

REMEDY FOR THE WORMS

A & M Entomologist Says too Late Now. Need County Agent

Frequent complaints have been heard of late regarding the prevalence of worms in the grain fields, which have been feeding on the roots, kernels and even the stalks of the young sorghum, kafir, maize and June corn, and causing many crops to be replanted several times.

A few days ago A. E. Botaford brought a bottle of these worms to The Brand office with request that they be sent to the proper authorities and a remedy for the same found. Accordingly, the bottle was forwarded to the Extension Service of the A. & M. College, and The Brand is just in receipt of the following letter from A. P. Swallow, Entomologist:

"Specimens of bugs that you sent in are one of the common wire worms. There is nothing that can be done at present to control these insects. The control measures are entirely preventive and must be taken after this season's crop is off the ground. I would suggest that as soon as the crop is off, the ground be plowed as deeply as possible and worked as often as possible until time to replant it in the spring. The continual working of the ground brings the larvae and pupae of this insect up to the air and destroys them in great numbers. The mechanical action of farm implements is also a big factor in controlling the wire worms.

"Poisoned brand-mash as used for grasshoppers (2 lbs. of Paris green or white Arsenic, 25 lbs. of brand, 2 quarts of cheap molasses; lemons or oranges; and one half a dozen fruits crushed. Water to make a mash that will drip from the fingers) has been used in serious infestations but has not proven a complete success. I cannot recommend this as being an effective control measure but it might be worth trying on a small area. These worms are usually much worse in damp soil and I feel sure that if the farmers will follow the above suggestion of preparing and working his land, that he will have no trouble with these worms next year if it is an ordinary season."

Again The Brand calls attention to the fact that if this county had a competent County Agent our farmers would not be caused the loss and annoyance of these worms to any great extent. Even if a farmer follows Mr. Swallow's advice and prepares his ground for next year, if his neighbors do not do the same thing the worms from adjoining fields will soon work over into his; and he has his labor for nothing. But if, on the contrary, an Agent was on the ground, his duty would be to organize the entire community in a fight on this pest, and with everybody lined up the worm would soon be destroyed.

An Agent means community cooperation, without which individual foresight is often of no avail. This is merely one small item in a long list of what a County Agent would mean to Deaf Smith county.

Dr. Price is Glad To Get Back Home

Dr. W. A. Price arrived home Sunday from the heat and thick brush of Western Louisiana and Southern Texas, and says home looks like a million dollars to him. The Doctor has been investigating the oil fields of that section.

Dr. Price says there are more embryo Bolsheviks and I. W. W.'s down in that neck of the woods than anyone up here dreams of, and that a man has to leave "God's Country" for a little while to appreciate its climate and its people like he ought to.

"Penny Troubles" Fast Disappearing

The penny problem, growing out of the new war tax law, is gradually being straightened out in the minds of the merchants and trading public although for weeks past it has caused a lot of premature grey hairs to sprout on the heads of those who have to make regular statements to Uncle Sam.

In this section, before the war tax became an established institution, a penny was rarely used. A man just naturally hated to have the critters sticking around in his pants pockets, as they were continually being confused with real money. But when Congress arbitrarily put a cent tax on everything a human wore or consumed the penny suddenly sprang into general use, although not exactly into popularity. Soda fountain and small sundry stands especially were put to their wits end to make a proper accounting to the Internal Revenue man.

One local merchant stated the past week that he had actually purchased $93 worth of one cent pieces since May 1 and a local statistician has it figured out that something like 17,500 pennies have changed hands in Hereford since that date. At first the banks were put to it to supply the demand, one bank ordering $50 worth of pennies at a crack and usually receiving $25 worth in reply.

However the banks state that now this trouble has apparently been remedied, and the people are beginning to make a share of their deposits in pennies.

Wheat in the Stack Will be Much Safer

All reports brought into the city of late indicate one of the best wheat crops this country has ever produced. The acreage is not as large as could be wished for, under the circumstances, as far as this immediate section is concerned, but there is no question about the yield and quality of what there is. To the south harvest work has already begun, and before many days, unless rain interferes, cutting will be in full blast all around us. An especially fine showing is said to be in prospect around Wildorado.

In discussing the wheat situation this week a local banker remarked: "Foster's Weather Bulletin predicts an unusually wet July. It is a well known fact that wheat does better in the stack, where it goes through the 'sweat,' which is good for it, and rain will not damage it to any extent. It would be a shame to lose a big percent of our crop having it caught in the shocks, and I certainly hope the wheat men will be provident this year and get the crop into the stack at the earliest possible moment."

Here's Chance to Be Notary Public

The Hon. T. J. Tilson, our Representative at Austin, has written The Brand under date of June 24th, as follows: "I will be glad if you will kindly give notice through your paper to the fact that if anyone wishes to be appointed notary public in Deaf Smith county to please notify me of the desire, giving correct name and address, writing to me at Austin, care Capitol Station, and I will see that the appointment is made at this session."

Eleven of Soldier Boys Come Home

The soldier boys are still drifting in, and the local complement is now almost complete. Eleven of them have returned since last Saturday, as follows: Jack Jones, Wayne Wheeler, John Williams, Florian Sites, Jim Roberson, Odem Weems, Henry Wade, George LeGrand, Otto Olson, Walter London, and Jim Sain.

CHURCH IS NOW ASSURED

Methodist Campaign Nets Over $25,000 in Cash and Pledges

About two years ago the Methodists of Hereford decided to erect a new church building. At that time there was paid into the treasury by some of their members and outside friends considerable cash and Liberty Bonds for the building. At this time they had in the treasury $7,160.00 in cash and bonds.

Some three or four weeks ago the church voted unanimously to collect the balance of the necessary funds and build immediately. Committees were appointed to solicit from all members and the general public. Last week those committees began a systematic campaign and in one week secured over $18,000.00, and reported last Saturday night that with the cash bonds and new subscriptions they had over $25,000.00 in the building fund and very little more than half of the membership and general public canvassed. The several committees will continue their canvass of soliciting funds from all, whether members of any church or outsiders. So if any one has not yet been asked to subscribe don't feel slighted for all will be called upon in due time.

The following list shows the members and friends who subscribed last week. It is stated that many of these expressed a purpose of increasing their subscriptions later and that 95 per cent of those not members of this church are giving much encouragement to the committees and approve of the immediate building of this and also the other churches. It seems that the general public are demanding that all the churches of Hereford push forward and keep abreast with other progress of the community. (Continued on page 3.)

Burns Result in Death of Young Girl

As the result of an accident about two weeks ago, Gertrude Gifford, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stroud, who reside near Summerfield, died June 20. Funeral services were held from the Methodist church at Hereford last Sunday, Rev. W. H. Terry officiating.

The death was the direct result of a severe burn received while the little girl and her mother were washing by an open fire in the yard. While placing some clothes in the pot her clothing caught fire. In addition to her parents, she is survived by one sister, Miss Gladys, and two step-sisters, Misses Blanche and Ennis.

Miss Irene Williams Injured by Streetcar

Miss Irene Williams of Hereford was knocked down by a street car in Dallas, on June 14th, and was unconscious for several hours. Mrs. E. J. Williams, her mother, is in receipt of information that she is able to be up now, and if complications do not set in she will probably be able to go back to work before long. Miss Irene is employed in the bookkeeping department of Sanger Bros. of Dallas.

THE WEATHER.

For the past week the weather has been extremely hot and sultry, with threatening clouds coming up almost every day promising rain, but with no moisture to speak of. A slow, still rain probably would help and not interfere much with harvest, but a heavy blow, or hail just at this juncture would play havoc with the ripening grain.

Sheep Pay Dividends If Given Half a Chance

"How about sheep as one of the units in the general farming scheme of the Panhandle?" is a question frequently heard from new comers to this section. Last Fall, just before the County Fair, Jim Robinson, who lives south of town, purchased a small bunch of sheep and displayed them at the Fair. This week The Brand asked Mr. Robinson how he came out with them. He was very modest about it, and said he "guessed" they had paid, and finally the following figures were obtained on the transaction: The 200 head of sheep on hand cost $3,400.00.

Only about 50 per cent of the lamb crop was saved and he still has on hand in lambs 100 head. The wool crop brought 44c and a total of $800.00. He still has the original 200 head. This is just one branch of the activities on the Robinson irrigated farm, where alfalfa, hogs, cattle, poultry and a variegated crop of everything that grows goes into the total every year. Another noticeable thing about the Robinson farm is the total absence of grouching. Everybody is always busy, and a spirit of industry and optimism prevails.

No July 4 Affair Has Been Scheduled

So far as we have been able to ascertain, there will be no official celebration at Hereford on July 4. It is understood that there will be quite a number of private picnic parties on the creek on that date, but nothing in the way of an official gathering of all the people. The main reason for this is understood to be the inability to secure a band or other suitable music for the occasion. A plan is on foot now to reorganize the local band and secure a competent leader, if sufficient interest can be aroused, but this cannot be put through in time for a celebration on the Fourth.

Miss Irene Carter Is Married Sunday

A quiet wedding took place last Sunday afternoon when Rev. J. M. Asbell pronounced the words which united in marriage Mr. George T. Riley and Miss Irene Carter, both of Amarillo. Mrs. Riley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Carter, who reside here. She has lived in Amarillo for the past few years. She was connected with the Amarillo Daily Panhandle for a few years and resigned her position to take a place with Green Brothers, for whom she was working at the time of her marriage. Mr. Riley is in the furniture business on Fourth Street in Amarillo, having lately returned from the World War. Their many friends, both in Amarillo and Hereford, wish them a happy voyage down the stream of time. Mr. and Mrs. Riley will make their home in Amarillo.

Unique Marriage Is Planned For Thursday

A wedding which was kept secret up to the last minute was scheduled to occur Thursday evening June 26, at 7:00 o'clock, the place of the ceremony being the bridge over the creek south west of town.

The contracting parties were Gleaves P. Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Owen of Hereford, and Miss Donnie Stagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stagner, who reside south of town. Rev. J. E. McClurkin of the Baptist church was to perform the ceremony. The best man was to be Carl Owen, a cousin of the groom, and Miss Jenette Day, was to attend the bride. The Brand was unable to ascertain further particulars prior to going to press.

The Doughnut Concert

Preparations are all complete for the rally to be held at the Courthouse Friday night, June 27, in the interests of the Salvation Army. The Liberty Girls have been rehearsing some new "Doughnut" songs for the occasion, and Chairman McDonald has the stage all set for a nice evening's entertainment. A big crowd is expected to show their appreciation of the work of the Salvation Army in the war by their attendance.

LITTLE THINGS COUNT

What the Poultry, Butter, Egg and Turkey Items Amount to

For years the United States Department of Agriculture, and other agencies of a like educational nature, have been constantly stressing the known fact that the successful farmer is the one that diversifies; makes use of an accumulation of small profits about the farm, eliminates small wastes, and does not put all his eggs in one basket.

Great progress has been made in this work, but the number of farmers who yet maintain that poultry, eggs, butter, turkeys, etc. are too small and insignificant items to be considered is amazing. The Brand has known of many cases where local farmers have brought in wagon loads of chickens and sold them at the market rate explaining that they intended getting rid of poultry, as they consumed too much grain, etc.

This week The Brand decided to attempt to get some figures on what this kind of farm traffic actually amounted to, and asked Mr. I. H. Spratt for some figures. The result is astounding. Mr. Spratt went back on his books and submits the following figures as representing actual cash paid out by him alone to farmers from May 1, 1918, to April 30, 1919:

Eggs	$9,074.75
Chickens	7,587.63
Turkeys	9,027.90
Turkeys	1,367.25

Total $27,057.56

To this astonishing total of one produce house must be added the poultry, butter, eggs and turkeys handled by the other grocers of the town in the course of their trade and some idea may be gained of whether or not such farm trifles are mere "chicken change." The development of these "side lines" of the general business of farming often spells the difference between success and failure, and the cordial encouragement of such endeavors by all citizens interested in the development of the Hereford country will help materially in solving our future agricultural problems.

While Mr. Spratt has made a specialty of this class of merchandising and has handled the great bulk of this trade, the other grocery stores are also doing their bit in putting the ready cash into the pockets of our farmers, and E. K. Crouch has recently opened another Produce house to further strengthen the local market.

U. W. W. Pledges Are Now Overdue

A state representative was here last week and checked us up on our pledges and found a considerable unpaid balance.

We have compiled a list of all unpaid pledges and at the request of the State Chairman have turned same over to Mr. J. M. Boone for collection.

If you are in areas please see Mr. Boone, or mail him your check for the amount and thus help us to satisfy Deaf Smith County's obligation.

Death of E. H. Blaylock

E. H. Blaylock, aged 27, died Sunday, June 22, at his home five miles east of Hereford after a brief illness of ten days. Funeral services were held Monday morning at the cemetery, Rev. F. H. Bursleson officiating. He is survived by a wife and three children.

The cause of death is given by physicians as a disease known as Penphigus, the first case of the kind in this community.

Rev. Routh Leaves but Revival Goes on

The Baptist meeting was merged into the Fifth Sunday meeting of the Tierra Blanco Association on Friday. The Fifth Sunday meeting will continue through Sunday. Hereford will be honored by having many visitors as delegates to this meeting and regular services each night will be conducted by visiting preachers. Regular services on Sunday.

Rev. E. C. Routh was called away on Thursday morning and those who had been attending the services regretted very much that he was unable to stay until Sunday. The church has grown in number and spiritually during the meeting. Rev. Routh is a strong man in the denomination and made many friends while here. He expressed himself as liking Hereford and its people better than any town in the west Texas.

Rev. Routh is a very busy man carrying on the work of the Master. He is editor and business manager of the Baptist Standard, preaches nearly every Sunday upon invitation from some church and holds evangelistic meetings at times. The town and community has certainly been blessed in having Rev. Routh with us.

Our Baseball Team Has Sweet Revenge

Last Sunday our ball team took sweet revenge on the gentlemen from Vega for a beating administered the week previously. The boys state that in the Vega game they were shy the regular infield and worked the fly chasers on the inner breastworks filling in with men who had not had a ball in their hands this season. As a consequence they were walloped to the tune of about 10 to 0.

Last Sunday the Vega aggregation journeyed down here. The local lineup was strengthened, and the result was Hereford 10, Vega 2.

The Vega boys play a good, clean game, and other contests will probably be arranged for the future.

Rev. J. E. McClurkin Receives an Honor

The Rev. J. E. McClurkin, pastor of the First Baptist church of Hereford, has been invited to deliver an address before the students of the summer session, West Texas Normal, at Canyon, on Wednesday, July 2. Rev. McClurkin has accepted the invitation.

This talk will be one of a weekly series of "Mid-week Sermon-Addresses" planned by the faculty of the Normal for the spiritual and intellectual uplift of the students. The first address will be heard on June 27th, Rev. E. C. Mabley of Amarillo being the lecturer; then comes Rev. McClurkin, followed one week later by Rev. R. Thomson of Amarillo. Other weekly speakers on the program will be Rev. S. R. Hay, pastor of the Polk Street Methodist church of Amarillo, Rev. A. L. Moore, Presiding Elder, Plainview District, and Rev. William Garner, Archdeacon of the Plains and Rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Canyon.

MARKETING WEEDS

By S. C. Hoyle, Editor Extension Publications, A. & M. College of Texas.

The man who had a few sheep on his farm will find them a valu-able medium for marketing a con-siderable portion of the weed crop which seems so protion of the weed crop which seems so prolific this year. In fact, a few sheep, kept in proper proportion to the number of cattle which should be grazed on each acre of pasturage will not only market the weeds, but will not detact from the value of the grazing for the other ani-mals.

Sheep have a valuable place in the Texas farm scheme and time is impressing this important truth upon the farmers.

If you are not now keeping a few sheep talk to your County Agent or write to the Extension Service of the A. and M. College of Texas about their possibilities in your section.

It is futile to lament the lost opportunities while permitting those at hand to be neglected.

The Extension Sheep Specialist will take pleasure in locating and selecting a herd suitable to your conditions, as well as help in the solution of other problems regard-ing the care and production of sheep on the farm.

Irrigation Farms Need Labor

According to specialists of the United States Department of Agri-culture, there is plenty of farm work for anyone who wants a job pitching hay, shocking grain, or laboring at other farm tasks throughout the western irrigation belt. A recent report from the Truckee-Carson irrigation project says that labor is extremely scarce and farmers are paying $4.50 to $5 a day, including board and lodging, for help during the hay-ing season. Fourteen-year-old school boys are being paid $3 a day plus their board and lodging. Indications are that harvest con-ditions will be as bad, if not worse. The general impression that there is a labor surplus and a work deficit throughout the country cer-tainly is not true on the reclama-tion projects.

World Amazed at U. S. Meat Supply

American dressed meat produc-tion, including lard, amounted last year to 20,129,800,000 pounds—a quantity never before approached in magnitude by the livestock in-dustry of this or any other coun-try. The corresponding figures for 1917 were 16,317,300,000 pounds, according to statistics pre-pared for the Department of Agri-culture by John Roberts. Three-fourths of this enormous increase was in pork and one-fourth was in beef.

The surplus in 1918 was so great that the extra demands for ex-port made little impression on it. There was, nevertheless, a very great increase in the overseas ship-ments as compared with 1917. The total shipments of meat and lard in 1917 amounted in round figures to slightly under 1,750,000,000 pounds; in 1918 they were slightly over 3,000,000,000 pounds or very nearly doubled. It should be borne in mind, too, that these shipments do not include products sent in United States vessels to our forces abroad.

The aggregate of dressed meat and lard consumed in the United States in 1917 was approximately 14,500,000,000 pounds, while in 1918 it had risen to 17,500,000,000 pounds. After allowing for the in-crease in the population this means an addition of 23 pounds for every man, woman, and child in the country.

The foregoing figures regarding consumption may appear incred-ible to those who doubtless think that the food-conservation cam-paign of last year should have brought about a different result. A consideration of a few high lights bearing on the situation, however, may show that there is nothing unreasonable in it after all. To begin with, meat produc-tion in 1917 was lower than it had been for many years. In ad-dition it was borne in, upon our people that three years of war and U-boat atrocities had brought about a dire need for meats on the part of the European Allies which called for drastic and immediate measures of relief. The American consumer responded to the call at once; there was a real tightening of belts, and in consequence much meat was saved during the year, and consumption fell to a low point.

While the people as a whole through their abstinence averted the immediate crisis, it was the farmer who was the really big factor in the ultimate situation. The producer, of course, was ex-pected to do his part, but he did it with such powerful effort that in a single year the meat shortage was turned into a pronounced surplus. Thus in 1918 there was not only meat enough to supply all foreign demands compatible with the re-stricted shipping facilities, but a greatly enlarged quantity was available for the home consumption besides.

For the first three days chicks may be fed a mixture of equal parts of hard-boiled eggs and rolled oats or stale bread, or stale bread soaked in milk. When bread and milk are used, care should be taken to squeeze all the milk out of the bread. From the third or fourth day commercial chick feed may be fed until the chicks are old enough to eat wheat screenings or cracked corn.

SWAT ARMY WORM EARLY, EXPERTS ADVISE

The army worm—which gets its name from the fact that it moves in immense hordes, leaving a trail of destruction—has appeared in large numbers in the general vicin-ity of Fort Worth and Dallas, Tex. It is busily engaged in destroying the wheat and oats crop, according to reports to the United States De-partment of Agriculture. Prevail-ing damp, cool weather favors the development of the army worm and makes likely an invasion of large proportions within the next four to six weeks in many States east of the Rocky Mountains.

The Department of Agriculture urges all farmers in the threaten-ed regions to watch for the pest in its younger stages and be ready with control measures. Meadows, particularly those planted to mil-let, timothy, and blue grass, should be frequently examined dur-ing the spring and early sum-mer. If small infestations are dis-covered the grass or grain should be mowed off and straw should be scattered over the spot and burn-ed, thus destroying the worms. If the insects have become distrib-uted over a large area it should be marketed off by stakes and the crops should be sprayed heavily with a mixture of Paris green at the rate of 1 pound to 50 gallons of water. This solution should not be applied to corn or it will burn it. Instead, 2 pounds of arse-nate and lead powder to 50 gallons of water should be used. Grass or grain sprayed with these poisons should not be fed to live stock.

When the caterpillars are on the march or are starting in on one corner of a field of grain they may be headed off by plowing a deep furrow directly in their path. Then the insects that have fallen into the furrow may be killed by dragging a log through it.

"Let's Make It a Million!"

A million members next year in the farm bureau of the 33 north-ern and western States is the goal set in a notice to county agent leaders and county agents by the United States Department of Agri-culture. Reports show that on April 1 there were 409,841 farm bureau members in these States, with 8,575 community committees—nearly a 30 per cent increase since the December, 1918, report, despite the influenza epidemic which handicapped membership campaigns.

"According to the 1910 census," says the notice to county agents, "there were 3,262,955 farms in the northern and western States. With one-third of the farms re-presented in the farm bureaus they could be truly said to be fairly representative. Farmers should not be coaxed or scared or fooled into the farm bureau. The or-ganization is an appeal to their in-telligence and their memberships should be solicited on a thor-oughly dignified, common sense, busi-ness basis. Now is the time to make plans for the annual mem-bership campaigns for next fall and winter. Some of the States may wish to do this on a state-wide basis."

"PINCH," "DIP OR BRUSH TO FIGHT POULTRY "COOTIES"

Recent experiments by the United States Department of Agriculture have shown that a very satisfactory way of eliminating lice from poultry is to treat each fowl separately with sodium fluorid Commercial sodium fluorid may be purchased at most drug stores at from 30 to 60 cents a pound and may be applied either by the so-called "pinch" method or by means of a duster made by punching small nail holes in the bottom of a can having a tight-fitting cover or by dipping. If the pinch method is used, the bird is held on a table while a pinch of sodium fluorid is applied next to the skin under the feathers, as follows: One pinch under the head, one on the neck, two on the back, one on the breast, one below the vent, one on the tail one on each thigh, and one on the underside of each wing. The feathers should be ruffled to allow the powder to get next to the skin. If the bird is held in a large, shallow pan, the small quantity of powder which falls off will be saved. If the powder is dusted on by means of a shaker the amount of sodium fluorid used may be reduced by using 4 parts of road dust or flour to 1 part of the chemical. This method requires the services of a second person to hold and turn the fowl. When large numbers of birds are to be treated the sodium fluorid may be used in the form of a dip, using 1 ounce of commercial sodium fluorid to each gallon of water. The bird should be held by the wings and plunged into a tub full of the solution, leaving the head out, while the feathers are ruffled with the hand to allow the solution to penetrate to the skin. The head is then ducked once or twice and the bird allowed to stand a minute to drain and then released. Dipping is just as effective as the other methods, but should not be used on very weak or young birds or in cold or damp weather. One pound of sodium fluorid will treat 100 birds. Figuring a person's time at 20 cents an hour and the drug at 40 cents a pound, it has been estimated that it costs about $1.25 to treat 100 fowls by the pinch method. Four women are registered in the Law Department of the University of Texas for the summer session. They are Miss Annanda Dunlay of Austin, Mrs. Dickson D. Falvey of Austin, Miss L. R. McClure of Austin, and Mrs. C. W. Webb of Elgin.

ENDING AN UNPLEASANT EPISODE.

The attitude of the republics of South America and Central America toward the United States is not unreservedly friendly. It was a mean trick we performed when, 16 years ago, we grabbed from Columbia the strip of territory which is now called Panama and through which the Panama canal was built, and the governments to the south of us are slow to forget. "If the United States could do that to Columbia, what might not she do to us?" is a question frequently asked.

It is gratifying to learn, therefore, that the Columbia dispute at last is nearing a settlement. The United States is ready to sign a treaty by which Columbia will be paid $25,000,000 as reparation for the things this country did and the territory it took in 1903. This treaty has been before the Senate many times, but always heretofore Senator Lodge was able to prevent its acceptance. His objection was to the clause, now eliminated from the text, expressing regret on the part of the United States.

Col. Roosevelt was President at the time the canal zone was taken over by this country. Negotiations had been conducted without avail for the purchase of the territory. The people of the state of Panama started a revolution and separated themselves from Columbia. They set up a republic form of government, which was officially recognized within 72 hours by the United States. This action enabled the United States to seize the canal strip.

As the revolution started American warships anchored a few miles off the coast. It is a tradition that Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, impatiently from his office in Washington, cabled a query to Panama to ascertain when the revolution would begin. These and other circumstances led to assertions that the United States was guilty of complicity in the revolutionary movement. President Roosevelt vigorously denied the charges, but in an address afterwards he did say: "I took Panama and talked about it afterwards."

The incident was with tremendous consequences. Latin America pointed to it as an evidence of the hypocrisy of the United States, in professing to be the champion of the smaller and weaker nations. Germany and England went far ahead of us in the development of commerce in a field that naturally belonged to the United States. The loss in dollars cannot be estimated, and the loss in prestige was even of more importance.

Now the episode is to be terminated with satisfaction to everybody, and in the course of time, let it be hoped, the sore spots will heal and a friendly spirit prevail.

PEANUTS AND PEANUT POLITICS.

Official recognition at last has been given the lowly peanut. The Senate, at Washington, has agreed to an appropriation of $12,000, which will be used by the Department of Agriculture in keeping the peanut growers of the country informed with respect to prices and other market conditions. Thus the peanut leaps to a plane of equality with other agricultural products. It becomes a staple.

The tribute is deserved. Too long the peanut has been left without its due. There was debate on the subject in the Senate; there is always debate in the Senate. The Senate from Virginia, Mr. Swanson, informed the country that the peanut industry is not a small industry. The annual value of the crop is upward of $100,000,000. They grow in marketable quantities in seven or eight states. The Senator from North Dakota, Mr. Gronna, said last year's crop totaled 56,000,000 bushels, and Mr. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, declared the peanut to be a perfect substitute for meat. Its nutrition value is high. It furnishes in a well-balanced ration the elements that are demanded by the human system. It is wholesome; it is cheap. Senator Simmons of North Carolina, said peanuts largely are utilized for oil and butter. A very insignificant part is eaten by people. Hogs get the lion's share in southern states. Senator Smith, of Georgia, declared no other crop is found so valuable to the grower of cotton in the fight against the boll weevil. The weevil cannot survive on peanuts. It was a one-sided debate, and the peanut won a victory.

But what is the connection between all this and peanut-politics? There is no connection, except that the Senate lately has been playing peanut-politics steadily in its effort—or rather, the effort of the republican leaders—to ruin President Wilson before the country. It is refreshing, therefore, to have the Senate step aside from its game of petty, mean politics, and engage itself, in the name of the peanut, in a laudable enterprise.

HEREFORD'S BEST ASSET.

You are a practical-business man. You have located in Hereford because opportunities were offered here which were not available to you elsewhere. This is your home town. You want it to prosper and grow in population. You want good people to come here, as you came. You would like to see Hereford take its rightful place as the leading commercial center of this section of Texas.

What, then, do you as a practical man consider is Hereford's very best asset in a business way? Let us get down to brass tacks. What usually is the determining factor when a man is looking for a new home—a place in which to raise his family?

The answer is easy—SCHOOLS.

It is educational advantages that the homeseeker inquires about, all other things equal. Good schools make good towns. Indifferent schools make indifferent towns. Bad schools make bad towns. You can not get away from this fact; schools reflect the town, and the town reflects the schools.

Hereford can make its public schools the best in the State. It would be a sound, practical business proposition to endeavor to accomplish that end. It would bring people to Hereford; and people are necessary in the building of a city.

GET OUT, VICTOR

Milwaukee is a large German city in Wisconsin. Berger has not taken his seat in the House yet, because the House, which is the sole judge as to the fitness of its own members, is not certain he is a good citizen. A federal court has convicted him of violation of the espionage law and he was sentenced to prison for a long term. The case is now in the court of appeals.

Since his conviction Berger has had neither the sense nor the decency to keep quiet. He spouts off on any and all occasions, while his fate is being decided in the courts. He has even gone so far as to threaten violence in the event he is not permitted to sit in Congress.

We suspect it is not so much the socialist as it is the Hun in Berger that talks.

This is the fly-swatting season. Somebody should do something to Berger. He is a pest.

Congressman Blanton, of the sixteenth Texas district, prevailed upon the House to adopt a resolution of inquiry into the extent that government positions are held by members of the same family. The debate developed that Mr. Blanton has three sons on Uncle Sam's pay roll, which admittedly is not a bad record when it is considered the Texan is only at the start of his second term.

Why are those republican leaders demanding of President Wilson that he return home? It means certain trouble for them immediately when he arrives.

We confess to a degree of curiosity when it was first announced that the investigation of the conduct of the war, proposed by the republican majority of the House, was to be a non-partisan affair. Now we understand. The investigating committee is composed of ten republicans and five democrats.

Always will there be obstacles in the path of progress. An indignant Newfoundland citizen protests against airplanes flying about and "frightening poultry thereby interfering with the supply of eggs." We remember a Missouri congressman who was defeated for re-election because he bought an automobile; it was considered undemocratic to own a car then. And it was a second hand car at that!

"Don't let this administration point to Los Angeles as a democratic city a year hence when the national campaign is on." In sending this wire to the republican campaign manager at Los Angeles, Senator Smoot, of Utah, added that Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, joined him in the sentiment. Answer: Los Angeles, normally republican, elected a democratic mayor by 15,000.

A phase of big city life almost incomprehensible to the small town man is found in the fact that there are more than 1,000,000 persons addicted to the narcotic drug habit in the United States. The "dope fiend" is a fungous growth on civilization which does not thrive in rural communities.

The War Department has bought 360,000 yards of ribbon for the new victory medals which will be awarded to all officers and enlisted men who took part in the war. Now we can forget about the red tape.

Just as we were beginning to feel out here in Texas, that we were getting firmly re-established on a peace basis, along comes the chief of the British war staff with the information that 23 wars are now going on in the world.

Things are happening rapidly in the world. We confess we are keyed up to the point that we will not be a bit surprised when some fellow announces his purpose to make a non-stop air flight around the earth.

It was a thin argument of the anti-prohibitionists to say that a rise in the price of tea and coffee is looked for after prohibition goes into effect. Our old friends, supply and demand, doubtless will continue to control the situation.

Will not some of the politicians in Washington, for their country's good, step aside and make room for a few statesmen? Don't crowd, gentlemen.

The ultimate of things not to worry about is reached in the newspaper headline, "Germans Alarmed at Growing American Commerce."

Episode 14—"The Living Catapult"

The only key to the location of a buried treasure is a chart flag cut up and divided years before among six adventurers. Dick and Polly have one place and Scarface another. He kills Polly's father, gets her flag and starts after the treasure. Other holders join Dick and the pursue Scarface to the Gulf of Mexico, battling bandits and hostile Aztecs. They are captured on a raft by Scarface and left buried to their necks on the beach to perish in the rising tide.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

MISS CECIL GILLIAND, Phone 39

MRS. ASHELL ENTERTAINS

On last Wednesday afternoon in the Virginia Shirley Rest Room of the Christian church Mrs. Asbell most delightfully entertained the ladies of the church, Mrs. C. E. Wheeler who is to leave for her new home in Blackwell, Oklahoma being the guest of honor. The rooms were gay with flowers. From the out doors where they are now blooming in such profusion they were carried inside and used in love's quantities—a fitting tribute to the honoree whose love for flowers is so well known. A short business session was first held in which Mrs. Asbell, the newly elected president of the society, outlined plans for work that was met with much enthusiasm and promised well for the future work. Some strong committees were appointed to handle the different departments of work.

After disposing of the business on hand the program prepared for the occasion was given. Mrs. Asbell in very appropriate words introduced the different numbers of the program.

Piano Solo—Mrs. Dyar.
Vocal Solo—Miss Inez Ricketts
Song—Ruby Fay Bennett.
Talk—A tribute to Mrs. Wheeler—Mrs. Ramsey.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. Ralph Smith
Reading—"Absence"—Mrs. J. E. Ferguson.

After the program Mrs. Wheeler asked that she might be allowed to express her appreciation, not only for the courtesies of the afternoon, but also of the friends she had made, and so much valued, during the years of her residence here. "Next to her own family they were her dearest possession and one earthly possession that would also be a heavenly one."

Following this the guests all joined in singing "Bless be the Tie that Binds". At the conclusion of the program sherbet and cake were served and a delightful social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Wheeler has from girlhood been a resident of Potter and Deaf Smith Counties. Her marriage occurred here and the two young soldiers sons, who have just returned from service over seas, were born in this county. Mrs. Wheeler has been identified with the uplifting movement in her community, and while a devoted mother to her lovely family her broad interests and sympathies included all in need of her help. It is with keenest regret we see her go from us, yet we trust it will be to larger opportunities and an advancement of her own interests.

GORMAN—RICHARDS

One of the interesting weddings of the spring was that of Miss Emma Richards, of El Paso, Texas and Lieutenant Ralph Gorman of El Dorado, Kansas, which occurred Thursday June 19th, in the home of the parents of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gorman of Eldorado, Kansas. Rev. C. E. King of the Methodist Episcopal church officiated using the ring ceremony. The only guests were Mrs. Fred Baird, of El Paso, Texas, sister of the bride Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gorman and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Embree. Before the wedding the bride and her sister Mrs. Fred Baird visited a few days in El Dorado as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Embree.

The wedding is the culmination of a romance begun about two years ago when Lieutenant Gorman was stationed at Ft. Bliss near El Paso. It was while visiting in El Paso that he met his future wife. Since that time he has spent thirteen months on the battlefields in France.

Mrs. Gorman who is a daughter of C. S. Richards is a charming young woman and spent her childhood days in Hereford. Though she will be missed by her many friends here, with her pleasing manner and congenial disposition she will be welcomed to her new home by the many friends of her husband.

Lieutenant Gorman was in the regular Army five years, receiving his discharge a few months ago. Since that time he has been assistant to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. He has the ability that wins and is on his way to a successful future. He and his bride will make their home with the parents of the groom until fall.

The many Hereford friends join in wishing for this young couple every success in life as they start life's voyage to gether.

OBITUARY.

Gertrude Gifford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stroud, was born at Cloud Craft, New Mexico July 5th, 1905, and departed this life June 20, 1919 at her home south of Summerfield, Texas. The cause of her death being the result of very severe burns about her body.

Medical skill and loving hands did all they could to relieve her; but fifteen days to the hour of the accident the Lord ended her suffering and took her home to dwell with him where pain and sorrow are not known.

It was her desire to live yet always submissive to go, should it be God's will, and assured her mother that all was well with her soul.

She was popular and admired by the circle of friends in which she moved, and will be missed by her family as well as all who knew her. The beautiful casket covered with flowers was suggestive of the affection and esteem in which she was held.

Funeral services were held from the Methodist Church at Hereford, conducted by Rev. W. H. Terry, who spoke comforting words and with the assurance that she is

WAR DEPARTMENT

Office of the Assistant to the Secretary Washington.

To the Editor,

My Dear Sir:

Doubtless you know our work of getting positions for discharged soldiers and sailors has gotten away to a good start. All over the United States the War Department is securing the hearty cooperation of all the welfare services, chamber of commerce, labor unions, employers associations, and many national, state and civic bodies, all of whom are at liberty to use the machinery of the United States Employment Service towards booking up the discharged men of the Army and Navy with a good job.

We have also had the patriotic assistance of employers, corporations, firms, and individuals, in the matter of reinstating their old men in the jobs they held before they went to war. I may add that between 70 per cent and 80 per cent of our honorably discharged soldiers and sailors have the offer of their pre-war jobs. The hero of today is not to become the hobo of tomorrow.

In return for this the War and Navy Departments have prepared a handsome citation which is issued to all those employers who have assured the departments that they will gladly re-employ everybody who formerly worked with them and left to serve in the Army and Navy during the great war. This citation carries with it permission for the holder to display on his firm's service flag the shield of the United States as a symbol that he will fulfill his obligations to the men who went to the defense of the country at the time of its peril. As yet I do not think that employers generally throughout the United States know about this citation and I am writing to you to ask if you will give this letter space in your valuable columns in order that the manufacturers, merchants, professional men, and employers generally in your community may know that they are entitled to this interesting official document.

The citation is signed by the Secretary of War the Secretary of the Navy, and myself assistant to Secretary of War. It is handsomely engraved and engrossed with the name of the recipient. There are no strings to it. All we ask is that the employer write an application for such a citation, stating that he will reemploy his old service men, and address me in care of the War Department, Washington, D. C.

The newspapers of many cities at the outbreak of the war published the names of those patriotic employers who agreed to retain their places for their men who enlisted or were drafted. It occurs to me now that it would be a very fine and patriotic act if at this time, with victory won, the newspapers publish the names of those firms and individuals in their neighborhood who are taking back honorably discharged service men, whether they agreed to or not when the war began.

Very truly yours,
ARTHUR WOODS
Assistant to the Secretary.

NEW HOTEL FOR OFFICERS

For the convenience of casual officers of the American Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Red Cross visiting Bordeaux a hotel for their exclusive use has been opened by the American Red Cross in the Place de la Chapelle. Formerly popular as the Grand Hotel de Nice the building has been renovated, re-decorated, equipped and furnished by the American organization and is admirably adapted to its new purpose. A committee of Army and Navy officers and Red Cross workers manage the hostelry.

SIXTH FREE HOTEL OPENED

Fifty canvas buildings which served last summer as hospital wards for American soldiers at Chateau Thierry have been obtained by the American Red Cross and transplanted to the site of the Paris Exposition, where they are now being used to shelter and feed 1,600 American soldiers on leave in Paris. This is the sixth free hotel which the Red Cross has established in Paris for the care of the American boys who visit the city on sightseeing trips.

ARMY Y. M. C. A. WORK TO CONTINUE

San Antonio, Texas, June 22— Decision to continue the work of the Army Young Men's Christian Association among the soldiers in the six states of the Southern Department during the remainder of the demobilization period, or to the end of the present calendar year, has been reached at the conference of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. being held in New York City. This announcement is made in a telegram just received here by Fred B. Appleget, associate executive secretary of the Southern Department "Y", from Charles Kurtzhalz, executive secretary of the Department, who is attending the meeting of the War Work Council.

The telegram states that the budget of estimated expenses to cover the six months' period from July 1 to December 31 has been approved, this budget being based on the funds subscribed for the army work of the "Y" for the present war, and having no reference to the peace-time activities of the Army and Navy Division of the Y. M. C. A.

John R. Mott, general secretary of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. was given a special decoration of the French Government at one of the sessions of the conference. The medal was presented in person to Dr. Mott by the head of the French Commission.

Iowa Garden Clubs Increase.

Garden club leaders in Iowa have found since the war ended that interest in gardens has increased rather than deminished. There are more garden club members in the State this year than last. The city of Des Moines alone has 1,000 more members this year than a year ago. That additional interest is being taken in gardening throughout the State is shown by the fact that 90 per cent of the garden club leaders are being paid this year, as against 50 per cent who were paid last year.

SUBSTANTIAL AID TO BALKANS

The American Red Cross is distributing 25,000,000 pounds of food, clothing, soap, and medical supplies in the Balkans. To Rumania, portions of which have been stripped of all means of supporting life, have been sent one million yards of cloth, 1000 sewing machines and hundreds of tons of foodstuffs and hospital supplies. In Greece, 4,000,000 pounds of relief supplies have already been distributed, while Serbia has received 3,500,000 pounds.

One million pounds of food and general supplies have been sent to Montenegro. Albania has received 600,000 pounds and Bosnia 50,000.

A complete conservatory of music, to be known as The Texas Institute of Applied Music, will be established at the University of Texas next fall. Competent instruction in piano, voice, organ, violin and other string instruments, and facilities for practice will be provided. The Texas Institute of Applied Music will be affiliated with the University and with the courses offered in that institution will give opportunity for a complete education in music, either as an accomplishment or as a profession. A prospectus giving full information will be off the press soon and may be received by applying to the secretary of The Texas Institute of Applied Music, University Station, Austin.

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.
GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

AMERICAN DOUGHBOYS TAKE KEEN INTEREST IN FRENCH CHILDREN

The American soldier returning to his home is not forgetting the war orphans of France who aroused not merely his pity but the potent Big Brother instinct. And these tiny waifs of the world holocaust will have continuing reason to know that the big-hearted doughboys who rolled with them are not forgetting them, for through the American Red Cross 3,444 French orphans adopted by the American fighters will continue to be maintained by funds contributed by the soldiers.

Nearly two million francs were given by 450,000 American soldiers to the fund collected in eleven months by "The Stars and Stripes," official newspaper of the A. E. F. and this money will be used for the education and general welfare of the French children selected by the American Red Cross.

The affection of the home-coming soldier does not find an end of its expression with the fund, however, for hundreds of the veterans maintain correspondence with the little ones they call their mascots. These letters pass through the American Red Cross, which maintains a special staff of social workers and translators to handle the letters in addition to assuming responsibility for the fund the soldiers raised. The soldiers, too, find delight in sending back gifts of toys and trinkets to the youngsters whose lives have had so much of darkness.

OTHERWISE NOTHING TO DO

The job of an outpost Y. M. C. A. secretary on the Mexican border is much like that of the pioneer circuit rider, with some additions. Besides covering his territory of two or three hundred miles every week across the desert in a flivver to serve the soldiers at the various outposts, he is expected to:

- Operate moving picture shows with the light furnished from an apparatus in his flivver;
- Give educational humorous lectures on popular subjects, sometimes illustrated with stereopticon slides;
- Arrange for amateur performances by the soldiers, themselves during the time he is at other posts;
- Organize Bible classes and local Y. M. C. A.'s among the soldiers to conduct the work of the organization during the week;
- Act as a traveling postoffice for the men and furnish them free

M. E. Church District Conference at Tulia

The District Conference of the Plainview District, of the M. E. church convened in Tulia, Texas, June 12th, 1919, with District Secretary Mrs. D. F. Ashbrook, of Hereford, presiding. The conference opened with singing "Lead on O King Eternal." Devotional was led by Mrs. Ashbrook. Genesis 18, Verses 16-33, was read. She brought many helpful thoughts on prayer. This was illustrating what a life of prayer can accomplish, and that God is in advance of our most enthusiastic prayers. Prayer was then offered by Mrs. Porter, of Tulia. The business of the conference followed. Mrs. J. E. Swepston was elected secretary for the day. Delegates were registered and the following reported: Plainview delegates adult-4, Y. P. M. S.-2, Junior-1 and several visitors. Canyon-1, Hereford-1, Floydada-3, Abernathy-1, and Junior-1, Tulia-8, and a number of members of the missionary society, Silverton-4.

The address of welcome, by Mrs. E. E. Flynt, of Tulia, was given in a most gracious manner, and left, no doubt, in the minds of the visitors present, that they were welcome. The response by Mrs. O. B. Jackson, of Plainview, was all that was needed to bind the hearts of the Conference in a spirit of Fraternity.

Mrs. W. A. Porter brought to us the history of our work, and some of its greatest needs. This message stirred the hearts of our women to do greater things in the future for our master, than those accomplished in the past.

Miss Ansley, of Plainview, on "How to Study the Bible," began with a letter from her father, saying how anxious to read it and know its contents, also the many acts of kindness to his dear ones; then how the home here is broken up by her father going away. Then the letter from our heavenly father, in John 16, showing a greater love to His children; a home prepared and never broken up, and that by His going the Comforter will come. This letter tells us how He cares for us and prepares a place for us. You should not need to be urged to read and study it. Where do we learn about it? Josh. 1-8. How will we feel when we meet God and know so little about it? He will say, "Why don't you know this or that?" "Oh! I was too busy to give time to God and His word." This was followed by telling us how to study God's word.

General discussion by Mrs. Porterfield. Mission Study and Round Table discussion by Mrs. A. L. Moore, of Plainview. She told us that mission study is the key to service, and an inspiration to greater usefulness.

Mrs. Wyatt talked on duties of mission study and publicity leader. Mrs. Lane, on the interesting features of mission study, followed by-how to use the bulletin.

Many splendid thoughts were brought out by Mrs. Jenkins, of Canyon, on "Stewardship." She said the true christian of property is that we owe, and not own. We must dedicate our money and lives. Let us obey God's commands by bringing the tithes into the storehouse also by giving ourselves and our time to God.

Miss Tisdale rendered a most beautiful solo.

The noon bible lesson, conducted by Mrs. E. E. Robinson, was taken from the 10th chapter of Mark, verse 43. "Whosoever will be great among you shall be your minister." We put much value on our own ability, but none of these things enter in to our Lord's teaching. We must think more of our Savior than of our ambitions and desires.

Brother Lane dismissed with prayer.

An excellent and appetizing lunch was served by the church ladies at the noon hour, at the church, which gave us a better opportunity for enjoying the social hour which followed, and made us realize the meaning of hearty christian fellowship.

Afternoon Session

Mrs. Ashbrook, presiding. Hymn 334 was sung. This was followed by singing two verses of "Rescue the Perishing."

Mrs. T. C. Delaney, leading the devotional, impressed on our hearts the great thought of the Centenary, rescue the perishing, as never before. Are we willing to lay our son or daughter on the altar of God? She then brought us a message from Luke 5, on faith and courage. Are we going to launch out into the deep, go into the very bigness of things? Would we be astonished if we were to ask great things of God and He would grant them?

Reading of minutes of morning session. Minutes accepted as read. Report of finance committee read and adopted.

Discussion childrens work by Mrs. Pinson, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Swepston, bringing out the need of caring for and training the children.

Address on social service by Mrs. Mayhew, who said we have already sounded the key note to social service, in talking of training the children. Social service teaches the brotherhood of man. Mrs. Delaney followed by saying that we often confuse the local work with social service, telling us of Miss Howell's illustration of the difference. "Suppose a little boy fell in a mud hole and you came along and you picked him out—that is local work. Then, if you fill the hole up, so he can't fall in—that would be social service."

Our Finance, by Mrs. Homer Hall, who said "Faith without work is dead." We can give that those who can go, may go. It is important that we pay our dues and pledges regularly, that no department of the work may drag. A number of interesting and beneficial talks on finance followed.

"When and how to make reports," was discussed by Mrs. Pinson.

Mrs. Delney explained conference minutes and insisted on all studying same.

Address on "Our Publications" by Mrs. Sternberg, who threatened to read all our publications if we did not subscribe for them and read them. She also brought out the need of reading and using same.

"Advertising the Good," a splendid story, told in an interesting manner by Mrs. Wyatt, illustrated the fact that we must not only learn, but must put into practice, by helping the John's and Mary's that do fall, but better to keep them from falling.

"What the Centenary means to us," was brought out by Mrs. Robinson, explaining to us that the church means just one great work, and spoke of the hundred years of mission work and the privilege of living, now the day of opportunity. The "go Ye," means me, the doors are open, am I willing to do my part, to be a worker for God?

Brother Lane talked to the Conference. Among other good things, he said that he had a confession to make, that the women are getting ahead of the men; and gave some good points on bible study.

Resolutions of appreciation read and adopted.

The next District meeting was voted to be held at Hereford, Texas in June 1920.

At 4:30 P. M. Mrs. Delaney with the young people, showing them the opportunity. She is always inspiring and helpful, always ready to help anywhere. She insists that we do not connect the young peoples work with the league work. Martha McClendon represented the young people of Plainview.

Showing the young people in the organized work of the church is in comparison as the arm is to the body. Miss Cristille Owen also brought us a message as to the place of the Y. P. M. S. in the church. It should be strong and large, for the young people of today are to become the workers of tomorrow.

Mrs. Jarkson gave an interesting talk on "Leadership" the present we have before us, the past we ought to profit by. We can all help to make the future what it ought to be.

Afternoon session closed with prayer by Sister Wyatt.

Evening Session

Opened by singing "He Leadeth Me" and "Higher Ground."

Mrs. A. L. Moore conducted devotional, reading the 19th Psalm, prayer by Mrs. Jones. Minutes of afternoon session read and accepted.

Special music by the Y. P. M. S. of Tulia.

Mrs. Moore talked to us on our new books and the use of posters. One especially interesting poster was the "stocking full of holes" representing the needs of the auxiliaries, stating these holes should be mended by paying dues, and pledge by getting new members etc.

Mrs. Delaney gave the address of the evening, speaking of the outlook of the young people of the church.

Talk on "consecration of our lives" by Mrs. Ashbrook, was followed by a number of consecrated talks on the blessings of God. Our women are thinking and doing large things, are giving time, money, and service to God.

The meeting has been a help and blessing to all. Special music was rendered by Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Stanford. Dismissed with an earnest prayer by Mrs. Delaney.

Mrs. J. E. Swepston, Secretary, Tulia.

PREVENT SPREAD OF DISEASE IN DISPOS- ING OF DEAD ANIMALS

The carcasses of animals which have succumbed to infectious disease like anthrax, hog cholera, blackleg, tuberculosis, etc., are charged with myriads of virulent disease germs, and just as long as they remain where scavengers can reach them and portions of them can be carried away promiscuously, they are a dangerous menace over a large territory to all animals which are liable to be attacked by disease germs. Even carcasses of animals which have died from other causes than infectious diseases, unless they are disposed of in a proper way, are a source of danger. Left on the surface of the ground, their odor soon invites scavengers to congregate and to bring with them the infectious material with which they may have become contaminated by eating carrion elsewhere.

Dead animals on the farm should be buried deep enough to prevent them from being dug up again, or they should be burned. To burn large carcasses like those of dead horses and cattle is difficult and laborious and requires a large quantity of fuel. In most instances it is more economical to bury them. All animals which have died from infectious diseases and are buried should be covered with a heavy layer of lime before the graves are closed.

In the winter, when the ground is frozen, it is more difficult to dig graves than at other seasons of the year, but it is just in cold weather that disease germs remain alive and virulent longest in dead organic matter and that scavengers travel the longest distances, have the best appetites, and are most likely to carry disease germs on and in their bodies. The extra trouble of digging graves in the winter is easily offset by the greater danger it counteracts. Low temperature prevents the multiplication of disease germs, but many kinds of disease germs are not killed or deprived of their pernicious possibilities by exposure to a lower temperature than the lowest reached during an icy, arctic winter.

Everywhere farmers not only should attend to the proper and safe disposal of the bodies of their own animals which unfortunately die, but they should insist on the proper disposal of the bodies of all animals which die anywhere in the regions in which their farms are located.

The Goodrich More Mileage Message

Goodrich is making the burliest, sturdiest, most lasting tires the rubber industry has ever seen; and Goodrich knows it.

In every test of road-roughing to which tires can be put, Goodrich Tires have unfolded an endurance, an ability to take punishment, which has run into phenomenal mileage.

Confident in this knowledge and belief, Goodrich desires that all tire users share in the confidence of Goodrich, and the big mileage Goodrich Tires assure.

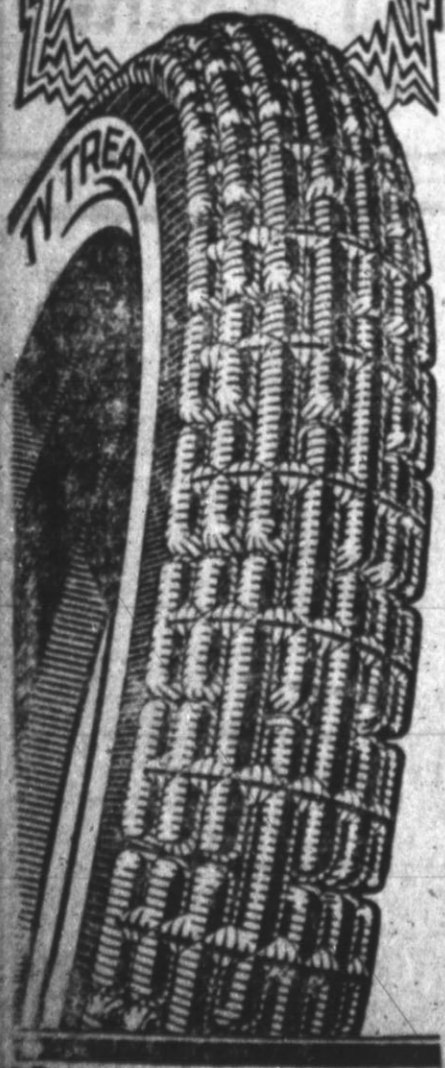

Therefore, Goodrich announces to present and future owners of its pneumatic tires—an adjustment basis of 6,000 miles for SAFETY TREADS, and 8,000 miles for SILVERTOWN CORDS, instead of the 3,500 and 5,000 miles respectively, heretofore in force.

Remember that a Goodrich adjustment is a fair one. Goodrich knows the mileage is in its tires, and more; and to make you realize you lose money in being without Goodrich Tires, the new Goodrich adjustment is proclaimed broadcast.

Railways Inaugurate No Accident Week

Amarillo, Texas June 21, 1919
ALL AGENTS:
 "The Humanitarian value of the plan of Regional Director Holden's to institute a 'NO ACCIDENT WEEK' among all railroad employes of the Central Western Region commencing June 22nd is strikingly shown by a report just compiled by the Regional Supervisor of Safety showing the extent to which railroad workers are killed or injured each month in the performance of their duties.

During the months of January, February and March, 1919, after the Safety Organization of the Railroad Administration had become completely installed on the Federal Controlled roads in the Central Western Region, this report shows ninety less killed and eleven hundred and fifteen less injured than during the corresponding period of 1918. These figures include only employes and do not take into account the very material reduction to trespassers and others killed or injured.

It is the purpose of Mr. Holden, through the Safety Organizations in this region, to demonstrate by 'NO ACCIDENT WEEK' that this great economic loss of life and service of trained industrial workers can be materially reduced, and to this end three hundred and fifty thousand (305,000) railroad employes in the Central Western Region have taken the pledge to do their best to work these seven days without getting hurt themselves, or being the cause of another's injury.

This plan was tried out by two of the Regions during January and February with such signal success that Regional Director Holden decided to extend 'NO ACCIDENT WEEK' to all railroads under Federal control in the Central Western Region, the physiological effect on the railroad it is believed will give great impetus to the movement and thereby benefit the railroad service and the public."

MOISTURE REQUIREMENTS OF WHEAT FOR MILLING

At the beginning of the process of milling, the miller gives much consideration to the question of the moisture content of his raw material. He knows that in order to secure the highest yields of flour and to insure its greatest purity, the pericarp or outer coatings of the wheat kernel at the time of grinding must be of a certain toughness, and the endosperm, or inner part, of a certain mellowness. The degree to which these properties are possessed by the different parts of the kernel is influenced largely by the amount of moisture present.

Wheat when received at the mill is seldom, if ever, in the best condition for milling its moisture content being too high, too low, or not properly distributed throughout the kernel. To acquire the right moisture content for the outer and inner parts of the kernel, thereby insuring the best possible milling condition for different wheats, requires the application of various methods of tempering. These methods may consist of a single, or successive, or of combined applications of water, heat, or steam, working through a period of time, ranging from a few minutes to as much as 33 hours, in order that the moisture may be properly distributed within the kernel.

 Dry climates and dry seasons naturally produce wheat of low moisture content, and damp climates and wet seasons produce wheat of high moisture content.
 There is, moreover, often considerable range in the moisture content of wheat during any given season and in any one locality. Moisture determinations of samples obtained from more than 5,000 cars of wheat which were made by the United States Department of Agriculture at Kansas City, Mo., during the years 1910 to 1914, inclusive, showed a range in the content of that factor from 7.4 per cent to 22 per cent. The fact that the moisture content of wheat may vary so greatly is evidence that the problem of properly tempering wheat is a complicated one.

Poultry raisers frequently make the mistake of keeping old hens on their farms and killing the younger hens and pullets they are unable to distinguish them after the pullets have matured. Marking the chicks when they are young with a toe punch will help to avoid this and will enable the poultryman to determine readily the age and breeding and to keep any other record desired. The chicks should be marked before they are transferred to the brooder or brood coop.

Specific information that will enable the United States Department of Agriculture to proceed to the proper investigation of alleged violations of the Grain Standards Act, or of incorrect application of the standards under the Act, is desired by the Department; constructive suggestions and advice always receive the Department's considerate attention. The Department is enabled to render interior grain dealers and millers and farmers much of the service they desire, if they will exercise their rights as granted under the Grain Standards Act.

This Man Has Few Queer Curios

Los Vegas, N. M. June 22—Out in Idaho, in the country best described as "wild and wooly," lives a ranchman with a peculiar hobby. His name is B. R. Pearson, but that is almost immaterial, as everybody calls him something else—"Idaho Bill." Some men enjoy gathering collections of jewels or rare paintings, but Idaho Bill's collecting mania runs in a different line—he makes it his pride to own the meanest untamed horses in captivity.
Whenever Idaho Bill hears of an equine critter that the boys employed on a neighboring ranch cannot break, he goes over and buys the animal. If he learns of a neg that has unseated every man who has attempted to ride him, there is the horse Idaho Bill must have, if he has to travel many miles to get him. If the horse is five or six years old and still untamed, the ranchman prizes him highly, for at that age the chance are he never will be subjugated. Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and Idaho contain a lot of ranches, and each contributes a few outlaws, so that Idaho Bill's herd is large and takes the prize for ornerness. Last year the old ranchman bought horses for the government, and every animal that the cavalrymen could not ride went into his own private herd, at whatever price the government saw fit to ask. Idaho Bill picked up a bunch of mean buckers in that way.

Thirty horses; handpicked for their evil dispositions and more evil reputations, have been cut out from Idaho Bills herd and will be used in the bronc riding contests at the Fifth Annual Cow-boys Reunion, to be here July 2, 3 and 4. The men who ride these brutes will be entitled to all that they can win of the $5,000.00 prize money.

Cutting Remedies One Alfalfa Ailment

Alfalfa yellows, an ailment which if neglected results in permanent injury to alfalfa, can be controlled in only one way, says the United States Department of Agriculture—by cutting the crop as soon as the yellows appear. This disease is characterized by yellow discoloration of the leaves, which in some instances assume a copperlike hue. The growth of the plant is checked as soon as the yellowing attacks the majority of the leaves. The leaves fall off, the growth of the plants is stunted and unless the disease is checked in time the alfalfa plants frequently are permanently injured.

Ordinarily the yellowing appears on the second or third crop of alfalfa, from June 1 to September 1. The cause has not been identified, and the effective treatment other than immediate cutting of the crop has been found. If the growth is adequate, the hay should be raked, cured, and stored in only enough to provide clippings, the best plan is to let them remain on the ground. In most instances the subsequent cuttings of alfalfa will show no evidences of yellowing where the crop which was diseased is handled in the outlined manner.

All the commercial varieties of alfalfa adopted to agriculture throughout the northern two-thirds of the United States are susceptible to alfalfa yellows.

Plans to Export Pure-Bred Stock

To work out plans for increasing the exportation of pure-bred breeding stock from the United States to South America, David Harrell and H. P. Morgan, of the Bureau of Markets, will go to South States Department of Agriculture. That recently conferred in Chicago with secretaries of various breeding associations. Secretaries representing all breeds of hogs and all but two of cattle attended. Ways and means of stimulating interest among South American stock raisers in importations of pure-bred stock from this country were discussed. It was planned to send a shipment of hogs to South American live-stock shows. This plan, it is believed is one of the best ways of introducing to South American stock raisers the quality of animals now being grown in the United States.

Tick Fight to be Hottest Next Month

Next month, July, probably will be the biggest month of the year in the campaign to drive the cattle-fever tick from the South. Past Julys always have marketed the apex of the season's work, at least so far as the number of cattle "dipped" is concerned, and the tick-eradication forces of the United States Department of Agriculture and the cooperating State agencies are lining up to present a solid front to the cattle parasite. New records for March and April "dipping" were set this year, and it is believed that May, also went "over the top," although complete reports have not yet been tabulated. Reports from the field indicate that this June will prove to have been the biggest June in the antitick campaign. Working up to this climax, the tick-eradication forces are working to make it the best July on record. After July there may be a decrease in the total number of dippings, but it is essential that the work be kept up throughout the season to foil the representative powers of the tick, which are so marked that a few of the parasites are capable of producing a million within a few months. According to the reports reaching the United States Department of Agriculture, public sentiment everywhere, among the general public and business men as well as among farmers and live-stock owners, is awakening fully to the necessity of ridding the South from the insect enemy that has impeded the proper development of cattle raising and dairying in this section of the country.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

It's usually a sign of sick kidneys, especially if the kidney action is disordered, passages scanty or too frequent. Don't wait for more serious troubles. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Hereford testimony.

W. F. Diebel, farmer, Hereford, says: "Before I came down to this part of Texas, I used to be troubled constantly with weak and disordered kidneys. When suffering from kidney trouble my back ached and pained a good bit of the time. My back also would become weak and sore and pains would shoot through my back just over my kidneys. My kidneys did not act regularly, were weak and the secretions scanty in passage. I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me of the pain and fixed my kidneys up and they became regular in action. I know Doan's Kidney Pills are a good kidney remedy."

Not Take-All After All

Diseased wheat in certain sections of Tennessee and Missouri led local authorities to believe that Australia take-all was infesting their fields. Investigations by cereal-disease specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture have demonstrated conclusively that the damage to Tennessee and Missouri wheat was caused by insect ravages, scab, anthracnose, and rust. The take-all disease, which was first discovered in Madison County, Ill., has not been found elsewhere except in Sangamon and Mason Counties, Ill., and Laporte, Porter, Tippecanoe, and Jasper Counties, Ind. There have been no further discoveries of outbreaks of take-all disease in the United States, and the Federal specialists report that the outbreaks already located and under surveillance will not appreciably decrease the wheat crop of the current year. Leaf rust has appeared in many States, however, and has somewhat shadowed the almost ideal wheat conditions early in May, according to the Bureau of Crop Estimates.

HERE'S HOW WOMEN WILL LOOK THIS FALL

Straight fronts.
Straight backs.
Broader hips for misses.
Straight, classic lines for women.
These are fall and winter styles decreed at the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association meeting at Cleveland, Ohio.
Skirts will be long—instep length—with room enough to step comfortably.
Bright colors, with snappy reds and browns, are vying for favor. And then comes:
High rolling collars.
Buttons and more buttons, not merely for ornament, but for real use, since most suits will fasten clear to the chin.

Pockets, tucks, stitchery, and cording.
Coats, longer and more voluminous, with enormous armholes.

SUGGESTIONS FOR INSECT CONTROL

By A. P. Swallow, Entomologist, Extension Service, A. and M. College of Texas.

Now is the time to take one of the most important measures for controlling insects in your fall gardens. The work entails nothing more than a systematic and thorough clean-up of all the remnants of the spring crops, weeds brush and trash. This work will do away with countless numbers of plant lice, Harlequin cabbage bugs, cabbage worms, squash vine borers, squash bugs, and a host of other insects which live over from spring to fall on the crop remnants. Spring-planted cabbage which failed to head early will seldom, if ever, do so even though held over until fall. These stunted cabbages shelter the insects throughout the summer. These plants are not only of no value, but are a constant menace to the next planting.

Collect and burn all cabbages, mustard, collards, vines and stalks and other remnants of garden crops. Cut and burn all weeds and grass near the garden which would serve as a shelter for insects. This work should be done as soon as the spring crop is off so that the insects will be destroyed before they have a chance to leave the trash, and to other places where they cannot be so easily destroyed. If spring grown turnips are to be held over for fall greens the tops should be cut close to the ground, the ground swept over thoroughly and the leaves removed and burned. The ground should then be sprayed with a strong soap solution or with nicotine sulphate solution (nicotine 40 per cent). If a few lice appear on the new leaves after this treatment, spray with one of the above solutions as soon as noticed. This is one of the most effective control measures for turnip lice. It may also be practiced on any kind of plant that will grow up again from the roots.

Gardeners will do well to follow these three simple suggestions. The results will be very noticeable.

- (1) Remove from the field all portions of crops that are left after its season is over, and burn them at once.
- (2) Do not allow weeds to grow in or around the garden.
- (3) Spray, hand pick, or otherwise do away with insect pests as soon as they appear. Do not wait until your plants are destroyed. The old adage, "A stitch in time saves nine," is a good one to follow in insect control.

Club Profits Comforts.

Thousands of American homes possess comforts and luxuries for which they are indebted to the boy and girls in the families who have earned the equipment by work in home gardens and canning clubs. These clubs are organized by the Department of Agriculture and the State colleges, and by them boys and girls make money as well as provide canned fruits and vegetables for their own families. Steam pressure cookers, washing machines, pianos, vacuum cleaners, kitchen cabinets, and innumerable other things which make housework easier and home life happier are bought with their profits by the club members. A 14-year-old home canning club girl in Oconee County, Ga., bought a player-piano and new furniture for the parlor with the money she earned in canning. A girl in Frederick, County, Md., furnished the kitchen in her home with modern equipment paid for with prize money awarded for her canning exhibits. Two girls in Kankakee

County, Ill., repapered and painted their home with club profits. Club work encourages thrift, and gives the boys and girls an opportunity to convert some of their spare time into money.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. A majority of the ill-afflicted people today can be traced back to kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters, the purifiers of your blood.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, edema and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's signals to warn you that the kidneys need help. You should use GOLD MEDAL HAZELIM OIL Capsules immediately.

The soothing, healing oil stimulates the kidneys, relieves inflammations and destroys the germs which have caused it. Do not wait until tomorrow. Go to your druggist today and insist on GOLD MEDAL HAZELIM OIL Capsules. In twenty-four hours you should feel health and vigor returning and will bless the day you first heard of GOLD MEDAL HAZELIM OIL.

After you feel that you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep in first-class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.

"The Hoosier will help me to stay young"

Retain your youthful energy and girlish appearance, is the wedding-day advice of thousands of Mothers. As they look back over the years, they realize that woman's charms soon fade and her health often gives way when drudgery methods rule her days.

But in Hoosier homes, daughters know the miles of needless steps and hours of wasted time that this scientific kitchen helper saves. They honor it for the service it has rendered the "little Mother" who has been able to give more freely her time to a happy comradeship with her children.

The bride from a Hoosier home will have a Hoosier. It will be numbered among thoughtful wedding gifts or be first on her list of household needs. Other brides should know the Hoosier means. And millions of tired Mothers should also learn how the Hoosier reduces kitchen work and frees them from burdensome labor.
