Indoor rodeo arena plans unveiled today

By SPEEDY NIEMAN Publisher-Editor

Plans for Cowboy Country Club, an indoor rodeo arena and multi-purpose facility, were unveiled this morning when groundbreaking ceremonies were held at the location west of Hereford.

With foundation work already underway, completion date for the 55,000-square-feet building is September. Owners are Kim and Melanie Gripp.

The maroon-coated Hereford Hustlers conducted a National Finals Champion a ribbon-cutting ceremony for the groundbreaking, and Mayor Wes Fisher was on hand to extend "best wishes" from the City of Hereford. Officials of Plains Builders of Amarillo, building contractors, were also present.

The location of the facility is 6 miles west of Hereford and 2.5 miles north on FM-1057.

Larry Cohorn, promotions manager, is supervising the construction and served as a spokesman at the groundbreaking this morning. He said the grand opening is scheduled for Nov. 17-18 with

A feature of the grand opening will be a match roping contest between two former All-Around National Cowboys--Roy Cooper of Durant, Ok., and Chris Lybbert of Argyle, Tx. Cooper is a six-time world champion calf roper, while Lybbert was roper twice. Cohorn said the Cowboy Country Club also plans to bring in a top western music star for a Saturday night dance in conjunction with the grand opening. Some of the plans are not finalized for coming events, but a PRCA Rodeo is tentatively scheduled for April of 1985.

The indoor facility, which will measure 168 feet by 325, will be used for other events such as barrel racing and cutting horse contests, horse shows and dances. There is a possibility the facility will be leased to other organizations for special events, said

Cohorn. 'We hope, and believe, the facility will be an asset to Hereford and Deaf Smith County," said Cohorn. "We are working on some events which would bring national publicity to the county," he

The facility will have a dirt floor, because of its primary usage, but a portable floor will be used for dances and other events. A lounge, with glass windows overlooking the areana, will be located overhead on the north end of the metal structure.

Cohorn said specific seating capacities were not known at this time. "It will depend on how much space is taken up by the concession area and, of course, the type event being held."

Asked what prompted the owners to build the facility, Cohorn said the Gripps' interest in rodeos, roping and horses "had to be a strong factor." He pointed out that Kim Gripp was a two-time qualifier for the National Rodeo Finals. Cohorn said he believed the facility would be the largest of its type within at least a 10-mile radius. "Our goal is to promote the Club in a wide area and to draw events of national interest," he said.

Firemen answer four alarms

Hereford Volunteer Firemen answered four fire calls Thursday, three of them for grass blazes.

A 1:37 p.m. call was to North Avenue K, where a trash and grass fire was extinguished. The second and third calls came at 4:05 and 5:33 p.m., with blazes fought three miles and nine miles west of Hereford on Highway 60.

The final fire call was at 6:17 p.m., when volunteers made a run to Swift Independent Packing Company for a roof fire in the rendering section of the plant. Cause of the incineration was unknown.

Police, meanwhile, made three arrests n investigated one incident apiece of auto burglary, bike their, theft of a check and vandalism.

A truck's spare tire and rim, worth around $330, were stolen in Big Daddy's parking lot, East Highway 60, Thursday evening at about 8:00. Victim of the theft is V.C. Howard Trucks of Litchfield, Neb.

MONTICELLO, Texas (AP) - The 60 residents of this East Texas community may have to leave their homes if officials of coal-fired electric plant do not solve pollution problems, the town's mayor says.

City officials say the pollution is caused from smokestacks and from blowing ash from waste disposal sites at the plant, which is owned by Texas Utilities Generating Co.

Company officials, however, say the plant is in compliance with state standards and is not a health hazard.

Residents have complained of sore eyes and respiratory problems. Many have moved away, while others are encouraging the utility to buy their properties so they can afford to leave.

"What are we going to do, all sit here and die?" asked Mayor Harold Smith, 61. "They (Texas Utilities) should clear out a three-or four-mile radius around the plant.

Summit starts amid political worries

By SALLY JACOBSEN AP Economics Writer

LONDON (AP) - President Reagan and leaders of six other major industrialized nations sat down for talks today at an economic summit immediately overshadowed by political concerns, including terrorism, arms control and the deep chill in East-West relations.

Motorcades brought presidents, prime ministers, foreign ministers and finance ministers to Lancaster House, a 19th century mansion in the heart of London, statement on troublesome democratic alliance, according to U.S. and other officials who briefed reporters late Thursday. British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, host of the 10th annual gathering, has made it clear she would like a strong political statement to emerge from the summit in addition to an economic communique.

Sources from the British delegation said officials had been instructed Thursday to work into the night to prepare a statement which would be presented today to leaders of the United States, Britain, Canada, Japan, West Germany, France and Italy.

If there was agreement on a draft text, it would probably be published Saturday when the summit ends.

A U.S. official, speaking anonymously, said five possible topics could be included: arms control, the situation in the Persian Gulf, East-West relations, international terrorism, and relations between rich and poor nations.

Mrs. Thatcher was said to be seeking a tough stand on controlling state-sponsored terrorism. French officials, however, made it clear they would oppose any statement on terrorism that would "make international law."

But Michel Vauzelle, a spokesman for Prime Minister Francois Mitterrand, said France would not object to a statement reiterating democratic values.

Some officials here attributed interest in a political statement partly to the emotional ceremonies many of the leaders attended in France on Wednesday, the 40th anniversary of the D-Day landings in Norman-

June 6, 1944, marked the beginning of the end of the Nazi Reich.

"From time to time, it's worth reminding ourselves about the kind of society you live in," said a British official, who also spoke on condition he not be identified.

Canadian sources said Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau had offered his own version of a political statement on East-West relations. Trudeau has been waging a personal East-West peace initiative since October.

There also appeared to be interest, at least on the part of President Reagan, in having the allies renew their commitment to cooperate with each other if the Iran-Iraq war disrupts oil sup-

Reagan told reporters: "We recognize that we can act better together if faced with such a crisis. I think we would all probably mutually share (oil). Other nations have reserves also."

Other foreign officials noted, however, that the industrialized nations have worked out a detailed arrangement for energy sharing through the International Energy Agency.

A British source, also asking anonymity, said there was a general feeling among foreign ministers meeting Thursday evening that, "Western governments and the international oil market had the capacity and willingness to handle foreseeable problems."

Associated Press Writer HOUSTON (AP) - Continental Airlines, which entered bankruptcy proceedings and drastically cut its flight schedule and salaries last September, will show a profit this quarter, the company's chairman says.

Frank Lorenzo told the carrier's annual shareholders meeting Thursday that Continental will show a net profit in the second quarter of 1984, the first such results since the third quarter of 1982.

The $4.9 million profit in the 1982 period involved about $5.2 million in several special items, such as the sale of airport gate leases, reevaluation of foreign debt, income tax credits and other unusual factors, spokesman

Lakers complain of foul play

BOSTON (AP) - The Los Angeles Lakers, feeling they were mugged on their home court, expect no less from the Celtics with the National Basketball Association Championship Series back in Boston.

"Maybe that is their type of game," said Laker center Swen Nater. "I'm sure we'll see more of that in Boston. There's no doubt it will be a war," when the deadlocked series resumes tonight with Game 5.

Wednesday night in the Forum, the Celtics found the winning tactics - hit their shots; the offensive boards and the Lakers - to cool Los Angeles' blazing fastbreak, and gain a 129-125 overtime victory. Both Boston victories in the best-of-seven series have been in overtime. "Some of the fouls were a little brutal, but that was the way we had to play," said Boston forward Cedric Maxwell. "We had lounged around in the sun (in Los

After being out-rebounded 63-44 Sunday in a 137-104 rout that gave the Lakers a 2-1 advantage, and prompted Bird to call his team sissies, Boston enjoyed a 52-46 edge in that category Wednesday

Their 27-12 bulge in offensive rebounds was even more pronounced and helped the Celtics take 26 more fieldgoal attempts than the Lakers.

Perhaps the most important offensive rebound of the game was by Robert Parish, the center who had been criticized for his subpar play in the championship series.

Trailing 113-108 in the final minute, he followed up Dennis Johnson's miss and missed himself. But he fought off a bound, score and draw the foul.

His three-point play cut the lead to 113-111 with 39 seconds left in the fourth quarter and set the stage for Bird's gametying free throws with 16 seconds remaining. "That was a great play," Maxwell said of Parish's tenacity. "With all the negative stuff going on around him, that just shows you the kind of player he is."

Today's temperature here was expected to climb into the 90s.

"He's hit two or three home runs, but nothing like that one. I wouldn't want to go pay cabfare to go get that one,' DeSoto coach Benny Jones said.

Pogue played five innings before retiring, but Jones said he expected Pogue to be ready to play today.

"I felt good about winning but that was hard work," said Manager Tony LaRussa, whose White Sox outlasted the California Angels 11-10 at Comiskey Park on Thursday

"We'll take 'em whatever way we can get 'em," said Harold Baines, whose two three-run homers helped bring the Whi .ox back from a seven-run deficit to a four-run lead - a lead they nearly lost.

Fred Lynn smacked two homers for California, the second bringing the Angels back to within one run in the eighth inning.

We swung the bats pretty well but so did they and they had their big shots with men on base," said Lynn. His second clout was the last of six homers on a night when eight pitchers surrendered 25 hits.

The White Sox used five pitchers, three in the eighth. Ron Reed left with two outs and runners on first and third and the score 11-7. LaRussa summoned Juan Agosto, who promptly gave up a three-run homer to Lynn. Al Jones was quick to follow and he got the final four outs for his fourth save of the season

Sample led off the game with his second homer of the year to give the Rangers a 1-0

Tigers 5, Blue Jays 3

In Detroit, Ruppert Jones, recalled only two days earlier from the minor leagues, keyed a four-run Detroit sixth inning with a three-run homer and Jack Morris pitched a seven-hitter as Tigers gained a split of their fourgame series with Toronto.

Morris, who walked one and struck out four, improved his major league-leading record to 11-2. It was Morris' eighth complete game, tying him with Boston's Bruce Hurst for the league lead.

Lance Parrish started the Detroit sixth with a single, Darrell Evans walked, and both rode home when Jones hit a 1-0 pitch from Jim Clancy into the upper deck in right field. Howard Johnson singled, stole second and scored on a single by Lou Whitaker, chasing Clancy, 4-6.

The victory improved Detroit's record to 40-13, best in the majors, and enabled the Tigers to move 41/2-games ahead of Toronto in the AL East.

Brewers 6, Red Sox 3 The Brewers unleashed a 19-hit attack and emergency starter Bob McClure allowed only one unearned run and five hits in six innings in Milwaukee Robin Yount, Cecil Cooper, Ben Oglivie and Ted Simmons had three hits apiece for the Brewers, who were swept by Boston in a threegame series in Milwaukee last weekend.

Royals 9. Mariners 8

In Kansas City, Frank White clubbed a three-run homer in the seventh inning and the Royals rallied from a seven-run deficit, scoring five in the fifth and four in the seventh Willie Wilson led off the seventh with a triple ad scored on a groundout.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is in regard to the letter from "Arizona Dad," who didn't know to keep his 11-year-old daughter from sleeping in his bed. Her mother had died three years before.

I am a backup supervisor with a statewide Substance Abuse Hotline. Although you did give him some good feedback, please remember the girl's mother died and she probably felt abandoned. The man doesn't sound as though he has trouble controlling his impulses, a predominant factor among abusive parents.

My concern is for one of the daughter's friends, the "nymphet" who "behaves as if she has had some sexual experience.

Summer tips on driving

A reminder about summertime driving habits has been released by the Region 5 office of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

'We want the summer of 1984 to be the safest yet for the Texas motoring public," said Regional Commander Major Vernon Cawthon. He noted that summer brings out the best and worst driving habits of Texans because alcohol consumption will be on the increase during the summer months.

"Traffic increases on summer days and with added tourism, our highways can become more dangerous if alcohol is consumed," Cawthon stated.

Cawthon emphasized that vehicles need to be checked before the family leaves on vacation, especially the cooling system, tires and belts.

Obesity creeping up

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm a 64-year-old woman and have been thin all my life until 10 years ago. Since then I've gradually gained 25 pounds. Since my children are gone and my husband passed away I eat in restaurants a good deal. I can't seem to eat without sipping a cup of coffee or drinking a glass of wine with my meals. I seldom drink water, but I drink a lot of decaffeinated coffee. Many people ask for coffee after their meal, but I always want it with the food. Is that good or bad? Does my habit contribute to my weight

I'd like to lose about 20 pounds so my clothes will fit better. I'm 5 feet 7 inches tall and weigh 164 pounds.

DEAR READER You're a victim of creeping obesity. You've actually only gained 2-and-a-half pounds a year, or 3.3 ounces a month. You might think that's inconsequential, but as your story establishes, in time that can represent a major weight gain. Even gaining less than I ounce a week can and will produce the effects you've experienced. I presume you don't want to spend the next 10 years losing the weight you gained in the last 10 years. But you can lose the extra body fat gradually without too much effort if you are consistent. The decaffeinated coffee won't contribute any signficant number of calories to your diet if you don't add sugar, milk or cream. But the wine will. It depends on the type of wine you drink, but 3.5 ounces of table wine contains about 87 calories. If day you could ingest the number of calories needed to add 9 pounds of fat to vour body in a single year. It doesn't matter whether you drink something containing calories before, with or after the meal. The total calories ingested is what counts.

Decrease your calorie intake by eliminating sweets, alcohol and fats. You can follow the program outlined in the Health Letter 4-7. Weight Losing Diet, which I'm sending you to speed up your program. Others who want this isue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Also try to increase your physical activity. Just adding a short walk to your daily activity would do a lot to help you gradually lose those excess pounds.

DEAR READERS: The most important function of my column is to provide you with up-to-date and correct medical and health information. I regret to say that one of my recent columns was altered in such a way as to provide misinformation. Of course, neither the syndicate editors nor I would want this to happen. For that reason I am asking the newspapers to publish this correction concerning the use of Inderal, a popular medicine used to treat high blood pressure and anginal heart pain and control heart irregularities. My original column concerned a young woman who had anxiety symptoms and heart irregularities. I advised her that the Inderal that was prescribed by her physician would help her anxiety symptoms and her irregular heartbeat and further suggested that she eliminate coffee, tea and cigarettes and do some regular exercise.

Since I provide a copy of my column to the reader who writes me, she did receive the correct advice. However, when my column was edited and sent to newspapers it had been altered without my knowledge to read that Inderal promotes anxious feelings and heart irregularities, which is wrong. Inderal helps to relieve thse conditions. And, as I have stated in previous columns, it is a very valuable medicine in treating such cases

Garbage can saves food

DEAR READERS - Today we've got Pointers for pickup drivers, messy cooks, seamstresses and everyone who's look ing for an easier way to do things! - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - We have a pickup truck. During bad weather, it was always a hassle to have to try to stuff several bags of groceries into the front seat. So I got a new garbage can with a tight lid and put it in the back of the truck. I can put the groceries into the can and they stay nice and dry during the trip home. For extra protection, you can slip a garbage bag over the whole thing. - MRS. E.L. DEAR POLLY - When your favorite casserole or pie has dripped into the oven, sprinkle the spot with salt immediate-When the oven cools, scrape the spill up with a spatula Save work. - ESTHER easier from the wrong side. Turn the material over and pin the pattern to it, being careful to reverse the pattern pieces when necessary. - JANICE DEAR POLLY - Use old wool for padding the inside of

DEAR POLLY - Velvet material may be cut out much pot holders. Wool is a nonconductor of heat. Keep a single-edged razor blade to use for ripping seams in an empty matchbook. Tuck the blade down behind the match stubs, close the flap and hold it shut with a rubber band. This will keep it safely in your sewing basket - SUE DEAR POLLY - When adhesive on envelope flaps doesn't stick, try a quick application of nail polish. It dries quickly leaves no smudges and can't be steamed open

DEAR POLLY - Our daughter used to come home with wet feet inside her boots and her mittens wet inside. Now, when I put them on her. I just tape the mittens and boots closed with masking tape. Her hands and feet stay dry inside, too. - HEIDY

DEAR POLLY - I dye old slips and camisoles to go with my sheer dresses. This way I can get colors I can't locate in the ready-made slips .- GERT

DEAR POLLY - When hanging up a washable all-weather coat to drip-dry, stuff the pockets with tissue paper to help dry the inside corners Tired of beef hamburgers? Shape ground lamb into patties dill or dried dill weed to the lamb. Top creamed spinach with sieved hard-cooked egg plus chopped salted peanuts. Watch the family gobble up this DEAR POLLY - Mothers: Don't throw away those torn and pan fry For that extra touch, add a little minced fresh plastic baby pants! You can make your own bibs with scrap fabric and use the plastic from the pants for backing It's easy and very economical! - MRS. R.G. DEAR POLLY - I found a great way to treasure the many birthday cards we receive. I put them in the bottom of my drawers as liners. This way I enjoy them almost every DEAR M.J.K. - What a cute Pointer this is! As the years pass, the cards can be replaced with fresh ones.

FAITH TEACHES RESPECT FOR A GRANDFATHER'S WISDOM

n this age of the ever-widening generation gap, in which youth is thoroughly convinced that it alone has all the answers to the world's ills and even a father often has trouble gaining the attention and respect of his children, a grandfather is that much farther removed from what they consider reality However, we must realize that our grandparents could not possibly have lived long enough to be succeeded by two generations without accumulating a vast store of knowledge and gaining an enviable perspective on the mysteries of life itself. The faith you acquire at the Church of your choice will teach you to honor and respect your grandparents, because there is much of value that you can learn from them.

Age...carries in it an authority which makes it preferable to all the pleasures of youth. -Sir Richard Steele "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: ask thy father and he will show thee; thy elders and they will tell thee." -Deuteronomy 32:7
