Four Presidents Meet at White House

For 36 minutes, Richard M. Nixon, Gerald R. Ford and Jimmy Carter were back at the White House, walking to the cheer of a crowd from the green and white presidential helicopter, up a red carpet and into the mansion they once knew as home.

Ronald Reagan, who lives there now, was waiting on the South Lawn to greet them, just as each had done dozens of times in presidencies past for other dignitaries.

United by tragedy, they formed one of the most extraordinary gatherings of American presidents in history, the first time in this century - and possibly ever that four of them got together.

The past presidents were there so the present president could wish them a safe journey to Cairo to represent the United States at Saturday's funeral of assassinated Egyptian leader Anwar Sadat.

"Ordinarily, I would wish you happy landing, but you're all Navy men so I wish you bon voyage," Reagan said in a toast during a private reception in the ornate Blue Room.

Over cocktails and hors d'oeuvres, they stood in a circle talking about the Middle Room, the presidents were Sadat and Reagan's own decision to stay home from the funeral because of concerns for his safety, White House officials said.

Nixon and Ford told Reagan he made a wise decision, the officials said. It was not clear if Carter expressed an opinion.

Reagan had invited his predecessors on short notice.

More than 200 government employees and guests stood on the lawn in the chilly night air, watching and waiting with cameras for the arrival of the presidents.

At 6:52 p.m. EDT, their helicopter touched down.

Carter was first off, followed by his wife, Rosalynn. The crowd began applauding and the cheers grew as the Carters were followed by Ford and finally Nixon, who was deeply tanned.

Four abreast, they walked across the South Lawn, past reporters on one side and visitors and guests on the other. At the edge of the lawn, Mrs. Reagan kissed Nixon and Ford and shook hands with the Carters. The president shook hands with each guest and escorted them inside through the South Portico entrance.

U.S., Israel Vow To Continue Process

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - The United States and Israel vowed to continue the peace process with Egypt today as high-ranking delegations arrived in Cairo amid tight security for the funeral of assassinated President Anwar Sadat.

As the declarations were made, the official Middle East News Agency reported that Egypt's new leader, Hosni Mubarak, accepted President Reagan's invitation to visit the United States and "review all aspects of bilateral relations, and discuss in detail the situation in the Middle East." The trip is tentatively set for early next year.

Unrest continued to simmer in a Moslem fundamentalist hotbed south of Cairo; and exiled opposition leader Gen. Saadedin Shazli warned that Egypt was "unsafe" for foreign dignitaries attending Sadat's funeral. But Egypt's undersecretary for foreign affairs, Ossama El-Baz, said Egypt was safe and that the foreign dignitaries "will be protected."

Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. told reporters at Cairo airport that the United States would continue the search for a "full and comprehensive peace' with the new Egyptian government.

President Reagan is 20 votes a veto resolution, and two seek Saudi agreements over agreed to most of the AWACS an eight-point peace proposal short of saving his sale of AWACS radar planes to Saudi Arabia in the Republicancontrolled Senate, an Associated Press count shows.

If the vote were now, the tally found, Reagan would lose 57-30.

He needs 50 votes to assure the $8.5 billion sale of five Airborne Warning and Control System planes plus F-15 jet weaponry - the largest U.S. arms deal in history.

The AP count found just 21 senators firmly in favor of the sale as of Thursday and nine leaning for it, while 50 senators were committed against it and seven were leaning that way.

The other 13 were undecided, and Reagan would have to win all of those votes plus convert seven opponents to be sure of victory in his first major foreign policy battle on Capitol Hill.

Sen. Nancy Landon Kassebaum, R-Kan., announced her support Thursday after a meeting with the president, and Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., added his vote to the White House side later in the day.

"I think the assassination of (Egyptian) President Sadat makes it crucial that we reach out to all moderates in the Arab world," Mrs. Kassebaum told reporters.

Nickles said "there is a growing need for a greater American presence in the volatile Middle East which will add stability to the region."

Nov. 4 New Launch Date For Shuttle

WASHINGTON (AP) -Nov. 4 is the new launch date for the second flight of the space shuttle Columbia, damaged last month by a caustic fuel spill.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the new date Thursday after officials reviewed repairs being made to the spaceship, the first ever scheduled to make a return trip into orbit.

The flight will be a major test of its designed capability to make repeated journeys into space. Astronauts Joe Engle and Richard Truly will pilot the five-day mission.

The Sept. 22 fuel spill had forced postponement of a planned Oct. 9 launching, one of several delays since Columbia's maiden flight last were pumping nitrogen tetroxide into the spaceship. A faulty valve stuck open and about three gallons of the fuel poured over part of the nose section, reacting chemically with material that bonds heat-resistent tiles to the ship's aluminum skin.

A total of 376 of Columbia's 30,922 tiles either fell off or had to be removed. They are being decontaminated, treated and reglued to the craft, and by Thursday 340 of them were back in place. The tiles protect the craft from heat generated during reentry through the atmosphere.

The leak was caused by particles of iron nitrate that prevented the valve from closing completely. The contamination was traced to a fuel storage area near the launch site. Filters have been installed there to prevent a recurrence.

Gonzales Concludes Tour of Panhandle

U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzales will conduct a hearing at 2 p.m. today in San Antonio as he continues a tour of rural migrant housing projects across the country. Information gathered on Gonzales' trip, which included a stop in Hereford yesterday, will "be turned into the right channels in Washington to improve conditions.'

Gonzales toured the San Jose and Buena Vista area of town yesterday morning before going on to Dimmitt and later Muleshoe and Littlefield.

Gonzales, a San Antonio democrat, heads the first congressional subcommittee called to investigate rural migrant housing. He has previously investigated migrant farm worker housing conditions in the Maryland-Delaware-Virginia peninsula.

He described housing that he had seen in the Texas Panhandle as superior to areas he had already visited. "Some places in Maryland have water not fit to drink, not even by boiling it," he Gonzales' tour will end following visits to projects in Florida, California, and Michigan.

"We still have a long way to go," Gonzales said after his tour in the Panhandle vesterday, concerning improving conditions. "We have seen the good and the wonderful attempts, but farm labor housing is in a continuing crisis. We need to eliminate such blots from society."

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) - The Nobel Prize for medicine was awarded to two Americans and a Swede today for research on the human brain. The prize went to Dr. Roger

W. Sperry of California Institute of Technology and Harvard professors David Hubel and Torsten N. Wiesel of Sweden. Sperry received one half of the prize - this year worth a record 1 million kronor, the equivalent of $180,000 - for discoveries concerning "the functional specialization of the cerebral hemispheres (brain halves)," the Karolinska Institute of Medicine announced.

Hubel and Wiesel shared the other half for discoveries concerning "information processing in the visual system." The Nobel committee said he showed how a lack of visual stimulation in infancy "for example through errors in the lens system of the eye ... may lead to a permanent impairment of the ability of the brain to analyze visual impressions."

Reached in Boston, Wiesel's reaction to the announcement was "Oh no, I was afraid of that. Maybe I should go and hide." The prize for medicine was

Dallas Police Officer Wins Shooting Contest

By MARCIA SMITH Dallas

Times Herald DALLAS (AP) - Flushed and a little sweaty, Cathy Compton hurries into her airconditioned office, takes a long pull on a cold can of Diet Dr Pepper and studies her bleeding hand.

Peeling back a small bandage, she scowls at her wound, caused by resting a revolver there for several hours, and apologizes for her glamourless policewoman's uniform. She knows, of course, that she would look prettier out of uniform and with a less severe haircut.

But then, let's not bring up any of those hackneyed ironies about pretty girls who do masculine things. Cathy Compton is pretty, with her strong cheekbones and thicklashed green eyes, but what's most impressive about her is her steely self-confidence: She has the look of a woman who knows she can hit anything she shoots at.

That's what she's been doing this particular afternoon, shooting at human-shaped targets with a .38 caliber Smith and Wesson custommade revolver. At 28, Cathy can shoot that revolver better than any policewoman in the country. She recently won the women's division of the National Police Revolver Championships - for the fourth

In 1975, in her first year as a police officer, Cathy decided to try her skill with a revolver against other policewomen in the national championship. The next year, she placed third in the women's division. She didn't compete in 1977: After meeting Jerry Compton at a pistol match in Alabama that year, she married him, moved to Dallas and entered the police academy here. There was no time for the national championships. When she tried again in 1978, she won the first of what would be four national titles. That's a record, she said.

Cathy shares her interest in guns and shooting with her husband. Jerry is a gunsmith he made the gun she uses in competition — and the two go deer and antelope hunting together. They both shoot at the National Rifle Association's high master skill level and in the municipal police category in the competitions.

Cathy says it's a coincidence that her favorite pastime and her job both call for good shooting skills. "In my work, I shoot for survival. In competition, I'm out there to punch tiny holes in paper that's all. I separate the two completely.

As many paper targets as Cathy has hit, she has yet to shoot at a human being. "If I had to do it, I could. I don't want to shoot anyone, kill anyone, but I wouldn't hesitate if it was a life-ordeath situation.

Fall Cues Makeup

By Florence De Santis

NEW YORK (NEA) -Whether it's the Florentine colors at Merle Norman, the Pinecone Russet makeup at Germaine Monteil or the Colortwists at Avon, fall makeup takes its cue from fashion colors.

At Merle Norman, for nstance, terra cotta, khaki, plum, ruby and flame are among the makeup colors that complement the Renais-sance influence seen in both European and American designer clothes. Many of the colors glow with bronze or gold gleams.

Remember, always balance eye, cheek and lip col-ors and blend carefully. For ors and blend carefully. For example, eye shadow can be patterned in a steeple pointing up from eyelid to brow, using the darkest shade of a color for the steeple, and blending out to medium and light shades at each side. Blend a ruby blusher under cheekhones, and give line a cheekbones, and give lips a defined contour by outlining them with a pencil in amber and filling in with ruby or copper, or whatever color

Sweatshirt outfits, now called "thermal," combining a pullover, windbreaker and jogging pants, come in such luscious colors as purple, raspberry, cobalt, lemon, persimmon, coral and olive, plus classic colors, for end-less mixing and matching.

However, the popularity of sweatshirt fabric has taken it well beyond its old boundaries. A mini-dress at The Gap is a knee-length extension of the sweatshirt and comes in sapphire, fuchsia or black, as well as the classic gray, thermal tights classic gray; thermal tights may be coordinated with it.

The very term "jeans" now is simply a synonym for "pants," of which the variery seems endless. Fawn Grove pin-stripes denimblue corduroy for cuffed Bermuda shorts.

Andre Bini does calflength deck pants in redstitched denim, adding a homber jacket and red bomber jacket and red ruffle-neck blouse. Cathy Hardwick uses lightweight denim even for harem pants, many of which now are rib-knit cuffed instead of elasticized or drawstringtied at the ankle.

Jodhpurs, launched last year, have been modified to be more street-wearable. Jordache revives the underfoot strap for its denim foot strap for its denim modified jodhpurs, while Bon Jour puts zippers at the ankles for quick dressing. Tops' jodhpurs vary from a denim epaulet shirt to an embroidered-front crepe blosses.

Innocent Fantasies Help

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I hope you hear from many women who disagree as wholeheartedly as I with "One Who Has Been Acting for Years." I'm 35, married for eight years and have two small children. I have never faked an orgasm - for the simple reason that it was never necessary to pretend.
As a result of "One's" letter, I fear many men will start questioning their partner's sincerity-if not out loud, at least in their minds. Rest assured, gentlemen, millions of women think sex is the best thing that ever happened to a body.

Along with your excellent ideas on better communication, I would suggest some harmless fantasizing. My imagination has taken me to many fascinating places with fabulous partners. It's truly exciting and where's the friends, there were 74 visits harm? It's much better than having extrmarital affairs to add spice to a relationship that has gone slightly stale. The only problem I see is that all those "other" men never know what a fantastic time they have had!-Turned-On

> DEAR TINA: Women from every state in the union, Tokyo, Canada, Mexico City, Bangkok and Hong Kong wrote to say they never had to fake anything-their sex lives are great. It was a real upper to hear from so many fulfilled females. Usually the mail runs the other direction. How nice! Here's another voice on the same subject.

DEAR ANN: Just a quick reply to the gal who had been acting for years. I'd like to know what she based her information on.

Lady, you ask what DO women get out of sex? Please permit me to tell you, because obviously you are on plenty.

I am a happily married woman, and I have yet to 'fake it." There is absolutely nothing wrong with my anatomy. I was not shortchanged by Mother nature, in spite of what you think. Sounds to me as if you and your partner are lacking two vital ingredients that make for a beautiful sex life: (1) common sense and (2) appreciation of one another's needs. I can't imagine anyone going through a lifetime of marriage "acting." (What a strain it must be!) Love, pleasure, relaxation, total sharing and complete satisfaction-this is what SEX is all about. Just sign me - No Thespian In Illinois

DEAR N.T.: Thanks for a neat wrap-up.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You said something in your column recently that packed a wallop. I saw myself. It was this sentence: "Some people get nothing out of therapy but doctor bills. Others find a new life."

By ROBERT BURNS AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Sears, Roebuck and Co., accelerating its drive into the financial services market, has agreed to pay about $600 million for Dean Witter Reynolds Organizations, parent of the nation's fifthlargest investment firm.

Directors of both companies approved the transaction Thursday, just three days after Sears agreed to acquire Coldwell, Banker & Co., the nation's largest independent real estate broker, in a deal valued at about $175 million.

Sears Chairman Edward Telling said the company would pay $50 in cash per share for up to 45 percent of Dean Witter's stock, with the tender offer starting next Thursday. It also will exchange $50 in Sears stock for HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) -On a rain-lashed day on Cape Cod, thoughts of death and another dying year chill the spirit and hover in the mind like the black-bottomed storm clouds scudding in from the ocean.

Sightseers in an enormous excursion bus parked just beyond the high rail fence of the Kennedy Compound in Hyannis Port rub their hands against the fog-shrouded bus windows to catch a glimpse of Rose's house and Senator Ted's house, while the tour guide recites the history of that famous and tragic family into her microphone. In St. Francis Xavier Church on South Street, polished brass plaques memorialize the clan's three dead brothers: Joe Jr., killed when his B-24 blew up over the North Sea; John F., the president, assassinated in Dallas; Robert F., the U.S. senator, gunned down in Los Angeles.

Then suddenly a man comes hurrying out of a liquor store towards his car shouting, "it's over ... the IRA hunger strike is over."

The rain clouds don't lift quite then, but the spirit does. Death has taken a holiday, for a time anyway. My mind races back to my visit just a few weeks ago to that tear-

In calling off the strike, Maze prisoners and IRA leaders like Gerry Adams blamed the Catholic hierarchy for undermining their protest by getting the families to request medication for starving relatives who had slipped into a coma. All the way back to the rising of 1798, Irish rebels have accused the clergy of being cool to the cause.

Maybe so, but this time around, geography and their own family background pulled the Catholic leadership into the midst of the Ulster crisis as much as the moral question of suicide. Their own Ulster heritage brought them as close to the problem as some of the IRA political masterminds at Sinn Fein headquarters in Dublin, which may be why the families cast a less cold look on life, on death.

Cape Cod, as the tourist folders avow and the next day proved, can save itself from dreary, drizzling autumn with a glorious Indian summer. Hopefully the same sun, however wan, may be beginning to break over Ireland.

Spikers Do It Again; Whip Monterey For Win

By MARC HERRING Staff Writer

A win is nice. Even better than just a win, is to beat the. other team by making a dramatic comeback, and Hereford's volleyball team did just that last night as they collected district win number two, by dropping Monterey 7-15, 15-4, 15-11.

squad had every reason to fold after the first game. Monterey had completely dominated the first game with the first 10 points coming on the opening serve. That was not a good sign that the evening was going to hold a lot of promise.

Coach Sharma Smith's the win, using only four of the six needed servers to jump to a 1-0 lead in the match.

The second game of the best of three match started out much more even as the two teams traded serves with neither one getting a clear cut advantage over the other until Ginny Coronado went to the serving line.

Being the number five server and the score tied at 3-3. Coronado reeled off five straight points to give the Whitefaces a commanding 8-3 lead. Beatrice Moreno then came to the line and finished off the Plainsmen with seven straight winners to even the match at 1-1.

"Strong defensive play in the second game really got the girls fired up," Smith said. "And after Ginny gave us our lead it seemed to sort of break their spirit and we were able to build some momentum for the deciding match."

The start of the third game showed that Monterey realized that the visiting Whitefaces were not to be taken lightly. The Plainsmen jumped to a 3-2 lead after the first two servers, but Hereford once again used some strong defense to leave the next two Monterey

Away From Division Titles the Astros lost three games in a row at the end of the 1980 season to force a home-game

First-half champions Oakland and New York in the American League and second-half winners Houston and Montreal in the National League are one victory away from advancing to the semifinals of major league baseball's first three-tiered playoff season.

The A's and Yankees appear to have the advantage over their NL counteparts with 2-0 leads in the divisional playoffs because they won their two games on the road, at Kansas City and Milwaukee, respectively. New York beat the Brewers 3-0 Thursday and return to Yankee Stadium tonight with Tommy John facing either Petz Vuckovich, hampered by the flu, or Randy Lerch in the East Division playoffs. Oakland, which beat the Royals 2-1 to take a two-game advantage in the AL West series Wednesday, is at home tonight with Rick Langford opposing Larry Gura.

In the NL, Houston had to travel to Los Angeles, where playoff at Dodger Stadium, won by Houston. The memory of those three victories gave the Dodgers hope going into today's third West Division championship game.

Four Teams Just One Win

"We had to win four including the one-game playoff last year," said Los Angeles first baseman Steve Garvey. "We only have to win three this year. We're in better shape."

Dodgers right-hander Burt Hooton faced lefty Bob Knepper for the Astros, who have allowed only one Dodger run in 20 innings.

The Expos, playing in postseason competition for the first time, beat the Phila telphia Phillies 3-1 for the second game in a row at Montreal Thursday night.

The two teams met today in Philadelphia with Larry Christenson pitching for the Phillies and Ray Burris for Montreal.

The Expos got an unearned run in the secondinning, a two-run homer by Gary Carter in the third and then stifled a Phillies rally in the eighth for the victory.

Montreal starter Bill Gullickson allowed only three hits through seven innings until Lonnie Smith doubled, Pete Rose singled him home and Bake McBride doubled to put the tying run on second base with two outs. Mike Schmidt was walked intentinally before reliever Jeff Reardon went on to get his second save in two games.

Swarming Defense

A swarming defense has been the trademark of the La Plata Maverick ninth grade defense in the last three games as they have given up only six points in 12 quarters of play. In yesterday's game the Mavs held Plainview Red to no points with pursuit and gang tackling.

La Plata Defense Conti Strong Play Against Pla

La Plata's ninth grade coach Joe Spann feels that his defense is really playing well and this can be attested to in the scores of the last three games where they have allowed only six points. The only problem is that the offense has been slow to cross the goal line as they have only been able to put up 13 points.

The scenerio was much the same yesterday afternoon as the Mavericks fought the Plainview Red team to a 0-0

La Plata's offense was hurt by three lost fumbles and the defense had to really play well after the visiting team had blocked two punts.

The Maverick eighth grade team used strong pressure on the Plainview punting team to secure their victory, an 8-6 win, with the winning points coming on a safety early in the game.

The Mavericks touchdown came on a run by Bobby Martinez to give the host team a 8-0 lead. Plainview scored

The Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Redskins will continue their headlong rushes in opposite directions Sunday - and on Monday night, the Miami Dolphins will drop from the ranks of the unbeaten.

The Eagles, the only 5-0 team in the National Football League and off to their best start ever, will have little difficulty handling New Orleans. The 0-5 Redskins haven't had this poor a start

Longhorns, Sooners Highlight Football Slate

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer . There will be a bunch of neighborhood brawls in college football this weekend, with the biggest and baddest and orneriest shootout of them all matching Texas and Oklahoma in their annual Red River rumble.

It all began back in 1900. and has been played each fall in Dallas since 1929. Oklahoma has knocked Texas from the unbeaten ranks six times since 1945, and the 10thranked Sooners have a chance to do it again.

Third-rated Texas has a 3-0-0 record to 1-1-1: for Oklahoma. The Sooners' 7-7 tie with Iowa State following a last-second 28-24 loss to No. 1-ranked Southern Cal is only the second time in Barry Switzer's nine-year, 84-10-3 head-coaching career that he has gone two games in a row without a victory. Three of those 10 setbacks, by the way, have come in the last four years since Fred Akers. Switzer's old teammate at the University of Arkansas, has been the head at Texas.

This is the weekend's only pairing of Associated Press. Top Twenty teams, although there will be some other bitter rivalries when fourthranked Pitt visits West Virginia, No. 5 North Carolina entertains Wake Forrest, sixth-ranked Michigan travels to Michigan State and No. 14 Southern Methodist hosts Baylor.

and Marvelous Marcus Allen are at home against Arizona, runner-up Penn State entertains Boston College. seventh-ranked Alabama tangles with Southern Mississippi in Birmingham, No. 8 Brigham Young hosts Nevada-Los Vegas and ninthranked Clemson has a home game with Virginia.

In the Second Ten, No. 11 Georgia visits Missippippi, No. 12 Iowa State is at San Diego State for a night game, Kansas State at No. 13 Missouri, Indiana at No. 15 Iowa, No. 17 UCLA at Stanford, No. 18 Ohio State at Wisconsin, No. 19 Mississippi at Colorado State and No. 20 Florida State at Notre Dame, Miami of Florida, the No. 16 team, is not scheduled.

"Texas is one of the best, if not the best, defensive teams in the country," said Switzer. "The Longhorns are not be as good offensively as Southern California but they are certainly better defensively. They are big strong athletes with a lot of experience."

Akers said "even with all the turnovers they have had, they have outgained everyone. That tells you their offensive line is blowing people away. Iowa State caught them at the best possible time - after a frustrating loss to USC and before playing us."

He added "Oklahoma has been extended much more than we have but we expect to take a fine football team to Dallas and we expect to meet a fine football team there."

Texas will come into the matchup with a week's rest.

"It's given us a chance to heal a few wounds and to work with our younger players," said Akers.

The Longhorns hold the alltime edge in the series at 45-27-3 but Texas is only ahead 18-16-1 since World

Bears Face Extinction In Game With SMU

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

The defending champion Baylor Bears, who swept through the Southwest Conference unbeaten a year ago; face virtual elimination Saturday night unless they can rebound against unblemished Southern Methodist in Texas Stadium.

The Bears were eight-point underdogs to the 14th-ranked Mustangs, who are third in the country in scoring offense with an average of 40 points

SMU is third nationally running the ball with an average of 333 yards per contest behind Eric Dickerson, who is averaging 136 yards and Craig James who is averaging 117.

In other SWC matchups, Houston was a field goal choice over Texas A&M at Kyle Field; rejuvenated Texas Christian was a threepoint pick over Rice in Houston; and Arkansas was a touchdown favorite to bounce back from the TCU upset to beat Texas Tech in Lubbock.

No. 3-ranked and unbeaten Texas was a field goal underdog to No. 10-rated Oklahoma in the only intersectional game of the weekend.

Doesn't like shape she's in

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 50-year-old woman and I have always been slim until I started my menopause two years ago. Then I started putting on weight. I eat less and am still pretty active. Most of my weight and fat is through the stomach. I look six to eight months pregnent I notice many other nant. I notice many other women my age in the same shape. What can we do? DEAR READER — First, be sure you are not six or seven months pregnant. There are some women in this age group or with signs of the menopause who still get pregnant.

Barring that problem, you are faced with "middle-aged spread," and I know how awful that term sounds. It is fat, as you stated; your bat-tle is to eliminate it and tighten up your trunk muscles. Loss of the size and strength of your muscles, which begins to occur at that point in life, has something to do with the problem.

The most healthy thing a woman can do is to cut down her calories and increase her exercise. You need three types of exercises, those to use calories, those to maintain and improve posture and tighten up muscles and those that help you maintain the size of your muscles. I have discussed the whys and hows of these in The Health Letter number 17-12, Win-

One day I thought it was circulation and put a cushion made of wool under long, stamped, selfmy feet every night. What a blessing for me. I've been doing this for four or five addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspa-per, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY years and no more cramps. I thought this would help

Situps are fine when done right. So are leg lifts when done properly to not strain your back. They help with the lower abdomen. But you do need to eliminate the fat inside someone. DEAR READER Thanks for your concern for others. And depending on how you use the pillow, it may be useful to others. inside your abdomen for meaningful results. I would suggest that you and others with this problem start a daily walking program. If you can build up to walking

There are many causes for leg cramps. I like people who have them to have a medical examination. Most of these that occur at night have a lot to do with the position of the foot and to perature changes. As the too is pointed downward, the calf muscles are in a perfect position to contract unop-posed by the muscles over the shin that pull the toe up.

People with this problem should stretch their muscles before going to Stand facing the wall lean forward against ankles. Then use a board or pillow to lift the bed covers off the toes so you can keep your toes up. Or lie on your side with your feet against a foot board or pillow to keep the toes up. Long warm wool socks over the calf also help some people — but sleep with the toes up.

Noisy cricket

DEAR POLLY - I need your help badly. A cricket has moved into my apartment and I would like to find a way to evict the noisy critter. — D.L.

DEAR D.L. — First of all, you can keep that cricket quiet

DEAR D.L. — First of all, you can keep that cricket quiet at night if you keep the apartment completely dark. All lights (even small nightlights) must be turned off, and shades and drapes must be pulled to keep out any outside light.

To get rid of this creature entirely, you'll have to get some pyrethrum powder. This is an insecticide available at hardware stores and garden nurseries. It's poisonous, so be very careful when you're using it. Search out any cracks and crevices where you think the cricket might be hiding and blow the powder into these cracks. A bulb-style meat baster is useful for blowing the powder into holes and cracks.

Be sure to keep the powder away from pets, children, food

Be sure to keep the powder into noies and cracks.

Be sure to keep the powder away from pets, children, food and cooking utensils, and wear rubber gloves and a face mask or bandanna across your nose and mouth while working with the powder. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY - I have some shower curtains that have a print on a clear plastic background. They have white water spots on the clear background areas, which I can't remove.

Any suggestions would be appreciated. — J.B.

DEAR J.B. - I've found that the easiest way to clean shower curtains is to toss them into the washing machine with a little detergent and one cup of chlorine bleach. You can also add a thick towel or two to the load to act as 'scrubbers" to rub off the dirt and milden If " does not reme e the water spels on the curtains down with vinegar cloth. steam iron is water. To it, put a outlet of the rain gutter of your house. When it rains, the water will run down the gutters and into the pan. Store the water in glass jars or jugs. Sometimes there is a little sedi-ment in the bottom of the pan, but this can be strained out through a piece of cloth. By using rain water in your iron, you'll avoid clogging the holes with mineral deposits.

DEAR POLLY - This is for the dear lady who has worms and bugs in her food stored on her kitchen shelves. The simplest way to solve this problem is to store everything in glass ars with screw-on lids. Ask friends, neighbors and relatives to save all large mayonnaise jars, peanut butter jars and other large jars. After putting everything in glass jars, spray the shelves with insecticide. Be sure to remove shelf lining using this method years ago, I've never been bothered with bugs. — A FRIEND paper, since bugs can hide under the paper. Since I started
