Astronauts strike out to repair satellite

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Five astronauts rode Challenger today into orbit 290 miles above Earth, highest yet for a shuttle, and set off in pursuit of a crippled solar observatory for a daring first attempt to repair a satellite in space.

The flight, in which astronaut George Nelson will use a jet-powered backpack to fly 200 feet from the ship and snare the satellite, began with a rumbling liftoff right on schedule at 8:58 a.m. EST.

"You looked great going up the hill," Mission Control told the crew after the shuttle climbed through cloudless blue Florida skies and settled into orbit.

"The view from here is as spectacular as ever," replied commander Robert Crippen, the first astronaut to make three shuttle flights.

Accompanying the crew were 3,300 honeybees and the shuttle's heaviest cargo so far — an 11-ton package of experiments, including 13 million tomato seeds, that will be dropped off in orbit and picked up next year.

Two minutes into the flight, the shuttle shed its two solid propellant booster rockets and they parachuted into the Atlantic, where ships were to recover them for use on a later mission.

As the astronauts soared into orbit, the target satellite was half a world away, 11,500 miles in front of the shuttle. Crippen will lead Challenger on a chase of 828,000 miles over two days until he moves to within 200 feet of his goal.

Launch has no hitches

It was the 11th shuttle launch, the fifth for Challenger. The flight is to end next Thursday with the second landing back at Cape Canaveral.

Crippen is in charge of an all-rookie crew of pilot Dick Scobee and mission specialists Nelson, Terry Hart and James van Hoften.

Their journey puts a record 11 people in space at the same time, including five cosmonauts and an Indian astronaut who are traveling on the Soviets' Salyut 7 space station. The old mark of eight was set in February when five astronauts and three cosmonauts were aloft.

With the skies so crowded, NASA had only 7 minutes, 45 seconds leeway for today's launch. The United States and Soviet Union have an agreement not to come within 200 miles of one another's spacecraft, and liftoff any later would have put the shuttle and space station closer than that.

The altitude is the highest yet for a shuttle flight, but far short of the 840-mile Earth-orbit record set by Gemini 10 in 1966. Apollo astronauts traveled a quarter-million miles from home to reach the moon.

Nelson will wear one of the jet-powered backpacks tested on the last flight for the adventuresome job of casting free from the orbiting shuttle, flitting 200 to 300 feet away and attaching a device to Solar Max so it can be hauled into the cargo bay for repairs.

During six days aloft the astronauts will have more than 3,300 traveling companions — a boxload of honeybees. Since bees are among nature's best engineers, scientists want to know if they can build honeycombs in weightlessness as well as they do on Earth.

A technical problem cropped up Thursday on Challenger as an electronics unit used to relay information between shuttle computers and its systems failed. Technicians removed the "black box" and replaced it with a spare, which was tested and reported working fine early today.

The astronauts' first major task will come Saturday, when they use the shuttle's remote-controlled arm to place in orbit an 11-ton satellite carrying 57 science, technology and materials experiments which will operate in space for 10 months until another shuttle crew recaptures the payload and returns it to Earth.

Turned On Its Side

Hereford Volunteer Firemen arrived at the above scene at approximately 9 p.m. Thursday. This truck somehow ended on its side in the San Jose Labor Camp, located south of Hereford. Few details of the incident were available at presstime, though the driver reportedly had to be taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Previous wet-dry votes controversial

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Back in 1956, when three pounds of hot dogs were on sale for 79 cents, Deaf Smith County residents last considered a local option liquor election.

Fifty-five years earlier, prohibition was initiated for the first time in the county's history, which extended only back to 1890. The cost of franks in 1901 is not to be found in old newspapers, though a whole truckload of cut wood could be purchased for $50.

Prices have certainly changed over the years. It will not be known until Saturday night, however, whether county voters are yet willing to allow the presence of package liquor stores within their midst.

Elections of October 1901, 1956 re-examined

It may be of interest to several to look back at the local newspaper's coverage of those previous two elections. Some of the arguments expressed during both those races seem to be resemble those appearing this year.

The following article ran in the Oct. 4, 1901 edition of the Hereford Reporter. The questionably objective story had the interesting, though hardly concise, title, "TOMORROW: Go and Vote, and Vote as Your Conscience Dictates. TOMORROW You Express Your Sentiments as You Will be Willing to Abide by Them for Two Years."

It began, "Tomorrow we go to the polls to cast our vote to decide an important question. What is the question?"

"Is it to determine whether prohibition will destroy many appetites for strong drink? Is it to determine whether it will put whiskey beyond the reach of every individual in Deaf Smith County? Is it to prohibit anyone from taking a drink in Deaf Smith County?"

"No, this is not the question. The question is, 'Shall I give my endorsement to the saloon and all its train of evils,' or, 'Shall I refuse that endorsement?' This is the question and, whatever difficulties may present themselves, this is the issue."

"Let us decide the issue, first from the standpoint of our duty to ourselves, our families, our county and our God, and if this brings new obligations in the way of enforcement of law, let us make up our minds as to the question now at issue, endorsement or no endorsement, and when other phases of the matter present themselves, let us assert ourselves in defense of the night that is ours."

The article, appearing on the eve of the Oct. 5 election, concluded, "Let us come to the polls and vote, not for appetite, not for expediency, not for pocketbooks, nor some one interested in the business, but for right, leaving consequences to be seen and determined by honesty and honor of the officer whose oath is on record for the enforcement of the law."

In the same issue, a letter to the editor received maximum exposure on the front page. F.T. Densen, a former local resident, penned, "Citizens, guard your boys against every evil as our fathers did us."

Coverage leading up to the 1901 election was limited pretty much to Reporter articles and a few letters to the editor. In 1956, however, a new method of voicing one's opinion was extensively used: advertising.

The Sept. 30 edition of the twice-weekly Hereford Brand contained a full-page advertisement with 540 names. Those listed reportedly agreed to the statement, "Believing it best for my home and community, I plan to vote 'DRY' in the election on Tuesday, October 2nd, 1956."

A different advertising espousing the pro-prohibition side contended, "Preventative measures are more important than curative and disciplinary measures. Since alcohol causes so many accidents and tragedies, it is more important to remove the alcohol, as a preventative measure, than it is to provide jails, hospitals and mortuaries for handling alcohol-related cases."

Both sides placed advertisements which had reproductions of the "wet-dry" ballot. Those belonging

Congress instructed to stay clear

Of Reagan's foreign policy

By BARRY SCHWEID AP
Diplomatic Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan fired another round at Congress today for second-guessing him on foreign affairs, saying the lawmakers should not meddle once U.S. goals are set.

His blast at "activism" on Capitol Hill dominated a policy speech in which Reagan reaffirmed his determination to reduce nuclear weapons but offered no new initiatives to woo the Soviets back to the bargaining table.

He ruled out "simplistic solutions" to the weapons buildup and informed the Kremlin that deterrence would remain the cornerstone of his foreign policy.

In criticizing Congress, the president said "if we are to have a sustainable foreign policy, the Congress must support the practical details of policy, not just the general goals."

Couched in an appeal for bipartisanship, Reagan said "legislators must realize that they, too, are partners."

Behind the criticism, which has already led to a feud with House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., is White House irritation with efforts by Congress to limit U.S. operations in the Middle East and Central America.

A senior U.S. official, briefing reporters on the speech, said that when American lives are at stake and after some public debate, Congress should restrict its objections to meetings with Reagan, letters to him and other private forums.

"Full and open debate is fine before the decision," said the official, who declined to be identified. "Full and private criticism is fine after that."

Reagan, in the remarks prepared for the Georgetown Center for Strategic and International Studies, said Congress has a responsibility "to go beyond mere criticism to consensus-building that will produce positive, practical and effective action."

The president said his administration had taken the nation into a new era of strength. "Gone are the days when the United States was perceived as a rudderless superpower, a helpless hostage to world events," he

Clarke seeks hospital spot

Elaine Clarke, one of eight candidates for the three available local hospital board spots, "would like for the people of Hereford to be aware of the good quality of medical care that they are receiving."

A former employee of Deaf Smith General Hospital, Clarke said she knows she would be an "interested, effective and active" board member.

"I am running for the hospital board because I feel that I could be of service to the community as a member of the board," she said. "I believe that the board has a great responsibility to the community to provide medical services to them effectively, efficiently and economically."

She also commented, "I am delighted that there are so many candidates for the Deaf Smith General Hospital board. I feel that the increased interest in the board expresses the concern of the citizens in maintaining and improving the medical services provided by the community."

Now employed as a registered nurse at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo, Clarke received her bachelor's in nursing from West Texas State University.

Color television stolen

A color television set worth an estimated $1,000 was recently stolen from a mini storage building on W. Park Avenue, Hereford police reported this morning.

There is one suspect in the case, for which the victim is John Teters, a Hereford resident. Locks of the storage facility were broken to accomplish the theft, which reportedly occurred Sunday.

Ronnie Trailer of Crosbyton, meanwhile, had $972 worth of items taken from his 1979 Lincoln sometime between 8:30 and 11 p.m. Thursday. He was in Bowling's Bowl, 110 N. 25 Mile Ave., when the burglary happened. Among the items taken were six pairs of jeans, 12 shirts and a suede leather jacket.

Police also investigated one incident apiece of abandoned vehicle, criminal mischief, minor theft and simple assault.

Emroy Brownlow, incumbent city commissioner seeking reelection to Place 4, says a number of people have asked why he didn't appear at the public forum for candidates here Monday night. He points out that he was attending a city commission meeting, and the chamber committee was informed that he and Bud Eades, unopposed for Place 3, would not be able to attend the forum.

This was not made clear in news reports about the forum, so we feel voters should know the two candidates had a good reason for not being present.

Saturday is "D" Day for voters in Hereford and Deaf Smith County. Important seats are to be filled in local governing bodies, and this year's election attracted even greater voter interest because of the "wet-dry" issue.

Absentee voting was the greatest ever in some of the local boxes, indicating a large voter turnout. We hope this is true and that many of the registered voters take time to go to the polls and make their wishes known.

B.F. Cain, former longtime county clerk, once told us that the absentee total traditionally represented about 10 percent of what the total vote count would be. If that runs true to form, we'll have about 4,200 voters on the wet-dry election Saturday. There are about 8,676 registered voters—wouldn't it be great if more than 50 percent turned out?

Your vote is as personal as your fingerprint, and only YOU can cast YOUR vote...get out and vote Saturday!

Funeral arrangements discussed during tour

Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home was the setting for a meeting of Toujours Amis Study Club recently. John Gilliland gave members a tour of the funeral home and presented an informative program concerning funeral arrangements and pre-need arrangements which are available.

Following the tour, members reassembled in the home of Leisa Lewis for supper and a business meeting. Hostesses Cindy Black, Pam Perrin, Jan Petree, Leslie Woodard and Mrs. Lewis served submarine sandwiches, dips and chips, blueberry muffins and ice cream topped brownies.

A tree branch decorated with tiny rabbits popping out of dyed Easter eggs provided a colorful centerpiece.

President Charlotte Tyler conducted the business meeting, during which minutes were read by Secretary Laurie Owens and the treasurer's report was given by nena Veazey.

Marilyn Leasure announced that members are to host their children at an Easter party on April 19. Several other business issues were discussed, thank you notes were read, and a slate of officers to be voted on for the 1984-85 club year was presented.

Others present were Marcia boyer, Rhonda Long, Terri Laing, Rhonda Nieman, Lori Hall, Karen Keeling, Melissa Richardson, Katy Timmons and Shannon Hagar.

Sorry Charlie

Rightfielder Charles White gets nipped at first base as he tried to beat out a ground ball he hit during Thursday's varsity baseball contest between Hereford and Caprock High. The Herd won the game in the bottom of the seventh as CHS walked in the winning run. HHS is scheduled to travel to Amarillo High today.

Winning run walked in

Herd downs Caprock, 11-10

By STAN GODEK
Sports Editor
Mickey Stengel threw one pitch in the top of the seventh inning to gain his second victory of the season as Hereford downed Caprock High, 11-10, in District 3-5A baseball action Thursday.

With Caprock runners on second and third and the score tied 10-10, Herd coach Don Long decided to pull pitcher Robert Martinez, who replaced starter Sammy Suarez in the sixth, and put in Stengel even though Stengel is scheduled to pitch Saturday against Plainview.

The move paid off as the next CHS batter flied out to right field.

The Herd then proceeded to win the game in the bottom of the seventh.

Chet bunch led off the inning with a single up the middle, Stengel legged out a bunt for a hit. Ronnie Collier then singled up the middle to load the bases.

The next batter, Jeff Streun, missed the bunt on the suicide squeeze attempt and Bunch got caught in a rundown. But with two out Longhorn pitcher Jerry Branch walked in the winning run.

Despite not having played for five days, HHS jumped out to a quick 6-1 lead after two innings.

"I knew we would have to score a lot of runs. (Caprock) has a high scoring offense. They do not go up to the plate looking for walks, they're a good hitting ball club," Long said after the game.

The win boosts the Whitefaces district record to 4-2 and 8-6 overall. Caprock fell to 2-4 and 5-10.

Hereford will send Collier to the mound today as the team travels to play Amarillo High. Long said he would like to win today which would "set up a big game against Plainview."

Plainview, at 5-1, is in second place in the district race and will play in Hereford Saturday at 1 p.m.

The district matchups for today look like this: Plainview hosts Caprock; Tascosa travels to Lubbock High; and unbeaten Monterey (6-0) will host Coronado, who at 4-2, are tied with Hereford for third place.

USFL roundup

Outlaws look for upset

By The Associated Press
Yes, fans, those are the expansion Oklahoma Outlaws out there looking to challenge the unbeaten, defending champion Michigan Panthers in the United States Football League's Central Division.

The 4-2 Outlaws, who rebounded from a 49-7 shellacking by Arizona two weeks ago to pull out a 31-28 overtime victory over the Houston Gamblers last Saturday, will try to cut into Michigan's two-game lead when they play host to the Panthers Saturday at Houston's Skelly Stadium.

Michigan, meanwhile will be without star wide receiver Anthony Carter, who broke his left arm in last week's 26-10 victory over San Antonio, and will be out 6-to-8 weeks.

There will be three other USFL games Saturday. San Antonio will be at Chicago in another day game and Birmingham is at Jacksonville and Oakland at Tampa Bay in night contests.

On Sunday, Pittsburgh will be at New Orleans, Memphis at New Jersey and Philadelphia at Arizona.

The Monday night games pit Los Angeles at Denver and Washington at Houston.

Oklahoma's main weapon will be its Williams (Doug) to Williams (Alphonso) passing combination, which connected on a 48-yard desperation pass on the last play of regulation that combined with a two-point conversion to tie last week's game. Then they combined in overtime on a 53-yard fleaicker that set up Efen Herrera's winning 19-yard field goal.

"I felt we rebounded nicely from the week before," Oklahoma Coach Woody Widenhofer said. "That's important for a young team. I know it gets tougher as the season goes along, but we have to keep on doing the things that win football games."

Widenhofer's mainstays are a contrast typical of the USFL.

Doug Williams is a high-priced quarterback signed after playing out his option with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers of the National Football League. His namesake, Alphonso, was an 18th-round draft pick of the Denver Gold from Nevada-Reno whose rights were obtained

Semi-pro football tryouts Sunday

Final tryouts for Hereford's semi-pro football team will take place Sunday at 2 p.m. at the La Plata Junior High School practice football field.

Club spokesman for the planned "Hereford Warriors," Matt Morgan said "Anyone who has heard about (the hopeful team) and wants to tryout, can."

A running back, quarterback and offensive linemen are some of the positions available to players of the right caliber, according to Morgan.

He said a solid 15 to 20 men have "made" the team on paper but uniforms have yet to be ordered.

It would be nice to see something like this get off the ground.

"I'm looking for the good teams to start emerging at this point in the season," Long said, adding it is still too early to make predictions as to where certain teams will finish.

The Dean brothers, Dizzy and Paul, won all four games for the St. Louis Cardinals in the 1934 World Series against Detroit. Each won two games.

Indians run Rangers wild, 7-3

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Cleveland Indians' scouting report said to pick on new Texas Ranger catcher Ned Yost.

When the dust had cleared from the Indians flying spikes Thursday night, Cleveland had six stolen bases and a 7-3 victory over the Rangers.

It tied the most stolen bases against the Rangers in the franchise's 12-year history. Twice the Indians stole third base.

"It (the scouting report) said Yost was having trouble throwing out runners," said Cleveland Manager Pat Corrales.

Asked what Yost was doing wrong, Corrales said "My assessment is not for publication."

Three of the stolen bases led directly to Cleveland runs as starter Neal Heaton and reliever Dan Spillner combined on a four-hitter.

"It bothers me," said an unhappy Yost, who threw out only one Cleveland runner, Brett Butler. Television replays showed Butler was safe.

"I think the umpires were starting to feel sorry for them," said Butler.

Butler said Yost wasn't totally to blame.

"Yost is a decent catcher," said Butler. "We were stealing off the pitcher, not stealing off him. He has a good arm."

Butler and Otis Nixon each had two stolen bases.

AL baseball roundup

Cleveland swipes six bases in win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
 AP Sports Writer

American League catchers had better circle the wagons before the Cleveland Indians wind up circling the bases.

The Indians ran wild on new Texas catcher Ned Yost, swiping six bases Thursday night in a 7-3 victory over the Rangers. The six steals tied the record for the most ever against the Rangers — the Indians twice stole third — and three of them led directly to runs. Ironically, Yost was acquired from Milwaukee last December in a trade for catcher Jim Sundberg, a six-time Gold Glove winner for his fielding prowess.

"We're going to be a running team," said Cleveland Manager Pat Corrales. "I'd be disappointed if we didn't steal over 200 bases this year. We're going to try to do this all year."

Elsewhere in the American League, the Kansas City Royals shelled the New York Yankees 15-4, the Detroit Tigers trimmed the Minnesota Twins 7-3, the Toronto Blue Jays pounded the Seattle Mariners 13-5 and the Boston Red Sox downed the California Angels 7-4. Baltimore, Chicago, Milwaukee and Oakland were not scheduled.

Otis Nixon and Brett Butler stole two bases apiece for Cleveland and Tony Bernazard and Julio Franco each had one. Yost threw out only one would-be base-stealer, and a television replay showed Butler was safe on that one.

"I think the umpires were starting to feel sorry for them," Butler said.

Both sides, however, defended Yost.

"Yost is a decent catcher," said Butler. "We were stealing off the pitcher, not stealing off him. He has a good arm."

Texas starter Dave Stewart agreed that "it was my fault. Any time a runner steals a base, it's not off the catcher. You have to give him a chance."

The Indians took a 3-0 lead in the fourth inning on Ron Hassey's RBI single and a two-run single by George Vukovich. They made it 5-0 in the fifth inning on Franco's RBI single and Pat Tabler's sacrifice fly. Texas scored all its runs off winner Neal Heaton in the bottom of the fifth on Gary Ward's solo homer and a two-run blast by Yost.

Royals 15, Yankees 4

Frank White drove in four runs, Steve Balboni slugged a three-run homer and every Kansas City starter scored at least once. Larry Gura, whose 18 losses led the major leagues last year, had a perfect game through five innings but walked Ken Griffey leading off the sixth and one out later Tim Lincecum singled.

The Royals scored nine times in the second inning — Darryl Motley contributed a double and single, White had a two-run triple and Don Slaught a two-run double — and hammered Shane Rawley and Bob Shirley for seven runs apiece in rolling to a 14-0 lead after three innings. Balboni's homer in the fourth was his first since coming to Kansas City in a trade with the Yankees last December. The Yankees scored all their runs in the seventh, three on Rick Cerone's homer.

Tigers 7, Twins 3

Kirk Gibson hit a three-run homer and Alan Trammell homered, tripled and singled twice for Detroit. Dan Petry scattered five hits over seven innings for the Tigers, who rallied against Frank Viola after falling behind 2-0 in the second inning.

Trammell's homer made it 2-1 in the third and Gibson's homer put the Tigers ahead 4-2 in the fourth. Detroit added a run in the sixth on Chet Lemon's RBI double and scored twice in the seventh on Darrell Evans's RBI single and a bases-loaded balk by Larry Pashnick.

Viola said he didn't think Gibson's shot to straightaway center field would clear the fence. "To tell you the truth," he said, "when he hit it, I thought it was a pop-up. It was a good fastball, but it got too much of the plate, and he's so strong you can't give him anything."

"When you make contact, funny things can happen here (the Metrodome)," Gibson said. "In Tiger Stadium it would have been a routine fly ball."

Blue Jays 13, Mariners 5
 Lloyd Moseby drove in three runs and George Bell and Dave Collins collected three hits apiece in Toronto's 18-hit attack. The Blue Jays erupted for six runs in the second inning to chase Jim Beattie.

Garvey wants Padres to be winners in National League

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Sports Writer

Steve Garvey carries a big bat. But he's more interested these days in talking about little things he thinks can make the San Diego Padres a contender in the National League West.

The veteran of many a pennant race with the Los Angeles Dodgers drove in four runs Thursday, two on a third-inning home run, as the Padres ran their record to 2-0 by rallying from a 5-0 deficit to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-6.

But he talked afterward about a potential double play ball he hit in the sixth that turned into a mere forceout when newly acquired Graig Nettles slid hard into Pirates shortstop Dale Berra. That allowed Terry Kennedy's sacrifice fly to score the insurance run.

"Those are the kind of things that good teams do," Garvey said. "Atlanta has done that the last couple of seasons and that's what the Dodgers used to do when I was with them all those years."

Added Padres manager Dick Williams: "Nettles broke up a double play ball by Garvey, then we get the sacrifice fly for a cushion. This is a 25-man team and this is a team victory."

In the only other National League games Thursday, the Los Angeles Dodgers topped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 on Mike Marshall's three-run homer in the 12th and the Chicago Cubs beat the San Francisco Giants, 11-7.

Pittsburgh led 5-0 after 2 1/2 innings, with four of the runs coming on a grand slam by rookie Doug Frobel off Andy Hawkins in the top of the third.

Laker Jabaar all-time top scorer in NBA

By The Associated Press
It was a rather routine shot, something that he had done thousands of times.
But when Kareem Abdul-Jabbar sank a soft sky hook Thursday night, it put him where no National Basketball Association player has ever been before.

That shot with 8:53 left in Los Angeles' game with the Utah Jazz in Las Vegas, Nev., pushed the Lakers' great 7-foot-2 center past Wilt Chamberlain and into the record books as the league's all-time leading scorer with 31,421 points.

"I just faked the pass to whoever was out there, and I just shot it," Abdul-Jabbar said simply.
He went into the game needing 21 points to set the mark, and his teammates "started looking for me when I got within a basket," he said. "I could hear the crowd and everybody knew what was going on."

After scoring 16 points in the first half, he made one basket in the third quarter.
Going into the fourth quarter, with Los Angeles enjoying a large lead, Lakers Coach Pat Riley asked Abdul-Jabbar if he wanted to come out of the game and wait to set the record Friday night at home against Kansas City.
"I told him no, I'd rather get it done," the six-time NBA Most Valuable Player said.

Abdul-Jabbar tied Chamberlain's record with a dunk with 10:45 left and then, after missing a sky hook, the Lakers got the ball back and passed to Johnson, who waited for Abdul-Jabbar to get down the court. Johnson tossed the ball to Abdul-Jabbar on the right baseline, and with the crowd roaring, the center turned to his left and made the shot over two defenders.
"It was kind of hard not to have a sense of history about this," he said. "Everybody's been talking about the significance of this."
The referees stopped the game after his record-breaking shot and NBA Commissioner David Stern went to midcourt to join in brief ceremonies. Abdul-Jabbar, speaking on the public-address system, thanked his parents — who were in attendance — and the sellout crowd of 18,359.

Chamberlain, who had planned to be at the game, was not in attendance.
Abdul-Jabbar's shot gave him 22 points — he made 10 of 14 shots from the field and both free-throw attempts — and Riley then replaced him with Mitch Kupchak.
The Lakers shot 72 percent from the field in racing to a 77-69 halftime lead and coasted home. John Drew led Utah with 24 points.
In other games, Milwaukee topped Philadelphia 113-103, Golden State beat Denver 128-124, Cleveland downed Chicago 114-99 and Houston shaded Portland 129-114.
Bucks 113, 76ers 103
Forward Marques Johnson scored nine of his 18 points in the fourth quarter to help Milwaukee blunt a Philadelphia comeback.
The visiting 76ers scored the first seven points of the fourth quarter to pull within 88-87 before a free throw by Sidney Moncrief and a three-point play by Johnson boosted the Bucks' margin. Later, Milwaukee ran off a 9-2 streak to take a 101-91 lead.

Lanier added 18 for Milwaukee while Andrew Toney scored 29 and Moses Malone 28 for Philadelphia.
Cavaliers 114, Bulls 99
Lonnie Shelton scored 21 points and reserve Paul Thompson added 19 as host Cleveland sent Chicago to its ninth straight defeat, matching the longest losing streak in the NBA this season.
World B. Free scored 11 of his 13 points in the fourth quarter as the Cavaliers, who led 83-76 after three quarters, went on to build a 14-point margin.
Free, bothered by a swollen knee, became the 46th player in NBA history to score 14,000 points.

Quintin Dailey scored 23 for the Bulls, whose losing streak matches a nine-game skein by Washington in January.
Rockets 129, Trail Blazers 114
Ralph Sampson scored 27 points and Lewis Lloyd added 22 as visiting Houston ended Portland's eight-game winning streak.
Sampson scored seven points early in the fourth quarter during a 13-4 Houston streak that broke a 91-91 tie.
Jim Paxson scored 26 points for Portland.
Warriors 128, Nuggets 124
Mike Bratz, who averages 6.9 points per game, scored all of his 23 points in the fourth quarter as Golden State ended Denver's 13-game home-court winning streak.
Bratz hit seven of his eight shots from the field in the final period, including a pair of three-pointers, and also hit seven of eight tries from the foul line.

'Sky hook' does it

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Somehow, the sky hook seemed appropriate.

A shot he patented and used literally thousands of times throughout his pro career, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar turned to it again Thursday night to set a new all-time National Basketball Association scoring record, breaking Wilt Chamberlain's mark of 31,419 career points.
The Los Angeles Lakers great took a feed from Earvin "Magic" Johnson near the baseline, faked a pass, and turned to his left to hit a soft 10-footer over two Utah Jazz defenders with 8:53 left in the game. The Lakers won 129-115.

His teammates hugged him as a sellout crowd roared its approval and Abdul-Jabbar had another place in the record books.
"I've always enjoyed being a scorer, I can't deny that," Abdul-Jabbar said.

The 22 points gave him 31,421 for a career that has spanned 15 seasons, first with the Milwaukee Bucks, then with the Lakers. But Abdul-Jabbar says he would like to be remembered more as being a key part of a series of successful teams than as a great individual player.

"That's what the game is all about," he said. "You see exceptional players that couldn't take their teams anywhere. I've always enjoyed doing well as a team."

Felicia Redmon, a ninth grader at Stanton Junior High, jumped her way first place in the triple jump in a girls junior high track meet Thursday. The La Plata ninth

Supreme Court Justices criticized for free trip

Fort Worth lawyer Shelby Sharpe, who opposes Supreme Court Justice C.L. Ray in next month's Democratic primary, has criticized Ray and three other members of the court for allowing an attorney with a case pending before them to fly them to Houston two weeks ago. The Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported Thursday that the lawyer, Tom Davis of Austin, lost the case. But the newspaper said that Ray joined Justice Ted Robertson in a dissent that said Davis' client, Marr's Short Stop of Mineral Wells, should have won its fight with an insurance company. Robertson also made the March 21 flight, the newspaper said. Candidates for the U.S. Senate debated again Thursday night, with State Sen. Lloyd Doggett and U.S. Rep. Kent Hance trying to attack frontrunner Bob Krueger, a former congressman who gained valuable name identification in his close but unsuccessful race against John Tower in the 1968 Senate race. The three were joined by lesser-known candidates David Young and Harley Schlanger at a forum at the University of Houston sponsored by the Young Democrats organizations of Harris County. Doggett, of Austin, said he opposes a constitutional amendment to require a balanced federal budget, arguing that closer scrutiny of spending is the answer, while Krueger and Hance favor such an amendment. Doggett said it is irresponsible to promise a balanced budget without higher taxes, but Hance said a tax increase is unnecessary. Doggett and Krueger said they would favor passage of a gay rights bill, while Hance said he opposes the idea. Doggett said Krueger's attendance record in the House was very poor, and Hance noted he is the only candidate to have a major bill passed in Congress. But Krueger touted himself as the candidate capable of winning broad support. In Austin, Gov. Mark White emphasized Thursday that he won't take sides in the presidential race, despite having released one of his top aides to head up Walter Mondale's campaign in Texas.

Ann Landers

Similar experiences

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Not long ago you printed a letter from a fellow who signed himself "Decent and Lonely." He recounted his experiences while searching for a high-class, quality girl and discovered that such a girl did not exist. Every female he took out preferred some roughneck who was vulgar, uncouth and treated her like dirt. You said, "I don't believe it."

Well, Miss Alice in Wonderland, you'd better believe it because that's the way it is. My experience has been exactly the same as his and I am a heck of a lot older than 27. This sort of thing has been going on for a long time. Wake up.

Classy, refined women who are fairly good-looking can get married young—and they usually do. (When I say young, I mean in their 20s). All they have to do is wash their necks regularly, keep the hair out of their eyes and use good English. If they read Time magazine and the Wall Street Journal, they are considered "brilliant."

So much for females in their 20s. Those in their 30s are the subject of this letter. A perfect case in point is an attractive schoolteacher I met through a friend. She told me she was looking for an older, stable man who had high standards (to match hers) and was interested in something other than going to bed on the first date. We had a wonderful evening, and I was at a loss to understand why she had not been snapped up 10 years earlier.

After our second dinner she said it was wonderful to be treated like a lady and that I had re-established her faith in men.

One week later, when I asked her out, she told me she had decided to "try again" with her former love who had moved back to town. She promised to telephone me if "things didn't work out." Her former love turned out to be a rat of the first order who had beaten her up several times, bilked her out of thousands of dollars and absconded with her car. He has moved back into her flat and she is trying desperately to get his old boss to rehire him.

So, Miss Landers, please don't tell your readers that women appreciate being treated well. They don't. Many years ago Leo Durocher said, "Nice guys finish last," and that is still true.—Smarter Today Than I Was Yesterday In California many men wrote to recount similar experiences that I cannot dismiss the matter lightly.

I am sad for you fellows who want a decent woman and even sadder for the women who prefer to be abused.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend who is well-informed tells me Texas has a new law that says it is a crime to give someone herpes. In other words, a person could bring action against his or her partner. Is this true?—XYZ

DEAR XYZ: Texas now has such a law.

The possible penalty is a $1,000 fine and/or six months in prison. There are so many "ifs" and "ands" attached to this legislation that I strongly recommend a lawyer be consulted before any court action is considered.

BIBLE

MARRIAGE IS SECOND BEST

In all you do, I want you to be free from worry. An unmarried man can spend his time doing the Lord's work and thinking how to please Him.
But a married man can't do that so well; he has to think about his earthly responsibilities and how to please his wife.

His interests are divided. It is the same with a girl who marries. She faces the same problem. A girl who is not married is anxious to please the Lord in all she is and does. But a married woman must consider other things such as housekeeping and the likes and dislikes of her husband.

I am saying this to help you, not to try to keep you from marrying. I want you to do whatever will help you serve the Lord best, with as few other things as possible to distract your attention from Him.

But if anyone feels he ought to marry because he has trouble controlling his passions, it is all right, it is not a sin; let him marry.

But if a man has the willpower not to marry and decides that he doesn't need to and won't, he has made a wise decision.

So the person who marries does well, and the person who doesn't marry does even better.

The wife is part of her husband as long as he lives; if her husband dies, then she may marry again, but only if she marries a Christian.

But in my opinion she will be happier if she doesn't marry again; and I think I am giving you counsel from God's Spirit when I say this.

Slide presentation given concerning child abuse

In conjunction with Child Abuse Prevention Month, Sharon Pennington, Deaf Smith County deputy, showed a slide presentation and spoke to the Child Welfare Board Wednesday afternoon when the group met in the Commissioners Courtroom.

The presentation is a new program that the department is willing to show to any group upon request. Drug abuse slides are also available to the public.

Entitled, "Making Deaf Smith Count a Better Place to Live," the presentation deals with child abuse—the silent epidemic.

Pennington said almost two million children are abused in the United States each year and there were 6,379 confirmed sexually abused children in Texas in 1983.

She reported child abuse is the leading cause of children's deaths. "We all have an obligation to report suspected cases," she stressed.

At the end of the slide presentation a child expressed himself by saying, "Dear Lord, be good to me. The sea is so wide and my boat is so small."

Four dolls that are anatomically made were displayed by the speaker. They are currently being used by the Sheriff's Department when questioning children about sexual abuse.

Pennington said one out of four females has been sexually abused. "Sexual abuse to children in Hereford is greater than drugs and alcohol," she said.

During the meeting of the board with Beverly Jayroe presiding, Avis White and the Rev. Ron Cook reported on the progress of securing two films to be shown to young school age children and their parents.

A film for kindergarten through first or second grades entitled "Speak Up, Say No," was recently secured by the Child Welfare Board and shown to all the public school principals and administrators. It is a six minute filmstrip which teaches children how to avoid sexual abuse.

Presenting Program

A slide presentation and program concerning child abuse was given by Sharon Pennington, a deputy in the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's department, when members of the Child Welfare Board met Wednesday afternoon. Assisting Ms. Pennington with the film was Avis White.

The film is now shown in Amarillo by the Rape Crisis Center in an hour long program for children and their parents. It is the desire of the Child Welfare Board that the Hereford Independent School District purchase a film and St. Anthony's Parochial School purchase another film until both are shown to age groups they are designed to reach.

The film for older children is entitled "For Pete's Sake, No." The Child Welfare Board has no funds in its budget specified for education, but if the schools are not willing to purchase them, a solution will be found. The films are approximately $75 each.

The program is designed to inform children on what to do if they are ever in a situation where they feel powerless or afraid about an adult touching their body. The program also tells children how to avoid being a victim, through games and role playing.

Members attending included Ms. Jayroe, Ms. White, Cook, Bill Johnson and Lavon Nieman. Ex-officio members present were Earlene Cook, who gave the financial report; Wanda Spain, who read the minutes; and Kirk Merker, child case worker.

Board members not present were Carolyn Johnson and Laura Walker.

Gilliland reviews book by Bombeck

L. Afflatus Estudio Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Beatrice Hutson, with Lola Jewell as co-hostess. Eva Gilliland introduced Erma Bombeck's book, "Motherhood: The Second Oldest Profession."

While most of the book is done with Ms. Bombeck's particular style of humor, she does include chapters on motherhood which are seriously and sensitively done, noted Ms. Gilliland. Pet Ott, president, conducted the business meeting and the club collect was led by Lucile Hughes.

Plans were made for a trip to Tulla to visit the Kenneth Wyatt studio and art museum. Also discussed were plans for the spring luncheon in May.

Virginia Beasley and Wynelle Hutson were welcomed as guests and 12 members answered roll call with quips or quotations.

The hostesses served refreshments of cheesecake and coffee at the close of the meeting. Others in attendance were Madeline Bell, Opal Elliston, Tresa Hale, Alberta Higgins, Aileen Montgomery, Della Stagner and Emily Suggs.

One of the most precious rights inherent in our God-given heritage of freedom is the election of our officers whose job it will be to guide our destinies for another prescribed period of our history; taking into account our social and economic problems within as well as the turbulent world developments without. We must decide the entire direction in which we will move, and this requires a great deal of study, reflection and the willingness to listen impartially to both sides, to inform ourselves of the issues involved & to divest ourselves of all prejudice and preconceived ideas. Your attendance at the Church of your choice can be of great help at this crucial moment of decision; giving you the wisdom, patience and impartiality that are so essential for the task.
