 barrels.

A statewide hearing in Austin Sept. 11 at which the commission will explain its proposed solution and order for the East Texas area was announced.

AUSTIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—After a long conference, the railroad commission announced today a new statewide oil proration order would be issued Friday or Saturday.

Chairman Lon A. Smith said the commissioners agreed on every point.

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 30 (AP)—Production of crude oil—and its price—surged upward today as the shutdown of wells in six midwestern states approached an end.

An unprecedented experiment, stoppage of 88 per cent of the nation's production, was ordered by Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Arkansas when many major purchasers of crude dropped the price an average of 20 cents a barrel.

Texas, which produces nearly 40 per cent of the nation's oil, permitted its 88,000 wells to reopen today, two days ahead of expectation.

Humble Oil and Refining company, largest producer and purchaser in Texas, rescinded its price reductions. Most other majors which had not already taken similar action, followed Humble.

Sinclair-Prattie Oil Manufacturing company, which started the price slashing August 10 with a 20-cent cut.

Japs Send Troops Into Manchoukuo

TOKYO, Aug. 30 (AP)—As a result of Soviet Russia's nonaggression pact with Germany, freeing it of hands of Japan's rivals in East Asia, the Japanese army is rushing large forces into Manchoukuo through Korea and North China.

All vulnerable points along Manchoukuo's frontiers with Soviet Siberia and Outer Mongolia, Soviet protectorate, are being reinforced.

Manchoukuo is filled with rumors that Russia, now freed of the German menace on her western frontier, similarly is massing fresh armies in Siberia.

Possibility of a road to the Moss Creek dam by the time the city's half million dollar water project is finally complete was seen Wednesday in two developments.

The city announced that posts were on all but one mile of the five-mile road from Old Highway No. 1 east to the lake and that the fencing of the roadway should be completed within 10 days.

At the same time the county announced the hiring of Thurston Orenbaum as county engineer and included the five-mile road in its program of new construction for this year.

The original lake project is virtually complete, but a $46,000 mandatory job has been provided for by a $30,700 grant and is to be started soon.

Bilbo's Man Is Nominated

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 30 (AP)—Paul Burrey Johnson, backed by Senator Theodore G. Bilbo in a political feud with Washington ramifications, held a 22,000-vote plurality today over Martin Senett Conner for the democratic nomination for governor of Mississippi.

Senator Pat Harrison, Bilbo's colleague who opposed some new deal measures in congress, supported Conner, a former governor, in a primary election run-off yesterday.

Democratic nomination is tantamount to election in this state.

Returns from 1,507 or 1,860 precincts gave Johnson 140,785 and Conner 118,018.

Conner's defeat puts the Bilbo Johnson forces in power in 1940. When Mississippi will send 18 delegates to the national democratic convention. Bilbo is an outspoken advocate of a third term for President Roosevelt.

Aggie Grid Star Critically Burned

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 30 (AP)—Walemon (Cotton) Price, wheehorse of the Texas Aggie football team for the coming season was critically burned in a gasoline explosion at Newcastle, his home, advised received here today.

The powerful running kicking and passing star of the Aggies, around whom Coach Homer Norton had planned his offensive, was rushed to a Graham hospital where attendants said he would live.

He is definitely lost to football, however.

Advice said Price was burned on the face, neck, chest and both hands when a truck he was filling with gasoline backfired and ignited the fuel.

Price, a tow-headed senior, had been shifted to quarterback and was the outstanding kicker and passer of the team.

REPORT PROGRESS ON ROAD TO LAKE

He announced the date following a conference with S. G. Treadway, Abilene, division highway engineer.

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

Secretly Tony Rego and his Big Spring Barons had rather tangle with the Lubbock Hubbers in the first round of the Shaughnessy playoff (if they get there) than with Pampa.

The Hubbers may be in first place at the present time but they don't look as tough to the little skipper and to your reporter as do the Oilers whose awesome power that makes up for any pitching deficiencies.

Undoubtedly the "hottest" team in the entire circuit at the present time is Midland, which recently slapped over the Hubbers in three of four games in Midland and which went directly to Borger to beat Lefty Parks last night.

The sector immediately west is supplying some mighty stories about the team Sammy Hale has constructed. This said Stud Raines, former Lamesa hand, has made the difference between a mediocre and a great outfit in the Cow-hand camp but, until they show Rego something, he will regard them as a team he has been able to beat all season.

Borger is four games back of Big Spring at the present time but finish the season with Clovis and Amarillo, soft touches both. Big Spring and Midland, on the other hand, find the going rough all the way. The Barons tie into Lamesa for two games beginning Thursday while the Midlandites move on to Lubbock for a brace of battles.

Then the Barons and the Cowboys square off for five games. Will that series see the elimination of one of those teams?

Bus Dorman, the Amarillo outpaw whom some claim to be the best left handed topper in the WT-NM circuit, is back in action. Bus was injured by a batted ball several weeks ago and thought to have been through for the year.

Is Lefty Shelton, Midland's terrific flinger, eligible to participate in organized baseball? They tell us he's employed by an oil company near Crane.

There's an old regulation which forbids a player holding a job during the time he is under contract.

Crane and Texon start a series of games this week to determine the 1939 champion of the Ferman Basin semi-pro baseball league.

Tommy Hutto, the former Big Spring, carries a batting average of about .430 into the game for the Texonites. Frank Jacot, an ex-Baron, may pitch one of the games for Snipe Conley and company.

Miller Harris, another Big Spring product now playing right field for Crane, has predicted Crane will cop the hunting.

New athletic mentor at Garner high school this fall will be T. J. Turner, ex-McMurry student and one time member of the Condon refinery basketball team.

Turner succeeds Floyd Burnett who moves on to Sterling City to help George Sullivan coach the Eagles, a team due to figure

Pro Giants Unbeaten In Competition With Collegians

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP)—Two football "dream" teams meet in Soldier Field at 8:30 o'clock tonight before 82,000 spectators and the contest is likely to be a nightmare for one or the other.

It is the sixth annual charity battle between the college all-stars and the New York Giants, professional champions.

In five previous all-star games the college boys, seniors of the preceding season, have routed the pros. The pros won one game and the other two ended in ties.

The Giants are undefeated in all-star competition, but the champions have never competed in this game before, their three decisions coming against all-star squads in the east.

The lineup for the all-stars chosen by the fans in a 10,916,366-vote contest, will include Davey O'Brien, Sid Luckman of Columbia, Johnny Pingleton of Michigan State, Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross and K. Aldrich, T. C. U.

Leaders Win In East Texas Loop

By The Associated Press

The leaders maintained the pace in East Texas league games last night.

The top hands from Henderson had to do a lot of maneuvering to come out with a 1-0 victory over Longview.

Second-place Kilgore beat Texarkana 7-5 by piling up five runs in the first inning.

Third-place Palestine nosed out fourth-place Marshall 6-5 as Munn-Quay Sturdy and Shortstop Ben Baesch of Marshall were ejected because of arguments.

Tyler defeated Jacksonville 3 to 1.

By the way, does anyone remember the St. Louis Cardinals? Ray Bladen, who still has a slight recollection of them as a large ball of fire a couple of weeks back, is all for a congressional investigation to find out who took the gas from the Gas House Gang.

For the Redbirds, at this writing, bear as much resemblance to the red-hot pennant contenders of mid-August as a ball of cement to a beam on rye. And, while the National League-leading Cincinnati Reds haven't been setting any houses afire with less than 500 ball on their current eastern swing, the second-place Cards have looked woefully pathetic.

They were handed a 3-1 setback by the Boston Bees yesterday, their third in four starts against Casey Stengel's stingers and their eighth in ten outings in the east.

This loss not only left the Cards 5 1/2 games back of the Reds, but pushed them to where they're only two games in front of the third-place Cubs. The Reds and

Regomen's 3rd Place Lead Cut To One Game

PAMPA, Aug. 30 — Lefty Dilbeck southpawed the Big Spring Barons into submission here Tuesday evening as Pampa's Oilers won the opener of a two game series, 9-2.

The win enabled the Oilers to pull 2 1/2 games in front of the Barons and cut the Big Springers' third place lead over Midland to a single game. Midland swamped Borger, 11-1.

Paced by Gordon Neil, who had a triple and two singles, and Hal Summers who had a three-run double, the Pampanas moved into the lead in the first round at the expense of Ed Bahr, starting Baron tosser.

Dilbeck limited the Barons to seven scattered blows, all of them singles. Billy Capps had a brace of the hits.

Bob Bailey hit for the circuit for the Pampanas in the seventh round. The L1 Yankees close out their series with the Oilers this evening then move to Lamesa for two games.

and the Detroiters were leading the Yankees 6-1. Then the roof fell in. Six hits, including Joe DiMaggio's three-run homer, wiped out the entire Tiger edge. But, with Fireman Johnny Murphy doing the tossing the last of the ninth, Charley Gehring and Pinky Higgins treated themselves to a double piece to push across a 7-6 win.

The Red Sox had to call on Ted Williams to turn the trick for them against the Cleveland Indians, 7-4. Wilfrid Lafavre and Harry Eisenstat were all tied up like a Christmas package in a scoreless flinging duel going into the fifth. Then Eisenstat leded the bases. Ted promptly belted a homer.

There were no other games scheduled in the American league.

Thanksgiving Change Draws Opposition

WACO, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Texas American Legion is opposed to changing the date of Thanksgiving as proposed by President Roosevelt.

The Legion, closing its annual convention here yesterday, adopted a resolution urging congress to set Thanksgiving at its historic date on the last Thursday in November and declaring that advancing the observance a week placed it too close to Armistice Day which the organization has sought as a holiday for 20 years.

The convention also went on record as commending the San Antonio Press for its aid to the American Legion in attempting to prevent use of a war memorial auditorium at San Antonio for a mass communist meeting recently.

The 1940 convention will be held at Laredo.

Lou Roberts of Borger was elected state commander.

Among other officers named was W. F. Spiegel of Fort Arthur, treasurer, J. E. Grammer, Fort Arthur, sergeant-at-arms. H. R. Stewart of Fort Arthur was named an alternate delegate to the national convention in Chicago.

Resolutions included one urging construction of a community house at the State College for Women at Denton.

Corvaca was second in the drum and bugle corps contest in the senior division.

In the meeting of the Legion Auxiliary Mrs. Bruce Reid of Fort Arthur was elected a delegate to the national convention.

GRAND JURY MAY PROBE TEER DEATH

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 30 (AP)—A grand jury may inquire into circumstances surrounding the death of Claude D. Teer, chairman of the state board of control, District Attorney John R. Shook said today.

Teer died beneath the wheels of a passenger train early Monday afternoon after eluding a nurse who was escorting him on a walk at the San Antonio state hospital where he had been a patient-guest of Dr. W. J. Johnson, superintendent.

Charley Yates Cards 138 In Amateur Test

Youngsters Shine As Way Is Cleared For National Meet

By HUGH S. FULLEBTON, JR. NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—If you can judge by sectional qualifying round results, the entering wedge for all except ten players, the old timers are in for a hard time in the national amateur golf championship at Chicago's North Shore club Sept 11-16.

The original entry list of 831 was whittled down to 171 actual starters yesterday when sectional qualifying tests were run off. That meant the elimination of about four or five. It was the younger players who did the starring.

While scores generally ran high—150 was good enough to qualify almost anywhere and 104 led in two districts—there were a few fine rounds turned in. Prizes for consistently good golf went to a pair of experienced tournament players, Charley Yates of Atlanta, 138 British amateur champion, and Bruce McCormick of Pasadena, Calif., 1937 national public links champion.

Yates carded 70-65—135, three under par for Atlanta's East Lake course. McCormick fired a 66, four under regulation figures at the Lakeside club, Hollywood, Calif., and followed with a 72.

Two strokes behind them among the leaders were Art Doering, 23-year-old Chicagoan, Maurice McCarthy of Cincinnati and Robert E. Clark of Denver.

The qualifiers included most of the outstanding American amateurs, except the seven ex-champions, granted exemption from the sectional tests along with three foreign stars.

There were a few notable failures, however, such as Jack Westland, former Walker cup player, at Portland, Ore.; Frank Dolph at San Francisco, Don Schumacher at Dallas, Bob Babbish at Detroit, Vincent D'Antoni at New Orleans, Crawford Rainwater at Atlanta and Tommy Tailer and Eddie Driggs, Jr., at New York.

Bufs, Rebels Appear 'In' For Playoff

By The Associated Press

Half the Texas League teams have quit worrying about who will be in the Shaughnessy play-off but the other four are going to lose a lot of sleep in the next week or so.

Houston, leading the parade with a margin of 12 1/2 games over fifth-place Shreveport, certainly has no cause to worry. Dallas, boasting a margin of six games from their runner-up spot, is fairly well satisfied.

It's in the camps of the San Antonio Missions, Fort Worth Cats, Shreveport Sports and Tulsa Oilers where they're tearing their hair.

All of them are fighting for the places that will put them into the championship running.

Houston coasted in at the expense of the futile Indians at Oklahoma City last night, smashing the Redskins 16-0. Dallas found Beaumont somewhat tougher but won, 13-9.

San Antonio earned a 3-2 decision over the Cats. Olsen limited Shreveport to four blows while Tulsa was edging out a 5-4 win.

ROBBINS LOOKS TO A RECORD FIELD

56 Players Have Already Paid Advance Fees

Manager Shirley Robbins today looked forward optimistically toward a record field for the ninth annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament, Sept. 2-4.

No less than 56 players had either posted their qualifying scores or paid their entry fees with Robbins by Tuesday evening, a number fair in excess at that stage to any previous meeting.

A total of 134 lined up for the 1938 show. Robbins said he would not be surprised if as many as 150 appeared for this season's meeting.

Fifteen stick welders have posted first round scores since Sunday but Bob Bettie's 71 is still the best figure to be presented. But one of the golfers who have played since Sunday have been able to break 80. Best is Lib Coffee, Big Spring, who Tuesday came home with a 79.

It was the opinion of the clubhouse coaches today that it would take a 74 or better to rate the championship class. Last year's medalist score of 62, compiled by H. S. Forgeron, Midland, is not expected to be equalled, however.

Players who have qualified since Sunday include:

E. H. Phillips, Big Spring, 108. Charles Smith, Colorado City, 83. Jim Cook, Colorado City, 83. H. A. Poole, Stanton, 89. Tom Ashley, Big Spring, 95. Percy Bond, Colorado City, 80. George Hill, Big Spring, 105. Hiram Glover, Big Spring, 122. H. W. Smith, Big Spring, 91. C. L. Rowe, Big Spring, 87. Dan Hudson, Big Spring, 83. Cal Boykin, Big Spring, 98. Ed McDowell, Big Spring, 84. Dave Duncan, Big Spring, 96.

Others who have entered but have not played qualifying rounds are O. O. Craig, V. V. Strahan, Tom Neel, Dr. M. H. Bennett, Dr. R. B. C. Cowper, C. W. Cunningham, Pat Cope, Tom Reedy, M. K. House, Sr. Carl Strom and Bill Tate, all of Big Spring, and L. H. and Jack Barber, both of Forsan.

Watts Is Low Qualifier In Amateur Test

DALLAS, Aug. 30 (AP)—Don Schumacher, state golf titlist, will be an interested bystander only when six southwest linksmen tee off in the national amateur championship tournament at Chicago next month.

Schumacher failed to qualify here yesterday as O'Hara Watts, his fellow townsman at Dallas; Ed Davis of Shreveport; David Willis of Tyler; Harry Todd and Reynolds Smith of Dallas and Jimmy Walkup of Fort Worth earned places in the tournament.

Watts led the field with 146. McClure shot 147, Davis had 148. Todd and Smith each posted 147 and Walkup and Schumacher tied for the last qualifying place but Walkup won in a play-off, taking the first extra hole.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Hold fast! Oklahoma U. is ready to take the wraps off an Indiana sophomore back named Jack Jacobs who'll make your hair stand straight up when he breezes by with that ball tucked under his arm. . . . Those who know say the all American pickers can start right there. . . . Football, as she is played on the coast, is blasted from here to there and back in one of this week's picture magazines (Look) . . .

Boy, was he mad! Gus Hofmann, owner of the Mount Pleasant (Tex.) semi-pro club, was pretty sore when the town wouldn't support his team. . . . He brought in the crack Halliburton Cementers from Duncan, Okla., locked the park and hung out this sign: "You wouldn't support this team; now stay out." . . . Gus, the story goes, enjoyed the game all by his lonesome.

Bobby Riggs and Frankie Parker will give you an earful of Davis cup prospects over the air tomorrow night. . . . Shirley Temple has decided she will be a U. C. L. A. football rooster this year since her 200-lb. brother is out for the freshman team.

Return To Stability?

Announcement by the Humble Oil and Refining company, nation's largest purchaser, that it is restoring crude prices to the "pre-cut" levels of early August, coming on the heels of various state orders to lift the oil field shutdowns on Friday, serves to give everybody in the Southwest can be grateful. Humble's action on Tuesday is virtually certain to be followed by all other purchasers who had cut prices on an average of 20 cents per barrel. Humble officials the day before had asserted at a Texas Railroad commission hearing, that their company's crude stocks were running low.

And so, at first glance, it may be said that the general shutdowns served the purpose they were intended to serve, and that was to adjust output so that disastrous price reductions would be averted. It was a drastic step to take, and it may have paid off.

Texas is due to follow up with a new proration schedule which, in all probability, will call for a curtailment of production. Some areas may be hurt, but the general shutdown must be followed up with an orderly system of production, so that further crises can be avoided. If the price structure remains firm, producers in general may be satisfied with a little less production. Stability and a profitable price structure are the principal items to be maintained.

He Served His State

It is a regrettable state of affairs in governmental function that so few able men can be drafted for public posts that these few are pressed beyond all human endurance in attempting to fill their mission.

This was pointed up this week in the tragic death of Claude Teer, one of the able men who served in public office. Long-time representative and official connected with various state agencies, Teer for 30 years had served as chairman of the state board of control, a purchasing and administering bureau which is responsible for many of the commonwealth's most vital functions. As board chairman, Teer bore a tremendous responsibility, and it must be said that Teer was not a man who shirked responsibility. He was ever concerned with the smallest detail of any problem affecting his office, and gave to the fullest extent his time, thought and effort to seeing that his job was handled properly.

It was handled properly, and Texas, in mourning the passing of this competent and conscientious man, knows that in his death it lost one of its highest-ranking officials in point of ability, integrity and sincerity. It is not too extreme to say that Teer surrendered even his health in the service of his state. He gave all his job demanded, and it demanded too much.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—In a community that abounds in fancy, high-sounding names, I couldn't believe in the existence of a real living Paul Jones. Plain Paul Jones, nothing else.

He's here, though. And he hasn't changed it to Pablo von Jones, or Paul de Jones, or Paulus von der Jones. It's plain Paul Jones.

He's a producer. He's been in pictures 24 years. He's been everything, practically, there is to be in pictures. He spent his last nickel, actually, to get in pictures. That was for carfare when he decided, came noon one day in the shoe store where he was clerking, that he couldn't stand shoes any longer. The nickel took him to a movie studio, where he got work as an extra. He turned to "propping," gag-writing, assistant-directing (with all the big ones) and then writing.

He's a producer, which is a miracle in itself—because he became one after recommending the story which developed into Paramount's finest picture and one of its most impressive box-office failures.

"I'd read the novel by Josephine Lawrence called 'The Years Are So Long' and I was crazy to produce it—only I wasn't a producer," he relates. "So I told Leo McCarey about it, and he made it. A grand picture, but not a popular one. After that, I got plenty of black looks about the lot and hesitated to show my face there, but it turned out all right for me in spite of all." (For McCarey, too, as witness "The Awful Truth," "Love Affair," etc.)

Plain Paul Jones lives in a nice little house in the valley and has a wife and an 18-month-old daughter for whom he goes toy-shopping at intervals. He's dieting at present on account of the daughter—he had some pictures taken with her and he didn't like his waistline. Afraid, I guess, his daughter will see those snaps some day and think Daddy was a producer like the ones in the cartoon.

Paul Jones is producing, at present, an epic called "Intimate." He's enthusiastic about it—"hooky," he says, "but we're using real snow for three reels. Shooting in an ice-stash, where you have to wear a fur coat or you catch pneumonia. I wouldn't have taken the story if we hadn't been able to use real snow."

Paul Jones' son descended of John Paul Jones, whose life he's like to film) has a middle name—something like "deery"—use it. He hails from Big Spring, Texas. Which is enough, for the present, about Paul Paul Jones.

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

By Marie Blizard

Chapter 35 EMERALD NECKLACE The door opened and two more women came in.

"Hello, Cecily, you've quite a large party from Darcia, haven't you?" Nora Goodale greeted her. Mrs. Goodale's place was the most pretentious in Vicksburg. She kept a staff of nine servants. It was rumored that her husband had made his money during the prohibition era in some manner with which the government wasn't acquainted. The colony went to Mrs. Goodale's large parties and invited her to theirs—sometimes. She wasn't yet accepted. Perhaps in ten or fifteen years.

When she had gone out and Cecily was still struggling with her new hair-do, trying to make it roll up and not out, Laura said, "I really loathe myself for gossiping, but Nora Goodale would get some where quicker if she wouldn't always be so flamboyant. Did you notice her necklace?" Cecily said she hadn't.

"Just a little platinum chain and an emerald drop that must be worth a fortune. Not exactly what Mrs. Brewster would consider de rigueur for a simple Yacht Club dance."

A blast of music greeted them as they opened the dressing-room door. Phillip rose from a chair near the dressing-room. "I've never danced with you, Cecily," he said. "Are you terribly good?"

"Practically Pavlova," she said modestly. "But you'll have to dance with the two of us..." She turned around to include Laura. Laura had gone.

She fitted smoothly into Phillip's arms and they glided off, falling into perfect rhythm. "You are..." he said.

"I am what?" She was thinking: Glide smoothly on this beautiful floor. I wonder how Locke dances. I'll bet he can't negotiate a turn without knocking into two other couples. He's just the kind of a man who couldn't dance.

"Perfect," Phillip said. Cecily had forgotten what she had asked him. It didn't make any difference whether a man could dance well or not. You didn't spend all your life dancing. At least the Cecily Sturds didn't.

General Harbord cut in. "Guess these young fellows can't come the prettiest girl in the room," he said gallantly and swung Cecily off her feet.

was dancing with one of the Penny boys. "One more twirl, Jim, and I'll have housemaid's knee. Let's sit this one out and you go get me a nice long, cool drink, please."

Furtive Figure They walked their way off the floor and went into the trophy room where cooling drinks were being served.

It was chilly there. Jim Penny said, "I'll get your wrap. Hold this table—I'll be back in a jiffy."

"You'd better take my check. All polo coats look alike."

Over the top of her frosted glasses, Cecily's eyes sought Laura. She hadn't seen her dancing and she didn't see her anywhere about.

"She's probably holding hands with the smitten medico," Jim Penny offered. He molded Cecily's coat over her hair. "I see, that reminds me, I've asked Mrs. Fernandez for this next dance. Where'll I take you, Cecily?"

"Just leave me," Cecily hissed, and wriggled her toes in her sandals. "My feet need a rest."

"Sure it's okay?" "Of course, it is. I want to give my feet a rest and if I go back I'll fall into the arms of the General or the indefatigable Grandpa Macdonald."

Cecily finished her drink, put her glass on a table and walked out through the French windows intending to return at once. Back of the clubhouse it was deserted. And breathlessly beautiful. The music was muted there. The night was alive with beauty, the trees stirring in a September breeze.

The dock running down from the clubhouse was a shallow skeleton in the moonlight. A tempting path to walk. Cecily stood undetermined for a few minutes. It was chilly without her wrap but if she went back for it, she'd lose her mood.

She ran down the steps and along the walk, the breeze whipping her fragile frock. She leaned back against the rail and looked at the stars. Then her arms felt cold and she turned to go back.

She took a step and halted, her heart in her mouth. There on the back steps of the club, peering into the room through the window where she had sat, was a single, furtive figure. A long, lanky figure with a hat pulled over its face. She watched it bend and straighten. Locke! She tried to run. The wind, catching her skirts, impeded her progress. Angriest, she kicked them out of her, clutched them so that she could run. She was angry, excited—

She dared not call out. There was something—everything—in the line of that figure that told her he did not want to be discovered. When she was almost at the beginning of the dock, she did call "Too-hoo!"

Then she stumbled. Her high heel caught in the wooden step. She let herself fall, instinctively saving herself from wrenching her ankle.

When she scrambled to her feet he was gone!

Lost She hurried up the steps, looked right and left frantically on the veranda where he had been. Then she ran to the corners, peering into the darkness. There was no sight of him to be seen.

She saw her coat where she had left it over the back of the chair near the window. She reached in and got it, wrapped it around her shoulders and took a path off the side of the clubhouse.

She walked as far as the road and then turned back. She was thoroughly chilled. She wanted a hot drink and to see Laura.

The music had stopped. She heard the roll of the drum. That meant the supper dance was finished and she wanted to find Laura before the couples paired off for supper. It was a good two minutes after the roll of the drum that she got to the clubhouse door.

She found the lounge room deserted. The crowd had not yet left the dance floor. Cecily made her way toward them.

When she got to the door, Mr. Lochran, chairman of the dance committee, was leaving the orchestra stage and the dancers were turning to each other, looking down at the floor, separating carefully, picking their steps.

"What's the matter?" she asked a man near her. "Mr. Goodale has lost a valuable necklace."

"Lost it?" "Yes, she's just missed it. The committee is going to search the floor while we have supper."

Cecily wet her dry lips. Laura. Where was Laura? Cecily turned just in time to see Laura slipping in the same door.

Preston Groves Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—It is a fair bet that any Russo-German treaty of non-aggression will send England on a chase for a new "friend" that may take her right to the door of Japan—with whom she now is mildly at odds.

If she does that, the United States may get upset again at the thought of having an alliance of two powerful fleets, one on either side of us. That situation, which once existed, filled us with such alarm a few years ago that we virtually compelled England to break an alliance with Japan with which both had been very happy. Neither England nor Japan has been especially happy internationally since.

England's hunt for a "friend" to help her against some uprising enemy has been the big diplomatic ferment for generations. It has been the "big story" of the present situation.

Years ago, when your grandfather and our grandfather were worried about affairs in Europe, England was hunting for friends to help her keep down France. She had agreements with Germany and Russia at various times to take care of that. Then began the consolidation of the German states into a big family. As adept as Eliza crossing the Rappahannock on the lee, England began to toe-dance her way into a new arrangement.

RUSSIA REMEMBERS Germany whipped France so badly that she no longer was a danger to England. Germany became the danger. By the turn of the century this situation was so well developed that England was in a bind. She never could depend on the United States as an ally, although she made every effort to keep this country friendly.

First she tried to wangle Russia into an agreement. Russia did not win over too fast. She has a history of disagreements with England that her rulers do not forget. England has kept Russia out of the Balkans for more than a half century, and once went to war about it.

Remember the poem about "cannons to the right of them, cannons to the left of them"? Those were Russian cannons the English poet was talking about. When Russia failed to come along as a friend as promptly as England wished, British diplomats began hunting for others. She had France as an ally and Germany as a potential enemy. Italy was not much of a nation at the time and the United States was out of reach. Who was left? Nobody but Japan. So in 1902 England drew up an alliance with Japan pledging mutual assistance.

The situation now is cut nearly to the same pattern. And the situation is ripening for her to find a friend in Japan. The proposed non-aggression treaty between Germany and Russia makes the three-cornered anti-Comintern treaty between Germany, Italy and Japan look silly. Germany can't be both anti-Russian and pro-Russian at the same time. The moment she becomes pro-Russian she becomes anti-Japanese.

ENGLAND WAS CAUTIOUS How a renewed Japanese-British alliance would affect us is problematical. Before their old treaty was very old, England insisted on attaching to it a provision stating that it would not obligate England to take sides with Japan in a war between Japan and the United States.

Yet in spite of that provision, the United States never felt comfortable and insisted at the Washington naval conference in 1922 that England scrap the treaty. She did, accepting the various four-power and nine-power treaties as a substitute. Those treaties are dead since England saw to it that they never were enforced against Japan. It begins now to appear why England never burns a bridge behind her.

Abbott and Costello are two prime comedians of a kind in the "Streets of Paris." Their marriages happened rather quaintly. They were playing in burlesque. One night after a performance they were wandering back-stage and came upon two ladies of the ensemble bawling. It was one of those hair-pulling affairs which sometimes takes place when two ladies can not see eye to eye on a given subject.

Costello leaped forward and held one of the girls. Abbott kept the other. Both comedians purred soft peace-making philosophies into the young ladies' ears, until everything was straightened out. Then the four of them went to a nearby lunch wagon, partook of some hamburgers with onions, and made an engagement for the next evening. Today the hair-pulling ladies are Mrs. Abbott and Mrs. Costello.

Now let us have a look at these two backstage Rover boys, and see what makes them rove...Costello is a gay young man who learned how to starve in the gray, bitter (but not to him) days of the previous decade, and now is learning how to wax fat without losing the common touch...His partner is tall and thin, and is the straight man of the act. He guides the conversation in a state of complete misunderstanding with his shorter and more rotund friend, who has a moon face and a sad, pathetic voice...Costello is a refugee from Coney Island, having been born there in a theatrical trunk just 39 years ago, come October 2. Abbott was a Patterson, N. J., bumpkin just 31 years ago last March 6. Neither one climbed very high until their peculiar brand of foolery found a complement in one another's style...and after that there isn't any story. There never is when the obstacles have been straddled and nobody is mad about anything.

A wealthy man is the one who must do lots of scheming to save himself from schemers.—Greenboro Herald-Journal.

"Cold. Very cold. I hope you don't mind if I keep my coat on while I get de-frozen?"

"I want you to be comfortable," he answered gallantly.

Urge Caution In Driving On The Holiday

AUSTIN, Aug. 30 (AP)—With the Labor Day weekend and its congested traffic, approaching, the Texas Safety association appealed today to motorists and pedestrians to exercise extreme caution.

George Clarke, executive secretary of the association, issued a reminder that 38 lives were lost in traffic accidents last year on the corresponding weekend.

"Last traffic accidents be minimized in the face of war news," he said, "persons should consider that while 50,000 American soldiers lost their lives in 1917-18, more than 70,000 peace-time civilians were killed by motor vehicles in 1937 and 1938."

The safety association warned holiday celebrators against drunk driving.

State police meanwhile released an analysis of the 1937 July traffic fatalities in Texas, which represented a gain of 14 per cent over a year earlier.

They said that "mass killings" or multi-fatal crashes were peculiar to July traffic. "Such crashes," a statement said, "are a monument to excessive speed, and excessive speed itself is a product of the straight and open highway where there is little traffic congestion."

Although there was a 14 per cent increase in traffic deaths over the previous July, the gain in the number of fatal accidents was only nine per cent. Sixteen persons were killed on the Sunday before July 4.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—Seven-year-old Alice Harris starts her schooling today, but she still is unable to talk and has shown little ambition to learn.

Just 20 months ago humane agents found the auburn-haired Alice in a third story storeroom of her grandfather's farm home where she had spent the first five years of her life in a broken rocker.

She was crippled from rickets and weighed only 21 1/2 pounds, about 20 below normal, but tender care has developed her into a chubby-cheeked, plump-legged little girl of 60 pounds.

Alice chatters like a 16-month-old baby. She recently learned to walk. Dr. Kinsey Davis, Pennsylvania State college sociologist, said her lack of ambition to learn was due to an absence of training during the years she lay in the broken rocker where her 27-year-old unwed mother said she kept the child because her grandfather did not want to see her.

Liners

Bremen may be allowed to sail this afternoon.

Captain William Drechsel, marine superintendent of the line, said they wished to get back to Germany "just for the safety of the ship."

"It cost 50,000,000 marks, or $20,000,000," he said.

The New York police department, meanwhile, took extraordinary precautions to see that Fritz Kuhn, German-American bund leader, did not slip aboard the Bremen. It was indicated the vessel would be escorted at least to the three-mile limit.

The request for these precautions was made by the Dies committee investigating un-American activities. Acting Captain James Donnelly said detectives of the alien squad would board the liner and proceed as far as quarantine in the lower bay where a coast guard cutter and possibly a coast guard plane would escort the ship to the three-mile limit.

Although North German-Lloyd line officials lodged formal complaints with the German embassy in Washington, the inspection bore the personal approval of President Roosevelt. He said ships of all possible belligerent powers would be searched to insure they were not armed to raid other commercial vessels.

The president told a press conference yesterday the United States would be potentially liable if it allowed the ship of any nation likely to be involved in war to leave an American port equipped to arm itself at sea for offensive purposes.

cut, let its lower postings stand. Standard Oil of Louisiana restored the former higher prices.

Ariansas already was gradually lifting its shut-in. Louisiana's expired last night. Oklahoma officials set 7 a. m. Friday for resumption of production.

The Kansas Corporation commission gathered today to decide when restrictions would be lifted, and indications were New Mexico would reopen Saturday production.

"The general shutdown was a drastic remedy," said Ernest G. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad commission and chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact commission, "but it brought the patient through in beautiful shape."

Texas, which led the shutdown, had planned to end it Friday, but Chairman Lon C. Smith said the railroad commission was besieged by requests for a return to production.

Oil circles awaited possible production revisions. Lower allowable production figures were favored by many oil men, who pointed out overproduction now might weaken the price structure again.

Oil men also sought an interpretation of an exchange of letters between President Roosevelt and Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois.

Illinois producers, unrestricted by proration, have been selling an increasing amount of oil.

Contents of the letters were not disclosed.
