Reagan sends missiles for gulf protection

Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) -President Reagan, employing his emergency powers, has sent 400 Stinger antiaircraft missiles and two KC-10 tanker planes to bolster Saudi Arabian defenses against attacks on Persian Gulf oil shipments, sources said today.

Two hundred launchers fitted with short-range Stingers and 200 replacement missiles arrived in Saudi Arabia Monday, a State Departament official said. This official and other sources confirmed the dispatch of the missiles on the condition they not be identified.

A formal announcement was expected later in the day. But one official said Reagan had used his emergency powers to send the missiles so that congressional approval wasn't needed.

The Saudis, who had requested the Stingers, will pay cash for them. It was also understood that the Saudis have given guarantees the missiles will be safeguarded and will not be transferred to anyone else.

American personnel will train the Saudis in the use of the missiles.

The Stingers have a range of three miles and could be used by the Saudis against low-flying attack planes. They already are armed with 62 U.S.-built F-15 jet fighters, but the missiles can swiftly hit back at raiding aircraft while the planes require time to scramble.

Saudis with small fuel tanks to reduce their range and, thus, their value for an attack on Israel, whose Capitol Hill supporters almost blocked the sale under the Jimmy Carter administration.

The KC-10s, flown by American pilots, also would be used to extend the range of four U.S.-crewed AWACS radar planes that can monitor much of the Gulf while following orders to stay 50 miles within Saudi borders. The two KC-10s would supplement three KC-135 airborne tankers that refuel the AWACS.

A Pentagon official said over the weekend that the Saudis plan to set up an "air cap" in Gulf waters to protect shipping.

The Defense Department's chief Middle East expert, Maj. Gen. Edward Tixier, was in Riyadh, the Saudi capital, discussing the deployment of the U.S. planes. One option is to have American pilots fly the tankers, ensuring that the United States has a tight rein on the operation. Another is to put the tankers under temporary control of the Saudis.

Doggett admits donation

EL PASO, Texas (AP) Democratic U.S. Senate candidate Lloyd Doggett has confirmed he got a $5,000 campaign contribution from a political action committee with which U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy is associated.

But the state senator said Monday that the money is not an endorsement.

"I'm glad to have the money," Doggett told a news conference in El Paso. "But I don't believe any formal endorsement, as such, has been requested or provided."

With less than a week to go before Saturday's runoff election, the race for the Democratic nomination for retiring Republican John Tower's Senate seat heated up Monday as Doggett and his opponent, U.S. Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock, made campaign swings through the state. Doggett predicted Monday the final days of the contest would be "as hot as the Texas weather."

Hance that he has succumbed to mud-slinging tactics in a series of television commercials that attack Hance's voting record in Congress.

"I understand he's (Hance) been crying all over the state about those commercials," Doggett said. "He can run all the way to El Paso but he cannot hide that record."

In the controversial commercials, Doggett says Hance is not being truthful when he says he supports Social Security because he has voted three times for budget cuts in the program.

to defend the commercials and to attack Hance's congressional voting record, saying Hance also has voted for education program budget cuts to pay for tax breaks for "selfish interests."

Doggett said he believes that no Social Security cuts But he denied charges from should be made and that education needs to be improved. Yet he also said he does not favor raising taxes "one penny" for low-income Americans. He also contended that his campaign is based on "issues important to the people," while Hance has opted to focus his attention on only one issue - amnesty for illegal aliens.

"He is making a singleissue campaign out of something he never did a thing about in Congress," Doggett said. "Kent may have been able to fool 31.2 percent of Texas Democratic voters one time, in the primary, but I don't think he can fool 51 percent (of the voters) in the runoff."

Hance and Doggett were the two top vote getters for Tower's Senate seat in the May 5 Democratic primary. The two will face each other in Saturday's runoff and the victor will take on Republican nominee Phil

June 2 primary runoff elections ends today at 5 p.m. A total of 438 ballots had been used this morning-433 in the Democratic primary and 5 in the Republican primary.

The Demo ballot includes runoff races for U.S. Senate, U.S. Representative, two places on the Court of Criminal appeals, county sheriff, and county commission in Precincts 1 and 3. The GOP ballot has only one race--U.S. Representative.

The hotly-contested sheriff's race, along with the commissioner races, may assure another large voter turnout in the Demo's second primary. The races for U.S. Senate and U.S. RepresenFor runoff election scheduled first Saturday in June Registration has begun for those area handicapped children wishing to participate in a summer recreational music class.

Classes are to meet Mondays and Wednesdays at 3 p.m. in the Hereford High School band room.

According to instructor Judy Summersgill, the program is to combine singing, moving and playing instruments in a variety of musical experiences. Rhythm and signing games, simple folk dancing, instrumental ensembles (with a piano, guitar, Orff and rhythm instruments) improvisation and informal singing are to be employed.

"The class is primarily designed for children with mental retardation," Summersgill commented in a press release, "but those with accompanyiung difficulties are also welcome."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, accused by the Soviets of trying to play politics with the Olympics, is Hying to Colorado to visit the U.S. Olym and give a pep talk to American athletes hoping to compete in the Los Angeles Games.

The president planned to make a brief visit to the 34-acre training facility in Colorado Springs today before addressing a gathering of Reagan-Bush campaign supporters. On Wednesday, Reagan will deliver the commencement address at the U.S. Air Force Academy.

The training center, sponsored by the U.S. Olympic Committee, is used year-round by more than 12,000 athletes. It offers potential Olympians exposure to the most modern concepts in athletic training, as well as a sophisticated sports medicine evaluation.

Flash flooding triggered

Driving rains stalked the Atlantic Coast today as the storm system that caused 12 deaths in Oklahoma over the weekend slammed into North Carolina, triggering flash flooding that drowned a teen-age girl and forced about 100 people from their homes.

Violent thunderstorms that moved in Monday spawned one tornado and dumped up to 6 inches of rain in a matter of hours in western North Carolina, the National Weather Service said.

In Tulsa, Okla., where floodwaters Sunday swirled 6 feet deep, National Guard troops stood watch today over abandoned homes. State and federal officials planned to meet later in the day to assess damage already estimated at $150 million.

Unknown veteran buried at Arlington

WASHINGTON (AP) - An unidentified American who fell in the Vietnam War now lies buried among the unknown dead of three other wars, eulogized by President Reagan as the symbol of a conflict that ended with "no parades, no flags and so little thanks."

12. Deal 20. 1X 752

The divisiveness of that war and the bitterness it engendered was much in evidence Monday as the Unknown Serviceman of Vietnam was placed in the Tomb of the Unknowns at Arlington National Cemetery.

The somber military ceremony, held under threatening and sometimes rainy skies, capped a day full of martial pageantry that included a 21-gun salute, a volley of rifle fire, and the mournful strains of "Taps."

"A grateful nation opens her heart today in gratitude for their sacrifice, their courage and their noble service," Reagan said of the 2.5 million men who fought in the nation's longest war. "Let us, if we must, debate the lessons

Reagan awarded the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military decoration, to the unidentified man before the silver coffin was laid to rest under a marble slab between the unknown servicemen of World War II and the Korean War and at the foot of the unknown soldier of World War I.

"Today we pause, to embrace him and all who served us so well in a war whose end offered no parades, no flags, and so little thanks," Reagan said. "We can be worthy of the values and ideals for which our sons sacrificed, worthy of their courage in the face of a fear that few of us will ever experience by honoring their commitment and devotion to duty and country."

Classes of '30,'31 gather for reunion

Hereford High School classes of 1930 and 1931 was held Friday night at Caison's Restaurant.

Aileen Montgomery gave the invocation and Alberta Higgins, vice-president of the class of '31, presided at the short business meeting.

Letters from several who were unable to attend were read and it was announced that Lloyd Bowsher is seriously ill in an Amarillo hospital. The group signed a card for him.

There were also messages from Miss Irene Crawford, former English and speech teacher who now resides in Amarillo, and G.M. Hudson, former high school principal who lives in Rosenberg, Texas.

Plans were discussed for next year's reunion, at which time the class of '30 will be celebrating its 55th anniversary. The class of '31 agreed to assist with the reunion and an all-out effort will be made

There is still a need for men, and particularly women, to join Hereford's mixed soccer team. The team presently has 12-14 adults who have made a commitment to play, according to coaches Judy Schumacher and Emilio Rodriguez.

The team will play against squads from Amarillo beginning June 8. All interested males and females, 16 and over, are encouraged by the coaches to attend practice Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the field located at 15th Street and Avenue I.

Twenty dollars, a personal photo and a willingness to compete are required to be part of the team. The team will field six females and five males during games, which consist of two 45-minute halves.

It is hoped that a few more people will take interest in the local soccer team, enough as to allow adequate substitutions throughout the games.

Though not extremely popular here in the United States, soccer is by far the most popular team sport in the world. It is a personal favorite of mine because of its fast action.

Unlike football, baseball and basketball, soccer does not allow timeouts (aside from injuries, penalties and out-of-bounds plays).

It takes about 90 minutes to play 90 minutes of soccer, whereas, it takes three hours to play 60 minutes of football.

Soccer should really be called football since the foot is used for most of the scoring of goals. In Europe, the game is called football. But what would we call American football? Collision ball? I think it would be more appropriate.

Schumacher and Rodriguez will decide Wednesday whether or not Hereford will field a team. If a few more people will take interest in this exciting sport and show up for Wednesday's practice, the team will be named and Hereford will compete.

The sport is an excellent physical activity. Aside from an occasional kick in the shins, the sport is injury free. Participants often run three to five miles during the process of a

Olympic delegation to visit Soviet Union

By The Associated Press

With the deadline for Olympic entries only five days away, a top-level Olympic delegation prepared to travel to Moscow Wednesday to present new proposals aimed at bringing the Soviet Union and its allies to the Los Angeles Games.

The delegation will deliver a letter to Soviet President Konstantin U. Chernenko containing "proposals, suggestions and comments" in a plea for a reversal of the Soviet boycott decision, International Olympic Committee director Monique Berlioux said Monday.

Berlioux, at the IOC headquarters in Lausanne, Switerland, said there was no assurance the delegation would actually meet with the Soviet president. Neither was there any indication that the Soviets were prepared to consider any new proposals.

Marat Gramov, Soviet Olympics Committee chairman, already has declared the boycott final and "irrevocable."

Peter V. Ueberroth, president of the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee, welcomed the trip to Moscow as "an act of courage," but he declined to discuss the substance of the new pro-

Ueberroth, in Lausanne for an executive board meeting, indicated he would have been happy to accompany the group, but was not invited.

Nicklaus apologizes to Bean

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) -Jack Nicklaus was embarrassed by what was happening and he apologized to Andy Nicklaus was, after all, the host. He was also the local hero to the crowd for which he apologized.

When Bean missed a short putt on the 18th hole — a miss that was to cost him a victory in the Memorial golf tournament Sunday - the crowd of 40,000 surrounding the hole at Muirfield Village roared in delight.

Bean's miss forced a sudden-death playoff with Nicklaus, founder of the course and the tournament.

At 15, the first playoff hole, Bean's approach plunked in a bunker. Another ovation from the crowd.

On the next hole, Nicklaus apologized to Bean for the gallery's behavior.

"I said to Andy, 'I'm from here, you know. I don't think people are being malicious.

Nicklaus quoted Bean as replying, "I understand totaly. No problem. The people here have been great."

Still, the golf purists grumbled it was no way for what is supposed to be a high-class gallery to act.

"It's bush league," said one non-Ohio sports writer.

It brought back the memories when Nicklaus himself was the heavy in his early career duels with Arnold Palmer, then the king of the golf hill.

'The shoe's on the other foot," said Nicklaus after defeating Bean in a threehole playoff for his second title in his own Memorial Tournament. "It might make you play harder. I think it does most people."

The New York Mets have tried more than 70 players at third base since Don Zimmer played the position in the team's first game in 1962.

Now and then, they still have problems there.

Ron Gardenhire, making his first appearance at the hot corner this season, found Kevin McReynolds' basesloaded grounder too hot to handle in the eighth inning Monday, resulting in two runs that carried the San Diego Padres to a 5-4 victory over the Mets.

BOSTON (AP) - Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley says he fears Boston's Larry Bird and Kevin McHale more than any other Celtics.

Celtic players

'We could do a better job denying Bird the ball and we also have to contain McHale," Riley said at a news conference Monday. "He had no problem shooting over any of our forwards and he was superb on the offensive boards.'

Game 1 of the best-of-seven National Basketball Association Championship Series 115-109 Sunday. Bird hit only seven of 17 shots from the field, but still had 24 points. Bird and McHale also had four offensive rebounds apiece to help the Celtics finish with 21 offensive rebounds to 12 for Los Angeles.

"I expect Game 2 Thursday to be an all-out war," Riley said.

The Lakers coach said he believes his team has a good chance to become the first team in NBA history to win the first two games of the Championship Series on the road. In 1969, the Lakers lost

Judge to review case of mother

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - A state district judge is scheduled to review today the case of an unwed mother who wants back the child she gave up for adoption.

Ellen Breeding, 20, of Shreveport, La., signed papers Jan. 27 relinquishing custody of her baby girl, who was born Jan. 20 in the Edna Gladney Home in Fort Worth. But now she says she wants the child back. Two weeks ago she went to court, but State District postponed a decision until Tarrant County Family Court bara Landry of New York. Services prepared a study on Miss Breeding's ability to care for a child.

The judge could decide to award custody of the 4-month-old girl to Miss Breeding. The baby has been in a foster home because the father has not signed adoption papers. Miss Breeding is the second unwed woman to battle the Edna Gladney Home over an adoption, claiming counselors didn't give her Judge Frank Sullivan any other choice. Last month, a judge ruled against Bar-

Miss Breeding said she never wanted to have her baby adopted, but that she had no money and would have had no place to stay if she'd

"My parents had decided I would sign the papers," she told The Dallas Morning News. "They said I couldn't live at home and they wouldn't help me raise an illegitimate child. Then the Gladney home kept telling us there was no way to raise a baby alone. I started believ-

"It was only after I returned home that I realized I could do it," she said. "A lot of people my age have to struggle, but they make it and I will too."

Miss Breeding is working for a house-cleaning service and living with an Arlington couple, Steve and Dee Klenka, and their two

HISTORICA

She reported that 6,500 peo- are values at about $500 each ple toured the museum in 1983 and at least half of these were from out of town. She said many of the out-of-town guests, who tour many museums as they travel, commended the people here "for the warmth and intimacy that our museum exemplifies." Many also noted how well it is kept. Mrs. Gililland commended Sylvia Castillo for keeping the museum and Black House in such clean, fine order, as well as being an excellent guide.

Mrs. Gililland said that the Black House continues to be a popular place in Hereford. There were 38 bridal showers held there in 1983, eight weddings (4 in the gazebo), 15 different clubs met there (3 tine; and Auditors-Helen from out of town), and Rose and Wilhemina several birthday and anniversary parties: A report was given by Ruth McBride, vice-president in charge of displays. She reported that the barn that is now under construction "is one we will all be proud of and it will be very special." Inside the barn several antiques will be spotlighted. Some include the ice wagon, chuck wagon, thrasher and a display involving the late Major Schroeter's surveying equipment. Mrs. McBride reported the barn should be completed by Aug. 1. "People like Bill Hacker whop helped us so long faithful are missed, and we need other volunteers to help with repairing some of the displays," she said.

Mrs. Sears presented a report from the nomination committee. She made the motion that the board of directors be increased from 15 to 25 members in 1985. The motion was approved.

Mary Kay McQuigg and Ella Marie Veigel were elected as new members on the board and Lavon Nieman, Meredith Wilcox and Wilhemina Wimberly were re-elected. Later, during the board meeting, Mrs. Turrentine was re-elected president; Mrs. McBride, vicepresident; Mrs. Gililland, treasurer; and Mrs. Nieman was elected as the new secretary. Andrew Kershen, who is a member of the historical commission committee, asked for any input or suggestions the group might have on the four historical markers which were destroyed or stolen in Deaf Smith County last year. "These markers

Alcohol cleans vinyl

DEAR POLLY — I have a vinyl lounge chair and the back and sides have a sticky feeling. I have used a mild detergent and even tried a furniture cleaner, but the sticky feeling remains. What can be done? — MRS. M.D.

DEAR MRS. M.D. — Wiping the chair with alcohol may be helpful (this should be quite safe; however, test first on a hidden place to make sure the alcohol does not damage the finish or texture). If the plastic is still sticky, try rubbing it with a little cornstarch and a soft cloth. Rub well, then vacuum the chair thoroughly or wash it with mild detergent again to remove all powder. — POLLY

Elderly often feel unwanted

DEAR ANN LANDERS: 1 am 86 years old, so please overlook the penmanship. I realize it is difficult to read. My hand is not as steady as it once was.

More and more I see letters in your column from people who are burdened by elderly parents. They complain about how confining it is, the time and energy it takes to care for them, and the cost of medication.

"Older people become cranky," one writer said. Another pointed out, "These old folks are never going to get better. In fact, we must accept the fact that they are going to get worse."

A while back I read that the governor of Colorado thought it was the "duty" of old people to leave this earth when they could no longer be useful.

Since I and others like me didn't have the decency to die when we should have, what do you suggest, Ann Landers, an overdose of sleeping pills?--Over 80 In Aspen, Colo.

DEAR ASPEN: It is sad that so many elderly folks have been made to feel unwanted. I don't know how to put compassion and love into the hearts of people if it isn't there. All I can do is plead for kindness and understanding.

The words of Richard Lamm, the governor of Colorado, were taken out of conto impart was that people should be allowed to die with dignity when they are terminally ill, brain-dead and must depend on a machine to keep them going. I cannot imagine anyone choosing to live like that. In fact, more and more people are signing "living wills" to make sure they won't have to. I agree with Gov. Lamm. Wholeheartedly.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You missed the boat when you replied to the woman with unclean in-laws. It is obvious that you've never know anyone who is terminally filthy.

I've been married to this problem for 15 years and I can tell you that your solution won't work. To bring your own soap and scouring powder and attempt to clean up a relative's pigsty would only cause hard feelings.

First, forget the kitchen. Clean the bathroom for your own use. I'm positive there are cleaning supplies around. They just don't use them. Then rent a camper when you come for your annual visit, and camp in the back yard or at a nearby campground. Breakfast "at home" is no problem and eating out of your own ice box on paper and plastic from the grill is an excellent "out." The kids will think it's the adventure of a lifetime. At night you can sleep in your own clean bed.

When we went to visit our none-too-clean relatives we purchased a used camper and car. It worked out great .- The Perfect Solution In Kentucky

DEAR PERFECT: I received many complaints about my suggestion that the daughter-in-law bring cleaning equipment and disinfectant and clean up her motherin-law's filthy home. The vast majority of readers said she'd resent it.

They reminded me of the advice I had given several years ago to a woman whose daughter-in-law was a slob. I said, "Ignore it. You won't change her and she'll bristle at the criticism. If her husband doesn't mind living in the squalor, hold your nose and keep your mouth shut." I should have stayed with that
