Recent rainfall described as 'excellent'

Rendered Inoperable

Thanks to much precipitation over the last eight days, many area farmers must wait until fields dry out before going about their business. Though tonight's forecast calls for a 40 percent chance of more moisture, only a 20 percent chance remains for Wednesday.

Recent area rainfall has been "excellent" for farmers, according to John Fuston, executive director of the local U.S. Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

Reports from throughout Deaf Smith County revealed precipitation amounts ranging from .6 inches in Hereford to two and a half inches 10 miles from the New Mexico border. It was the second heavy rain in slightly more than a week for the county, though this one was different in that it carried no hail damage.

All crops, including those damaged by hail during Monday of last week, should be aided by the most recent moisture, Fuston contended. The lengthy, lazy rainfall is the best kind for farming, he explained.

Should the precipitation not have arrived late this past weekend, Fuston believed,

Hereford records .6 inches wheat harvesting would have begun within a couple of days. Now, however, farmers must wait until their fields are dry. It will be next week before harvesting starts, Fuston guessed, and not much will probably be done then.

Forecasters have established a 40 percent chance of more showers and a few thunderstorms tonight, which follows a 30 percent chance today. The probability of rain is to decrease to 20 percent Wednesday, which is expected to become partly cloudy and have a high in the middle 80s.

Winds both tonight and Wednesday are to be southerly, 5 to 10 miles per hour at first. They could increase to 20 miles per hour by Wednesday afternoon.

The .6 inches Hereford received brings the city's monthly total precipitation to a little more than 2.3 inches. For the year, almost 8 inches of moisture has been recorded by KPAN, the official weather station for the area.

Flora Homfeld said her farm in the county's western section received about two and a half inches of precipitation Monday. About two inches fell in the Walcott area, according to John Frank Martin.

Two miles east of Dawn, approximately .6 inches fell Monday after a similar amount descended Sunday, according to J.E. McCabe. Johnny Jesko of Westway said his area received around seven tenths of an inch.

An estimated one inch of rain covered Easter and Summerfield, reports indicated. A moisture meter at Adrian, said Ted Hale of the school, measured .7 inches. Not quite half an inch fell on Vega.

Senate rejects measures

Reagan's authority upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate has refused to curb President Reagan's authority to use American troops in Nicaragua or El Salvador and has turned down an attempt to sharply limit CIA aid to U.S.-backed rebels fighting the leftist Nicaraguan government.

In votes late Tuesday and early today, most speakers cited the Vietnam War, with administration opponents saying America is headed toward another undeclared conflict and supporters calling for an end to the "post-Vietnam syndrome" of shrinking from a fight.

The attempt to limit aid to the Nicaraguan rebels died on a 58-38 vote early today. Vice President George Bush rushed to the Capitol to preside over the tally and vote in case of a tie.

The vote followed a 63-31 tally which killed a move to ban the use of American combat troops unless they are needed to rescue U.S. citizens.

The decisions came as the Senate worked its way through a $291 billion Pentagon spending bill. The Senate was to return to the bill again today, chiefly to consider a proposal to withdraw up to 400,000 U.S. troops from Europe unless the other 15 NATO nations spend more for allied defense.

Neither of the Central American votes is final because the Democrat-controlled House has approved limits on rebel aid and Reagan's ability to use combat troops. The differences will be worked out by a House-Senate committee when the bill passes the Senate and both chambers will again vote on the issues.

The Reagan administration is providing millions of dollars - the exact amount is secret but is believed to be $28 million next year - in aid to the Nicaraguan rebels, known as "contras."

The stated reason for the U.S. aid is to block arms shipments by Nicaragua's Sandinista leaders to nearby El Salvador, but administration opponents said the "contras" are actually trying to overthrow the Sandinistas in a not-so-covert war.

In nearby El Salvador, the United States supports the government against a rebel insurgency the Reagan administration says is fueled by Nicaragua, Cuba, and ultimately, the Soviet Union.

Earlier in the day, the Senate voted 77-3 to reaffirm a 1962 policy declaration that the "United States is determined to prevent, by whatever means may be necessary, including the use of arms" to resist a Cuban military force or subversion.

Reagan has said he has no intention of ordering Americans to fight in Central America. Instead, he says he wants to give U.S. allies enough weapons and training to do the job themselves.

Sen. John East, R-N.C., said if America won't fight for its allies in Central America, "where will we draw the line?"

Mason resigns from school governing body

By KIM THOGMARTIN

Paul Mason has resigned his position as a school board trustee, saying he will no longer have time for the job because he plans to go into business for himself.

Mason tendered his resignation Friday at the Hereford Independent School District's administration office. He said the quitting was effective immediately.

Mason has also resigned his position as comptroller at the Applan Corporation and intends to devote all his time to a computer programming business. He said his first two contracts are in Amarillo and that he would commute from Hereford.

Claims no time for post

Mason had represented voting District 3 under terms of a negotiation reached Jan. 25 between attorneys for the school district and Texas Rural Legal Aid. Mason does not actually live in District 3, and would not have been able to run for re-election to that position.

The voting districts, five numbered and two at-large, were created after TRLA filed a lawsuit on behalf of the Mexican-American community of the school district. They claimed the at-large system diluted the Hispanic vote and was therefore discriminatory. Districts 1 and 2 have about 71 percent Mexican-American population. Jo Garcia was elected in April to represent District 2.

Mason was elected in April of 1983 to fill the unexpired term of Bobby Griego, who had served one year on the board. Mason's term will expire next April, and board president Bill Townsend said Monday the matter of finding a replacement for Mason has not been decided.

According to the Texas Education Code, the board has the option of filling the vacancy by appointment, but apparently is not obligated to do so. The law no longer provides for holding a special election to choose another trustee.

HISD Superintendent Dr. Harrell Holder said if the board chooses to appoint a new board member, that person must reside in District 3. He said the appointment would only be for the rest of the term.

"We'll all be sorry to see Paul go," Townsend said. "He was a dedicated school board member and made some valuable contributions."

Democrats say convention success

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Democratic delegates to the state convention held over the weekend in Houston reported that all but two of the resolutions offered by Panhandle delegates were brought before the assembly.

Meanwhile, Republicans attending their convention in Ft. Worth said the event was well-organized and they felt a strong party unity was present in Texas.

Deaf Smith County Democratic Party Chairman Roy Dale Messer said the local delegation was especially pleased that a resolution dealing with nuclear waste dumping in the Panhandle was passed as written by area citizens groups. The organizations are battling the possibility of a high-level nuclear waste repository being placed in Texas.

The resolution was co-authored by members of STAND (Serious Texans Against Nuclear Dumping) and POWER (People Opposed to Wasted Energy Repositories). STAND is Tulsa-based while most residents of POWER are from the Deaf Smith County area.

Panhandle delegates were among those from 200 Texas counties who complained about the precinct and county convention method implemented this year to choose delegates for a Democratic presidential candidate. The 5,000 or so voting delegates at the convention called for a binding presidential preference primary.

Local delegate N.D. Kelso said he voted against several of the resolutions passed, which he claimed were voted in by a "radical and liberal element." He said he was unhappy with one resolution calling for equal rights regardless of a person's sexual preferences.

Kelso said he felt there was a lot of liberal control at the convention, as he witnessed voice voting from people who were not registered voting delegates. "We've got to get the moderate and conservative people more involved in the process," he claimed.

Messer said he was happy with the way the Panhandle was represented. "I was pleased that we were able to get almost all the resolutions we went down there with heard and passed by the delegates," he said. "That's a big step forward, because they will become part of the Texas platform."

Democratic delegate Shirley Easterwood jokingly said she was only disappointed in the fact that Gary Hart didn't get all the delegates. There was a strong Hart commitment from the Panhandle and a number of Hart's delegates to the national convention were selected from Panhandle delegates to the state convention.

"Overall I was pleased," Easterwood said. "Everyone should go once. It's an experience and an education."

Republican delegate Garth Thomas said the convention was a big success. "There were good speakers, and there was harmony among the delegates," he claimed. Thomas said most of the resolutions passed were similar to those included in the 1980 platform.

"There is a good concentrated effort behind not only Reagan and Bush but all our Republican candidates," Thomas said.

Delegate Bill Allen said he also was pleased with the convention and the feeling of party unity there. "We think the Reagan-Bush ticket supplemented with (Phil) Gramm's senate candidacy make for a strong ticket," he explained. "We know we're in for a fight of course, because the liberal Democrats won't give up easily."

Tuesday's Local Roundup

Two injured in accident

Two people were injured early Monday in a two-vehicle wreck at the intersection of Highways 60 and 385, according to Hereford police.

Esther Brewer Butler and Odie Lane, both of Amarillo, were taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital following the 12:40 a.m. mishap. Each was treated for possible back injuries, with Brewer released Monday and Lane transferred to High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo.

Brewer, driving a 1976 Chevrolet with Lane as her passenger, was struck from behind by a coach bus. She was in the far left lane of Highway 60 waiting for the red light to change.

The operator of the bus, Raymond S. Provencio of Hagerman, N.M., was charged with unsafe driving considering the conditions. His vehicle is the property of New Mexico Transportation, Roswell, and was not damaged to the extent of the Chevrolet.

G.E. George, 207 Greenwood, had the passenger side of his 1982 Chevrolet Blazer scratched several times sometime Saturday. Police said the vandalism, valued at $500, occurred in the Rix Funeral Home parking lot, 101 Greenwood.

Among the weekend arrests were six for driving while intoxicated, four for public intoxication and two juveniles for shoplifting. Incidents investigated included three apiece of minor thefts and harassments, two of domestic disturbances and vandalisms and one of possible theft of a bicycle and possible theft of blue jeans.

Jury selection scheduled

Jury selection was to begin this morning for the trial of Victor Duran of Hereford. The 43-year-old man was indicted Feb. 3 by a Deaf Smith County grand jury on three counts of felony delivery of marijuana.

Meanwhile, the district attorney's office reported that all but one of the eight men indicted last week for delivery of an illegal substance have been arrested.

Picked up Friday was Juan Jose Villalobos, 30, a Hereford resident. Villalobos was charged with misdemeanor sales of marijuana.

Mario Tijerina, 24, was arrested Saturday and charged with felony delivery of marijuana. Tijerina, also of Hereford, allegedly sold more than one-fourth but more than four ounces of the drug.

A former Hereford resident now living in Stephenville was picked up Monday morning. Andrew Garcia, 22, was charged with two felony counts of delivery of marijuana.

District attorney's investigator Terry Colston said Garcia had been paroled in January from the Texas Department of Corrections after having served less than one year of a six-year sentence for armed robbery.

Among those arrested last week was Johnny Richard Beltran, 19, who apparently is known by his middle name. Johnny Beltran, 30 of Dairy Road, was not in any way connected with the arrests and wished to have that pointed out to Brand readers.

MONDAY'S HIGH: 69 (normal high this date: 89 record: 103 (1942))

OVERNIGHT LOW: 60 (normal: 63 record: 47 (1912))

PRECIPITATION: .6 inches (June total: 2.34 year to date: 7.55)

OUTLOOK: Cloudy tonight with a 40 percent chance of rain and a few thunderstorms. Winds should be southerly 5 to 10 miles per hour. Wednesday is expected to have a high near 85 and carry a 20 percent chance of further moisture. Winds are to be 10 to 20 miles per hour from the south.

News Roundup

State

Group has money but no home

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas church group seeking a peaceful area to locate a shelter for battered women is being rebuffed by residents who don't want the home in their neighborhoods.

The Episcopal-Presbyterian Shelter Inc. has been looking since October for a building to buy or lease in a commercially zoned area that would provide a quiet environment for residents.

The church has raised $100,000, hired a staff and assembled volunteers for the refuge, but has not been able to find a home.

No neighborhood will accept the shelter, officials say. "We're at a dead end," said Robert Lively, First Presbyterian Church associate pastor. "We just don't have anywhere to go."

Couple won't testify against son

HOUSTON (AP) — A defense attorney says it is a "logical assumption" that prosecutors have asked a judge to punish a couple who apparently refused to testify to grand jurors in their son's murder case, citing religious grounds.

Attorney Randy Schaffer declined Monday to say specifically what Bernard and Odette Port told the panel investigating the shooting death of mail carrier Debra Sue Schatz, 23.

The Ports' 17-year-old son, David, is free on $20,000 bond after being charged with murder in the June 7 slaying. Ms. Schatz's body was found June 9 in a remote area near in northwest Harris County. She was reported missing two days earlier after she failed to return from her mail route.

"I can't comment on specifically what happened in the grand jury room," Schaffer said. He said, however, it would be a "logical assumption" that the state would move to have them held in contempt because a hearing has been set today before state District Judge William Hatten.

Councilman fighting gay rights

HOUSTON (AP) — A city councilman and friends have bought full-page ads in Houston papers warning that an ordinance under consideration "would elevate homosexual deviant behavior to a position of dignity and respect throughout the community."

Houston council offices were deluged with phone calls Monday after the appearance of advertisements opposing a pending ordinance that would forbid city officials from considering an individual's sexual preference in deciding whether to hire him.

Receptionists in Mayor Kathy Whitmire's office reported receiving about 525 calls opposing the proposal and 125 in favor Monday afternoon.

But John Goodner, the councilman whose name appeared on the ad, said he had little hope of winning the battle to defeat the measure because other council members support it.

National

Candidates don't like platform

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of Sen. Gary Hart and the Rev. Jesse Jackson, outnumbered by Walter F. Mondale's backers on a committee to draft a party platform, say the proposed document is too general and must be focused to tell the voting public where the Democratic Party stands.

"I think we can do a lot better job than we did today of bringing people together," Hart supporter Rep. Timothy Wirth, D-Colo., said after the platform drafting committee refused by an 8-7 vote Monday to endorse a tax bill backed by Hart.

District of Columbia Delegate Walter Fauntroy, a Jackson supporter, added, "I think we've got our work cut out for us in moving this drafting committee off the concept of a bland platform that offends no one."

Violent thunderstorms blast East

Howling winds that ripped the roof off a motel and knocked down a 20-foot concrete block wall killed two people and injured at least 15 others in Ohio, while thousands in the Midwest remained homeless today as rivers flooded 1 million acres of valuable farmland.

A brutal "downburst" — a vertical wind known to hit 125 mph — slammed into the motel in Liberty Township, Ohio, killing a young girl late Monday and injuring at least nine other people, authorities said.

A construction worker in Columbus, Ohio, died when a wind gust knocked the concrete wall on him. In Cleveland, a 9-year-old boy was severely burned while riding his tricycle when he was hit by a downed power line, authorities said.

International

Mexico fighting rabies scare

NUEVO LAREDO, Mexico (AP) — For the third time in a decade, rabid dogs are prowling poor barrios on the outskirts of this border city, but officials hope they have the recent rabies epidemic under control.

More than 70 people, including many children, have been bitten or have been exposed to the infectious disease and have received a painful series of anti-rabies shots in the last eight weeks, officials said.

But Dr. Guillermo Garcia Aguirre, Director of the Nuevo Laredo Health Center, said Monday no new cases have been reported in about a week and he is "cautiously optimistic" that the outbreak is under control.

Conrado Cruz, spokesman for the Laredo Chamber of Commerce, emphasized that the disease is confined to the Mexican side of the Rio Grande. No rabid dogs have been found in the tourist district of shops, nightclubs and restaurants downtown, he said.

Iran, Iraq move to Bahrain

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of Iranian and Iraqi soldiers are moving into the swampy, southern Iraq border area in preparation for a major battle, both governments say.

"Indications in Baghdad show the (Iranian) offensive is imminent, with the Iraqis bracing to crush it," the Gulf News Agency in Bahrain reported Monday.

Iran's state radio said "thousands of zealots" were converging near the Iraqi city of Basra, where for weeks Iran has been expected to launch a major human-wave assault.

Iran reportedly has massed an estimated 400,000 troops and revolutionary guardsmen near Basra, the Iraqi city closest to the Persian Gulf, and the government report Monday indicated that thousands more volunteers were pouring into front-line locations there.

Recent heavy rainfall has caused several area farms to have lake-size flooding. This scene was captured this morning a few miles south

On life of Pope

Bulgarians blamed for attempt

ROME (AP)

A state prosecutor said today he is convinced that Bulgarians, with possible Soviet support, masterminded the 1981 assassination attempt on Pope John Paul II.

"That's the conclusion of my investigation," said Antonio Albano in an interview with The Associated Press. The 47-year-old prosecutor has turned in a 78-page report to Judge Ilario Martella, who has headed the state inquiry into the May 13, 1981 shooting by Turkish terrorist Mehmet Ali Agca.

Albano confirmed that he recommended to Martella that three Bulgarians and four Turks be tried in connection with the attack, which seriously wounded the Polish-born pope.

In addition, he disclosed for the first time that he also asked that Agca be tried on a new charge — illegal importation from Switzerland of a pistol he used to shoot the pope in St. Peter's Square.

Agca was tried by a Rome court and sentenced to life imprisonment for the attack. But at the time of his 1981 trial, prosecutors did not know how Agca got the weapon he used, Albano said.

If convicted on the new charge, Agca could be sentenced to a concurrent prison term ranging from 3 to 12 years, Albano said.

Albano said his report was secret and that copies have been given only to the investigating judge and defense lawyers.

For murder of nuns

Salvadoran guardsmen sentenced

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — A criminal court judge, in what he called a "triumph for Salvadoran justice," sentenced five former national guardsmen to the maximum 30 years in prison for killing four U.S. churchwomen in 1980.

Judge Bernardo Rauda Murcia, who presided over the 20-hour trial that ended May 24, issued the sentences Monday and said he would notify the guardsmen's lawyers and the prosecutors today.

"For me it has been a triumph, and it has been a triumph for Salvadoran justice and all those who believe in it," Rauda Murcia said in a telephone interview.

The long delay in bringing the murderers of the three nuns and one lay worker to trial had jeopardized U.S. military aid to El Salvador.

At the trial, a jury of five civilians found each guardsman guilty of four counts of murder. It was the first major case of human rights abuses to end in conviction since the leftist guerrilla war began 4½ years ago.

Human rights groups have blamed most of the more than 43,000 civilian deaths in the civil war on rightist death squads linked to military and paramilitary groups.

On the war front Monday, guerrillas threw bombs in residential neighborhoods of San Salvador and sabotaged power lines and telephone installations in the capital and three eastern provinces.

The military answered a series of rebel hit-and-run attacks with anti-guerrilla sweeps in Cabanas province in the north and in the eastern provinces of Usulután and Morazan.

In Morazan, long a rebel stronghold, government troops moved into the town of Perquin, 126 miles northeast of the capital, for the first time since December.

A military source said the drive in Morazan aims to establish a permanent government presence north of the Torola River, which the

Engineer claims

Shuttle not on spying mission

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A British magazine story that claims the Space Shuttle participated in a spy mission that resulted in the downing of a Korean jetline may be part of a Soviet "propaganda blitz" designed to turn world opinion against the shuttle, according to an American expert on the Russian space program.

Jim Oberg, a space engineer, author and noted authority on the Soviet space program, said that an article in the magazine Defense Attache creates a spy mission scenario for the space shuttle "is consistent with a Soviet campaign to smear the space shuttle."

The British magazine claims that the Korean Air Lines flight 007 that was shot down after it entered Soviet air space in September was part of a spy mission that involved participation of the space shuttle, which was then in orbit.

"The story is so basically flawed that there is no way anyone familiar with the shuttle would give it a second's credibility," said Oberg, an engineer at the Johnson Space Center.

Publication of the story, however, he said, is consistent with an "ominous" increase in Soviet attacks on the space shuttle and the continuing Russian fabrication of stories about an alleged military use of the shuttle.

"One can never say the story is a plant, but it's consistent with a Soviet campaign to smear the space shuttle," said Oberg. "The level (of anti-Shuttle) propaganda is increasing. It has doubled and re-doubled in the recent months."

Oberg said such stories as that in the British Attache resemble disinformation stories that have been planted in Western publications by the Soviets in the past. Such stories, he said, depend upon the "scientific illiteracy" of journalists and the reading public.

Such false stories about the shuttle, said Oberg, are "ominous" because the Soviets in the past have preceded aggressive actions with such propaganda tactics, and because the Soviets are the only nation in the world with the ability to shoot down an orbiting satellite.

Oberg said he was not saying that the Soviets planned to attack the space shuttle in orbit, but only that the Russian propaganda blitz is "consistent" with aggressive tactics taken by the USSR in the past, and that the Soviets "may have set themselves on a course of confrontation" should the Shuttle overfly Russian soil.

"Basic laws of nature" and geography, said Oberg, shows that the shuttle could not have participated in any scenario that resulted in the Korean airliner tragedy.

He said space shuttle was in an orbit that carried no farther north than the southern tier of states in the U.S. This would have kept the spacecraft far out of reach with any aircraft flying as far north as where the airliner was shot down. Oberg said there was no way the shuttle could have been in communications with an airliner flying as far at the 47 to 53 degree north latitude used by the Korean jet.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

It seems a little odd to me, the taxpayer (who incidentally has no children in school but still has to pay taxes) that things such as carpeting, elevators and air conditioning would be considered in Hereford schools.

I saw not one word in the newspaper article about the proposals which would make children more educated, just more physically dependent on some one or some thing. Why spend more money on plumbing if you have to keep it locked up? In a newspaper article not too long ago, a young boy reportedly urinated outside of the school because, as he put it, you had to first find someone who had a key.

Their minds are what we the taxpayers are interested in. Not elevators, not carpets with mud on them because the children have not been taught any better at home. For air conditioning, try opening a window. The good Lord furnishes lots of wind in this part of the country.

I don't know what an all-weather physical facility would be. We have gymnasiums and I sort of thought that's what those were. Why all-weather? They play in the snow; they walk through mud and rain puddles; you name it, they do it.

Again I say, what about their minds? I am interested in making them mature, well-educated human beings—not students who have learned only to push a button to make things happen. I think we have lost track of what schools are for. Schools are supposed to be "think tanks," not plush, carpeted, elevatorized, all-weather facilities to make them more comfortable and lazy. They are supposed to teach them to think. You could do that under the shade of a tree.

I disagree with a lot of the methods used in teaching today. If a child can't speak English, we hire a teacher who can speak his language. That is accomplishing nothing. If they are going to live in America, they should be proud enough to say, "I am an American now; I shall speak English and I shall teach my children to speak English." There is an old saying from the Bible: "When in Rome, do as Rome does."

I suppose I have written enough to make the school board unhappy with me, to have upset the teachers, and made the people who speak a foreign language angry with me. But you know something? I don't care. That is what America is all about. The fact that I have the right to speak out if I disagree or am unhappy with some of the things being done, or what my taxes are being used for. Knowing that somewhere out there, someone will stop and think about what is being done and give it a second thought.

Remember the new city hall building—no taxes will be raised to pay for this facility. It is very odd that my water bill went up shortly after that. The same thing will happen here. You float bonds and something has to give somewhere, somehow. In some way, a person must pay for everything he has.

Now, I am not against modernization, but we should draw the line on carpeting, elevators and air conditioners, which could be used only a few weeks out of the school year. Pardon my letter, but it's just another example of good, old American waste.

To Perform Wednesday

The Continental Singers and Orchestra are to be presented in concert at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the sanctuary of First Church of the Nazarene, 1410 La Plata. The musical ensemble is currently touring the United States, Western Europe and Scandinavia. The performance, which features a variety of contemporary and traditional Christian music, is free and open to the public.

Continental Singers to perform

The public is invited to a free program of contemporary and traditional Christian music featuring the Continental Singers and Orchestra at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the sanctuary of First Church of the Nazarene, 1410 La Plata.

The 24 vocalists and 11-piece orchestra are highly trained and talented musicians selected by audition from thousands of high school and college-age young people across the nation and in foreign countries.

This year's concert theme and newest album is "Come Love the Lord." In addition to featuring medleys from that album, the program will also contain selections from "O Come all ye Faithful" (the first Continental Christmas album) and "Dreamer" (1984 Dove Award winner - best musical).

Several of the individual numbers are "Majesty," "By our Love," "Great is the Lord," "He Will Carry You," and a special children's number.

Since Cam Floria organized the first group in 1967, various editions of the Continental Singers and Orchestra have made over 8,000 live domestic appearances and over 2,400 foreign appearances before more than 4.5 million people. Floria's philosophy is that "regardless of the country or religion, music is the common language."

Traveling from 100 to 500 miles seven days a week by bus, boat and plane, they perform nightly during their summer tour. Concerts are held in churches, auditoriums, outdoor pavilions, military bases and hospitals. The Continentals are completely self-contained; technicians with sound and lighting equipment travel with the musicians.

The tour group scheduled to perform in Hereford is involved in a 75-day tour of the United States, Western Europe and Scandinavia under the direction of Mike Mahoney, who has been with Continental Ministries for five years.

Other groups are currently touring all 50 states and Australia, Austria, Bahamas, Barbados, Bolivia, Bulgaria, Chile, Colombia, Denmark, England, Fiji, Finland, France, Greece, Haiti, Holland, Hungary, Israel, Korea, Martinique, New Zealand, Norway, Peru, Philippines, Poland, Romania, Russia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Trinidad, Germany and Yugoslavia.

The Continentals have recorded 12 record albums on the Word and Light labels, plus 12 albums on Christian Artists Records. Financing for this non-profit group is unique.

Auditions for singers, instrumentalists and technical staff are held after each concert.

Prospective applicants should be between 16 and 25 years of age and accomplished instrumentalists or vocalists. Those interested in driving should be at least 21 years old with a valid license and experience driving coach-type, manual transmission, diesel buses.

Bell elected to membership

Margaret Bell was elected to membership by transfer from Panhandle during a recent meeting of the order of Easter Star in the Masonic Temple. The new Worthy Matron Audrey Rusher called the meeting to order.

It was reported that several members, Wynema Wheeler, Beverly Brooke, Mrs. Rusher, Dottie Darden and Argen Draper, went to Vega to help with their installation.

The altar was draped for Worthy Grand Matron Marjorie Johnson, who passed away May 21.

Miss Suzan Schriber was a visitor from Canyon and was also musician for the night.

Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Darden and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wheeler. Twenty-four persons were present.

The first U.S. President to ride in an automobile was Theodore Roosevelt.

Fans love Fuzzy

Zoeller notches U.S. Open win

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — The crowd loved Fuzzy Zoeller, and the feeling made his move.

"I watched all the great players, guys like Arnold Palmer," Zoeller said after winning the 1984 U.S. Open.

"They loved him. I don't know what it was. His charisma, I guess. He gave something to his fans, and I picked that up at a very early age.

"If it weren't for them, I'd be playing golf in front of a bunch of trees for a couple hundred dollars."

Frank Urban Zoeller returned that affection Monday as he walked away from Greg Norman of Australia in an 18-hole playoff for the 84th U.S. Open title.

Zoeller shot 67 over Winged Foot's monster west course, a 6,930-yard, par-70 layout ringed by huge trees and deep rough with small, undulating greens protected by pothole bunkers.

That was eight shots better than Norman, who struggled to a 75, first losing his putting touch, then watching his driver go awry.

The playoff margin was the largest in U.S. Open history and Zoeller's score the lowest. Zoeller's 67 also was the 31st subpar round shot at this Open, compared to eight subpar scores when it was last played here in 1974.

Zoeller and Norman began the day tied at 276, 4-under-par after 72 holes. They each birdied the first hole in a light drizzle, and then Zoeller made his move.

Zoeller, who won the Masters in 1979, birdied the 411-yard, par-4 second hole by sinking a 70-foot downhill putt. Norman drove into the right rough behind a tree, was short in two, pitched on and 3-putted from about 20 feet for double-bogey. Zoeller led by three.

"To be perfectly honest with you, I didn't feel like I had this one locked up until I hit a 5-iron onto the 18th green," Zoeller said. "I wasn't going to leave any doors unlocked."

Each player bogeyed the third hole, a par-3. Zoeller then parred out, while Norman went bogey-par-birdie, bogeyed Nos. 7 and 8 and parred the ninth.

Zoeller made the turn in 34; Norman in 39.

"I feel hollow," Norman said, "and disappointed — to come so close and finish so far away."

Norman, a big blond nicknamed the "Great White Shark," said he may have been too laid back.

"I didn't want to get too pumped up today."

Moses survives Trials

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Despite some scary moments, world record holders Edwin Moses and Evelyn Ashford each survived in style.

Moses, going for an amazing 102nd consecutive victory in the 400-meter hurdles final Monday night in the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials, had one false start then seemed to break out slowly when the race actually began. He recovered quickly, though, to win in 47.76 seconds and earn a berth in the Olympics.

Ashford, plagued by injuries much of her career, felt a twinge of pain in her right hamstring muscle while warming up for her semifinal heat in the women's 100-meter dash. But, after cautiously running just fast enough (11.43) in the semis to finish third and gain a berth in the finals, she had her leg heavily taped and sped to an 11.18 victory to nail down a spot on the American team.

In the only other final scheduled for the third day of the eight-day trials, veteran Duncan Atwood uncorked his first 300-foot throw, a soaring heave of 306-7, to capture the men's javelin.

Moses, 27, the 1976 Olympic gold medalist who has not lost a race in nearly seven years, admitted after his victory Monday that he had been worried.

"The false start, that was my fault; anything you've been told about the pressure of the meet is nothing like actually being there," said Moses, whose world mark is 47.02. "It's been my personal experience that guys who are supposed to make the team don't always make it."

"I never thought it was a given that I would win the race and make the team. It's been a terrific mental tussle this week, putting up with all the hype about the streak and the fact that all the other guys are coming after me.

Panthers barely make USFL playoffs

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Panthers are back, at least that's what some of the defending United States Football League champions are saying after they handed the Oklahoma Outlaws their ninth straight loss to qualify for the playoffs.

Bobby Hebert, returning to the lineup after more than a week's absence because of a strained right knee, fired four touchdown passes Monday night to lead Michigan to a 34-24 victory over the Outlaws.

It was only the Panthers' third victory in 11 games, but it raised their record to 9-8, good enough for one of the two Western Conference wild-card playoff berths. Oklahoma, already eliminated from playoff contention, is 6-11.

Houston edged San Antonio 29-26 in the only other game Monday night.

"We've been struggling and struggling," said Michigan nose tackle Dave Tipton. "I think we've finally got the corner turned."

"We haven't had a game like this since Denver (a 28-0 victory) and that was the third game of the season, where the offense and everybody put it together," Tipton added.

Hebert, who has been booed by Panthers' crowd since the team began playing poorly after winning its first six games this season, returned to his old form just before halftime. He hit six straight passes, including a 12-yard strike to Anthony Allen to tie the game 14-14.

"I think Bobby's got his confidence back," said linebacker Ray Bentley.

Gamblers 26, Gunslingers 26

Quarterback Jim Kelly, despite throwing four interceptions and being sacked three times, rallied the Houston with a 30-yard touchdown pass to Ricky Sanders with 1:15 to play against San Antonio.

Houston, 12-5, extended its winning streak to six games and clinched the home-field advantage throughout the upcoming league playoffs. San Antonio dropped to 6-11.

Houston got its final chance for victory with 1:48 remaining. Kelly, the league's leading passer, hit Gerald McNeil with a 49-yard bomb to the Gunslingers 30 on the first play. On the next play, Sanders split two defenders and caught the winning touchdown.

Houston's comeback nullified four field goals by San Antonio's Nick Mike-Mayer, whose kicks of 40 and 49 yards had given the Gunslingers a 26-21 lead.

San Antonio quarterback Rick Neuheisel upstaged Kelly early, leading the Gunslingers to a 17-point first quarter. He hit Don Roberts with a 15-yard touchdown pass, Mike Hagen scored on a two-yard run and Mike-Mayer kicked a 19-yard field goal.

Over Detroit Tigers

Niekro captures 10th victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

When he was managing in the National League, Sparky Anderson had all he could handle with Phil Niekro's knuckleballs.

That hasn't changed now that both are in the American League.

"He's throwing the same as I've always seen him," the Detroit manager said after watching Niekro lead the New York Yankees to a 2-1 victory over the Tigers Monday night. "He hasn't changed in 15 years. He's a great competitor — a guy like that, I'd expect to see do well."

At 45, the former Atlanta Braves' pitcher is off to the best start of his career, and admits it's been a bit of a surprise to almost everyone.

"I'm really not through," Niekro said after improving his record to 10-3. "I'd say there are some people that are surprised in Atlanta. And I'm sure there's probably some in the front office here (New York) that are surprised. I'm off to the best start in my career, and I don't think anybody expected that."

In other American League games, it was Texas 6, California 2; Chicago 8, Seattle 4 and Oakland 10, Kansas City 2. Rain washed out the only National League game between the St. Louis Cardinals and Montreal Expos.

After giving up a first-inning home run to Kirk Gibson, Niekro allowed just two other hits — singles by Gibson and Lou Whitaker — but came out of the game after issuing two walks in the ninth. Jose Rijo got the last out, recording his second save.

"I thought I had him," said Niekro, reflecting on Gibson's homer, "but he's so strong that he just turned the bat over and it was upstairs. That's the last time that I throw an off-speed knuckler to a left-handed batter."

Losing pitcher Milt Wilcox, 7-5, struck out seven and walked three in seven innings, but fell victim to seven New York hits, including doubles by Willie Randolph, Don Mattingly and Bobby Meacham. Randolph also had a single and scored two runs for the Yankees.

White Sox 8, Mariners 4

Richard Dotson won his ninth game with a six-hitter and Harold Baines drove in four runs as Chicago defeated Seattle.

Baines hit a two-run triple in the first inning to help Dotson, 9-3, take a 4-0 lead, then later belted a two-run homer as the White Sox broke open the game with a three-run fifth.

Dotson did not allow a hit over the final five innings, striking out six and walking two. Loser Matt Young, 4-5, departed after Vance Law's homer in the fifth.

A's 10, Royals 2

Davey Lopes, Dave Kingman and Rickey Henderson all hit home runs to power Oakland over Kansas City.

Lopes' homer in the sixth inning was the first inside-the-park job by an Oakland player in nearly four years. The last Oakland player to do it was Henderson on July 6, 1980 in Chicago.

Kingman's homer, a two-run shot, highlighted a three-run Oakland rally in the seventh inning. The A's added insurance in the eighth on Henderson's three-run homer, his sixth.

"In all honesty, I thought it was a triple," said Lopes. "And then I saw that left arm (of A's third base coach Clete Boyer) go around and I said, 'Oh, my goodness.'"

Women's organization installs new members

St. Anthony's Women's Organization met Thursday to install new members and attend a Mass for Christian Mothers and Expectant Mothers.

New members welcomed into the organization were Diane Clevenger, Janie Banner, Shelley Schilling, Georgia Auckerman and Joyce Smith.

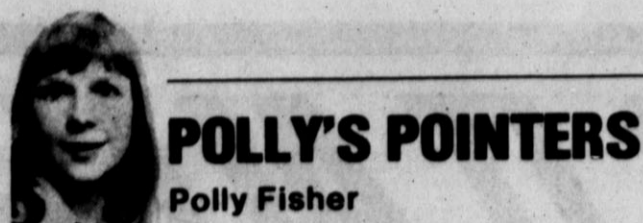

A business meeting followed, at which an upcoming ice cream social and the New Year's Dance were discussed.

It was announced that a membership drive will be held next Sunday after the Mass.

The club still has cookbooks available that can be obtained by calling Carla Vasek or Sandy Burrows. A luncheon following the business meeting.

Mosquitoes are attracted to the color blue twice as much as to any other color.

Vinegar cleans iron

DEAR POLLY — How can one clean an iron? My iron isn't working and I feel the reason is because it is clogged. I'm aware of some kind of solution that contains baking soda. Do you know what it is? — BETH

DEAR BETH — Not baking soda, but white vinegar is the "magic" ingredient to get that iron cleaned out. Pour white vinegar (or a half-and-half mixture of vinegar and water if you don't think the iron is too badly clogged) into the water chamber and turn the iron on to steam for five to 10 minutes. Then turn it off, unplug it and let it cool. Empty out the vinegar. This should have dissolved or loosened the mineral deposits that are clogging the iron. Shake it while emptying it so any loose particles will fall out. If the iron still seems clogged, repeat the vinegar treatment. — POLLY

Ordained Sunday

Bill Devers (left front) and Jim Donaldson (right front) were ordained into the ministry Sunday afternoon at the First Christian Church to fill the newly created capacities of community pastor and Cornerstone Christian Community Movement missionary, respectively. Greeting the local men and challenging them in their endeavor were guest speakers Dr. Robert E. Coleman (left back) and James Richard Newby. The community ordination service was cited as a first time event and signaled the official beginning of the new community ministry. (Brand Photo by Linda Caudle)

Rush information party slated Thursday night

A rush information supper, hosted by the Hereford Panhellenic Association, will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at the First Baptist Church parlor. Recent high school graduates interested in going through college rush in the fall and their mothers are invited to attend.

Local girls who are in sororities will be presenting an informal style show to exhibit examples of appropriate dress for rush week. Rush rules, scheduling of parties and other specifics of rush week will be discussed by sorority girls.

New graduates interested in going through rush in the fall should register through their respective colleges by sending for a rush information sheet or rush packet by writing to the dean of women or Panhellenic office. Registration should also be made through the local Panhellenic Association. Information sheets can be obtained from Marsha Winget by calling 364-0639.

At the luncheon, new graduates are asked to have their local rush information sheets completed with transcripts and pictures ready. This registration does not obligate or go through rush or to pledge, but will prove invaluable in the event that the decision is made to do so. If unable to attend the

Members encouraged to attend

Members were encouraged to attend the Ornamental and Garden Clinic, scheduled June 29 at the Hereford Community Center, during the Friday morning meeting of the Bud to Blossom Garden Club at the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

The budget for 1984-85 was discussed, as well as planning of the yearbook and the fall flower show, set for Oct. 4 in the Heritage Room of the Deaf Smith County Library.

Also during the business portion of the meeting Kim Lappin and Elaine Holly were voted into the membership.

Members held a work day, sprucing up the Mrs. C.D. Kelton Memorial Garden at the Hall of Fame. Petunias, portulaca and marigolds were some of the new additions to the garden.

In attendance were Patricia Robinson, Naoma Spann, Wilma Bryan, Betty Hughes, Karen Barela, Tracey Duncan, Linda Seth and Paula Hamby.

For collectors, bubble gum personality cards are "out." Complete sets of cigarette-pack warning legends are "in."

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

B-12 important for anemia

DEAR DR. LAMB — I was hospitalized last year for pernicious anemia and am very interested in any information I can read on the subject. I'm taking folic acid, TriHemic 600 tablets and every two months I get vitamin B-12 shots. My condition has improved to the point that I don't feel so weak all the time. I have also started to eat liver and more meats, fruit and vegetables. DEAR READER — You're certainly getting all the medicines you should need to help you recover from your anemia. Folic acid is important in folic acid deficiencies but it can't replace B-12 for a B-12 deficiency. It's a mistake to take folic acid and not B-12 because you can develop progressive spinal cord damage without the B-12. Liver is an excellent source of B-12. Your own liver is the chief place B-12 is stored in your body. That and its iron content make liver an important anti-anemia food. One of the early experiments demonstrat-

Ann Landers
One food at a time

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's teenage son from a previous marriage lives with us. He has strange eating habits, to say the least. Andy will take a liking to a certain food and refuse to eat anything else. For example: Four years ago he got hooked on canned chicken noodle soup. He ate it for breakfast, lunch and dinner. After two months he said, "I hate chicken noodle soup. I can't stand the sight of it. Throw it all out." So the rest of the family ate chicken noodle soup every night for a month.

His next addiction was shredded wheat cereal. He went nuts over the stuff. I stocked up heavily because some days he'd go through six boxes. When he suddenly turned against shredded wheat, I had enough in the house to feed an army. His present crush is on canned vegetable soup. Yesterday he ate eight cans. I told my husband this foolishness must stop. He said, "Buy whatever the boy wants. If it's nourishing that's all that matters."

What can I do about this? — Bonkers In Mich.

DEAR BONK: Take the boy to a doctor for a complete physical to make sure he has no vitamin or mineral deficiency. Ask the physician to talk to him and his father about good nutrition. They must get the message that balanced meals and a diversified diet are essential to normal growth and development. Good luck.

DEAR ANN: You recently printed a letter from an apartment dweller who was disturbed by offensive neighbors. You advised that person to move. Why shouldn't the lousy neighbors be forced to move? I live in an old apartment building. I can't afford anything better. This place has no soundproofing. I am sick of hearing slamming doors, stomping feet, loud talking, stereos and TVs blasting away at all hours. Not only are these neighbors noisy, but their garbage piles up in the back hall, which I consider a health hazard. When they have fish for supper we know it the next day. Why should I have to go through the headache of moving when they are in the inconsiderate slob? — No Justice In The Midwest

DEAR N.J.: Does you lease say anything about being asked to move if you create a nuisance? If not, complaining to the landlord probably will do no good. In that case, it is better to move rather than stay in an environment that makes you miserable.

DEAR ANN: Be the patron saint of every cook in the civilized world and print this letter.

I am fed up with people who, when asked for a recipe, say, "With pleasure!" Then they somehow manage to leave out an ingredient or give you the wrong baking or cooking time and you wind up with a flop.

Please, folks, if you want to keep your goodies "exclusive," say so.—Just Threw Out A $6 Cake

DEAR JUST: Amen.

Got those wedding bell blues over cost..guest list..what to eat..and other details? Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" will help. For a copy, send $2.00 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (37 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

The Newspaper BIBLE

Next is your question about eating food that has been sacrificed to idols. On this question everyone feels that only his answer is the right one! But although being a "know-it-all" makes us feel important, what is really needed to build the church is love.

If anyone thinks he knows all the answers, he is just showing his ignorance.

But the person who truly loves God is the one who is open to God's knowledge. So now, what about it? Should we eat meat that has been sacrificed to idols? Well, we all know that an idol is not really a god, and that there is only one God and no other.

According to some people, there are a great many gods, both in heaven and on earth. But we know that there is only one God, the Father, who created all things and made us to be His own; and one Lord Jesus Christ, who made everything and gives us life.

However, some Christians don't realize this. All their lives they have been used to thinking of idols as alive, and have believed that food offered to the idols is really being offered to actual gods. So when they eat such food it bothers them and hurts their tender consciences.

Just remember that God doesn't care whether we eat it or not. We are no worse off, if we don't eat it, and no better off if we do.

But be careful not to use your freedom to eat it, lest you cause some Christian brother to sin whose conscience is weaker than yours.

You see, this is what may happen: Someone who thinks it is wrong to eat this food will see you eating at a temple restaurant, for you know there is no harm in it. Then he will become bold enough to do it too, although all the time he still feels it is wrong.

So because you "know it is all right to do it," you will be responsible for causing great spiritual damage to a brother with a tender conscience for whom Christ died.

And it is a sin against Christ to sin against your brother by encouraging him to do something he thinks is wrong.

So if eating meat offered to idols is going to make my brother sin, I'll not eat any of it as long as I live, because I don't want to do this to him.
