Cook, Reinauer tell sides on 'wet' issue

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Monday evening

Arguments of social ethics versus those of agricultural economics were the weapons used Monday evening during a forum featuring proponents and an opponent of Deaf Smith County going "wet."

"Liquor," said Art Reinauer, who initiated the wet drive, "is not the issue here. Agricultural economics is." Removing the "dryness" from Deaf Smith, he said, will help agriculture-related firms prosper and bring the city needed tax revenues.

"If this issue passes," commented Ron Cook, chairman of Citizens Against Package Stores, "I know what we can do with some of the small revenues: build a morgue." He said this Saturday, voting day, is a chance for the area to show "character, class and Christ-likeness."

Voters are to decide whether Justice of the Peace Precinct 1, which encompasses all but a minute fraction of the county, will allow the sale of wine and beer. Reinauer, a farmer who is growing grapes in hopes of founding a winery, wishes to place his proposed business in Hereford. To do so, state law requires the area be wet. Saturday's election was forced by Reinauer having obtained more than 1,570 petition signatures before the Feb. 27 deadline. That number of names represents 35 percent of those who voted in the most recent gubernatorial election in 1982.

Since its founding in 1899, Hereford has been dry for all but its first three years. The last wet-dry vote was held in 1956, when residents soundly rejected change.

Monday's forum, conducted in Hereford Community Center before about 100 spectators, was sponsored by the legislative affairs committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Prior to the wet-dry presentation, candidates for the hospital board and city commission were given opportunities to express their views about their races.

Cook, minister at the First Baptist Church, began the wet-dry proceedings with his opening statement. Proponents of the measure, he said, have created a "smoke screen." He compared their comments to those of "a snake oil salesman in a B-grade western."

There is nothing on the ballot, Cook pointed out, which refers to increased businesses or prosperity. Whereas proponents call themselves "progressive," Cook said he believes such an adjective would better apply to the state's recently-toughened driving while intoxicated (DWI) laws.

"When the smoke clears," he said, "all we're going to have here is liquor stores. I myself don't consider those legitimate businesses."

Before concluding with his "morgue" remark, Cook said "alcoholism will be delivered" with the establishment of local liquor stores. Drunk drivers will be "playing roulette" with innocent lives. "People don't know how to drink and stay out of their cars."

Reinauer opened by saying Deaf Smith County must be perceived as being aggressive and prosperous. He explained grapes are well suited to be grown in this climate, helped by drip irrigation techniques.

There is already a market for his planned wines, he said. The resulting generated revenue would be welcomed into the community. Failure to pass the wet-dry issue, Reinauer concluded, "will greatly hamper Hereford's success."

A three-member panel then asked questions prepared by them and other area citizens. The chamber group consisted of KPAN News Director Chip Formby, high school instructor N.D. Kelso and Kim Thogmartin, staff writer for the Brand.

Formby's first query was whether it was appropriate to make the wet-dry election a religious or moral issue.

Cook said he has never cited private personal morality during the campaign. Rather, social ethics are what concern him most, he explained. Liquor stores violate acceptable boundaries of social ethics, he said, as do sales of pornographic materials in stores.

"What used to slink down back alleys," Cook commented, "is now to be on Main Street."

A response was offered by Charles Threewit, who with John Lesly was at the front table in support of Reinauer. Liquor stores, the St. Thomas

Saul files to withdraw from case

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County Criminal District Attorney Roland Saul filed a motion Monday to withdraw as prosecuting attorney following the early Saturday morning grand jury indictment of Hereford attorney Jerry Smith.

Filed in 222nd District Court, the motion asks that Saul be discharged as prosecuting attorney in the charges against Smith, because "at the time of the alleged offense, the accused was an assistant district attorney and legal associate of movant."

Smith was indicted on one count of aggravated perjury and two charges of official misconduct following an extensive investigation helped by Assistant State Attorney General Linda Walden.

"I was surprised they rendered the type of indictments they did," Smith said this morning. "But it would be surprising to have the grand jury conduct the proceedings and spend all that money and not return some type of indictments. That would have been extremely embarrassing to the prosecutor."

Smith, who has complained about Walden's conduct as prosecutor and her eligibility to be involved in the case, also said, "There are certain matters regarding the irregularity of the grand jury and counsel that must be addressed."

He said he is considering taking legal action to address those issues, but now is busy defending the county in a suit filed by Texas Rural Legal Aid scheduled to be heard in Federal District Court in Amarillo the week of April 16.

As special prosecutor

The perjury charge and one of the official misconduct charges against Smith stemmed from his reported defense of Deaf Smith General Hospital Administrator Jim Bullard involving a traffic violation in Parmer County.

Smith told reporters Saturday he thought it a little strange that Bullard was not questioned by the grand jury. Bullard commented on that this morning.

"I was disappointed that the grand jury chose not to hear testimony from me which, in my estimation, would have revealed some insight into the situation," he said.

"I feel very strongly that because I was involved, the testimony that I had was most pertinent. I too am disappointed they chose not to hear that testimony."

The remaining indictment for official misconduct involved Smith's defense while still assistant district attorney under Saul, in a case where the district attorney's office was prosecuting the person against which Smith's client brought civil charges.

The jury failed to return any indictments against Saul, who was also investigated during the grand jury's lengthy term.

Before being dismissed shortly after 3 a.m. Saturday by 154th Dis. Judge Pat Boone Jr. of Lufkin, the grand jury issued a statement of thanks.

A line was inadvertently left out of the statement, which ran in Sunday's Brand. The entire statement read as follows:

"All members of the special assigned grand jury would like to give thanks to

Sheriff Joe Brown and his staff, the district clerk's office, and other members of the community for their cooperation and assistance given to us during our term as grand jurors. We would also like to thank Linda Walden, assistant attorney general, and other staff members from the attorney general's

City okays alcohol sale ordinance

By STAN GODEK
Staff Writer

The Hereford City Commission passed a resolution Monday prohibiting sales of alcoholic beverages near churches, public schools and public hospitals.

As precautionary measure

The measure was termed as a "precaution" should Deaf Smith Co. not go "wet" as a result of Saturday's wet-dry election.

"If we passed (the ordinance) after the election, we would be leaving ourselves open for a lawsuit," City Manager Dudley Bayne said.

The approved ordinance, submitted by City Attorney Earnest Langley, was worded as follows: "An ordinance of the city of Hereford, Texas, amending the Hereford City Code by adding provisions thereto prohibiting the sale of alcoholic beverages by a dealer whose place of residence is within 300 feet of a church, public school, or public hospital."

Measurement of the 300 feet, in part, consists of measuring from the front door and down the property line of the dealer to the front door of the church or hospital. Schools are measured from the front door of the dealer, down its property line, to the property line of the school, according to Bayne.

"What we're doing is passing an ordinance which is all we are allowed to do by state law," Mayor Wes Fisher said.

"If it (the wet-dry issue) does not pass, (this ordinance) does not hurt anything. This does not mean that we're promoting it," Fisher pointed out.

The commissioner also set 9 a.m. on April 9 as a special meeting for canvassing election returns of Saturday's city officers election. The vote count will be made official at that time.

Also at the meeting, commissioners approved the purchase of a Sharp SF-760 copy machine from Amarillo Graphics costing $2,795. The copier was recommended by Bayne and has enlargement and reduction capabilities. It is to be used by the police department.

Appian of Hereford won the bid for street repairs in the city with a bid of $83,463.65.

Appian was hired to repair designated streets "scattered" throughout the city, according to Bayne, and is also to re-do C Street between 14th and 15th streets.

Authorization for bids on a tractor for Hereford Municipal Golf Course also took place at the meeting.

The moisture received in the county the past week could well be classified as one of those million-dollar rains. We recorded .25 last Tuesday and slightly more than an inch Sunday in town, while some parts of the county got around 2 inches. There apparently was not much hail and the rain fell in good fashion, followed by a drizzle and good humidity.

King's Manor received good news this week in the form of a Superior Rating from the Texas Department of Health. The superior certificate came after a recent inspection of the nursing home. Our congratulations to King's Manor for maintaining this superior level of care for its residents!

Hats off to the legislative committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce for holding the public forums for the upcoming April 7 elections! It's a great service to the community and gives voters at least an opportunity to identify some of the candidates.

A tip of the hat, also, to Dr. Ron Cook and Art Reinauer who spoke on the wet-dry election. They avoided the pitfalls of an emotional confrontation and addressed the audience with reasonable and sensible statements concerning the local option election. Some folks were expecting "fireworks" from this forum, but it was conducted in a gentlemanly and orderly fashion—even with a little humor injected into some remarks.

All but one of the eight candidates for the hospital board were on hand Monday night, and this forum may have served to emphasize the point that this often-overlooked board plays an important role in the health care provided in this community.

There is only one contested race for the city commission, and only one candidate appeared to speak on that election. Dewayne Kimbell, the young man who is challenging incumbent Emory Brownlow, should be complimented for his presentation and his response to the questions.

We would urge voters to attend the next forum, scheduled for April 17, when candidates for county commission positions will be asked to make statements and respond to questions presented by the panel.

New Yorkers vote today

By DAVID ESPU Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A bruising New York primary campaign ends today with Walter Mondale, Gary Hart and Jesse Jackson contending for the biggest prize so far in the Democratic presidential marathon — 252 national convention delegates and the right to crow, "I love New York."

Public opinion polls gave Mondale the edge as voters began casting their ballots. But the latest ABC News-Washington Post poll released late Monday night showed the race tightening, with Hart drawing close and Jackson a strong third.

All three contenders arranged early morning appearances around New York City, hoping to pick up support from voters who were late making up their minds.

There was no underestimating the importance of the primary for Mondale, the one-time front-runner trying to continue a remarkable comeback in a state where large union and Jewish populations seemed tailor-made for his candidacy.

"If we lose, we're in trouble," he told teachers at a private meeting on Sunday.

"But if we win, they're going to have to make a pretty good grab at our coattails to catch up with us."

Hart said New York was less crucial to the success of his "new ideas" candidacy. He was an overwhelming winner a week ago in Connecticut, and his aides already were looking ahead to next week's Pennsylvania primary and later contests in the West.

Jackson was hoping to attract enough Hispanic and liberal white voters to expand his "Rainbow Coalition" beyond the black supporters who have been with him from the beginning.

New York aside, Wisconsin voters were holding a non-binding presidential preference vote in the Democratic race. Caucuses on Saturday will begin allocating 78 of the state's convention delegates.

Mondale currently leads in the competition for delegates — 731.25 to 437 for Hart and 93.5 for Jackson. It takes 1,967 to win the nomination.

The latest ABC-Post poll conducted Saturday through Monday had Mondale with 40 percent, Hart with 32 percent and Jackson with 23 percent. The poll of New York Democratic voters had a margin of error of plus or minus 5 percentage points.

That poll indicated a tightening race, as the three-day "tracking poll" ending Sunday had Mondale ahead by 11 percentage points. The tracking poll ending Saturday had Mondale with a 13-point lead.

Scholarship offered again

The local chapter of Philanthropic and Educational Organization (PEO) plans to again offer a scholarship to a graduating Hereford High School senior girl.

Donna Jones, spokesman for the event, said May 1 is the deadline for applications. Forms may be obtained from the high school senior counselor or members Pat Fisher, Jones or Helen Higgins.

Selection of the recipient is to be based on merit, need, scholastic ability and Christian character. Last year's winner was Bethany Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Boyd.

PEO is an international association of women who desire to help further the education of all women.

Cocker spaniel stolen

Jana Turpen's cocker spaniel, worth an estimated $300, was stolen Monday afternoon from her 426 Ave. J home's backyard, Hereford police reported this morning.

Meanwhile, a nine millimeter automatic pistol, valued at approximately $450, was taken back in December from John Francis Sliney, 114 "B" S. Centre St. According to the police report, Sliney was originally afraid to report the theft.

Arrests made since Friday include three for shoplifting, two of driving while intoxicated and one of drunk in control of a motor vehicle. Of the five accidents, three involved total damages less than $250 while all were injury-free. On Monday, police handled two incidents apiece of assault, bike theft and stolen gasoline.

Burdett recital set tonight

Carlie Burdett, a senior theory major at West Texas State University, is to have part of her senior piano recital tonight at 8:00 in Canyon's Mary Moody Northern Recital Hall.

To be performed is the narrated choral presentation "Etchings on the Plains," twelve art songs written by Burdett portraying the history of the High Plains region. It will be performed by the WTSU collegiate choir under the direction of Scott Herrington.

"Etchings" is the first major work by the Hereford resident and required research into the history of the region and its geologic past. Dr. Bobby Weaver, ethnologist for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, and Dr. Gerald Schultz, WTSU geology professor, helped her in those areas and are supplying color slides.

Burdett supplied the musical elements and choral arrangement in addition to writing the narrations and song lyrics.

Priest withdraws from committee

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The Brownsville priest who agreed Friday to chair a controversial Reagan administration committee to seek private and federal aid for the Rio Grande Valley has resigned from the post.

The Rev. John M. Nicolau, pastor of the Christ the King Roman Catholic Church in Brownsville, was named chairman of the Valley Action Committee, formed by ACTION director Thomas W. Pauken to seek and coordinate aid to the Valley.

"I am very disappointed Father Nicolau will not be able to lead the committee," said Pauken. "I have immense respect for him, as an individual and a priest. The community would have been well served by one who knows the true needs of the Valley people so well."

1983 farm receipts down

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas remained third nationally in agriculture last year behind California and Iowa, according to statistics released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Texas farmers and ranchers sold more than $10.2 billion worth of goods in 1983 — with livestock receipts of $5.7 billion, crop receipts of $3.9 billion and $687 million from related areas such as farm-based timber, horses, fish farming, hunting and fishing leases, and outdoor recreation.

The 1984 farm receipts were about $160 million below the 1983 figures, primarily because of adverse weather and weak market prices, said Dr. Carl Anderson, an economist who compiled the figures.

Computers screen cancer patients

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Computer measurements of the shape of cancer cells have allowed researchers to predict which patients will improve with chemotherapy and have shed light on how a normal cell becomes cancerous.

The new technique correctly determined which 15 patients from among a group of 30 with prostate cancer could be successfully treated with anti-cancer drugs, said Donald Coffey, professor at the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine in Baltimore.

"We're not diagnosing cancer," Coffey said Monday at an American Cancer Society seminar for science writers. "We're taking these patients that already have cancer and asking how bad is the tumor going to be."

Restaurants closed in Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Tourists kept gambling and casinos pledged to stay open despite threats that a strike by 17,100 workers which darkened showrooms and closed restaurants along the glittering Las Vegas Strip could last a long time.

The strike that began Monday by four unions at 32 luxury hotel-casinos reduced food service and hotel room maintenance and forced cancellation of shows by such stars as Shirley MacLaine, Rodney Dangerfield and Suzanne Somers.

However, most gaming workers are not unionized and continued to work, and at least one resort hired hundreds of replacement workers.

Most radioactive steel found

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials have identified and recovered practically all of the radioactive Mexican steel shipped to the United States in the worst radiation spill ever in North America.

The steel was contaminated from a tiny cylinder of cobalt-60 that was part of a cancer therapy machine sold for scrap to a junkyard in Juarez last November and subsequently resold to two steel foundries in Mexico.

By February, radiation-contaminated table legs and construction reinforcement bars cast from steel contaminated by that scrap had found their way to 40 states, Canada, the Virgin Islands and Singapore.

Except for Alaska, Nuclear Regulatory Commission officials said Monday, all of that possibly contaminated steel in the United States has been located.

Another ousted in shake-up

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Another top Honduran military officer has been forced from his post, the fifth victim of a high-level shake-up which the government says will help ensure that civilians stay in control.

The chief of the Honduran armed forces, Gen. Gustavo Alvarez Martinez, widely considered the most powerful man in the country, was ousted Saturday and sent into exile. Within the next 24 hours, Honduras announced the resignations of two generals and a colonel, all in important posts.

On Monday, Gen. Marco Antonio Rosales Abella, the army inspector general, became the fifth ranking official to resign.

Foreign Minister Edgardo Paz Barrica, in the first official comment on the shake-up, told a news conference, "Our government has made it clear that the military should not interfere in political matters, nor should politicians interfere in military affairs."

"What happened is only logical," he said, "especially after having had military regimes in Honduras for 17 years. Now we have a democratic government that has come forth popularly from the voting booths and therefore we now confront a period of transition ... that will allow us to consolidate our democracy."

Car bomb kills five

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — A car bomb exploded Tuesday morning on a beachfront highway here, police said. Initial news reports said five people were killed.

The South African Press Association said the bomb went off about 7:40 a.m. local time and that a woman passerby said there were bodies strewn around the scene.

A police spokesman in Pretoria confirmed the blast but said no further details were available.

Durban is a resort and business center on the Indian Ocean coast.

The only previous car bombing reported in South Africa occurred in May 1983 when a bomb exploded on a crowded street at rush hour in Pretoria, killing 20 people and wounding more than 200.

The African National Congress, the main guerrilla organization fighting a sabotage campaign to overthrow white-minority rule, claimed responsibility for that blast.

Hospital hopefuls give views

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Falling first on the agenda — but probably not foremost in most minds of about 100 onlookers — candidates for the Deaf Smith General Hospital board of directors spoke at a Monday evening forum.

They and the only present Hereford City Commission hopeful preceded a discussion of the "wet-dry" election, which has prompted much area interest. Voting for that and the local governing bodies — including the school board — is to occur Saturday. Monday's forum was conducted in Hereford Community Center by the legislative affairs committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Two more such events, for county- and state-level candidates, are slated for later this month.

On March 19, the six people vying for three Hereford Independent School District board of education spots took part in another forum. The Classroom Teachers Association co-sponsored that affair with the chamber.

Three positions on the six-member hospital board are up for grabs this spring. Incumbents Deward Roberson and Frank Zinser Jr. are running again, while Jerry Smith chose to have his term voluntarily expire.

Roberson and Zinser were joined at the forum by other hopefuls Maureen Brown, Marjorie Ford, John Gilliland, Lois Turpin and Rev. Charles Threewit. Elaine Clark, another candidate, was not present.

Following opening remarks, candidates were asked pre-prepared questions by a chamber panel. The firing line consisted of KPAN News Director Chip Formby, high school instructor N.D. Kelso and Kim Thogmartin, staff writer for the Brand.

Roberson drew first to speak. "The main reason I'd be running is for the pay," he joked. "We get one good meal per month." Board meetings are conducted at noon and feature hospital food.

"I want to say it takes at least two years," Roberson said, "to really learn what's going on at that hospital." The six-year member added, "I think you'll have to agree that hospital is in a lot better shape than it was five or six years ago."

"I'm not running against anything," said Threewit, vicar at the St. Thomas Episcopal Church. "I think we have an excellent health care system in Hereford." His related experience, he pointed out, includes 20 years in engineering and management at a large oil company.

Ford, who said she comes from a family of six doctors, believed she is well aware of hospital operations after having raised a family here. "I know it's very important to have a strong medical facility in Hereford," she said. "I would certainly be for the economics of increasing our services."

"I am for renovation of our hospital," offered Turpin, who has lived in the area for 35 years. She also said she would support state guidelines regarding indigent health care, which DSGH has "a moral obligation" to perform. "I would see that that is done."

Gilliland caused laughs when he said his profession as funeral home co-director represents "no conflict of interest." A longtime resident of Hereford, Gilliland said it is time he served the community and felt his strengths are in health care areas. He would advocate DSGH give "personal, caring service" as does his funeral home, he said.

Zinser stressed he would like to see available medical services needed by the community "for the least cost to taxpayers." He is now president of the hospital board.

Two stints in the Army Nursing Corps, which totalled more than 12 years, were among the qualifications Brown she had for being a board member. Having moved to the area in 1979, she is now a family nurse practitioner at the Hereford Medical Health Clinic.

Asked how the local hospital's "bad debt" of 16 percent could be reduced, Zinser admitted the problem existed but said he could offer no quick solutions. Bad debt represents unpaid bills, mostly those receiving indigent care. Zinser said several other hospitals have similar concerns.

No one expressed any complaints about the hospital district after Formby asked them to do so. "I'm sure they (problems) are there," offered Gilliland; who said it would be his duty to help uncover them.

Other comments included Threewit saying he opposed state guidelines for indigent health care, claiming state and federal intervention has already complicated the matter. Turpin said she would support local nurses getting paid what those in Amarillo make and Ford said an orthopedic surgeon would be a good acquisition for the district.

Dwayne Kimbell was the sole city commission candidate to participate Monday night. He is running for the Place 4 spot now occupied by Emory Brownlow, who is running for re-election. The other position to be decided, Place 3, is being sought only by incumbent R.W. "Bud" Eades. Kimbell, an office manager for a local firm, said, "I think Hereford is a very fine community and it would be a privilege to serve as a city commissioner."

City streets are not now adequately cared for, he believed. The one example he gave was Union Avenue between Highway 385 and Hereford High School.

Kimbell indicated support for the county going west by saying Hereford residents have supported Castro County "long enough" through purchasing its liquor. Also, another municipal pool "would be a great asset." Establishing a judicial system such as the one in Odessa for minor juvenile offenses, he added, might be beneficial.

The next chamber-sponsored forum is set for April 17, when county commission candidates are to gather. County sheriff and constable hopefuls are to join state government candidates at the final forum on April 24.

Episcopal Church vicar said, would "in no way" increase drinking within the county.

Reinauer also felt drinking habits would not change. If anything, he said, the presence of package liquor stores would be "positive." Rather than be forced to consume booze in private clubs before driving home, residents would have nearby liquor stores from which bottles could quickly be taken home to be consumed.

Now, those Deaf Smith residents who wish to purchase bottled alcohol must travel to stores past the Castro and Randall county lines.

"I think if you had the availability on the corner,"

Reinauer said, "it might lessen the DWIs."

Asked what his winery would mean in terms of payroll and taxes, Reinauer said he could not give exact figures without knowing how much the industry will grow. He supposed the "domino theory" might apply once the plant begins operations, in that expansion and other businesses are likely to follow.

Formby asked Cook why he appeared to express opposition to the issue before it was determined to come to a vote. Did he want to deny people the right to decide?

Cook maintained he was not against to the vote itself, but wanted to ensure the "democratic process" was carried out. He said, though, that "every leaf" he has turned over has shown what proponents have told residents "is a smoke screen and is untrue."

When asked by Kelso if he would consider growing his grapes in Deaf Smith and place his winery in a wet county, Reinauer said that is one of his options. The Castro County Chamber of Commerce and authorities in Dumas have expressed interest in hosting the proposed business, he said.

That information caused Cook to say in his closing remarks, "I'd just like to say, Art, take it to Dimmitt or Dumas." Hearty applause followed.

Earlier, Thogmartin asked the minister whether his opposing the inception of a wet county was denying people's rights to individual choice.

By that thinking, Cook responded, "we should bring on hard-core pornography" and prostitution. "We'd just open up the gates."

Reinauer concluded the forum by stating, "I only intend to make Hereford a better place." That, too, drew hand-clapping.

Afterward, "fair" was the word Cook used to describe how things went. His not having had supporters at the front table, he said, was due to the event being "a forum, not a tag-team match."

"I think it went rather well," Reinauer said. He wished, though, there had been more questions about the "economic picture." He also thought no one's mind was changed as a result of the evening's discussion.

Between now and Saturday, Cook said, a volunteer force of approximately 100 will continue to go door-to-door in efforts to encourage people to vote. Reinauer, meanwhile, said a meeting of his supporters has been planned for 4 to 7 p.m. today in the VFW Hall.

Meese's reputation in hands of Stein

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fate of Edwin Meese III — his reputation, his nomination as attorney general and to some extent his stock — now lies in the hands of Jacob A. Stein, a top Washington lawyer who promises "a dignified, thoroughly professional investigation."

Stein, 59, was selected and accepted on Monday to serve as the special prosecutor who will see whether criminal violations of federal law are involved in the allegations against Meese.

A former Watergate defense attorney, Stein will be sworn to try to decide whether the president's longtime friend is guilty of swapping jobs for financial help; giving special treatment to businesses in which he has an interest; benefiting from favored treatment in his Army Reserves promotion; having knowledge of the raiding of Jimmy Carter's 1980 campaign files; failing to pay income tax on earnings in his White House Federal Credit Union account and failing to disclose an interest-free $15,000 loan from a friend.

"I hope to carry out a dignified, thoroughly professional investigation," Stein said Monday night in an interview in which he brushed aside questions about how long his investigation will take and whether his report is likely to be issued in the midst of the presidential election campaign.

Meese has denied the allegations.

"The decisions of the grand jury should not be taken as a comment on any actions to be pursued by the state bar."

Smith and Saul both face lawsuits brought against them by the State Bar of Texas. Saul was publicly reprimanded in February by the Texas Prosecutors Coordinating Council.

Judge Boone, assigned to the case after 222nd District Judge David Wesley Guiley asked to be removed, set bond on Smith at $6,000 following the grand jury action. Smith posted the bail on Sunday at the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office.

Manager announces closing of plant

The plant manager of Swift Independent Packing Company of Hereford today said he expects the current layoff at his plant to be of short duration, maybe just this week.

SIPCO announced on Monday the plant would be closed this week due to economic reasons. Bud Nary, who recently moved here from Dumas to assume duties as manager, said the shutdown is due to the price of live cattle. "The price we pay is not reflected on the box beef market," he explained.

He said there are now 350 persons working at SIPCO, and all hourly-wage earners were asked not to report to work this week. "We do have 30 people working this week to take care of the perishable products on hand."

Last fall, SIPCO laid off around 100 workers after announcing it would convert to a one-shift operation. The plant had been running two shifts.

"Of those people laid off who remained in the area and wanted to come back to work, all have been rehired," Nary said today. He said that was made possible by increasing the volume in the one-shift operation, and to fill slots created by employees who left their jobs.

"We have a substantial commitment in Hereford," he added.

FARMING

Can It Bear The Full Weight of Economic Support Alone?

“According to statistics derived from the Texas Crop Reporting Service (Issues 1973 & 1982) combined with comparisons from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the total crop sales in Deaf Smith County over this 9 year period has decreased approximately 45 percent. The computation of this decrease was calculated by comparing total sales with an inflationary index factor of 2.24.”

- The total tax rebate for a dry county was $512,875.99.
- Hereford's population (according to 1980 census) was 15,900. Note: if you will, Dumas' 1980 census and compare the sales rebate.

IS THIS ISSUE “ALL WET”

“In summation, all these facts and figures are public record, and may be obtained from the agencies listed throughout this advertisement.

This presentation, shows a brief example of the simple economics of this issue - The Domino Theory - or more specifically the continuous chain reaction of one positive force creating another positive force.

If farmers are doing well, land becomes more productive and as a result is worth more. In turn, more valuable land escalates taxable revenues.

When businesses are growing, their property becomes a more attractive commodity which is therefore indicative of higher tax revenues as well!

Growth in either of these two essential areas of our economy stimulates the housing industry etc. etc.

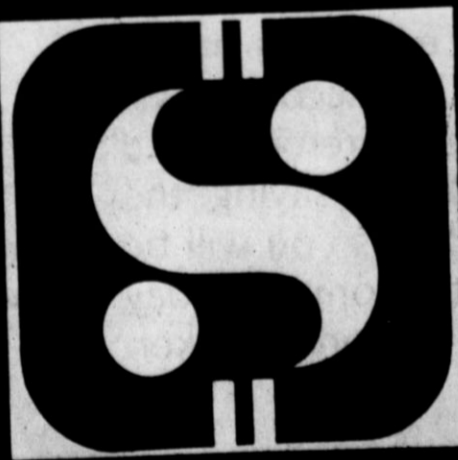

The attitude of economic aggressiveness acts as a magnet ... pulling industry and business to our inlet from other areas!

Tax revenues reflect the general health of local economies. These revenues are comprised of land, business, homes and personal property.

Tax figures taken from the Deaf Smith County Tax Appraisal Office, indicate Deaf Smith County (between 1973 and 1983) has had an approximate 25% decrease in tax revenues.

“The importance of the Wet-Dry Issue on our economy can be better illustrated by comparing the tax revenues in several other areas of Texas shown above. The figures shown here were submitted by the State Comptroller's Office in Austin and account for City Sales Tax only!”

Students Donate Proceeds

Students from Community Christian School raised $427.50 for the American Heart Association by staging a recent jump rope-a-thon. The children learned about the Heart Association while exercising and competing for prizes, which were awarded to those raising the most money through sponsorships, according to Community Church youth pastor, Shannon Wilburn, who coordinated the activity. "We hope to make it an annual event," he said.

Foster, Barrett serve on UT student senate

Robert A. Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Foster, and Steven F. Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Barrett, were recently elected to the student senate at the University of Texas at Austin. Foster is serving as senator-at-large and Barrett as senator from the school of engineering. The newly elected senators attended a retreat last weekend at Wood Creek Resort for an orientation session. Initiation ceremonies were held Monday.

Foster is a sophomore electrical engineering major and a 1982 Merit Scholar. Barrett, a freshman electrical engineering major, was named to the Dean's List for the 1983 fall semester.

Workshop to deal with handicapped

Dayle Bebee, executive director of Advocacy Inc., an Austin-based group concerned with equal education for handicapped children, will speak with and offer counsel to parents of handicapped children Thursday at 7 p.m. in Room 4A100 of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center (TTUHSC) in Lubbock.

Advocacy Inc. has special interest in laws and administrative procedures protecting handicapped children. According to Mike Montanez, coordinator for the TTUHSC Cerebral Palsy Clinic, "The group provides a direction for parents to take in getting the best education in the public schools for handicapped children. They inform parents of basic laws, regulations and policies about education for handicapped children."

Topics for the workshop include an overview of state and federal legislation and individual educational planning for the handicapped child. The workshop will also suggest ways of dealing with problems regarding the child's education.

The workshop is cosponsored by the TTUHSC Cerebral Palsy Center, PATHWAYS, Association of Retarded Citizens, Lubbock Educational Advancement Forum, South Plains Head Start, South Plains Handicapped Consortium, Milam's Training Center Parent Organization and the Institute for Child and Family Studies.

For more information on the workshop contact Mike Montanez, (806)743-3038.

Ann Landers

Entitled to commission

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work in a store in Detroit that sells only women's shoes and boots.

It was my turn to approach the next customer, so I stepped forward to wait on a woman who had come in with her husband. She said she wanted to see the six different styles on display in the window and told me her size.

When I brought the shoes, her husband said, "I'll fit these." He knelt down in front of his wife and she tried on the various pairs of shoes. The woman walked around, commenting on the fit and style.

Several times I said, "This is my job and I don't mind doing it." The man replied in a belligerent tone, "I have been fitting my wife's shoes for 30 years. Would you prefer that we went elsewhere?"

I said "No," and stepped aside.

They decided on three pairs, gave me $164 and I boxed the shoes. The manager informed me after they left that I would not receive a commission on the sale because the husband had "done all the work."

I need an unbiased point of view and will accept your word as final. Was I entitled to the commission or not?—Motor City Mike

DEAR MO: You brought the shoes from the stockroom and supervised the fitting, which took time and precluded you from serving others. You also boxed the shoes and rang up the sale.

Even though the husband put the shoes on his wife's feet, you were entitled to the commission.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was recently widowed. My husband's death was sudden and unexpected. Like so many other women I never thought it would happen to me. I won't go into detail about the agony and loneliness. It would fill the entire page. Besides, you've heard it all before.

I cannot get over the lack of compassion people have for my grieving. They don't want to talk about my husband, nor will they allow me to talk about him. When I mention his name, they change the subject and pretend he never existed. Everyone says, "Keep busy and go out." I wish it were that easy.

What should I say to people who ask (with a big smile), "How are you doing?" What do they expect me to say when the person I loved more than anyone in the world has died and shattered my life overnight?

I am furious at the insensitivity of my family and friends. Any suggestions on how to cope?—West Coast Widow

DEAR W.C.W.: Too bad you are surrounded by such ignorance. Obviously your family and friends don't know that grief is a normal part of the healing process and you need to talk about your feelings.

When asked how you are doing, say, "I am struggling."

Since no one will allow you to unburden yourself, pay a professional to listen. It is essential that you verbalize your frustration and rage.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Lander's guide to "Necking and Petting - What Are the Limits?"—Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Members of the two choirs combined for the final two numbers, which were directed by Devers and ac-

In Hereford Invitational

Hereford tracksters place fifth

The Hereford High School boys varsity track team placed fifth out of a field of seven area high schools at the Hereford Invitational Boys Track Meet Saturday.

"The meet itself went great ... we had some awful good bright spots. We competed well, both (junior varsity) and varsity," HHS boys varsity track coach Eddie Richardson said after the meet.

Whitefaces Francisco Saucedo and Craig Jones finished first in their events. Saucedo ran the 400-meters in about 52 seconds and Jones vaulted 13 feet.

also won the junior varsity level with 195 points. The Hereford JVers compiled 45 points.

The trackster boys will next compete in the annual Amarillo Boys Track Relays Friday and Saturday.

No HHS baseball today

The Hereford High School boys varsity baseball team is not scheduled to play in District 3-5A action today.

Saturday's scheduled home game against Caprock was postponed due to a wet infield. It was to be played Monday, but the field was still too wet.

The game would probably be made up Wednesday or Thursday, Hereford Athletic Director Jerry Taylor said Monday.

HHS is 3-2 in the district and 7-6 on the season. In district contests Monday

Lubbock Coronado raised its district record to 4-1 with a 15-5 rout over Amarillo High (2-4). Plainview (4-1) shut out Tascosa 4-0.

In district matches set for today, first-place Monterey will play at Tascosa; Amarillo High hosts Caprock; Lubbock High travels to Palo Duro; and Plainview will play at Lubbock Coronado.

The next scheduled game for Hereford is Friday when the Herd travels to Amarillo High.

Wins NCAA championship

Georgetown stomps Houston, 84-75

SEATTLE (AP) — Hoya Paranoia is dead. Georgetown has nothing to fear anymore.

Not that it ever really did, mind you. Georgetown's NCAA championship basketball team wasn't built on an adversarial relationship with anybody. It is the product of togetherness, under the tutelage of Coach John Thompson.

"We don't need Hoya Paranoia," Thompson said Monday night after his Hoyas defeated Houston 84-75 in the title game at the sold-out Kingdome. "I have young men with personal pride and dignity ... and if Hoya Paranoia makes us the way we are, somebody else better catch it."

It was Houston's second successive futile attempt to catch the gold ring, a disappointment matched by only Ohio State in the 1960 and 1961 finals. But the Buckeyes won the title in 1960.

In all, Houston Coach Guy

Lewis has been to the Final Four five times and has come away empty each time. Thompson won it all in his second trip here, Georgetown's third.

Thompson was effusive in his praise for his beaten counterpart. "It's much more difficult to get to the Final Four than it is to win the championship game," he said. "Anyone can win one game. I think Guy has done a tremendous job. I have a lot of sympathy and empathy for him."

The Cougars lost their chance to win it a year ago because their dominating center, Akeem Olujuwon, was in the wrong place — at the foul line when Lorenzo Charles slam-dunked North Carolina State's winning shot at the buzzer to beat the Cougars 54-52.

He was in the wrong place again this time. He should have been controlling the lanes to the basket hard against his Georgetown counterpart Patrick Ewing and atop the rest of the Hoyas driving toward the rim.

Olujuwon was in trouble before halftime, absorbing his third foul — what Lewis called a "silly foul" 42 seconds before the break when he jumped into a David Wingate fake. And when Olujuwon picked up his fourth just 23 seconds into the second half, he became an out-of-ammunition weapon for Houston, scoring only two field goals and three free throws.

"They told us before the game started they were gonna let 'em play, let 'em bang away," Lewis said of Booker Turner and the other game officials. "Then bing, bing, bing. That's all I can say about that."

Lewis pulled Olujuwon after that fourth foul and didn't put him back in for more than six minutes. In that stretch, though, the Cougars actually managed to play virtually even with Georgetown.

But with Olujuwon back in the pivot, the Hoyas repeatedly charged the rim for easy layups or baskets off offensive rebounds. "I considered pulling him again,"

Lewis said. "In fact, I told him if he wasn't going to play he might as well sit over there on the bench with me. I felt like he was playing too cautious then, just trying to stay in the ballgame."

The matchup between Ewing and Olujuwon, the two 7-footers, never materialized. Ewing finished with 10 points, nine rebounds and four blocked shots in 30½ minutes. Olujuwon, in 32½, had 15 points and nine rebounds — and although being the nation's leading shot-blocker, he had just one, against Ewing.

Just as Lewis had predicted Sunday, the game was dominated by others — 6-7 freshman Reggie Williams and 6-5 sophomore Wingate, a pair of Georgetown swingmen, 6-9 Hoya freshman Michael Graham and 6-2 guard Alvin Franklin and 6-7 forward Michael Young of Houston.

Williams, one of the off-the-bench disciples of Thompson's shuttle system, led the Hoyas with 19 points, 13 in the second half. "The coach always told me to take good shots," he said. "As long as I do, he doesn't mind me missing them. I was taking them, and they were going in." Particularly in the second half, when he hit six of nine from the floor.

"Whoever's going well, we go to that person," said Thompson. "I've said all along that Reggie eventually will be a superior scorer on our team ... He's a natural scorer and shooter and I'm just glad he showed up today." Wingate split his 16 points evenly between the halves. Graham, another reserve, had 10 of his 14 points in the second half, finishing with seven of nine from the floor. Franklin led all scorers with 21 points — 17 in the second half when he hit six of 10 field goal attempts — and Young scored 18 points.

In fact, the Georgetown bench scored 43 points. Houston's scored 13.

Perhaps overlooked in the turbulence of victory was the absence of senior guard Gene Smith, the fulcrum of the defense-dictated game Thompson loves. Statistically, though, it was clear his absence, due to a strained left arch, was felt.

Smith never did get into the game.

VOTE FOR!

Much has been said, both publicly and privately, about the forthcoming local option election for the Off-Premises Sale of Beer and wine. The Committee for Off-Premises Beer and Wines takes a REALISTIC view of the FACTS concerning this important election.

- NO. 1. A person cannot drink ... or even open, a beverage where he buys it. There can be NO HONKY TONKS or TAVERNS. THIS IS THE LAW.
- NO. 2. BEVERAGES will be sold by Local, Licensed, tax-paying merchants, under strict local and state control.
- NO. 3. Help Keep local money at home and bring in new trade to be shared by other merchants.
- NO. 4. REDUCE needless driving to areas that have Legal Sales ... and back, thereby reducing chances of highway accidents.
- NO. 5. Legal Sales DO NOT FORCE ANYONE TO DRINK and Prohibition DOES NOT KEEP ANYONE FROM DRINKING.

Major League opener

Reagan throws out first pitch

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Ronald Reagan and Jackie Gutierrez both made low throws. But Reagan's errant toss was merely the ceremonial first pitch to get the baseball season under way, while Gutierrez's occurred with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning and cost the Boston Red Sox a victory.

Wearing a bullet-proof vest under his suit, Reagan made a surprise appearance in Baltimore, deciding to attend less than two hours before the world champion Orioles' 5-2 loss to the Chicago White Sox. He signaled catcher Rick Dempsey to back away until they were about 20 yards apart and fired a pitch which Dempsey, a noted glove man, snagged just before it hit the ground.

Asked how his arm felt, Reagan replied: "Pretty good. I threw it a little low." Gutierrez's arm also felt pretty good, but the rest of him was down in the dumps.

The rookie shortstop, playing in only his sixth major-league game, fielded Bob Boone's routine grounder with the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the ninth and the Red Sox clinging to a 1-0 lead over California. But he threw the ball into the dirt on the outfield side of first base and Dave Stapleton was unable to come up with it.

"I should have taken my time," said the 23-year-old Gutierrez. "The runner was Bob Boone. He's not a fast runner. I should have taken a step and thrown. For me, it's a real bad, but I have to take it. Better days are ahead. There are 161 games to go. I just want to forget about it, think about the next game we play."

That will be Wednesday night. Four games are scheduled today in the AL —

New York at Kansas City in an afternoon makeup of Monday's rainout and night contests pitting Cleveland at Texas, Detroit at Minnesota and Milwaukee at Oakland.

Reagan spent only one inning in Baltimore — he watched with Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and owner Edward Bennett Williams from the Orioles' dugout — before a helicopter took him back to the White House. The trip had been ruled out after aides surveyed Memorial Stadium last week, but they apparently decided the element of surprise overcame security concerns.

The president, who often boasts that he holds a degree in economics, got a lesson in deficit spending when he ordered four $2 hot dogs for his hosts and attempted to pay the vendor with a $5 bill.

Before a Baltimore crowd of 51,333, Harold Baines drove in three runs and LaMarr Hoyt pitched 7 1-3 strong innings for the White Sox, who lost the 1983 playoffs to Baltimore in four games.

A first-inning homer by Cal Ripken Jr., the Most Valuable Player of 1983, provided Baltimore's first run off Hoyt, who won 24 games and the Cy Young award last season. But the White Sox had taken a 2-0 lead off Scott McGregor in the top of the first.

IS YOUR INSURANCE AGENT LOCKED INTO ONE COMPANY?

There are 2 ways to buy insurance. You can buy your insurance from a one-company agent. But they're locked into only those policies that their company sells. So their hands are tied.
Or you can buy your insurance from an Independent Insurance Agent... the more-than-one-company agent. You see, a Big "I" Independent Agent like us doesn't work for one company. We represent several. So we're free to give you an independent opinion and advise you on the best coverage at the best price. And that goes for homeowners, automobile, business, life and health insurance.

Rangers open tonight

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Can a new atmosphere and lineup changes finally bring the Texas Rangers their first American League Western Division pennant?
The Rangers provide the answer starting tonight against the Cleveland Indians in an American League opener for both teams.
New AL President Bobby Brown will throw out the first ball at 7:35 p.m. CST.
Knuckleballer Charlie Hough, who was 15-13, will take the mound for the Rangers against the Indians'

Rick Sutcliffe, who was 17-11. The Rangers have a new $2 million, 50-foot high scoreboard that should cut down the prevailing prairie winds that have made the ballpark a pitcher's paradise. Also, Texas Manager Doug Rader has done some lineup shaking down in his second season at the helm.
Rookie Curtis Wilkerson will start at shortstop. The Rangers have placed veteran Bucky Dent on waivers.
Also, there will be someone new behind the plate.

Kids Inc. to meet

There will be an organizational meeting of Kids Incorporated Friday at 7 p.m. at the Hereford State Bank.
Coaches and players of various teams will be designated. Rule changes will also be discussed.
Officers of Kids Inc. have reported that coaches for boys and girls are still needed for the various leagues of T-ball through Bronco League.
Youths who wish to participate in KI may obtain a registration card from the principal's office of their school.
The completed cards should be returned to the principal's office or mailed to Kids Inc., Box 1945, Hereford.
Games are expected to begin in late April or early May, scheduled over an eight-week span. The program is offered to youngsters currently in the first grade through age 18. A $15 registration fee is charged, payable once teams are announced and practice begins.
Persons interested in coaching or with additional questions may call Pat Robbins at 276-5387.

Around the County

By SUSAN N. RANEY
County Extension Agent
Traveling can be one of the most exciting experiences for 4-H'ers who are interested in participating in the 4-H Exchange Program. Through this program 4-H'ers in a particular county travel to another state and state in the homes of other 4-H'ers for a week or more.

During the exchange, the 4-H'ers from both states have the choice to compare cultures, geography, economics, government, schools, agriculture, and most importantly, their 4-H programs. This opportunity allows the 4-H'er to experience the everyday life of his or her host family and meet new friends in another part of the nation.

Speaking from experience, the friends made on a 4-H cultural exchange are kept long after the two summers spent exchanging from state to state. The exchange trip is an excellent reward for senior 4-H'ers as they can benefit immensely from the citizenship and leadership experiences they gain while traveling.

4-H'ers from Deaf Smith County will be able to take advantage of the cultural exchange program this summer as ten 4-H'ers and two adult chaperones from Shawano County will be arriving in Hereford on July 20. The 4-H group will participate in several activities the Deaf Smith County 4-H council will plan for them, as well as spending time with their host families.

Planned activities for the Wisconsin exchange week include tours of various agricultural industry in Hereford, a day in Palo Duro Canyon, a Sunday ice cream social, swimming party, and other group activities.

At this time Deaf Smith County 4-H families are needed to be host families. To qualify as a host family at least one 4-H'er in the family should be 14 years of age or older and be able to participate in all activities during the six-day exchange this summer. For the 4-H'ers wishing to travel to Shawano, Wis., next summer, the 4-H'ers given first priority will be those who host this summer.

The 4-H cultural exchange program has been going on in various states for several years, however this county is new to the program. 4-H'ers wishing to participate this summer will be earning their own funds to travel to Wisconsin next year. This will help defray personal costs for each individual.

For those interested in travel, meeting new friends and having more than just "fun" for a summer contact Susan Raney at the county extension office, 364-3573, for more information. Deadline to apply for host families April 30.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Organization has tickets

Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford has been given complimentary tickets for Tommy Scott's Last Real Medicine Show, to be sponsored by Hereford Rotary Club at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, according to BB-BS executive director, Deane Jones.

The variety show featuring clowns, bluegrass music and magic is to be held in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Tickets were donated to Big Brothers-Big Sisters by Rix Funeral Directors, J.C. Penney, Winn's Pharmacy, and Witherspoon, Aikin and Langley for use by Little Brothers and Sisters and their guests.

Those interested in obtaining tickets should call the Big Brothers-Big Sisters office at 364-6171. There will be a limit of two tickets per child.

Military Muster

Navy Seaman Ricardo L. Foster, son of Inez Foster of 231 Catalpa, Hereford, recently returned from a seven-and-one-half month deployment to the Western Pacific and Indian Oceans as part of the USS Ranger Carrier Battle Group.

He is a crewmember aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Horne, homeported in San Diego.

During the deployment, the ship operated off the coast of Central America, in the Indian Ocean, the Western Pacific and the North Arabian Sea. While off the coast of Central America, the ship participated in numerous exercises and events, including the hosting of the Presidents of Panama and El Salvador, and dignitaries from Guatemala and Honduras.

Traveling through the Western Pacific and Indian Oceans, the group took up station in the North Arabian Sea. The Horne participated in anti-air, anti-surface, and anti-submarine warfare training, including multiple exercises with allied units.

While in the Republic of the Philippines, the crew participated in a community aid program called "Operation Jingle Bells." During a three-day period, they painted and re-roofed a church and school in the villages of San Augustin and Santa Cruz.

Lose that weight now

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 29-year-old working woman. I'm 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 158 pounds. The idea of saying goodbye to my 20s at this weight doesn't appeal to me, especially if it's true that weight loss will become increasingly difficult as I age. I'd like to lose 30 to 35 pounds before my 30th birthday. About two months ago, when I weighed 165 pounds, I began changing my eating habits to a diet that doesn't exceed 800 calories. I managed to lose 7 pounds the first month, but nothing thereafter. My father insists exercise is the only answer. Everything I've ever read tells me I should be able to lose weight slowly on anything less than 1200 calories a day.

About military recruiting

Personnel chiefs worrying

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite optimistic statements from Pentagon leaders, military manpower chiefs are warning of "clear signs of a downturn" in recruiting and looming trouble maintaining a quality volunteer armed force.

Senior personnel officers have raised the warning signals while Defense Department civilian leaders boast of successes by all services in meeting recruiting and re-enlistment goals.

There have been three straight bountiful recruiting years, with 1983 hailed by the Pentagon as the best ever. And the successes have continued into early 1984, according to Pentagon reports.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger has set the tone for the civilian leadership in the Pentagon in hailing these successes without indicating any difficulties ahead.

As recently as last week, Weinberger said in a speech to the American Security Council, a defense-oriented organization, that "our biggest success story is our people."

But earlier in March, the personnel chiefs of the Army, Navy and Air Force all were demonstrating concern in reports to Congress and all mentioned improvement in the economy and a drop in unemployment as major factors in this concern.

"Though 1983 recruiting achievement was the best of any year since the end of the draft for all Army components, we must heed warning signals," Lt. Gen. Robert Elton, Army deputy chief of staff for personnel, testified before Congress.

"There are clear signs of a downturn and we are concerned about them. Our nation's economy continues to mend, the unemployment rate continues to drop, and young Americans have other options," Elton said.

He said that "the trend is downward in our key measure," the number of male high-school graduate recruits who score high in entrance examinations. Elton provided no specific figures.

Vice Adm. William P. Lawrence, deputy chief of naval operations for manpower, said "competition from the civilian sector for recruits with high education levels and training potential is increasing."

Flower drying easy

DEAR POLLY — In the summer, I grow a lot of baby's breath, but I have never been able to dry it nicely. Could you please tell me how to dry it for flower arrangements? — MRS. N.B.

DEAR MRS. N.B. — If you haven't had much luck with simple air drying, you'll probably get the best results with silica gel. This is white granular powder in which you put the flowers until they dry. It absorbs all moisture quickly and preserves the delicate colors of most flowers very nicely. Check hobby stores and departments for flower drying kits, which should contain all the equipment you need (a container of silica gel, plus complete instructions). I've also seen these kits advertised in some of the large gardening catalogs, like Park's and Burpee's. — POLLY

FRIENDLY AND CONVENIENT

HOME DESIGN
by Larry Farnsworth

This distinctive design is just about as different on the inside as it obviously is on the outside. Its appeal is different too for it's 1181 square feet outrun many far more conventional plans when it comes to popularity with builders. This is their favorite choice and there are many reasons why it is.

Note the living room for example. It is large, totally separate, located at the back of the house for privacy, and its fireplace forms the focal point of a dramatic conversation pit arrangement. The two arched openings add a special flavor, one handles the entry traffic, the other leads to the dining room making this design great for entertaining, and note the interior traffic pattern insured by the central entry just within the recessed front door. Two closets in its hallway give it a foyer effect entrance.

In the front corner of the house the country type kitchen enjoys its own share of drama with a handy dining counter serving the family room area with a patio and sliding doors providing both viewing of and convenient access to the outside. The U-shaped working area is highly efficient and traffic through the garage door to the laundry alcove in the hall never intrudes upon its activities. The garage also has a side door leading to the yard.

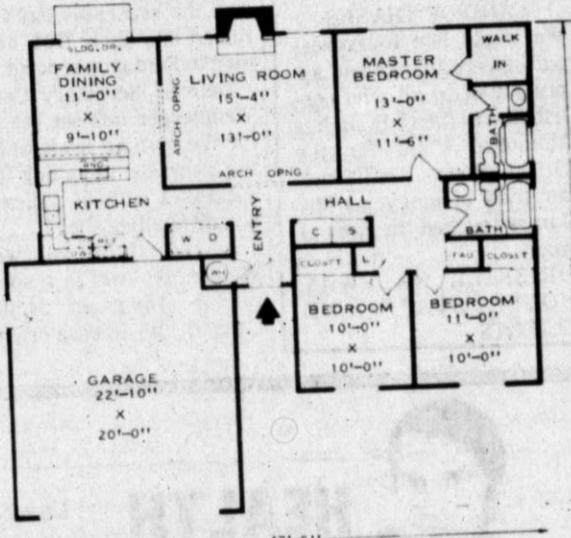

The master bedroom is a big one with a big walk-in wardrobe and a compartmented bath of its own. The main bath backs up to this one for maximum plumbing economy and both have outside windows. A rear location gives this room extra privacy too.

The other two bedrooms are comfortable too, both in size and in closet space. Note also the extra storage closet, and linen closet centrally located, just outside the door of each bedroom and master bath.

Good living is available too when this distinctive plan is chosen. This 1181 square foot home also has an optional basement available.
